JOHNNY JACKSON was a favourite old man and character actor in George Conquest's time at the old Grecian Theatre. He was an excellent eccentric actor, but a very irascible and excitable man. F. B. Chatterton, then the lessee of Drury Lane, was just commencing his season, and determined to engage Jackson. Accordingly a message was conveyed to him to come and see the great man at Drury Lane. Johnny was there to the moment, nothing doubting that he would be received with open arms and engaged on the spot. But Chatterton in the days of his prosperity was a very pompous man. After keeping Jackson waiting in the hall for some time, he at last received him, seated in state, dictating letters to a secretary at his side. After another interval, during which Johnny's rage was rising to boiling-point, he looked up, gazed at him as though he were some curious monster from the east, and proceeded to cathechise him thus:—"Pray, sir, how long have you been in the profession?" "About twenty-five years, Mr. Chatterton." "Ah! And where are you now?" "At the Grecian Theatre." "Just so; and what do you profess?" "Old men and character business, sir." "And—ah—where were you before you went to the Grecian?" To which question Johnny replied, giving the different engagements he had held for some years back. "And before that, sir?" Johnny racked his memory and went right back to the days of his youth when he first joined the noble army of mummers. "Exactly. And pray, sir, what caused you to become an actor first of all?" This was a little too much for Johnny to stand. He drew himself up to his full height, and said, very suavely, "One moment, Mr. Chatterton. You've asked me a lot of questions; now it's my turn. I'll only ask you one: How, in the name of heaven, did you ever get inside of Drury Lane Theatre?" Chatterton fell back in his chair, aghast at the East Ender's audacity, while Jackson took up his hat from under his chair, quite expecting to be ordered out of the presence; but Chatterton's sense of humour came to his aid, and, turning to his secretary, he said with a laugh, "Mr. Jackson is one too many for me. You'd better make out his contract for the autumn. Eight pounds a week, shall we say?" "That will do nicely," said Johnny.

"SCENE PAINTERS OF THE PAST." By George Tweddell. Price 6d. Address: The Publisher, "The Era," 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

"THE ERA" NEWSPAPER.

Notice to Contributors.

All communications intended for publication should be sent to "THE EDITOR," and be accompanied by the Writer's Name and Address, not necessarily for insertion, but as a guarantee of good faith.

The Editor will not undertake to be responsible for any rejected MSS., nor to return any Contribution unaccompanied by a stamped and directed envelope.

Notice to Subscribers.

"The Era" is sold by all Newsagents in all the leading English, Irish, and Scotch towns, every Saturday Morning. Price Sixpence.

TERMS, POSTAGE FREE.

Home Subscriptions.		Foreign Subscriptions.
One Year	£1 6 0	One Year	£1 12 0
Six Months	0 13 0	Six Months	0 16 0
Three Months ..	0 6 6	Three Months ..	0 8 0

Cash must accompany order.

Notice to Advertisers.

Advertisements should reach the Office early in the week, and not later than Thursday, 7 p.m. Remittances, payable to "THE ERA," LTD., and crossed Lloyd's Bank.

Communications.

Business Communications should be addressed to The MANAGER,
"THE ERA" BUILDINGS,
5, TAVISTOCK-STREET, STRAND, LONDON, W.C.
(two doors off Wellington-street).
Telegrams, "The Era, London." Telephones, 4747 and 1433, Central.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

[We do not answer inquiries by post. In all letters the names and addresses of inquirers must be given as a guarantee of good faith. Initials only or pseudonyms will be used in the answers if so desired.]

JOHN RODGERS.—The words "on or about" imply no definite period around the date named, but must be construed as meaning as near the date in question as can reasonably be done.

EDWIN LANG.—Since our answer to you last week was written we have discovered that "The Coquette," a recitation with musical accompaniment, is published by Reynolds and Co., 13, Berners-street, London, W.

G. CATTELL (Glasgow).—We do not know the address; and there is no play of the title you name in our list of productions. You give no date. We have no knowledge of the Strand Syndicate. Write to Mr. Lionel Rignold, Green Room Club, Leicester-square, W.C.

BALDRY (Soho).—Mr. Charles Morton applied for a licence for the Boar and Castle, Oxford-street, on Oct. 11, 1860, at the Middlesex Sessions. The application was opposed by Mr. Weston, of Weston's Music Hall, but was granted by the magistrates without a dissentient. The Boar and Castle was an old posting-house, and became the Oxford. Mr. Morton also laid the foundation stone of the present Oxford in 1892.

L. D. FOX.—The play was produced on April 25 at the Memorial Theatre, Stratford-on-Avon, by the members of Mr. F. R. Benson's company, under the direction of Mr. John Coleman, who rehearsed it in London. Mr. Coleman was the Pericles; Mr. T. B. Thalberg the Lysimachus; Miss Lily Brayton, Thaisa; Miss Lilian Braithwaite, Marina; Miss Wetherall, Dionyza; Miss Nancy Price, Diana; Mr. Oscar Asche, Cleon; Mr. E. Harcourt Williams, Helicanus; and Mr. Matheson Lang, Cerimon.

MAY DAY.—Do not part with money to "enterprising" persons who promise to guarantee your appearance at a hall. There are trial matinées given at London halls and theatres of variety. Write to Mr. Fred Baugh, Foresters' Music Hall, Cambridge road, Mile End, London, E. We do not know any song-writer who could give you a start, and have no knowledge of the second gentleman you ask us about. The first-named gentleman used to be at Sadler's Wells. He is now at the Shaftesbury Hall, Portsmouth.

ALICE BLAKE (Easton, Norwich).—The Provoked Husband; or, A Journey to London, comedy, in five acts, was written by Sir John Vanbrugh, who died in 1726, and finished after his death by Colley Cibber, actor-manager, dramatist, editor of "Shakespeare," and Poet Laureate from 1730 to 1757. In Egerton's "Theatrical Remembrancer," published in 1788, Cibber is given as the author of the comedy, which was produced originally at Drury Lane Theatre in 1727. In its unfinished state the comedy was known as The Journey to London. The title The Provoked Husband was probably adopted by Cibber as a companion title to Vanbrugh's comedy The Provoked Wife, acted at Lincoln's Inn Fields Theatre in 1697.

BONNIE Dundee awaits Willie Frame in the King's Theatre next week, where "the man you know" is so welcome, Hooch aye!—we're a' John Tamson's Bairns.

"A Little Knowledge," &c.

ON the stage of the Standard Theatre in Shoreditch Andrew Melville (the father of the present generation of Melvilles) was once busy conducting a pantomime rehearsal. Andrew was a tall, stout gentleman, who invariably wore an Inverness cloak, a peaked cap, and an eyeglass. A comedian whose early education had evidently been very much neglected was rehearsing his song to the band, and he rendered the chorus something after this fashion:—

"Marchin', marchin', merrily on we go,
Fightin' 'ere and drinkin' there, ready to meet the foe;
Marchin', marchin', merrily on we go;
The town is in a huproar when we're marchin'."

Andrew looked up from where he was seated at the prompt-table, glared at the gentleman through his eyeglass, and said wearily, "You might oblige us with a 'g' now and then, please." Comic Singer (triumphantly): "This song ain't written in G, sir; it's in B flat!"

BENGER'S

Benger's Food is different from any other food obtainable; it contains in itself the natural digestive principles, and, in its preparation, the degree of pre-digestion can be determined with the utmost delicacy. It can therefore be served to suit the exact physical condition of the patient.

Benger's Food is mixed with fresh new milk. It forms a delicious and highly nutritive cream, rich in all the food elements necessary to maintain vigorous health.

Benger's Food is sold by Chemists, &c., everywhere.

"THE ERA" LETTER-BOX.

A Stamped Envelope, plainly addressed, must be enclosed with application for each Letter. Letters, after lying at this Office for One Month, are forwarded to the Postal Authorities, to be returned to the Senders.

No Circulars, Post Cards, or Parcels admitted to this list.

Abcabe
Albert, Mr. Ben
Albery, Mrs.
Allan, Mr. J.
Allen, Dr. F. J.
Armadale, Miss Sybil
Ash, Mr. Harold
Baker's Hippodrome
Bandman-Palmer, Mrs.
Bannister, Mr. Walter
Bannister, Prof.
Barraclough, Mr. Sidney
Bell, Mr. W. G. B.
Bellman, Miss Lottie
Bennett, Mr. Chas.
Bergeron, Mr. T. C.
Beringer, Miss Esme
Bogannys, The
Bollinger, Les
Boon, Mr. Bert
Bottomley, Mr. R.
Braide, Mr. Stewart
Brandon, Mr. Harry G.
Brooke, Miss Sara
Brunton, Miss E. S.
Caline, Mrs. Jack
Cameron and Alexander
Campion, Miss May
Chard, Lieut.
Chirgwin, Miss Clara
Clark, Mr. L.
Cliquot, Mr. C.
Clifford, Mr. N.
Clive, Mr. E. E.
Cole-Aspinall, Mr. R.
Cooke, Mr. Edgar
Corri, Madam G.
Costello, Mr. Tom
Coyne, Mr. E. J.
Cumberland, Mr. E. G.
Dark, Mr. Fred
Dashwood, Mr. A.
Day, Mr. Geo. H.
Dellar, Mr. Kyburn
Delmar, Miss Georgina
Denham, Mr. Geo.
Derrie and Brereton
Desmond, Miss Nellie
Digby, Mr. Chas.
Dockwray, Mr. Chas. W
Earle, Mr. Fred
Englefield, Mr.
Escourt, Mr.
Evans, Mr. Wash
Fancourt, Mr. Charles
Fergusson, Mr. L. S.
Fisher, Mr. Chas.
Ford, Mr. Herbert
Fordwych, Mr. Herbert
Francis, Mrs. Joseph
Fraser, Mr. Dan
Gardiner, Mr. Claude
Gibb, Mrs. Horace
Ginnett, Mr. Fred
Gobbett, Mr. T. J.
Gordon, Mr. Ben D.
Gordon, Miss Kitty
Gunn, Miss Winnie
Hall, Mr. G. E.
Hamilton, Miss Rose
Harley, Mr. Chas.
Heale, Mr. Jack
Hemming, Mr. J. W.
Houpla, Mr. Richard
Howard, Mr. Walter
Hunt, Mrs. J.
Irving, Mr. Lawrence
Jacobs and Jephson
Jackson Family
James, Mr. David
Johnson, Mr. Kid
Joyce, Mr. L. P.
Kemble, Mr. Henry
Kingsland, Mr. Geo.
Kingsley, Mr. Cecil
Kingsley, Mr. Gordon
Kingston, Miss Gertrude
Ladora, Miss M.
Landon, Mr. J.
Leigh, Mr. A. A.
Leon, Mr. Chas.
Lewis, Mr. Fred
Lewis, Mr. Harold
Leyland, Mr. R.
Lingard, Mr. Horace
Lloyd, Miss Rosie
Lloyd, Mr. F. F.
Loftus, Miss Kitty
Loftus, Mr. Alexander
Longeraine, Miss Ruby
Lorimer, Mr. J.
Lucas, Miss Flo
Luxmore, Miss Mabel
Maitland, Miss Kitty
Mauritius, Mr. Theo.
McEwen, Mr. Walter
Metcalf, Mr. F.
Michel Brothers
Mignon, Miss Mabel
Millian, Mr. Max
Missouri, Mr. Ted
Montefiore, Mr. E.
Mount, Mrs.
Nanakusa, Mrs.
Nelson, Mr.
Noble, Mr. Robert
O'Connell, Mr. J.
Parsons, Mr. Phil
Payne, Mr. W.
Pink, Mr. Wal
Poel, Mr. William
Polini, Mrs.
Raymond, Mr. M.
Reed, Mr. Wilton
Re Vell, Miss Rosa
Rexos, The
Ridgewell, Mr. Geo.
Ridley, Mr. Geo.
Roberts, Mr. R. A.
Rodney, Miss Nellie
Sarron, Miss Celia
Schofield, Mr. G. W.
Scott, Miss D.
Scott, Mr. Malcolm
Scroggs, Mr. Charlie
Shine, Mr. W. E.
Sivado, Mr. Chas.
Smith, Miss Maisie
Soldene, Miss Emily
Spray, Mr. W.
Stanley, Mr. Frank
Stuart, Mr. Barney
Stuart, Mr. Leslie
Temple, Mr. Richard
Terry, Miss Marion
Tozer, Mr. C. A. N.
Travers, Miss Marie
Val, Mr. John R.
Valentine, Mr. Paul
Varley, Miss Pattie
Vine, Mr. Tom
Walker, Mr. Bobbie
Walonell, Mr. Jack
Ward, Mr. David
Ware, Miss N.
Warlow, Mr. Percy
Wilbert, Mr. William
Willard, Mr. J.
Wyatt, Miss Alice
Wyndham, Miss Pattie

BLACKMORE'S THEATRICAL AGENCY, 11, GARRICK-STREET, W.C.
Under the present management since 1869.
Office hours, 10 to 8. Interviews between 11 and 4.
'Phone 1785 Gerr. Wires, "Dramatique, London."
All descriptions of Theatrical Business negotiated
Also First-class Music Hall Business.

The Great Raymond

BREAKING RECORDS FOR BIG BUSINESS EVERYWHERE.

INDISPENSABLE! Rayne's "Pocket Date Book." Contents: Map (19in. by 10in.), showing the distance betwixt the various music halls at a glance. Will tell if one hall is within the barring radius of the other, thus saving fears, worry, and anxiety. All about artists' luggage, list of clubs, information about stamping contracts, foreign money table, London music halls and theatres, their telephone numbers, list of brougham proprietors, list and address of photographers, size of theatrical printing paper, names and addresses of theatrical railway managers, &c. Price 1s., post free. The proceeds from the sale will be divided equally amongst the two great charities of the dramatic and musical professions, the Actors' Benevolent Fund and the Music Hall Home Fund. The Era Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

BIRKBECK BANK
ESTABLISHED 1851.
SOUTHAMPTON-BUILDINGS, HIGH HOLBORN, W.C.
2½ PER CENT. INTEREST allowed on Deposits repayable on demand.
2 PER CENT. INTEREST on Drawing Accounts with Cheque Book.
All general Banking Business transacted.
ALMANACK, with full particulars, POST FREE
C. F. RAVENSCROFT, Secretary.

ACCIDENTS OF ALL KINDS,
SICKNESS,
EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY,
BURGLARY AND FIDELITY GUARANTEE RISKS
Insured Against by the
RAILWAY PASSENGERS' ASSURANCE CO.
Capital (fully subscribed), £1,000,000.
Claims paid £5,700,000.
64, CORNHILL, LONDON.
A. VIAN, Secretary.

MONEY
£5 TO £5000
DON'T BE WITHOUT READY MONEY.... I will advance any sum you may require AT ONCE without fuss or formalities, and you can repay by easy instalments to suit your own convenience. Courteous personal attention. Call, write, or 'phone.
Mr. ROSSLYN STUART,
Burton House,
253, Brixton Rd., Brixton, S.W.
Telephone 1285 Brixton.

BUREAU DE CHANGE
SPECIALLY RECOMMENDED
HANDS and CO.,
16, STRAND,
CHARING CROSS RAILWAY STATION,
LONDON, W.C.

"I'll swear upon that bottle."—TEMPEST, Act ii., Scene ii.

WHITBREAD'S

BOTTLED BEERS

maintain their popularity because they are brought into condition by

MATURING IN BOTTLE,

the Natural method,

without the aid of carbonating or other artificial process.

The Largest Beer Bottlers in the World.

APPLY TO CHIEF OFFICES,
BRITANNIA ST., KING'S CROSS, LONDON, W.C.
(Telephones: Nos. 2510 and 2511 North. Telegraphic Address, "Beerseller, London.")
FOR NAME OF NEAREST AGENT.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES.

For Sustaining the Voice.
Invaluable for ACTORS and SINGERS.
Indispensable for PUBLIC SPEAKERS

GENTLEMEN,—For sudden affections of the Bronchial Organs I use and most cheerfully recommend "Brown's Troches." They are regarded as most eligible, convenient, and indispensable by numerous artists of my acquaintance, BOTH IN EUROPE AND AMERICA. They seem to act specially on the organs of the voice, and produce a clear enunciation.—Yours truly (Signed), MARIE ROZE MAPLESON.

SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 1/1½ PER BOX.

DINNEFORD'S MAGNESIA.

The Best Remedy for Acidity of the Stomach, Heartburn, Headache, Gout, and Indigestion. The Safest and most effective Aperient for regular use.

TYPEWRITING.

MRS. MARSHALL, 126, STRAND, W.C.
PROMPT BOOKS and ACTORS' PARTS.
TRANSLATIONS FROM and INTO ALL LANGUAGES.
ADAPTATIONS of FRENCH and GERMAN PLAYS UNDERTAKEN.
SHORTHAND DICTATION in FRENCH or ENGLISH. REFERENCES to MANY LEADING AUTHORS and MANAGERS

Admitted by the Profession to be the most Valuable Remedy ever discovered.
DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S
CHLORODYNE
The Original and Only Genuine.
Is the best-known remedy for COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS.
IT ACTS LIKE A CHARM IN DIARRHŒA, CHOLERA, AND DYSENTERY, and
Effectually cuts short all attacks of Spasms.
The only palliative in NEURALGIA, RHEUMATISM, TOOTHACHE.
None genuine without the words "DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE" on the stamp.
Convincing Medical Testimony accompanies each bottle.
Of all Chemists, 1/1½, 2/9, and 4/6.

DELICIOUS COFFEE,
RED WHITE & BLUE
For Breakfast & after Dinner.

TRADE MARK. No. 514,135.
Velvet Grip
Registered Trade Mark No. 504004.
Abdominal Hose Supporter with BELT.
Compress
Made in England.
(Patent No. 16888/08 and under Licence of Patent 24215/99.)
Original Velvet Grip Hose Supporter Rubber Button.
These Hose Supporters fit the form like a glove; they gently but firmly depress the abdomen, they are healthful and hygienic. The Support and Compress are always light, graceful, easy, natural, and comfortable. The latest and best form reducer and belt supporter.
They hold UP without dragging the figure DOWN.
Fitted with adjustment for keeping suspender in correct position. Entirely supported from the back of the wearer. Supersedes all others. Easy to take off.
C5—1/6½ each. C15.—1/11½ each. C20.—2/6 each. Postage, 1d. extra.
If unable to obtain from your Draper, apply to the Manufactory, HACKNEY RD. WORKS, LONDON, N.E.

LONDON THEATRES.

GAIETY THEATRE.
Manager, Mr. George Edwardes.
EVERY EVENING at 8.
A Musical Play,
"OUR MISS GIBBS."
MATINEE SATURDAY NEXT, at 2.
Box-Office open daily 10 till 10.

ST. JAMES'S.
MR. GEORGE ALEXANDER.
Every Evening at 9.
"THE IMPORTANCE OF BEING EARNEST."
By Oscar Wilde.
MR. GEORGE ALEXANDER
and Mr. Allan Aynesworth in their original parts.
At 8.30, "A MAKER OF MEN," by Alfred Sutro.
MATINEE (both Plays), EVERY WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY, at 2.30.

DALY'S THEATRE.
EVERY EVENING at 8.
Mr. GEORGE EDWARDES'
New Production,
"THE DOLLAR PRINCESS."
A Musical Play, in Three Acts.
Matinée Every Saturday at 2.
Box-office (Mr. H. W. Anderson) open 10 till 10.

COMEDY THEATRE.
Sole Lessee and Manager, Arthur Chudleigh.
Every Evening at 9.
CHARLES FROHMAN presents
"Alias JIMMY VALENTINE."
a New Play in Three Acts by Paul Armstrong.
The cast includes
GERALD DU MAURIER.
At 8.30, NINA GORDON at a Piano.
MATINEE EVERY WED. and SAT. at 2.30.

KING'S THEATRE, W.
Telephone, 119 HAMMERSMITH.
Owner and Resident-Manager, J. B. Mulholland.

For dates at Marlborough, the King's, and the New Wimbledon Theatre, address King's T., W.

MARLBOROUGH THEATRE.
Managing-Directors,
Mr. Ernest Stevens and Mr. R. C. Buchanan.
Nightly, 7.45. Matinée, Thursday, 2.30, "A GIRL'S TEMPTATION."
May 30, D'Oyly Carte Opera Co.
Address all communications re dates to Mr. J. B. Mulholland, King's Theatre, Hammersmith, W. All other communications to Messrs. Stevens and Buchanan, Marlborough T., N. 'Phone 131 North.

ROYAL COUNTY THEATRE,
KINGSTON-ON-THAMES.
May 23.
VARIETIES Twice Nightly.
Mr. PETER DAVEY, Managing-Director.
Telephone, No. 58, Kingston-on-Thames.
Telegrams, "Theatre, Kingston-on-Thames."

MASKELYNE and DEVANT'S
MYSTERIES, St. George's Hall, W.
Daily, at 3 and 8.
New and Startling Mysteries. Pictures of the Royal Funeral, &c., &c.
Seats 1s. to 5s.
'Phone, 1545 Mayfair.

LONDON MUSIC HALLS.

PALACE.
Anna Pavlova, Michael Mordkin, Russia's Acknowledged Greatest Dancers and Co., Margaret Cooper, Clarice Vance, Albert Whelan, Funeral of H.M. King Edward (in natural colours), Exclusive Pictures on Bioscope, &c.
Evenings at 8.
Matinée full programme, Saturdays at 2.
Special Matinée Wednesdays at 3.
Managing-Director, Mr. ALFRED BUTT.

OXFORD.
Little Tich, Wilkie Bard, T. E. Dunville, Harry Tate in "Veri 'ot Taterplane," Chas. Whittle, Morny Cash, Ed. Lauri and May Beatty, playing "The Lady Bandits," Kitty Colyer, Geo. Newburn, Daunton Shaw Troupe, Beattie and Babs, Josie Delaine, Minnie Mace, Ernie Mayne, Larola, José Collins, Harry Thurston, Dan Crawley, Ruffell's Bioscope.
Open 7.20. Saturday Matinées 2.15.

TIVOLI.—
WILKIE BARD—LILIAN HERLEIN,
Victoria Monks, Violet Loraine, Austin Latham, Hanid Alexander, Cinquevalli, T. E. Dunville, Harry Randall, Tom Woottwell, The Schmettans, The Warsaw Brothers, King and Benson, Daisy Dormer, and others.
Open 7.40, Saturday Matinées, 2.15.

METROPOLITAN.
Twice Nightly, at 6.40 and 9.10.
Fred Poplar, Hanid Alexander, Ray and Calden, Harry Weldon, Lauri and Beattie, Queenie Finnis, Archie Goodall, Jack Warman, Kitty Wager, Four Royal Scots, Pictures.

EMPIRE, Camberwell.
Proprietor (Debenture Holder), FRANK POSTLETHWAITE.
6.30 Twice Nightly. 9 o'clock.
Mumford and Marsh, Iris Fox, Jack Straw, Bros. Werds, Jack McKenzie, Richard Finberg, Arthur Clifton, Frank Lister's Co. in "No. 99," The Arbras, Jeapes' Animated Graphic, Arthur Lennox.

CHELSEA PALACE,
KING'S-ROAD, CHELSEA.
Twice Nightly, at 6.30 and 9.10.
Annie Hughes and Co. in "Napoleon's Washerwoman," Jack Lorimer, George Newburn, Warsaw Bros., Dare Austin and Co., Mona Garrick, Daisy Stratton, Ruffell's Bioscope, Ella Lorraine, The Poluskis.

QUEEN'S PALACE OF VARIETIES,
HIGH-STREET, POPLAR. Tel. 714 East.
Proprietors, F. and M. ABRAHAMS.
General-Manager, Mr. Morris Abrahams. Twice nightly, 6.30 and 9.10. Matinée Thursday, 2.30.
Rehearsal 1 o'clock Monday, May 23. Geo. A. Street and Co. present "The Cattle Thief." Lena French, Bioscope, Alice Maydue, King's Funeral, Roze and Calvert, Joan Lake and Co., Rubie and Renee, Frank Couch, Glayds Whitton, Fred Herbert, Carney and Armstrong. Artists must forward bill matter to above, according to Clause 18.

THE NEW BEDFORD
PALACE OF VARIETIES, LTD.
Twice Nightly 6.10 and 9.
Monday, May 23.
Webb's Notions, Albert Le Fre and Co., Lucy Coventry, Prince Kuroki, Jack Heath, Lilian Oates, The Three Cunards, Johnson and Jane, Trixo, Cameron Matthews and Co., Schaffer Four, Bioscope, Lennie and Hast, &c.
Artists are notified that they must send their full Bill Matter in two clear weeks before opening. Rehearsal, 1 o'clock Mondays. All must attend. Artists not complying with the above rules are subject to having their Contracts cancelled at option of Management.

ROYAL STANDARD MUSIC HALL
(facing Victoria Station).—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. T. S. DICKIE.—One House Nightly. Monday, 23rd: Louis Taylor's Co. in "The Adder's Tooth," Mooney and Holbein, Ted Cowan, Carlotta Levey, Three Trees, Clare and Pastor, Lily Lonsdale, Woolmer Young, Mabel Mignon, Elsie Athas, Ernie Myers, Edisonograph. Rehearsal Monday 1 o'clock. Open 7.30. Saturday, 7 o'clock, with augmented programme. Tele., 503 Westminster. Assistant-Man., Mr. MAURICE VOLNY.

LONDON MUSIC HALLS.

ALHAMBRA.
Patriotic Ballet,
"OUR FLAG."
MLLE. BRITTA, Premiere Danseuse.
Three Sisters Athletas, Lalla Selbini, Rothig, Charles Baron, Francis Marty, The Excellos, Toch and Tard, Russell and Held, Coram, Jury's Pictures, Funeral Procession of King Edward VII. Evenings 8. Man.-Director, ALFRED MOUL.

EMPIRE (Leicester-square).
LYDIA KYASHT and ADOLF BOLM,
in New Series of DANCE IDYLLS.
"HULLO! LONDON."
MILLIE LEGARDE, J. F. McARDLE, &c.
"EAST AND WEST," FRED FARREN, &c.,
Petit Roberto, Signor Barbalonga.
Elsie Wulff, and Waldoff, &c.
Evenings at 8.
Manager, Mr. H. J. HITCHINS.

ACADEMIES AND SCHOOLS.

ROYAL ACADEMY OF MUSIC,
TENTERDEN-STREET, W.
Instituted 1822. Incorporated by Royal Charter, 1830.
The Academy offers to Pupils of both sexes an opportunity of receiving a thorough education in Music in all its branches, the Drama, and Dramatic Elocution under the most eminent Professors.
For terms and all other information, apply to
F. W. RENAUT, Secretary.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC
(Incorporated by Royal Charter, 1883).
Prince Consort-road, South Kensington, S.W.
Director, Sir C. Hubert H. Parry, Bart., C.V.O., D.C.L., M.A., Mus. Doc.
Hon. Sec., Charles Morley, Esq.
Syllabus and Official Entry Forms may be obtained from FRANK POWNALL, Registrar.

GUILDHALL SCHOOL OF MUSIC.
Established and Managed by the Corporation of London.
The only School in London for
OPERATIC and THEATRICAL TRAINING which possesses a completely equipped Theatre. Public Performances periodically given. Stagecraft, Elocution, Fencing, Gesture, Stage Dancing, and Deportment Taught by Eminent Professors. Half-term commences Mon., June 6. New Pupils can enter at any time.
FEES MODERATE. Prospectus on application to H. SAXE-WYNDHAM, Sec., Victoria-embankment, E.C. Tel. No. 1943 Holborn.

TRINITY COLLEGE OF MUSIC
(Inst. 1872). Chairman of Board:
Sir Frederick Bridge, M.V.O., Mus.D., M.A.
Director of Studies:
G. E. Bambridge, F.T.C.L., F.R.A.M.
Director of Examinations: C. W. Pearce, Mus.D.
Students may join at any time and are received for a single subject or the course. May 23, at 5 p.m., Students' Concert. Prospectus and Concert Tickets post free on application.
SHELLEY FISHER, Secretary.
Mandeville-place, Manchester-square, London, W.

FUNDS, &c.

ROYAL GENERAL THEATRICAL FUND.
FOR MEMBERS BECOMING INCAPACITATED EITHER BY OLD AGE OR INFIRMITY.
Hon. Treasurer, Edward Terry, Esq., J.P.
Subscribers are requested to send notices of alteration of addresses.
Charles Cruikshanks, Secretary,
Savoy House, 115-116, Strand.

ACTORS' BENEVOLENT FUND.
8, ADAM-STREET, STRAND.
C. I. Colson, Secretary.

ACTORS' ASSOCIATION.
32 REGENT-STREET, PICCADILLY-CIRCUS, W.
Free Medical Advice.
Free Legal Advice.
Agency. Tours Booked.
Telegrams, "Actoris, London."
Telephone, 1753 Gerrard.

THE MANAGERS' CLUB
and
TOURING MANAGERS' ASSOCIATION, LTD.
For particulars of Membership, apply to The Secretary, Savoy-mansions, Strand, W.C. Telegraphic address, "Playwright, London." Telephone 8458 Gerrard.

MUSIC HALL SICK FUND.
Founded in 1867.
Committee Meetings second Wednesday in the month at 4 p.m.
Sick Payments—£1 for 6d. per week, £1 10s. for 9d. per week. £10 paid to nearest relative on death of member. President, Mr. FRED KARNO. Hon. Auditors, Messrs. W. Briscoe and T. Carney. Trustees, Messrs. H. Jennings, Jesse Sparrow, and Douglas White; Vice-President, Mr. W. J. Wainratta; Treasurer, Mr. Pat Carey; Secretary, Mr. R. T. Baines. Address all communications, the Crown Hotel, Charing Cross-road, W.C.

COLONIAL THEATRES.

AUSTRALIA.
MELBOURNE, SYDNEY, BRISBANE, WELLINGTON, N.Z.
Mr. J. C. Williamson,
Manager of the Leading Australasian Theatres,
HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE, MELBOURNE;
HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE, SYDNEY;
THEATRE ROYAL, SYDNEY;
HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE, BRISBANE.
London Representative,
J. A. E. Malone, Adelphi Theatre

AUSTRALIA.
MR. HARRY RICKARDS,
Sole Proprietor and Manager,
GRAND OPERA HOUSE MELBOURNE;
PRINCE OF WALES' HOTEL, MELBOURNE;
TIVOLI THEATRE, SYDNEY;
TIVOLI HOTEL, SYDNEY;
TIVOLI THEATRE, ADELAIDE;
PALACE THEATRE AND GARDENS, PERTH.
Address all communications, Head Office, Tivoli Theatre, Sydney. Cable Address, "Tivolian, Sydney." General-Manager, John C. Leete.

AUSTRALIA and NEW ZEALAND.
GEORGE MARLOW'S ENTERPRISES.
London Agent,
EDWARD THANE.
15, Mount Pleasant-lane, Upper Clapton, N.E.

BOMBAY. — CALCUTTA.
BOMBAY.—CALCUTTA.
EMPIRE AND NOVELTY THEATRES, BOMBAY.
GRAND OPERA HOUSE, CALCUTTA.
Cables:
"Soundy, Bombay."
"Operahouse, Calcutta."
The Finest and Most Up-to-date Theatres in the East.
Apply,
Soundy and Co., Ltd.,
Bombay;
or,
Manager,
Grand Opera House,
Calcutta.

COLONIAL THEATRES.

INDIA AND THE FAR EAST.
BANDMANN'S EASTERN CIRCUIT.
MAURICE E. BANDMANN controls
the only Circuit of Theatres in the East, and can offer attractions a Twelve to Eighteen Months' Consecutive Tour.
Rent! Share! or Certainty!
ROYAL OPERA HOUSE, BOMBAY.
Joint Owners, Maurice E. Bandmann and J. F. Karaka. District Manager, F. Mitchell.
The Premier Theatre of Bombay!
This new and magnificent three-tier theatre, now under course of erection, built on the cantilever principle, will be opened in October next. Holding capacity at ordinary prices £300. Every modern improvement. Stage capable of any production.
EMPIRE THEATRE, CALCUTTA.
Joint Owners, Maurice E. Bandmann and A. Stephen. District Manager, J. Bury.
Acknowledged by Press and Public as the Premier Theatre of the East!
Now in its second year of unprecedented success. Holding capacity at ordinary prices £360. A magnificent four-tier playhouse, built on the cantilever principle, with modern mechanical stage capable of any production.
A play palace.—Vide Press.
At last Calcutta has a theatre where one can both see and hear in.—Vide Press.
A Manager writes:—I have taken more money at the Empire, Calcutta, in one night than in another theatre in Calcutta in one week.
THEATRE ROYAL, CALCUTTA.
Sole Owner, A. Stephen. Joint Lessees, Maurice E. Bandmann and A. Stephen.
Holding capacity at ordinary prices £250.
THE FAR EAST.
District Manager, Roy H. Smith.
Address all communications to District Managers or to London Representative, 44, Cranbourn-street, W.C. Cables, "Svengali," London. "Svengali," Calcutta. "Svengali," Bombay.

NEW ZEALAND.
FULLER'S AMUSEMENT ENTERPRISES.
Props., JOHN FULLER AND SONS.
AUCKLAND OPERA HOUSE, SKATING RINK (shortly building).
WELLINGTON THEATRE R. (shortly re-building) HIS MAJESTY'S OLYMPIA RINK.
CHRISTCHURCH OPERA H., COLOSSEUM.
DUNEDIN, HIS MAJESTY'S, ALHAMBRA, and PRINCESS THEATRES.
INVERCARGILL, ZEALANDIA HALL.
Head Office, Wellington.

PROVINCIAL THEATRES.

ALDERSHOT.—THEATRE ROYAL.
SPRING DRAMATIC SEASON.
NEW EMPIRE, KINGSTON (now building).
Address, Mr. Clarence Sounes, 18, Walpole-road, Surbiton, Surrey. Telephone, 1200 P.O., Kingston.

BIRMINGHAM.
CURZON HALL.
Holding capacity about 3000.
To Let
for various dates
during 1910 and 1911.
Suitable for Circus, Diorama, &c.
For particulars apply to
Edmund W. Beech,
Chartered Accountant,
37, Temple-street,
Birmingham.

BLACKPOOL.
HER MAJESTY'S OPERA HOUSE, WINTER GARDENS,
The PRINCIPAL THEATRE.
Holds MORE MONEY at ORDINARY PRICES and has better average business throughout the Year than any Theatre in the Town.
The Most Comfortable, Elegant, and Best equipped Theatre, Large and Well Electric Lighted Stage, and First-class Orchestra.
All visitors to the Theatre have Free Admission to the Winter Gardens, Floral Hall, Empress Ballroom, and Pavilion Entertainments; thus Companies visiting Her Majesty's Opera House have this additional attraction, which no other Theatre can offer. Only best No. 1 Companies Booked. For Dates address, Jno. R. Huddlestone, Manager, Winter Gardens, Blackpool.

BLACKPOOL.
GRAND THEATRE, BLACKPOOL,
under the entirely new Proprietorship and Management of the Blackpool Tower Co., Ltd.
General-Manager, Geo. H. Harrop.
Acting-Manager, Geo. P. Harrop.
The Finest, most Popular, and High Record Money-holding Theatre at ordinary prices in the town. Charmingly re-decorated and re-appointed throughout. A beautiful, luxurious, and perfectly appointed playhouse. Spacious and brilliantly-lighted stage. Superior dressing-rooms. Magnificent Orchestra.
Only Vacancies this year, June 27, July 4, and Oct. 24, No. 1 Companies only.
All communications, which should be made at once, to Geo. H. Harrop, General-Manager, as above; or, Mr. E. Lockwood, 5, Winterbrook-road, Herne Hill, London, S.E. Teles., "Tower, Blackpool."

BRIGHTON.
MARINE PALACE AND PIER.
Manager, F. W. Walkington. Tele. 341.
The Finest Pier in the Kingdom.
Brilliantly illuminated with 6,000 incandescent and 32 powerful arc lamps. First-class Military Bands during Season. Handsome and luxuriously furnished Theatre, stage seen from every seat, wind and rain covered way from Pier entrance. Chief tram terminus opposite.
Theatre Vacant after Sept. 30; tenant required.

CAMBRIDGE.—NEW THEATRE (Ltd.)
Man.-Directors, Mr. W. B. Redfern, J.P., D.L.
A theatre among the most beautiful in England.—Sunday Times.
Now booking Autumn Dates for this year and Spring of 1911.
Silence a polite negative.

CHESTERFIELD.—Correspondent Required to supply Theatrical Reports Weekly. Address, Dramaticus, c/o "The Era," 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

CORK. — OPERA HOUSE.
Wanted Companies,
May 30.
Autumn Dates rapidly filling.
Apply to R. J. Bell, Manager.

DOUGLAS. — GRAND THEATRE.
The Premier Theatre in the Isle of Man.
Have July 11 & 25 open for First-class Attractions.
Address, Jas. Buck, Sec., 30, Brown-st., Manchester.

GRIMSBY.—PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE, LTD.
Established 1884.
Managing-Director, Joseph H. Curry.
Open all the Year Round.
Telegraphic add., "Curry, Grimsby." Tel. No. 240.

HERNE BAY
URBAN DISTRICT COUNCIL.
All applications for Shares or Rental of the TOWN HALL THEATRE,
PIER PAVILION THEATRE, and various Al-fresco Sites, &c., to be made to the Entertainment-Manager, Arthur J. Barclay, Town Hall, Herne Bay.

LEAMINGTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.
Vacant Dates, June 13, Sept. 5, onwards, with exceptions.
Address, B. Dottridge, Empire, Oldham.

PROVINCIAL THEATRES.

LONDON, S.E.—Correspondent Required to supply occasional reports of the Rotherhithe Hippodrome. Apply, Dramaticus, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

MERTHYR. — THEATRE ROYAL.
MERTHYR.—THEATRE ROYAL.
MERTHYR.—THEATRE ROYAL.
MERTHYR.—THEATRE ROYAL.
MERTHYR.—THEATRE ROYAL.
MERTHYR.—THEATRE ROYAL.
MERTHYR.—THEATRE ROYAL.
MERTHYR.—THEATRE ROYAL.
MERTHYR.—THEATRE ROYAL.
MERTHYR.—THEATRE ROYAL.
MERTHYR.—THEATRE ROYAL.
Lessees, The South Wales Entertainments, Ltd.
Visited by all high-class Companies, including "Arcadians," "Merry Widow," "Gay Gordons," "When Knights Were Bold," Moody-Manners, &c.
Managers are requested to apply now for dates, Oct. 3, 10, 17, Nov. 28, Dec. 5, onwards, to A. Jackson Withers, at above.

NORWICH. — THEATRE ROYAL.
Now booking Autumn.
Weekly Matinées for Country Visitors.
Silence a polite negative.
Fred Morgan, Manager.

OLDHAM. — GRAND THEATRE.
One of the Finest Theatres in England.
Vacant for High-class Attractions.
Sept. 5, onwards, with exceptions.
Can entertain Big Panto., Xmas, four weeks.
Visited by Mr. Oscar Asche, Miss Lily Brayton, Mr. Martin Harvey, Moody-Manners Opera Co., Mr. Geo. Edwardes's Co's., Mr. Robert Courtneidge's Co's., "The Arcadians," &c., "Brewster's Millions," Mr. Jas. Welch, Mr. Geo. Dance's Co's., Mr. Frank Curzon's Co's., The D'Oyly Carte Opera Co., Mr. Richard Flanagan's Productions.
Address, Ernest Dottridge.

OXFORD. — NEW THEATRE.
Managers of First-class Companies are invited to apply for Dates to
Mr. C. C. Dorrill,
Managing-Director,
Silence a polite negative.

PLYMOUTH.—THEATRE ROYAL
Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. Langdon Lee.
Vacant dates, May 30 and July 25 (Musical Comedy). Vacant next spring, March 6, 13, 27, April 3, 10, 24.

PORTSMOUTH. — NEW THEATRE ROYAL.
Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton.
Open throughout the year.
First-class Companies.
Weekly Matinées.

REDRUTH, CORNWALL.
DRUIDS' HALL.
Population of District, 20,000. Hall Holds 700.
Stage, 36ft. by 16ft. Electric light.
Dates and Terms, apply Owen Hill, Secretary, Public Rooms Co., Ltd., Redruth.

ROCHDALE.—Correspondent Required to supply Theatrical Reports Weekly. Address, Dramaticus, c/o "The Era," 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

SOUTHPORT. — OPERA HOUSE.
Lessee and Manager, Percy Hutchison.
Vacant.
Sept. 12 (?), Oct. 17, 24, Nov. 14, 21.

SUNDERLAND.—KING'S THEATRE.
Lessee and Manager, S. F. Davidson.
Business Manager, Lloyd Townrow.
Visited by all the best companies, including Geo. Alexander, Lewis Waller, Oscar Asche, Martin Harvey, Geo Graves, Moody-Manners, D'Oyly Carte, "Arcadians," "Merry Widow," &c., &c.
A few vacant dates in the Autumn.

WALSALL.—Correspondent Required to supply weekly reports of the theatres and music halls.—Apply, "Dramaticus," 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

WORKSOP.—Correspondent Required to supply Theatrical Reports Weekly. Address, Dramaticus, c/o "The Era," 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

A FEW VACANT DATES
for the following
First-class Theatre Circuit:—
OPERA HOUSE, TUNBRIDGE WELLS;
GRAND THEATRE, SOUTHAMPTON;
THEATRE ROYAL, BOURNEMOUTH;
OPERA HOUSE, CORK;
THE GRAND THEATRE, SWANSEA, can be booked in conjunction with the OPERA H., CORK. Journey via the popular Fishguard-Rosslare route.
GAIETY THEATRE, DUBLIN;
THEATRE ROYAL, DUBLIN;
OPERA HOUSE, BELFAST.
Apply, Fredk. Mouillot,
1 and 2, King-street, Covent Garden.

SCALE OF CHARGES FOR PROVINCIAL THEATRES AND PROVINCIAL MUSIC HALLS.
Five Lines, TWO and SIXPENCE.
Thirteen Insertions (Including a Copy of "The Era" Weekly), THIRTY SHILLINGS.
For Each Additional Line, Sixpence.
Address, the Publisher,
5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.
"Wire," "The Era," London.
"Ring-up," 4747 or 1433 Central.

AN APOLOGY.
It having been stated that I, Fred Morgan, of 1, Norfolk House, Brixton Oval, S.W., made certain disparaging remarks in regard to Mr. Wentworth Croke, of Piccadilly Mansions, 17, Shaftesbury-avenue, W., I wish hereby to put on record that there is no ground or justification whatsoever for my remarks in the matter, and I wish it to be clearly understood that I have apologised to Mr. Croke for my part in the matter, and I send this notice with a view of undoing, so far as I can, any harm I may have done to Mr. Croke by my unfounded statements.—Yours faithfully, (Signed) FRED MORGAN.
May 18, 1910.

Price 3s. 6d. Post free 3s. 10d.

THE LAW OF COPYRIGHT FOR ACTOR AND COMPOSER.
By ALBERT A. STRONG, LL.B. (Lond.).

Chapter I.
COPYRIGHT AS OPPOSED TO PERFORMING RIGHT.

Chapter II.
PERFORMING RIGHT.

Chapter III.
INFRINGEMENT AND REMEDIES.

CHAPTER IV.
MUSICAL COPYRIGHT.

Chapter V.
INTERNATIONAL AND COLONIAL COPYRIGHT.

Published at "The Era" Offices, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

PLAYERS OF THE PERIOD.

ALPHABETICAL LIST
OF
ILLUSTRATED BIOGRAPHIES.

Albury, Mr. Eric H.	Feb. 5, 1910
Allan, Mr. Charles	Jan. 2, 1910
Anderson, Mr. William	May 29, 1909
Anthony, Mr. Mark	Jan. 1, 1910
Arnold, Mr. Harold	Nov. 6, 1909
Austin and Cowan	Feb. 5, 1910
Barbour, late Mr. William	Feb. 19, 1910
Barclay, Miss Lila	July 24, 1909
Barrasford, late Mr. Thomas	Feb. 5, 1910
Barratt, Mr. Lester	Oct. 23, 1909
Bassett, Mr. Leon Alfred	July 3, 1909
Beltram, Miss Josie	Jan. 22, 1910
Black, Mr. Kenneth	Nov. 20, 1909
Blackwood, Miss Nancy	March 12, 1910
Blanchard, Miss Mildred	Nov. 27, 1909
Box, Mr. Ted E.	Nov. 6, 1909
Boyde, late Mr. Edwin	Nov. 6, 1909
Braithwaite, Mrs. J. W.	April 30, 1910
Brand, Late Mr. Oswald	Aug. 28, 1909
Brough, late Mr. Lionel	Nov. 13, 1909
Broughton, Mr. W. H.	Jan. 22, 1910
Buonaparte, Mr. Juan	July 31, 1909
Bushell, Mr. Albert	Nov. 20, 1909
Calvert, Mr. Cayley	Feb. 12, 1910
Carpenter, Late Mr. Ernest	Jan. 1, 1910
Carpenter, Mr. F. W.	March 5, 1910
Carr, Mr. James	March 5, 1910
Caselli, Sisters	Nov. 13, 1909
Cecil, Mr. Douglas	Aug. 21, 1909
Chapman, Miss Ida Assheton	Dec. 18, 1909
Clarkson, Mr. Willie	Jan. 29, 1910
Clifton, Miss Dorothy	Feb. 12, 1910
Clyffe, Miss Dolly	Jan 22, 1910
Colley, Mr. Herbert	Jan. 22, 1910
Collingwood, Mr. Lester	March 26, 1910
Collins, Late Miss Lottie	May 7, 1910
Collins, Mr. Arthur	Feb. 26, 1910
Colyer, Miss Kitty	June 19, 1909
Conway, Late Mr. H. B.	Aug. 21, 1909
Corri, Mlle. Ghita	April 23, 1910
Cranston, Mr. Edward	June 26, 1909
Craven, Miss Elise	Jan. 1, 1910
Cross, Late Mr. A. B.	Jan. 8, 1910
Curlette, Miss Cissie	Oct. 23, 1909
Dallas, Mr. J. J.	Sept. 4, 1909
Dalton, Miss Florence	July 31, 1909
D'Arc, Mr. W. J.	Aug. 28, 1909
Dare, Mr. Charles	Sept. 11, 1909
Darien, Mr. Philip	Feb. 5, 1910
Darling, Jessie	Oct. 2, 1909
Davidson and Mitchell	Aug. 7, 1909
Davies, Late Mr. Chas. J.	Jan. 29, 1910
Day, Mr. Harry W.	March 26, 1910
Delaine, Miss Josie	Feb. 12, 1910
Diamond, Master Cliff	Oct. 23, 1909
Earle, Miss Amy Lloyd	Feb. 5, 1910
Edgar, Late Mr. J. W.	Aug. 28, 1909
Erskine, Miss Ella	Sept. 18, 1909
Evans, late Mr. Evans	Nov. 6, 1909
Feldman, Mr. Bert	Feb. 12, 1910
Fern, Miss Sable	Jan. 22, 1910
Ferris, Mr. Edward	March 26, 1910
Ford-Howitt, Miss Gladys	Jan. 22, 1910
Ford, Mr. Herbert	May 7, 1910
Ford, Late Mr. T. W.	Sept. 18, 1909
Foster, Mr. Edward	Aug. 28, 1909
Franklin, Miss Irene	Aug. 14, 1909
Gibbons, Mr. Walter	Feb. 5, 1910
Gittins, Mr. Ernest Ch.	Feb. 5, 1910
Graydon, Mr. J. L.	Jan. 15, 1910
Greatwich, Miss Dulcie	May 22, 1909
Gregory, Mr. Walner	Jan. 15, 1910
Grossmith, sen., Mr. George	June 5, 1909
Groves, jun., Mr. Charles	May 15, 1909
Hales, Late Mrs. Martha	Oct. 2, 1909
Hampton, Miss Louise	Aug. 14, 1909
Hardacre, Mr. J. Pitt	Oct. 23, 1909
Hargreaves, Mr. W. H.	April 23, 1910
Harwood, Late Mr. Robb	Feb. 26, 1910
Hastings-Batson, Mr. J.	March 5, 1910
Heath, Late Mr. Frank	Dec. 18, 1909
Herbert, Miss Katharine	June 26, 1909
Herries, Miss Lillian	July 3, 1909
Hickman, Mr. Charles D.	April 23, 1910
Housley, Miss Edith	Aug. 7, 1909
Hudson, late Mr. T. P.	July 3, 1909
Illing, Late Mme. Meta	Jan. 1, 1910
Jenoure, Miss Aida	July 17, 1909
Jerome, Miss Daisy	Nov. 13, 1909
Jerrarde, Miss Maisie	April 10, 1909
Kenney, Late Mr. Chas. H.	Sept. 25, 1909
Kitts, Mr. Charles S.	Feb. 12, 1910
Knight, Miss Agnes	July 10, 1909
Law, Master Cecil Howard	April 24, 1909
Leon, late Mr. Frank	Nov. 6, 1909
Lilburn Mr. Charles	Sept. 4, 1909
Lloyd, Mr. Tom	May 7, 1910
Lockhart, Mr. William	Nov. 27, 1909
Lomath, Mr. Stuart	May 22, 1909
Loveday, Late Mr. H. J.	April 2, 1910
Mack, Miss Bertha Doud	Dec. 25, 1909
Mackay, Miss Ida	Feb. 12, 1910
Mackay, Mr. A. B.	Feb. 12, 1910
Mapleson, Colonel	April 23, 1910
May, Miss Daisy	April 2, 1910
Melford, Mr. Austin G.	April 10, 1909
Melion, Late Mrs. Alfred	Sept. 11, 1909
Melville, Mr. Andrew	Oct. 2, 1909
Montague, Little Constance	April 30, 1910
Moore, Late Mr. G. W.	Oct. 2, 1909
Morell, Miss Daisy	July 17, 1909
Morgan, Miss Dorma	Dec. 25, 1909
Morgan, Miss Mabelle	Oct. 30, 1909
Moss, Mr. Hugh	June 12, 1909
Newall, late Mr. Richard	Oct. 30, 1909
Nolan, Late Mr. Michael	Jan. 15, 1910
Payne-Seddon, Mr. W.	April 16, 1910
Pembroke, Mr. Clifford	Sept. 4, 1909
Penso, Mr. R.	Nov. 27, 1909
Perrette, Mr. W. H.	Jan. 22, 1910
Phillipini, Madame Jeannette	Feb. 5, 1910
Power, Mr. Oscar	March 12, 1910
Pringle, Mr. William	April 23, 1910
Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. M. F.	Dec. 18, 1909
Reeves, Fred and Horace	Jan. 1, 1910
Rexos, The	Aug. 28, 1909
Reynolds, Mr. Walter, L.C.C.	Jan. 1, 1910
Reynolds, Mr. Walter	Nov. 6, 1909
Richardson, Miss Dorothy	Feb. 5, 1910
Robina, Miss Fanny	July 31, 1909
Russon, Mr. Harry	March 5, 1910
Salambos, The	Jan. 8, 1910
Sargent, Mr. Frederic	Feb. 5, 1910
Schalkenbach, Late Herr	April 16, 1910
Scott, Mr. Bennett	Oct. 16, 1909
Selwynne, Miss Clarissa	Feb. 5, 1910
Shaw, Late Mr. Sydney	April 23, 1910
Simms, Rosa and Kitty	Nov. 20, 1909
Smith, Miss Mary Stafford	April 17, 1909
Smith, Late Mr. Vere	Jan. 29, 1910
Somerfield, Late Mr Fred C.	Feb. 26, 1910
Stanmore, Mr. Frank	May 29, 1909
Stretton, Mr. Alfred	March 26, 1910
Stuart, Miss Eva	Dec. 25, 1909
Stuart, Mr. Dudley	April 2, 1910
Studt, Mr. Henry	Oct. 2, 1909
Swinerd, Late Mr Henry	Jan. 8, 1910
Thorne, Miss Ellaline	May 29, 1909
Tracy, Miss Louie	March 12, 1910
Tracy, Mr. Howard L.	April 30, 1910
Trevosper, Miss Marguerite	July 3, 1909
Victor, Mr. Frederick	Dec. 18, 1909
Victoria, Miss Vesta	April 10, 1909
Vine, Miss Lily	March 26, 1910
Vint, Mr. Leon	Jan. 8, 1910
Wagner, Mr. Harold	May 22, 1909
Wakeford, Miss Marion	Feb. 26, 1910
Ward, Miss Maud E.	Jan. 8, 1910
Warren, Mr. Charles	Oct. 30, 1909
Watson, Mr. John E.	July 10, 1909
Wellesley, Mr. Alfred	Feb. 5, 1910
Wentworth, Miss Fanny	Feb. 5, 1910
White, Mr. Will	Feb. 12, 1910
Whitling, Mr. Townsend	Feb. 12, 1910
Wilson, Late Mr. Charles	July 31, 1909
Winslow, Mr. Samuel E.	Dec. 11, 1909
Woottwell, Mr. Tom	Aug. 7, 1909
Workman, Mr. C. H.	Sept. 11, 1909
Wynne, Miss Molly	July 10, 1909
Wynne, Mr. Edwin H.	Feb. 12, 1910

Copies of "The Era" containing the above can be obtained, price 6d. each for any issue 1910; other dates double price.

Address, The Publisher, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

THEATRICAL SHOE AND HOSIERY MANUFACTURERS,
MAKERS TO THE PRINCIPAL LONDON THEATRES.

Louis Heel Dancing Shoes a Speciality.
Sixty Art Shades of Linen Back Satin, Specially Woven for the Manufacture of Dancing Shoes, kept in stock.
This Satin has a Fine Lustre, and is almost as Strong as Leather.

Large Stock of Pure and Spun Silk Tights, Worsted and Cotton Tights, Opera Hose, Stockings, &c.
A Special Study made of Symmetrical Paddings.
The Most Up-to-Date Stock of Stage Requisites and Sundries.
Everything of the Best and at Store Prices.

H. and M. RAYNE,
115, 117, and 119, WATERLOO-ROAD, LONDON, S.E.
(Opposite Electric Tram Terminus).
Tel. 7978 Central. Telegrams, Raynaloo, London.
And at 49, Charing Cross-road, W.C. (near Hippo).

TO OUR READERS.
A SINGLE COPY OF "THE ERA."
Post Free to any Address in the United Kingdom for SIX STAMPS.
Telegraphic Address, "The Era, London."
Address, THE PUBLISHER,
"The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-st., Strand, W.C.

THE ERA

SATURDAY, MAY 21, 1910.

THE CENSORSHIP AND ITS ALTERNATIVE.

Last year considerable space in the newspapers was devoted to the proceedings of a committee which sat to consider the desirability of abolishing the Censorship in Great Britain; and the arguments against its existence were plausible and numerous. According to the opponents of the existing arrangement, it simply crushed the imaginations of all our best would-be dramatists. Mr. THOMAS HARDY was burning to write a play which would be equal, if not superior, to his best novels; he was prevented by fear of the Censorship. The only plays which were worth writing, said Mr. BERNARD SHAW in his evidence, were improper plays, the deduction being that the plays now written were not worth writing. "Away with the very word Censor, with its tiresome and hateful associations," cried Mr. HENRY ARTHUR JONES. Column after column was filled with the opinions of well-known personages, usually adverse to the existence of the Censorship. And, of course, nothing came of it. "Gentlemen," said SIÉYÈS to the tiers état on a celebrated occasion, "you are the same to-day as you were yesterday." At the conclusion of the sittings of the committee the Censorship in England was as safe and secure as ever.

The recent action of the Mayor of New York illustrates the working of the alternative system in America. The Mayor warmly endorsed the decision of the Chief Commissioner of Police in closing the New York Theatre on the ground that a play lately produced there, with the title of The Girl with the Whooping Cough, was improper. The New York critics, we are told, only discovered dullness in the play; but "the illustrated placards on the street hoardings seemed to suggest that it was risqué." The production had an element of interest for Englishmen in that our excellent comedian Mr. DALLAS WELFORD sustained a very amusing part in it.

The way in which the theatre came to be closed is interesting. The first stimulus to action came from certain friends of the Mayor, who called his attention to the "broad" nature of the farce. The Mayor then suggested to the Chief Commissioner of Police that he should go and see what the play was like. The Chief Commissioner adopted the suggestion, and was apparently so shocked by what he saw and heard on his visit that he refused to renew the licence of the New York Theatre, which had just expired, thereby closing the house and stopping, of course, the performances of the play. The Mayor thoroughly approved the action of the Chief Commissioner, and wrote to him: "Please do not renew the licence until you consult with me, and we get some guarantee of future decency."

But this is not to be the end of the Mayor's activity. His attention has been called to a German play called Alma, wo wohnst du? This piece appears to have been popular, for it has been played at New York, Chicago, and Cincinnati, and an English translation of it is being made for one of the Broadway theatres. The Mayor having received many complaints concerning this piece, which was being performed at the Grand Opera House, New York, requested the Chief Commissioner to send shorthand writers to take down all the indecent passages. "We have ample power," said the Mayor, "to enforce decency by revoking the licence and closing the theatre. Let us exercise it prudently but firmly."

Public opinion in New York is strongly on the side of the Mayor, and, with a few exceptions, his action is vigorously supported by the Press of the "Empire City." To us in England it seems as though the occasional errors of the Censorship system in London were more endurable than the peremptory despotism of New York. Here the wishes of the public are carried out, often imperfectly, but on the whole fairly, by a gentleman whose business it is to estimate public opinion, the author being prevented from producing an improper piece. There, not only the author, but the unfortunate actors and manager are punished for being concerned in the production of what is deemed to be an indecent play. And the estimate of its indecency is formed, not by an expert, but by a prominent police officer. It is obvious that the severity or laxity with which offences against public decency are judged and punished in New York must depend greatly on the personal characteristics of its leading officials. On the fact whether the Mayor and the Chief Commissioner of Police are prudes or Rabelaisians must depend the fate of many a "doubtful" and risqué play. Surely it is better to bear the comparatively consistent despotism of our Censor than to place our dramatic art at the mercy of a City Father and a higher grade of constable. Those who have advocated the abolition of the present Censorship seem to have overlooked the fact that a Censorship of some sort, representing average public opinion, there must be. By our system, plays are licensed or prohibited before production; and the method is very properly merciful to managers and to actors and actresses. It is very hard on a company to be suddenly disbanded and thrown upon their resources because the piece in which they have been appearing is deemed indelicate by a Mayor or a Commissioner of Police. Prevention is better than cure; and it seems more rational to let an author know beforehand that his piece, as it stands, cannot be licensed, than to "come down upon" him after the offence against decency has been committed, and involve in his punishment the manager of the theatre and the artists whom he has engaged.

MR. MANNERS AND MR. CROKE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—With reference to the correspondence you inserted between Mr. Croke and myself last Saturday, I shall be glad if you will publish the enclosed.—Yours faithfully,

ALFRED MANNERS.

Empire, Swindon, May 17.

[COPY.]

DEAR MR. CROKE,—There is a very serious misstatement upon your part in respect to the headlines in your letter to The Era. You state you sent a message to Mr. Pool from Liverpool giving him distinct instructions that on no account were the artists to appear. The facts are these: Mr. Pool came to my office at ten o'clock on Saturday morning. We agreed that he should telephone to you to at once ascertain what we should do. I saw Mr. Pool several times afterwards, when he informed me he had a reply to the effect you were in Liverpool, and he had wired you there. I again saw Mr. Pool at five o'clock. He then informed me (when Miss Manners was present) that he had heard nothing definite from you. Had he done so, and you had given such explicit instructions, we should certainly not have opened; indeed, anyone that knows how strict you are in respect to the management of your companies will doubtless realise that Mr. Pool's engagement with you would not have continued another twenty-four hours if he had acted contrary to your wishes. Apart from this, Mr. Pool and myself were most anxious to have your views, and had your message come along we should then have known what the provincial managers were doing, and should certainly have closed down. Instead of this, I had heard that the company I had last week were playing on that evening. The conclusion I came to was that the provincial managers were not closing down.—Yours faithfully,

A. MANNERS.

SIR,—I have just received the enclosed letter, which, I think, in fairness to the memory of the late Mr. Carpenter, should be given the publicity of your journal.—Yours faithfully,

WENTWORTH CROKE.

May 19.

[COPY.]

11, St. Edmund's-terrace,
Regent's Park,
London.

DEAR MR. CROKE,—Re your correspondence with Mr. Manners, and his introduction of the late Ernest Carpenter's name, concerning the opening of the Queen's Theatre, Swindon, on Jan. 22, 1901. The play was Two Little Vagabonds. The reason the performance was given was because the sad news did not reach us till our second act was well started. Mr. Carpenter was not in the town. A consultation was held, and it was decided, as we had got so far with the show, to let the audience sit quietly, and have the remainder. Mr. Manners cannot call that a precedent, and certainly there is no need to blame poor Mr. Carpenter for it.—Yours faithfully, (Signed),

ERIC G. MERRIS.

Wentworth Croke, Esq.

THE NATIONAL THEATRE.

The committee of the above think that the following letter from Mr. Forbes-Robertson may be of interest to our readers:—

[COPY.]

"DEAR SIRS,—I am sorry to say I have not been able to make any headway in the matter of a committee in New York in the interests of S.M.N.T. My time was very short, as I left there two weeks ago. However, matters are more hopeful in Canada. Last Friday, the 22nd, a dinner was given to His Excellency by the St. George's Society in Hamilton. In his speech Lord Grey called upon the city to start a subscription, which was there and then done. I got to the banquet late after the play, and in proposing my health Lord Grey mentioned that in less than an hour £500 had been collected at the tables. There is every reason to believe that his Excellency's interest in the Shakespeare Memorial National Theatre will cause subscriptions to be started in many of the other cities of Canada. I go to Toronto next week, and hope again to open the subject. I may mention that Lord Grey had the news cabled to the St. George's Society in London, so you may have heard of the incident through the Press. I venture to suggest that the Committee send a letter of thanks to his Excellency.—Yours truly,

"J. FORBES-ROBERTSON."

"The Touraine Hotel, Buffalo, April 29, 1910."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—I agree with all that Mr. Herbert Trench says in his letter of last Saturday about a dual theatre "properly endowed or supported and publicly recognised," but I presume that the initiative at present lies with the Executive Committee of the Shakespeare Memorial National Theatre. Is it not time that this committee met its General Committee and presented some report as to the work it has done during the last fourteen months?—Yours faithfully,

WILLIAM POEL.

May 18, 1910.

AN ACTOR'S TRIBUTE.

Mr. J. Gordon Wilson, an old Shakespearean actor, who is well known as the author of many patriotic poems, has received the following letter of acknowledgment from his Majesty King George V. of some "In Memoriam" verses to our late beloved King Edward VII. They are dedicated to the Actors' Benevolent Fund, in gratitude by the author of their many kindnesses during his long illness, and will be mounted upon art boards, with portrait of the late King, and published at 6d. each, for the benefit of the fund, should the committee accept the same.

[COPY.]

"Marlborough House, Pall Mall, S.W.,
"May 17, 1910.

"The Equerry-in-Waiting is commanded by the King to thank Mr. Gordon Wilson for his poem, and for his loyal and sympathetic message of condolence on the lamented death of his Most Gracious Majesty King Edward VII. of blessed memory.

"The King is sorry to hear Mr. Wilson is ill, and trusts he may soon recover his health."

[COPY.]

The verses ran as follows:—

"Black Friday." May 6, 1910.

IN MEMORIAM
Of our Late Beloved
KING EDWARD VII.
"Peace I leave with you."

THE MORN.

The morning breaks upon our Empire's might;
The Empire throbs responsive with delight.
Life's busy hum is heard alike without—within
A peaceful people bless their peaceful King.

THE NOON.

Within the Palace anxious thoughts arise
As courtiers note their King with saddened eyes
Without the Palace the people nothing know
Of breaking hearts within or coming woe.

THE EVE.

Within, by Royal bed, there sits our weeping Queen
And princely sons and daughter, with dejected mien.
Without, the anxious people in reverence waiting stand.
Black omen'd night draws near, Death hovers o'er the Land.

MIDNIGHT.

The Palace doors ope wide; the people bow the head;
A voice cries: "Gentlemen, Our Lord the King is dead."
The King of Kings on Earth has thrown his sceptre down.
With the King of Kings in Heaven he's won a golden crown.

A NATION'S PRAYER.

God bless our Mother Queen in this her darkest hour,
God save our King and Consort; to him all honour and power.
In loving memory of Edward VII. the nation's voice uplift,
"God bless our King and Empire; Long live King George the Fifth!"

J. GORDON WILSON.

15, New Queen-street, Chesterfield,
May 15, 1910.

"O God, our help in ages past,
Our hope in years to come,
Our shelter from the stormy blast,
And our eternal Home."

IN MEMORIAM.

"The King is dead, God rest the King," we cry;
Crape on the garb and tear-drops in the eye.
Upon the masthead sits a mourning dove,
Sign of a nation's grief and lasting love.
The player's friend hath passed—the play must cease;
So be it, royal EDWARD—rest in peace!

Thespis bereaved and desolate shall stand
Missing his kind smile and applauding hand;
That hand lies cold beneath a funereal pall.
"The rest is silence," let the curtain fall.
The World's Peacemaker claims from care release;
So be it, royal EDWARD—rest in peace!

—MAY IRENE WRIGHT,
Pete Company No. 1, Artillery Theatre, Woolwich.
May 17, 1910.

EDWARD VII., R. AND I.

"When beggars die, there are no comets seen;
The heavens themselves blaze forth the death of princes."

—Julius Cæsar, Act II., Scene ii.

E dward of England! all too soon thy reign
D oth, at the hour when most we needed thee.
W oefully end; a nation's tears well forth,
A nd e'en through the Empire myriad tongues
R ecount the story of the King they loved.
D uty his watchword was; no task dismayed,

R esting but when some nobly-useful work
E volved had been for his people's weal;
'X emplar bright for monarchs yet unborn!

E ver untiring in the country's cause,
T rue sportsman, and the loyalest of friends.

I mperious but for honour of the flag;
M aster of millions, servant of them all!
P atron of drama. We, of the cultured arts,
E ncouraged by his helpful word and deed,
R evere his memory with fond regret—
A tribute heartfelt no mere words can tell.
T o-day his form the soil he loved doth claim.
O ne solace have we—With his soul's release,
R adiant, our Peacemaker enters into peace.

CLAUDE TREVELYAN.

Little Ilford, Essex.

THE PASSING OF THE KING.

E ngland mourns. Her sons the wide world o'er,
D istraught with grief, in silence
W eep at the passing of their King
A nd friend. A King, yet withal a man!
R evealing in his Kingship the qualities which,
D enuded of regality, made him

T he beloved of the people. Proving in H is life all things to all men, he
E vinced, with helpful sympathy, his pity for the

S uffering sick, the halt, and the needy.
E xcusing not himself in State affairs, and V ersed in all that pertained the welfare of E mpire at home and overseas, Britain may N ot look upon his like again. Surely in T he dawn of a bright To-morrow all
H eaven will hail this soul of Peace.

R. OSSULSTON-RICHE.

Duke of York's Theatre, May 20.

Always Behind.

WILLIAM BELFORD, the light comedian of forty years ago, and the original Sir Charles Harrington in 'Twixt Axe and Crown at the old Queen's Theatre in Long Acre, was rather noted for being late at rehearsal. When he died H. J. Byron was amongst the mourners at his funeral. As the little party emerged from the church to walk to the graveside Byron started to walk after the first hearse. Someone called him back, and said to him, "Excuse me, Byron, but you were following the wrong coffin. Mr. Belford's in the last." "Poor old Bill!—behind, as usual. I ought to have known it!" was the inveterate joker's commentary.

THE DRAMA IN PARIS.

"LA FILLE ELISA."

Play, in four Acts, by Jean Ajalbert, founded on E. de Goncourt's novel, Produced at Antoine's on May 10.

Elisa	MME. SUZANNE DESPRÈS
La Mère d'Elisa	MME. EVEN
Gobe-la-Lune	MLLE. MASSART
Marie-coup-de-sabre	MLLE. MIRVAL
La Sœur	MLLE FUSIER
Le Défenseur	M. GEMIER
Tanchon	M. SAILLARD
Le Directeur	M. CLARUS
Le Président	M. COLAS
Père la calèche	M. MARCHAL
Le Sous-Préfet	M. ROYER

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

PARIS, THURSDAY, May 12.—M. Edmond de Goncourt's Fille Elisa is a powerful novel, and M. Ajalbert's adaptation forms a tragedy of great impressiveness. It was first brought out a few years ago, but the adapter has added a new act and made several alterations in the original text. Elisa, the heroine, belongs to the "unfortunate" class, and in the opening tableau we see her in a house of ill-fame, frequented chiefly by soldiers. Among the latter is Tanchon, a young Breton, who has lost his heart to Elisa. He speaks to her respectfully, and the youth's kind manner has worked an evolution in the girl. She passionately loves him, but with a love totally different from anything she ever felt before; something that seems to lift her from the life of degradation she leads. Her wretched calling compels her to submit to the embraces of others, but the moment her little soldier comes to her she is metamorphosed. She will not allow the slightest familiarity that would at once put an end to her beautiful dream. His very presence seems to purify her, and she wants him to treat her like an elder sister who dotes on him. Tonchon, sentimental like most Bretons, enter into the spirit of his quaint love-idyll, and plays the part assigned to him by Elisa. When the story opens, both he and the girl are very excited at the thought that on Sunday next they will go together into the country to luncheon on the grass, and bring home some beautiful flowers. But this happy day ends in a disaster. Whilst Elisa is gathering her flowers the "beast" awakes in Tonchon, and he roughly seizes hold of her. She struggles violently to keep him at bay, and then, suddenly, madness overtakes her. She herself does not know how it all occurred, but a minute later her little soldier lies dead at her feet, stabbed to the heart, whilst she holds the blood-stained knife in her hand. In the ensuing tableau Elisa stands in the dock accused of having wilfully murdered the young soldier with whom, a little before, she was seen walking in the fields. Trembling with virtuous indignation the public prosecutor describes Elisa as a low prostitute, who ends her infamous career like these careers are bound to end—in crime; and he implores the jury to show her no mercy. Her counsel then rises, and his speech—a disquisition on the social evil—is the principal scene in the play. The barrister points out that the wretched prisoner has been condemned from her birth to a life of degradation, and that if she ran away from home at the age of sixteen—a fact laid to her charge by the prosecution—it was to escape from the treatment to which her own mother subjected her. All counsel asks is a little mercy for his sinner, who has also been sinned against. But the jury are merciless. They find no extenuating circumstances, and Elisa—"la fille Elisa," is sentenced to death. This sentence, however, is commuted to penal servitude for life, and in the last act Elisa is in prison—a model prison—wherein the "silent system" is applied with so much success that when, after a lapse of seven years, Elisa is "allowed" by the Governor to answer a question put to her by a visiting magistrate, she can only produce inarticulate sounds, an offence for which, of course, she receives additional punishment. M. Gémier, as the barrister, and Mme. Suzanne Desprès as the "fille Elisa," acted with admirable effect.

In strong contrast to the foregoing play is Nono, an airy trifle by M. Sacha Guitry—son of the well-known actor—who, with his wife (Mlle. Charlotte Lysès) played the principal rôles therein. None of the personages seem possessed of the slightest moral sense, and the flimsy story is nothing but a kind of chassé-croisé between two couples. In fact, the work gives one the unpleasant impression that the author had written it solely to place the jokes and puns he had in stock. Some of these are decidedly funny, but where he showed a great want of tact was in introducing words of the very coarsest description. If the audience had made some demonstration it might have taught the author a lesson, but the people in the boxes and stalls thought it all very funny, and they laughed where they should have hissed.

"MADEMOISELLE MOLIERE."

Play, in four Acts, in Verse, by Louis Leloir and Gabriel Nigond, Produced at the Odéon, on May 10.

Armande	MLLE. VENTURA
Catherine	MLLE. BARJAC
Madeleine	MLLE. VENIAT
La Forêt	MLLE. KERWICH
Louis XIV.	M. MAUPRE
Roquette	M. VARGAS
Mazarin	M. DESFONTAINES
Molière	M. DESJARDINS
La Fontaine	M. BERNARD
La Thorillière	M. CHETILLAT

The title of the play led us to believe that the principal personage would be Molière's wife. But we were mistaken. We see very little of the fair Armande. As to Molière, we perceive him first on the high road, travelling with his company. In the next tableau he is in Mazarin's workroom, transformed into a dressing room for the company, who are going to produce Les précieuses Ridicules; and it is there he decides to marry Mlle. Armande. Nine years elapse. He is in his house at Auteuil, almost despairing, for his wife is unfaithful to him, and the King refuses Tartuffe to be produced. Roquette is the villain in the piece. It is he who compels Mazarin to forbid Molière to give any more performances in the Palais Bourbon, and it is he who causes Armande to stray from the right path. Fate finally overtakes the miscreant, who is killed in a duel by the actor La Thorillière. All this is rather childish and diminishes the great figure of the immortal poet. Some of the historical characters are also overdrawn, like that of La Fontaine, who certainly was very absent-minded, but who in the hands of the authors becomes almost a grotesque personage. With such material at hand, the two collaborators might have supplied a better play than Mademoiselle Molière. It was fairly well acted by the Odéon company.

The performance of Richard Strauss' Salomé proved a thorough success. Miss Mary Garden scored a real triumph in the title rôle, and the other parts were also well sustained. The work was beautifully mounted, and, in every respect reflected credit upon the Opéra management.

MR. EDWARD COMPTON concludes to-night at the Prince of Wales's Theatre, Birmingham, another long and brilliantly successful tour with his celebrated Compton Comedy Company, appearing as David Garrick for the 1,525th time. Mr. Compton is now well over his twenty-ninth year of tour with the Compton Comedy Company, which celebrates its thirtieth anniversary on Feb. 7th next. Another long autumn and spring tour will commence on August 8, Mr. Compton taking a well-earned holiday in the meantime.

THE PASSION PLAY.

The Church and Stage! How glibly the words trip from our lips—writes Mrs. Brammall in an article on this subject—and yet—what a union they formed in the past; what a moral they can preach in the future; what a lesson they can teach to-day. Still, looking backwards, back to the time of Henry II., the writings of William Fitz-Stephens, a Canterbury monk, tells us of the plays then performed on holy subjects, on the sufferings of martyrs, on the constancy of confessors. In 1378 we find the first mention of the mystery plays in a quaint petition from the scholars of St. Paul's School to His Majesty Richard II. "Praying Him to prohibit some unexpert people from presenting the History of the Old Testament, to the great prejudice of the said Clergy, who have been at great expence in order to represent it publickly at Christmas." In 1390 the parish clerks of London played interludes at Skinner's Well, and in 1409 we find them performing at Clerkenwell, which carries its name to the present time from the acting of the clerks. The nobility and gentry of the kingdom were present at these plays. Later came the Moralities, connected almost wholly with religion, for in former days religion was part and parcel of the life of the people—it was everybody's business; the learned strove to teach it, the ignorant craved to learn it.

In 1567 the Passion Play was publicly done at Blackfriars on the declaration of war between France and England; it was again played some days later, when the Court and all high officers attended in State. The Passion Play continued to be enacted throughout the kingdom in the days of Queen Elizabeth and her successors.

The great Chester, Coventry, and Durham miracle plays are in existence to-day.

Away in the old Cornish villages takes place the Guardy plays; in the wild and rugged fastnesses of Wales the old pathetic stories of our Bible are told in simple words and acted in loving faith; in Norfolk, the Bethlehem Mystery, the story of the little child, and the Virgin Mother of the Shepherds, and the Kings, is reverently portrayed year by year.

In the great throbbing heart of London plays, piously and beautifully presented, are given at Christmas time, and we realise, watching the actions of the players, listening to their words, the old, old story of our youth, truths long-forgotten come back, never again to become indistinct and blurred.

The story which has left us cold when told thrills us when acted.

Nineteen hundred years ago the great drama of the Passion was enacted on the Calvary—a God crucified to save mankind! He was tortured for us—he died for us. The story is told in every land—the story of the man that hung upon the Cross! Catholics, Protestants, Nonconformists, all join in one common adoration of the crucified Redeemer, of the Christ upon the Cross.

Priests preach the story from their pulpits; Salvationists proclaim it from their stand in city squares; earnest God-fearing men and women teach it on the sands and in the parks. We listen, we go our way, and—we forget. Words are soon forgotten. The tragedy was played so long ago, all connected with it seems shadowy and dim.

"Lest we forget!"

"Lest we forget!" In a little corner of Europe, in the Bavarian Tyrol, is a hamlet called Ober Ammergau. There, every ten years, in fulfilment of a vow made at the end of the sixteenth century, is played the Passion Play. The Thirty Years' War had drawn to a close; gaunt famine and pestilence followed in the wake of the ensanguined sword. In Germany and Bavaria towns and villages were devastated; the plague was everywhere. Alone, the little village of Ober Ammergau was immune. Every precaution was taken, no one was to leave the town, and no one was to enter it. A strict quarantine was established, but human wisdom failed, human laws were broken. Casper Schuckler was working at Eschenloke. He grew heart-sick, home-sick, and weary. He longed for his wife, for his little ones. He had gone out to fight the world for their sake; now he wanted them. He would go back to Ober Ammergau, back and feel their tender arms about him, their tender kisses on his lips. He evaded the watchers, he broke through the cordon; but he carried with him the fatal seeds of the plague. In two days he was dead!

With awful rapidity the fever spread from house to house, and soon there would not be enough living to bury the dead. "Bring out your dead!" "Bring out your dead!" and as the mournful call rang in their ears the villagers saw their sins and cried aloud to God for mercy. They had forgotten—yes, they had forgotten Him; but, if God would hear them and stay the pestilence, to show their gratitude and prove their penitence, every ten years they would play the Passion play. And, we are told, from that hour the plague was stayed, not another person was attacked, and the dying recovered.

Every ten years thousands and thousands travel from all parts of the world to the little village of Ober Ammagau, not to witness any gorgeous spectacle, not to admire any magnificent scenery, not to listen to any wondrous voice, nor to gaze on any marvellous work of art, but to witness a play written by an humble priest, a play to be acted by peasants. These thousands go to see the Passion Play, the play that faithful Catholic peasants perform every ten years in fulfilment of their vow.

The play of the story that transformed the world. The story that transformed the world, so the great writer and journalist, Mr. W. T. Stead, speaks of it after his second visit in 1900. He tells the story of the vow in beautiful words; in strong poetic language he points the moral of the play; in no uncertain terms he tells us what it did for him and countless others—it touched them and taught them as no words, nor hymns, nor pictures, nor statues could touch or teach. And we—we in England to-day—we are forgetting—forgetting the old faith, the old traditions, the old, beautiful story of the Cross. We have no time for remembrance. Ah! let us for an hour lay aside our troubles, our fight for money, our struggles, our triumphs, our defeats; let us, as our forefathers did, come in simple, kindly faith, and learn over again the Gospel story of the Passion taught us by the players. With Mary, the sad, sad mother, with Peter full of fire and weakness, with the Apostles trusting and faithful, with Magdalen the loving and penitent, we also will stand beneath the Cross and pause, and watch, and listen, listen, and watch, and learn, lest, passing unheeding on the way, we also may forget.

Changes of Bill.

"A GLANCE at old-time theatrical records," writes a correspondent, "shows that a nightly change of programme was the rule, and not the exception, at our theatres some ninety years ago, when George IV. was King. Here is a list culled from a week's playbills of Drury Lane Theatre in 1821: May 14, Marino Faliero, Doge of Venice (Lord Byron's tragedy) and Giovanni in London; May 15, The Duenna and The Midnight Hour; May 16, The Kind Impostor and Past Ten O'Clock; May 17, Artaxerxes, The Day After the Wedding, and Who's Who; May 18, The Kind Impostor and Thérèse; May 19, Love in a Village and Giovanni in London. There was thus almost a complete change every night. At Covent Garden Theatre (then devoted solely to the drama) a similar reliance on répertory prevailed. Its programme for the same week was as follows: Monday, The Antiquary, London Stars, and Tom Thumb; Tuesday, The Tempest and Too Late for Dinner; Wednesday, The Provoked Husband and Undine; Thursday, The Tempest and Undine; Friday, The Provoked Husband and Undine; Saturday, The Tempest and Undine."

VARIETY GOSSIP.

A most interesting appearance in the halls will be that of Miss Annie Hughes on Monday in the title-rôle of the sketch Napoleon's Washerwoman—no other than Madame Sans Gêne, a part much favoured by actresses on both sides of the Atlantic since Madame Réjane played Sardou's piece in Paris. One remembers the arch and coquettish rendering of the character at the Lyceum in 1897 by Miss Ellen Terry, and with such a consummate comedienne as Miss Hughes the part has great possibilities.

The Paragon, Mile End, after a series of vicissitudes, passes out of the control of the Syndicate from to-day. The hall, which rose on the site of Lusby's Summer and Winter Palace, burnt down on Jan. 20, 1884, was opened on May 20, 1885, under the direction of Messrs. Crowder and Payne, with Mr. Wilton Friend (afterwards at the Foresters') as manager. At the time the house was regarded as a very splendid building, but it was evidently intended for big productions, and not for the comic singer.

It was distinguished when under the management of the late Mr. Thiodon by the production of The Little Stowaway, with the incomparable Jenny Hill as the waif. Later Mr. A. C. Lilly, Mr. W. C. Day, and Mr. W. Farren, jun., each in their turn played the part of the Captain, originally relegated to a super, in order to evade the anomalous sketch law. Clement Scott saw The Little Stowaway, and spoke of its excellence in a very lengthy and eloquent article in the Daily Telegraph. It is still popular, and has probably had a longer run on the halls than any sketch that was ever produced. Mr. Fred Bowyer, the author, founded it on Arthur Matthison's poem.

"People will not go to old-fashioned variety halls now!" Thus Mr. Leon Zeitlin to The Era representative last Thursday. Mr. Zeitlin had been asked to give an expression of opinion as to the future of the Paragon, Mile End. To-night (Saturday) it closes its doors (pro tem., at any rate) as a variety theatre.

"Well, you see," continued Mr. Zeitlin, "all I can tell you as to the future of the house is that a syndicate, in which Mr. Harry Jacobs figures prominently, has bought the Paragon from us, and I believe, in future, it will be run in the interests of the boxing community. People will not now go to the variety theatres modelled on old-fashioned lines. So we have sold the old Paragon and finished with it for good.

"At one time it was the best paying property the Syndicate had. In the last four years, however, it has steadily gone down, and, no matter what attraction we booked for it, the result was always the same—if not exactly a loss, at least nothing worth working so hard for. The place for a modern variety theatre is too big. It is old-fashioned in construction and accommodation, and East Enders nowadays require just as much comfort at their doors as when they take a twopenny train ride to a West End theatre, where they can get fine seating as well as a glimpse of the stars.

"The Paragon, in addition, during the past five years, has suffered greatly from local opposition. New and up-to-date halls have been built all round within a mile radius; and as new brooms sweep clean, the public naturally patronises the latest comer. We were sorry, of course, to part company with a jewel whose lustre time has dimmed. But sensible business men look things squarely in the face. That is the way we looked at them. Personally I wish the old Paragon in its new life story the best of luck."

Miss Ellaline Terriss opened on Monday at Glasgow in You and I, originally produced, on April 24, 1901, at the Vaudeville, where Bluebell in Fairyland, another Seymour Hicks play, first saw the light on Dec. 18, in the same year. A condensed version of this delightful fantasy will be seen in the autumn at the London Hippodrome, with the fascinating Ellaline in her original part.

Miss Jessie Broughton and Mr. Dennis Creedon, who have been happily associated in a successful musical entertainment at the Empire, have entered into a life contract, the marriage being celebrated at Cricklewood on Tuesday, the 10th inst. The bride is the daughter of Mr. Broughton Black, and made her first appearance of the stage at the Apollo Theatre in 1903 in The Girl from Kay's. After more experience at the same house in Madame Sherry and Veronique she appeared at the Empire (1905-6). She made a hit at the Gaiety by her singing as Zara in the production of Havana. This was in 1908.

The following extract from the report by the directors of the London Theatres of Varieties, Ltd., to the second ordinary general meeting is very pleasant reading for the shareholders. The profit for the year ending March 31, 1910 is £96,470 14s., this being over £36,000 in advance of last year. After payment of all expenses and a dividend of 12 per cent. a sum of £32,455 18s. 9d. has been carried forward. In addition, the report shows that a sum of no less than £8,881 17s. 9d. has been paid out of revenue for the maintenance of various properties controlled by the company. Congratulations, Mr. Gibbons!

The new ballet, Femina, at the Alhambra, originally announced for Monday next, has been postponed until the 30th inst. We regret to hear of the indisposition of Mr. Harry Woodford, the Alhambra's popular manager. Monday last was the twenty-first anniversary of Mr. Woodford's association with the famous house in Leicester-square.

Many will be sorry to hear that Miniature Marie had to undergo an operation for appendicitis on April 15 at the Johannesburg Hospital, South Africa. She is now recovering nicely, and hopes to be out and about in a few weeks, when she may take a trip to the Old Country and return to the stage there.

From London Opinion we cull some interesting particulars of Mr. Alfred Butt's early life: A sudden change in the fortunes of his family turned his prospects from those of a young man with an assured future of comfort to those of one faced with the necessity of getting work to do with the least possible delay. He was studying French in France when this sudden change in his financial position brought him back home. The search for employment soon proved successful, and by way of a start in life he took a situation in Harrod's, where he was so fortunate as to gain experience that has been of the utmost value in later years.

Of all the departments in that vast establishment, there is not one in which he has not served, even to the cutting and preparing meat for the customer. He has never had to follow that particular line, but he learned all about it nevertheless, and so in domestic economy, no less than in matters connected with the furnishing and equipment of a theatre, this early training in the departments of Harrod's has been of inestimable value. The closing period of his three years with the firm was passed in the secretary's department, and it will be remembered that it was as secretary that Mr. Butt started under his mentor, Mr. Charles Morton, at the Palace.

Mr. Harry Burns and his talented wife, Miss Helen Charles have arrived home on the Mauretania.

The Birmingham Theatrical Charity Sports, which were to have been held on Tuesday, have been postponed until Saturday, June 11, in deference to the national mourning.

Mr. Frank D. Todd, manager of the Middlesbrough Hippodrome, has been appointed manager of the Pavilion Music Hall, Newcastle-on-Tyne, where he was assistant-manager for some time.

Mr. D. Horace Harcourt, who will be remembered as holding the position of stage-manager at the Leicester Palace Theatre some little time ago, has been appointed by Mr. Oswald Stoll to a similar position at the Croydon Hippodrome.

The happy valley at Llandudno has a shadow of sorrow for once, for Mr. W. J. Churchill and his minstrels appear in purple and black. Indeed, the recognition of the King's death will be a memorable note in alfresco entertainments this season.

Mr. A. J. Barclay, the expert in catering, is busy hustling at Herne Bay, where his excellent work is highly appreciated by the Urban Council. Mr. Barclay has recently designed and had built a Pierrot pavilion immediately overlooking a broad expanse of sea. From the photograph we have seen, it should fulfil its mission admirably. It is probable that it will be extensively copied.

Mr. Percival Craig, acting-manager of Bradford Empire, has been appointed district-manager for the Yorkshire district in place of Mr. Gerald Morton. There are hundreds of people in Bradford and elsewhere who will heartily congratulate Mr. Craig on his promotion, and Yorkshiremen are all glad that his appointment will not necessitate his removal from the district.

Mr. J. J. Kelly, assistant-manager, has been appointed acting-manager in succession to Mr. Craig; and Mr. Kitchingman has been made assistant-manager in place of Mr. Kelly.

Mr. Will Stone, of the Hippodrome, Ton-y-pandy, Tivoli, Pentre, and Oddfellows' Hall, Dowlais, has secured a very valuable site at Maesteg. Plans have been accepted and passed by the local Council for the erection of a music hall, skating rink, electric theatre, and shops. An influential company has been formed, and building will be proceeded with at once.

The Gem, Great Yarmouth, of which the manager is Mr. E. V. Barr, has been closed for the last five weeks for extensive alterations, and during that period has been turned into an up-to-date music hall, artistically decorated throughout, and with additional seating accommodation, provided by a newly-erected gallery. The company this week includes Miss Butler, an accomplished flautist; Mr. John Story, a popular entertainer; Mr. Tom Taylor, in song scenas; and Little Miss Warshaw, a clever dancer. Excellent films complete the holiday bill.

OUR WIDOWED MOTHER-QUEEN.

Beloved, illustrious Queen!
The Nation shares thy grief,
And prays the "Healing One" may send Thy stricken heart relief.

Askern, Newport, Mon. J. Gallagher.

A goodly gathering assembled on Saturday last for the opening ceremony of the Whitley Pleasure Gardens, which have so rapidly risen over the area of the Olde Spanish City. County Alderman R. Mason, chairman of the local Urban Council, who was supported by the principal members of that body, and a representative gathering of residents of the district, in an appropriate speech, declared the Pleasure Gardens open, and expressed the wish that the venture would prove a success.

The place, in the hands of the contractors, has undergone a complete change, a permanent theatre replacing the old open-air structure. Many of the principal features and pictures have been removed to other portions of the grounds, whilst the old frontal entrance has given place to an elaborate façade on the sea front, comprising a large circular hall, with a handsome dome. There are shop fronts all opening on to the principal promenade, and above these, on either side of the entrance, there is an open-air restaurant, the whole presenting a very fine general effect.

There was an excellent and diversified variety programme on Monday, when over 20,000 people visited the gardens.

Councillor E. H. Bostock, who returned last week from the Continent, is busy with plans and workmen with regard to the reopening of the Glasgow Zoo, which will be in July. In connection with his new establishment Mr. Bostock will revert to the old order of things that existed prior to the opening of the Hippodrome, and will have a circus within the Zoo. The large place in Glasgow will easily accommodate a circus ring and the necessary galleries for spectators. The circus will be erected in the centre.

To show that Mr. Bostock is still in touch with this form of entertainment, it may be stated that he is at present running in the North of Scotland a railroad circus, the large establishment being removed from one place to another by rail. He is also running Bostock and Wombwell's menagerie, which has been on the road now for 105 years, having been founded in 1805. It has been under Mr. Bostock's proprietorship for the past twenty-seven years.

In the Zoo proper the cages were right round the building. A new idea is a large central cage, projecting out from the line of cages, with each of which it is connected by a passage behind. The animal performances will take place in this central "arena" cage. The Zoo-Circus will be sure to be popular with city people and visitors from the country.

Mr. John Tiller is again responsible for a welcome production at the Winter Gardens, Blackpool, and the mill-hands will find much that is beautiful and much that is quaint in the Dutch ballet Amsterdam, the scenario of which is due to the collaboration of Mr. Charles Fletcher and Mr. George R. Sims, a great admirer of the go-ahead Lancashire seaside resort. The music is by Mr. Herman Finck, musical-director of the Palace Theatre; and the principals include Miss Lulu Valli and Miss Dorothy Firmin. The production is very finely staged, a tulip ballet being quite enchanting.

The Coliseum, situate in the Arcade, Whitley Bay, and of which the proprietors are the Whitley Coliseum Co., was formally opened on Saturday at 7.30 p.m. by Mr. Thomas Thompson, who is affectionately termed "the Father of Whitley." Mr. Thompson was supported by the chairman and members of the Urban Council, and the mayor, mayoress, aldermen, and councillors of the Borough of Tynemouth. The acting-manager of the establishment is Mr. Fred Patterson, and the business-manager Mr. Steve Smith. The National Anthem was given at the opening by the Newcastle Glee and Madrigal Society.

Mr. Ernie Mayne has been out of the bills at the Oxford and South London this week owing to indisposition. He will resume on Monday at the Oxford and Tottenham.

Mr. Mark Sheridan has instructed Mr. W. H. Armstrong, solicitor, to take proceedings against any manager allowing "I do like to be beside the seaside" to be sung at any place of entertainment where money is charged for admission, as he holds the sole performing rights of the song.

La Milo made her reappearance before the public at the Birmingham Hippodrome on Monday, and she was welcomed most heartily. There has been ample evidence during the week that La Milo is more popular than ever, and her present tour promises to break all records.

Miss Daisy James bottoms the bill at King's Theatre, Edinburgh, this week, and has done exceedingly well, having repeated calls after each number. She returns to London Sunday to open at the Empire, Edmonton, on Monday. She has been on tour the last four weeks at Cork, Belfast, Manchester, and Edinburgh.

Mr. Percy Ford wishes us to announce that the committee for the relief fund in aid of the sufferers through the tragedy at the Empire, Camberwell, will be much obliged if everyone to whom lists were sent will kindly return them, together with any amounts they may have collected, as soon as possible, as it is intended to close the fund on June 6.

A new dramatic sketch of old Egypt entitled The Price of a Soul, by Maud Hildyard and Russell Vaun, was produced with immediate and great success at the Camden Hippodrome on Monday last to a full and appreciative house by Miss Maud Hildyard, whose creation of the part of Nitocris is full of weird and dramatic intensity. Nitocris was the name of a play by Miss Clo Graves, which was produced at Drury Lane Theatre on November, 1887.

Mr. Edgar Hyman arrives to-day by the Balmoral Castle his trip to London combining business and pleasure. Previous to his return to the sub-continent he will be accompanied by Mr. Sydney M. Hyman, his brother, through the United Kingdom, the Continent, and America, in a search for novelties. It is six years since Mr. Hyman was in England. He will make his headquarters at 29, Leicester-square, W.C.

The 659th meeting of the executive of the M.H.A.R.A. was held on Wednesday, when the following were present: Messrs. Harry Bancroft (in the chair), Johnny Alexander, Jack Straw, T. C. Callaghan, Lieut. Albini, J. Miller Northern, Tom J. Morton, C. Douglas Stuart, H. Cee Mee, Charles Coborn, and J. H. Milburn. The meeting rose in silence on the announcement being made of the death of J. C. Jimson, a member of the committee. The resignation of Johnny Alexander, tendered on account of his having been appointed the Glasgow representative of the Association, was accepted. Messrs. Tom Packer and Chris Van Bern were elected to the committee to fill the vacancies caused by the retirement of Johnny Alexander and the death of J. C. Jimson.

The secretary reported record business for the previous week, 615 members having secured a concession from London alone during the week, the average saving amounting to between 3s. 6d. and 4s. each. The action of the secretary in ordering a wreath on behalf of the committee for the late J. C. Jimson was confirmed, and Messrs. Straw, Callaghan, Northern, and Stuart represented the Association at the funeral on Thursday. The M.H.A.R.A. offices, both London and provincial, were closed on Friday on account of the funeral of the late King.

Another concession of no little benefit to members travelling around the Lancashire and Yorkshire districts has been secured by the M.H.A.R.A. It is that the Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway have fallen in line with all the other English railway companies, and have arranged that, provided, of course, there are five or more members travelling from one town to another, they will issue separate single tickets at the reduced three-quarter fare on the voucher being surrendered at the booking office, at the following of their principal stations: Manchester, Bradford, Leeds, Liverpool, Bolton, Preston, Rochdale, Southport, Blackburn, and Blackpool. Thus, members will now be able to purchase a ticket on either Saturday, Sunday, or Monday.

The divine Sarah is coming to the Coliseum in September, and now we are informed that the beautiful Jane Hading, the well-known French actress, is engaged for the Hippodrome, from Oct. 10 to 29.

Miss Jessie Albini, one of the brightest of our comediennes, has been winning the favour of Mile Enders this week at the Paragon with her novelty song "Cock-a-doodle-do," the original low comedy Chantecler song, written by T. W. O'Connor. The number has gone particularly well, being most artistically treated by the fascinating artist.

Mr. Stanley John Damerell and Mr. Cecil Rutland were initiated into the mysteries of the Terriers Order on Sunday last. The ceremony was performed by Terrier Martin Henderson, W.T., assisted by Terrier Tom Packer, P.W.T. Terrier Arthur Were officiated as Organist. Mr. Henri Bekker, a candidate for membership of the Association, has successfully passed the ballot. A hearty welcome was extended to Terriers Walter Barrett, Frank Boyce, F. Larola, Ernest Myers, and Squire Wyndham upon their re-appearance in the kennel on Sunday last. The election of officers of the Terriers' Association for the month of June will take place upon Sunday next.

Any Terrier who has not received a circular respecting the banquet to Terrier Griff is requested to communicate with the secretary. Terrier Tom Packer has been appointed Musical Director of this function, and would be glad to hear from any Terrier who is desirous of contributing to the after-dinner concert.

The Terriers' river outing will be held on Sunday, June 26. Tickets, 15s. 6d., inclusive. Arrangements will be made to hold some sports at the first convenient place, and donations from Terriers are invited towards the prize fund. Terrier Syd Walker has promised £5, Terrier F. Larola will give a special prize, and Terrier W. R. Dunkley has given £2 2s.

Mr. Sam Mayo has been showing prowess at golf, and whilst playing at the Glamorgan links, Penarth, recently he did the first hole in two, the bogey being five. "Driving just through the bunker," says a local paper, "Mr. Mayo played the iron and holed out." This feat created a great sensation, and one old colonel quite refused to believe it at all. But Sam's friends at Cardiff were full of congratulations.

Mr. Tubby Edlin, on reading the account of Mayo's feat, wrote to a Bradford paper as follows: "I was in South Wales last week and noticed in the local paper that Mr. Sam Mayo had accomplished a remarkable feat at the Glamorganshire golf links, Penarth, doing the first hole, which is 390 yards with bogey five, in two strokes.

"Not for one moment do I doubt the accuracy of this report, but I should like to point out that, whilst playing Mr. George Ross, the well-known trick pianist (Ross and Grayson) I also did the selfsame hole on the selfsame day in two strokes. The professional, two caddies, Mr. Ross, and Mr. Henri Dore (of my company) can verify my statement. Not only is this remarkable golf, but what a coincidence! Also to be accomplished in May, O! My score for the round was 84, bogey 79."

Seeing that Mr. Mayo and Mr. Edlin seem so well matched, and that, very fortunately and by a strange foible of chance, they find themselves again together in Bradford, why should they not play it out? At present people won't believe either of them, but the one who wins this great match could be adjudged to have accomplished the other feat, and, putting the dual feather in his cap, stroll away.

Mr. Edlin tells a good Hebrew story. A Jew was selling a friend a round three dozen eggs for 3s., and found that there were thirty-seven. "Vot vill you gif me for der odder von?" he asked. "I'll treat you to a drink," said his friend. "Oright," was the reply, "I'll haf an egg and milk."

Then there's Mr. Edlin's story of the comedian who became obsessed with the German invasion bogey. For weeks it was the only topic of his conversation, and the idea of it occupied all his waking thoughts, and even penetrated into his dreams. One day he bought a pamphlet on the subject, and read with horror the author's forecast that the enemy would probably land on the East Coast in the first week of June, 1911. "Good gracious," he cried, as he dropped the leaflet, "and I shall be working at Scarborough!"

THE ARTISTS' WREATH.

By the courtesy of The Performer we are able to give an illustration from a photo, by Hana, of the beautiful wreath which Mr. J. M. Watson, 31, Catherine-street, Covent Garden, W.C., has supplied to the order of the Variety Artists' Federation for the Royal funeral. The artists' tribute of sympathy is nearly 5ft. in diameter. The wording of the message attached is "In Dutiful and Loving Memory from the Variety Artists' Federation."

Miss Ruth Davenport has returned to town after a most successful provincial tour in the Moss-Stoll houses, and will open on the 30th with a most interesting repertoire of costume songs at the London Pavilion.

Mr. George English and Miss Florrie Penley have found comfortable positions on the permanent staff of the Theatre Royal, Workington, where their business, as well as their artistic capabilities, are heartily appreciated.

The London Theatre of Varieties, Ltd., were summoned at the South-Western Court on Thursday by the Theatrical Managers' Association for conducting, without authority, a stage-play, The Babes in the Wood, at the Putney Hippodrome, of which the defendants were the owners.

Mr. Bodkin, prosecuting for the Association, explained that the authorities—the Lord Chamberlain, on the one hand, and the London County Council, on the other—had forbidden the performance of stage-plays at variety theatres or variety entertainments at theatres. A place of amusement could not be used, said counsel, for the double purpose.

Mr. Francis: There is the Pavilion and the Oxford. Mr. Bodkin: Yes; and there is another place, the Alhambra. Mr. Francis: I have heard of it. Mr. Bodkin pointed out that the theatre managers only desired fair play in this matter.

Mr. W. Taylor Parkes, for the defendants, assured the Court there was no intention of evading the law, but it was thought they would be within the undertaking if they made, as they did on the occasion in question, certain parts of the play into separate turns.

Mr. Bodkin said there was a connecting play story, though the items on the programme had been specially arranged. Mr. Francis: It had been doctored. A penalty of £30 was imposed.

On behalf of the committee of the Music Hall Ladies' Guild, 61, New Oxford-street, W.C., Miss Melinda May (secretary) begs most gratefully to thank the following:—Mme. Li-Chang-Hi, babies' new woollen petticoats, made by herself; Miss Lottie Albert, eiderdown quilt and clothing; Miss M. B. Conway (Conway and Leland), very useful parcel of clothing; and Anonymous, useful parcel from Liverpool. Please make cheques and money orders payable to the Music Hall Ladies' Guild.

Please do not forget the Jumble Sale, Tuesday next, May 24, commencing at twelve o'clock, at the Guild Rooms. Bring as many friends as you possibly can, and at the same time see the handsome fancy-dress costumes we have for sale, with a croquet set for eight people (nearly new), given by the Sisters Macarte, and a butcher's shop, given by Mrs. Harry Vento.

At the Borough Police Court, Burton, on Saturday, Roland Radford, a greengrocer, of High-street, was summoned for assaulting, on May 3, Nathaniel Hart Lewis, a comedian performing at the Burton Hippodrome this week. Defendant pleaded not guilty. Prosecutor deposed that on the evening in question he was appearing on the stage at the Opera House, and was just making his entrance to give his second song when an orange was thrown at him, which he caught. Undoubtedly it would have hit him, as he did not have to move to catch it. It was the defendant who threw it.

Mr. E. de Hague Body, manager, said he was watching the performance of Mr. Lewis on the evening in question, when an orange was distinctly thrown to him. The defendant had admitted the offence, but said it was not done with intent to injure. He asked Radford to leave the theatre. The Bench imposed a fine of 1s. and 9s. 6d. costs.

The great Raymond is breaking records on his first tour of the British provinces, and the Press throughout are unanimous in declaring him to be one of the finest performers before the public. He is booking up rapidly. His success is an object lesson in what keen showmanship can do in this country, for it must be noted that Raymond came to England but a few months ago unheralded, and his record business must be put down entirely to the genuine show he proffers, and to his own smart business ability.

"The Organ-Grinder," the dramatic sketch by Alicia Ramsay and Rudolph de Cordova, which had an exceedingly successful trial more than a year ago, starts on Monday next a tour on the Moss-Stoll circuit, beginning at the Palace Theatre, Leicester. Mr. Lawson Butt will play the Padrone, and Miss Joan Pereira will appear as Sal, his reputed wife. Mr. Leopold Profeit, Mr. Charles Aldred, Miss Molly Shiells, and Mr. William E. Harberd will also be in the cast. The sketch, for which two piano-organs have been specially made by Messrs. Pesaresi, has been rehearsed by the authors themselves, and goes out under their management.

The twenty Russian dancers from the Imperial Opera Houses of St. Petersburg and Moscow will again be the attraction at the Hippodrome in Tschaikowsky's ballet Le Lac des Cygnes, with the beautiful Mlle. Olga Preobrajensky as Queen of the Swans. Mme. Yvette Guilbert and the Wireless Controlled Airship also remain on the bill. Newcomers include Campbell and Barber, comedy cyclists; Ray Wallace, the lady mimic at the piano; the Avolos, who throw somersaults from perpendicular poles; the Brothers Miliar, gymnasts and comedy wrestlers; and the Hardini Trio of Continental musicians.

In addition to Mlles. Karsavina and Baldina, M. Kosloff, and the other Russian dancers, there are many attractions next week at the Coliseum. Fragson will make a welcome reappearance, newcomers being Liane D'Eve, the Parisian "star"; Lulu Russell, the Californian songstress; Juliette's Sea Lions; Baden and Bell, comedy acrobats; and Alfred Agoust, pantomime juggler. Miss Cecilia Loftus will give still further imitations, and George Ali and company remain with their amusing sketch Papa's Day Off.

The Empire, with its world-wide reputation as "The Cosmopolitan Club," is the rendezvous of great numbers of Americans, and many of our cousins from across the water make an evening pilgrimage to the professional home of Mdlle. Genée and stay to admire and enjoy the exquisite dancing of Mlle. Lydia Kyasht, the pioneer of Russian dancing in this country, and of M. Adolf Bolm, who shares with her the great success of the "Fantasie Choreographique," which is now charming London. Besides these dance idylls there is the revue Hullo, London! with its gaiety and novelty, and also a fine variety programme.

Referring to our notice of It, which, by the way, is from the pen of Mr. Chas. S. Kitts, of Cuckoo fame, Miss Lily (Lily and Antley) writes to say that last week at Ealing was not the first production, that having taken place at the Empress Brixton in December, 1908, and the sketch obtained considerable success both in the provinces and in London on the Gibbons Circuit. Owing, however, to the lamented death of her late partner, Mr. George Antley, she was obliged to give it a three months' rest; but, having now secured the services of a well-known actor, she is again able to take up her dates and book fresh ones.

SONGS, WRITERS, AND SINGERS.

MR. WHIT CUNLIFFE, who returned to town to delight Londoners on Monday evening last, has been nightly both at the Euston and the London Pavilion cheered to the echo for his fine rendering of "There are nice girls everywhere," a number which is published by Messrs. Francis and Day.

MISS EVIE GREENE, than whom no more delightful artist exists, has at New Cross captured all hearts by her beautifully arch singing of "The Corsican Maid," which has been published by Messrs. Francis and Day, and commands a ready sale.

AT the Empire, Birmingham, Mr. George Lashwood has been receiving ovations nightly for his new songs. The Beau Brummel of the variety stage has never been better fitted with material, his "There's another fellow looks like me," by Fred W. Leigh, and "Oh! blow the scenery on the railway!" by George Arthurs and Fred W. Leigh, being eminently suited to the public taste. Both items are published by Messrs. Francis and Day.

ALREADY the orders for copies of Miss Florrie Forde's great successes, "'Tis a faded picture," by Lester Barrett and Herman B. Darewski, and "Flanagan," the greatest comedy chorus number since the same writers' "Kelly"—now the rage of the United States—have exceeded expectations, and no other song, it is almost safe to say, can hope to oust it from the premier position it has gained. What will happen when this fine artist sings it in Manxland and at Blackpool can be better imagined than described. Will Letters and C. W. Murphy are to be congratulated on the song, which is published by Messrs. Francis and Day.

MISS CISSIE CARTER, Mr. Will Godwin's clever daughter, has been singing with remarkable results that pretty song, "A little ray of sunshine in your home, sweet home." Written by Will Godwin and Fred Elton, and published by Messrs. Francis and Day, the number is one that commends itself to all lovers of melodious ditties.

ON Tuesday morning last the tremendous oblong which answers for a letter-box at Messrs. Francis and Day's establishment might with advantage have been labelled "House Full," so crammed was it with applications from myriads of artists for the summer books for al-fresco entertainers issued by the firm. Honours were about equally divided, the book containing one hundred soubrette, coon, and chorus songs being enquired for in about equal numbers with the askers for the volume, comprising one hundred humorous songs. As in formers years, a charge of sixpence must be forwarded to defray the expenses of each book by those desirous of obtaining, who must be bona-fide artists.

ALF J. LAWRANCE, in conjunction with Leonard Cooke and George Arthurs, has written a bright and characteristic number, entitled "The bullfrogs' carnival," which has been secured by Messrs. Francis and Day. Mr. Lawrance in another week's time opens for the season with his two refined companies of seaside entertainers at Prestwick and at Largs on the Firth of Clyde, where spacious new pavilions have been erected, and will at both centres work, among other songs from his own pen, "Moonboat," "The Dutch diary," "Mandy's christening," and "Fairyland," all of which are being added to Messrs. Francis and Day's "Pops." He will also feature Bateman and Greenfield's new humorous song for Miss Ada Reeve "And just then he fell out of bed," which at the eleventh hour was included in Messrs. Francis and Day's al-fresco Summer Book (humorous section).

AMONG new acquisitions shortly to see the light in sheet music form over the imprint of Messrs. Francis, Day, and Hunter are:—"Oh! girls, nobody loved you like a policeman!" by Fred Godfrey, Terry Sullivan, and Harry Carlton; "Come and take tea with me" (sung by Miss Rose Gower), by Charles Collins and F. J. Barnes; "We can't all live in Easy Street" (Miss Evelyn Taylor), by Paul Pelham and Herbert Rule; and "I do like the name of Mary," by Tom Mellor and Harry Gifford.

ALF LAWRANCE and George Arthurs, one of the finest combinations of talent extant, have fitted Mr. Ambrose Thorne with a novel number, entitled "Who'll have a girl with me?" which the comedian has been working with great success at the London Pavilion, his distribution of "girls" to members of the audience being a funny idea, well conceived and executed.

MR. REGINALD ALLAN, the well-known composer and arranger, had the felicity a day or two since of having his two hundred and fiftieth orchestral arrangement published by a leading firm, the principals of which congratulated him over the newly-installed telephone at his Highgate residence.

(Continued on page 20.)

THE NATION'S BEREAVEMENT.

The Music Hall Artists' Railway Association sent the following telegrams last week to the Queen Mother and King George, and received replies:—

Her Majesty Queen Alexandra,
Buckingham Palace.

Executive Committee, on behalf of the Music Hall Artists' Railway Association, numbering over 7,000 members, desires to tender to Her Majesty its sincere and heartfelt condolences in her hour of sad bereavement.

CHAS. COSORN (vice-president),
Chairman of meeting.
C. DOUGLAS STUART (secretary).
18, Charing Cross-road, W.C.

His Majesty George V.
Marlborough House.

Executive Committee, on behalf of Music Hall Artists' Railway Association, numbering 7,000 members desire to tender to your Majesty their sincerest condolences with you upon your sad bereavement, and, further, to express their deep sense of loyalty, and their congratulations upon your accession to the Throne.

CHAS. COSORN (vice-president),
Chairman of meeting.
C. DOUGLAS STUART (secretary).
18, Charing Cross-road, W.C.

Buckingham Palace.
To C. Douglas Stuart, secretary, Music Hall Artists' Railway Association, 18, Charing Cross-road, W.C.

Queen Alexandra sends her sincerest thanks for your kind expression of sympathy in her sorrow.

Buckingham Palace.
To secretary, Music Hall Artists' Railway Association, 18, Charing Cross-road, W.C.

The King sincerely thanks the executive committee and members of the Music Hall Artists' Railway Association for their loyalty and sympathetic message of condolence.

EQUERRY.

AT the Empire Music Hall, Wrexham, the attractions this week are the pictorial representations of the Proclamation of King George V, and the Cup Final at the Crystal Palace. Silly Billy Elliott, who tops the bill, is a mirth-provoking comedian and patterer, and Miss Flo Hovis is a pleasing comedienne.

LONDON VARIETY THEATRES.

THE SOUTH LONDON.

The leading comedians of the South London bill were absent on Monday evening, both Mr. Phil Ray and Mr. Ernie Mayne being away through unforeseen circumstances. The former had a welcome substitute in Mr. Tom Leamore, whose popularity at the London-road establishment is of long years' standing. Mr. Leamore took the opportunity of putting on two new songs, the first being a whimsical account of an individual with an abnormally long name, which on extraordinary occasions when time presses, such as at his wedding ceremony, and when its owner is run over by a van, has to be abbreviated to plain "Dick." Mr. Leamore's other novelty was a serio-comic reproduction of a miser, in which the baneful influence of "gold" is told in tuneful rhyme. The comedian was hard pressed to give another song, but in a short speech pleaded to be let off in view of his other engagements. He thanked the audience for their kindly reception of his new numbers, adding that he chose the South London for the purpose, as he knew them to be the "best judges in the world" of a song.

The sketch of the current bill is one that contains excitement and humour happily combined. It is that new and well-written episode Under Suspicion, acted by Mr. Horace Hunter and company. Mr. Hunter plays in agreeable light comedy style as the chivalrous war correspondent, and keeps his audience in a continual ripple of laughter, though the fact that the character is an Americanised Dutchman hardly necessitates the peculiar "coon" twang adopted. Mr. Henry Latimer is a stalwart and commanding Russian officer, and he acts well; his swarthy complexion—a little too thickly laid on perhaps—and gleaming eyes making him quite Satanic. Miss Shiela O'More is an emotional Countess Nadia, in whose drawing-room the exciting events proceed.

Ingenious methods of creating laughter are adopted by the Warsaw Brothers, who provide many amusing moments with trombone and clarionet. A novel and effective item introduced is an up-to-date version of the celebrated sextet from Florodora, in which one comedian with a cornet impersonates a lady who is wooed in the "Tell me pretty maiden" fashion by his partner armed with another brass instrument. Miss Kitty Colyer sustains her high reputation as a smart serio and expert dancer, and the audience are very loth to part with so dainty and fascinating an artist. The Romps, a half-score of melodious maidens, sing blithely in solo and chorus, and create a diversion by appearing as pierrots, in the course of which one young girl essays the rôle of comedian. Miss Hanid Alexander excites admiration for her entertainment at the piano; and others in the programme are the Sisters Hall, vocalists; and the Donatos, the phenomenal one-legged clowns and acrobats; while Ruffell's Bioscope furnishes the latest pictures. Mr. William Payne, the manager, directs affairs in front with his customary urbanity and tact, and in Mr. William Lynch has a subordinate on whom he may safely rely. Under Mr. Charles E. Howells the orchestra does its duty thoroughly.

KILBURN EMPIRE.

Mr. C. Foster Marner puts forward a good holiday bill for the benefit of his patrons, and his energies are well rewarded. The chief place on the programme is filled by Mr. Fred Karno's latest production, The R.M.S. Wontdetania, which certainly is a most gorgeous production, involving very heavy scenic effects. The first scene on the quayside is a fine piece of stage realism. We are shown the huge vessel leaving her moorings, and after a lively rally on the promenade deck the action moves to that of the saloon itself. Here the motion of the vessel in mid-ocean is cleverly simulated. There is a slight story running through, and the fun is kept going well. All concerned work very hard, and Mr. Karno has certainly a fine show, on which it is evident that neither pains nor expense have been spared.

Mr. Albert Whelan is always welcome here, for his entertainment is ever amusing. His imitations of Chirgwin and Harry Lauder are very lifelike and meet with great appreciation. The Lancashire Lassies soon become popular with their dances, which are of the brightest description. Nan Farren, a smartly-dressed lady, sings of the "Land of Snows," and also contributes a neat dance. Loud laughter greets Walter King, who, attired as a female, gives a history of married life, which is vastly amusing. Paul Pelham is presenting his descriptive song, "Two little heroes," which he renders in capital manner. As a couple of talkative comedians Carney and Armstrong can easily hold their own in their most diverting turn, which causes much amusement. Daisy Taylor, the neatest of Scotch comediennes, makes a hit with her song and dance.

Though several dancing turns precede them, nevertheless Miss Lily Vine and Bonnie Goodwin's Piccaninnies are accorded a big reception, for their dancing is entirely unique, and they rattle off their steps at an express speed which is most exhilarating. Miss Vine herself is a clever dancer, and the four young people who assist are as nimble as ever. One turn was deputised for by a comedian who amused with a comical song, and the Four Burnells were also billed, but did not appear on the night of our visit. The Bioscope shows some interesting films, and Mr. Sheldon and his capital orchestra put in much good work.

EAST HAM PALACE.

The current programme at this popular Eastern "house" is brimful of interesting and topical items, and fully merits the warm appreciation of all who have witnessed it. On Monday evening excellent business was done at both houses, large crowds making the journey to the Palace to conclude the excellent holiday which the weather provided. A notable feature of the entertainment is the appearance of Darracq, the sensation king, in a most vivid and exciting motor-car act, in which car and driver dash down an incline of 40deg. at a speed of 70 miles an hour, and, climbing a half circle, dash into space, turning ten somersaults around a small bar. Darracq, in his car, also whirls around the wheel at over 80 miles an hour—the highest speed ever attained on any stage in the world. The performance is very thrilling, and the wonderful skill and coolness exhibited by Darracq elicits the heartiest applause. Jack Warman, comedian, delights the audience with his song "Tiddle-le-um," and his droll patter is, as usual, intensely amusing.

The sketch The Ghost of Jerry Bundler is excellently played by Mr. Harold Nuttall's company, which includes Mr. Martyn Roland, an actor of sterling ability. The story, which is cleverly conceived, abounds with humour and tragedy cleverly blended and portrayed. Two eccentric comedians and dancers are seen in Ritter and Foster, their dancing being very clever and amusing; whilst Griffin and Ardell, American acrobatic eccentrics, give a marvellous performance of somersaulting. Marie Reeve, a dainty young comedienne, scores well with her two songs, "Clever Mr. Man" and "The little girl from nowhere," the chorus of each having an excellent swing, to the full liking of the audience. Miss Jessie Berg, violinist, proved herself an efficient deputy for Gladys Huxley, and her playing of "The Blue Bells of Scotland," with variations, and the imitation of bagpipes, were two especial features of her performance, of which the audience was very appreciative.

Jack Smiles, a great favourite here, was well to the fore with his singing and dancing, and gave two very amusing songs, "Months and months" and "The Fish-sauce Shop." His dancing was both clever and amusing, especially his imitation of a man with a stiff leg doing a step-dance, the audience rocking with laughter at the effort.

Mr. G. W. Blyth presents a novel and original mining scena, "The Lancashire Singing Pit-Brow Lassies," and the audience is treated to some excellently sweet singing. This "turn" deputised for Miss Amy Augarde, who was unable to appear through her having caught a chill. Ruffell's Imperial Bioscope continues to be a strong feature of the programme.

BATTERSEA PALACE.

The holiday attraction at this well-appointed house comprises a number of interesting items, and good houses have been the rule, notwithstanding the prevalent national depression. Two sketches are provided. In the first, presented by Mr. H. G. Brandon and a capable company under the title of A Secret of the Past, an adventurer, who is singularly unkind to his wife, whom he horse-whips and endeavours to poison in order, apparently, that he may obtain her fortune, rouses the upper parts of the house to a proper sense of indignation. Mr. H. G. Brandon admirably supplies the comedy relief in the part of a Jew Scotchman known as "Donald McGrigor, Esq., of Bonnie Dundee," a comic, if unintentional, libel upon Mr. Winston Churchill's stronghold. Miss Florence Barnes imparts a considerable degree of dramatic intensity to the part of the persecuted wife, and the sketch, which ends with the death of the villain during a struggle with the wife's brother and the triumph of "Donald McGrigor, Esq.," is well received.

Of a different character is the now well-known sketch Nelson, which presents the story of a young naval officer who has fallen into difficulties with a lady who ultimately proves to be his friend's divorced wife. Feeling drowsy from the effects of a stormy interview with the lady, who holds a bill with which she intends to ruin him, the young officer falls asleep, and dreams that Nelson has descended from his statue in Trafalgar-square to hold encouraging converse with him. We see Nelson in the flesh, and much excellent advice he proffers to the young reprobate, making a telling exit with the final remark that "England expects every man to do his duty," a sentiment which evokes much applause. Awaking from his dream, the lad discovers that during its progress he has won a sweepstake, which clears him of his difficulties and rids him of his late mistress, but whether this is due to Nelson's influence or not is not very clearly stated. Nelson is now shown to have retired once more to the top of his column as before, but is none the less able to re-descend to take his call.

A pretty entertainment of a mingled musical character is given by Eric and Nora with bells, musical tubes, and instruments of various and special classification foreign to the ordinary orchestra; Miss Gladys Clinton proves herself to be a dainty little comedienne and a graceful dancer of considerable merit; an amusing turn is given by the dancers Evelyn and Chip, Evelyn proving to be a very big man and Chip a very tiny boy, who dance excellently together, the receding and re-approaching sound effects of his clog-dancing being particularly clever on the part of the first-named. Harry Moore, the newsboy comedian and paper-tearer, well accomplishes a difficult task, and merits the applause received; Miss Rosie Gaston is a charming comedienne, whose song "Come, put your arm around me," at once catches on with the house; Guy Ryder, a comedian, who commenced well with a song, "When the right little girl comes along," quite captured the audience with his subsequent whistling.

Miss Madge O'Neill, who calls for especial mention, is immensely popular, and deservedly so, having two capital songs, and singing them excellently. The Bioscope shows at this house are excellent as a rule, and this week proves no exception, two capital series of pictures being given, entitled Across the Divide, a pathetic story, and A Lady's Train, of a highly-humorous character.

CHELSEA PALACE.

There is always a good show at the Chelsea Palace, but that which has been provided this week has been of an unusually high standard of merit. Every turn is a strong one, and crowded houses have greeted the artists with hearty rounds of applause. Topping the bill has been Kate Carney's company in The Fun of the Fair. It has certainly meant fun for the audience, and night after night the hall has rung with laughter as the delightful absurdities of the piece have unfolded. The scenic effects, too, are admirable, the lighting being an especial feature, while the spacious stage has provided ample room for a satisfactory presentation of the production. The chief characters are impersonated by the following:—Carman, the Gipsy Queen, Kate Carney; the Lawyer, Willie Phillips; Mager, the Witch, Geo. M. Marriott; the Dude, Albert Mason; Jim, the Romany, Fred Malcolm; the Showman, Percy Moran: Another sketch, quite different in style, but equally successful in treatment is The Lady Bandits, a topical farcical operetta by Edward Lauri and Herbert C. Sargent. The scene is laid near a golf course on the Surrey hills, and the cleverly written little incident is acted by May Beatty (Lady Diana), Cicely Lowe (Lady Daisy), and Edward Lauri (Josephus) with a smartness and verve which are refreshing. Added to this the sketch has the saving virtue of being up-to-date, and the topical allusions are neat.

There is no comedienne who is more of a favourite with Chelsonians than Gertie Gitana. Successive visits have served to deepen her popularity with all parts of the house, and her catchy songs, her sweet voice, and clever dancing are always welcome features. This week she has added to her laurels, and the receptions accorded her have been tremendous. Very acceptable indeed is the contribution of Minnie Thornton, a winsome little maid and a graceful dancer; while Arthur Leslie's quaint comedy turn and his imitations of Wilkie Bard and Mark Sheridan are great. Jessie Templeton sings songs in a manner refined and pleasing, and the versatility of Ted E. Box is amply illustrated by the easy manner in which he tickles the audience with his funny songs and evokes their hearty admiration by his whistling solos. Ted is another of the darlings of the gods in Chelsea. The Alaskas present a clever comedy acrobatic act, and an exceptionally fine film shown by Ruffell's Bioscope completes a programme that would satisfy even the most captious critic.

SHOREDITCH OLYMPIA.

An important feature of the current bill here is the sketch Dare-Devil Dripping, presented by Mr. E. D. Nicholls and company. The story is written round the adventures of a detective, and Mr. E. D. Nicholls, in the title-rôle, supplies a performance full of mirth. Mr. Harry Fareland is a dignified Ambrosia V., and Miss Ada Lucelle plays with telling effect as Princess Pauline; Mr. Harry Lewis does all that is possible with the part of Sir Brian; Mr. C. Robinson plays the villainous Duke of Athenia with the necessary callousness; and Miss A. Frank makes a droll Balmiceda.

Miss Greta Reina, who is appearing here, is the possessor of a fine voice, which she uses to advantage in a couple of pretty numbers; Mr. Ted Waite proves very successful in his two songs, "Girls" and "On the night I fought Jack Johnson"; O'Malley and Brown, Irish comedians, have some amusing patter, and provide a performance which proves very acceptable; the Lecardo Brothers contribute an acrobatic act, which they title The Tired Bakers; their various evolutions are cleverly carried out, and the cool, but quick manner in which they work adds greatly to the success of their performance.

An interesting turn is provided by Graham's marionettes. A miniature stage is seen, and in front of this the orchestra, composed of dolls, work with life-like movements. When the curtain ascends, various items are presented by means of a doll's body being fitted to a human head. The effect is highly amusing. In this way the following artists—past and present—are impersonated: Chas. Coborn, G. W. Hunter, Pat Feeney, Vesta Victoria, and Harry Lauder. Much appreciation is shown at the conclusion, and Mr. Graham is evidently a character comedian of remarkable versatility. Miss Nora Stockell, with a charming style, sings "I want to wed a gipsy man," and afterwards dances with considerable taste and skill. Mr. J. W. Rickaby scores with his ditty, "My poor old mother's shawl," and Williams's Eight Jubilee Singers, a troupe of darkies, give great pleasure with their vocal harmony. Their renderings of "The old folks at home" and "Down in the cornfields" are particularly good and worthy of warm praise.

Mr. Edward Lewis appears in a farcical interlude entitled The Five Wishes. A certain idol has the power at far distant intervals to grant five wishes, and it is round this legend that a tale of humour has been written. Mr. Lewis ably portrays the gentleman who is the owner of this idol, and he squeezes every atom of fun out of the part. Some interesting and amusing pictures are presented by the Bioscope. Mr. Fred A. Vernall is still discharging his duties as manager here with tact and skill.

AT the Hippodrome, Stoke-on-Trent, the performance submitted by the Geni Family as risley acrobats is very smart, and the effect is much enhanced by the three ponies used in the production; Cassie Walmer, an old pantomime favourite here, quite captivates her hearers with her varied numbers; the tiny dog introduced by Charles Banks in his act is the acme of perfection in animal training; Jack Hamilton's comedy work is very amusing; and also contributing are the Sisters Maynard, Bert Maddison, Cissie Thompson, and the Perfection pictures.

AT the Borough Theatre, Wallsend, crowded houses are the order. Brothers Webb, musical clowns, head the bill, and cause much mirth; Emilie Warren is a soprano of excellent ability; Tom Bassett scores with his burlesque impersonations; Sisters English, duettist and dancers, are paying a welcome visit; Flo St. Elvyn, comedienne, is a dainty singer of dainty songs; Penstone, billed as "the man of versatility"; Mars Trio, gymnasts; Will Mitcham, comedian; and the Milsted-Bell Trio, in musical act, complete the programme.

A COPY of "THE ERA" will be forwarded to any address in the United Kingdom for six stamps.

FRANCIS, DAY & HUNTER,

THE WORLD'S SONG PROVIDERS.

THE SEASON'S SONG SUCCESSES.

THE CHORUS SONG OF THE YEAR.

FLANAGAN.

SUNG WITH ENORMOUS SUCCESS BY MISS FLORRIE FORDE.

MISTER OWL.
G. H. ELLIOTT'S LATEST & GREATEST SUCCESS.

DOWN IN JUNGLETOWN.
The "CHANTECLER" HIT of "HULLO—LONDON!"

IN SWEET CEYLON.
MISS MARIE SANTOI.

I'VE GOT RINGS ON MY FINGERS.
THE RAGE OF ENGLAND AND AMERICA.

THE CORSICAN MAID.
MISS EVIE GREENE.

BETSY.
THE MARCH SONG OF THE YEAR.

IF I HAD THE WORLD TO GIVE YOU.

THE BALLAD HIT OF THE YEAR.

DAVE CARTER'S GREATEST SUCCESS.

HE'S A NAUGHTY, NAUGHTY BOY.
CHARLES WHITTLE'S LATEST HIT.

THE CUBANOLA GLIDE.
AMERICA'S LATEST NOVELTY SONG.

YOU WANT A SWEETHEART.
MISS HELEN TRIX.

PRIDE OF THE PRAIRIE, MARY.
THE GREATEST COWBOY ROMANCE SINCE "CHEYENNE."

'TIS A FADED PICTURE.
MISS FLORRIE FORDE.

DON'T STAND THERE WAITING AT THE GATE
The FAVOURITE "FEATURE" SONG for the Seaside.

SUMMER BOOKS NOW READY.

100 HUMOROUS SONGS 100
100 COON, SOUBRETTE, and CHORUS SONGS 100

FRANCIS, DAY & HUNTER, 142, Charing Cross Rd., London, W.C.

SONGS, WRITERS, AND SINGERS.

(Continued from page 19.)

The songs published by the famous Feldman house have been greatly in evidence during the holiday season, both in town and country. Notable forefront exponents of the Arthur-street good things have been Miss Ada Reeve, with "Nobody knows—nobody cares," at Manchester Hippodrome; Mark Sheridan, with "I do like to be beside the seaside," at Empire, Sheffield; George Formby, with "Playing the game in the West," and "I put on my coat and went home," at the Palace, Burnley; Fred Barnes, with "I'd rather be by the fireside," at the Empire, Belfast; George Lashwood, with "Mister Pat O'Hare," at the Empire, Birmingham; Miss Clarice Mayne, with "Georgie took me walking in the park" and "I'm longing for someone to love me," at the Empire, Edinburgh; and many other famous stars.

King and Benson, when they produce their new act, will specially feature therein Feldman and Co.'s ballad, "All in a day," by John P. Harrington and William Hargreaves.

Both at the Metropolitan and Chelsea Palace Miss Lottie Lennox has been the recipient this week of loud applause for her spirited rendering of Feldman's piquant number, "Put on your old plaid shawl," by Fred Godfrey and Fred D'Albert, which is chorussed to the echo by her enthusiastic and delighted auditors. Rarely has Miss Lennox had a song that has fitted her style so well.

Miss Gertie Gitana, who was to have produced Mellor, Lawrance, and Gifford's new pastoral romance, "You were coming through the corn, Molly dear," at the Holborn Empire, and her other turns this week, has unfortunately been too indisposed to appear, but purposes producing the song in question this (Saturday) evening at the Holborn house, and a great success for this charming Feldman publication is confidently anticipated.

That the Hibernian race are keen on a song blessed with a lilting and "catchy" chorus, has been well exemplified at the Empire, Belfast, this week, where Mr. Fred Barnes is scoring heavily with his Feldman winner, "I'd rather be by the fireside," by John A. Glover-Kind, which is nightly received with veritable thunders of applause; in fact, the popular light comedian receives a perfect ovation from the warm-hearted Irishmen in Belfast at the termination of this popular song.

At the Olympia, Liverpool, this week, Frank and Gracie Sumner are nightly winning golden opinions for their cultured rendering of Feldman's big ballad-hit, "Beautiful garden of roses," by Dempsey and Schmidt, one of the sweetest songs of sentiment which America has ever sent us. It is being sung this week at the Palace, Manchester, by Mr. Arthur Aldridge.

A composition destined to be heard on seaside bands and halls of variety throughout the length and breadth of the country is the "Kerry Mills Barn Dance," which Feldman and Co. publish. This bright and snappy instrumental piece is already growing vastly popular in this country, where it promises to out-rival its phenomenal success in the land of its birth, America. Musical directors who have not yet applied for full orchestrations of this undoubted musical success may be recommended to make speedy application for the same to the Arthur-street house.

From the Star Music Publishing Company comes an excellent "Piano Tutor" by Mr. Bennett Scott, which, as the publishers justly say, is "the easiest of all easy tutors, and makes teaching and learning a pleasure." The "Piano Tutor" is beautifully printed, and, showing how well adapted the work is to very young pupils, a facsimile of the keyboard on page 3 directs the pupil how to find the middle C by noticing that it is just by the lock of the piano. A drawing of the left and right hands, numbered, also helps the pupil in fingering. Several simple melodies, gradually increasing in difficulty, are given, and before each the key in which they are written—thus, key of G, one sharp; D, two sharps; F, one flat; &c., each introduced with a very short prelude. One or two duets are also included, and some very useful scales, while at the end of the "Tutor" there are questions and answers and a list of musical terms, alphabetically arranged and simply explained. Time and counting instructions are given, and an explanation of the Major and Minor scales, with many easy hints. In a note on the front page Mr. Bennett Scott acknowledges the valuable assistance in compiling this work rendered by Mr. Frederic Muller, author of "My Child's" music books, which are also published by the Star Music Co., of Cecil-court, Charing Cross-road, and have proved extremely successful.

Tom E. Finglass's (the original cowboy coon) latest song, entitled "My Baby," by Paul Pelham and Herbert Rule, is, indeed, a winner, and has been creating a furore this week at the Grand, Hanley.

Those who were prevented from witnessing Tuesday's procession to Westminster Hall from Buckingham Palace will be enabled to see a particularly interesting series of animated pictures at the Palace Theatre. Every scene and incident has been taken, and is shown, accompanied by appropriate music, composed by Mr. Herman Finck, the conductor of the Palace orchestra. A specially extended display of pictures was given at the Pavlova matinée on Wednesday.

Miss Freda Fern, a charming young soubrette, is making a hit this week at the Greenwich Palace in her two songs, "All through being so indiscreet" and "Gwen-do-line." She is a clever dancer.

At the Liverpool Pavilion last week a most successful matinée was given in aid of the funds of the annual theatrical gala, a movement which has for its object the assisting of various local medical charities and several institutions connected with the profession. There were about thirty turns, the artists engaged in the city and neighbourhood coming forward with willingness to assist the worthy movement.

Mme. Adah Payne, the Australian prima donna, late of Moody-Manners' principal opera company, was specially retained for the Invitation Concert to A.M.C. Deputies, held at the Palace, Southampton, last Sunday night, and made a happy selection of songs in "Abide with me" (Liddle) and "Good-bye" (Tosti).

A visit to the showrooms of Messrs. Fred Wilkins and Brother, Ltd., at 27, Shaftesbury-avenue, should be productive of great interest for those concerned in theatrical furnishing and decoration. Their artistic treatment of ceilings, walls, and circle fronts in fibrous plaster is one of the many features of their many-sided activities, and their decorative work is supplemented with the most complete and harmonious scheme of colouring in carpets, curtains, and draperies, as well as the most up-to-date seating.

A Copy of "The Era" will be forwarded to any address in the United Kingdom for six stamps. The Era is posted on Saturday in time to reach London Subscribers by the first Town Delivery, and Country Subscribers should receive their Papers by the first London Post. Address, The Publisher, 6, Tavistock-street, W.C.

DAVID MAX TRYTEL.

THE METROPOLITAN'S DUTCH MUSICAL DIRECTOR.

For ten years Mr. David Max Trytel has handled the baton at the Metropolitan, Mr. Henri Gros' pretty house in the Edgware-road. It is exactly that period to a day since Mr. Trytel first took the musical conductor's chair there, and the occasion calls for the heartiest of congratulations, and a word or so of autobiography.

Mr. Trytel hails from Rotterdam, declines to state his age, is now a naturalised Englishman, everyone likes and esteems him, and, like most Netherlanders, he is a musician of the romantic order. Chirgwin's famous song title "My fiddle is my sweetheart" could easily be made Mr. Trytel's own motto.

When quite a little fellow, David Max trudged daily to the conservatoire in his native town, and there took his first lessons with the violin and in harmony. Prof. Wirth was his master. So proficient was young David at sixteen, that he was selected to tour with Dr. Hans von Bülow through many of the Continental cities. In turn he played for such famous masters as Brahms, Richard Strauss, Felix Weingartner, and Harry Wood.

The late Sir Augustus Harris invited him to England in 1895, and he was a member of the famous Olympia orchestra, which played there the following year. Next Mr. Trytel played with Dr. Richter at the Richter Concerts in the old St. James's Hall. It was there that he first attracted the attention of Mr. Henri Gros. That gentleman's inducement to Mr. Trytel to take charge at the "Met." was sufficiently strong for him to accept, and to continue in occupation of the chair, and to rise superior to any and every temptation to go elsewhere that may have come along, since May 14, 1900.

A quiet, observant man, Mr. Trytel, during his ten years' stay at the Metropolitan, has noted many quaint, odd, and interesting things. Once a couple of knockabout comedians arrived at rehearsal without any music. "Play a set of Lancers," said one of them. They were politely but firmly told they must provide their own music. "Oh, be a good chap," pleaded the speaker. "Vamp something, do." And the band "vamped," and the artists in the evening scored a big success.

On another occasion a favourite artist "went flat," and blamed Mr. Trytel and his orchestra. Furthermore, in a fearful rage, he accused the clarinet player of not knowing his business, and rendering music not in the score. Very courteously the musical director pointed out that the comedian had not attended rehearsal, and that the band had played his songs for the first time that night. "Besides," said Mr. Trytel, in his most conciliatory tones, "we are all liable to make mistakes." "Mistakes be ——," roared the comedian, "I never make mistakes." Now, the following Wednesday this great man, when he arrived at the theatre, found that he had left his band books at the Tivoli. Of course, he put the blame on to his man. "You ought to know my stuff by this time," he observed to Mr. Trytel, who had been called out by the manager. "Well, we may or may not," replied the cautious Dutchman. "We will try to play it from memory, but if we make mistakes and break down, you must explain what has happened to the audience." The band went in and played the three numbers in triumphant style. To give the comedian his due at the end of his turn, he made a nice little speech, acknowledging his indebtedness to Mr. Trytel and his orchestra, and complimented them on "an extremely clever effort." The Metropolitan musicians then came in for a storm of applause.

Mr. Trytel tells a story of how he was once mistaken for a waiter at the Metropolitan. He was walking through the stalls garbed in evening dress, when a gentleman stopped him, and requested him to get him a cigar from the bar. Very quietly Mr. Trytel got one, and, returning with it, said: "Kindly accept this with the compliments of the musical director." Of course, the gentleman was very apologetic, but Mr. Trytel only laughed. The gentleman has been a regular weekly visitor ever since, and never fails to offer his cigar-case to Mr. Trytel.

MR. DAVID MAX TRYTEL.

Most people know that Dr. Hans von Bülow was a very excitable man, and recalling this, Mr. Trytel tells a good story. At the time there were eight double basses in the orchestra. One of that number was suddenly taken ill and died, and was buried before a big rehearsal was due to take place. At the rehearsal, as usual, the Doctor was all excitement. The double basses had very heavy parts, and his quick ear detected a thinness. Then for the first time he noticed the number was one short. "Where is ——?" he snapped out. "Did not you know, sir, that he is dead, and was buried yesterday?" was the explanation given. "It doesn't matter," was the doctor's reply, "his place is here, and he ought to be here!" Then this extraordinary man realised what he had said, and burst into tears.

And his men kept him company.

"THE SPIDER AND THE FLY."

Sketch in One Act Condensed from Mr. Charles Darrell's Drama, Her Luck in London, Produced at the Camberwell Empire on Monday, May 16.

Rev. Lionel Strong .... Mr. Douglas Tremayne
Stephen Harborne ..... Mr. Martin Sands
Richard Lenowen ..... Mr. Arthur Elwyn
Algie Kirkcumbrie .... Mr. W. Leonard Howe
Lillian Harborne ..... Miss Bellamy
Nellie Harborne ..... Miss Mary Neil

The story of Mr. Darrell's successful melodrama is so well known that we need only say that the first scene, which takes place at Buttermilk Farm, has been utilised to make a vigorous and thrilling sketch, which is excellently acted. Mr. Douglas Tremayne and Miss Mary Neil do vivid and spirited work as the Rev. Lionel Strong and Nellie Harborne, Mr. Martin Sands does well as Stephen Harborne, and Mr. Arthur Elwyn is effective in the unthankful rôle of Richard Lenowen. The scenery and mounting are excellent.

Mr. Sam Shipley was married at St. Paul's Church, Blackburn, on May 16. He and his wife sail for Cape Town on May 27 from the Royal Albert Dock in the R.M.S. Tainui.

The execution of Jesshope, the fireman, under sentence of death for the murder at the Camberwell Empire, has been postponed until May 24. The appeal has been dismissed.

The famous Kilties Band (under the direction of Mr. T. P. Power), who are appearing this week at the Grand Theatre, Halifax, through Mr. Percy Victor's Wolverhampton agency, are meeting with a most enthusiastic reception from Halifax audiences, who are notably critical musically. The Band Glee Party, the Clan Johnstone Troupe of dancers, Mr. E. Coates-Lockhart (a clear high tenor vocalist), and Mr. T. Daniels, in his faultless cornet solos, have been compelled to respond to encores at each house.

The Kilties' visit to Halifax is particularly appropriate just now, inasmuch as they were in great favour with his deeply-lamented late Majesty Kind Edward VII., who twice commanded their appearance, and their "In Memoriam" is received with much feeling and the deepest respect by the entire audiences.

BALLET AT THE HIPPODROME.

On Whitsun Monday, May 16, the Ballet, in Two Scenes, by Tschaikowsky, entitled

"LE LAC DES CYGNES."

Prince Siegfried ..... M. Georges Kiakscht
Benno ..... M. Nikitin
Preceptor ..... M. Frohmann
Odetta ..... Olga Preobrajensky

Mr. Oswald Stoll has created a record by the production of two important ballets at two houses on the same day, and the perfection to be noted in both Giselle at the Coliseum and Le Lac des Cygnes at the Hippodrome could have only been attained by a completely-equipped troupe of admirably trained dancers such as come to us from the Imperial Opera Houses of St. Petersburg and Moscow. Each performer is an artist with special gifts, familiarised in all the arts and graces of Terpsichore and with the traditions of classic ballet by long and arduous training. Indeed, we at once recognise in Mlle. Olga Preobrajensky, Mlle. Ludmila Schollar, and M. Georges Kiakscht performers singularly endowed and triumphant in their conquest of difficult pas and in their easy grace and perfect technique.

The work in which they display the perfection of their training is the ballet Le Lac des Cygnes, the scenario of which is based on a pretty legend which has inspired Tschaikowsky to write some delightful melody and to establish his fame as the author of a dainty score.

The action of the first scene is the courtyard in Prince Siegfried's castle. The Prince, in gay, light-hearted fashion, is enjoying the revels with his feather-headed courtiers, and is in no mood to obey the command of his mother, who sends his preceptor to summon him to her side, in order to meet his future bride. The attention of the prince and his courtiers is arrested by a flight of swans. Fowling pieces are immediately produced, and the party are evidently bent on bagging the flock. The birds, however, suddenly disappear, and with the rising of the moon over the lake they assume the form of beauteous womanhood in dazzling white with folded swan-like wings for their corsage. The spell exercised by the spirit of the forest in the shape of a gigantic owl, being temporarily removed, the prince and Odetta, queen of the swans, fall in love at sight, and vow mutual affection. True and constant love is the amulet by which the maiden can effectually conquer the spell that is upon her, and the lovers are not separated.

In the first scene of the festival at the castle we have a delightful csárdás, the vim and abandon of which seem to be the special appanage of the Czech, or Magyar, or Slav. Mlle. Schollar is particularly piquant in this dance of temperament, with its alternate graceful languor and rapid movement. The same lady is concerned with more classical numbers in the pas de deux with M. Golikowsky, a master of the pas bondissant. The opening mazourka, by a septet of dancers, furnishes a bright example of the ensemble of the troupe, which specially distinguishes itself in the finale of the first scene—a torch dance.

Olga Preobrajensky in her entrée on the "points" at once makes a favourable impression by her eloquent pantomime and the perfect grace of her sylphlike movements. She is artistically supported by the other ballerine—each of whom is a soloist—headed by Mlle. Schollar. A more complete display of her grace of pose and technical excellence comes with a solo very aptly called "Variations." Tschaikowsky's music is played with enchanting effect by the augmented orchestra, including a very fine lady harpist, under the direction of Herr Erhorn, who has done so much to reach a high standard of musical excellence since he took up the position of musical-director. Our grandfathers were wont to talk of the great dancers Taglioni, Elsler, Grahn, Carlotta Grisi, and Cerito. The best traditions of their art are in the possession of the Russian dancers, whose performance is a pure joy for the lovers of the twin muses, music and dancing. Eye and ear are both enchanted at the Hippodrome.

The incomparable Yvette Guilbert is again asserting the supremacy of her art as diseuse in her well-known selection "Les Cloches de Nantes"; and we renew acquaintance in a condensed form with the comedy The Bookmaker, by J. W. Pigott, produced at Terry's on March 19, 1889, which is capably presented by the author and his company. A most interesting item in the fine bill presented by Mr. Fred Truesell is the scientific demonstration of the evolutions of an airship controlled by wireless electricity. Mr. Raymond Phillips is not only a clever inventor, but a good showman. Violet Romaine, the Princess Baratoff, Miss Marquis and her cobs, and Henry Leoni are other turns. The Bioscope includes pictures of the Procession to Westminster Hall.

"CAPTAIN BILLY."

An Operetta, in One Act, Words by Harry Greenbank, Music by François Cellier, First Produced at the Halls at the Peckham Hippodrome on Monday, May 16.

Captain Billy ..... Mr. H. Le Maistre
Christopher Jolly ..... Mr. H. Lawrance
Samuel Chunk ..... Mr. Rudolph Lewis
Widow Jackson ..... Miss Maud Clarke
Polly ..... Miss Gwennie Vaughan

Captain Billy is no stranger to the boards, having been originally produced at the Savoy Theatre. It is a merry little piece, wedded to appropriate music, and the dialogue has at times quite a Gilbertian flavour. Captain Billy had an excellent reception from the Bank holiday audience, and should have a good run at the halls.

The plot is as follows:—William Cherubim, in disgust at his sanctimonious twin brother having become a member of the Plymouth Brethren, takes up the undesirable vocation of a pirate captain, being known as Captain Billy. He borrows the necessary capital from Samuel Chunk, the landlord of the Blue Dragon at Porthaven, and deserts his wife. To add to his enormities he kidnaps his brother's only son, Christopher, and abandons him in the African Sahara. When the action of the piece begins, we find Christopher making inquiries at Porthaven church for his birth certificate. He soon falls in love with Polly, the pretty daughter of the middle-aged pew-opener, who goes by the name of the Widow Jackson, but who is in reality the deserted wife of Captain Billy.

Captain Billy then arrives after a long absence of ten years, and introduces himself to the landlord and his wife, who are at first not particularly pleased to see him. Subsequently, he finds that his brother is dead, and discovering from some marks on his clothing that young Christopher is his nephew, he consents to his marriage with his daughter Polly. Further influenced by his wife and his future son-in-law, he announces his intention of giving up his profession as a pirate, and becoming a virtuous commercial traveller, "Finding scope for someone's soap at a ten per cent. commission."

The operetta received full justice at the hands of Mr. Helier Le Maistre's talented company. Miss Gwennie Vaughan makes a dainty Polly, singing very sweetly; and the Widow Jackson, a sedate lady, with a curious weakness for dancing a hornpipe, is most ably enacted by Miss Maud Clarke, who sings most tunefully. Mr. H. Le Maistre resumes his original rôle of the bloodthirsty seadog, Captain Billy, with the utmost success; as young Christopher Mr. H. Lawrance is very acceptable, both as regards his acting and vocalisation; while Mr. Rudolph Lewis, in his original character of the Boniface of the Village Inn, also does excellent work.

FELDMAN'S

SPECIAL SONGS AND SINGERS.

THE SEASIDE SONG OF THE YEAR.

IT'S THE ALPINE DRESS YOU'RE WEARING.

Al Fresco Artists—Get this! It's "IT."

ARTHUR ALDRIDGE. The Greatest Ballad Vocalist on the "Halls."
BEAUTIFUL GARDEN OF ROSES.
I'M LONGING FOR ONE SIGHT OF YOU.

FRED BARNES. The Rising Star.
I'D RATHER BE BY THE FIRESIDE.

G. H. ELLIOTT. The One and only Chocolate-Coloured Coon.
BY THE LIGHT OF THE SILVERY MOON.
MOON, MOON, MOON.

GEORGE FORMBY. The King of Comedians
PLAYING THE GAME IN THE WEST.
I PUT ON MY COAT AND WENT HOME.

MISS GERTIE GITANA. Most Delightful of Vocalists.
YOU WERE COMING THROUGH THE CORN, MOLLY DEAR.

Mr. GEORGE LASHWOOD. The Music Hall Beau Brummel.
MISTER PAT O'HARE.

MISS CLARICE MAYNE The Incomparable Comedienne.
GEORGIE TOOK ME WALKING IN THE PARK.

MISS ADA REEVE. The World's Greatest Songstress.
NOBODY KNOWS—NOBODY CARES

MARK SHERIDAN. The Best of the "B'hoys."
I DO LIKE TO BE BESIDE THE SEASIDE.

MISS ELLA SHIELDS. The Dandy Militaire, Par Excellence.
IN THE ARMY.
COME BY THE DRUM IN THE BIG BRASS BAND.

MISS BESSIE SLAUGHTER. The Beautiful Contralto.
BEAUTIFUL GARDEN OF ROSES.

MR. JACK SMILES.
The Popular Comedian.
FISH SAUCE.

MISS ALICE TREMAYNE
Mr. Harry Claff's "Demon and the Fairy."
I WONDER IF IT'S TRUE.

B. FELDMAN & CO.,

2 & 3, Arthur St., New Oxford St., W.C.

Tel. Address: "HUMFRIV, LONDON." Telephone: 4447 GERRARD.

RINKING GOSSIP.

John Davidson Scores at Bath.

JOHN DAVIDSON charmed Bath with his skating exhibition last week. Says the Herald:—"Attired in a picturesque costume he takes the rink at a great speed, and after a few preliminary rounds, in which he exhibits considerable grace of movement, he commences a programme of amazingly difficult, fancy, and trick skating, which obtains for him much merited applause. He commenced his entertainment with a variety of two steps, full of pleasing grace, without lacking in sensation. First of all he exhibited the forward and backward waltz movements, followed by two-steps, in the spread-eagle action and plain 'cut offs.' After this he showed with wonderful skill the 'drop-three' waltz movement, and following this he executed a variety of eights backwards and forwards, including the perplexing Bishop and Barney eights. Davidson never for a moment lacked that easy composure which characterises his skating.

Some Difficult Movements.

"A DISPLAY of spread-eagle movements, both forwards and backwards followed, in which he brought the actual spread-eagle into a 5ft. circle. Then coming to a stop without altering the position of the feet he steadily gained momentum until again at full speed, and quickly changed into a 'flying cut off.' Succeeding this he exhibited a series of chain threes, which were very cleverly brought off, going the full length of the rink at a great speed, and after this he gave an extremely difficult feat in the one heel balance, bringing the heel balance into a heel 'split,' and subsequently taking up the heel balance on the outside foot without touching the toe wheels at all. Following he presented the flying spread-eagle, some Philadelphian twists, and grape-vine movements, and then the celebrated 'Barney jump' from the outside edge backwards, making a complete turn in the air to an inside edge forwards. After doing some 'flying cut-offs' Davidson proceeded with the flying Mercury movement, finishing the second part of his entertainment with some flying spread-eagles. The great feat of the evening was the high jumping. Starting with a height of 3ft. 2in., he leaped lightly over the cord, until he came to the record jump, which he cleared magnificently at the third attempt."

Monohan in Surrey.

MONOHAN next week is to fulfil his third engagement this season at the Sutton Rink. This week the great skater has been displaying his prowess at the Richmond Bridge rink. The "Wizard of the Rink" does on four pairs of wheels what most men would hesitate to do without those awkward appendages. Monohan first gives an exhibition of fancy figure skating, and then he mounts on a barrel and on this trundles his way round the rink, then he threads his way delicately on the front wheels of his skates through a number of lighted candles, placed closely together, then at tremendous speed he dashes up the rink and clears nine chairs with three bird-like leaps.

Bentley Skates at Hanley.

No better exhibition of roller-skating has been seen in the district than those given by F. Bentley at the Olympia Rink, Hanley, last week. He was assisted by "Little Vera," who is only ten years of age. The performances were highly appreciated by the audiences throughout the week. "Little Vera" shows wonderful ability on the rollers, and as time goes on she should become one of the leading lady skaters of the day. Mr. Bentley was manager of the Palace Rink at Douglas last year, which he opened at the beginning of the season there. Among those he taught to rink during his stay on the island were the daughters of Lord and Lady Raglan. So successful did the season prove to the rink that he has been engaged for the coming season.

North Staffordshire's Best Skater.

MR. LAWSON, the floor-manager of the Hanley Olympia, who is recognised as the leading skater in North Staffordshire, is a pupil of Mr. Bentley, he having his first fancy and figure-skating experience under the instruction of the latter whilst they were both at the Palace Rink, Douglas.

British Skates Selling Well.

NOTHING but the best skates are now being sold for rinking purposes, and a very satisfactory feature of the trade is the fact that the English makes are doing excellent business. Dealers in American goods had a big pull at the beginning, and then they made hay while the sun shone. Juvenile skates are selling well, and we are informed that large supplies are being sent to the seaside resorts, where there are such excellent facilities afforded to the youngsters for skating in the open air.

Final for London Cup.

THE final for the London Cup will be played at the County Rink, Surbiton, next Monday, May 23, at 9 p.m.

All Nations' Carnival.

THE third carnival is to be held on the Rupert-street rink, Bristol, on Wednesday, May 25. It will be one of all nations, combined with a gymkhana, and prizes will be awarded for ladies' and gentlemen's waltzing, for trio two-stepping, for a gentlemen's obstacle race, for a gentlemen's steeplechase race, for a ladies' backwards skating race, and for gentlemen's musical chairs.

One more Rink for the Potteries.

AN old gentleman of ninety-three was on rollers at the opening session of the new Burslem rink. The new venture is a decided improvement on any other rinking concern within a large radius. As is generally the way, a good many of the uninitiated generally attend an opening, and the directors wisely engaged the services of an expert exhibition skater to show them what can be done on the floor. Therefore, Master "Jock" Wooding, champion boy skater, of Hanley, was requistioned for that purpose. His performance was highly appreciated by the large concourse of spectators present. The highest credit is reflected on the architect, Mr. E. T. Watkin, of Messrs. Watkin and Adams, Burslem, and under the management of Mr. John S. Campbell, whose rinking experience is extensive, everything should run smoothly. The rink is to be kept open all the summer. Mr. James E. Keates, of Leek, ninety-three years of age, grandfather of Councillor Harold K. Hales, of Burslem, in his earlier years an expert skater, donned the skates, and delighted his friends by going round the rink several times.

Roller Skating at Cardiff.

SKATING still goes merrily on at the American Roller Rink in Westgate-street, Cardiff, where the splendid military band, so ably conducted by Mr. J. Matthews, a perfect floor, and a competent staff are all that can be desired. General regret is felt by the regular patronisers of the building at the departure of Mr. Alf. Norton, the assistant-manager, who has been connected with the place from the opening day, and who is now taking up an appointment with the London and Provincial Electric Theatres Company in London. Monohan was specially engaged to demonstrate his ability on the wheels at the Central Rink last week. The Olympia Skating Rink in Queen-street seems to have taken on a new lease of life, and the pleasure is so great that fathers and mothers daily accompany their children to the scene in order to watch their graceful movements, whilst even the parents do not hesitate to have a pair of skates strapped on in order to join in the fun. Mr. A. Tetlow, the manager, has effected many noticeable improvements since he has taken charge of the rink.

Presentation at Carlisle.

THE Carlisle Skating Rink concludes a successful first season this week. On Tuesday last an interesting event took place during the night session, when Mr. Oliver, one of the directors, publicly presented Miss Norah Bailey, the professional instructress, with a handsome and elaborately fitted dressing-case, subscribed for by the lady patrons of the rink. A large audience witnessed the presentation.

Whitsun on Wheels.

THE Clacton Rink provided a good programme for the Whitsun visitors, and all sessions were well patronised. On Saturday evening waltzing and two-step competitions created considerable interest. On Monday evening a fancy dress and floral carnival was a great attraction, and prizes were awarded for the best original, floral, calico, and paper costumes.

Popularity of Skating at Dartford.

THE popularity which signalised the opening of the skating rink in Spital-street, Dartford, shows no sign of waning. Indeed, the results already achieved have fully realised the expectations of those who initiated a scheme whereby the people of Dartford have been offered facilities for enjoying rinking. A very successful carnival was held on Wednesday last. It is not decided when the rink will be closed, but skating will recommence in October, and then gymkhanas, racing, and exhibitions of fancy skating will be arranged.

Merry Night at Ealing.

AFTER a most successful season, the Walpole Hall, Ealing, closed on Thursday night, and for that evening Mr. Wallace Taylor's London Euphonic Band of twenty performers gave a very successful concert. Mr. Byng-Hall kindly placed the hall at the disposal of the popular musical-director for the evening, and, what with rinking and promenading, the event was a merry one.

Round the Glasgow Rinks.

WITH the exception of Saturday, Govan Skating Rink will only be open daily during the summer months for the evening session, beginning at seven o'clock. Mr. James Smith is forming a Social Summer Skating Club, the members of which will be permitted to enjoy the recreation at a reduction in the present tariff, and will also be entitled to extra time during the summer evenings. At the American Roller Rink in Victoria-road the popular pastime continues to draw good crowds of skaters to each of the three sessions daily. The West-End rink is exceedingly popular with followers of the pastime resident in the western district. Out Dennistoun way the rink situated in Hillfoot-street claims a fair share of patronage, and at the evening sessions especially the attendances are up to the average. A feature here is the weekly "specialities," which continue to prove a good draw. In the shipbuilding burgh rinking continues to hold its place. Hockey matches are a feature here, and the Summerton Club is ranked as one of the best in the West of Scotland. Weekly fixtures take place, and the matches always ensure a full "house." The morning and afternoon sessions have ceased at the Ibrox rink, with the exception of Saturday, when there is still an afternoon session.

For the Summer's Rest.

THE Empress, the Boulevard, and the Belgrave Rinks, Leicester, are closing down to-day (Saturday) for the summer recess.

Skating by the Sea.

THE Llandudno Hippodrome Roller-skating Rink was opened last week for the season. The rink is equipped exclusively with Winslow skates. Three sessions are held daily, and in order to meet the wishes of the residents, as well as visitors who prolong their stay at Llandudno, the management have decided to issue season tickets at low rates. The first person to enter the rink at the opening on Saturday was Miss Effie Cooper, daughter of Mr. Denbigh Cooper, the well-known baritone vocalist.

Next Week's Carnival at Porth.

THE semi-final for the Rhondda League championship took place last Saturday, the teams being Ynyshir and Ton-y-pandy. The carnival, which was promised for May 11, has been postponed, owing to the death of His Majesty, to May 26, when prizes to the value of £40 will be given.

Ramsgate and Margate Rinks.

LARGE crowds of skaters have patronised the outdoor and indoor rinks at the Pavilion during the holidays of the Royal Victoria Pavilion, Ramsgate. The Hall-by-the-Sea Rink was largely patronised during the holidays, and on Whit-Monday there was a record crowd.

"Human Knot" at Stourbridge.

THE rink at Stourbridge is well patronised this week, notwithstanding the heat. The Misses Jeannie and Teressa Fisher have been giving a high-class exhibition of fancy skating each afternoon; and Stanley King, the human knot, has been delighting large crowds of sightseers each evening by his trick and fancy skating.

Business Brisk at Tynemouth.

AT Tynemouth Palace Skating Rink business is as brisk as ever. The floor is excellent, and the same may be said of the Richardson skates and the bright and breezy music.

TRIAL MATINEE AT LEICESTER.

Mr. Frank Macnaghten's Leicester Pavilion Theatre was crowded to its utmost capacity on Tuesday afternoon, when the first trial matinée ever held in the town took place. Mr. Whit Murray, the district-manager, and manager of the Palace Theatre, Blackburn, represented Mr. Macnaghten, and Mr. Joseph Lawrence, the popular local manager, stage-managed. In all thirty-three turns appeared.

The best turn of the afternoon was Edyth and Evelyn, of Stafford, who appeared in a refined and beautifully staged musical act, which met with an enthusiastic reception. Jock Stewart, a capital Scotch comedian, of Airdrie, who travelled 300 miles, also was a success. The best local turn among the ladies was May Vesta, attired in a smartly-cut suit, with a good style and plenty of "go," and should be heard of again. Another popular turn was given by the Brothers Felton, of Northampton, ring and trapeze bar artists. Little Miss Annie Mulrey, of Nottingham, showed promise as a vocalist. The Sisters Hula, a local turn, displayed especial neatness as dancers. The best double local turn as comedians was submitted by Lindon and West. Georgo and Nell Greatorex, illusionists, also gave an entertaining and well-staged show. A good fancy skating turn was given by Walter Price, of Leicester. Others who found favour were the Aquarium Chimers of hand-bell ringers; William Mason, of Whitwick, singing collier; Frank Orton, a boy elocutionist; Ernest Howard, light comedian; Jim Meeson, comedian; Phyllis May, juvenile vocalist; the Chester Brothers, concertina soloists; and Blanche and Sydney, duettists.

MISS HARRIETT VERNON is again in Manchester, and is, as usual, causing a furore. At the Alhambra, Openshaw, on Monday, after singing four songs, she was recalled again and again. Miss Vernon is this week singing a new song from the pens of Messrs. Carter, Haines, and Meyer, entitled "I am coming back to Siam" (publishers, Messrs. Francis, Day, and Hunter), which promises to be one of the biggest chorus songs of the year. In her last song, "Emblems" (written and composed by Mr. Leslie Race), she was called repeatedly before the "tabs."

DEATH OF J. C. JIMSON ("ROSCOE.")

There will be many in the variety world who will hear with feelings of deep regret of the death of J. C. Jimson, who passed away at 11.30 on Sunday night in the Minnie Paget Ward at Charing Cross Hospital, where he had been lying in great suffering since February. The deceased, who was only forty-seven years old, was better known as Roscoe, with his performing pigs, and was an animal trainer of no mean ability. As far back as 1883 he was touring through Germany with Schumann's Circus. Afterwards landing at Cardiff, he played a season with Hutchison and Taylor's Circus, followed by a long tour through Ireland with John Lloyd's Mexican Circus. Then he visited Spain and Portugal, being engaged at Diez's Circus, Lisbon. On his return to this country he appeared with Boswell's Circus, and then went for a lengthy season with James Newsome's well-known circus. He afterwards had a long spell abroad, first in Germany and then in Russia and Poland.

He returned to England in 1890, and continued with the exhibition of his trained pigs until some seven years ago, when he introduced a new act, entitled "Jimson's Circus," in which he performed with his animals, principally dogs, on a miniature stage, brilliantly lighted with electricity. This novelty he played successfully all over the provinces, as well as in London. More recently he has been appearing in a sketch, in which a fine St. Bernard dog took a prominent part. But as years went on fortune gradually deserted him, and he did not obtain many engagements, his last being at Blaina, South Wales, in November last, when the company he was with were stranded. Friends assisted him back to London, but his health became worse, and he was never able to work again.

The deceased, a fluent linguist, experienced many vicissitudes during his travels, and met with much trouble over the importation of his pigs into foreign countries, and even in Ireland, on which occasion the animals had to cross the Irish Channel again and again before they were allowed to land. The first pig he trained he christened Jerrie, but that died, and he trained—a work of much persistent patience—another, which he named Bogie, and another called Nellie. This last came from Brazil, but it could not stand the climate, and died after a year.

Jimson had always a feeling of affection for his brother professionals, and was a member of the executive committee of the Music Hall Artists' Railway Association for several years, but ceased his connection therewith about five years ago, and had only recently been again elected on the committee.

He was an ardent worker for the Variety Artists' Federation at the time of its formation, and for a time was a member of its committee. He was for many years a prominent Freemason, being a member of a Scottish lodge, held in Glasgow, but transferred to the Chelsea Lodge of Music Hall Artists.

He leaves a widow and two little boys, aged nine and seven and a half, and, as he was unfortunately not insured, and had passed through bad times and run out of the V.A.F., they are totally unprovided for. We would call the attention of managers to the fact that Mrs. Jimson, under the name of Min, is prepared to accept engagements to introduce her performing dog Jim. We also commend the case to the charitable members of the profession, especially our Masonic friends, as we know it to be a most deserving and pathetic one, and any contributions towards the relief of the widow and orphans sent to Mr. F. Pedgrift, The Era, will be acknowledged in these columns.

The funeral of the deceased, whose real name was James Clements Ross, took place on Thursday, leaving the establishment of Mr. W. R. Dunkley, 88, Westminster Bridge-road, at two o'clock for interment in the grave of the Music Hall Artists' Railway Association in Lambeth Cemetery. The hearse, on which were placed several handsome wreaths, was followed by a mourning carriage containing the widow, sister, brother-in-law, and friends of the deceased, and next by another coach in which were seated a deputation of the committee of the M.H.A.R.A., which consisted of Messrs. J. H. Milburn, J. Miller Northern, Jack Crawley ("Jack Straw"), T. C. Callaghan, and C. Douglas Stuart (secretary). The Burial Service having been read in the chapel, the small mourning party walked to the graveside, where the usual funeral rites were completed. The deceased being a Freemason, the impressive Masonic prayer was recited, and sprays of acacia were thrown into the grave. The wreaths were from the widow, the two sons (Freddy and Jimmy) and the daughter (Doris), the Music Hall Artists' Railway Association, and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Stuart. The funeral arrangements were satisfactorily undertaken by Mr. W. R. Dunkley, the well-known professional undertaker.

"FATE" AND SUPERSTITION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—I notice in last Saturday's Era the report of a sketch entitled Fate. I produced a sketch under the same title at the People's Palace, Portsmouth, February, 1904. The late Alfred Rousby was engaged to play the principal character part. On the Friday at rehearsal, to my horror, he spoke the "tag." The poor fellow was taken ill the next day, could not play on the Monday (I had to play the part myself), and died the following Saturday.—Yours faithfully,

WILFRED H. BENSON.

Palace Music Hall, Cardiff.
May 17, 1910.

BALLET AT THE COLISEUM.

On Whitsun Monday, May 16, the Ballet, with Plot, Adapted by Théophile Gautier from Heinrich Heine, Music by Adolphe Adam, entitled "GISELLA; OR, LA SYLPHIDE."

Gisella .....MLLE. TAMARA KARSAVINA
Queen of Sylphides .....MLLE. MARIA BALDINA
Count Albert .....M. THEODORE KOSLOFF
Hilarion .....M. ALEXIS KOSLOFF

We often hear that ballet d'action as an entertainment is out of fashion, and that modern audiences resent what has been called the tedium of a story told by the media of the pantomimic and choreographic arts. But Mr. Oswald Stoll has, as it were, taken his courage in both hands, and has made a feature in his Whitsuntide programme at the Coliseum of a ballet that dates back to the "forties"—Gisella, which was produced at the Grand Opéra, Paris, in 1841, with music by the then popular composer, Adolphe Adam, whose most successful opera was Le Postillon de Longjumeau. The work was seen at Her Majesty's Theatre, Haymarket, in March, 1842, with Carlotta Grisi and her husband, M. Perrot, in the title-rôle and that of Count Albert, Louise Fleury playing the Queen of the Sylphides. It is the romantic fate of Gisella, after her death through a love disappointment, to haunt the woodland glade as a sylphide.

She is doomed to wander or to dance in the light of the "inconstant moon" until she can be revenged on the traitor whose jealous machinations have robbed her of happiness as the accepted bride of Count Albert. The wicked Hilarion goes a-hunting, and meeting with the fays of the forest is forced by them to join in a mad dance during which he is enticed to the borders of the lake, and as the waters close over his head Gisella is revenged. The disconsolate lover, Count Albert, brings flowers to Gisella's grave. His passion glows anew when her apparition comes towards him. She would save him from the fate of mortals who witness the sports of the sylphides; but he cannot resist the fatal spell, and the lovers are reunited in the everlasting peace of death.

In Mlle. Tamara Karsavina, who plays Gisella, we have a dancer of rare accomplishments and considerable personal charm. She expresses with vividness the emotion of the distressed victim of love. Especially is this so in Gisella's final dance with Count Albert—a part most effectively played by M. Theodore Kosloff, who is responsible for the mise-en-scène. Mlle. Maria Baldina as the Queen of the Sylphides makes an entrée that is significant of airy lightness, and her sylphlike movements have much charm. M. Alexis Kosloff bears himself gracefully as Hilarion; and the six ladies who assist as sylphides are all solo dancers of acknowledged ability. In the divertissement that follows Mlle. Andersen specially distinguishes herself in "Songe d'Amour" by her languorous dreamy movements in a waltz movement by Meyer Helmund. She is ably supported by M. Tschoukoff. The spirited csárdás by Mlle. Damachona and M. Alexis Sousloff typifies the gaiety of the Magyar peasantry, being in direct contrast to the stately Russian dance in national costume, presented by Mlle. Baldina. Mlle. Tamara Karsavina's wonderful posings are the outstanding feature of her pas de deux with M. Kosloff, from the ballet Casse Noisette, by Tschaikowsky. The grotesque peasant dance "Trepak," and the concluding Indian dance, supply a welcome element of humour. The augmented orchestra plays the music con amore; and the haunted wood, in the light of the moon, is an enchanting nocturne in green.

Miss Cecilia Loftus is presenting a most accurate study of Miss Ethel Irving in Dame Nature. Those who have seen the famous actress in that remarkable play will at once recognise the portrait—certainly one of the most interesting in the gallery of this unapproachable mimic and cosmopolitan comedienne. Miss Gwennie Hasto, looking particularly dainty in a pretty frock, is responsible for a dashing dance in the early portion of the programme presented by Mr. Dundas Slater; the Merrills touch a welcome note of humour in their fine exhibition of trick cycle riding; and there is nothing more perfect in the way of animal impersonation than Mr. George Ali's bulldog, a really amusing quadruped with a wonderfully comic expression. Comedy of a quaint kind is well presented, too, by Goodfellow and Gregson; and Walker and Lake and Charles Vincent are also well received. Other turns include the Romano Trio. Mr. Louis La Rondelle conducts a fine orchestra.

"THE RAT."

An Episode of French Life, Performed for the First Time in the Provinces, at the Empire, Nottingham, on Monday, May 16.

Paul Valdor .....GASTON CHEVALLIER
"The Rat" .....MLLE. ETOILE LE NOIR

This is an admirably contrived episode of French life in the thieves' haunts of Paris, the various characters being portrayed in realistic manner, while the setting adds vividly to the story. An American tourist and his wife wish to be initiated into some of the mysteries of the Apaches' surroundings. They are offered the chance of accompanying an English detective, and, so great is their anxiety to go that they forget to leave behind them their valuables and jewellery. On their appearance in the cellar the Apaches scent sport and booty if only the detective can be got rid of. "The Rat" is hurriedly sent for, and, on her arrival she performs a dance with Paul Valdor. As the dance finishes the Apache lover of "The Rat" appears, and shoots Paul for daring to dance with her. In the turmoil which follows, the detective disappears in search of a gendarme, thus providing an opportunity for the band to appropriate the valuables of the Americans, whose troubles are not lessened by seeing the gendarme shot as he appears in the doorway.

It will be seen that the dance is the principal incident in the sketch, for which Mlle. Etoile Le Noir ("The Rat") and M. Gaston Chevallier (Paul Valdor) deserve the highest praise. Both show a highly artistic temperament, and their skilful and graceful performance received an enthusiastic demonstration of approval from a crowded house. The rest of the company acquitted themselves most creditably.

DICKENS AND DOVER.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—In your issue of the 14th inst. you mention that Mr. Bransby Williams was "terribly disappointed" on visiting Dover. The fact that the lady who was the original of Betsy Trotwood lived in Broadstairs (where the Dickens Fellowship unveiled a tablet in her honour in 1908) destroys the Dover interest in the famous "donkeys" episode. The animals were undoubtedly chased out of the lady's garden in Broadstairs, but the novelist transferred this incident to Dover in "David Copperfield."

Charles Dickens is still greatly admired in military circles in Dover, as on last Balaclava Day the commandant of the Duke of York's Royal Military School selected Dickens's own version of "A Christmas Carol" for my recital after "The Charge of the Light Brigade."

If Mr. Bransby Williams, who is our finest impersonator of Dickens characters, could spare a week to visit Dover professionally I feel sure he would find the civilian audiences are also ardent Dickensians.—Yours faithfully,

HELEN BRINCKMAN.

Lucan, May 16.

OWING to the death of the King, Messrs. Baring Brothers have postponed the opening of the New Pavilion, Rhyl, until the 22nd inst., when a memorial concert will be given.

MUSIC HALL HOME SHILLING FUND.

TOTAL COLLECTED 7365½ SHILLINGS.

£368 5s. 6d.

Collected by Woodhouse and Wells, 6s.

Jack Lane	1	G. H. Hall	1
W. Woodhouse	1	Beatrice English	1
G. H. W.	1	E. Wells	1

Collected by A. Burridge, 3s.

A. Burridge	1	Ward and Davis	1
Roze and Calvert	1

Collected by Frank Lynne, 12s.

Will Leslie	1	Auguste Van Biene	1
Siems	1	Florence Yaymen	1
Fred Leslie	1	Leslie Howard	1
William H. Beer	1	Frank Lynne	1
Geo. Rae	1	Harold Finden	1
Frank Lynne	1	Pat Rafferty	1

There are still a few cards not yet sent in. Will the collectors please forward them to

Mr. F. H. Pedgrift, hon. treasurer.

ALEXANDRA PALACE.

In recording events of the People's Palace at Muswell Hill we are justified at this moment in recalling the fact that it was in honour of the bereaved Queen Mother that the name was bestowed nearly half a century ago, when the Park was opened. There are those still living who recall the visit thirty-five years ago, just after a Whitsuntide festival, of his late lamented Majesty (then, of course, Prince of Wales), with his brother, the Duke of Connaught, and again on Oct. 30, 1888, when the Prince and Princess had an interesting conversation with Baldwin, the parachutist, after his last descent before going to the Antipodes.

The historic Palace and grounds had on Monday its full complement of patrons, well conducted and as orderly as could be desired, the usual gay attire giving place to materials of a more sombre hue. Plenty of amusements, outdoor and indoor, were provided, and the military bands were no small items in the general attractions. A newly-erected al fresco theatre, artistically furnished, well covered, and brilliantly illuminated, owned by Percy Honri's Concert Party, and under the able management of Mr. Richard Ralli, had large audiences for its continuous shows. The versatility of Mr. Charles Parker's Æolians was commendable, the quips and jokes being fresh and free from any taint of vulgarity. The six ladies and gentlemen provided an excellent répertoire. Miss Eileen Hope gave testimony of a well-trained voice in "To-night" and "Just idle dreams"; Miss Marie Beresford, in the chorus numbers, "Little girl from nowhere" and "Can't keep my eyes off the girls," bewitched "the bhoys" with pleasing renditions; a very agile and smart juvenile dancer, Miss Edna Mayne, "brought down the house," being equally meritorious in sand and clog dancing. The humorists, Messrs. Arthur Mertz and Walter Writtle, created roars of laughter in their varied impersonations. Mr. Charles Parker, pianist, singer, and interlocutor, was a host in himself. The funny sketches and duets of the company were highly effective.

Auguste Gaudron's right-away balloon ascent in the afternoon, Leno, the Boy Blondin on the high wire across the lake, the electric animated pictures in the theatre, with Dandie and Darnley's Coons in the Bijou Theatre, with fresh arrivals in the conservatory, monkey, and bird house, added to the attractive bill of fare. The usual variety entertainment in the great central hall had three shows, the artists including Smit and Smit (acrobatic knockabouts), the Two Eugeneos (comedy jugglers and equilibrists), the Whitworth Trio (trick cyclists), the Three Flying Winskills (lady and gentlemen gymnasts)—all good in their particular lines. The top of the bill was occupied by Carta and Mirtziama, whose feats of strength were marvellous. The Donnas Trio, termed the world's champion equilibrists and gymnasts on the trapeze, most attractively attired, earned hearty applause. The firework display by James Pain and Sons, the royal pyrotechnists, was of the usual merit, and the naval combat and other new electric devices were all brilliant specimens of the fire art.

Lichfield Greenhill Bower.

THE death of the late King led the committee of this famous Midland pageant to arrange for abandonment, but on receipt of the Lord Chamberlain's intimation as to the wishes of his present Majesty, the festival was renewed, and, in the circumstances, was carried though with great success. The weather on Monday was beautifully fine, and the attendance of the general public proved to be well up to the average. The distinctive feature of the Bower is the Middle Age procession of men in armour illustrating the Court of Array which has been maintained in Lichfield time out of mind. The management had placed drummers beating muffled drums between the sections of the pageant, the effect produced being weird and impressive. The seasons staged in tableaux were dealt with in very artistic fashion, that of Spring—in which a maiden driving doves was bursting from the shell of Winter—being an excellently designed conception. After the extraordinary experiences of the city in the visits of M. Paulhan and Mr. Grahame White, it followed that a Farman aeroplane was rightly included in the moving show. The model was an exact replica to scale of Mr. Grahame White's machine, which had been cleverly and correctly built by Mr. Frank Foster. Other sections of the procession included a trades' procession, a civic procession, and many other items of local interest. The Mayor (Mr. Councillor Godfrey R. Benson, brother of Mr. F. R. Benson), Sheriff Winterton, the Town Clerk, and many city dignitaries, formed part of the cavalcade which occupied more than an hour in its progress through the crowded streets to the Bower House, where the customary proceedings took place, in the course of which "God Save the King" was heartily sung by the assembled guests. The success of the festival was largely due to the energy of Councillor W. A. Wood, the chairman of the committee. It is worthy of note that Lichfield contains, in its beautiful little park, a magnificent life-size statue of King Edward VII., the gift of Sheriff Robert Bridgeman, and which had been draped in purple by the Mayor, Mr. G. R. Benson. Throughout the day the host of visitors paid silent tribute to the memory of the monarch whose loss had cast a spell of gloom on the proceedings of the day. The streets, including the market place and Greenhill, were thronged with exhibitions, stalls, and attractions of every conceivable description, the lessee for the Bower being Mr. Pat Collins.

DUDLEY CASTLE FETES opened on Whit-Monday in fine weather. Maud and Majorie gave a fine exposition of step-dancing; the Paul Kramer Troupe astounded the audience in feats of strength; and the Adras gave a fine equilibristic act. Billy Ross and company vastly amused the audience; and Ted Karno and company created roars of laughter in The Hotel de Quick.

THE SHOWMAN WORLD

The Showmen's Memorial Service for the Late King.

By the time The Era is in the hands of our readers, the Memorial Service for the late King, held by the showmen themselves, will be like all the other Memorial services throughout the Empire, a past event.

For two weeks the nation has been passing through a time of unexampled sorrow. We very much doubt if the late King's revered mother herself so deeply stirred the popular imagination and the popular sentiment as King Edward VII. There seemed to be about his strong personality a charm and attractiveness that brought him into closer touch with all classes of the community.

Very largely his genial comradeship with all sorts and conditions of men made him at all times and in all places not only the ideal ruler but a most popular character. This comradeship with his people was much appreciated by the travelling showpeople. It seemed to give him that personal touch with show-life that made him the ideal King as well as friend of all sections of his people.

The Showmen's Guild, recognising the depth of feeling and the reality of reverent admiration for King Edward's character amongst showmen, thought it was only right and proper to express the showmen's grief and fellowship in the national loss by a special Memorial Service.

This it was determined should be held at one of England's greatest fairs, and in the show pavilion of the president of the Guild, Patrick Collins (admittedly the greatest showman now on the road), on the fairground at Birmingham.

The Rev. T. Horne, Chaplain to the Guild, was responsible for the whole of the service, and it was carried out in full conformity with the officially appointed ceremony that marked the Memorial Services throughout the country. A full account of the service will be given in our next issue.

The Showmen's "In Memoriam" Wreath.

Designed and made by Gerard, the Court florist, of Regent-street, London, it was in the form of a cross of laurel leaves, adorned with lovely orchids and arum lilies, and bore the following inscription:—

"From the showmen of the Empire, with all love and reverence for their dear friend and patron, King Edward VII.

P. Collins, president.
T. Horne, chaplain.
T. Hurst, hon. secretary.

"The Showmen's Guild of Great Britain,
5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C."

Fairs Ahead.

The fairs ahead till the end of the month are Pool, on the Great Western; Southwold, on the Great Eastern; Fiskerton, on the Midland; Hayle, on the Great Western; Holmfirth, on the Lancashire and Yorkshire; Kirkby Stephen, on the North-Eastern and Midland; Craven Arms, on the London and North-Western and Great Western; Alston (Cumb.), on the North Eastern; Briston, on the Midland and Great Northern; Chepstow, on the Great Western and London and South Western; Ely, on the Great Eastern; Penzance, on the Great Western; Astwood Feast; Shipton, on the Midland and Lancashire and Yorkshire; Thorpe, on the London and South Western; Crowle, on the Great Central; Messingham, on the Great Central; Ossett Feast, on the Great Northern; Burntisland, on the North British; Langholm, on the North British; Berwick-on-Tweed, on the North British; Stirling, on the Caledonian and North British; Airdrie, on the North British and Caledonian; and Porth, on the Taff Vale railways.

Blackheath Whitsun Revels.

The usual array of high-class amusements was seen in full swing for the delight of the attendant crowds on the breezy expanse of Blackheath. Shows, roundabouts, shooters, swings, stalls, and throwing-games were provided by Wilson, Clasper, Knighton, Gilbey, Andrews, Smith, and many other well-known caterers.

Wormwood Scrubs Whitsun Fair.

This popular holiday resort of the people had for its entertainers Messrs. Beach, Smith and Warren, Bedford, Wilson, Hastings and Whyman, Bond, Manning and Sons, Pickard Brothers, and over one hundred stall-holders and variety-frame providers.

Wanstead Flats Fair.

Messrs. H. Thurston and Sons, with their famous aggregation of shows, roundabouts, &c., were the principal providers of popular amusements at this great East London fair. H. Taylor's cinema palace de luxe, Alf. Ball and Sons New Lyceum, Forrest Brothers' Japanese airship, were amongst the other attractions of the fair. There were the usual novelty stalls, swings, coker shies, houp-la circles, and throwing-games by a crowd of expert caterers.

The Holiday Fair at Hampstead Heath.

There was hardly any diminution in the Bank Holiday crowd at "Happy Hampstead." It was a glorious day, the sun shining brightly, and everyone appeared to be enjoying the delights of the fair under the splendid weather conditions that prevailed.

The numerous shows, roundabouts, and swings afforded their patrons great enjoyment. The coker shies, variety games, and the ever-popular houp-la were well patronised. Amongst the principal caterers were Harry Cox, W. Wilson, S. Mayne, C. Taylor, H. Ayres, the Molesworth family, Forrest Brothers, W. Bibby, A. Cooper, J. Brett, T. Crisp, King Brothers, and T. Brindley.

Leek May Fair.

This Staffordshire pleasure fair was held on Wednesday, May 18, and was as attractive as ever. Crowds of people came in from the country districts, the fair-ground being packed with pleasure-seekers. Amongst the amusement caterers were President Kemp, with his cinematograph theatre, which was well patronised, Holland's electric motor-cars, &c. There was also park swings, houp-la circles, shooting ranges, galloping horses, gondola switchback, throwing games, and other fair varieties. Also a large number of traders with toys, stalls, and confectionery. A special feature of the attractions was a matinée given by Miss Grace Warner and company in The Scarlet Clue at the Grand Theatre.

Sympathy with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hutchins, of Neath.

The sympathy of all our Welsh showman readers will go out to their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Hutchins, of Neath. Their darling baby girl, Winnie, has been called to God's sweet paradise after only fifteen months of earthly life. Mr. Harry H. Hutchins is our esteemed local correspondent at Neath, and hon. agent for the Showmen's Guild in Wales.

Guild Subscription, 1910.

Per Mr. Shuttleworth: Mr. W. Helm, 5s.

Showmen's Letter-box.

Letters await Messrs. J. W. Chipperfield, W. Biddall, and A. Purchase at The Era Office.

THE SHOWMEN'S GUILD AT REDRUTH FAIR.

For the third year in succession, for the benefit of the West of England showpeople, a Guild meeting has been held at Redruth on the fair Sunday. It is an unfortunate circumstance that the fair is divided, one part being held in the town and the other on the outskirts of the old town.

The meeting took place in Hancock's Picture Palace, and there was only a moderate attendance, amongst those present being Messrs. William and Charles Hancock, Miss Hancock, Mr., Mrs., and the Misses Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Alf. Wright, Mr. J. Hasting, Messrs. Egerton and C. Bruno, Mr. and Mrs. Locke, Mr. Oxley, Mr. T. Rowlands, Mr. J. Russett, Mr. Jones, Mrs. Oldgridge, Mrs. Locke, Mr. W. Barlow, Miss Knebone, and others.

The Guild chaplain delivered an address on the work of the Showmen's Guild. He particularly dwelt upon the importance to every showman, no matter in what part of the country he worked, of maintaining the efficiency of the Guild in Parliamentary trade defence work. He detailed the history of the Movable Dwellings Bill, and impressed upon the meeting the consequences that would follow if such legislation were allowed to pass into law.

It was no exaggeration to state that their business and enterprise (one of the oldest and most honourable in the kingdom) would be driven out of existence by repressive laws. He pointed out that the family life of the showman would, if the Bill became law, be subject to the most inquisitorial control by local authorities, and that the whole of the fairs of the United Kingdom would also be in peril. The Movable Dwellings Bill not only attempted to deal with the home life of travelling showpeople, but it also provided additional powers that corporations and public bodies could use at their own sweet will and motion to suppress the fairs and the open-air amusements of the people.

The Importance of Combination.

It was sometimes said by those who took a narrow view of their responsibilities that the work of the Showmen's Guild was almost entirely a trade defence work for the Midlands and for the great northern counties. The West of England showmen, the Welsh showmen, and the Scotch showmen had little or nothing to gain, so these short-sighted critics of the Guild thought, by subscribing to the defence work of their trade society.

It needed but little consideration to see the fallacy of this idea. Every fair lost, no matter in what part of the country, meant the crowding on to the other remaining fairs of the showpeople who had lost their former circuit of fairs. If they put the matter upon no higher ground than preventing the crowding of their fairs in the West by showpeople driven out of other parts of the country by the closing down of fairs, that was surely a danger to be by all means averted.

But there were other reasons, and the most important to his mind was that whenever a fair was lost it was a direct encouragement to local authorities, not favourable to the continuance of fairs, to attempt the abolition of the people's fairs, and so to increase the evil that their Guild was formed to prevent. He instanced the encouraging fact that the defence of Mitcham Fair had been a bulwark of safety to other fairs threatened with extinction; that, as recently as Christmas last, three Greater London fairs had been saved by the work of the Guild. He was confident that the strong line of defence taken by the society with regard to Mitcham Fair had been of immense value in saving the threatened fairs of Hounslow, Isleworth, and Heston Green.

Parliamentary Defence Work.

Last year the Guild had won a signal victory by the defeat of the penal clauses in the Oldham Corporation Act. If those clauses had remained in the Act the Corporation of Oldham would have had power to prevent the growth of fairs within the borough, and to prohibit entirely private business within the borough boundaries.

If the Oldham Corporation had secured these powers, other corporations would have sought them, and it required very little consideration to see what a tremendous injury would have been inflicted upon the show business. In further reference to Parliamentary work, the Guild chaplain dealt with its expensive nature and its highly technical character. He explained to the meeting that it required an expert staff, including Parliamentary agent, solicitor, and counsel; that there were big fees to pay at every stage of Parliamentary defence work. He assured them that the greater part of the money subscribed was devoted to this extremely important and necessary work.

The record of the present sessions of Parliament was one of gratifying success as regards the work of the Guild. When the sessions of Parliament opened there were only two Parliamentary Bills attempting restrictive legislation against the show business. The most important of the two was the one promoted by the Handsworth Corporation.

They would understand the importance of that Bill when he told them that Handsworth wanted a Movable Dwellings Bill of its own, and they wanted the same powers that Oldham had been refused, to limit and to control fairs within their boundary. The society had been put to the trouble and expense of opposing the Handsworth Bill up to the very moment of its coming before Parliament.

He was glad, however, to say that the Handsworth Corporation repented at the last moment, and dropped out of their Bill the objectionable clauses that would have injured the show business. The other Bill they contested was also successfully dealt with. He asked the meeting to imagine the serious consequences that would have followed if the sixty or seventy corporations that had attempted to get restrictive legislation during the past ten years had been successful in their endeavour. More than half the fairs in the country would have been suppressed. Their liberty of life would have been curtailed, and restrictions of the most oppressive character would have been heaped upon the travelling showpeople.

The Chaplain's Reason for Visiting the Fairs.

In concluding his address, the chaplain, in earnest terms, desired to correct a wrong impression with regard to his visitation of the British fairs. He was afraid that there was an impression abroad that if the showman came to a Guild meeting he was under obligation to pay a subscription. He wanted to correct that false impression. Money was needed, but, in order to gain the showman's intelligent interest and support, he came to the fairs and he held meetings. His first and his greatest ambition, he assured his showmen friends, was to meet every showman, every amusement caterer at the fairs he visited, and to tell them the latest news of the work and influence of the Guild. For a great number of the people on the fair-ground to keep away because they felt unable to subscribe was a most regrettable mistake.

He was well aware that the show season from Easter up to Whitsuntide had been a poor one from the business point of view. This had been largely on account of bad weather, and during the last ten days the gloom of the national mourning for their beloved King had also affected their business.

But these were, however unfortunate, but transient causes. It was to him a matter of the gravest concern that anyone should keep away from the Guild meetings on account of inability to pay their usual subscription. He was confident that times would mend, and that later in the season all their members would be able to renew their subscriptions.

In vigorous and impressive language he urged all those present to support the Guild as the best means of uplifting as well as defending the show business from repressive legislation, and to secure the maintenance of the popular open-air amusements of the people.

Guild Subscriptions, 1910.

Messrs. Anderton and Rowland, £5 5s.; Messrs. W. C. and S. Hancock, £2 2s.; Mr. T. Rowland, 10s.; Mr. J. Russett, 5s.; Mrs. Locke, 5s.; Mr. A. Wright, 2s. 6d.; Mr. W. Barlow, 2s.

Guild Service in the Evening.

The Guild chaplain had quite a busy time at the Redruth churches. He was the special preacher at the Parish Church at Matins, and assisted at the early celebration at the Chapel-of-Ease. After Evensong at St. Andrew's Church the usual Guild Service was held in Hancock's Picture Pavilion. There was a large attendance of show people and their friends.

The singing of the hymns was very hearty, and the simple order of the Guild Service was reverently followed by the congregation. The Guild chaplain preached on the lessons of Whit Sunday, making a special reference to the death of King Edward VII. and the national expression of sorrow and sympathy with the Queen-Mother and the Royal family.

Whitsuntide at Pontypool.

Amongst the principal attractions of the fête at the New Park, Pontypool, was the Old English Fair, supplied by Edward Danter, a Newport caterer. The fair consisted of Danter's cinematograph show, Danter's roundabouts, throwing-games, and the usual attendant attractions of a well-ordered fair.

The variety and equestrian attractions included the Dayton troupe of acrobats, in their celebrated Risley performance; Herr Ponchery and La Belle Rose, the monarchs of the high wire; the Hodginis, the Ladderites, the Etenas, the Three Milfords, and the Three Zaracs, in their speciality acts and circus turns. The George French troupe, comedy and trick cyclists; the Snow Family, expert skaters; Latone and the Maid, acrobatic comedians; and Professor Bailey, with his world-famous Punch and Judy show.

The band of the 2nd Monmouth Regiment and the Aberdare Prize Band. The firework display was provided by Messrs. W. J. Wilder, of Birmingham.

New Brighton Tower.

This lovely resort on the banks of the River Mersey opened for the season last Saturday. Great crowds of people thronged the grounds during the day, and the many new side shows and novelties, some of which have been recently imported from the Continent, were a source of great admiration.

On Monday it was computed that over 50,000 people had passed through the turnstiles, and as a large number of "Tower Trips" are being run from all parts of the country, there is every appearance of New Brighton Tower having a record Whit week. To-day (Saturday), commencing at 2.30 p.m., the twelfth annual brass band contest will take place. Prizes to the value of £155 are offered, and will be competed for by sixteen of the champion bands of the North. Additional interest is lent to the contest this year by reason of Irwell Springs having won the cup twice in succession. Should they come out on top to-day the trophy will become their absolute property.

Redruth Fair.

The ancient Whitsuntide fair of the quaint town of Redruth, in Cornwall, was somewhat spoiled on the first day by bad weather. The principal day of the fair—Whitsun Monday—however, was blessed with gloriously fine weather. Great crowds of visitors from the adjoining mining districts poured into the town, both by train and road.

The narrow and crooked streets of the old town were crammed with happy crowds of pleasure-seekers, and both the fairgrounds were crowded by the multitude on pleasure bent.

A great additional attraction was the visit of Sir Robert Fossett's circus, which drew crowded and delighted audiences at both the afternoon and evening performances.

The large fairground locally known as Moore's Fair Field, was well set out with fairground attractions, under the banner of the Cornish and West of England caterers, Messrs. W. C. and S. Hancock. Their attractive concerns consisted of bioscope palace, with up-to-date living pictures and variety turns, the fine set of racing motor-cars, the composite set of galloping horses, flying pigs, and Teddy bears, houp-la circles, and other novelties.

The other shows were John Jones's variety theatre and picturedrome, J. Hasting's two ground booths, the musical midgets and the giant lady, Chapman's trained birds and conjuring, Lawrence's marionette theatre, Alf. Wright's school of boxers, Glanfield's fistiana saloon, and two or three peep-shows and novelty booths.

The shooting saloons, Winchester ranges, and bottle batteries were provided by Jones Brothers, Oldridge, Lock, Rowland, and other caterers. Houp-la circles, watch-la stalls, throwing-games, and ring-boards by various caterers, amongst whom were T. Rowlands, Jones Brothers, J. Russett, Chapman, Oldridge, Lock, and Barlow.

There were also numerous toy and gingerbread stalls by local and travelling caterers.

The Shows, &c., in the Centre of the Town.

The very limited space provided by the Corporation for the annual fair was fully occupied by the concerns of Messrs. Arderton and Rowland and Mr. J. Brewer. Anderton and Rowland's picture palace was the chief attraction on this fairground, and the same firm exhibited their fine set of switchback gondolas and a houp-la circle.

Mr. J. Brewer provided a splendid set of racing horses, Teddy bears, and other quadrupeds, and a first-class houp-la circle. It will be seen that Redruth Fair has for its entertainment the very best concerns on the Western circuit.

The next fair on the circuit is Truro, which will be attended by the greater part of the concerns from Redruth.

Walsall Whitsun Fair.

The chief attractions at this Midland circuit town were Collins' Royal English Circus, Collins' No. 1 Wonderland show, Collins' racing birds and Teddy bears, Hutin's temple of esoteric mystery, Cullis's boxers, Haye's big boat and highfliers, Delaney's swings, penalty football frame by Cooper, houp-las, throwing-games, and stalls by Humphries, Wood, Jones, Chaplain, Delaney, Hampton, Warwick, and Butler; shooting ranges and batteries by Harris and Humphries; juvenile roundabouts by Montgomery; and toy bazaars and stalls by numerous caterers.

Blyth.

Swallow's Circus paid a visit to Blyth on Tuesday, the two performances being well patronised. Bostock and Wombwell's menagerie paid a successful visit on Wednesday.

White City, Old Trafford.

This week the lovely weather is causing this beautiful amusement park to be crowded, and although there is general mourning for his late Majesty, the Manchester people will have their Whit-week pleasure. They do both work and play with all their might, especially Whit week.

FILM GOSSIP.

Warwick Films of King Edward's Life.

The Warwick Trading Company is issuing a film which comprises a series of pictures of the public functions attended by King Edward, containing close views of his Majesty at various ceremonies and forming a series of exceptional interest to every citizen of the Empire.

Finding the Comet.

Messrs. Cricks and Martin have issued a very funny topical film, entitled How Scroggins Found the Comet. A crusty old gentleman named Scroggins has so much told him about this astronomical body, that he is determined he shall see it for himself. He purchases a large telescope, and in carrying it home succeeds in smashing some very valuable china. The telescope is put up, and the old man begins watching, but soon getting tired, he instructs his page boy to keep his eye glued to the glass and report as soon as anything takes place. The boy does not do much star-gazing, instead searching the horizon for other things. Several interesting views are disclosed of the interior of houses, where a lady is using a powder puff freely, and another man is kissing the maid in the absence of his wife. Some small boys next happen to let off some fireworks in the street, and the boy at the telescope, seeing a rocket sailing in the air thinks it must be the world-famed comet. Scroggins and family are hastily summoned, and the next rocket finds its way through the window into the room with disastrous results.

"Horseshoe for Luck!"

A Cines film to be released next week deals with the "legend of the horseshoe." In this clearly told and well-acted film one obtains a good impression of the origin of the supposition that the horseshoe brings luck. At first trouble follows in the wake of a diabolical "Old Nick"; everything he goes near is broken, moved, changed about, or in some other way altered. But his Satanic Majesty's time comes at last, for outside a shoeing forge he consents to be shod with a real horseshoe, but the process pains him so much that he wants it to be stopped. This the blacksmith is unwilling to do unless the Evil One will consent to make a horseshoe a lucky omen. In the concluding scenes we see what a wonderful power is possessed by horseshoes ever after this. All Satan's efforts to create trouble fail because of their protecting influence.

"Faust" on the Bioscope.

On July 2 the Cines Company will release a masterpiece in Faust. This subject lends itself especially to film production, and this company, whose historical portrayals are always a source of delight, has made special efforts to surpass its own records.

A Pathetic Little Story.

The Emigrant is a Lux film that all should get. Arthur Dale, a young engineer, is happily married and in comfortable circumstances, but through slackness of work is dismissed from his post. For months he tries his hardest to obtain a situation, and at last the home is sold up, and Dale, grasping what he thinks is his last chance, decides to emigrate. His wife now has to support herself and child by sewing, and the constant and trying work tells on her, until one day she realises that she is blind. At the hospital she is told she will never be able to work again. Meanwhile, Dale has been hard at work in the mines in Australia, and is highly successful. He returns home to find his wife and child have gone. A little girl passes by, stares at the bronzed man, and recognises her daddy.

An Educational Pathé.

Pathé's are issuing a most interesting film with the title Fishing in the South Sea Islands. We are shown the native methods of catching fish in the South Seas. The trammel nets are cast, and are laden with fish when brought up, and many weird specimens are fished out. The boats used are curious-looking objects, roughly hewn out of gigantic tree trunks, but the natives can manage them with skill and ease. The film is nicely tinted, and remarkably clear.

Mr. Urban and the Royal Funeral.

Mr. Charles Urban has made the most complete arrangements for presenting at the Palace Theatre in due course scenes of the funeral of King Edward the Seventh.

The Last Sad Record.

Cinematograph operators were noticed to be stationed on the balconies of the Horse Guards, on a temporary platform facing the Duke of York Steps, and on the roofs of buildings in the neighbourhood of Parliament-square, taking pictures of the removal of the remains of King Edward to Westminster.

King Edward's Funeral and the Poor.

With reference to the payment of wages to employees on the day of the funeral of the late King Edward, Mr. Alfred Benson, secretary, Palais de Luxe Cinema Co., Ltd., Great Windmill-street, London, W., writes to say that it would be very hard that the employees should lose their day's wages, and he therefore suggests that other cinematograph theatres should follow the example set by his company and pay the full wages to their employees.

Universal Picture Theatres.

At the statutory meeting of the Universal Picture Theatres, Ltd., held last Wednesday at 20, Bedford-street, Strand, W.C., the Chairman stated that the company had secured the finest site in Hackney for a sum of £4,650. A property at Chiswick had also been purchased outright, the full amount of the purchase money being £1,200, and the building should be open to the public in about eight weeks. Praed-street, the directors considered, would prove to be the most lucrative of the three theatres under construction. The theatre should be opened and revenue returning within three weeks. A contract has been entered into with the London Cinematograph Company, whereby the company is assured of an excellent service of films on preferential terms.

Forest Gate Picture Palace.

A magnificent electric theatre was opened in Woodgrange-road, Forest Gate, E., by the London and Provincial Electric Theatres, Ltd., on Saturday last. Mr. W. Reynolds-Benjamin is manager and chief of staff to the proprietors. The theatre is most sumptuously decorated and upholstered, the prevailing colours being white, gold, and green. The entrance is wide and beautifully designed, and leads into an exquisite lounge-corridor, 90ft. long. The interior of the theatre has accommodation for over seven hundred people, the seats being tip-up ones. There are four sliding roofs. The operating room is under the management of Mr. Geo. Kendall, and the assistant-managership is in the capable hands of Mr. Alf. Norton. Another feature is an excellent orchestra, under the direction of Mme. Wiedland.

Kensington Picture Palace.

The Kensington Picture Theatre programme this week has included The Little Chantecler (Gaumont), Won by a Hold Up (Essanay), Lysistrata (Gaumont), Duck Farming (Tyler), The Adventurers of the Golden Valley (Pathé), A Race for a Bride (Creeks and Martin), Proclamation of King George, and Procession for the Lying-in-State.

At Kilburn.

Mr. G. W. Grant's Biograph Theatre at Kilburn is doing remarkably well. The hall is prettily decorated in brown and gold and is very cosy. The management is in the hands of Mrs. McCullah, who succeeded Mr. H. N. Appleby. The machine used is one of the Charles Urban Trading Company's projectors.

Colour Pictures at the Palace.

Life in the Desert of Sahara is the latest kinemacolour subject to be presented in animation and the actual tints of Nature to Palace Theatre audiences. The spectator sees camel caravans crossing the great desert, tourists in the Garden of Allah, negro and Bedouin musicians, a negro bride being taken from her native village, and the Kaid and his caravaneers.

New Hall for Ashington.

The Pavilion Palace, Ashington (proprietors, Messrs. McGraw and Wealleans, and Manager, Mr. Joe Curry), opened its doors to the public on Thursday, the 12th inst. The hall, which has a seating capacity of 1,400, has been built on the latest principles, and is most tastefully decorated and very comfortable. The machine is the latest pattern motor-driven Gaumont. The bill of fare is certainly all that can be desired, and a large and representative audience visited the place on the opening night. The proceeds of the two houses on the opening night, amounting to £30, were presented by the proprietors to local charities.

Edinburgh's New Picture Hall.

The Provincial Cinematograph Theatres, Ltd., will shortly open a picture theatre in Prince's-street, Edinburgh, on premises which have been lately known as the Kardomah Café. The proposed theatre is to seat about 500.

Moving Pictures in Colours in Glasgow.

Ever since the cinematograph with its moving pictures was first displayed to a wondering and delighted public it has retained its popularity. Nowadays moving pictures are so perfect that it would hardly seem possible to improve upon them. And yet in Glasgow last week there began in the Electric Theatre, Charing Cross, an exhibition of Kinemacolor. The world's events are produced in their natural tints, colours, and movements. The Electric Theatre, which is being run by the West of Scotland Electric Theatres, Ltd., is magnificently fitted and upholstered throughout, and is the first of its kind in Scotland.

New Hastings Picture Palace.

The Pelham Hall Electric Theatre, Marine-parade, Hastings, was opened last week to big business. The hall accommodates 200 in tip-ups, the floor is covered with inlaid lino, and the colour scheme is dark red. A first-rate programme was supplied by the Cinematograph Film Hiring Company, Ltd.

The Walturdaw Animated Picture Company opened the Victoria Theatre, Kettering, of which the managers are Messrs. Alf. Bailey and Co., on Monday for a season. Films are sandwiched between pleasing turns by the Sisters Wayland, and a clever trapeze performance by the Four Flying Orcniuses.

Mr. Leon Vint's Newest Hall.

The Theatre Royal at Loughborough has been converted into an electric picture palace, and Mr. Leon Vint is to be congratulated on a successful opening this week. Two performances are being given nightly, and on Monday the house was packed at each, and the attendances give promise of being well maintained. Some capital pictures were shown, including dramatic, classical, and comic subjects. The Procession of King Edward VII.'s Funeral from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Hall was reproduced. By way of variety Miss Clara Coverdale's Nine Dainty Dots, a clever troupe of juvenile singers and dancers, gave an excellent turn.

Patent Theatre as Picture Hall.

The old Theatre Royal, Newcastle-under-Lyme (one of the last of the old patent theatres), was re-opened on Saturday evening last, after being closed for some years. The house has been practically reconstructed for the London Cinematograph Co., Ltd., and from outward appearances is quite an ornament to the town with its white plaster and illuminated front. The interior is decorated in a charming blend of colours, and fitted throughout with tip-up seats, &c. A continuous performance was installed on Saturday, running from 3 p.m. to 10.30 p.m., and with change of pictures twice weekly should prove a popular resort.

Southport's Latest Attraction.

Last week the new Picturedrome in Lord-street, Southport, was opened. The Picturedrome, which it is estimated will accommodate about 700 people, is situated on the south side of Lord-street, between Market-street and Portland-street. Its exterior appearance is attractive, and is improved by the laying out of the frontage in an artistic and ornamental manner by the Southport Corporation. A more cosy, comfortable place could not well be imagined. The company is financed by Manchester gentlemen who are interested in other places of a similar character, and the Picturedrome will be under the management of the famous cinematograph firm, Weisker Brothers.

Spennymoor's "Arcadia."

Another picture hall of some importance is being constructed by Mr. Fred Gowland, of Spennymoor and Darlington, who is converting part of his large arcade situated in Tudhoe Grange into a house of entertainment, and to provide the best possible pictures outside of London. The alterations are now well advanced, and will be ready shortly. Accommodation is being provided for about one thousand people. The building will be known as the Arcadia. Mr. Robert Fenny, of Spennymoor has been appointed manager.

Morley.

Messrs. John Sanger and Sons' renowned circus visited here last week, and was largely patronised. There was a very fine mid-day procession.

"When I was unknown," says Signor Caruso to the Paris correspondent of the Mail, "I sang like a singing bird, careless, without thought of nerves. But now my reputation is made, my audiences are more exacting. Here I am to-day bending beneath the weight of a renown which cannot increase, but which the least vocal mishap may compromise. My audiences, well disposed towards me as they are, have to pay such high prices to hear me that they imagine I am a unique singer, and I appear before them stared at and envied. Imagine my state of mind when the curtain rises, for the human voice has its weaknesses. Like everyone, I have my cares and troubles, and climate and temperature affect me, but the public never thinks of that, demanding an artist as perfect as they imagine me to be. That is why often I am the unhappiest of men. I compare myself to a great Parliamentary speaker before an important interpellation. When the moment arrives he may be sad, weary, ailing, and he longs for repose, but his friends await him, his enemies rally round. His interest bids him speak. A tenor is much worse off, for he, alas! is compelled to sing."

The Assembly Rooms, Bognor, will be sold by auction by Messrs. Wyatt and Son, by order of the mortgagees, on the premises, on Tuesday, the 31st inst. The halls and rooms are well and conveniently arranged, and are suitable for theatrical performances, concerts, and other purposes.

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS.

(Continued from page 10.)

SCARBOROUGH.—LONDESBOROUGH THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Waddington and Sons; Manager, Mr. J. T. Carpenter.—The Best People is the attraction here. Mr. H. Elliott-Ball makes an excellent Lord Emsworth; Mr. Pennington-Gush is successful as the Hon. Gerald Bayle; Lord Wynlea is well represented by Mr. Arthur Dennis; Miss Roberta Pulleyne is notably good as the Hon. Mrs. Bayle; and Miss Irene Lavington does well as Lady Emsworth. The comedy is preceded by Cinders.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. L. Garside; Manager, Mr. F. P. Morgan.—A good company, under the direction of Mr. Henry Smith, opened here on Monday with Pete, with Mr. Austin Milroy in the title-rôle and Miss J. Malcolm Barnett as Kate Cregeen.

THE AQUARIUM.—Secretary and Manager, Mr. W. Kitchingman; Assistant-Manager, Mr. H. Bench.—The variety programme here includes Miss Frederica's dogs and pony; William and Warden, comedians; Paul Corrie, equilibrist; Annie Lang, comedienne and dancer; Felix and Fisher, gymnasts; Doc Thomas, ventriloquist; Alf Bentley, whistler and mimic; Mather and Mayne, comedy entertainers; and Fox and Melville, song illustrators. Other attractions are Miss Bessie Jones and troupe of lady swimmers, the Harmonic Entertainers, and the Skating Rink.

THE NEW HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Peacock.—Alice in Wonderland is being well played by a very capable company, including Miss Ivy Sawyer as Alice, Mr. Tom Graves as the Mock Turtle, Mr. Franklyn Vernon as the Mad Hatter, and Mr. Dan Leno, jun., as the Caterpillar and the Red King.

THE SPA.—Proprietors, Cliff Bridge Co.; Manager, Mr. H. Chambers.—Included in this week's programme are Mr. Tom Child, Miss Elsie Davis (vocalists), the Comrades Choir, and the Baroness Von Eckardstein's Private Band (conductor, Mr. C. Hallam). The usual Whit Monday gala and firework display was abandoned, owing to the death of the King. An additional attraction on the Spa is the Electric Theatre, where excellent picture displays are given.

SEACOMBE.—KING'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Kiernan.—Mr. C. Watson Mill's Company is here with A Wrecker of Men. Mr. Arthur S. Pitt distinguishes himself by some clever work as Jim Murley, and Mr. William Heilbronn gives satisfaction as Pharosaphus. Guise Strange is ably handled by Mr. Arthur Robinson; Mr. William A. Armour scoring as the Hon. Reggie Verincourt; Mr. Thomas Carruthers, as Eric Melville; Miss Gwendoline Talbot, as Doris Melville; and Miss Mabel Edwards, as Marion Isaacs, are satisfactory in their respective parts, and Miss Lydia Hart supplies excellent comic relief as Vavasole Slopper. The fine appearance of Miss Ruth Zillwood fits her eminently for her rôle of Risca Mallinson, which she dresses and plays to perfection.

SHEFFIELD. — LYCEUM THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont.—The Private Secretary, well played by Mr. Eugene C. Stafford's company, has again proved a popular holiday attraction, and Mr. William Hargreaves, who has made this rôle of old Cattermole practically his own, on Monday caused roars of laughter by his quaint and unctuous drolleries as the quick-tempered John Bull-like uncle; Mr. Fred Tyrrell repeated his clever and funny impersonation of the dapper tailor, Mr. Gibson; and Mr. Geoffrey Guise played the amusing character of the mild curate on familiar lines; Mrs. Alfred Davis was first-rate as Miss Ashford; and Miss Elsie Blythe as Eva Webster and Miss Aimee Clyndes as Edith Marsland were pretty and agreeable young ladies. The curtain-raiser was The Wild Man from Borneo.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont; Assistant-Manager, Mr. A. Henfrey-Aldred.—Much interest has been caused this week by the reappearance (after an interval of over twenty years) on the local stage of Mr. J. Pitt Hardacre, and there was a crowded house on Whit Monday, when the veteran actor-manager submitted his vigorous and thrilling impersonation of Coupeau in an original version of Zola's "L'Assommoir," entitled Easily Led. This drama was realistically put on the stage, and the telling speeches and strong situations were loudly applauded, Mr. Pitt-Hardacre being frequently recalled.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE. — Managing-Director, Mr. W. D. Forsdike; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. W. Ramsay.—The Old Home, an interesting play full of domestic interest, was acted to a delighted audience on Monday, the leading character of Daddy Dean being finely represented by Mr. Charles Franmore. The erring daughter Hazel was portrayed with emotional ability by Miss Violet Ingram; and all the other characters were carefully played. The piece was mounted in a picturesque manner.

EMPIRE PALACE.—The Moss' Empires Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Alan D. Dunbar.—Mr. Mark Sheridan is again starring here, and his apropos remarks on things in general are full of racy humour. Others engaged for the holiday bill of fare are Miss Anna Chandler, a talented artist; Miss Dot Stephens, the favourite musical comedy vocalist; Falco and Elda, in a novel act; Wal Langtry, Miss Maudie Francis, the Bros. Redmond, the celebrated Rauschle, Selkirk's Boy Scouts, the Courtiers (vocal entertainers), and the Bioscope with up-to-date pictures.

THE HIPPODROME.—The Thos. Barrasford Co., Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. Frank Poole.—The Six Bros. Luck, in their screaming comic ballet The Demon of the Cellar; the Great Richards Trio, novelty artists; Mr. Phil Herman, Tyrolean impersonator; Curwen and Belle; Mr. Harry Nelson, a smart entertainer; Simms and Simms, two clever and original performers; Miss Addie Lennard, the Scottish meistersingers; the Bioscope pictures of the day; and the clever sketch The Last of the Desmonds are all in high favour with the Hippodrome clientèle.

SHREWSBURY.—THEATRE ROYAL AND HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Director, Mr. W. Yates Gregory; General-Manager, Mr. Thos. Baugh.—There is an attractive variety bill of fare here this week, and holiday crowds have thoroughly enjoyed the shows. The Hawicks and Havicks are a clever and versatile troupe of acrobats, pipers, and dancers; the Velvees give an entertaining performance, aided by their finely-trained pony; the Czar's Royal troupe of Russian dancers are remarkably expert; Miss Daisy Devenport is a bright comedienne and dancer; Kochi and Foo Sing are very capable gymnasts on the horizontal bars; R. Choto is a refined and talented vocalist; the Three Pirmans give a capital gymnastic turn; and the Lador troupe of male and female acrobats work hard and successfully to entertain.

SOUTHEND-ON-SEA. — THE HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, the Southend Hippodrome, Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. Lewis de Burgh.—An attractive holiday programme includes the Mirza Golem Troupe, Lucia Collins, John le Hay and company in a new comedy sketch, The Oyster; Edith Heron Brown, vocalist; Kelly and Agnes, comedy couple; and the Gotham Quartette, melody makers.

THE KURSAAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. T. W. Hilton.—The new management were well supported on Whit Monday, when a variety entertainment was presented with considerable success. The programme was contributed to by Daisy Hurdle, a pleasing vocalienne; the Bros. Matthews, two coloured patter comedians, who won popularity with quaint and clever dancing; Jimmy Danvers and Eva Rosslyn, who gave a creditable vocal burlesque pianoforte duologue; Haig and Novel, who caused unbounded amusement in an acrobatic and comedy act; Bennett and Martell, whose absurdity in The Shipwrecked Mariners was well sustained; Mr. Alex Keith and company, who gave a laughable portrayal of a modern society play entitled The Notorious Mrs. Eggflipp; the Emsons, two clever young comediennes and expert dancers; the Great Four, who as comedy harmonists proved entertaining; Yettmah, a clever Japanese conjurer and magician; and the Stavordale Quintette, in a highly creditable banjo and harp speciality. In addition to this lengthy programme Mr. Arthur Watson presented Flo Stanley's musical comedy entitled Prince of the Dandies, which was capitally delineated by Mr. Arthur Watson as Sprouts, Mr. Robert Leardo as Peter Peck, Mr. Arthur Alvis as the Prince, Miss Adeline Montague as the Hon. Miss Highclass, and Miss Flo Stanley as Daisy Highclass. The dancing of the Empire Girls was pleasing and clever.

PIER HILL BANDSTAND.—The summer season commenced on Saturday under the most favourable conditions, and the popular lessee (Mr. H. B. Anglesea) is again having the services of Mr. Finlay Dunn, who met with a most cordial reception at the opening performance. Throughout the holiday vast crowds were entertained with excellent programmes.

SOUTHPORT.—OPERA HOUSE WINTER GARDENS.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Percy Hutchison; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Clarkson.—A strong attraction for the holiday week is provided in Mrs. Ponderbury's Past, presented by Miss Emma Hutchison and Mr. Percy Hutchison's company. Mr. George Mudie submits a highly diverting and clever study of the henpecked Mr. Ponderbury; Miss Celia Gordon acquits herself with great credit as the austere Mrs. Ponderbury; Stella has a smart and vivacious impersonator in Miss Florence Wix; a capital study of the old butler Peter is given by Mr. Percy Bell; Miss Florence Wellesley presents a charming and piquant interpretation of Ethel; Mr. Stewart Dawson plays with skilful emphasis and point as Mervyn Thorpe; and other parts have capable representatives in Mr. Gilbert Clark as Hyacinth Grayling, Mr. George Child as Captain John Rumford, R.N., and Miss R. Silver as Lady Baring. Chalk and Cheese precedes.

SOUTH SHIELDS.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. John Coulson.—Mr. G. Carlton Wallace's drama, A Thief in the Night, is playing to good houses. Mr. Layton Cancellor gives a fine interpretation of the rascal Pagani, and as his coadjutor, Sonia Cleeve, Miss Beatrice Horner is admirable; Joan has a strong exponent in Miss Mary Pemberton, and Mr. Stanley Bedwell as Alan Escombe, the hero, acts with skill and impressiveness; good comedy is introduced by Mr. Bert Atherton as Toby and Miss Jennie Hallworth as Happy Christmas.

EMPIRE PALACE THEATRE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Resident-Manager, Mr. Ernest Bridgen.—Mr. Fred Karno's company rouse endless hilarity in the thrilling adventures of Jimmy the Fearless. The Jackley Trio of acrobats are an exceptionally clever turn; Peter Bermingham is an excellent Scotch comedian. Mr. W. H. Fox, versatile comedian, Tom Black, double-voiced vocalist, Vera Saunders, comedienne and dancer, and the Vedras, a good eccentric comedy acrobatic turn, are also billed, and the Bioscope has new features.

SPENNYMOOR.—CAMBRIDGE THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Resident-Manager, Mr. David Collins.—For the Whitsuntide vacation Mr. Fred J. Webbs supplies the attraction with his No. 1 company, in the popular drama For Old Times Sake, exceedingly well played and finely staged. Mr. Webb as Rupert Sidney gives a fine rendition of this heavy character; Mr. H. C. Lanceley acts to admiration the rôle of Jean Brooke; and Mr. R. Oliver proves a success as Frank Rivington. The Dr. Heathcote of Mr. W. Pallister Acock is cleverly outlined; and Mr. J. C. Carlyle acts with credit Paul Sidney. Mr. Edwin Beverley as Evan Berkley plays well; Mr. Tom Taylor is also good; Miss Marie Danvers-Smith gives a finished portrayal of Sareta Berkley; and Miss Mamie Stanton is heard to advantage as Phyllis Brooke.

PICTURE PALACE.—Manager, Mr. Arthur Sleep.—Bell and Dryden, comedians, head the bill here, and are well received. The pictures of note by the A.B. Company include The Lute Player, Cagliostro, The Open Gate, and Through the Breakers.

ST. HELENS.—THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, St. Helens Theatre, Ltd.; General-Manager, Mr. A. McLeod Loader; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Harry E. Johnson.—The ever-popular East Lynne is being presented here this week by Mr. Wentworth Croke. Archibald Carlyle is represented by Mr. Leonard Yorke, who plays the part with much ability; Miss Muriel Marsden as Lady Isabel gives a pathetic portrayal of the erring mother; as Francis Levison Mr. F. Finch Smiles makes a capital villain; Mr. Charles E. Dering is a dignified Lord Mountsevern and Mr. Thomas Barry a good Justice Hare; and Mr. John Blake a satisfactory Richard Hare. Barbara Hare has a capital exponent in Miss Dorothy Clifton, and Miss Mary Hardacre is excellent as Cornelia Carlyle. The part of little Willie is feelingly taken by Miss Connie Thorne.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. Barrasford, Sley, and Willmot; Acting-Manager, Mr. Leo Weisker.—Frank Elliston and company present here a well-dressed and exceedingly interesting comedy, My Lady Betty. Three Comedy Chanters sing beautifully and make fun; Bert Rayburn is comical; and the Godfreys are excellent musicians. Lina Leslie is quite captivating; the Almas perform capital acrobatic feats; Lucy Gillett is a wonderfully smart little lady; F. A. Martell dances on his fingers with success; and Pictures on the Hipposcope conclude.

STOCKPORT. — THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Charles Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Revill.—A capital Whitsuntide attraction is provided here in Miss Lancashire, Limited, with Miss Madge Grey delightfully amusing in the principal character of Mary Ellen Thompson. Mr. H. B. Pippin gives a thoroughly capable impersonation of John Higgins; Mr. Sydney Dench, jun., as Harry acts ably and sings pleasingly; Eva Lancashire has a charming representative in Miss Issa Steel; Moses Goldberg is a mirth-provoking Jew as impersonated by Mr. Allan Servington; and Mr. Lonnen Meadows as John Henry Thompson, Miss Fanny Olive as Mrs. Thompson, and Mr. Billy Brereton as Herbert Fox, contribute largely to the entertainment.

EMPIRE.—Proprietors, The Stockport Empire Theatre Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Black.—A clever and mystifying entertainer is John Warren, who presents "The Magic Carpet." Others appearing are the Hartley Wonders in their marvellous jumping speciality; Will Sullivan, a funny and amusing comedian and patterer; Walter Ellis and company in a laughable sketch The Sleepwalker; Maggie Walsh, singing mill girl, who is accorded a flattering reception; Pip Powell and Katie Vesey, an entertaining pair, in a musical duologue, A Perfect Woman; and Ruby Emmerson, a pleasing comedienne.

STOCKTON-ON-TEES. — GRAND THEATRE. — Proprietor, Mr. John Batty; Manager, Mr. Walter Batty.—The exciting drama A Destroyer of Men is here this week. Miss Hilda Beverley gains much approval as Olga Mishla, known as Countess Starevitch; Mr. Stephen Langton is an admirable Count Starevitch.

CASTLE THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Chas. Imeson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Cecil Imeson.—The Mummy and the Humming Bird is presented here this week. Mr. H. Hamilton Stewart is an admirable Lord Lumley (The Mummy) and Mr. Lewin Mannering an excellent Signor D'Orelli. The piece is well staged.

HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Harry Burns; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. Stainton.—The Great Tan-Kwai Troupe of Chinese head the bill here. Julian Mack is excellent as the Talking Dame; Tom E. Dean, the morbid man of mirth, is good; Fred and Alice Gratton and Kathleen Delaine give a refined musical item; Len Hale is a clever comedian and dancer; Burnetti, a marvellous quick-change character musician; Little Vesta Dawson, a wonderful child comedienne and dancer; and Roxborough and Wright give an entertaining musical comedy pot-pourri entitled Hi Wun.

STOURBRIDGE. — ALHAMBRA THEATRE AND PALACE OF VARIETIES. — General-Manager, Mr. Douglas C. Phelps.—Walsh and Tanner head the bill with their absurdity The Tramps Surprised. J. H. Carney is a capital stilt performer; Monte Santos, society juggler, is a great success; Dolly Richardson is a comedienne of no mean order; the Two Flakes give a marvellous exhibition of lightning picture painting; the pictures are good.

SUNDERLAND.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor, Mr. Richard Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Harry Esden; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Dunn.—Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kimberley's company is here in Her Secret Lover. Miss Laura Walker, the leading lady, cleverly portrays the exacting rôle of Ivy Seymour; Miss Florrie Leslie adapts herself admirably to the part of Alicia Royale; Mr. Arthur St. John gives a fine performance as Gilbert Seymour; and Messrs. Walter N. Wilson and Mr. Robert Lord also do excellent work in their respective parts of Captain Rose and Mr. Murfield. Messrs. Alfred Stretton (John Strange) and J. Newton Cowling (Jim Jones) prove themselves capable exponents of villainy; and the humour is entrusted to the very able hands of Miss Lynn Darlington and Mr. Victor Vernon.

AVENUE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Richard Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Harry Esden.—Barney Noble is earning great popularity here this week by his catchy songs and witty stories; Mueller and Coyne are also well received in their laughable duologue "There's no place like home." The Pictures are up to the usual high standard.

EMPIRE THEATRE. — Managing-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Harry Esden.—Heading an excellent programme here this week is John Lawson in his famous sketch Humanity; Leslie Brothers, eccentric musicians, are scoring heavily; Heeley and Meeley cause endless laughter in a screaming knockabout act; Jack Lane is as popular as ever in clever and humorous items; Dorris and Francis are clever exponents of simultaneous dancing; Rossie Ashton is making a great hit with a novel item of singing songs and drawing appropriate cartoons; and Hilda Jacobsen is a talented comedienne.

PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietors, Hamilton's Picture and Variety Co.—Menotti, the Stockholm wonder, is causing much astonishment here this week with his thrilling wire-walking act; the Carlsens cause much amusement with their humorous and intrepid acrobatic item; and the Twelve Musical Rustics are deservedly popular.

SWINDON.—EMPIRE THEATRE.—Proprietors, The Wiltshire Entertainments Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Manners.—Mr. Stephen Pritt's repertory company is here with Almost His Bride. Mr. David McFarlane is seen to advantage as the Earl of Ullswater; Mr. Geo. R. J. Austin acts Philip Rowland in manly style; Jasper Thorne is effectively taken by Mr. R. F. Stacey; Mr. Pritt is an undoubted success as Simon Simson; Mr. N. E. Purnell makes the most of the Detective-Inspector; Miss M. Florence ably sustains Emma Baxter; Miss Lily Prescott is a powerful Myra Thorne; a sympathetic rendering of Ruth Gilchrist is presented by Miss Adele Lidden; Miss Yhda Moores acquits herself admirably as Mona Gilchrist. The drama, A Woman's Passion, is also in the bill.

COUNTY ELECTRIC PAVILION. — Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur E. Melborne.—The films here include The Manchester Flight, Holy City of Tunis, President Roosevelt's Tour, The Boy Scouts, The Smoker, and a good supply of humorous ones.

TODMORDEN.—HIPPODROME.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Richard Dewhirst.—Mr. Majilton's Round the Clock Company occupies the boards here. Mr. Jim Bond works cleverly as Bertie Burke; Mr. George Hunter is good as Gee Garo; Denby, the lawyer, is well played by Mr. Tom Carroll; Mr. Charles Majilton affords much amusement as Gadforth; Miss M. Majilton is very bright and vivacious as Bertie Kelvin; Miss Lina Valle is good as Mrs. Gadforth; Miss Lizzie Boyle is a praiseworthy Georgina, and Miss N. Clifford is successful as Saprinnel. For Thursday and Friday She would be a Widow was announced.

OLYMPIA PICTURE PALACE.—Proprietors, Messrs. A. and H. Andrews; Manager, Mr. Charles Tyers.—Large houses are appreciating the interesting and enjoyable programme, features of which are Sexton Blake, Western Chivalry, A Friend in Need, and Woman's Strategy. Mr. F. Gilmartin scores with his illustrated songs.

TORQUAY.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Licensee and Managing-Director, Alderman W. H. Mortimer; Secretary, Mr. Arthur Pearse.—Mr. Norman V. Norman is making a welcome reappearance here after a long absence, and presents The Marriage of Kitty. Miss Beatrice Wilson gives a charming impersonation of Kitty, her easy, unaffected manner being quite captivating. Mr. Norman V. Norman as Sir Reginald Belsize is equally successful; Mr. F. Lock Whittaker makes a typical lawyer; and Miss Elsie Goulding gives a capital study of M. de Semiano. Miss Betty Stannard as Rosalie, Mr. Norman Leslie as Norbury, and Mr. Alfred Wiltshire as Hampton all do well. David Garrick was staged on Wednesday.

PRINCESS PIER CONCERT HALL.—Proprietors, The Torquay Town Council; Manager, Mr. A. T. Tremlett.—"The Brownies" are providing an excellent attraction, and on Monday opened to a crowded house. Miss Madie Field is a winsome comedienne, acting with Mr. Charles Heslop to considerable advantage; Miss Beatrice Willey (soprano) and Mr. Alec S. Clunes (bass) possess excellent voices; Mr. Harvey Brinton makes a capital entertainer, and is frequently encored; and Miss Vivien Stafford also does very well. At the piano Miss Dorothy Webb is all that can be desired.

TYNEMOUTH. — PALACE. — Proprietors, The Palace Co., Ltd.—General Manager, Councillor Harold Arnold.—This fashionable resort reopened for the season on Monday last, under the most favourable auspices. Fanny and Harry Dent score a huge success in a novel melange entitled The Indian Bottle; Mike Gray is responsible for a unique comedy juggling act, which causes much mirth; Joan Deering, billed as the Gainsborough Girl, proves herself to be a violinist of exceptional ability; Mooney and Holbein, vaudevillian artistes, have a budget of capital songs, and their patter is particularly smart; Marshall and Parr, drawing-room entertainers, obtain a flattering reception; King Luis and partner score in a clever acrobatic turn; Ethel Stephenson proves herself to be a vocalist of more than usual ability; the Brothers O'Brien are seen to advantage in a smart bar act; and there is an excellent show of up-to-date pictures.

WAKEFIELD. — OPERA HOUSE. — Proprietors, Sherwood and Co.—Mr. Horace Stanley's company occupy the stage here in The 10.30 Down Express. Mr. T. Arthur Plummer gives a praiseworthy rendition of Jack O'Malley; Mr. Fred Wilberforce ably sustains the rôle of James Inderwick; the part of Cuthbert Leigh is in the able hands of Mr. T. B. Brabazon; Mr. Horace Stanley makes a manly Sam Wagstaffe; Mr. Charles H. Williams is effective as Bletherby Beggs; and Mr. Evan Roland does full justice to the character of Seth Coombes; Miss Kate Kilpack is good as Peggy Potts; Miss Leila Drummond submits a clever character study of Olive Coombes; Miss Ida Fane is successful as Letitia Leigh; and Miss Cora Linda is a pleasing Bessie Leigh.

NEW EMPIRE.—Proprietors, Sherwood and Co.; Manager, Mr. S. H. Laycock.—Mr. Bert Coote and company are here this week in the sketch, A Lamb on Wall Street; Henry and Tyler, comedy cyclists, provide a capital turn; Tom Hayton's Six Manchester Lads give a fine exhibition of clog dancing; the Real Mackays are a couple of clever juvenile vocalists and dancers; Arthur Harris, actor vocalist, sings well; Elmo and Rego, knockabout comedians, do well; and Miss Marie Kay is a pleasing comedienne.

HIPPODROME.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. Sydney Tolfree.—The Three Royal Dreadnoughts, crack rifle shots, display great skill in their wonderful performance; the Muir-Bartlett company are seen to advantage in their sketch The Collar Stud; Robb Gilmour, quaint comedian, has a good reception; the Sisters Lucretia and Josephine are smart burlesque artistes and dancers; Dunn and Reano, comedy trapezists, are bright; and Charles Woodward, comedian, is well received. Mr. Tolfree is to receive a complimentary benefit to-morrow night (Thursday).

WARRINGTON. — ROYAL COURT.—Proprietor Mr. Joseph Beecham; General-Manager, Mr. A. M Loader.—Messrs. F. Marriott Watson and James Usher's company is here in the domestic play Only a Little Boy. Miss Dot Forde in the title-rôle submits a really clever character study, and as Tag Rag Miss Hettie Senior wins sympathy. Miss Florence E. Florence acts with pathos as the much-wronged Jane Pennington; Miss Mary Ainslie is a dignified Sister Mary, and Miss Mabel Harland is well placed as Mrs. Pennington. Dramatic force marks Mr. F. Marriott Watson's portrayal of Jim Bragstone, and Mr. Oswald Douglas is a manly Steve Kingdom; Mr. Elton Morgan makes the most of Ambrose Pennington; Miss Flo Norman is good as Mona O'Flinn; Mr. Aubrey Winne is a typical retired doctor; the humorous element is ably sustained by Mr. Cecil Raymond as Joshua Snell and Miss Amy Rudd as Deborah. The staging is very effective.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Eric Longden.—Victor Niblo and his talking birds are the great attraction here this week, and have scored a big success; the Comedy Meisters delight all with their capital vocalization; the Zanfrellas supply a delightful turn as pedestal equilibriste; Kitty Clinton scores well with good songs; the Bartholomew Girls are a smart pair; George Acre is a smart burlesque artist, and Nita Nixon's songs are enjoyed. The pictures are good.

ROYAL THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, The Central Theatres and Franco-British Animated Picture Co.; Managing-Director, Mr. Wilberforce Turner; General-Manager, Mr. J. Waters.—Edmund Caselli is making many friends here with his banjo solos; the Phœnix Trio are delightful vocalists; Minnie Aubyn is a dainty comedienne and Henry Waldon is a comedian with plenty of versatility. The pictures are good.

WATFORD.—PALACE THEATRE.—Sole Responsible Manager, Mr. T. M. Sylvester; Acting-Manager Mr. C. Mason; Assistant-Manager, Mr. W Wright.—Mr. Harry W. Lumley is presenting the musical comedy The Cruise of the Constance before good audiences. Mr. Frederick Hobbs makes the most of the part of the young naval officer (Sir Walter Wensleydale) and the heroine is well played by Miss Carlotto Sylvano, the possessor of a sweet voice; Mr. Chas. McLagan is capital as the Swiss Admiral, and Mr. Albert Kavanagh a dignified Captain of the Constance. Other notable performers in this well-staged production, which is under the control of Mr. E. T. Sterne, are Mr. Charles McNaghton, who, as the steward Potts is quite the hit of the piece, Miss Ruby Vyvyan as the maid, Clemente, and Miss Irene Verona, whose impersonation of the part of Mrs. Hope is capital.

CORN EXCHANGE.—The Kinetic Picture Co., who have run this building as an electric theatre during the past nine months, have introduced various up-to-date improvements to the newly decorated interior, and are being rewarded with large attendances.

WEST HARTLEPOOL.—GRAND.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Fred Granville.—The return visit of Miss Lena Ashwell's company, in Diana of Dobson's, is heartily welcomed. Miss Eleanor Delaport gives a perfect interpretation of Diana Massingbred, her acting being most impressive. A capital delineation of Captain Victor Brotherton is given by Mr. Leslie Rea; Miss Hilda Franck scores a decided success as Mrs. Cantelupe; and Miss Marie Ault is effective as Miss Pringle.

EMPIRE.—Managing Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; Resident Manager, Mr. George F. Thompson.—A record house was secured on Monday night. An excellent programme is headed by the Australian nightingale, Miss Ada Colley, who artistically rendered "L'oiseau d'amour," "Dear heart," and "Killarney"; Yamamoto and Miss Koyoshi, with their marvellous exhibition of equilibrism, astonish all. Some really pretty musical selections are given on a variety of instruments by the Saxonia Family; Horace Wheatley is an evergreen comedian, with songs and patter always fresh, and he has an enviable reception. Immensely funny are the Lyons Trio, in their high class comedy act; A. G. Spry, assisted by Miss M. Ogilvie, cause much amusement in a patter song and dance; Kathleen Cogan, in song and dance, is dainty and attractive, and some good pictures are shown.

WESTON-SUPER-MARE. — KNIGHTSTONE PAVILION AND OPERA HOUSE.—Manager, Mr. W Payne.—Mr. Leigh Lovell's company is paying a welcome return visit in the Strange Adventures of Miss Brown. Mr. Leigh Lovell gives a highly-finished interpretation of Captain Courtenay; a Major O'Callagher Mr. Arthur Rodney is excellent; Mr. Claud N. Sykes is entitled to eulogy for his impersonation of Herr Von Mozer, and Mr. Kennett Black does good work as Mr. Hibbertson; Miss Octavia Kenmore is a charming Angela Brightwell; Miss Nana Flensburg (Euphemia Schwartz), Miss Avice Vayne (Matilda Jones), Miss Madge Tenterden (Millicent Loveridge) and Miss Daisy Race (Clara Loveridge) are delightful in their respective rôles. Miss Christine Jensen is artistic as Miss Romney.

GRAND PIER PAVILION.—Manager, Mr. John H. Stevenson. Two shows of vaudeville are given nightly; Mr. Harry Blake tops the bill, and proves most popular. The Musical Marvels are vociferously applauded. Starley Brothers perform some wonderful feats as trick cyclists; the Sisters Carlton, duettists and dancers, are charming; their terpsichorean efforts being exceptionally smart; Tommy Clifford is a ventriloquist far above the average; and Miss Marie Hills excels as a song-and-dance artist. A very laughable sketch is Murphy's Affinity, in which Miss Cissie Kingsley (Cleopatra), Miss B. Armitage (Bedelia), and Mr. E. Mullins (Michael Murphy) all show histrionic ability. The pictures shown on Lambert's Bioscope are very fine. Herr Fericescu's Viennese Band are here for another season, and are very popular.

PIER KIOSK.—The Comedy Entertainers are giving a very smart show here. Mr. Jimmy Law is a clever comedian; equally successful is Mr. Bertram Noël; Mr. C. Griffiths sings with expression; Mr. E. Sykes renders "I'm a Roamer" successfully; and Miss Roberta Williams is a clever comedienne; and Miss Langley deserves special praise; Miss Freda Sharlotte shows dramatic skill in her monologues.

WEYMOUTH. — PAVILION THEATRE. — Manager, Mr. W. B. Wallis.—Mr. Neville Claude's company opened on Whit Monday with The Girl from Kay's. In the title-rôle Miss Florrie Millington played with distinct success; and Mr. Henry Adnes was amusing to a degree as Hoggenheimer. Miss Rosie Burnett made a charming Norah Chalmers; and her maid Ellen was in the capital hands of Miss Lillian Rignold. Mr. John A. Latham was very good as Harry Gordon; as also were Mr. Chas. Power as the Hon. Percy Fitzgerald; and Mr. Richard Andeau as Theodore Quench, Q.C. The piece is well mounted and the chorus skilfully balanced.

WHITEHAVEN.—NEW THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor, Mr. Stanley Rogers; Acting-Manager, Mr. Falconer Jackes.—The Royal Life Motion Picture and Variety Company supply the attractions here. Some excellent films are shown, the principal being To Save Her Soul, Miscia, The Shepherdess, An Indian's True Heart, and The Syren. The Six Leopold Leglers are famous as acrobats; Mlle. Nanoni, soprano, renders her songs in excellent style; and Frederico and Edgaro are very amusing.

WHITLEY BAY.—BATHS PAVILION.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. R. L. Grice.—For the holiday week the management is submitting an excellent and up-to-date show of the very latest films, and the varieties contributed by Sabino, the Merry Musical Monarch; and Stanley Anderson, the smart juvenile comedian, are greatly to the liking of crowded audiences.

COLISEUM THEATRE.—Proprietors, the Whitley Coliseum Company; Business Manager, Mr. Steve Smith; Acting Manager, Mr. Fred Patterson. The formal opening of this new theatre, a description of which appeared in our last issue, took place on Saturday last. The ceremonials were not of long duration, and after the singing of the National Anthem and a felicitous speech by Mr. Thos. Thompson, the nigonarian, and widely known as the "Fultus of Whitley," who was supported by the local authorities, the programme for the opening night was limited to vocal and musical items, with an exhibition of animated pictures, and on Sunday another similar bill, with the addition of the Newcastle Pavilion Orchestra, was given. This week's bill comprises some half-dozen big picture films, and excellent varieties are contributed by Joe Humphreys, vocal and character comedian; Herman and Evelyn, in a continental "pot pourri" acrobatic and wire act; and Rolf Slater, mimic.

WOLVERHAMPTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Walter de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. Edwin Leslie; Resident-Manager, Mr. Fred Bail.—Mr. John F. Preston's No. 1 company, with Rogues of the Turf, is attracting large houses. The comedy drama is admirably staged, and the introduction of three thoroughbred racehorses, in the race for the Manchester Cup, rouses the audience to a high pitch of enthusiasm. Mr. John F. Preston looks and acts the part of the trainer, Joe Flaxman, as though he had been brought up on Newmarket Heath, and the honesty of purpose which characterizes his impersonation elicits loud applause; Mr. Arthur Hartley is good as Sir Gerald Heathcote; Mr. Dan F. Roe creates a pleasing impression as Arthur Somerton; a trio of thoroughpaced villains are found in the Captain Dudley Clifton of Mr. W. Howard Barlow, the Moses Solomon of Mr. H. H. Rignold, and the Tom Strongarm of Mr. Tom Phillips; Mr. Arthur Leighton is effective as Steve Burton; whilst Mr. Horace Custins hits off the part of Sammy Flaxman to a nicety. Miss Beatrice Weston displays considerable power as Marion, a lady with many illiases; Miss Ethel Rainforth makes a dainty little heroine as Nellie Flaxman; and Phyllis Wurzel is well sustained by Miss Mabel Fare.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Walter de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. Vivian Evans.—Heading a strong holiday bill is Mr. Ernest Cadle's company, with the Casey Army, an absurdity in which Mr. Will Murray shines as the Widow Casey, and a number of youngsters manage to create a large amount of boisterous fun. Roars of laughter are also caused by Mr. W. T. Ellanger and company in Who Did It? The comedy juggling act of the Gascoines is distinctly good; Addie Adell, actress vocalist, gains much applause for her rendering of popular Irish ballads; the audience heartily demonstrated the fact that they were pleased to see Phil Bransby again in his coster songs; Tom Joy is aptly described as an original comedian; and Lily Palmer is an attractive comedienne and dancer.

WORCESTER. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur Carlton; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. Edward Evans.—Amongst the best of a capital programme is the little company presenting Harry Tate's sketch Fishing; Mephisto is responsible for some marvellous illusions, and Bains and company are excellent acrobats and lancers; The Tree of Truth is a funny bit of business introduced by Brayne and Lloyd; Sam Dalton sings good comic songs, and Halma contributes many novel juggling feats. Lilian Travellie is a capable vocalist, and excellent Bioscope pictures complete the programme.

WORTHING. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. C. Adolf Seebold.—A large audience welcomed The Importance of Being Earnest here on Monday, when the famous comedy was presented by the company controlled by Mr. Peter Davey in conjunction with Mr. Douglas Gordon. The latter appears as John Worthing, and reveals a high degree of artistic skill; Mr. George Silver gives a clever interpretation of Algernon Moncrieff; Lady Bracknell finds an effective exponent in Mrs. Peter Davey, and the character of the Hon. Gwendoline Fairfax is entrusted to Miss Phyllis Relph with excellent results. Miss Marjorie Waterlow is a graceful Cecily, and Miss Edith Vagne does justice to the part of Miss Prism; Mr. Arthur Stanley is amusing as the Rev. Canon Chasuble, and others of an excellent cast are Mr. Alfred Weston and Mr. Walet Bannister as Merriman and Lane.

YORK.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessees, Messrs. Wadlington; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. J. Dacre.—The Passing of the Third Floor Back has charmed large audiences this week. Mr. Ian Robertson possesses a remarkable personality, and gives a striking impersonation of the Stranger; Miss Helena Parsons as Stasia presents an excellent character study; Mr

REVISED SCALE OF CHARGES FOR

ARTISTS WANTING ENGAGEMENTS. MANAGERS WANTING ARTISTS.

THREE LINES (ABOUT TWENTY WORDS), ONE SHILLING.
Each Additional Line (Six Words or less), Sixpence.

This Scale does not apply to "Trade" Advertisements in these Columns.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION (Post Free).

	UNITED KINGDOM.	FOREIGN
One Quarter	6s. 6d.	8s.
Half Year	13s. 0d.	16s.
One Year	26s. 0d.	32s.

The Offices of "The Era" are
"THE ERA" BUILDINGS,
5, TAVISTOCK-STREET, STRAND, W.C.
For the convenience of Advertisers, Replies to Advertisements are received. They can remain until called for, or be forwarded by Post if postage be arranged.

NO STAMPS.

Advertisers and subscribers are politely requested to forward Cheques or Postal Orders in payment of their Advertisements and Subscriptions, crossed "Lloyd's Bank, Ltd." Remittances should be made payable to "The Era," Limited, and addressed,

THE PUBLISHER,
The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-st., Strand, W.C.
"Wire," "The Era, London."
"Ring-up," 4747 or 1433 Central.

IN case of the non-delivery of "THE ERA" by the First Post, the Publisher will be greatly obliged if Advertisers will forward their Postal Wrappers with the time of delivery marked upon them.

COMPANIES WANTED.

TWENTY WORDS, ONE SHILLING.
Each Additional Six Words, Sixpence.

MILTON BODE and EDWARD COMPTON'S THEATRES.

WANTED, First-class Companies, for THEATRE ROYAL, BRIGHTON.
July 11, 18, Aug. 8, 15, Sept. 19, 26, Oct. 3, 31, Dec. 12 Feb. 13, 20, on.
DALSTON THEATRE, LONDON, N.E.
Sept. 12, 26, Oct. 10, Nov. 21, Jan. 23, Feb. 6, on.
COUNTY THEATRE, READING.
Aug. 15, 29, Sept. 12, 19, 26, Oct. 10, 24, 31, on.
OPERA HOUSE, LEICESTER.
Aug. 8, Sept. 5, Oct. 31, Nov. 21, 28, Dec. 5, 12, on.
ROYALTY THEATRE, CHESTER.
June 6, Oct. 3, Feb. 27, March 6, on.
GRAND THEATRE, WOLVERHAMPTON.
July 18, Aug. 1, 8, Sept. 5, 12, 19, Oct. 3, 10, on.
THEATRE ROYAL, HUDDERSFIELD.
Aug. 1, Oct. 10, 17, Nov. 7, 21, 28 Dec. 12, on.
OPERA HOUSE, NORTHAMPTON.
Aug. 1, 15, 29, Sept. 19, 26, Oct. 17, Nov. 28, Dec. 12, 19, 26, on.
THEATRE ROYAL, LEICESTER.
June 13, 27, July 4, Aug. 1,
Oct. 17, 24, 31, Nov. 14, Dec. 12, Jan. 2 9, on.
Address, MILTON BODE, Theatre, Reading.

PIER THEATRE, EASTBOURNE.
This Theatre will in future be booked by Mr. MILTON BODE, and all communications re dates should be addressed to him at COUNTY THEATRE, READING. All other communications to G. Hayes, Pier, Eastbourne.

WANTED, Companies for
June 20, July 18, 28 (three nights), Aug. 1 (six nights), Aug. 15 (two nights), Aug. 29, Sept. 5, 12, on.
Apply MILTON BODE, Theatre, Reading.

WANTED, First-class Company, for Pier Theatre, Eastbourne, May 30.
Wire, MILTON BODE, Theatre, Reading.

WANTED, First-class Company, for
PIER THEATRE, EASTBOURNE, May 30.
Wire, MILTON BODE, Theatre, Reading.

WANTED, First-class Attractions, for COUNTY THEATRE, BEDFORD, June 6, Aug. 1, onwards, with exceptions.
GRAND THEATRE, LUTON.
June 6, Aug. 1, onwards, with exceptions.
THEATRE ROYAL, CANTERBURY, May 30, June 6, Aug. 15, onwards, with exceptions.
Address, E. G. FALCON, County Theatre, Bedford.

WANTED, First-class Attractions, for
MARINA THEATRE, LOWESTOFT, Oct. 6 (3), to follow Laurence Irving.
NEW ROYAL THEATRE, KING'S LYNN.
June 6 (3), Aug. 4 (3).
EMPIRE THEATRE, SOUTHEND.
Dec. 5, 12, 19, Jan. 2.
HIPPODROME THEATRE, SHEERNESS.
June 13, Aug. 4 (3), 15, Sept. 12, 19.
All Communications to B. PARKEZER, Proprietor and Manager, Marina Theatre, Lowestoft.

NEW THEATRE ROYAL, BIRKENHEAD.
WANTED, First-class Attraction, for
June 27.
To play twice nightly.
Wire or write immediately to
W. W. KELLY,
New Theatre Royal, Birkenhead.

KELLY'S THEATRE.
Paradise-street, just off Church-street, Liverpool.
WANTED, First-class Attractions for June 20,
Royal Show Week.
Wire immediately.
W. W. KELLY,
New Theatre Royal, Birkenhead.

IMPORTANT SOUTH COAST CIRCUIT.
WANTED, High-class Companies,
DEVONSHIRE PARK T., EASTBOURNE
The Premier Theatre.
June 13, 20, 27, Sept. 12, Oct. 31, Nov. 7, 14.
GAIETY THEATRE, HASTINGS.
July 18, Sept. 26, Oct. 3, 24, 31.
PLEASURE GARDENS T., FOLKESTONE.
July 11, 18, Sept. 12, Oct. 10, 24, 31.
Apply for all above.
H. W. ROWLAND, Theatre, Folkestone.

THE QUEEN'S THEATRE, DUBLIN.
Rebuilt at a cost of £15,000.
WANTED, First-class Companies,
Aug. 8, 29, Sept. 26,
and various onwards.
Address,
F. W. MARRIOTT WATSON, as above.

ROYAL VICTORIA PAVILION, RAMSGATE.
Entertainment Manager, Councillor CHARLES PRICE.
WANTED, Good Musical Companies, or other Attractions, for only Vacant Season Dates.
July 25 (six nights),
Aug. 18 (three nights),
Sept. 12 (six nights).

GRAND THEATRE, WEST HARTLEPOOL.
Closed for entire redecoration and alterations.
WANTED, First-class Companies, Aug. 1, and on, with exceptions.
STANLEY ROGERS,
Theatre Royal, North Shields.

WEYMOUTH NEW THEATRE.
One of the most charming Theatres in the Provinces. Holds £120 at ordinary prices. Lit throughout by electric light. No other Theatre within radius of thirty miles. Drawing capacity 60,000.
WANTED, First-class Companies,
May 23, 30, July 4 (3), 11, Oct. 10, 17, onwards.
All coms. re dates to London Representatives, JAY and MANN, 10-11, Jermyn-street, S.W.
All other coms. direct to W. R. WALLIS.

KING'S THEATRE, SEACOMBE.
KING'S THEATRE, SEACOMBE.
KING'S THEATRE, SEACOMBE.
WANTED, First-class Attraction, for Aug. 8 and Sept. 19.
Apply, JAMES KIERNAN.

COMPANIES WANTED.

WANTED, First-class Companies.
Wanted, First-class Companies.
Wanted, First-class Companies.
Wanted, First-class Companies.

THEATRE ROYAL, WORCESTER.
THEATRE ROYAL, WORCESTER.
Vacant Aug. 22, Sept. 5, Nov. 7, Dec. 5, onward, with exceptions.

EMPIRE, WORCESTER.
EMPIRE, WORCESTER.
Pictures and Bijou Vaudeville.
All arrangements complete at present.

THEATRE ROYAL, TON-Y-PANDY.
THEATRE ROYAL, TON-Y-PANDY.
Vacant July 11, 18, 25, Aug. 1, 15, 29, onward, with exceptions.

NEW THEATRE, BARRY.
NEW THEATRE, BARRY.
NEW THEATRE, BARRY.
This magnificent Theatre now nearing completion. Undoubtedly one of the finest theatres in Wales, up-to-date in every detail. Holding capacity over 2,000. Stage 62 by 37. Equipped with every modern stage contrivance. Superb plant of electric light, 500 ampères available. This Theatre caters for a very large population, standing right in the centre of the populous towns of Cadoxton, Barry Dock, Barry, and Barry Island, the latter being full of visitors during the summer season. Bookings already include "Silver King," "Fatal Wedding," "Florodora," "Miss Hook of Holland," "Merry Widow," "When Knights Were Bold," "Gay Gordons," &c., &c.
Wanted, Big Musical Attraction, for Opening date in July, also for following vacancies:
Aug. 1, 22, 29, Sept. 5, 19, Oct. 3,

BARRY ELECTRIC THEATRE DE LUXE.
Pictures and Bijou Vaudeville.
All arrangements complete at present.
Wanted, Dates, "ALADDIN," "BABES IN THE WOOD," "PUSS IN BOOTS."

All communications,
ARTHUR CARLTON,
Theatre Royal, Worcester.
Telegrams, "Carlton, Worcester."

ROYALTY THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE, BARROW-IN-FURNESS.
Lessee and Manager, Mr. HUGH ROBERTSON.
The Premier Theatre in the Town, with a holding capacity greatly in excess of any other Theatre in the Town.
Booked by Mr. George Edwardes, Mrs. D'Oyly Carte, George Dance, Mr. Arthur Hart, Mr. Frank Curzon, Mr. Fred Mouillot, Messrs. Sidney Cooper and Lyn Harding, Messrs. Paumier and Howard, Mr. R. Courtneidge, Mr. J. W. Turner, Miss Florence Glossop-Harris, Messrs. Armitage and Leigh, Mr. J. A. Campbell, Mr. Fred J. Ellis-ton, Mr. E. Hill Mitchelson, Mr. L. Collingwood, Mr. Chas. Windermere, Mr. W. W. Kelly, and, in fact, practically the whole of the first-class managers of the country.
WANTED First-class London Successes, for June 6, 13, 27, and July 4, on, with exceptions. All applications for dates to HUGH ROBERTSON, Theatre Royal, Jarrow.

QUEEN'S THEATRE, FARNWORTH, BOLTON.
WANTED, Powerful Plays, June 20, 27, July 4, 11, 18 Aug. 1, 8.
ALBERT THEATRE, BRIGHOUSE.
Special Attractions.
MORTON POWELL, Queen's T., Farnmouth, Bolton.

OPERA HOUSE & HIPPODROME, LONDONDERRY.
First vacancy March 6, 1911.
To follow "Merry Widow."

THEATRE ROYAL, LINCOLN.
WANTED, Good Companies, Sept. 5, and on, first Three Nights of Week. First vacancy for Drama (last three nights), Feb. 6, 1911.

ALBERT THEATRE, GAINSBOROUGH.
CORPORATION THEATRE, CHESTERFIELD.
CO-OPERATIVE HALL, RUGBY.
TOWN HALL, LOUGHBOROUGH, &c.
Few Autumn Dates.

THE SPA, WHITBY.
Vacant July 25, Aug. 5, 6, Sept. 5, 6, and 15, 16, 17.
Address, W. PAYNE SEDDON,
Opera House, Londonderry,
until Wednesday, May 25.
After which no correspondence can be attended to until June 20.

HIS MAJESTY'S T., BARROW-IN-FURNESS.
WANTED, First-class Companies of Vaudeville Entertainers, for Summer Season, to follow The Will o' the Wisps, &c., from middle of July, onwards. Can book for a season of 4 weeks or more.
Apply, CALVERT ROUTLEDGE.

THEATRE ROYAL, WOLVERHAMPTON.
THEATRE ROYAL, WOLVERHAMPTON.
THEATRE ROYAL, WOLVERHAMPTON.
Under the Direction of Walter de Frece.
NOTICE.
During the Summer Months and onwards the above will be run once nightly as before.
WANTED, Good Strong Dramatic Companies, for June 20, 27, July 4-18, 25.
All Communications to
EDWIN LESLIE (General-Manager for Walter de Frece), 178, Charing Cross-road, W.C.; or, this and next week, Hippodrome, Southend.

OPERA HOUSE, HARROGATE.
WANTED, First-class Company, July 25, three nights, to oblige a Manager.
Apply,
W. PEACOCK, Opera House, Harrogate.

HARROGATE GRAND OPERA HOUSE.
WANTED, First-class Companies, July 11, 12, 13, also 25th, 26th, 27th (vacant through obliging managers). Apply, WILLIAM PEACOCK.

GAIETY THEATRE, METHIL.
Population, nine miles' radius, 90,000.
Electric Trams pass the Theatre.
Only Vacant Dates,
Oct. 10, 1910.
Dec. 5, 1910.
Dec. 26, 1910.
Feb. 6, 1911.
March 13, 1911.
WANTED, Good Musical Comedy or Pantomimes, for these dates, share or certainty.
J. D. SWANSTON, Redburn-chambers, Kirkcaldy.

WANTED, Something Good, Aug. 1, 8, on, with exceptions, Grand, Chorley; also Aug. 1, 15, on, with exceptions, Grand, Radcliffe. Letters only. SANTE, Theatre, Radcliffe.

WANTED, First-class Comedy or Musical Attraction, July 11, Londesborough Theatre, Scarborough. Apply, WADDINGTON, Stonegate, York.

WANTED, for the Theatre Royal, Chesterfield, Strong Dramatic Attractions, May 30, onwards. FRANK MACNAGHTEN, Oakley House, Bloomsbury-street, W.C. Telegrams, "Cirvaumac, London."

WANTED, Good Attractions, June 2, 6, Sept. 1, 19, 26, onwards (3 nights).
PHILLIPS, Coliseum, Aberystwyth.

WANTED, Good Companies, Aug. 22, 29, Sept. 5, 19, onward, with exceptions. Xmas Vacant. Terms not haggled over; excellence of productions the desired object.
Only recognised managers
Apply,
ALICE ROCHEFORTE, Royalty Theatre, Llanelly.

NEW GAIETY THEATRE, CLYDEBANK, N.B.
WANTED, First-class Dramas, Musical Comedies and Pantomimes coming North,—Autumn and Winter Season, 1910-11.
Full particulars and vacant dates,
A. E. PICKARD,
Britannia Theatre, Glasgow.

LIVERPOOL LYRIC THEATRE CO., LTD.
WANTED, First-class Attractions, Share or Certainty.
All must play twice nightly.
HENRY C. ARNOLD, Managing-Director.

COMPANIES WANTED.

Booked by
MOSS' EMPIRES, LIMITED.
BORDESLEY PALACE THEATRE.
GRAND THEATRE, NOTTINGHAM.
BROADWAY THEATRE, NEW CROSS.
and
GRAND THEATRE GLASGOW.

WANTED, Musical Comedy or very Special Attractions.

BROADWAY THEATRE, NEW CROSS.
Vacant Sept. 19, Oct. 10 (?), 31, Dec. 5, Feb. 20, 27, March 6, 20, 27, April 10, May 1, 8, 15, 22, 29.
Several Autumn (1911) Dates.

BORDESLEY PALACE THEATRE.
Vacant Aug. 15, Sept. 5, Oct. 31, Nov 14 (?), Dec. 12 (?), Jan. 9, 23, Feb. 13, 20, 27, March 20, 27, April 3, 10.
May 1, 8, 15, 22, 29, June 5, and several Autumn (1911) dates. Good Pantomime for two weeks at Christmas.

GRAND THEATRE, NOTTINGHAM.
Vacant Aug. 1, 8, 15, 22, 29, Sept. 5, 12, 19, Oct. 3, 10, 17, 24, Nov. 7, 14.

GRAND, GLASGOW.
Vacant Aug. 1, 8, 15, 22, 29, Sept. 5, 12, 19, Oct. 3, 10, 17, 24, Nov. 7, 14.

Good Stock Companies Wanted for all Theatres.
Address, with full particulars, terms, &c., where can be seen, to
MOSS' EMPIRES, LIMITED,
Cranbourn-mansions, Cranbourn-street, W.C.
Envelopes marked "Theatres."

HIS MAJESTY'S T., BARROW-IN-FURNESS.
Lessees and Managers,
Mr. and Mrs. CALVERT ROUTLEDGE.
Barrow's Leading Theatre.
Holding Capacity at Ordinary Prices, £80.
The Smart and Popular Theatre that does the Business.
Season's bookings include Mr. Ian Robertson and Co. in "The Passing of the Third Floor Back"; Mr. Edward Terry and Co.; Mr. George Alexander's Co.'s "Builder of Bridges" and "The Thief" (return); "Lucky Durham" (return); Mr. Walter Melville's Co.'s; Mr. F. R. Benson's Co. (return); "When Knights were Bold" (return); "The Dairymaids" (return); "Fascinating Peggy"; "Cingalee"; Miss Horniman's Répertoire Co. (return); "The Woman in the Case," &c., &c.
WANTED, London Successes, Aug. 1, onwards, with exceptions.
Apply, CALVERT ROUTLEDGE.

THE NEW THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE, BLACKBURN.
The most Magnificent Theatre in East Lancashire.
WANTED, High-class Attraction, Aug. 15. One or two other autumn dates possibly vacant. Now booking spring, 1911. Might arrange for First-class Pantomime, Jan. 2 or 9.
Address all communications re dates to HARRY YORKE, Managing-Director.

THEATRE ROYAL, STOCKPORT, and THEATRE ROYAL, ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE.
WANTED, First-class Dramatic or Musical Attractions, for Stockport, Oct. 24, Nov. 7 and 14; Ashton, Oct. 3, 31, Nov. 7 and 21.
Address, CHARLES REVILL, Stockport.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE, WIDNES.
WANTED, First-class Companies, for Aug. 8, 15, Sept. 19, and onwards, with exceptions.
Address, THOS. SWINTON.

THEATRE ROYAL, PETERBOROUGH.
WANTED, First-class Companies, Aug. 1, Sept., on. A. D. VERNON.

WANTED, Companies, Dramatic or Musical, May 30, June 6, and on. Now booking autumn. JAMES ELPHINSTONE, Lyceum T., Stafford.

THEATRE ROYAL, YORK.
WANTED, First-class Attractions, for Aug. 8. Apply, WADDINGTON, Stonegate, York.

STANLEY (DURHAM) ROYAL, LTD.
WANTED, Big Attractions, Aug. 1 (through transferring) and 15.
Apply, MARK H. LINDON.

ROYALTY THEATRE, MORECAMBE.
WANTED, First-class Attractions, July 11, 25, Aug. 15, Sept. 15 (3 nights), Sept. 19, and on.
Address,
GENERAL MANAGER.

THEATRE ROYAL, CROOK.
WANTED, Companies, May 30, June 6, WALLACE DAVIDSON, Shakespeare Hotel, Nottingham.

GRAND THEATRE, LLANDUDNO.
WANTED, First-class Attractions only, Aug. 4, 11, 18, Sept. 19 (three nights).
Address, The MANAGER.

ABERYSTWYTH ROYAL PIER PAVILION.
WANTED, First-class Attractions, Dramatic and Musical Comedy Companies, Vaudeville Entertainers, &c.
Apply, J. H. ROWE, c/o A. J. Hughes, Town Clerk, Aberystwyth.

ROYAL ARTILLERY THEATRE and OPERA HOUSE, WOOLWICH.
Lessee and Manager, JULES RICHEUX.
Re-decorated, re-seated, upholstered, and equipped up to date, and will have the advantage of the personal and alert management of the Lessee.
WANTED, First-class Attractions for June 27, Aug. 8, 22 (?), 29, Sept. 12, 19, Oct. 3, 10, 24, Nov. 21, Xmas, on.
Re dates direct to
JAY and MANN, 10-11, Jermyn-street, S.W.

OPERA HOUSE, KIDDERMINSTER.
WANTED, Applications from Companies for August Bank Holiday and various Autumn Dates. Bookings: "Merry Widow," "Gay Gordons," "Mrs. Wiggs," F. R. Benson, &c. Address all coms., MANAGER, O. H., Kidderminster.

WANTED, Strong Dramatic Attraction, Aug. 1.
MONTGOMERY,
Rotunda Theatre, Liverpool.

KING'S THEATRE, GREENOCK.
WANTED, First-class Attractions, Aug., Sept., onwards. Address, A. B. and J. J. WRIGHT.

SCOTLAND'S PROVINCIAL THEATRES.
WANTED, First-class Dramatic, Musical, or Variety Attractions, for:
AYR, COATBRIDGE, FALKIRK, MOTHERWELL, LEITH, and KIRKCALDY,
for August and Autumn, 1910.
Wire or write, R. C. BUCHANAN,
6, John-street, Adelphi, London, W.C.

THEATRE ROYAL, GRANTHAM.
WANTED, High-class Companies, for Autumn, last three nights only, first three can be arranged at Lynn, grand Reopening of Season, Aug. 29 (last three), onwards, with exceptions.
Address, J. A. CAMPBELL.

WANTED, for Theatre Royal, Barnstaple, Companies, for two nights, Musical or Comedy preferred. Apply, H. ASHTON, Strand, Barnstaple.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SWINDON.
WANTED, Musical and Dramatic Attractions, July 11, 18, 25, Aug. 29, Sept. 5, 12, 26, on, with exceptions. Also Variety Combinations, Musical and Dramatic Attractions, first three nights, Garrison T., Tidworth, June 6, 13, 20, on.
ALFRED MANNERS.

WANTED, Comedy Companies, &c., to Book Theatre Royal, Inverness, open September, onwards. Manager, CAMERON BURGESS.

WINTER GARDENS, NEW BRIGHTON.
The Premier Place of Amusement.
WANTED, Big Attractions,
First Vacant Date, July 25 (?),
Oct. 17, and onwards, with exceptions.
Musical or Farcical Comedy preferred.
Must be First-class. Address, MANAGERS.

OPERA HOUSE, DUNFERMLINE.
WANTED, High-class Companies, Musical preferred, Aug. 15, 22, Sept. 1, 5, 19, on, with exceptions. W. E. POTTS.

COMPANIES WANTED.

PAVILION THEATRE, ABERTILLERY.
WANTED, Companies, Vacant Sept. 12, Oct. 31, Nov. 14, Dec. 12, Jan. 9.

PALACE THEATRE, EBBW VALE.
Vacant Sept. 5, 12, Oct. 24 (?), 31, Dec. 12, Jan. 2, 16.
For First-class Attractions only.
Apply, E. TILNEY, Abertillery.

THEATRE ROYAL, HANLEY.
WANTED, High-class Dramas for Aug. 8.
State Lowest Certainties; also Sharing terms.
Address, CHAS. ELPHINSTONE.

WANTED, for "Pretoria" Okehampton (main line Exeter-Plymouth), Companies, two nights. Hall holds 300: scenery. E. WILKINSON, Whimple-street, Plymouth.

THEATRES WANTED.

"THE GIRL WHO LOST HER CHARACTER."
WANTED, Aug. 8, Sept. 12, Nov. 28, Dec. 12.
DOUGLAS BRUCE.
14, Bloomsbury-street, W.C.

"THE FEMALE SWINDLER."
WANTED, June 27, July 11.
DOUGLAS BRUCE,
14, Bloomsbury-street, W.C.

ANDIE CAINE'S PANTOMIMES.
Production Dates Settled.
WANTED, Theatres or Music Halls.
"CINDERELLA," Vacant Jan. 16, on.
"RED RIDING HOOD," Vacant Jan. 16, on.
"BABES IN THE WOOD," Vacant Jan. 23, on.
Share or Certainty. Once or Twice Nightly.
All particulars, ANDIE CAINE, Filey, Yorks.

"A ROYAL DIVORCE."
"A ROYAL DIVORCE."
"A ROYAL DIVORCE."
WANTED, for this Phenomenal Success, Weeks of August 22 and 29.
Wire or write to
W. W. KELLY,
New Theatre Royal, Birkenhead.

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN."
WANTED, Theatres, July 25 (?), Aug. 8 (?), 15, on.
Big Company.
Chorus, Negro Specialities.
New plant of scenery and printing.
CHARLES HARRINGTON,
Court Theatre, Warrington.

"DARE-DEVIL DOROTHY."
"DARE-DEVIL DOROTHY."
ONCE OR TWICE NIGHTLY.
WANTED, June 13, 20, 27, July 28 (three nights).
Aug. 4 (three nights), 8, 15, 22.
Sept. 5, 12, 26.
All communications, J. W. CORDINER, May 23, Aquarium Theatre, Great Yarmouth (seventh visit in five years).

"THE PRIVATE SECRETARY."
EUGENE C. STAFFORD'S No. 1 CO.
WANTED, for this Wonderful Moneymaker, Sept. 26, Oct. 3, 17 Nov. 7, 14, 21, and Dec. 26. BISHOPSDALE Biddenden, Kent.

"SILVER KING" CO.
WANTED, Dates Oct. 17, 24, 31, Nov. 7, 21, also Spring, 1911.
Address, G. M. POLINI, 93, Penge-rd., London, S.E.

HORACE LINGARD
in
"FANNY AND THE SERVANT PROBLEM,"
Jerome K. Jerome.
Sardou's Great Comedy,
"DIVORCONS."
The Screaming Farce,
"IS MARRIAGE A FAILURE?"
WANTED, July 4, and onwards, with exceptions. SHELTON, Lyceum T., Edinburgh.

MR. AND MRS. ARTHUR HINTON AND TRAVIS GREEN
present their No. 1 Co. in
"HER FATAL MARRIAGE."
"HER FATAL MARRIAGE."
WANTED, July 25, August Bank Holiday, Nov. 14, Dec. 12, Xmas, Jan. 9, various Spring and Autumn, 1911.
JERROLD HEATHER as Zaco.
HILDA SHIRLEY as Myra.
Wire or write,
ARTHUR HINTON, to-day, Elephant & Castle T., S.E. Monday, Lyric, Hammersmith.

MISS NORA CARTON'S CO.
Autumn Tour with Russell Vaun's Latest Dramatic Success
"TEMPTATION."
Terrific reception at Sutton-in-Ashfield. Verdict:—The best all-round show seen here for months. Refer Mark Lorne, Esq.

WANTED, Aug. 22 (follow Barnsley), Sept. 5 and 26, Nov. 7 (precede Ramsgate). Dec. 26 (between Warrington and Swansea). All coms., MARTIN COMSTOCK, Cambridge Theatre, Spennymoor.

WANTED, May 30, to precede Scarborough, for "A SENSE OF HUMOUR."
Also June 20, to follow Brighton.
Wire for May 30.
BRADSHAW, Royal, Edinburgh.

"THE CINGALEE."
WANTED, July 4, 11, Aug. 22, 29, Sept. 5, Oct. 10, 17, Xmas.
HALDANE CRICHTON, Royal, Bradford.

"LITTLE PHIL'S MOTHER."
WANTED, Theatres for Oct. 31, Nov. 14, 21, and 28.
Address, FRANK M. THORNE,
Newlands Cottage, Cloughton, near Scarboro'.

"LUCKY 'LIZA."
WANTED, July 11 and 18, for this Scream.
DICKIE CLARE, Empire, Oldham.

"MAN AND WIFE."
"MAN AND WIFE."
"MAN AND WIFE."
By Walter Howard.
ETHEL GRIFFIES & MARGARET SKELTON'S TOUR.
WANTED, for above (by arrangement with E. Van Biene), Aug. 1, on, with exceptions.
First-class Company, including Miss Griffies.
Good Scenery, Wardrobe, and Properties.
Address all communications,
GRIFFIES and SKELTON,
Opera House, Bournemouth.

WANTED, Good Theatres, for Nov. 14 and Xmas, for the Great Success, "His Real Wife." Address, T. E. WARD, T. R., Birkenhead.

WANTED, May 30, June 6 (?), for either of his well-known Successes,
"A WOMAN WORTH WINNING"
or
"THE BEGINNING AND THE END."
Novel, Attractive, and Certain Money-pullers.
Also a few autumn dates.
Apply, A. B. MACKAY, T. R., Stratford, E.

WANTED, June 6, July 25, Aug. 8, for "Under the Iron Heel." Wire, WILSON HOWARD, Gaiety, Leith: then, Palace, Newcastle.

"THE ANGEL OF HIS DREAMS."
G. A. DE GRAY and H. MASTERMAN'S CO.
WANTED, Big Theatres, Oct. 31, Nov. 28, Dec. 12, Jan. 2, Feb. 6. Managers make enquiries about this mascot. GEORGE A. DE GREY, P. T., Bradford: next, Lyric T., Liverpool.

"THE SHADOW OF A CRIME."
WANTED, June 6 (to follow Sheffield), June 20 (to follow Pontypridd).
June 6, 20, and various onwards.
WALTER J. HORNE,
To-day, St. James's T., Long Eaton.
Next week, Palace, Derby.

"MAN TO MAN."
EDWARD LLOYD and CLIFFORD BOWN'S CO.
WANTED, Aug. 15, Sept. 19, Lancs. or Yorks.
EDWARD LLOYD, Queen-square Hotel, Bath.

THEATRES WANTED.

MORTON POWELL ENTERPRISES.
WANTED, Wanted, Dates,
"DRIVING A GIRL TO DESTRUCTION,"
by Mrs. Morton Powell.
July 11, Oct. 17, 31, Nov. 7, 14.
MORTON POWELL, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

"BROUGHT TO RUIN."
By Mrs. Morton Powell.
WANTED, Wanted, Dates.
"BROUGHT TO RUIN."
June 6, Sept. 26, Jan. 9, 16.

"A GIRL'S TEMPTATION."
By Mrs. Morton Powell.
WANTED, Wanted, Dates.
"A GIRL'S TEMPTATION."
May 30 (through transferring, King's, Hammersmith), July 25, Aug. 22, Nov. 14, 28.
MORTON POWELL, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

"FROM MILL GIRL TO MILLIONAIRESS."
By Mrs. Morton Powell.
WANTED, Wanted, Dates.
"FROM MILL GIRL TO MILLIONAIRESS."
Only Dates,
Oct. 3, 17, Jan. 9, 30, March 27, Aug. 7.
MORTON POWELL, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

MORTON POWELL ENTERPRISES.
WANTED, Wanted, Dates.
Mrs. Charles Sugden's Tour in New Play by Mrs. Morton Powell.
"WHEN IT WAS DARK,"
Let to Oswald Cray, Esq.
"GREED OF GOLD,"
Let to Messrs. Fox and Leonard.
Plays to Let.
Scenery bought, sold, or made to order.
MORTON POWELL, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

Ireland's Representative Comedian,
CHALMERS MACKEY,
in
"ROLLICKING RORY"
and
"THE WEARING OF THE GREEN."
WANTED, Wanted, Theatres, September, on, 1911.
May 23, Hippodrome, Scarborough.

MR. AND MRS. F. R. BENSON AND COMPANY.
MR. AND MRS. F. R. BENSON AND COMPANY.
Autumn Tour, 1910.
Only vacant date, Nov. 14, to follow Leeds and precede Bradford.
WANTED, First-class Theatre.
Write or wire,
R. HALFORD FORSTER,
11, Henrietta-street, Covent Garden.

FRED GRANVILLE'S PRODUCTIONS, LTD.
"THE BETTER LAND."
WANTED, for this phenomenally Successful Domestic Drama,
June 13, June 13, June 13,
June 27, July 4, 11, 18, Aug. 8, and later.

"ANOTHER MAN'S WIFE."
Wanted, for this Great Attraction,
June 27, July 4, 11, 18, 25, Aug. 1, 15, Sept. 5, 12, 19, and later.
Look out for Grand New Production,

"SHE DID IT FOR LOVE."
Re Dates, FRED GRANVILLE, The Depository, Cazneau-street, Liverpool.
Wires, c/o "Pagoda, Liverpool."

MR. OSWALD CRAY'S Magnificent Production of S. Buchanan Rogerson's and Guy Thorne's Wonderful Play, "WHEN IT WAS DARK" (by arrangement with T. Morton Powell).
WANTED, Big Theatres, Aug. 1 (follow the Broadhead Tour, Manchester, precede the Metropole, Birmingham), Aug. 15 and 29, Sept. 5 and 12 (precede Barnsley), Sept. 26, Oct. 17 and 24, Nov. 28, Dec. 26, and Spring. Many thanks to Milton Bode, Esq., W. W. Kelly, Esq., Andrew Melville, Esq., Z. Andrews, Esq., W. K. Gatley, Esq., W. Payne Seddon, Esq., and many others, for contracts. OSWALD CRAY, Theatre Royal, Merthyr.

CHARLES GIBBON'S TOURS.
WANTED, for the Magnificent Production, "ALONE IN LONDON."
"ALONE IN LONDON."
Carefully-selected Company, including
MISS NELLIE CLYDE
as Nan, the Flower Girl.
Sept. 5, 12, 19, Oct. 3, 17, and Nov. 14, only Dates Vacant.
Wanted, for the Funniest Farcical Comedy of the day,
"THE LITTLE STRANGER."
"THE LITTLE STRANGER."
By Michael Morton.
From the Criterion Theatre.
Only Dates this year, July 4, 11, and 25 (?).
Address all coms., CHAS. GIBSON, T. R., Woolwich.

MESSRS. HAMILTON AND LOCKE'S TOUR.
"A WOMAN'S PAST."
WANTED, Big Theatres, Aug. 1, 15, 29, Sept. 5, 19, and on, with exceptions.
Once or Twice Nightly.
Refer Harris Fineberg, Esq., or Manager of any Theatre visited.
Tenth week of Tour. Booked at following Theatres:—
May 23, Alexandra, Birmingham;
May 30, King's Theatre, Seacombe;
June 6, Theatre Royal, Wolverhampton;
June 13, Empire, Fleetwood;
June 20, T. R., Scarborough;
June 27, Palace, Newcastle (twice nightly);
July 4, T. R., Ashton-under-Lyne;
July 11, Grand, Doncaster;
July 18, Alexandra, Hull.
Address, CHARLES LOCKE, Alexandra, Birmingham.

PANTOMIME 1910-1911.
"BABES IN THE WOOD." "ALADDIN."
"BEAUTY AND THE BEAST."
WANTED, Managers with Vacant Dates, for First-class Pantomime Productions.
Communicate with FRED GRANVILLE,
The Depository, Cazneau-street, Liverpool.

"MRS. WIGGS OF THE CABBAGE PATCH."
"MRS. WIGGS OF THE CABBAGE PATCH."
"MRS. WIGGS OF THE CABBAGE PATCH."
WANTED, Aug. 1, 8, 15, and 22, Sept. 12, 26, Oct. 31.
Coms., WALTER D. NICOLL, 106, Strand, W.C.

SILVERSTONE and WRIGHT'S CO.
"THE NIHILIST; OR, A PRINCE'S SECRET WEDDING."
Let us point out to you the trend of the times.
Enormous Success.
Drama Twice Nightly.
Lyric, Liverpool, Monday.
Local Management expressed amazement at tremendous reception.
WANTED, Theatres. Vacant June 27, Sept. 12, 19, 26, Oct. 10, 17, on. SILVERSTONE, T. R., Bolton.

June 6,
"THE SORROWS OF SATAN"
and
"NANA, THE RAGE OF PARIS."
WANTED, June 6 and 13, various onward dates.
Either or both plays. Once or twice nightly.
Wire, LOUIS ESMOND, Muncaster Theatre, Bootle.
May 23, Opera House, Coventry.

The New Musical Comedy,
"MISS PLASTER—OF PARIS."
"MISS PLASTER—OF PARIS."
"MISS PLASTER—OF PARIS."
WANTED, Good Theatres, June 6, follow Blyth), 13, 20, Aug. 1.
HENRY L. OSMOND, next, Grand Theatre, Stockton.

WANTED, E. Hill Mitchelson's Co., vacant, "Who is She?" Oct. 31, Nov. 14; "King and the Unknown Woman," Aug. 29, Sept. 5, 26, Oct. 10, 31, Nov. 7.
Address, care of "The Era."

WANTED, Theatres or Halls, May 30, onwards, for a First-class Variety Combination.
Address, E. DOTTERDOG, Empire, Oldham.

THEATRES WANTED.

MISS HILDA BEVERLEY
in
"A WOMAN OF TWO LIVES,"
By Charles Darrell.
Production, July 18, Junction T., Manchester.
WANTED, Wanted, Oct. 10.
Nov. 14,
Dec. 26.
Only Vacant Dates this year.
MISS HILDA BEVERLEY, Alexandra T., Hull.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES DRAYCOTT'S COMPANIES.
"HER PATH OF SORROW,"
By Mrs. F. G. Kimberley.
Another Triumph at the Osborne, Manchester, last week. Five return dates immediately booked. No comment needed.
WANTED, Theatre, Vacant Sept. 19, Nov. 7, Dec. 26, Jan. 2, 9, and few later.
Répertoire Company.
No Finer or Bigger Attraction Touring.
Never fails. Vacant Nov. 14 (North), Jan. 2 and 9.
Vacant Nov. 14 (North), Jan. 2 and 9.
"THE HEART BOWED DOWN,"
By Mrs. F. G. Kimberley.
A Great Play. A Splendid Production.
To be produced at the Junction Theatre, Manchester, Feb. 13. London production Feb. 27, Lyric Theatre, Hammersmith. Vacant March 6, 13, 20, May 8, 22, and 29.
Apply at once, for all companies, to
CHARLES DRAYCOTT,
Next four weeks (stock), Prince's T., Accrington.

WANTED, June 20, July 18,
THE WILSON BARRETT
ORIGINAL VERSION
of the Famous Play,
"EAST LYNNE"
(BULLOCK VERSION),
by Arrangement with J. Pitt Hardacre.
TOM WATT'S SPECIALLY-SELECTED CO.
Broke all records at the Theatre Royal, Belfast, week commencing April 11. Gross receipts £306. 10,040 persons paying for admission during the week. Hundreds turned away on the Saturday evening. Return date immediately booked.
The following week played to £322 at the Queen's Theatre, Dublin. Refer to Messrs. Fred Warden and F. Marriott Watson.
Note.—No one but Mr. Tom Watt has any interest whatsoever in this production, and the sole theatrical rights of this version are vested in him.

Managers requiring a sound Attraction and sure Money-maker, wire or write,
TOM WATT, 6, Adelphi-chambers, John-street, W.C.

Vacant June 20, July 18, 25, and on, with exceptions. May 23, Theatre Royal, Bristol.

MR. BULMER'S ENTERPRISES.
"THE GIRL WHO WENT ASTRAY."
"THE GIRL WHO WENT ASTRAY."
"THE GIRL WHO WENT ASTRAY."
The Drama that is averaging £200 a week.
Three weeks' receipts exceed £1,000.
Vacant Oct. 10, Dec. 5, Xmas.
Vacant Oct. 10, Dec. 5, Xmas.
"THE TYRANT."
"THE TYRANT."
"THE TYRANT."
(By arrangement with Miss Marie Dagmar.)
WANTED, Aug. 1, on, with exceptions.
FRED BULMER,
Managers' Club, Savoy-mansions, London, W.C.

MISS FLORENCE BAINES' CO.
"MISS LANCASHIRE, LIMITED."
A Musical Farce, in two Acts.
WANTED, good Theatres, Aug. 8, 15, Nov. 7, 14, and various Spring.
New Musical Farce in Active Preparation, by the Author of "Miss Lancashire, Limited."
Address, Miss FLORENCE BAINES, King's, Seacombe.

MRS. JOHN LAWSON
in a Triple Bill of One-Act Plays:
"WOMAN AND THE APPLE."
"THE DEVIL'S SUNDAY."
"BRIDE FOR A LIVING."
WANTED, May 23 (?), 30, June 13, 27.
V. C. NEWMAN, H. M., Dundee, until Saturday. After, Theaterbau, London.

WANTED, Dates, at First-class Theatres, Music Halls, Piers, &c., for The Great Raymond and Company. See Companies Page. Such an entertainment has never been seen before.—Vide Press. En route.

ARTISTS WANTED.

WANTED, Short Gentleman, Jew Boy ("Damozel"), play piano; "Naked Truth," Character Comedian, Eccentric Light Comedian. Terms, &c. (no wires), MARK BLOW, 11, St. Edmund's-terrace, London.

WANTED, Company, for Stock, with few exceptions, South Coast, Summer. Lowest terms (letters only). CHARLES KITTS, 14, Salisbury-road, Richmond, Surrey.

WANTED, First-class Artists, Stock, Ellesmere Port. Rehearse 25th, open 30th. Two pieces weekly. Summer terms. COLEMAN DAVIES, 45, Henrietta-street, Preston.

STOCK SEASON.
MERTHYR, CARDIFF, & BARGOED.
WANTED, First-class Leading Lady to Star; also First-class Comedians, Chambermaids, and Responsibles.
Apply to A. JACKSON WITHERS, Theatre R., Merthyr.

WANTED, Robust, also Light, Comedians, London.
Lowest terms, &c., Box 7,750, "The Era."

WANTED, Lady for Sketch, Emotional Actress, powerful singing voice, able play piano an advantage. Write, stating salary required. Box 7,723, "The Era."

WANTED, Heavy Man, also Juvenile Gent., young, and used to portable. Summer terms. FRANK PAYNE, 19, Brook-street, Melton Mowbray.

WANTED, Utility Gentleman, capable of Touching-up Scenery, Summer Season, Stock, South Coast. Lowest terms, references. Letters only. CHARLES KITTS, 14, Salisbury-road, Richmond, Surrey.

WANTED, at Once, Eight Children, from 8 to 10, to Train for Stage Dancing. Apply by letter to MLLE. CORA KATTI-LANNER, 40, North-side, Clapham Common, S.W.

WANTED, Known.—Amateurs, if you wish to go on the stage, consult LYNN and HARDING, Savoy House, Savoy-street, Strand. No preliminary fees of any kind.

WANTED, all Artists to Know that "Stage Facts and Figures" may now be obtained from LYNN and HARDING, Savoy House, Strand, price 2s. 6d., post free 2s. 9d.

News of the World says: An invaluable little book.

WANTED, Dramatic Artists who experience difficulty in obtaining copies of "The Era" at any of Messrs. Smith and Sons' Bookstalls to kindly communicate with the PUBLISHER, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Known, Combine Tuition in Stage Dancing (on stage) with Holiday.
Sandgate House, facing Sea, Sandgate.

WANTED, Known, Mme. Adah Payne, the Australian Prima Donna, late of Moody-Manners' Opera Co., at Liberty May 30 and June 6. Thanks for offers. To-day, Alexandra, Pontefract; next week, Royal, Warrington.

PANTOMIME ARTISTS WANTED.

PANTOMIME, 1910-1911.
"BABES IN THE WOOD." "ALADDIN."
"BEAUTY AND THE BEAST."
WANTED, Artists, in all Lines. Full particulars, terms, refs., and where working next six weeks, to FRED GRANVILLE, The Depository, Cazneau-st., Liverpool.

WANTED, for Various Pantomimes, Artists in all Lines. Chorus Ladies and Gentlemen. Address, E. DOTTRIDGE, Empire, Oldham.

PANTOMIME ARTISTS WANTED.

JAMES KIDDIE'S PANTOMIME.
Xmas, 1910
"CINDERELLA,"
Alexandra Opera House, Sheffield.
"CINDERELLA,"
Theatre Royal, Blackburn.
"DICK WHITTINGTON,"
Royalty Theatre, Chester.
WANTED, Artists in all Lines for above, Principal Boys, Principal Girls, Second Boys and Girls, Fairy Queens, Quartette and Trio of Speciality Dancers, Principal Comedians, Dame, Sisters, Demon Kings, Knockabout Comedians, Male Quartette of Vocalists.
100 Ladies not under 5ft. 6in. for Ballet and Chorus.
Address, stating age, height, photo (with stamped envelope for return of same), experience, and recent reference, and say where can be seen working for the next four weeks, to JAMES KIDDIE, Alexandra Theatre, Widnes.

SCENIC ARTISTS WANTED.

WANTED, really good Scenic Artist (own brushes), quick, effective, and capable first-class work. Permanency to suitable man. References, age, terms. Box 7,719, "The Era."

WANTED, Quick, All-round Expert Scenic Artist, constant. Apply by letter, with terms required, to T. B. H., 141, Portman-market, London, N.W.

SCENIC ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Scenery, Contracts, Productions. Our Paint Frames, 40 by 34 Theatres completely fitted with Scenery, Ropes, Blocks, Cleats, &c. Estimates and Designs submitted free. Scenery bought and exchanged. FRED WILKINS and BRO., LTD., 27-35, Duke-street, Liverpool. Telegrams, "Theatrical."

WANTED, Known, Scenery, Properties, Profile Boards.
BERNASCONI'S, LTD., Scenic Artists,
41, Gore-street, Liverpool. Tel. 732 Royal.

SCENERY.
WANTED, Contracts for Scenery, Pantomimes, Dramas, Sketches, &c.
Reasonable terms. Estimates free.
TOWNSEND and Co., Rotunda Theatre, Liverpool.

SCENERY OR PROPERTIES.
WANTED, Contracts, New or Secondhand, Hire or Purchase. Largest stock in London. Estimates free. SHARP, 272, St. James-road, Old Kent-road. Tel., 497 Hop.

WANTED, Contracts for Painting Scenery, First-class Work guaranteed. CECIL E. HICKS, Painting Room, Princess's Theatre, Oxford-street, London, W.

WANTED, by Philip Small, Scenic Artist, Engagement or Contract. Town or Provinces. Address, 15, Salisbury-terrace, Winter-street, Sheffield.

WANTED, situation by Scenic Artist Improver. Landscapes or Interiors, good worker. W. L. BRITTON, 10, Tournay-road, Fulham, London, S.W.

WANTED, Known, Theatrical Advertising Curtains, designed, painted, and written. Distance no object. Real good showy work. WILL MOLESWORTH, Shirley, Warwickshire.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BOROUGH OF LOWESTOFT.
SPARROW'S NEST CONCERTS.
WANTED, a Manager for the above Concerts for the Summer Season of Nine Weeks, commencing July 11. Salary £20 for the Season, payable in weekly instalments, and 5 per cent. commission on all receipts over £900.
Applications, with copies only of three recent testimonials, to be sent to me before the 28th inst.
R. BEATTIE NICHOLSON,
Town Clerk.
Town Hall,
Lowestoft.
May 17, 1910.

WANTED, to open June 13, Gentleman, to learn the duties of Acting-Management.
Premium required.
Box 7,738, "The Era."

WANTED, a Smart Stage Manager, with experience of Musical Productions, for West-End Theatre. Apply, with full particulars of capacity and experience, to
Box 7,748, "The Era."

WANTED, Stage-Manager and Electrician. State age, experience, &c.,
D. J. CLARKE, Argyle Theatre, Birkenhead.

WANTED, Agent, used to Travelling Circuses and Menageries. State particulars in first letter. PURCHASE'S Menageries, Long Sutton, Monday; South Petherton, Somerset, Tuesday.

WANTED, by Ladies' Trio, Violin, 'Cello, Piano, good London Agent.
Apply, stating terms, Box 7,743, "The Era."

WANTED, Good Property Man, Sober and Reliable, open at once, used to Portables. Wire or write, JAMES, Standard Theatre, Ledbury, Glos.

WANTED, Immediately, Smart, Expert Mechanic; must be thoroughly capable of building, repairing, or making anything required in metal; must assist on stage, and be generally useful; only an energetic, healthy man, who is an absolute master of mechanics and fond of his work need apply; strict sobriety essential; must give two weeks on trial at regular wages; if satisfactory, long engagement with illusionist touring. State age, salary required, experience, full particulars, and reference.
Address, Box 7,718, "The Era."

WANTED, First-class Window-biller, not afraid of work, to help in theatre at night and make himself generally useful. Permanent position. Write, stating terms and previous experience. HARRY SLINGSBY, Empire, Hull.

WANTED, by A. G. Cullingford, Acting Management, Advance or Box Office. Town or Country. Thoroughly experienced in every detail, back and front. Picture show not objected to. Wire or write, 13D, Kingwood-road, Fulham, S.W.

WANTED, Engagement by London Manager, with expert knowledge of the business and of building work. MANAGER, 39, Perham-road, London, W.

WANTED, re-engagement as Manager, Theatres, Varieties, Rinks, Pictures, Tours. Expert departmental knowledge. Highest credentials. HARRY HUNTER, Princess Rink, Nottingham.

WANTED, Known, Assistant-Manager seeks Situation, five years' experience, hall just closing. A. B. C., 81, Wise-road, Stratford.

WANTED, Post as Assistant Stage-Manager and Small Parts (low comedian). Full particulars to SEQUAH, 18, Eldon-street, Leicester.

WANTED, Known, James Leco, Circus Agent, is at Liberty for Tenting Season, knows country well, either England, Ireland, Scotland, or Wales. Address, 54, Plains of Waterloo, East Cliff, Ramsgate, Kent.

WANTED, Known, B. W. Watkinson, the working Bill Inspector and Advertising Manager, at Liberty. 2½ years Hippo., Sheffield; 12 years' experience. Highest Credentials. 38, Brook-st, Kennington, S.E.

MUSICIANS WANTED.

WANTED, Good Musical Director, to Supply Band of Twelve, for July, Aug., Sept., for ten weeks, Royal Victoria Pavilion, Ramsgate, to play on Promenade during the day and Theatre at night; also give Sunday Concerts. Write particulars, lowest terms, to CHARLES PRICE, as above.

WANTED, First-class Leader; also Pianist. Café Experience, June 25 to end September. F. H. JEPSON, The Palace, Blackpool.

MUSICIANS WANTED.

WANTED, a Deputy Conductor, for Touring Military Band, permanent engagement; must be thoroughly experienced and reliable, preference given to a man who is capable performer on some military band instrument.
Reply, stating full particulars, references, and lowest salary, to
Box 7,724, "The Era."

WANTED, First Cornet, for Empire, Birmingham, and Empire, Hackney; must be first-class experienced players; permanent engagement. Apply by letter, stating lowest terms and references, to M., Moss and STOLL COMPANIES, Cranbourn Mansions, Cranbourn-street, London, W.C.

WANTED, Cornet, Horn, and Euphonium, open Monday, 23rd. Lowest terms; two sessions. CUNNINGTON, Olympia Rink, Merthyr.

WANTED, Good Cornet, open at once. Terms, 32s. 6d. Monday, Gorey; Tuesday, Arklow. BAINBRIDGE, Bandmaster.

BRIGHTON MUNICIPAL ORCHESTRA.
WANTED, to commence on June 27, for permanency, first-class Solo C.arionet. Good salary to really fine player. Apply, JOSEPH SAINTON, Musical Director to the Corporation, Brighton. Mr. Stubbins please write.

WANTED, for Sedgwick's Menagerie, to join at once, Euphonium, terms 30s. per week. Ferndale, Saturday; Tylerstown, Monday; Pentre, Tuesday; South Wales.

WANTED, Euphonium, Monday next, 27s. 6d.; two sessions. Apply,
PRICE, 3, North Hill-road, Ipswich.

WANTED, First Horn, Season, July 4. Refs. to F. H. JEPSON, Mus. Dir., The Palace, Blackpool.

WANTED, Second French Horn, conversant with Military Journals, June 20 to Sept. 18. References, terms, Mr. E. HOLLAND, Winter Gardens, Great Yarmouth.

PORTSMOUTH HIPPODROME.
WANTED, First-class 'Cellist, used to quick variety and standard works; others useless. Send age, terms, and references. AMOS PARKER, Musical Adviser, De Frece Circuit, Hippodrome, Portsmouth.

WANTED, Harpist, also Good Comedian, Al Fresco, Ireland, inland, open Sunday, 29th, tenth season. COOKE, Poste Restante, Athlone. No fares advanced.

WANTED, Lady Pianist and Vocalist, for Cinematograph Entertainment. Age, references. Lowest terms, photo. E. G. FALCON, County Theatre, Bedford.

WANTED, Experienced First-class Pianist, for Picture Show, Lancashire. Write, stating lowest. HARRY DEAN, 7, Cross Lances-road, Hounslow, W.

WANTED, Drums, Trombone, and E flat Bass, comfortable shop. Wire, E. CUNNINGTON, Bandmaster, Scott's Circus, Swinford, Co. Mayo, Ireland.

WANTED, Lady Instrumentalists, Vocalists, Leader, Flute, and Pianist, commence July 1. STOCKHAM'S Ladies' English Orchestra, 32, Rembrandtplein, Amsterdam. Stamp 2½d.

WANTED, good Double Drummer, used to Rinks, open Monday next, London, 2 sessions. Apply, to-day, CONDUCTOR, Stamford Hill Rink, N.

WANTED, to complete well-known Military Band, for three months' season on South Coast, Musicians. All instruments write in. Good Double Drummer, with Effects.
All must be Competent Musicians.
Box 7,670, "The Era."

WANTED, Pianist, Violin, Clarionet, and 'Cello, or Double Bass, for New Liner.
Apply, BANDMASTER, 87, Darnley-road, Gravesend.

WANTED, First-class Pianist, used to Al Fresco, twelve weeks certain, inside. Full particulars to KITCHINGMAN, Aquarium, Scarboro'.

WANTED, Pianist, open Next Week. Must play MS. at sight. Age, terms, particulars. BARRETT, 14, Cairo-terrace, March, Cambs.

WANTED, Piccolo, B flat Clarionets, Euphonium, and Drums, for Pitching. Terms, shares, or send lowest terms. BANDMASTER, 69, Carlisle-st., London, N.W.

REANO
and his FAMOUS BANDS.
WANTED, for these Well-known Organisations. Brilliant Military Instrumentalists.
Correspondence invited from all Instruments.
Applications only entertained from thoroughly experienced, absolutely reliable and gentlemanly performers, and to such a Permanent, Comfortable Engagement is offered.
Reply,
stating if double-handed,
full experience,
all particulars,
references, and lowest terms,
to
T. HAYDEN REANO,
Bedford Hotel, Southampton-row, London, W.C.
Interviews by appointment only.

WANTED, Musicians who experience difficulty in obtaining copies of "The Era" at any of Messrs. Smith and Son's Bookstalls, or from any Newsagent in the United Kingdom, to kindly communicate with the PUBLISHER, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

MUSICIANS' WANTS.

WANTED, Known, First-class Experienced and Competent Music Hall Conductor, will shortly be at Liberty. Box 7,731, "The Era."

WANTED, by Variety Musical Director, Dis., Re-engagement, in London or Suburbs, T.T., good refs, steady. Box 7,732, "The Era."

WANTED, by Conductor (à la Continental) or Leader, Seaside Engagement. Photo, refs. C., 8, Grafton-square, Clapham, London.

WANTED, Engagement, as Conductor or Pianist, any business, excellent references, large orchestral library, Disengaged. GRAHAME, 3, Newcastle-st., North Shields.

WANTED, Harry Petersen, Conductor 6½ years Palace, Walthamstow, open for engagements, Conductor or Piano-Conductor. Address, 2, Wilson-street, Walthamstow.

WANTED, Known, Smart Conductor (Violin), disengaged, experienced, and reliable, excellent library; highest references. WILFRED BALL, 50, Tunnel-road, Wavertree, Liverpool.

WANTED, by Musical Director, Engagement Varieties, First-class only, London preferred. Address, MUSICAL-DIRECTOR, 25, Comyn-road, Clapham Junction, S.W.

WANTED, re-engagement by Smart Mus. Dir. (Piano and Violin) through closing. Any business. Can open Monday. SYDNEY ALDRETT, c/o White Lion Hotel, Market-street, Leigh, Lancs.

WANTED, Known, Leader or First Violin, good Reader, Brilliant Tone. Engagement in good Music Hall. Highest ref. Box 7,717, "The Era."

WANTED, Engagement as Leader or First Violin. Fully experienced and competent. First-class references. L. ROGERS, 1, Heygate-avenue, Southend-on-Sea.

WANTED, Engagement by Experienced Leader and First Cornet. Address, ROSE and FEMMIE SCHOENTHAL, 137, Cannon-st.-rd., Commercial-road, E.

MUSICIANS' WANTS.

WANTED, Season Engagement, First-class Leader. Well up in Variety, Concerto, &c. State terms. VIOLINIST, 6, Mendell-rd., Shepherd's Bush, W.

WANTED, through closing, position as Leader or First Violin. At Liberty May 30. J. MARSH, 7, Carthland-lane, Paisley, N.B.

WANTED, Engagement, by Reliable, Steady Violinist, any business, excellent refs., strictly sober. A. SHIPMAN, 91A, St. Martin's-lane, London, W.C.

WANTED, Engagement by reliable Violinist, First or Répétiteur, open Monday or Season Engagement; first-class references. VIOLINIST, 25, Messenger-street, Nelson.

WANTED, Engagement, as First Violin, late Army Staff Band, also experienced variety, theatre, &c., young, abstainer. VIOLINIST, 58, Gt. Titchfield-st., W.

WANTED, Engagement by Competent Violinist as Leader, First Violin or Second. Theatre, Variety, or any Business. Also First-class Pianist. Both at Liberty May 21 through closing. F. H. BRIDGWATER, Drews Holloway, Halesowen, near Birmingham.

WANTED, Engagement as Violin or Viola. Any business. Write or wire.
KIRKMAN, 120, Albert-road, Blackpool.

WANTED, Engagement(as First or Second Violin, can combine second or third Clarionet. Refs. VIOLINIST, 48, Up. Victoria-st., Darlington.

WANTED, Violinist, only genuine offer, any business, good reader, memoriser, brilliant soloist and vocalist. VIOLINIST, 152, Lawkholme-lane, Keighley.

WANTED, Engagement as First or Second Violin, any business. Competent, reliable. Capable of Leader. J. FURNISS, 26, Worcester-st., Gloucester.

WANTED, by First Violinist or Small Orchestra, re-engagement. Good répertoire, any business, good refs. PHIPPS, c/o Clements, 176, Gt. George's-street, Glasgow.

WANTED, an Engagement, by a Brilliant Solo Cornet and Trumpet, late solo performer the Crystal Palace, Queen's Hall, Military or Orchestral, seaside or town, age 33, smart, gentlemanly. SOLOIST, 41, Byrne-road, Balham, S.W.

WANTED, Engagement, by C. Lillie, Solo Cornet, Mus. Dir., Premier Rink, Grantham, extensive library, highest refs., iron lip. Address above. Closing Sat.

WANTED, Engagement, Solo Cornet, Disengaged end of month, any business, long experience, excellent refs., London or seaside. LEEDHAM, 73, Clarence-road, Sutton.

WANTED, Engagement, by Cornet and Trombone, together or separate, good refs., any business. HOYLE, 72, Bolton-st., Ramsbottom, Lancs.

WANTED, by Solo Cornet, Engagement, through closing, Military or String, experienced, reliable, exceptional refs. Address, SOLO CORNET, Hippodrome, Greenock.

WANTED, Engagement, by Good Solo Cornet, steady and reliable, at Liberty after May 28. R. H. GORE, Theatre Royal, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

WANTED, by Cornet, at Liberty end of May, re-engagement. Young and reliable; any business. W. FORD, Carshalton-road, Sutton.

WANTED, Engagement by Good Cornet, thoroughly experienced, reliable, any business. Address, FOWLER, 48, Frewell-buildings, Bourne Estate, Holborn, E.C.

WANTED, by Cornet (or conduct Military or Brass), Trombone, and Drums, engagement. Dis. through fire. Roberts, Brook-lane, Oldham.

WANTED, Engagement, by Cornet, any business.
J. C. HOLDEN, c/o A.M.U., Great Newport-st., W.C.

WANTED, Season Engagement, Seaside, late Clarionet, Sandhurst College, Military or String. Reliable. HILL, 56, Broadway, London Fields, N.E.

WANTED, Engagement by Clarionet Player, Military Band or Orchestra. Thoroughly experienced in both. 10, Liverpool-street, King's Cross, London, W.C.

WANTED, it Known, Miss Grace Nicholls, Double Bass, is at Liberty to accept Offers, any business. 74, Cowley-road, Ilford.

WANTED, by Bassoon, Engagement, any business, disengaged through closing; good ref. T. HOPKINS, Upper-street, Fleet, Hants.

WANTED, Engagement, for Double Bass, long experience, age 33, first-class references. Letters only, Box 7,729, "The Era."

WANTED, by E. flat Bass, Engagement, Army experience, late prize band, reliable. Apply, PENFOLD, 2, Sidney-street, Ashford, Kent.

WANTED, Engagement, by Double Bass, steady and reliable, open at once. HARRY HARE, c/o McIntosh, 48, Victoria-road, Dundee.

WANTED, Situation, for Double Bass, Good Performer, could combine with E flat bass. W. PRANGLEN, 227, New Kent-road, S.E.

WANTED, by Will Darley, Contra Bass (Carl Rosa), re-engagement, open June 12; highest references, experienced. T. R. Concerts, Birmingham.

WANTED, by Experienced Trombone, Season Engagement, Orchestral or Military, good refs. TROMBONE, H. M., Theatre, Aberdeen, N.B.

WANTED, Engagement by Good Trombone Player, Rink or other business. Wire or write. J. COOPER, 24, Birchmore-road, Gloucester.

WANTED, Engagement by Trombone, good, experienced, any business, first-class refs., steady and reliable. Would deputise. ALBERT MATTHEWS, Oadby, Leicester.

WANTED, Engagement, Trombone or Euphonium, through closing, Liberty 30th, 10 months present situation. JACK HUTCHINSON, 15, Park-st. West, Luton.

WANTED, Engagement, as Trombone or Euphonium, or could provide band of six, smart uniform. Apply, FRED PEEL, 94, Duke-st., Southport.

WANTED, Engagement, by Good Trombone, any business.
A. BOSTOCK, 5, Fox-road, Bristol.

WANTED, Known, Trombonist (Side), at Liberty.
T. ALTOBELLI, 83, Northcote-av., Southall, Middlesex.

WANTED, Engagement by Good Euphonium; also Geiss, Double Drummer and Effects, any business. Write GEO. COWLAND, 3, Perkins-st, Coventry.

WANTED, by Good Euphonium, Engagement (professional), thoroughly experienced, reliable, excellent refs., any business. JOHN STONE, 20, Old Orchard-st., Bath.

WANTED, Engagement by Experienced Orchestral Euphonium, good references. Wire, HOWARTH, 1, Wargrave-avenue, Stamford Hill. Write, 23, Santley-street, Clapham.

WANTED, by Euphonium, Engagement, Military or Orchestral, thoroughly experienced, can open at once. CHAS. GRICE, c/o Wilson, Theatre Buildings, Kirkcaldy.

WANTED, Engagement by Good Bombardon, combine String Bass. Respectable and reliable. Good references. B. R., 9, Denmark-road, Islington, London, N.

WANTED, Engagement by Bombardon. E flat, efficient and reliable. Combine Violin if required. NEWALL, 54, Howard-street, Worthing.

WANTED, Engagement, Efficient Monstre BB. at Liberty to-day. Wire BOMBARDON, c/o Lafayette Co., Empire, Hackney. Next week, 60, Peddie-street, Dundee.

MUSICIANS' WANTS.

WANTED, by experienced 'Cellist (Solo, Chamber Music, Orchestra), short Summer Engagement; highest references; Hotel party preferred; no uniform. Box 7,626, "The Era."

WANTED, Known, Miss Hilda Miller, 'Cellist, at Liberty, Engagement terminated in consequence of National Mourning. 32, Montrell-rd., Streatham Hill, S.W.

WANTED, by Oboe, Engagement, experienced in First-class Orchestral and Military Work. Highest references. Address, C. HERRICK, oboe, Grand Theatre, Hull.

WANTED, Known, Experienced and Good Oboeist seeks re-engagement Orchestra, Military or Variety, excellent credentials, abstainer. CHAPNESS, 219, Lyham-road, Brixton Hill, S.W.

WANTED, Engagement by Harpist. Brilliant Harpist, good Showman. Disengaged at present. Box 7,725, "The Era."

WANTED, by Harpist, Engagement, Eight Years' Opera Experience.
FAITH NUNN, 4, West-street, Cleethorpes.

WANTED, after May 27, by Two Ladies, Seaside Engagement with Orchestra or Concert Party, Flute, Piccolo, Violin, Piano, Mandoline, Banjo, and Vocalist, Experienced Accompanists, Soloists, and Expert Sight-readers. ROSETTI, 9, Victoria-road, Gravesend.

WANTED, Engagement by Flute and Piccolo, also Double Drums, together or separate. Can open immediately. BULLOCK, Queen's Theatre, Castleford.

WANTED, by Flute and Clarionet, Engagement, together or separate. Any business. Sober, experienced, reliable; good refs. Disengaged June 6. KARLSTEDT, 33, Mimosa-street, Fulham.

WANTED, Re-engagement, by thoroughly experienced and reliable Flautist (modern instruments). Address, ROBT. WALKER, 37, St. Mary-st., Newport, Mon.

WANTED, by Flute and Piccolo, Engagement, Orchestra or Military, thoroughly experienced, reliable, good refs. CULLEN, 9, Woodford-ter., Pavilion-rd., Worthing.

WANTED, Known, Engagements, Concerts, Banquets, At Homes, &c., Accompanist, Composer, Singers Coached. Miss KATHERINE MOORE, 7, Pilkington-road, Peckham, London.

WANTED, by Lady Pianist, experienced Accompanist, engagement. Board and expenses. Disengaged July 26, 6 weeks.
Apply Box 7,734, "The Era."

WANTED, Engagement, by Lady (A.G.S.M.), as Accompanist to Professional Lady or Orchestra. Address, L., 37, Perran-rd., Tulse Hill, S.W.

WANTED, Engagement by Lady Pianist, experienced in Dramatic and Variety Orchestral, or Solo. M. S. S., 59 Tideswell-road, Eastbourne.

WANTED, Engagement by Lady Pianist, Young, but Experienced.
G. B., 56 Clareville-grove, London, S.W.

WANTED, Summer Engagement, by Lady Pianist, Professional Soloist and Accompanist, experienced orchestral, good reader, hotel or concert party; would deputise. Box 7,737, "The Era."

WANTED, Re-engagement, Lady Pianist, experienced orchestral, dramatic, variety, pictures, good accompanist, pianist. 57, Wargrave-avenue, Stamford Hill, London, N.

WANTED, by Solo Pianist, engagement with Concert Party for Summer Tour. Would also accompany if desired. Salary not so much the object as a pleasant tour with nice people. Press notices, &c., on application.
Box 7,735, "The Era."

WANTED, Summer Engagement, by Experienced Pianist, Solo, Orchestral and Accompanist, seaside preferred. FRED HOOTON, 14, Clarendon-st., Nottingham.

WANTED, by Brilliant Solo Pianist and Accompanist, Summer Engagement with Concert Orchestra or First-class Party; last season Bridlington. A., 117, Wellesley-road, Great Yarmouth.

WANTED, Engagement by Pianist, used to any business. Can open at once. Excellent refs. Address, WHITEHEAD, pianist, 59, Albert-road, Blackpool.

WANTED, Engagement, as Pianist, experienced orchestral, any business, would combine with cornet, Liberty May 30. SALES, 67, Clarence-road, Sutton, Surrey.

WANTED, Known, Engagement, Good Double Drums and Effects, at Lib. at once, any business, through disappointment. JACK PEARSON, 24, Albion-street, Darlington, Co. Durham.

WANTED, Engagement by Double Drummer.
E. ERLAM,
43, Kempsford-gardens, Earl's Court.

WANTED, Engagement, by Double Drummer, any business. DRUMS, c/o 33, Harbury-road, Cannon Hill, Birmingham.

WANTED, Engagement, by Good Double Drummer, now at Liberty, all effects, any business, experienced, sober, reliable. 27, Towson-st., Liverpool.

WANTED, by Experienced Drummer and Tympanist, Deputising or Short Season, through closing. DRUMMER, c/o Mrs. McCourt, 4, Clarence-st, Paisley.

WANTED, Engagement, Drums, Tymps, Glock. All effects. References, J. Sykes, conductor of Palace, Southampton. Wire, R. WHITE, Bank Inn, Southampton.

WANTED, Engagement, Double Drums or Tymps and Drums, any business, first-class references, would accept deputising. EVANS, 63, Seaford-st., Shelton, Stoke-on-Trent.

WANTED, Known, Lady Guitarist, Disengaged for Troupe, &c., good stage experience and appearance. Add., letter only, Miss, 79, Millbrook-rd., Barrington-rd., Brixton.

WANTED, Engagements, Celebrated Ladies' Poppy Orchestras and Singers, from Brighton, Southport, Ramsgate Piers, Olympia, &c. Scarlet costume. 19, Bedford-place, Brighton.

THE RED ROSE ORCHESTRA.
MANTON-MYATT FAMILY.
WANTED, Known, just concluded highly successful Engagements at Royal Pier Pavilion, Aberystwyth, Pontypridd, &c., and fully Booked till Autumn.
One of the very best small orchestras before the public.—Vide Press.
All enquiries,
Madame MANTON-MYATT,
28, Rosendale-road, West Dulwich, S.E.

WANTED, Known, Celebrated Ladies' Cremona Orchestra, including Vocalists, &c.; smart uniform; any business. DOROTHEA A. VINCENT, 8, Grafton-sq., Clapham, S.W. 'Phone 990 Battersea.

WANTED, Known, Imperial Ladies' Orchestras, Vocalists, Bells, &c.; established 1890. Directress, Madame NELLIE BAKER, 114, Woodlands-road, Ilford. 'Phone 877 Ilford.

WANTED, Engagement, Ladies' Trio (refined). Good Instrumentalists, Violin, 'Cello, Piano, for summer months, one a good vocalist. Box 7,744, "The Era."

WANTED, Engagements for Ladies' Orchestra or Trio. Musicians send terms and photos. Mme. SILVESTER, 84, Cavendish-place, Eastbourne.

WANTED, Seaside Engagement for Miss Kathleen Wolseley's Quartette (two violins, 'cello, piano), Leader, Medallist, Associated Board, R.A.M. and R.C.M. Extensive Répertoire. 38, Chichele-road, Cricklewood.

WANTED, Engt., good small Military or Orchestral Band, any business, experience in Bandstand Programmes; highest references; uniforms. MADDISON, 11, Inver-rd., Clapton.

FOR CONTINUATION OF "WANTED" ADVTS. SEE PAGE 28.

MOSS' EMPIRES, LTD & STOLL COMPANIES SUBSEQUENT

(Moss, Stoll, Thornton & Allen Theatres, Amalgamated)

Chairman: SIR EDWARD MOSS

WORKING IN CONJUNCTION

Capital £2,086,000.

(Including Coliseum Syndicate, Ltd.)

Chairman OSWALD STOLL.

Managing Director: OSWALD STOLL

Assisting Director and Chief of Staff: FRANK ALLEN.

Department Superintendent and Chief Accountant: W. S. GORDON MICHIE.

Co-Operative Offices: CRANBOURN MANSIONS, CRANBOURN STREET, LONDON, W. C.

INTERVIEWS BY APPOINTMENT ONLY.

CALLS FOR MONDAY, MAY 23, 1910.

Telephone: 1050 and 1051 Gerrard.
Wires: Moss' Empires and Associated Properties, "Twigsome, London."

THE LONDON HIPPODROME

Rehearsal at 10 a.m. for :—

Russian Dancers, Yvette Guilbert, Bros. Miller, Marquis' Cobs, Henri Leoni, Campbell and Barber, Ray Wallace, Hardini Trio, Avolos, Animated Pictures, Raymond Phillips' Airship.

EMPIRE PALACE, EDINBURGH.

Rehearsal at 1.30 p.m. for :—

Ade Reeve, J. J. Dallas, Pictures, Marco Belli, Alexandra Dagmar, Tune Chewers, Spry and Monti, Jackley Trio, "The Little Stowaway."

EMPIRE THEATRE, GLASGOW.

Rehearsal at 12 noon for :—

Gaston Chevallier and Co., in "The Rat," Harry Roxbury and Co., in "On the Track," Pat Rafferty, Nellie Wigley, Victor's Juveniles, Syd Walker, Fred Barnes, Aida Martine, Bioscope, Hagedorn's Grotto.

COLISEUM, GLASGOW.

Rehearsal at 12 noon for :—

Lily Morris, Olga, Elgar, and Eli Hudson, A. G. Spry, Lux's Dogs, Hubert Carter and Co., Frank and Free, Chas. Robinson, Bioscope, De Wynne Bros., Jordan and Harvey.

GRAND THEATRE, GLASGOW.

Sixth Week, Stock Season, "Colleen Bawn" and "The Shaughraun."

ARDWICK THEATRE, MANCHESTER.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for :—

Lew Lake and Co., in "King Nobbler," Millie and Arthur, Little Ganty, Billy French, Fatmah Diard, Cavalli, Maxey and Pete, Dan Hendy, Bioscope, Abdullah Arabs.

HIPPODROME, MANCHESTER.

Rehearsal at 12 noon for :—

Evie Greene, Ike and Will Scott, Villions, Motramos, Harry Herbert, Bros. Redmond, King and Queenie, Beaty and Blanche, Bioscope, Chanti.

EMPIRE PALACE, BIRMINGHAM.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for :—

Bransby Williams, Waul Langtry, Ellis Barrieton, Findens, Laurie's "Belles of the Kitchen," Fred Curran, Rhoda Paul, Mimi Thornton, Bioscope, Bros. Egbert.

BORDESLEY PALACE, BIRMINGHAM.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for :—

Edward Marris' Stock Co., in "Harbour Lights."

GRAND, BIRMINGHAM.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for :—

Craggs, William Mollison and Co., Arthur Woodville, Dot Stephens, Astley's Circus, F. V. St. Clair, Ethel Bourne, Bioscope, Edward Davies, Bros. Durant.

PALACE, LEICESTER.

Rehearsal at 2.30 p.m. for :—

Gertie Gitana, Fielding and Hull, Walker and May, Takio, Marie Kendall, Siems, Tom Davies' Trio, Steve McCarthy, Bioscope, "The Organ Grinder."

EMPIRE, NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for :—

Karno's "Jimmy the Fearless," Woodhouse and Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Lucas, Yamamoto and Koyoshi, Amelie De L'Enclos, Brull and Hemsley, Jennie Hartley, Bioscope, Tom Clare, H. O. Wills.

EMPIRE PALACE, LIVERPOOL.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for :—

Ellaline Terriss, Maie Ash, Stanley Brett and Co., Conan and Doyle, Leo Tell, Lotto, Lilo, and Otto, J. A. Wilson, Lyons Trio, Nellie Farrell, Biscope, Helen Trix.

OLYMPIA, LIVERPOOL.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for :—

Ella Shields, Devon and Earle, Fred Shepherd, Master Edward Garratt and Co., Carmos, Peter Bermingham, Mlle. Eldee, Speedwell, Bioscope, Amy Augarde and Co.

EMPIRE, HACKNEY.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for :—

Ella Russell, Gwennie Hasto, Bros. Bright, Will Poluski, jun., Nelson Jackson, Peggy Pryde, Three Merrills, Two St. Johns, Bioscope, Horace Hunter.

EMPIRE, HOLLOWAY.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for :—

Billy Merson, Selkirk's Boy Scouts, Vandinoff, Bioscope, Nina Wood, New Macs, Ando's Japs, Smite and Smote, Miles-Stavordale Quintette, Horace Pollock.

EMPIRE, NEW CROSS.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for :—

The Great Lafayette, Haytors, Bioscope, Mezzettis, Ed. E. Ford, Stanley and Greenop, Sanford and Lyons.

BROADWAY THEATRE, NEW CROSS.

Rehearsal at 12 noon for :—

Gaston Mayer's Co., in "The Brass Bottle."

ALEXANDRA THEATRE, STOKE NEWINGTON.

Stock Company and Pictures.

EMPIRE, STRATFORD.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for :—

Will Evans, Bioscope, Harry Marte, Mabel Sinclair, Esta Stella, Three Van Dammes, La Berat, Sisters Jerome, Gothams, Alexandre and Hughes.

THE LONDON COLISEUM

Rehearsal at 10 a.m. for :—

Russian Dancers, Cecilia Loftus, Fragson, Lulu Russell, Alfred Agoust, Juliette's Sea Lions, Boden and Bell, Bioscope, Geo. Ali and Co., Liane D'Eve.

EMPIRE THEATRE, BRADFORD

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for :—

Mark Sheridan, Chas. T. Aldrich, Falco and Eida, Harry Leybourne, Rauschle, Talbot and Pearce, Maudie Francis, Bioscope, Julia Kent and Co., Marguerite Broadfoote.

EMPIRE, SWANSEA.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for :—

Kellinos, Ada Colley, Sisters St. Julian, Bessie Butt, Phil Rees' Stable Lads, G. W. Hunter, Ryan and Hall, Dot Hardy, Bioscope, Dion Wade.

EMPIRE, CARDIFF.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for :—

Chas. Austin and Co., in "Parker, P.C.," Tom E. Hughes, Lola Patey, Chas. Norton, Harvey's Boys and Girls, Ethel Newman, Frank Lynne, Chas. J. Johnson, Bioscope, Seven Perezoffs.

PHILHARMONIC HALL, CARDIFF.

Rehearsal at 3 p.m. for :—

Company as Booked.

EMPIRE, NEWPORT.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for :—

Mike Whallen, Orpheus, Chas. Santon, Wyndham and Kitty, Harry Friskey, Bert Williams, Sisters Caselli, Bioscope, D'Arc's Marionettes.

EMPIRE, NOTTINGHAM.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for :—

Chung Ling Soo, Frank H. Fox, Rossi Ashton, Smythsons, Humpsti-Bumsti, Lena Verdi, Rich Taylor, Bert Weston, Bioscope, Maidie Scott.

EMPIRE PALACE, SHEFFIELD.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for :—

R. G. Knowles, Van Biene and Co., Billy Hobbs, Heeley and Meeley, A Ba Be's Album, Brooklyn Comedy Four, Tiny Arnold, Bioscope, Oswald Williams, Marjorie Lawrence.

PALACE THEATRE, HULL.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for :—

George Lashwood, Tom Moore, Barrett and Knowles, La Freya, Addie Dorina, Frank Maura, Musical Silvo, Bioscope, A. C. Lilly and Co., in "Drummed Out."

EMPIRE PALACE, LEEDS.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for :—

Sam Mayo, Arthur Roberts and Co., in "The Importance of Being Another Man's Wife," Tom Stuart, Francoli Troupe, Gladys Mavius, Ben Albert, May Mars, Lyric Quartette, Bioscope, Gardner and Stoddard.

EMPIRE, SHEPHERD'S BUSH.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for :—

Jewel's "Change," Channings, Phillips and Merritt, Francis and Alfred, Henry Helme, Florence Yaymen, Lawrence Barclay, Lily Shaw, Bioscope, Twelve Fezzans.

The following are Booked in conjunction with the above:

EMPIRE, SUNDERLAND.

Rehearsal at 12 noon for :—

Bellclair Bros., Sisters Tower, Delevines, Mitchell and Cain, Wullie Waker, Georgina Leno, Bioscope, Roma and Romani.

EMPIRE PALACE, SOUTH SHIELDS.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for :—

Jack Lane, Graham and Barron, Johnny Walker, Vernon Troupe, May Henderson, Vera Rochdale, Pictures, Picitte and Lizette, &c.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE, WALSALL.

Rehearsal at 12 noon for :—

George Formby, Marconis, Arthur Slater, Staig's Steeplejacks, Drew and Alders, Amy Marsden, Bioscope, Alice Raymond.

EMPIRE, WEST HARTLEPOOL.

Rehearsal at 12 noon for :—

Courtiers, Alan Holt's Co., in "A Society Woman," Bioscope, Verno and Voyce, Fred Lincoln, Doris and Francis, Tate and Tate.

EMPIRE THEATRE, DUBLIN.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for :—

Jack Pleasants, Frank Cass, Johnny Fuller, Marsumas, Jessie Merrilees, Phil Parsons, Pictures, Park's Boys and Girls, &c.

EMPIRE THEATRE, BELFAST.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for :—

Gustave Fasola, Sylvia Du Barry, Carl and Carr, Ian Colquhoun, Fred Land, Bertha Winder, Pictures, Prince Milner Trio.

IMPERIAL HALL, WALSALL.

Company as Booked.

CROYDON HIPPODROME.

Closed for Alterations.

SPECIAL NOTE.—NO DEPUTIES WILL BE ACCEPTED AT REHEARSALS.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

RE APPLICATIONS FOR ENGAGEMENTS.—All applications by either Artists or their Agents must be made to the Head Office. Lowest terms must be stated, and distinction made between salaries required for larger and smaller towns. Vacant dates should be stated. If a list of existing bookings be sent, it will render selection easier. Artists employing agents should accredit one only at one time, as the friction arising when several Agents are employed at the same time, all expecting the one booking to go through each of them, often renders it expedient to avoid that booking altogether rather than give undeserved offence to several Agents. New Acts seeking Engagements, or turns not rebooked (possibly because they have played a series of dates without introducing new business), will facilitate matters by having their acts seen by our Districts Managers. Their Districts and Postal Addresses are as follow :—

EDINBURGH, GLASGOW, NEWCASTLE, and DISTRICT.—MR. S. GETHING, Empire Theatre, Glasgow.
LEEDS, SHEFFIELD, HULL, BRADFORD, and DISTRICT.—MR. T. GERALD MORTON, Empire Palace, Leeds.
BIRMINGHAM, NOTTINGHAM, LEICESTER, and DISTRICT.—MR. HATTON WHARTON, Empire Theatre, Nottingham.
LIVERPOOL, MANCHESTER, and DISTRICT.—MR. HORACE COLE, The Empire, Liverpool.
SOUTH WALES DISTRICT.—MR. ALBERT MITCHELL, Empire Theatre, Cardiff.
LONDON DISTRICT.—MR. J. CHRISTIE, Empire Theatre, Shepherd's Bush, W.
TOURS COMMITTEE.—LLEWELLYN JOHNS and DISTRICT MANAGERS.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SOUTH SHIELDS.—Artists and Agents wishing to submit TRIALS for their Acts in the North, should apply to the Manager, as Matinées are held every Wednesday for that purpose.

N.B.—MR. OSWALD STOLL or MR. FRANK ALLEN can be seen by appointment on all matters arising out of the above, and for the discussion of entirely new Numbers.

All Artists or Agents who communicate with our District Representatives must have made definite applications, in accordance with above directions, to the Head Office, at the same time, or just previously. Artists and Agents are requested to note that the Standard Theatre, Shoreditch, and the Terriss Theatre, Rotherhithe, come within the areas absolutely barred by us. Artists and Agents are also requested to note that the Hippodrome, Aston, Birmingham, comes within the area absolutely barred by the Grand Theatre and Empire Palace, Birmingham.

INSTRUCTIONS TO ARTISTS.—Artists must have at least Fourteen Band Parts for English Orchestrations, and Seventeen Band Parts for Foreign Orchestrations. Matter of Bill, Blocks, and Specimens of Pictorials FOR THE ABOVE THEATRES must be sent to CO-OPERATIVE OFFICES, at above address, THREE WEEKS before Opening, failing which Artists will run the risk of having their Engagements cancelled. It is important that separate bill matter, blocks, pictorials, &c., for Dublin, Belfast, and South Shields, be sent direct to Mr. Frank Allen at the Co-operative Offices. IMPORTANT.—Artists must forward Copies of Songs to the STAGE DEPARTMENT, ABOVE ADDRESS, TWO WEEKS previous to opening, with Assignments for same, which will be returned. Artists are requested to note carefully that the clause in their contracts relating to rehearsals will in future be strictly enforced. Artists' Scenery, Properties, &c., MUST be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Licensing Authorities. ARTISTS WILL CLEARLY UNDERSTAND THAT THEIR BUSINESS MUST BE FREE FROM ALL VULGARITY.

No order or contract for goods or services must be accepted for any of the foregoing theatres except upon receipt of an Official Form, issued from the Co-operative Offices, London, and signed by either Mr. Oswald Stoll, Mr. Frank Allen, or the Chief Accountant, otherwise the Company concerned will not be responsible for same, and will refuse payment. In special cases, where goods are required at once, suppliers must look to the individual placing the order, who will be personally liable, unless an official confirmatory order, signed as above, is received within forty-eight hours. Invoices must be sent to the Theatre, but monthly statements should be sent to the Co-operative Offices. The individual Company on whose behalf orders are signed is solely responsible for payment. The Management will not hold themselves responsible in the event of loss of or damage to any MSS., Songs, &c., submitted for consideration.

The Greatest Aggregation of Variety Theatres in the World

LONDON OFFICES:
— OAKLEY HOUSE, —
Bloomsbury St., W.C.,
where please address all communications in regard to the Professional and Publicity Departments of the PROVINCIAL CIRCUIT to Mr. SYDNEY ARTHUR.
— Telegraphic Address —
"CIRVAUMAC LONDON."
Telephone—No. 9167 GERRARD.

THE MACNAGHTEN VAUDEVILLE CIRCUIT

SHEFFIELD OFFICES:
KING'S CHAMBERS,
Angel St., Sheffield,
where please address all communications in regard to FINANCIAL, COMMERCIAL, and GENERAL BUSINESS MATTERS.
— Telegraphic Address —
"MACNAGHTEN, SHEFFIELD."
Telephone—No. 3449.

Director-General: Mr. FRANK MACNAGHTEN.

Secretary: Miss AMY ROBINSON.

General Business Manager for the Circuit: Mr. E. P. LAWTON.

Provincial District and Booking Manager: Mr. SYDNEY ARTHUR.

CALLS FOR WEEK COMMENCING MONDAY, MAY 23.

PROVINCIAL HOUSES.

PALACE, BRADFORD.
Matinée Thursday.
Will H. Fox, Monie Mine, Canard, Raymond and Ivy, The Fitzroys, Chas. Woodward, Blanche Marion, Gallimore Trio, Palace Perfection Pictures, Kitty Clinton.

PALACE THEATRE, CARLISLE.
Maude Mortimer, Marie Dreams, Roy Beavis, Rene, Virto, Vesta Nixon, Broughton and Creedon, Palace Perfection Pictures.

PAVILION, LEICESTER.
Joe Archer, The Arabellas, Harry Martell, Vaudeville Trio, The Keppels, Alice Craven, Norah Desmond, Sydney Brandon, Pick of the Picture World.

PALACE, SOUTHAMPTON.
The Comedy Meisters, Josh Dixon, Dan Fraser, Joan Deering, The Miltons, Reid and Power, Florrie Ford, Palace Perfection Pictures.

SADLER'S WELLS.
Matinée every Monday, at 2.30.
Pictures, Irene Meldon, "Drink," "Runaway Girls," Ethel Pierce, The Hamiltons, Henri Cazman, The Sages, Jos. Crooke.

FORESTERS'.
Matinées Monday and Thursday, at 2.30.
Pictures, Leonard and Vereker, Little Cherub, Telephone Tragedy, Alfonso, Lucy Prinella, Norah Noble, Mabel Thorne, "An Eye for an Eye," Phillip Levard, Fred Karno's Comedians.

PALACE, HALIFAX.
Haines and Borthwick, John Macauley, Vera Mayne, Leo and Roland, Dan Conroy, Dorothy Vasey, Barrie and Wood, Friend and Downing, Palace Perfection Pictures.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME, WARRINGTON.
Susie and Protti, Burt Shepard, Arthur Stacey, Doris Druce, Stewart and Morgan, Dolly Ross, Burdetter Bros., The Simms, Palace Perfection Pictures.

PALACE THEATRE, BATH.
The Geni Family, Burt Ward, Luceece Prunella, Mamie Morris, Lisbon and Barker, Eugene Stratton, Palace Perfection Pictures.

HIPPODROME, STOKE-ON-TRENT.
"Saved by Wireless," Harley and Melton, Pete and Minnie Lee, Adie Lombard, The Belmonts, Cairo Trio, Pick of the Picture World, The Janowskys.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME, BURNLEY.
The Merrions, Bartholomew Girls, Dancing Gilberts, Chas. Vincent, Cumminger and Colonna, "Songland," Palace Perfection Pictures.

PIER PAVILION, SOUTHPORT.
Five Jolly Bakers, Joe Belmont, Sisters Caine, Charles Erard, Dene and Dixon, Leolin, Ada Fawn, Pick of the Picture World, Harry Keeble.

PALACE, BLACKBURN.
Carlton, Fred and Lulu Camplin, "Mysterious Cross," Colin Mail, Gwen Francis, Kate Traill, Arnold Richardson Co., George Lawrence, "The Circus," Palace Perfection Pictures.

PALACE THEATRE, HUDDERSFIELD.
Cissie Thompson, Donaldson Bros., Norah Emerald, Edwin Garth, "Adolf Beck" Pictures, The Kirbys, Crosby and Walker, The Wedburns, Bert Crosbie.

HIPPODROME, STALYBRIDGE.
Closed.

THEATRE ROYAL, ROTHERHAM.
Picture Entertainment.

THEATRE ROYAL, CHESTERFIELD.
"A Noble Brother."

THEATRE ROYAL, ATTERCLIFFE.
Picture Entertainment.

KING'S, NOTTINGHAM.
Picture Entertainment.

PALACE THEATRE, LINCOLN.
Eight Lancashire Lads, Milner and Storey, Sissie Brand, The Heriot Trio, The Rosses, Kate Gourlay, Sergt. Brennan, Palace Perfection Pictures.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME, CARDIFF.
Beaumont Collins and Co., Florence and Rose Showell, Three Alskarnos, J. J. Mannix, Cassie Walmer, Gillin, Palace Perfection Pictures.

LONDON HOUSES.

PALACE, BOW.
Matinée every Monday, at 2.30.
Arabella Allen, Gladys Clinton, Chas. Coborn, Mr. and Mrs. Royston Dene, Mundill Maude, The Lafolles, Howard and Collison, Bessie Neilson, Empire Girls, "G.P.O.," Pictures.

SURREY THEATRE.
Matinée every Monday, at 2.30.
"Our Mary Jane," Helen Martin, Pictures, Four Sidney Girls, Rayburn and Dix, "Prince of the Dandies," Jessie Wilton, The Deadbeat, Willie and Johnny.

PALACE, BATTERSEA.
Matinée every Monday, at 2.30.
Letine, Pictures, Beattie Lyndon, Ross and Grayson, Maddison and Webb, Chas. Carlisle's Co., Kitty Corelli, "Avenged," Edith Lewis and Co., Mark Hanbury, Bros. Gerard, Ernestine Desborough.

London District and Booking Manager: Mr. FREDERIC BAUGH.

SPECIAL AND IMPORTANT NOTICE.—Artists engaged will please note that Rehearsals at ALL Halls take place at 12 o'clock noon each Monday. No excuses whatever for non-attendance will be entertained. All billing matter and notification of appearance accompanied by samples of pictorial printing must be IN THE CASE OF THE PROVINCIAL HALLS SENT TO OAKLEY HOUSE, BLOOMSBURY STREET, W.C.; AND IN THE CASE OF THE LONDON HALLS TO THE FORESTERS' THEATRE, CAMBRIDGE ROAD, E., fourteen clear days prior to opening, or Contract may be cancelled at the option of the Management. Artists wishing to negotiate Engagements for the London Houses of the Circuit will please apply to Mr. FREDERIC BAUGH, Booking Manager for London, at the FORESTERS' THEATRE, CAMBRIDGE ROAD, E. Telegraphic address, "Stageyness, London." Telephone 5954 Avenue.

Artists wishing to negotiate provincial engagements, Agents and Managers of Touring Companies, can be seen at Oakley House by appointment only.

All applications for dates at the Theatre Royal, Rotherham, and Theatre Royal, Chesterfield, to be addressed to Oakley House, Bloomsbury-street, London.

GAMAGES

The World's CHEAPEST HOUSE for Amateur and Professional Make-Ups and Properties.

THE SECRETS OF MAKING-UP.
By J. AINSLEY BROUGH.
The most useful book on the subject published.
Highly Recommended.
Price 1/- Post Free.

PIERROT COSTUMES INCLUDING HAT.
LATEST PATTERN.
Price 14/8
Postage ... ... 6d.

A. W. GAMAGE Ltd. HOLBORN. & BENETFINK & Co Ltd CHEAPSIDE. LONDON E.C.

SPARROW & SON

EST. 1765. NOTTINGHAM. TELE. 187.

THEATRICAL DECORATIONS.
FIBROUS PLASTER. ART PAINTINGS.

PROPRIETORS & MANAGERS ARE INVITED TO SEND FOR SKETCHES & ESTIMATES, WHICH ARE PREPARED FREE OF ALL CHARGE.

PRESS COMMENTS on some of the THEATRES, &c., DECORATED by SPARROW & SON.
"One of the most charming theatres in the provinces." "Carried out in admirable taste." "One of the most beautiful concert halls in the world."
"Messrs. Sparrow and Son, of Nottingham, well known for their Theatrical Decorative work, carried out the interior Decorations in exquisite style."

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT, 1906.

EFFECT ON THEATRES AND MUSIC HALLS.

BY

ALBERT A. STRONG, LL.B.

SOLICITOR.

PRICE SIXPENCE.

"THE ERA" Offices,
5, Tavistock Street, Strand, W.C.

Notice to Theatre Managers and Others.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that Mr. J. St. Clair, formerly employed as manager of one of my companies, is no longer in my service, and has no authority to give or accept orders on my behalf or to receive any monies payable to me.
(Signed) CHARLES MANNERS.
Moody-Manners Opera Company, Ltd., The Hyde, Hendon.

At a very low reserve to ensure a sale, with possession. No. 2 STOCKWELL PARK-ROAD, STOCKWELL, S.W. This excellent Leasehold Non-basement Residence, close to the trams and Stockwell Station (C. and S.L.R.).

FOR SALE BY AUCTION at the Mart, E.C., on Monday, May 30, 1910, at 2 o'clock.

Particulars of Messrs. Milner and Bickford, solicitors, 10, Moorgate-street, E.C.; of Mr. G. E. Hebden, surveyor, 12, Old Jewry-chambers, E.C.; and of the Auctioneers, Messrs. Herring, Son, and Daw, 12, Old Jewry-chambers, E.C., and 312, Brixton-hill, S.W.

PROFESSIONAL APARTMENTS.

Three Lines, ONE SHILLING.
Thirteen Insertions, TWELVE SHILLINGS.

BELFAST.—Comf. rooms, good cooking, bath, piano, 5 min. theatres, good refs. Belvoir-terrace, 8, University-street.

BRIGHTON.—Seven Stars, Ship-street, opposite G.P.O. The professional house, Sunday Reunions. Always a hearty welcome. Luncheons, &c., at popular prices. DE COSTA, Proprietor.

EASTBOURNE. — Clean, comfortable apartments, 2 bed, 2 sitting, combined. Hallett, 8, Willowfield-square, near Hall and Pier.

EDINBURGH.—Cathedral Hotel, near Lyceum, Royal, Empire, and King's. Recommended. Personal Supervision. CHARLES GRANT.

GLASGOW.—Buchanan-street Station Hotel. Recommended. Terms, moderate. Near Royal, Royalty, Grand Theatre; Empire, Pavilion.

HULL.—Mrs. Holmes, 22, John-st. Two sitting-rooms, two bedrooms, one combined; piano, bath (h. and c.); near halls and station. Highly recom. Terms to suit.

LIVERPOOL.—Royal Court Hotel, Queen's-sq., fully licenced; first-class accommodation. Special terms. Mr. and Mrs. De Selva (Cossie Noel).

LONDON, N.E.—Near Empire. Central Pavilion, Foresters', Britannia, Shoreditch. Mrs. Hallen, 18, Beck-road, Hackney. Piano; highly recommended.

LONDON, S.E.—One or two bed-sitting rooms, also bed-room, vacant for Sunday, 22nd, every convenience. M. Gatehouse, 123, Kennington-road.

LONDON, S.W.—303, Brixton-rd. Mrs. Peers. Sitting and bed rooms; bath, and pianos. Also combined room. Good cooking and attendance.

MARGATE.—Comfortable apartments, with or without board; piano. Terms, W., 18, Danemead-terrace, Margate.

PORTSMOUTH.—Judd's Hotel. In same family over 30 years. Accommodation for Professional gentlemen; inclusive from 30s.

RHYL.—Mrs. Canton, 4, Bridge-st. Professional Apartments. Moderate Terms.

WAKEFIELD. — Harewood Arms Hotel. Professional house of call. Close to Empire. All papers taken. WALTER HEWITT.

THE COVENTRY HOTEL
FOR BACHELORS,
7 and 8, Rupert-street, Coventry-street, W.
Bed, Breakfast, Bath, and Attendance, 4s. 6d.

BRAID HILLS HOTEL,
MORNINGSIDE, EDINBURGH.
Charmingly situated hotel, completely appointed, every modern luxury, uninterrupted views of the city and surrounding district, 450ft. above sea level, pure mountain air, splendid public golf course adjoining hotel, also ladies' course; cable cars to and from city every three minutes up to 11.30 p.m. Terms moderate.
For descriptive brochure apply to MANAGER.

HOME SCHOOL FOR GIRLS AND LITTLE BOYS. Mrs. Radge, Crowland, 163, Trinity-road, Upper Tooting, London, S.W. Good house, healthy situation; near Wandsworth Common Station and Balham trams.

THE ASSEMBLY ROOMS BOGNOR.

SUITABLE FOR THEATRICALS, BALLS, ROLLER SKATING & MEETINGS.

TO BE SOLD BY AUCTION
by
Messrs. WYATT and SON,

by order of the Mortgagees on TUESDAY, May 31, 1910, at the above ASSEMBLY ROOMS, at 3.30 o'clock precisely.

The well-built and substantial building known as The Assembly Rooms, Bognor, consisting of a spacious Entrance, with offices; Large Hall, with Stage and Dressing-rooms; Smaller Hall; Large Room for Classes; Octagon Room, Kitchen, Caretaker's Rooms, and out-offices, with garden at the back and sides, and well situate at the corner of Canada-grove and Linden-roads, opposite the Bognor Railway Station, and close to the principal thoroughfares and the sea. Possession will be given on completion of the purchase.

The Halls and Rooms are well and conveniently arranged and suitable for Theatrical Performances, Concerts, Political and Masonic Meetings, Art School, Roller Skating, and other purposes, and a good income has been made by lettings.

The Property may be viewed on application to the Caretaker, and Particulars, with Conditions of Sale, obtained of Messrs. Budd, Brodie, and Hart, Solicitors, 33, Bedford-row, London, W.C.; of Mr. Henry Layton Staffurth, Solicitor, Bognor; and of Messrs. Wyatt and Son, Auctioneers, Valuers, and Estate Agents, East Street, Chichester, and West-street, Havant.

PLEASURE BEACH, SOUTH SHORE, BLACKPOOL.

30 Acres of Open-Air Attractions on the Sea Front.
Next Tram Terminus.
Opens for the Season at Whit-week.
Good sites available for something new.

Apply, SECRETARY,
Blackpool Pleasure Beach, Ltd., Blackpool.

THE LAW OF COPYRIGHT
IN KINEMATOGRAPH PICTURES.

BY WILLIAM JAGO, F.I.C., F.C.S.
Barrister-at-Law.

Price SIXPENCE.

Published at "THE ERA" Offices,
5, Tavistock Street, Strand, W.C.

THE STANDARD
Folding Typewriter.

Price - - £12 12s.

Possesses advantages that can be found in no other typewriter AT ANY PRICE.

LIGHTNESS ... ... Weight 5¾lbs.
PORTABILITY ... 10in. by 8in. by 4in.

Visible Writing, Two-Colour Device, Aluminium Frame, Steel Wearing Parts, etc., etc.

Suitable for the Office, Private Use, or Travelling Purposes.

Particulars Post Free.

HIDALGO MOYA
(DEPT. 2.)
LONDON: 85, STRAND, W.C. LEICESTER: 22, LONDON ROAD.

PHOTOS
with individuality, with Style, and with distinction,
MEAN SUCCESS.

MODERN PHOTOGRAPHIC WORK FOR ARTISTES.

The well-known establishment of THE Hana STUDIOS, Ltd., place at your service a thorough knowledge and experience of artistes' requirements.

WE CAN PLEASE YOU, AND OUR PRICES WILL SATISFY YOU TOO.

We gladly answer any enquiries.

THE HANA STUDIOS, Ltd.,
22, Bedford-street, Strand.

To Hotel Proprietors who regularly file "The Era."

HANDSOME ILLUMINATED METAL TABLETS of "THE ERA."

PUBLISHER, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 25.

MUSICIANS' WANTS.

WANTED, Seaside Engagement, by Smart Orchestral Band; Rink, Pictures, Ball-room, &c. Special Summer Terms. Uniform; evening dress. Palmer, M.D., Grovehill-road, Beverley.

WANTED, a Few Weeks' Engagement for Good Orchestral Band, 12 to 20 performers, good up-to-date Répertoire of Music. Apply, Hoggett, Bandmaster, Darlington.

WANTED, re-engagement by Small Band, just concluding 10 months' engagement. Brass or Military. Liberty May 30. Turner, 54, Grove-road, Luton, Beds.

CIRCUS ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Known, that Signor Lorenzo, King of Aerial Performers, now performing for Studt's on his High Mast. At Liberty on June 21. C/o Post Office, Ferndale.

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS WANTED.

WORCESTER PALACE OF VARIETIES.
WANTED, Variety Artists, also Empire, Worcester. No wires. Arthur Carlton, Palace, Worcester.

WANTED, Wanted, Wanted,
Variety Artists,
Variety Artists,
in a.l Lines,
in a.l Lines,

Big Stars,
for
Stockton and Wakefield,
Immediate and Future Dates.

State Vacant Dates
and Lowest Terms.

Harry Burns's Agency,
Welburn House, Hartlepool.

Wires, "Chosen, Hartlepool."

Telephone, 231 Hartlepool.

BRITANNIA, GLASGOW.
WANTED, Variety Artists in all lines, now and onwards, with exceptions. Address, Manager, as above.

WANTED, for Hippodrome, Blackpool, Variety Artists, all Lines, Monday, May 30, and on. Terms, vacancies, &c., Manager.

WANTED, Variety and Speciality Artists, May 30, also Stars willing to share, for later dates. James Elphinstone, Lyceum T., Stafford.

WANTED, Variety Artists, in all Lines, Sensational Novelties for my new Building at Partick, Glasgow. Guss Lazenberg, Star Palace, Bridgeton, Glasgow.

WANTED, Variety Artists, June 6, on, used to picture shows, hall small, terms accordingly. Apply, Manager, Queen's Picture Palace, West Bromwich.

WANTED, Monday, June 5, and onwards. Variety Artists, all Lines. Stars and good Specialities. Particulars, Kitchingman, Aquarium, Scarborough.

WANTED, First-class Variety Artists, Illustrated Songs, &c., suitable for Picture Halls. Lowest Terms, Will Reynolds, Royal Electric Theatre, West Hartlepool.

WANTED, Variety Artists, all Lines. Those unknown to me can arrange trial near Manchester. W. Lovell Hurt, Churchgate House, Stockport.

EMPIRE ELECTRIC THEATRE, NUNEATON.
Proprietors, Nuneaton Theatre Co., Ltd.
WANTED, Variety Artists, all Lines, Specialities, &c. Lowest terms, &c., to Manager, Empire T., Nuneaton.

VERNO'S AGENCY,
16, Elizabeth-street, Liverpool.
WANTED, Artists, in all Lines, May 30, onwards.
Telegrams, "Merriment." Telephone, 2 076 Royal.

WANTED, Star Artists, all Lines, for Immediate and Future Dates.
William Mould, Central Palace, North Shields.

WANTED, Artists, all Lines, June to Sept., for Chappell's Promenade Concerts, Great Yarmouth. Particulars, Harry Barker, 6, Harley-rd., Great Yarmouth.

WANTED, Star Artists all Lines, from now onwards; Hall small, terms same. Good break for Artists going North, South, or Ireland. J. J. Scott, Empire, Wrexham.

WANTED, Artists, in all Lines, for Hippodrome, Bedford-Leigh, June 13. Nothing too big. Must be new to this town.
Apply, Marie Santoi, Tivoli, Barrow-in-Furness.

WANTED, Artists, in all Lines, for immediate and future dates, for several halls in the North. Apply, Signor Pepi, Hippodrome, Bishop Auckland.

FRED DURHAM'S AGENCY.
WANTED, Artists, in all Lines, May 30, on. 14, Loughboro'-rd., Brixton. 'Phone 15 Brixton.

BIRMINGHAM AND DISTRICT VARIETY AGENCY.
WANTED, Artists in all Lines, May 23, onwards. Letters, R. Fordham, Star Hotel, Brierley Hill, Staffs.

WANTED, Known, Boothman's Benefit, Monday, May 30. Artists in the vicinity write with lowest terms. Boothman, Theatre, Radcliffe.

WANTED, Music Hall Artists, all Lines. Big Specialities, Comedy Acts.
May 30, onwards. Terms, bookings, &c.,
Edgar Stebbings, 28, Egerton-street, Manchester.
'Phone, 9,261 Central. Tels., "Stebbing."

WANTED, Artists for Charity Gala. July 23. All Lines.
F. E. Lumb, Theatre Royal, Yeadon.

HENRI CAZMAN'S AGENCY.
138, Denmark-hill, London, S.E.

WANTED, Star Turns, Specialities, Acts all Kinds for best London and Provincial Houses. Write (only) with full list bookings, state lowest terms, London and country, and for panto.

Henri Cazman's Agency,
138, Denmark-hill, London, S.E.

WANTED, Star Turns, for immediate and future Dates. Artists vacant Monday, wire "Contracts, Greenock." Skivington's Agency, 48, Brisbane-street, Greenock.

WANTED, Star Turns, Big Tops, and Bottoms, Artists, in all Lines,
Particulars, where can be seen.
Harry Ward, 140a, Shaftesbury-avenue.
Ring up 13,136 Central.

WANTED, Good Turns for Outdoor Carnival (Covered Stage) for Nine Days, commencing July 14. Apply, Green, The Carnival, Glasgow.

WANTED, very best of Talent in all Lines, for Widnes and Runcorn;
Refinement essential.
Hamilton and Hughes, Co-op. Hall, Widnes.

DAVE BARNARD'S AGENCY,
Shaw-street,
Liverpool.
Telephone, 2349 Royal.
WANTED, Wanted, Wanted,
Big Acts, salary or sharing.
Big Acts, Salary or Sharing.
Immediate Dates and on.

WANTED, Good Comedy Acts, Specialities, &c., Doubles doing Singles. Vacant May 30, on. Terms, H. Montague Franklin, Empire, Wellingborough.

WANTED, for Palace, Sunderland, Novel Specialities, with strong drawing powers, Big Animal Acts, Eccentric Acrobatic Troupes, Pantomimical Sketches, Novel Musical Acts, &c., for June 6, 13, onward. Full particulars, lowest terms, and samples of printing, to Manager, Palace, Sunderland.

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS WANTED.

WANTED, Specialities, Novelties, Comedy Acts, or anything with good Drawing Powers (refined). Address, Manager, Picturedrome, Bradford.

WANTED, for Pavilion, Ashington, Northumberland, May 23, on. Good Specialities write.
Chas. Steele.

WANTED, good Variety Companies, with a Big Attraction at Top of Bill for immediate and future dates, for the North. Signor Pepi, Hippo., Bishop Auckland.

SMYTHSON'S AGENCY,
33, Craster-road, Brixton-hill, London, S.W.
WANTED, Novelties for Continent. Sole Continental Agency only entertained.
Also Star Acts for Britain and Panto, 1910 11. Principals only.

PERCY VICTOR'S AGENCY.
WANTED, the very Highest Class Top Liners. Artists, all Lines (Halls). Full Companies for Six Pantomimes, particularly Principal Boys, must be absolutely first-class. Experienced, young, excellent voices (trial week's engagement given). Artists for Pavilion, Wolverhampton, May 30, onwards. Sextette Pierrot Troupes, May 30, June 6, weeks (Midlands). Several excellent dates for big Combinations. Good Acrobatic Troupe August Holiday week. Gala Acts, all Lines. Czarvasi-Ferencz Troupe wire address. Contracts wait Lockhart's Elephants. Fullest particulars, booking, pictorials. Perm., 48, Bilston-street, Wolverhampton.

PALACE THEATRE, READING.
WANTED, Tops and Bottoms of Bills, several dates this and next year. Letters only, Stanhope and Co., Ltd., 12, Buckingham-st., W.C.

PALACE, DURHAM (on the Main Line).
WANTED, Tops, Bottoms, and Middles, with drawing powers, immediate and future dates. T. C. Rawes, Proprietor.

WANTED, Big Tops and Bottoms, now and onwards.
Harry Tate, Alhambra, Paris.

WANTED, for Open-air Spectacle to open in June, Acrobats, Tumblers, Tight-Rope Walker, Græco-Roman Statuary, any Classical Speciality. Also good Ballet Master.
Only those whose terms are very moderate will be entertained.
Write fully,
Box 1,675, c/o Willing's, 125, Strand, W.C.

WANTED, Wanted, Wanted, for 1910 and 1911, with Everhart's All Star Combination,
Good Comedian,
Good Comedy Sketch, and Good Dancing Act;
also one or two Novelty Acts.
Must be Comedy, and
New to England.

Long Engagement to the right People.

Address, Everhart,
Theatre Royal, Worcester,
until May 29.

Silence a polite negative.

N.B.—Managers and Agents looking for Big Novelty Combinations this and next season, Address, Everhart. That's all.

SUTTON BRIDGE FLOWER SHOW.
July 27, 1910.
WANTED, Offers for Two Hours' Outdoor Entertainment, one hour afternoon and one hour evening. Apply early, with inclusive terms, Chas. W. Beavan, Hon. Sec., Sutton Bridge, Wisbech.

WANTED, First-class Troupe of Entertainers, on Sharing Terms only, for Summer Season, in the Theatre, Bedford. Popular prices. Full particulars. E. G. Falcon, County Theatre, Bedford.

WANTED, a Young Lady for Male Impersonator, height 4½ft, no higher, 15 years old.

Apply, F. Athos, 267, Kennington-road.

WANTED, Smart Young Lady Trapeze Performer or Bender, to join Troupe at once. Apply, Trapeze, 67, Walcot-square, Lambeth, S.E.

WANTED, Lady Trick Cyclist, for well-known Troupe. Age, height, photo., and tricks.
Cyclist, 33, Holland-road, Brixton, London.

WANTED, for Hippodrome, Keighley, Comic Singer
for Monday next.
Wire, Thos. Holmes, 16, St. John's-road, Brixton.

WANTED, for Well-known Double Comedy Acrobatic Act, a First-class Artist, if possible funny, good tumbler (forwards), and used to comedy acrobatic business (corkscrew tricks) as top mounter, weight not over nine stone.
Write, stating age, height, weight, tricks, if married, and all particulars in first letter, Box 7,726, "The Era."

WANTED, Lecturer, Vocalist (illustrated) for Picture Show, Lancashire. Write, stating lowest, to Harry Dean, 7, Cross Lances-road, Hounslow, W. H. G. Berry write if vacant.

WANTED, Kinematograph Show, May 30. Other Complete Entertainments, with fit-up, on sharing. Send daybill. Kinemato, 12, Stratford-terrace, Nottingham.

WANTED, Bioscope Operators, Monday, 23rd, certain, Operator, with own Machine. Harry Harrysse, Acting-Manager, Hippodrome, Swadlincote.

WANTED, Music Hall Artists who experience difficulty in obtaining copies of "The Era" at any of Messrs. Smith and Son's Bookstalls to kindly communicate with the Publisher, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Dates, at First-class Theatres, Music Halls, Piers, &c., for The Great Raymond and Company. See Companies Page. Such an entertainment has never been seen before.—Vide Press. En route.

WANTED, Known, Marvelle's Colossal Variety Combination is free to accept First-class Variety Halls, on salary or sharing terms. At Liberty next week. Managers send vacant dates. Wire best terms, H. Bushman, Business-Manager, for H. Marvelle, 54, Railway-street, Nelson.

WANTED, Monday next, by Daisy Hicks, Refined Chorus Comedienne.
Wire, Empire, Ton-y-Pandy.

WANTED, Engagements, Picture Shows, &c., Miss Amy Wooderson, Soprano, excellent voice, good appearance, illustrated songs, Vacant May 30. Picture Palace, Gravesend.

WANTED, Monday, May 23, 30, by Lottie Collard, Charming Comedienne and Dancer. Large rep. 48, Windermere-st., Breck-rd., Liverpool.

WANTED, by the Misses Lytton and De Silva, Vocal Duettists, May 23 and 30.
11, Birch-grove, Liscard.

WANTED, by Eileen and May Sisters, Bright Musical Act, Expert Dancers, June 13 and 27. Hippo., Leigh.

WANTED, Known, Redfern Sisters, Lady Banjoists and Eccentric Dancers. Vacant May 23 and 30. Hippo., Rochdale; next, 60, Denmark-road, Manchester.

WANTED, by Sisters Geretti, June 20, July 11, 25, Oct. 3 10.
Address, Casino, Rotterdam, Holland.

WANTED, 30th, also June 6, 13, by Dolly, Agnes, and Maud, the famous Singing Boxmakers, three sisters, a sure draw. Address, H., Dewsbury.

WANTED, Monday next, also May 30, for Primrose Quartette, Male Vocalists. Wire till Sunday, Theatre, Perth; after, Gill, Dobcross, Oldham.

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Monday, onwards, exceptions, Dan Ashton, Empire's Famous Collier Comedian, original copyright scena, extraordinary colliery pictures, encored nightly. Palace, Jarrow.

WANTED, Known, Percy Curry, Comedian, Liberty Monday. This, Empire, Hull; after Saturday, Albion Hotel, Stockton-rd., Sunderland.

WANTED, by E. Lucknow, Comedy, Musical, and Patter Comedian, May 23, 30, in or outdoors. 16, Moreton-st., Strangeways, Manchester.

WANTED, May 30 and June 6,
Sam Ello, Comedian and Dancer.
D.C. Lithos and Photo Frames.
Victoria Theatre, Kettering.

WANTED, by De Meglio, Speciality Entertainer, Ventriloquist, Conjurer, Smoke Painting, Chapeaugraphy; own lithos; Piers, Pavilions. Perm. address, Chadwick-road, Eccles.

WANTED, Monday next, by Clive Watts, Comedian and Wonderful Dancer.
Wire, Royalty Theatre, Llanelly.

WANTED, by Sergeant Bert Powell, the famous Military Entertainer and Illusionist, May 30, June 6, and 13. Concludes to-night Hippodrome, Ipswich; next week, Theatre Royal, Perth, Scotland.

WANTED, May 30, on, by Li Chang Hi, the Chinese Conjurer par excellence. This, Palace, Wellingborough; next, Theatre, Worthing.

WANTED, Known, Halma, the Clever Scottish Juggler, Vacant May 30, June 6, and 13. This, T. R., Worcester; next, Empire, Rochdale.

WANTED, Known, F. Mozzetto, Famous Juggler, from the Empire, Leicester-square, requires May 30, vacant through closing. Address, Empire, Islington.

WANTED, Monday, by Vallino, in his Great Comedy Juggling Scena, the greatest comedy juggling act. Wire, Fashoda, Lutterworth.

WANTED, Known, Little Hackenschmidt, World's Champion Bantam Weight Wrestler. £100 challenge. Third visit to Ferndale, and welcomed by packed houses nightly. Vacant, June 6, 13. 4, Westminster-road, Liverpool.

WANTED, Known, Mr. J. Wagner presents New Musical Scena,
"THE BLACKSMITH'S DAUGHTER."
introducing BERTHA WARD,
England's new Soprano. The most wonderful voice ever heard. Enthralling, enchanting. An act that grips from start to finish. A sure success anywhere. Magnificent new scenery, painted by Beresford Peirse. Monday next, Hippodrome, Hull.
Re dates communicate to Walter Bentley, Agent, 168, Brixton-road, London, S.W.

WANTED, June 13, 27, on, with exceptions, The Monocktons (Fred, Lillie), Premier Comedy Duologuists, presenting sparkling, screaming Absurdities, "A Woman's Curiosity," "Two in a Flat," and reproduction of "The Lady and the Burglar." Thank George Black, Esq., for comfortable engagement. Monday, Hippodrome, Queen's Park, Manchester.

WANTED, Aug. 1, by Harry Keeble, the Incomparable Ventriloquist; and Gladys Wells, Contra.to. Always starring. May 23, Pier Pav., Southport.

WANTED, Monday next, also May 30, Ray and Lingard, in Comedy Sketch; also Rene Ralph, Comedienne and Dancer.
Wire, 218, Stockwell-road, Brixton, S.W.

WANTED, Monday next, on, exceptions, by Herman and Evelyn, in their great Continental Pot-Pourri. Unique jumping acrobatic table and wire act. Wire, offers. This, Coliseum, Whitley Bay (bottom).

WANTED, by Lily and Antley, in Comedy Duologue, "It," May 30, to follow Hippodrome, Yarmouth; also June 13 and 20.

WANTED, May 23, onward, Rohde and Roche, in novelty episode, "A Strange Meeting," Chameleon Artist and It. Empire, Blaina, Mon.; after Saturday, 25, Weymouth-st., C.-on-M., Manchester. Vacant May 23. Wire.

WANTED, May 30, June 6, by the Two Le Bruns (Edie, the pretty and talented girl juggler and vocalist, and Edgar, comedy equilibrist). Palace, Jarrow.

WANTED, by the Bros. Webb,
July 11.
Hippodrome, Norwich.

WANTED, Monday and 30th, by Will and Roze, Great Comedy Contortion and Conjuring Pot Pourri Act. Wire, Empire, Melton Mowbray.

WANTED, May 23, by Norman and Noyes, Comedians and Dancers, only immediate date. Wire, 70, Hirwain-st., Barry Dock, S. Wales.

WANTED, Monday, by Chant and Chant, in Vocal Comedy that adapts itself to any audience. Wire for it. Pavilion, Batley.

FRANTZ'S COMEDY FIVE,
fresh from the Continent.
WANTED, May 30, June 6, 13.
See them, May 23, City Varieties, Leeds.

WANTED, by Mlle. Sylvesto and Funny Assistant, the Charming Lady Contortionist with a figure, the talk of every town visited, May 23, on, through Collins's Circus closing. Wire for success, c/o Collins's Circus, Aston, Birmingham, till Saturday; after, 35, Hercules-road, S.E. Wire.

WANTED, Known, Le Blond and Miss O. S. Dare, at Liberty for Fêtes and Galas, or First-class Halls, New and Sensational Gymnastic Display on the Revolving Breakaway Ladder. Wood Castle, Bordesley Green, Birmingham.

WANTED, Known, Marzelos, Great Comedy Triple-bar Act, Vacant May 23, 30, June 6, something good. This week, Palace, Glasgow.

WANTED, May 23, by the Three Original Hodginis, Breakaway Ladder Act.
Splendid Seaside Stage Scenery. Attractive Six-sheet Posters and D.C. Lithos.
Wire, Wire, Wire for Monday next,
Hodginis,
120, Holloway Head, Birmingham.

WANTED, May 23, June 6, 13, on, by the Flying Orenius's. This, Enormous Success. Victoria Theatre, Kettering; May 30, Theatre Royal, Ilkeston. Wire for Monday.

WANTED, May 23 and 30, by La Dor Troupe, male and female Novelty Acrobats, three Acts. Hippodrome, Shrewsbury. Wanted, smart Youth, Acrobat.

WANTED, May 23, 30, Bouncing Peps. We entertain the Public. This, Empire, Hull. Perm., 64, Upper Sutton-st., Aston, Birmingham.

WANTED, May 30 and June 13, by Atlas-Vulcana Troupe. Greatest Speciality Star Attraction Extant, including the Beautiful Miss Vulcana, holder of all World's Records (paybox amongst others). Vulcana is the only woman known who is able to demonstrate, in modern times the physical perfection of the ancients in the only really classic posing before the public.
Always a Top of Bill.
Conclude Palace, Blackburn.
23rd, Hippo., Bedford-Leigh.

WANTED, May 23, June 20, by Hulbert, Ventriloquist; and De Lil, Illusionist. Two Acts. Wire Saturday, Hippo., Wednesbury. After then, Union-road, Macclesfield.

WANTED, June 6, 20, by Gulliver, Ventriloquist.
Address, Palace, Durham.

WANTED, Monday next, by Billy Ross and Co., Greatest Comedy Speciality Boxing Act before the Public. Audience still laughing, Palace, Dudley. Wire.

MISS ELLA'S EDUCATED LION SHOW.
Acknowledged to be the Best and Cleanest in the Profession. Surpassed by none.
WANTED, May 23, 30, all June and July. Com., 18, Gloucester-street, Jersey, C.I.

WANTED, Known, Miss Tudora's Ponies, Liberty May 23, 30, on, June 6, Hastings. Cleanliness and refinement. All coms., Franklin Gardens, Northampton.

WANTED, Known, Mlle. Doris and Her Highly Trained Troupe of Dogs. Vacant May 23, 30. This, Alexandra Theatre, Pontefract.

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Known, Mlle. Hengleur's Beautiful Troupe of Russian Poodles and Leaping Dogs. Success, Gala, Longton Park, Whit Mon. and Tues. Few vacancies for galas, garden parties, &c. Ludno House, Sisson-st., Rhyl.

WANTED, Known, Daisy Graham's Educated Birds and Baby Dog. Liberty May 30, June 6, 13. Coms., 5, Herschell Street, Mayfields, Leicester.

WANTED, Known. Wanted, Known.
J. A. WILSON
and
"PRIVATE TOWSER"
(the best Performing Dog on the Road)
are at Liberty One Week only.
May 30. May 30.
This week, Empire Palace, York.
Next week, Empire Palace, Liverpool.
Where write or wire best offers for
May 30. May 30.
Agent, Tom Shaw, 18, Adam-st., Strand, London.

WANTED, Known, Devereux's Pugilistic and Dramatic Dogs, the wonders of the twentieth century, Liberty June 6 and 13, July 4, 11. Address, Theatre Royal, Whitehaven.

WANTED, May 30, on, with exceptions, Stelling and Dog.
This, Poole's, Aberaman; next, Poole's, Treherbert.

WANTED, May 23, 30, Swift Duo, Humorous Cyclists. Wire, Theatre, Mountain Ash; after Sat., 43, Oscar-street, St. John's, London, S.E.

WANTED, Engagement, by Animal Impersonator, Acrobat, Pantomimist, age 25, weight 8st. 12lb., height 5ft. 4in. Morel, 40, Hercules-rd., Lambeth, London.

WANTED, for the Enchanted Grotto, May 30 and June 6 for this Enormous Attraction, Six People and all Scenery carried. Marvellous lighting effects and wonderful display of Fairy Fountains. Charming speciality and classical dances. First-class vocal numbers.
Harland, Hippodrome, Great Yarmouth.

PIERROT WANTEDS.

THE CAVERSHAM PAVILION, READING.
Proprietor, George Brennan.
WANTED, Alfresco Artists, all Lines, Ladies and Gents, including thoroughly experienced Pianist. All must have large reps., well up in concerteds, and sketches. One show daily. Photo, refs, age, and lowest terms,
Brennan, Poste Restante, Reading.

WANTED, Concert Party of Five, for Ramsgate, for the whole of June, on sharing terms.
For particulars, apply,
Ashton and Mitchell, Ltd.,
33, Old Bond-street, London, W.

WANTED, Good Amateurs, also Accompanist, for Concert Party, Public School or 'Varsity Men. Shares; genuine. H., 20, Victoria-street, Westminster.

WANTED, Young Lady, for Al Fresco, with Good Voice, and able to Dance well, or Joint Couple. Write (stage small), Harry Orchid, Cosy Corner, Grays, Essex.

WANTED, Versatile Tenor or Baritone, able to accompany, for South Coast (marquee). Also complete Concert Party, for 10 weeks. Box 7,730, "The Era."

WANTED, Good Contralto, Young, for Al Fresco, inside, twelve weeks certain.
Full particulars to Kitchingman, Aquarium, Scarborough.

WANTED, for Barry Island, a Good Sketch Comedian, single, shares, open May 30. J. Purnell, 70, Hirwain-street, Barry Dock.

WANTED, Known, Troupe of Entertainers, with their own large portable stage and dressing-room (if necessary), desire a Pitch for the Season, or Engagements, start immediately. Clifton, 1, Netta-villas, Westmead-road, Sutton.

SHOWMEN'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE CAKE-WALK AND SEE-SAW SLIP MACHINES.
By Royal Letters Patent in all the Leading Countries of the World.
Providing for the Public a Sensational Ride and Thrilling Slip. Always on the Move. Quick Money-takers. Apply for full particulars to Taylor, Plinston Bros., and Co.

WANTED, Known, we are Sole Makers of W. Taylor's Patents for above Novelties, 94 Farncombe-street, and 98, Bermondsey-wall, London, S.E. Registered Trade Mark "Cake Walk."

TO FINANCIAL SYNDICATES.
WANTED, Known, a New Patent Riding Machine, Oval Circle, Wiggle Woggle Witching Wave Switchback. Can be used as Showman's portable centre driven riding machine, and still oval circle. Also can be used on large exhibition gravitation railways. The new ride that will have a long life; not a oncer.
O10, 827, Salisbury House, London Wall.

WANTED, Known, the famous Oscillating Zig-Zag Stairways, the rage of Paris. Quick Money-takers. Manufactured by Inventor and Patentee. Particulars, apply J. E. Cooper, Albert Works, Chatsworth-road, Stratford, E. Telephone, Stratford 395.

WANTED, Known, Cartridges, all brands, Winchester Repeaters, Glass Globes, Water Balls, Targets, and Houp-la Goods. Greene, 74, Falmouth-road, London, S.E.

TO ROUNDABOUT PROPRIETORS.
WANTED, to arrange for Abroad, on Sharing Terms, a first-class up-to-date Steam Roundabout. All freight and expenses would be paid, and risk taken by advertiser. Address, giving full particulars, to Box 7,722, "The Era," Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

WANTED, First-class Freaks and Other Good Attractions, for Crouch's Old-established Wonderland and Variety Theatre, Argyle-street, Glasgow.

WANTED, a Palmist, for my permanent shop.
Apply to
James Pattison, 20, Clayton-st., Newcastle-on-Tyne.

WANTED, Known, Good Doorsman required. State wages and references. Apply, Manager, Marine Parade Exhibition, Southend-on-Sea.

WANTED, First-class Doorsman and Describer; also Pianist. Can join at once. Wire or write terms, Danter's Picture Colliseum, Usk.

WANTED, First-class Watchmaker, Piano Player, total abstainer preferred, for Bloom's Royal Mart. Bloom, Haughton, Darlington.

WANTED, Wire Worker and Electric Engraver. Good wages. Also smart Sales Girls for Jewellery. Barron, 1, Marlborough-square, Great Yarmouth.

WANTED, Smart Engraver and Wire Worker, for Season, male or female. Write full particulars, Larcher, Lofthouse Park, Wakefield.

WANTED, Known, Carl Hartley, Conjurer, and Armless Midget Lady. At Stuart's Royal Waxworks, Dundee. Good window flash. Lib. May 30.

AVIATOR.
WANTED, Fêtes, Galas, Garden Parties, Outdoor Attractions, Well-known Flying Man, Vacant for Daily Flights. For terms and vacancies apply, Egbert's Agency, Piccadilly-mansions, 17, Shaftesbury-avenue, London, W.

WANTED, Space or Engagement for Lady Palmist. Also for Gold Wire Worker and Engraver. Geo. Duval, 2, Craig-st., Darlington.

WANTED, to Let, Finest Location in South London, Spaces for First-class Side Shows. Write or wire, Manager, Pastimes, Ltd., 61 and 62, London-road, Elephant and Castle.

WANTED, to Let, Handsome Shops, Electric lighted; also Spaces. Real Novelties only. F. W. Walkington, Manager, Pal. Pier, Brighton.

WANTED, to Let, for the Season, Large Distorting Mirrors.
Address, Milton, 77, Virginia-street, Southport.

SHOWMEN'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

WANTED, Suitable Space at Popular Seaside Resort, to erect Helter-Skelter. Rental or Shares. Bonus paid to anyone giving information leading to business.
Apply, Skelter, Box 7,749, "The Era."

WANTED, Known, to Postcard Photographers, a complete Outfit for Studio, suitable for Exhibitions and Seaside Resorts, to be sold cheap, owing to owner retiring from business. Apply, Box 7,747, "The Era."

WANTED, to Sell, a Nice One-horse Living Van, every convenience, nearly new. Price £60, or offer. A. Knopes, Mays-lane, High Barnet.

WANTED, to Sell, through taking Permanent Stand this year, New Stage Waggon, for road or rail, opens out to 24ft. by 15ft, new last autumn, splendid removing van, steel sides, 90ft. by 45ft. tent top, pay-box, acetylene machines. Sell together or separate, or entertain partner with capital to look after show.
John Walters, Court T., Bacup.

FOR IMMEDIATE SALE.
Money for Nothing.
WANTED, to Sell, Helter Skelter Lighthouse, in good condition; can be seen working in Bingley Hall; to be sold as going concern at close of Exhibition; no reasonable offer refused. Apply, Manager, Helter Skelter, Bingley H., Birmingham.

WANTED, to Sell, Cakewalk, complete Arc Lamps, Organ, &c., in good working order and repair. Can be seen working at any time. Apply Box 7,742, "The Era" Office.

WANTED, to Sell, Love Letters, Palmistry, Fair, Dark, Comic Cards, Eyes, Marriage, Liars' Licences. Illustrated Catalogue. Meurice, 39, Argyle-square.

WANTED, to Sell, Automatic Machines, New and Secondhand, Card Delivery, Mother Shiptons, marvellous money-takers. New Catalogue. Meurice, Argyle-square.

WANTED, to Sell, Gold-framed Photos, Husbands, Wives, Babies, X-rays, latest sensation, for Automatic Machines. Catalogue illustrated. Meurice, Argyle-square.

WANTED, to Sell, Automatic Machines all kinds, lists free, Husband, Wife, Eye, Hair, Fortune, Astrologer cards, 5s. 1,000; Love Letters, 9s. Leslie, 5, Denning-road, Hampstead Heath.

WANTED, to Sell, Automatic Machines of every description, (including the marvellous Guess Your Weight Weighing Machine). Wormald, 123, Blythe-road, West Kensington, London.

WANTED, to Sell, OIO, George Formby's New Game, Chinese Box Ball.
The rage of London, Manchester, and Margate. Price, two tables, £5 10s.
Sole Agents, Thomas, Harewood-street, Leeds; Thomas, High-street, Chertsey. Patent Nos., 7,379, 9,017 (1910); Reg. Nos., 559,183, 559,184 (1910).

WANTED, to Sell, for Cash, Troupe of Performing Cockatoos and Macaws, with seven large paintings of same by Smith, of London. Will accept Partnership with Showman that has a big booth and knows the road.
H. Bushman, 54, Railway-street, Nelson, Lancs.

WANTED, to Sell, a Set of Midget Swings, cheap. E. Andrews, 44, Cardigan-street, Upper Kennington-lane.

WANTED, to Sell, two Electric Engraving Machines, Braun's pattern, 35s. each, almost new; Braun's 30 amp. Accumulator, 20s., in good order. R. Bolton, Poulton-st., Kirkham, Lancs.

WANTED, to Sell, Winchester Rifles (4), 20s. each; Running Animals and Motor, £8, cost £20; Electric Target, £4. Eggar, 77, Stonebridge-road, Tottenham, London.

WANTED, Living Van and Tent, suitable for Auction Mart, must be in sound order. State lowest price. Address, Box 7,720, "The Era."

WANTED, to purchase Novelties suitable for Shop and Side Shows. Send particulars, price, Ashton, 13, Danes-rd., Camberwell, London, S.E.

WANTED, Vs and Brackets, for Circus. Must be in Good Condition.
P. Collins, Gondola Works, Walsall.

WANTED, W. Morey, who was at Work for Mr. S. Jones, Roundabout Proprietor, who started work in July, 1908, to communicate to this address. He will be well paid for his trouble in the matter.
S. Jones, Fair Ground, Epsom.

FINANCIAL.
WANTED, £200 for Good Alfresco Work. S.-E. Coast, good site, straight business, share profits.
Address, Box 7,736, "The Era."

WANTED, every Showman who uses the railway to send to "The Era" for a copy of the article on the new Railway Rates. This will be sent on application, free of charge, to any Showman in the United Kingdom.

WANTED, Known, the Seventy Thousand Showmen who use the Columns of "The Era" and are moving about should know that they can make "The Era" Offices their Permanent London Address. Letters received will be held till called for, or immediately re-addressed according to instructions. Address all communications respecting the Letter Department to the Publisher, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand.

WANTED, Showmen who experience difficulty in obtaining copies of "The Era" at any Railway Bookstall to kindly communicate with the Publisher, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

SKATING WANTEDS.

WANTED, General Manager for Large Amusement Rink in Paris. Must speak French. Good references required.

Apply by letter to Mr. Lamb,
11, Denman-street, Piccadilly-circus, London.

WANTED, Known, Mr. Will Horsfield, late Manager of Premier Rinks at Finsbury Park and Chesterfield, is now open for engagement, Theatre, Music Hall, Tour, or Rink. Highest credentials. 54, Newick-road, Clapton.

WANTED, by Smart Young Man, post as Floor Manager or Instructor. Good experience and refs. B., 50, Lansdown-road, Swindon.

WANTED, to let for Summer Months, or For Sale as a Going Concern, Skating Rink, situated in Populous Midland Town. Suitable for Pierrots. Particulars from
Box 7,721, "The Era."

WANTED TO SELL.

WANTED, to Sell,
Site for Cinematograph.

Apply,
Box 7,716, "Era" Office.

WANTED, to Sell, the Magnificent Pantomime Production, "Babes in the Wood," which broke all records at the Theatre Royal, Leeds, last season.
Scenery and Costumes practically unsoiled.

Will sell very cheap, as room wanted for next season's production.

Francis Laidler,
Theatre Royal, Leeds.

WANTED, to Sell, Several Fine Pantomime Productions; or would Let on a Percentage of the Receipts. Arthur Carlton, Theatre, Worcester.

WANTED, to Sell for £16, genuine bargain, 2 best Chamber Sets (24 Flats), 6 Cloths, Porch Gates, Wall-pieces, and Backing. All in good condition. Only been in use four weeks. Also Military Wardrobe. Death cause of sale.
Jackson, 37, Cephas-street, London, N.E.

WANTED, to Sell,
the Magnificent Court Scene
(with or without Rostrums) used in the Globe Theatre production of "Madame X." Also French Court robes.
Apply, Baring Bros., Cheltenham.

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

ABERDEEN.—HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.—Proprietors, Robert Arthur Theatres Co., Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. H. Adair Nelson.—The Lightning's Flash is being produced by Mr. J. Forbes-Knowles and his company. The company is a most capable one. Mr. J. Forbes-Knowles takes the dual parts of Stephen Merrick and his brother, Colonel Mark Stewart, and does admirable justice to both; Miss Violet Lyton gives a pleasing impersonation of Kate Merrick; and Miss Winifred Willard as Zugu and Miss Nellie Shirley as Selina are equally effective. The staging of the play, especially a thrilling rescue scene at Kajanka Falls, is excellent.

PALACE THEATRE.—Lessees, United County Theatres, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. Percy H. Gallagher.—The Wilkowsky Troupe of Russian entertainers are vocalists and instrumentalists of no mean order, but it is their dancing which chiefly captivates their audiences; a farcical skit, The Village of Shift-'em, is pleasingly rendered by the Three Prestons; and the Four Mayos provoke continuous laughter by their charmingly original skating feats. A realistic cinematograph display of the King's funeral procession is much appreciated.

ACCRINGTON.—PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. B. Ormerod; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. E. Barnes.—Mr and Mrs. Percy Brown's company, in Geoffrey Langdon's Wife is the attraction here. Mr. Wilson Coleman as Felix Beverley is worthy of the highest commendation for a portrayal of all-round merit; Mr. Francis Roberts acts with forcefulness and zest as Jack Stirling; and Mr. Criag Hunt is most satisfactory as Geoffrey Langdon. Mr. Cyril Grier cleverly portrays the part of Colonel Mills; Mr. Percy Brown is very amusing as Thomas; and Mr. Victor T. Raymond makes the most of his opportunities as Charles. Miss Amy Ellam gives a fine representation of Mary; Miss Kathleen Magree supplies an excellent study of the Hon. Mrs. Sands; and Miss Minnie Goepel gives a good account of herself as Nancy.

NEW HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, the Accrington Hippodrome Co.; Resident-Manager, Mr. Walter Mould.—A nicely-varied programme here comprises turns by Mr. Carter Livesey and Lillian Rosebery, who fairly convulse the audience in The Would-be Actors; the Carina Sisters, in an artistic and refined musical act, receive hearty approval; and Mlle. Ottina, a distinctly smart lady conjuror, with a captivating style, displays marked ability. Flake White, lightning cartoonist and painter, appears with success; Beattie Foster is a charming comedienne; and the Sisters Sarony are capital wooden shoe and whirlwind dancers. Owen McGiveney, in character impersonations from Dickens, wins applause; and Wallace Whitney, comedian, is very popular. The Bioscope pictures are very entertaining.

ALDERSHOT.—ROYAL AND HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Clarence Sounes; Resident-Manager, Mr. Jack Gladwin.—Mr. George Gregory's company, in a capital miniature musical comedy, Little Johnnie Jones, is particularly successful, the musical numbers and choruses being decidedly good, and the dances effective. The chief rôles are in the hands of Misses Mabel Dandy, Beatrice Grosvenor, Messrs. John Humphries, Paul Presano, Chas. Cantley, and Chas. Seguin. The Three Pirmans are again great favourites in a novelty gymnastic act, "Danse le Jardin"; the Bouncing Dillons go through a novel and clever exhibition, in which competitions are introduced; Williams' Welsh Minstrels give a musical and vocal entertainment; Gipsy Woolf and her Six Sunbeams have a smart act, The Mermaids of Margate; George Casselli, comedian and dancer, and Syd Crossly, the "long comic" are heartily applauded.

WIDE WORLD PICTURES.—Proprietors, Messrs. J. Golder and Bert Sloman.—A fine series of films is shown here, one of the chief subjects being the funeral of the late King Edward.

GROSVENOR PICTURE PALACE.—At this new hall patrons are also well catered for, and, like the previously-mentioned place, King Edward's Funeral Procession forms the chief film.

ASHINGTON.—BUFFALO PALACE.—Proprietors, Messrs. J. and B. Lamb; Manager, Mr. W. P. Carr.—The Les Trippelos, in their musical turn, are excellent, Signor Tripello's saxophone solos being particularly fine; Pattie Burton, soprano, is encored several times. The pictures are up to the usual standard.

PAVILION PALACE.—Proprietors, Messrs. McGraw and Wealleans; Manager, Mr. Joe Currey.—Mr. Dave Elliott, the blind concertina-player, is clever; and Miss Edie De Lisle is a pleasing child dancer. The other turns are good, and the pictures of a high order.

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE. — THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Chas. Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. Revill, jun.—The Heathen and the Christian is presented here by Mr. Frank Adair and company. Mr. Adair as Li, the avenger, scores in a character which requires powerful treatment; Miss Louie Adair as Mira Sampson stamps the character with a strong individuality; Miss Stanley Burt as May Beresford wins sympathy for her able delineation of a true woman; and Miss Eva Reid furnishes plenty of comic relief as a love-sick slavey. Mr. Herbert Sydney as Chang Lu, Mr. Harold Garth as Chang, Mr. Jas. Severn as Yam-Yam, and Mr. Fred Withers as Lung Hi are praiseworthy; naval officers are realistically represented by Messrs. Gerald Sydney, Gerald Turner, and Douglas Ames; Mr. Fred Waring makes prominent the part of Joshua Simpson, and Mr. R. Payne sustains that of George Berresford in forcible and convincing manner; Messrs. C. Luck and Fred Barnes fill minor rôles satisfactorily.

EMPIRE HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Leech; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Jesse Burslem.—The most notable turn is Fred Karno's company of comedians, who amuse with Perkins, M.P. The characters are capitally sustained by Albert Bruno as Joshua Perkins and Miss Vera Gilda as Mrs. Perkins; Miss Blanche Vincent is a good burlesque and chorus vocalist; Lambert and Butler are capital singing and dancing comedians; Zethus excels as a cornet soloist and mimic; Metz and Metz are good all-round comedians and expert dancers; Johnny Dwyer creates immense laughter; the Karno Troupe conclude with the G.P.O.

THE NEW PAVILION.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Leech; Assistant-Manager, Mr. E. A. Sims.—The new double programme method of conducting the picture entertainments at the Pavilion is working satisfactorily. Among the notable films displayed is the sacred picture Esther; a fine representation of Kairwan, the holy city of Tunis; and The Funeral of Edward VII.

THE ODDFELLOWS' HALL.—Lessees, The Ashton Entertainments Syndicate; Managers, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Marks.—Some excellent films of the Royal Funeral are displayed; also some good pictures of adventure, romance, and humour. The artist is Mr. Geo. Leverne, a smart comedian. Mr. Marks' Morris Dancers have collected £11 16s., in aid of the funds of the Whitehaven Colliery disaster.

THE PICTUREDROME.—Lessees,—Messrs. Weisker Bros.; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. Leckie.—The Royal Funeral pictures are excellent, and the miscellaneous films include the Adventures of the Golden Valley, a thrilling story of backwoods life. Mr. Martin Angle, vocalist, mimic, and story-teller, is the special artist.

BARNSLEY.—ROYAL.—General-Manager, Mr. A. C. Mitchell.—The attraction here is Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kimberley's company in Her Secret Lover. Attention is held throughout by Mr. A. S. John as Gilbert Seymour, and as Captain Darrel Rose Mr. Walter H. Wilson is all that can be desired; an excellent John Strange is found in Mr. Alfred Stretton; Messrs. Victor Vernon and J. Newton-Cowling as Bill Burley and Jim Jones respectively are very good; Mrs. Lynn Darlington is a lively Jane Maria Wilks; as Alicia Royal Miss Flora Leslie gives an excellent study; Miss Laura Walker as Ivy Seymour is admired for her histrionic abilities.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Will Smithson. — The Tankwai Troupe of Chinese acrobats occupy premier position, and give a wonderful performance; the Four Pawels entertain with their sketch After the Matinée; and other turns include Miss Rose Bartlett, male impersonator; St. Ruth and Conyers in a musical extravaganza, From Workhouse to Stage; the Lauraines, lady brass instrumentalists; Rudge Whitworth, society entertainer; Kinnard, magician; Mark Stuart, comedian; the Vanderbilts; and the Palacescope.

TEMPERANCE HALL.—The Royal Canadian Picture Co. give a fine film of the Funeral of King Edward VII.

BARROW-IN-FURNESS. — ROYALTY THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Stone.—Mr. H. Armitage's company in The Greater Love is here. Mr. Campbell Goldsmith is a very capable Paul Penfold; and the Mrs. May of Miss Marion Fawcett is good. Mr. William Clayton is a capital Jack May; and Miss Violet Thorold is a winning Mary May. Mr. Algernon J. Hicks is a jovial Andrew Isted; and Mr. Henry Nunn a good Chaplain. Mr. Harry Wren, Miss Ethel Russell, and Mr. Aries Conway, as Constable Drayton, Sarah Higgs, and Nell Stubbs respectively, brighten up the piece with capital comedy.

HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE.—Lessees and Managers, Mr. and Mrs. Calvert Routledge.—"The Will o' the Wisps," under the direction of Mr. S. Sherrington Chinn, are still here with a varied and attractive programme.

TIVOLI.—Lessee, Signor R. Pepi; Acting-Manager, Mr. Henry Wood.—The premier turn is provided by Marie San Toy and her merry little Japs, who are much applauded for some capitally rendered solos, duets, choruses, &c. Bi-Bo-Bi is a clever instrumentalist; Lillie Le Main is entertaining in a novel item; the Dartons are very capable vocalists; Horace Jones is a quaint comedian; Venie Clements renders good songs in pleasing style; and Vernon's Bio. concludes with interesting pictures.

NEW HIPPODROME.—Lessees, Mr. and Mrs. Calvert Routledge.—Newman's British Empire Picture Company is presenting an exceptionally good programme, the principal feature being an excellent film depicting the funeral procession of his late Majesty, King Edward VII.

BARRY DOCK.—VINT'S PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. Leon Vint; General-Manager, Mr. Arthur Brogden.—The programme this wek includes the Royal Funeral. The Barringtons, singers, dancers, and musicians, are well recived; Cissie Loveday sings popular illustrated songs; and Frankford and Mayne give a smart duo.

BATH.—PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Chas. Schuberth.—For the spring race week Eugene Stratton heads the bill, and this famous coon delineator is making his usual hit in a selection of song scenas; an immense ovation is accorded to the Geni Family, for their risley performance; Mamie Morris, comedienne and dancer, has the house entirely with her. Others appearing are Burt Ward, who scores principally as a whistler; Lisbon and Barker, extemporising comedians; and Rosie Gaston, comedienne. The pictures are appreciated.

ELECTRIC THEATRE.—The great attraction is the Funeral Procession of His Late Majesty King Edward.

SYDNEY GARDENS.—Splendid weather favoured the opening week of the season. In addition to the fine band of the Committee, under Mr. Schottler's able direction, Mr. Carl Fredericks' popular Les Vivandieres concert party again appear in the "Cosey Corner" to chant melody, crack jokes and dance gaily. Nearly all the old favourites are in evidence, notably Miss Della Fredericks (soubrette), Miss Dora Jaye (soprano and accompanist), Miss Gertrude Russell (comedienne), Miss Eva Valentine (musical sketches), Mr. Alan Wright (baritone), Mr. Wilfred Dane (comedian), Mr. Eddie Noble (humorist), and Mr. Fredericks himself—a first-class entertainer.

BELFAST.—GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Managing Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; Acting-Manager Mr. James M. McCann.—Mr. John E. Watson's company opened here on Monday in two of Arthur Law's plays—The New Boy and A Country Mouse forming an enjoyable programme. In The New Boy the rôle of Archibald Rennick was played in clever style by Mr. W. Besley Beltram; and a talented actress, Miss Phyllis Manners achieved success in the rôle of Mrs. Rennick. The part of Dr. Candy could not be in better hands than those of Mr. Townsend Whitling; Mr. J. Poole Kirkwood was quite equal to the requirements of the part of Felix Roach; Mr. Frank Bradley was capital as Theodore de Brizac; Miss Evelyn Ormonde was a fascinating Nancy Roach; Mr. H. F Wildy as Bullock Major was good; and the small part of Mr. Stubber was safe in the hands of Mr. J. E. East. In A Country Mouse Miss Evelyn Ormonde gained great success as Angela Muir; and other principal rôles were effectively sustained by Miss Madeline Du Val, Miss Madge Elswick Miss Phyllis Manners, and Messrs. W. Besley Beltram, J. Poole Kirkwood, J. E. Watson, Frank Bradley, and H. F. Wildy.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. A. Salmond.—In this the second week of the Revival Season the drama Rogues and Vagabonds has been produced under the direction of Mr. Mathew H. Glenville and Mr. Fred Osmond. Miss Hettie Zillwood plays Vera Laverne with much power, her acting being worthy of high praise; Mr. Reginald T. Fox is all that could be desired as Harry Stamford; Fernand Delair is cleverly portrayed by Mr. Albert Guyon; Mr. R. H. MacCandless is a convincing Chief Inspector; Mr. Lewis Gordon as Jonas Ker makes the most of his opportunities; Dan Calder is realistically portrayed by Mr. Robert Mann; as Police-constable Clegg Mr. Charles H. Gallier merits praise; Miss Audrey Canning is a vivacious Patty MacCowan; Miss M. R. Frame's acting as Hilda Jefferies reflects credit upon her; and other rôles are adequately presented by Miss Alice Buckland and Messrs. Tom Croydon, Fred Clements, and Joe Henley.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr Fred Willmott; Resident-Manager, Mr. Henry T. Downs.—Fred Kitchen and company top the bill, and provide much amusement with their mirth-provoking production Private Potts. Mr. Fred Russell's ventriloquial act is as good as ever, and his success has been decided; Mr. Arthur Reece is always sure of a big reception in this city; the Comedy Chanters in their harmonious items please all; Mr. W. B. Raby is a first-class comedian; the Bristons, acrobats and cyclists, execute some clever feats; and also on the programme are Abel and Welsh, eccentrics; Miss Amy Sullivan, comedienne; Miss Amy Russell, soprano vocalist; and the Hipposcope with the Funeral of King Edward VII

EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. C. Laidler.—The top of the bill here is occupied by Sahib Gustave Fasola, Indian fakir, whose remarkable performance has created quite a sensation. The Prince-Milner Trio appear in their entertaining pot-pourri; the fine baritone voice of Mr. Ian Colquhoun has been heard to advantage in several songs; Mr. Fred Land is a good comedian; Miss Sylvia Du Barry's vocal items have been deservedly appreciated; and Miss Bertha Winder is aptly described as the dancing marvel. Also on the programme are Carl and Carr, comedians, and the Bioscope.

NEW ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Will White.—Interesting and attractive films exhibited here include Tommy Atkins, Egyptian Maid, The Half-breed, Funeral of King Edward VII., &c. The variety element is sustained by Cestria, a really clever comedy juggler, whose acrobatic feats are exceedingly smart, and the Bros. Hannaway, talented comedians and dancers.

ST. GEORGE'S HALL.—General-Manager, Mr. Herbert Rogers.—The pictures exhibited here include The Late King's Funeral, Faust, A Child's Forgiveness, &c. Mr. Dave Abbott, a most amusing Scotch comedian, also appears.

PRINCESS PICTURE PALACE.—General-Manager, Captain T. A. Blake.—Among many attractive pictures exhibited at Belfast's latest cinematograph theatre are The Toymaker's Secret and The Late King's Funeral. Miss Mollie Leigh, a dainty comedienne and fine dancer, and Mr. William Luff, a baritone vocalist of much power, also appear.

BILSTON.—ROYAL AND HIPPODROME.—Lessee, Mr. Edwin C. Jazon; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. J. Tunstall.—The exhibition of juggling by the Kavardos is keenly appreciated; Tom and Neil, the comedy boxing and wrestling athletes, provide plenty of amusement; Miss Flo Melville, a charming comedienne, sings nicely; a very fine picture is shown depicting the funeral of King Edward VII.

AL-FRESCO PAVILION.—The entertainment provided here by the Royal Cadets is being patronised. In addition to some capital songs, etc., is a laughable sketch, entitled The Statue.

BIRKENHEAD.—NEW THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessee, Mr. W. W. Kelly; Acting-Manager, Mr. Herbert M. King.—Mr. T. Edward Wood's His Real Wife company are giving two performances nightly with excellent results. Miss Ward gives a finished impersonation of Rose Avondale; Mr. J. W. Evelyn is really fine as the old farmer, Martin Avondale; Mr. C. Rean is well suited as the young barrister, Herbert Barton, and the more subordinate parts are all adequately represented. The production has every assistance in the way of scenic effect. On Tuesday evening the play Moths was produced. Daily matinées devoted to cinematograph displays of current events are very popular here.

ARGYLE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. D. J. Clarke; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Keating.—Jack and Evelyn, clever variety entertainers, are on a welcome return visit; Miss Veronica Brady, in the Anglo-Dutch musical comedy episode Miss Gretchen, is a leading attraction, and has made an unmistakable hit, and Barnes and Ascot, expert dancers, are general favourites; Mr. Tom Lloyd, eccentric comedian, is renewing previous triumphs, and Stidder and Dunbar in a musical comedy, Gus Garrick, a sterling comedian, Harrison Bros., in an amusing sketch, Miss Mona Vivian, a clever vocalist, and Miss Maude Vera, comedienne, are all most acceptable. Brown's Royal Bioscope, with some excellent views of the Royal Funeral, is interesting.

HIPPODROME.—Director of Entertainments, Mr. Will Sley; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Weston.—Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kimberley's company in Two Little Drummer Boys are doing big business, with Miss Maggie English and Miss Maudie B. Douglas in the title-rôles. Mr. Edward Bikker gives a good portraiture of General Kingsley, and the comedy element is well supplied by Mr. Will Percy and Mr. A. Clements.

WINTER GARDENS, ROCK FERRY.—General-Managers, Messrs. B. Allendale and L. Blattner; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Dooley.—Mr. Cecil W. Parke's Nomads concert party is the attraction.

BIRMINGHAM.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Tom B. Davis; General-Manager, Mr. Philip Rodway.—The Promenade Concerts season opened with encouraging success on Monday. An important alteration effected on the stage has had a beneficial effect from an acoustic point of view. The orchestra is quite as good as in previous years, and the programmes are arranged to suit the tastes of all shades of patrons. Mr. Max Mossel, under whose direction the concerts are given, has scored many triumphs during the week. Mr. Landon Ronald is the conductor of the orchestra, and a great measure of praise is due to him for the able manner in which a number of difficult works are handled.

PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. F. Graham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Henry Johnston.—This is a week of Ibsen plays at the Prince of Wales's Theatre, and judging from the size of the audiences the great Scandinavian author, despite lapse of time, has many admirers in Birmingham. On Monday and Tuesday evenings and Thursday afternoon A Doll's House was performed, Hedda Gabler was produced on Wednesday and Saturday evenings, and on Friday a representation was given of When We Dead Awaken, followed by the fourth act of Brand. The outstanding feature of the performances is the splendid acting of Mr. Leigh Lovell and Miss Octavia Kenmore, who head a company of all-round merit.

ALEXANDRA.—Proprietor, Mr. Lester Collingwood; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. T. Guest.—The drama A Woman's Past is based upon a story well suited to a melodramatic production, and the piece finds great favour with patrons here this week. Miss Dora Pass portrays a difficult character as Bessie Heath, and earns general appreciation; Miss Phyllis Elton gives a praiseworthy representation as Clara Darrell; Mr. Percy Dawson displays marked ability in the character of David Heath; and Mr. Charles Locke makes a good impression as Frank Dellannoy. The acting of Mr. H. Ryeland Leigh in the heavy rôle is always of a high standard, and other parts are capably sustained by Miss C. Veheyne and Mr. A. H. Warden.

BORDESLEY PALACE.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. W. Goodwin Woodward.—The annual stock season opened here on Monday, when the two-houses-a-night system came into operation. The innovation promises to be a great success, large audiences having assembled each evening during the week. The drama The Harbour Lights is being produced under the direction of Mr. Edward Marris, and is proving very popular. Mr. Joseph Millane makes a dashing Lieut. David Kingsley; and Mr. Percy Boucher is successful as Tom Dossiter. Miss Blanche St. Albans is a charming Dora Vane; and Miss Norah Melton cleverly sustains the character of Lina Nelson. The heavy parts are capably presented by Mr. H. C. Robinson and Mr. J. Leicester Jackson.

METROPOLE.—Proprietor, Mr. Andrew Melville; Manager, Mr. J. Hindle Taylor.—The Outcast of the Family is a good wholesome melodrama that meets with the approval of all shades of patrons. The drama is presented for the first time at the Metropole by Mrs. F. Wybert Clive's company, and the story is followed with interest. Miss Elsie Shelton is well fitted for the emotional character of Ruth, and Mr. S. Leigh-Courtney creates a good impression as the hero, Harry Thorne. Mr. Bert Oates provides a clever study as Richard Martin; Miss Maud Leslie Cudd gives a good portayal as Grace Redburn; and Mr. Wybert Clive acts well as Sir Henry Thorne. Two amusing Yorkshire characters are in the capable hands of Miss Freda Breckett and Mr. Tom Armitage.

THEATRE ROYAL, ASTON.—Sole Lessee, Mr. Charles Barnard; General-Manager, Mr. E. Hewitson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Lewis M. Chapman.—Mr. T. Morton Powell is presenting a strong company in the popular melodrama How Girls are Brought to Ruin. The points in the story are brought out in telling fashion, and audiences are not lacking in their appreciation. Mrs. Morton Powell scores a success as the principal character, Winnie Waters; Miss Isla Garnet Vayne is well chosen as Jessie Burton; Mr. Edward M. Heanley is at home in the part of Philip Dare; Mr. Alaric Burton displays ability as Solomon Sleek; and Miss Kathryne Eckhart deserves praise for her portrayal of Mrs. Annie Burton. The other characters are well represented.

CARLTON THEATRE.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. James Alexander.—The Carlton company are this week making a great hit in the popular drama The Colleen Bawn. Miss Nellie Thorn Hallam gives a clever study as the Irish beauty, Eily O'Connor; Mr. Norman Tracy wins applause for careful acting as Hardress Cregan; Mr. Haldane Dalton makes the most of his opportunities as Miles-na-Coppaleen; and Mr. Victor Gardom acquits himself well in the onerous rôle of Danny Mann. Miss Yoxa Summers makes a dainty Ann Chute; and warm praise is due to Miss Margaret Thorne (Mrs. Cregan), Miss Nancy Mitchell (Sheelah Mann), and Mr. Frank Holyoake (Kyrle Daly). The drama is preceded by a clever curtain-raiser entitled Struck.

THE EMPIRE.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. W. Matcham; Assistant-Manager, Mr. A. Williams.—Bransby Williams is paying a welcome return visit to the city, and is attracting large audiences to the popular Smallbrook-street house. His performances of the Ghost scene from Hamlet, and as Shylock and Uriah Heep show him at his very best. The Brothers Egbert gained much popularity here last pantomime season, and this week they are again in favour with their "Happy Dustmen" act; the Findens (Mr. and Mrs. Harold) appear in a mirth-provoking domestic episode. Other turns of an interesting and amusing nature are provided by Mimi Thornton, speciality dancer; Carrie Laurie's capital troupe of juveniles; Fred Curran; Waul Langtry, dialect comedian; Rhoda Paul, male impersonator; and Ellis Barricton, baritone vocalist.

GRAND.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Edward Foster; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Henry Lucas.—The entertainment at this house is again of the very best, being enjoyed by large audiences nightly. The famous Cragg family of acrobats, in their clever conception The Territorials, are at the top, and their performance, as ever, is keenly appreciated. William Mollison, with his company, appears in a military episode entitled A Touch of the Child; while Dot Stephens, of musical comedy fame, is also well to the fore in a répertoire of popular numbers. Mr. Edward Davies, formerly of the Carl Rosa Opera Company, affords a musical treat with a number of first-class operatic selections; the Brothers Durant are responsible for some clever and humorous acrobatic business; while other turns of a pleasing nature are given by Astley's American Circus, Arthur Woodville (light comedian), F. V. St. Clair (song composer), and Ethel Bourne (contralto).

GAIETY.—General-Manager, Mr. Albert Bushell.—The Five Musical Tritons are responsible for the leading turn this week. They have a warm reception for an enjoyable vocal and instrumental entertainment, in which great versatility is displayed. The Six Ontarios are a clever combination of Spanish and acrobatic dancers; Lavail and Bodine, a couple of daring aerial gymnasts, earn much applause; the Melba Twins contribute pleasing duets; the Sisters Kilner are talented singers and acrobatic dancers; Rousby and Rene keep audiences in a good humour whilst they occupy the stage; and the humorous efforts of J. H. Ellis and Phil Bransby earn well-merited applause. The Gaietoscope exhibits new and interesting pictures.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, the Birmingham Hippodrome, Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. P. D. Elbourne.—Heading an excellent programme is the Mirza Golem Troupe of Asiatic acrobats and gymnasts, whose performance ranks as one of the most remarkable ever seen in the city. Their feats are deservedly applauded. The Floradora Trio are smart singers and dancers, and they cause great amusement by bringing upon the stage a typical street boy; a laughable sketch is presented by Phœbe Mercer and company; the Athos Troupe of acrobats and ball manipulators are well received in a number of clever feats; P. T. Selbit presents the "Selbit Mystery," and proves himself an accomplished musician; the Karitsons are smart lady gymnasts; Harry Champion is a big favourite; Curwen and Belle are popular duettists and dancers; Johnson and Devere are a funny pair of trick cyclists; and Dora Lyric has a good reception.

ASTON HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Aston Hippodrome, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. T. H. Middleton.—Wee George Wood, the child comedian and mimic, worthily occupies the leading position on this week's programme. He is making his first appearance in Birmingham, and the manner in which he delights large audiences show that he is assured of a warm welcome upon a return visit. The Derrington Family execute several clever cycling tricks; Cosgrave and Burns are an amusing pair of comedy duettists; the Almas perform daring equilibristic feats; Charlie Harvey and company entertain in a farcical absurdity The Broken Statue; Williams and Warden are popular Irish comedians; Rosco sings acceptably; the Hendersons are original speciality artists; and Linn and Darius are clever instrumentalists and vocalists.

CURZON HALL.—Lessee, Mr. Waller Jeffs.—This week a remarkably fine series of pictures illustrating the funeral of the late King Edward VII. is attracting considerable attention, every incident in the great procession being faithfully reproduced. The pictures are highly appreciated by everyone. Other good features in the programme are The Life of Moses, Fenton of the 42nd, Count Cagliastro, and several cleverly-arranged comic pictures. Frank Clarke adds to the enjoyment of the entertainment with acceptable songs.

KING'S HALL.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. J. P. Moore and B. Kennedy.—The appreciation of crowded houses is shown to an effective picture reproducing scenes at the funeral of the late King, and great applause is accorded a fine portrait of His Majesty King George V. Amongst the most popular of the other pictures shown are Never Despair, Honesty is its Own Reward, Memories, Dick Donovan, A Day Off, &c. The humorous subjects are keenly enjoyed. A great attraction is provided by Mons. Dubois and his performing ape, young Pongo, which embarks upon an exciting aeroplane flight.

BISHOP AUCKLAND.—EDEN THEATRE.—Lessees, Messrs R. Addison, Ltd.; Business-Manager, Mr. J. Huntley.—Capital pictures include: To Save Her Soul, Western Chivalry, and The Eleventh Hour.

HIPPODROME. — Proprietors, The Hippodrome (Bishop Auckland), Ltd.; Managing-Director, Signor Pepi.—The Selbinis give a great performance as trick cyclists and acrobats; Gilbert Girard's impersonations make him popular; Dancit is a clever speciality dancer; Miss Hilda Jacobsen's songs are well received; the Millwards, acrobats, and Will Owen, comedian, do well; and the Hipposcope, with the Funeral of King Edward VII., is remarkably good.

BLYTH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur C. Moody.—Miss Lena Ashwell's company, with Diana of Dobson's, has met with a favourable reception. As Miss Diana Massingberd Miss Ellen Delaporte supplies a pleasing performance; and the support leaves nothing to be desired.

WEST'S PICTURE PALACE.—A complete picture of the Royal funeral is the chief attraction here.

THE HIPPODROME.—The programme of films shown at the 'Drome have proved interesting, The Cossack's Treasure, The Barber of Seville, The Goldseeker's Girl, Storm and Sunshine, being worthy of mention.

BOLTON. — THEATRE ROYAL, LTD. — Managing-Director, Mr. J. F. Elliston; Acting-Manager, Mr. John Moncur.—For the first time in Bolton Messrs. Silverstone and Wright's company is here with The Nihilist; or, A Prince's Secret Wedding. A manly rendering of the village blacksmith, Ivan Nowasky, is given by Mr. George Mitchell; Princess Olga is finely depicted by Miss Florry Kelsey; the part of Alexina Orloff is effectively played by Miss Edna Clare, and the villain, Prince Alexander, is ably taken by Mr. O. Silverthorne. The child Alexina is pleasingly acted by Little Minnie Halston. Much humour is supplied by Mrs. O. Silverthorne as Katrine Zindoff and Mr. Henry Wright as Bobbie Smart. Other parts are effectively played, and the production is well staged.

GRAND THEATRE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. F. Elliston; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Kenyon.—This week's programme comprises Les Piccolinos, miniature universal artists, in their wonderful pot-pourri act; Stuart and Evans, refined comedians; Mack Ollive, in coster impersonations; Leo Carle, in his one-man comedy drama, The Betrayed Professor; Hall and Earle, eccentric comedians; the Two Clares, in a dainty song-scena; Evelyn and Norrie, in comedy sketch Set a Thief; Lambert and Hands, in a vocal scena; the Three Laurels, in their original speciality act; and the Premier Imperial Pictures.

EMPIRE HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, The Hippodrome (Bolton), Limited; Director of Entertainments, Mr. Will Sley; Manager, Mr. A. R. Harrison.—A good company is appearing here, headed by the Six Bros. Luck, who are seen in their comedy sketch, The Demon of the Cellar, which causes roars of laughter. Another item is a side-splitting one-act comedy, entitled Lift-'em's, Ltd.; turns are also given by Lucy Lynd, character comedienne; Will Driscoll, swell comedian; Steel and Laing, in an acrobatic, singing, and dancing act; Bob Selvidge and Poppy Holland, in a musical sketch A Dotted Crochet; Guyer and Valle, in a humorous American sketch Wait for the Finish; Wallace Lupino, boy comedian and speciality dancer; and the Hippodrome pictures.

BOOTLE.—WINTER GARDENS.—Lessees, Messrs. Adeler, Sutton, and Allandale; Joint-Managers, Mr. Bobbie Allandale and Mr. Ludwig Blattner; Resident-Manager, Mr. C. Lionel Cole.—Dick Tubb keeps the audience in the best of humour with his funny songs and grotesque antics; Frank L. Hayter's Dutch Drolls are very entertaining in

On their garments not a blemish,
But fresher than before.—The Tempest.

CLEAN UP FOR YOUR

AUTUMN TOURS.

By special arrangement

TOURING MANAGERS CAN HAVE THEIR WARDROBES CLEANED BETWEEN SHOWS WHEN IN OR NEAR LONDON

by the

CHEMICAL CLEANING & DYEING CO.,

T. HARRIS, Manager.

ORIGINAL THEATRICAL CLEANERS & DYERS.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONIALS.

"27, Moore Street, Lennox Gardens, S.W., May 22nd, 1910.

Mr. HARRIS,—I am very much obliged to you for the prompt way in which you attended to my request, and also for the very satisfactory way in which the things were dyed.—Yours faithfully (Signed) ENID SPENCER-BRUNTON."

"45, Green Road, Southsea, Hants, May 18th, 1910.

Dear Mr. HARRIS,—Thanks so much for taking the trouble to do a little order like this so quickly for me.—Faithfully yours, STUART ALEXANDER."

"Royal Aquarium Theatre, Great Yarmouth, May 26th, 1910.

Dear Mr. HARRIS,—Goods just received; am delighted with them. Very many thanks. Kind regards.—Yours faithfully, J. W. CORDINER."

For further particulars apply to

6, ARGYLL STREET, REGENT STREET, W.

Telephone: Gerrard 1911 (2 lines). Telegrams: "CLEANING, LONDON."

their musical scena; the Sisters Ely make an excellent impression in their dancing speciality; Miss Jessie Buckle takes very high rank as a comedienne; and Corme and Carton create a diversion with their new speciality act.

BOSCOMBE.—Hippodrome, Ltd.—Joint Managing-Directors, Messrs. Fredk. Mouillot and Walter de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. A. H. Bendett.—The "Beau Brummel of Monkey Land," Geo, the almost human chimpanzee, is the star turn, and the perfection of his training is marvellous. Oliver Conroy create roars of laughter; James Eadie and Cissie Ramsden, a clever young comedy couple, present Charlie's Visit; the Great Max Waldon is a skilful female impersonator; Ivy Aberdale is a favourite comedienne and dancer; the Lyric Mummers, entertainers, and Clifton and Gibson, comedians and dancers, together with the up-to-date Hippo. Pictures, conclude.

BOURNEMOUTH.—Theatre Royal and Opera House.—Sole Proprietors, David Allen and Sons; Sole Lessee, Mr. Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Hubert Dunbar.—Those Terrible Twins is presented by Messrs. Leedham Bantock and Fredk. Mouillot's company. The former gentleman, who is the author of the piece, plays the part of the Butler, and keeps the house in roars of laughter; Mr. Henry Cane is good as Samuel Pringle; and Miss Margaret Skelton gives a capital portrayal of his stern wife; Mr. Charles Esdaile gives a clever delineation of Charles Pringle; and Mr. Edwin H. Wynne as the Hon. Harry Scott is effective. Other parts well allotted are those of Miss Louie Backmann as Violet, Miss Edna Morgan as Lillie, Miss Marion Hargrave as the Cook, and Mr. Archibald McCraig as the Lift Boy. Only a Clown, which precedes, is well received.

BRADFORD. — Theatre Royal.—Lessee, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager, Mr. T. F. Doyle; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Richardson.—Florodora, prettily staged, is presented here this week by Mr. Charles Constant's company. The representation is of all-round excellence, and Mr. Leslie Stuart's delightful music is charmingly rendered by Miss Daisy Lake in the part of Dolores and Mr. Martin D. Pitts as Frank Abercoed; Mr. Johnny Schofield is irresistibly funny as Tweedlepunch; Miss Kate Leicester is graceful and piquant as Lady Holyrood; Mr. Stanley White plays Gilfain well; very charmingly Miss Florence Hersee fills the part of Angela, and she partners Mr. Johnnie Junior in La Danse des Apaches, which is introduced with decided effect. Mr. W. Neale has the fine chorus well in hand.

Prince's Theatre.—Lessee, Councillor F. Laidler; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. M. Hamilton.—Mr. C. Watson Mill is on a return visit with his romantic and striking drama For Love and the King, and he sustains with his customary success his original part of Jarval, the brave soldier of fortune; he is again well supported by Miss Rosaline Tate as his sister, Miss Joan Ellis as Natila, Mr. A. Maurice as the Miser, Michael Obrenovic, Mr. C. H. Mathews as Vladimir Obrenovic; and in other rôles Mr. J. Litchfield, Mr. G. Chate, Mr. F. K. Wicksteed, and Miss Melville lend valuable aid in contributing to the success of the piece, which is finely staged and greeted with applause.

The Empire.—Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. J. Kelly.—Mark Sheridan is on a return visit here, and, as usual, his songs and humorous patter elicit roars of laughter; Chas T. Aldrich, humorous entertainer, is also here, and greeted very heartily; Marguerite Broadfoote, comedienne, renders her songs in a charming manner; Clarissa Talbot and Albert Pearce submit good vocalism in a pretty Japanese setting; Rauschle's impersonations are clever and well studied; Maudie Francis is a promising juvenile comedienne; Harry Leybourne at the piano gives a humorous turn; a fine exhibition of ju-jitsu is given by Falco and Eida; Julia Kent and company present a romantic costume comedietta of 1760, viz., Pistols for Three, which is well received; and there are some fine pictures of the Royal Funeral shown by the Bioscope.

The Palace.—Lessee, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. E. Harrison.—Will H. Fox at the piano here this week proves as diverting as ever; Kitty Clinton, comedienne, submits a good turn, and Charles Woodward is a good type of light comedian; Blanche Marion, comedienne, dances well; as society gymnasts the Fitzroys (Fred and Lillie) do some clever work; Monie Mine, comedienne, contributes acceptably; Harry Raymond is a capital coon vocalist; Canard, "The Man on Time," presents an amusing novelty, and with the Arthur Gallimore Trio in Race for the Monkey and the Palace Perfection Pictures a capital evening's amusement is provided.

BRIDLINGTON.—Royal Prince's Parade.—Manager, Mr. Charles Palmer.—The Municipal Orchestra has been considerably enlarged, and the Promenade Concerts, under the able conductorship of Mr. Norfolk Megone, are delighting large audiences. Mr. Fred Fallas, the vocalist for the week, possesses a tenor voice of excellent compass. In the Grand Pavilion the Gipsies and their Jester, under Mr. Will Gane, are giving some capital programmes twice daily, and in the Royal Victoria Rooms the animated pictures this week include a fine series of the funeral procession of King Edward VII.

New Spa and Gardens and Opera House.—Managing-Director, Mr. Harry Tunbridge; Manager, Mr. R. C. Luxton.—The Sabots finished a most successful season here on Saturday night with a programme of their choice items. On Monday Mr. Wilson James and his fine combination of talent, The Gaieties, commenced a three weeks' engagement. Mr. James is a great favourite at the Spa, and his company, which includes one or two new members, had a big reception. Miss Ruby Wilson was highly successful with her songs. She is a comedienne of the taking kind, which always captures an audience who appreciate genuine humour combined with a good voice; Miss Gertrude Hart's soprano songs are well rendered; and Mr. Frederick Gregory is a baritone of fine compass; Mr. Bert Meredith, as a banjoist and humorous sketch artist, is accorded a big reception, and Mr. Harry Hudson, the accompanist, proves himself a capital humorous singer as well as a clever pianist; Mr. Wilson James scores immensely with his humorous effusions, and the concerted pieces by the company are cleverly done.

Summer Gardens.—Lessees, Messrs. Beanland, Bath, and Danton; Manager, Mr. Charles Beanland.—The old-established Waterloos have opened their season here with an excellent combination of talent. In addition to the old favourites the management have secured some new talent, which is sure to be popular with the large number of visitors who patronise this favourite resort.

BRIGHTON. — Grand Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Ernest Gates; General-Manager, Mr. Ben Court.—Messrs. Fox and Leonard's company is here with Greed of Gold. Mr. B. Fox gives an admirable enactment of Tom Welstead; Mr. Scott Leighton is powerfully effective as the villainous Harry Wood; Mr. Allan Gordon is well placed as Arthur Errol; Miss Mabel Phillips merits warm praise for her clever study of Dora Hood. The comedy element is delightfully sustained by Mr. Herbert Leonards as Con Creamer, Miss Violet Leyton as Patty Mayfield, and Mr. G. Newell as Cully Snig.

Invaluable for the Complexion.—LAIT-LAROLA is the most perfect emollient ever discovered for preserving the skin and complexion from the trying changes of weather usually experienced at this time of year, and keeps the skin Soft, Smooth, and White all the year round. Gentlemen will find it wonderfully soothing if applied after shaving. Bottles 1s., 1s. 9d., and 2s. 6d. each, of all chemists and stores. M. Beetham and Son, Cheltenham.—[Advt.]

Alhambra.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Alfred Smith; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. A. Smith.—Dusty Rhodes wins enthusiastic applause with his songs and patter; Fifi Gordon and her quartet are distinctly successful in the Dutch operetta New Sabots; Tommy Ellis gives his songs in pleasing style; Learto and his dog Pom-Pom contribute a very amusing turn; Marion St. John is a charming soubrette and dancer; the Nicholsons are very diverting in a comedy cross-talk act; Fred Arthur is a highly amusing comedian; Dainty Doretta, comedienne and dancer, is well received; Fred Carr and Ada Rose win hearty applause for their sketch After a Night Out; and the Alhambra Picturegraph is very interesting.

Barrasford's Hippodrome. — Resident-Manager, Mr. Bertram J. Brown.—L'Incognita, a highly accomplished vocalist, wins enthusiastic applause; Albert St. Clair is effective as a double-voiced vocalist; Simms and Simms are very entertaining in their instrumental musical turn; Frank and Jen Latona are as popular as ever in music and comedy; Fred Hastings, comedian, is accorded a hearty reception; Robb Wilton is a humorous comedian; the Verona Troupe of cyclists submit clever and daring feats; Smit and Smit evoke hearty laughter with their comic business on the bar; Conway and Leland, one-legged comedians, are amusing; Winfred Ward, "the immaculate boy," gives an excellent turn; and Gladys and Alber submit a novelty speciality.

West Pier.—Secretary, Mr. A. W. Scholey.—Messrs. Peter Davey and Douglas Gordon's company is here with The Importance of being Earnest. Mr. Douglas Gordon submits a good impersonation of John Worthing; Mr. Geo. Silver is delightfully effective as Algernon Moncrieff; Miss Phyllis Relph as the Hon. Gwendoline Fairfax and Miss Marjorie Waterlow as Cecily Cardew are admirably suited; Mrs. Peter Davey gives an excellent enactment of Lady Bracknell; Mr. Arthur Stanley is entertaining as the Rev. Canon Chasuble; and Miss Edith Vogne does justice to the portrayal of Miss Prism.

Palace Theatre.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Jay and Mann; Resident-Manager, Mr. Wilfred H. Kent.—Messrs. Daniel and Franks' company is here with Caste. Mr. Percival Madgewick's Hon. George D'Alroy is finely played; Mr. C. R. Hann makes an admirable Captain Hawtree; Mr. Theodore Kelly is a capital Sam Gerridge; Mr. Roland Daniel gives a clever character study as Eccles; Miss Elsie Roberts makes a charming Esther; Miss Dorrie Roberts is a bright and engaging Polly; and Miss Victoria Wray-Holmes is effective as the Marquise.

Court Theatre.—Lessee and Manageress, Mrs. M. Barrasford; Manager, Mr. F. J. Thompson.—The pictures prove increasingly attractive. The Funeral Procession of the late King Edward VII. is admirably depicted; A Child's Heart, Barbarosa, and The Passing Shadow convey interesting dramatic incidents; Scenes on the Alburia Railway is a fine travel film; and those of an amusing character include Too Many Admirers, Poorluck's Lucky Horse-shoe, and The Devil's Ma-in-Law. The appropriately descriptive pianoforte accompaniments by Mr. Arthur W. Briggs merit praise. Mr. Osland Denner contributes baritone songs in excellent style.

Theatre de Luxe.—Proprietors, Electric Theatres, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. W. H. Cousens.—The exhibitions of animated pictures here continue to attract good houses. The film descriptive of the Funeral Procession of the Late King Edward VII. is beautifully clear; dramatic stories are conveyed by The Artist's Dream, The Eleventh Hour, and Passing Shadow; while great amusement is afforded by He Adored an Advert, Double Muscle has No Luck, and Which of the Two?

BRISTOL.—Prince's Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Macready Chute.—Are You a Mason? is the attraction here for the week, the play being capitally performed and nicely staged. Mr. William Lockhart and Mr. Howard L. Tracy are excellent in their respective parts of Amos Bloodgood and Frank Perry; Miss Agnes Maude is sufficiently stern as Mrs. Caroline Bloodgood; Miss Grace Denbigh Russell is pleasing as Mrs. Perry; Miss Peggy E. Yeoman is amusing as Lottie; other parts are in very capable hands.

Theatre Royal.—Lessee, Mrs. Emma Carpenter; Manager, Mr. Henry C. Alty.—East Lynne is being well played by Mr. Tom Watts' company. Miss Laura Hansen displays considerable power as Lady Isabel; Mr. Rayson-Cousens acts effectively as Archibald Carlyle; Mr. Wilfred Percy Mansfield makes an excellent Francis Levison; Miss Ida Heron is pleasing as Barbara Hare; Mr. Joe Rowland is amusing as Bullock; and all the remaining parts are very carefully taken. The good old play is staged in commendable style.

Palace.—Local Manager, Mr. Horace Livermore; Assistant-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. F. J. V. Welchman.—Bella and Bijou head the bill, their entertainment always meeting with very warm appreciation here. Joe Almasio and Miss Yamina give a capital turn, Almasio being amusing as a jumping juggler, and the lady doing some really clever Arab tumbling; Margaret Ismay and Girls present a pleasing scena of song and dance; May B. Brilliant is a smart comedienne and dancer; George Rae amuses as a Scotch comedian and dancer; and Oliver Martyn, comedian, is successful. A very fine and clear set of films depicting the Royal Funeral proved to be highly attractive, and other animated pictures conclude.

Empire. — Managing-Director, Mr. B. Pearce Lucas; Resident-Manager, Mr. G. Rhodes Parry.—The Martineks amuse with their novelty, The Rag Doll; Nelson's Newsboys entertain with their American characteristic song and dance scena; the Brothers Dean give a clever exhibition of dancing; Stella Dell is a pleasing comedienne; Bolo does some smart juggling with bats; Solo and Mayo are quaintly amusing as comedy artists; Nancy St. John is a clever comedienne; Brayne and Lloyd score with their speciality The Tree of Truth; and some excellent animated pictures are shown of the Funeral Procession of the late King.

BURNLEY.—Victoria Opera House.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. C. Horner.—Highly interesting pictures are greatly appreciated, all the latest events, including the late King's funeral, being shown.

Empire Theatre of Varieties.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. C. Horner.—Messrs. Gordon and St. Croix's company is the principal attraction here, in their musical sketch, The Romanys; Miss Beatrice Edwards as the Gipsy Queen sings two songs in pleasing style; the Brothers O'Brien compel admiration with a neat horizontal bar performance; and the Denaro Bros. are very clever gymnasts. Cull Pitt is a conjuror of ability and a good facial mimic; the Leicester Bros. dance skilfully; Hal Bert, comedian, is very funny; Tom Reed has some good jokes; and Domestic Economy is a fine film by the Empire Theatrescope.

Palace Theatre and Hippodrome.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. R. Badcoe.—Dan Lipton's company appears in a vocal scena, "Songland," in which Miss Eva Kelland, assisted by a capable chorus, give some delightful renderings. The scenery and effects are excellent. Jerry and Daisy Gilbert are two dainty dancers; Frank Cumminger, assisted by Frances Callona, executes some remarkable sand-dancing; Charles Vincent, comedian, is very good; and songs are given in pleasant style by the Bartholomew Girls. The Palace Pictures are good.

BURTON-ON-TRENT.—Opera House.—Proprietors, Messrs. Bennett; Acting-Manager, Mr. Ede Hague Body.—Captain Taylor introduces Lockhart's performing elephants, a truly marvellous performance; Beaumont's highly trained ponies and dogs give a clever and amusing turn; Lila Vesta's efforts as ballad vocalist are much appreciated; the impersonations of Ernie Harlow are decidedly original; Dalvere and Wallace are extremely droll; clever eccentric dances are given by Cash and Clair; and some good songs by Tom Packer. The Operascope maintains its excellence.

BURY (Lancs.).—Royal, Ltd.—General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Assistant-Manager, Mr. J. McPherson.—Her Fatal Marriage is presented twice nightly by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hinton and Travis Green's company. Mr. Jerrold Heather makes Zaco Malleto a truly villainous personage; Mr. Colin Heather is a manly Wilfred Grey; Mr. Gerald Bryne is prominent with a clever study of the half-witted Paul; Lily is charmingly played by Miss Winifred Rutland; Mr. Tod Squires as Peter Pimple and Miss Laura Wright as Dolly Dimple are jointly responsible for the comedy element; and Miss Hilda Shirley is admired as the long-suffering Myra Malleto.

Circus of Varieties.—Pictures are still the principal attraction at this house, and an excellent film showing the funeral procession of his late Majesty is particularly interesting. Lillian Velva, a clever local ball-puncher, and Ada Leach, vocalist, are also prominent in the bill.

Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. Thomas Baker.—The visit of Mlle. Irma Lorraine is proving a tremendous attraction, the living pictures being clever creations. She is assisted by Marjah and Mademoiselle, in classical poses and dances. The Brooklands are popular comediennes and dancers; Jock McNeil is an expert dancer of decided merit; Baker and Balfe, xylophone experts, Neven Tossau, lightning painter of land and seascapes, Miss Millie Engler and company, in a farcical episode, entitled Beauty and the Burglar, A. H. Drinkwater, light comedian, and Reed and Cully, "the Bill Stickers," in comedy tumbling act, complete.

CAMBRIDGE. — New Theatre. — Managing-Director, Mr. W. B. Redfern, J.P., D.L.—On the first three nights of this week a most interesting series of Irish plays was given here. In Kathleen Ni Houlihan on Monday night Mr. J. M. Kerrigan was an impressive Michael; and Miss Sarah Allgood as Kathleen was decidedly good. The play was followed by W. Synge's Playboy of the Western World, in which Miss Marie O'Neill was most intense as Pegeen, and received capital support from Mr. Fred O'Donovan, Mr. Sidney J. Morgan, Mr. Arthur Sinclair, Mr. J. M. Kerrigan, and Miss Sarah Allgood. The concluding piece given was The Workhouse Ward, a comedy by Lady Gregory. On Tuesday In the Shadow of the Glen, The Building Fund, and Hyacinth Hairey were played.

CARDIFF. — New Theatre. — Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Robert Redford.—The Cruise of the Constance, presented by Mr. Harry W. Lumley, is thoroughly enjoyed here. Mr. Chas. McNaughton appears in the rôle of Potts, and a more clever and humorous impersonation it is difficult to imagine; Mrs. Hope is in the capable hands of Miss Irene Verona, who appears to much advantage; a charming rendition of Clements is given by Miss Ruby Vyvyan, her prepossessing appearance and extremely sweet singing making her performance most attractive; Mr. Chas. McLagan works hard in the difficult part of Admiral Weber; and Captain Jackson finds an able exponent in Mr. Albert Kavanagh. Mr. Fred Hobbs (Lieut. Wensleydale) and Miss Carlotto Sylvano (Isobel Higgins) sing and act well; and Mr. Lockwood Philpott is impressive as Edward Hardy. The fine yacht scene is very effective; and a capital chorus and orchestra are under the direction of Mr. Albert Vernon.

Empire.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. J. Taylor.—Parker, P.C. is presented by Charles Austin; this eccentric comedian is supported by a large company. The Seven Perezoffs gain hearty approbation for their clever jugling act; Miss Ethel Newman charms everyone by her skilfully rendered monologue, entitled Her Wedding Day; Charles Norton is warmly received in his talented mimetic act, Pros. at the Races; Harvey's American Boys and Girls prove quite refreshing in novel songs; Tom E. Hughes is a remarkably quaint comedian; Frank Lyne has a capital comic song and a smart parody on "The Village Blacksmith"; Chas. J. Johnson is a coloured comedian who has mastered the art of step-dancing; and Lola Patey has a sweetly-rendered Irish song. Pictures of the Royal Funeral have proved very impressive.

Palace and Hippodrome.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. A. Jackson.—Miss Beaumont Collins and company, in Leaves of Memory, prove highly attractive; Gillin, the unique ventriloquist and humorist, presents a skilful number; Cassie Walmer, the eccentric comedienne, is equally successful; J. J. Mannex, the coffee-coloured coon, does well; and the Three Alskarnos, original risley comedians; Florence and Rose Showell, the popular duettiste; and the Palace Perfection pictures are also in the bill.

CARLISLE. — H. M. Theatre. — Lessees, Mr. Thos. Courtice and Mrs. R. Stewart M'Kim; Manager, Mr. Thos. Courtice.—For the second week of his stock season Mr. Edmund Tearle opened with the ever-popular drama The Octoroon, and again delighted his audience with the all-round excellence of the performance. It was staged and dressed, too, with the attention to detail which characterises all Mr. Tearle's productions. A Lion's Heart and Ingomar are also in the week's bill.

The Palace.—Sole Lessee, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. D. Askew.—Maude Mortimer is again the star turn here, and repeats her previous success; Roy Bevis is a neat and skilful professor of the art of legerdemain; Jessie Roughton and Dennis Creedon, in a vocal and instrumental scena, are refined and accomplished artists; Marie Dreams, a young lady with a wonderful baritone voice, is a big success; and Vesta Nixon, comedienne, and Rene, a smart lady juggler, meet with much appreciation. The Great Virto contributes a musical act of distinct merit, playing several instruments with skill and taste. The pictures are popular.

CASTLEFORD.—Queen's Theatre of Varieties.—Proprietors, The Castleford Queen's Theatre Co., Ltd.; Managing-Directors, Messrs. Chas. Beanland and Will H. Emerson.—Heading the bill here and playing to a capital audience is the Countess Bekoffsha, a lightning flower painter, who delighted the audience with her work; Harold Heath, coon vocalist and dancer, provides an agreeable turn; St. Vincent Ellesemere, as a ballad vocalist, is appreciated; and interesting, instructive, and amusing pictures by the Loyal Dominion company complete the programme.

CHELTENHAM.—Opera House.—General-Manager, Mr. H. Oswald Redford.—The Russell Rosse company opened on Monday in A Pair of Spectacles. Mr Arthur Hare's study of Benjamin Goldfinch was an artistic and conscientious performance; Uncle Gregory was cleverly represented by Mr. Henry St. Barbe West; and Percy and Lorimer were effectively sketched by Messrs. Guy Vivian and Frank Tenant. Miss Ida Phillips as the much-perplexed Mrs. Goldfinch and Miss Madge Monte as the pretty Lucy Lorimer were well placed; and Miss Marion Williams was a typical parlourmaid. The shoemakers were capitally represented by Messrs. G. N. Williams and F. Wilson; and Mr. G. Cleveland was good as Goldfinch's friend in distress. Caste is billed for the latter part of the week.

Montpellier Pavilion.—Manager, Mr. Alfred W. Newton.—A welcome return engagement was commenced on Monday by the Royal Strolling Players, and a huge gathering gave them an enthusiastic welcome. Mr. Gilbert Fernie is a versatile humorist; Mr. Steve Buckingham amuses greatly; Mr. Victor Wallace is a capable humorist; Miss Maidie Harrison has a sweet voice and is a dainty little dancer; and Miss Lena Lawton sings and dances delightfuly. Miss Marion James's songs are enjoyed. The company have an excellent accompanist in Mr. Arthur Wright. Concerted numbers are a strong point in the entertainment.

Poole's Picture Palace.—Lessee, Mr. E. B. Shenton.—Holiday crowds have flocked to see the beautiful films representing the obsequies of King Edward.

CHESTER. — Royalty Theatre. — Proprietors, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. C. B. Fountaine.—Topping the bill are Francini-Olloms and Page, who give a smart exhibition of juggling, acrobatics, and comedy tumbling; Phil Terris is an eccentric comedian of merit and originality; Amie Jumel, vocalist, whistler, instrumentalist, and dancer, deserves praise for versatility; Jack Vanando is a clever ventriloquist and Millie Doris a capable character comedienne; Maxwell and Francis present a novel flirtation vocal comedy scena with brightness and finish; and the Welsh Eisteddfod Sextette, accomplished vocalists, rendered full justice to Cambrian melody. A Gaumont film, The King's Funeral, is shown by Vernon's Imperial Bioscope.

CHORLTON - CUM - HARDY. — Chorlton Theatre and Winter Gardens.—Proprietors, The Chorlton Entertainments, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. Walter Stott; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fredk. J. Reece.—Mr. Sydney Spenser presented My Sweetheart the first part of the week to appreciative audiences. In the title-rôle Miss Lizzie Hall was everything that could be desired, her singing and dancing being undoubtedly clever; Mr. Sydney Spencer was effective as Joe Shotwell; Mr. Arthur L. Read played Harold Bartlett with vigour; Mr. Harry T. Butler made an effeminate Dudley Harcourt; and Mr. A. W. Thompson an able Dr. Oliver. Mr. Harry Jackson was well cast as Farmer Hatzell, and Mr. Edward Rawlinson gave a conscientious picture of Tony; Miss Gipsy Alexander submitted a meritorious study of the wily Mrs. Fleeter; Miss Belle Russell acted with distinction as Mrs. Hatzell. Peek-a-Boo, Christie, and Emmeline were neatly represented by Miss Hilda Eyre, Miss Elsie Heap, and Miss Violet Etherington respectively. The comedy was well dressed and staged. A Wonderful Woman is also billed.

COLCHESTER.—Theatre Royal.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. Chas. Macdona; Lessee and Manager, Mr. F. Graham Macdona.—The Marriage of Kitty is presented here by Mr. C. W. Standing's company. Mr. Standing himself plays the part of Reggie Belsize, and on Monday night he excelled himself; Miss Myra Swan, charmingly gowned, revelled in the character of Kitty, and her success was undoubted; Miss Winifred Pearson acted with considerable verve as Madame de Semiano and scored frequently; Mr. Sydney Burt, in manner, style, and gesture, portrayed John Travers with characteristic correctness; Miss Pamela Hope was successful as Rosalie. The Man in the Street preceded.

Hippodrome.—Director, Messrs. F. Mouillot and Walter de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. Ben de Frece.—Mr. Eugene C. Stafford's company in The Private Secretary is here with that well-known and greatly esteemed comedian, Mr. W. Hargraves as Cattermole; Mr. Geoffrey Guise does exceedingly well as the Red Spalding, and makes a big hit with the farcical character; Mr. Frederick Tyrrell is quite successful as Gibson. The ladies are worthily represented by Miss Aimee Grattan Clyndes, Miss Elsie Blythe, and Mrs. Alfred Davis. Mr. Francis Trevor acts agreeably as Mr. Marsland, M.F.H.

CONSETT.—New Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Resident-Manager, Mr. Lloyd Clarance.—Raymond tops the bill, and completely baffles the audience with his magic entertainment. Gordon Stretton is a remarkably smart coon; Little Sunbeam, a charming juvenile artist; and Morris and Moore, capital dancers. The Vampire Dance, submitted by Les Grossi, is a huge success. Luella Cross, comedienne and vocalist, also contribute to a good all-round show.

CORK.—Palace Theatre, Ltd.—Manager, Mr. Thomas F. O'Brien.—Principal place in the programme is given to Las Serenadas, a quartette of high-class vocalists; Mina Denvie renders some pleasing songs; Adras Bros. are a pair of clever acrobats; Queenie Essex contributes pretty songs; Selby and Myers are a clever pair of comedians and dancers; George Barton, coon impersonator, pleases; the Four Regals, strong men, give a capital exhibition of physical culture; and the Palascope pictures are exciting and amusing.

COVENTRY.—The Opera House.—Proprietor, Mr. Wm. Bennett.—A visit of Miss Loie Esmond's company, under the direction of Mr. Edward Neville, is proving a good attraction. The first part of the week was presented The Sorrows of Satan, in which Mr. Edward Neville ably undertook the difficult character of Prince Lucio Rimanez; Miss Loie Esmond was an effective Diana Chesney; Miss Rosie Neville was a charming Lady Sybil Elton; Mr. J. Le Fleming was responsible for the Earl of Elton. Other parts were ably represented by Mr. Percy Foreman, Mr. H. Listo, Mr. B. Anderson, Miss Dorothy Dewhurst, Miss Cecil Byrne, and Miss May Morne. Too Soon preceded. Nana and Sapho furnished the bill for the remainder of the week.

Hippodrome.—Managing-Director, Mr. S. T. Newsome; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. E. Wright.—Heading the bill is Percy Honri, the popular concertinist, who presents the musical sketch Concordia, the songs, dances, and selections delighting the audience; the Three San Remo Girls provide a good exhibition of dancing; Marie Pera, assisted by Thomas Cennard, give a sketch entitled Two Doors and a Passage, which is much appreciated; Thora contributes a fine ventriloquial entertainment; and other good turns are provided by Maude Olmar, dancer and vocalist; Harry Jomps, comedian; and T. E. Bates, eccentric comedian and dancer.

CROYDON.—Grand Theatre.—Manager, Mr. Alexander Watson; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Ernest Archer.—The D'Oyly Carte Opera Company is appearing here this week in répertoire, consisting of Mikado, Gondoliers, H.M.S. Pinafore, Trial by Jury, Patience, and Yeomen of the Guard. In the first-named on Monday Mr. Henry A. Lytton was in first-class form as Ko-Ko; Mr. Fred Billington made a big hit as Pooh-Bah; Mr. Henry Herbert as Nanki-Poo was in fine voice; Mr. Leicester Tunks was well placed as the Mikado of Japan; and Messrs. Sydney Granville and Fred Drawater were adequate as Pish-Tush and Go-To. Miss Louie Rene deserves warm congratulations for her assumption of Katisha; Mrs. Arthur Rousbey sang sweetly and made a lovable Yum-Yum; and Miss Beatrice Boarer and Miss Marjorie Stone were enchanting as Pitti-Sing and Peep-Bo.

Empire Palace of Varieties.—Managing-Director, Mr. Walter Gibbons; Manager, Mr. Eustace Jay.—Herbert Sleath's company is winning approval here in graphic sketch, The Deputy Sheriff; the Brothers Horne are great in boxing skit, The Biter Bit; the De Breans are clever in their Japanese and shadowgraph entertainment; Harry Randall, comedian, is more droll than ever; the Bensons are an invigorating comedy couple; Walter Emerson is an interesting comedian; Lloyd and Lane (Violet and Horace) give a humorous turn; the Four Rosebuds sing and dance well; Syd May gives some well-studied impersonations of George Robey, Gus Elen, &c.; Bert Errol has a fine voice and causes a sensation; the Maples are capable speciality artists; and the Bioscope pictures of the Funeral of His Late Majesty, King Edward VII., are exceptionally clear.

DARWEN.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietor, Mr. F. R. Griffiths; General-Manager, Mr. D. P. Cooper; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. Sutcliffe.—Will Challiner, comedian and dancer, is much appreciated; Dorothy Thompson also sings and dances well, Percy Gill being also applauded in the same line; Miss M. Dardis is a pleasing ballad singer. An excellent film of the Funeral of King Edward VII., by the Urban Co., is shown.

Albert Hall.—Lessee, Mr. Harry Holden; Manager, Mr. J. Morris.—Beaty Bros., comedians and patterers, create laughter in their sketch, Down at the Races; Jack Hayton, the Lancashire lad, is applauded for his dancing; and Ernest J. Bury, baritone, is well received. The Duke's Plan and Funeral of King Edward VII. are among the set of films shown.

DERBY.—Grand Theatre.—Sole Owner and General-Manager, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. Henley.—Barney Armstrong and Kelly top the bill here, and as mirth-provokers they prove themselves artists of first-class ability; The Havannas Troupe, eccentric tumblers, are particularly smart; The Three Delaries submit a clever trapeze act in a setting called The Demon Grotto; Molly Wynne's dainty dancing is highly appreciated; a capital acrobatic skate dancing act is contributed by J. H. McCann; Mather and Mayer appear to advantage in American songs and dances; Lee and Bentley's sketch, The King's Counsel, is capably rendered; Russell Carr, military ventriloquist, causes much amusement; and Harry Morris is a diverting raconteur. The Bioscope finishes an entertaining bill of fare.

Palace Theatre of Varieties.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. W. Moyes.—Mr. Robert Hewland's company occupies the boards here with The Shadow of a Crime. As Jim Murdock Mr. Whitmore Ledger gives a manly impersonation, and is well supported by Mr. Robert Hewland as Captain Harry Bullington; Miss Marie L. Ellis as Loyale Norman submits a powerful presentment; in the part of the villain Mr. Victor Gordon works well; and Mr. Harry Creamer (Samuel Brown), Miss Violet Vivienne (Brown's better half), and Mr. Tom Maynard (James Todd) are successful in the efforts on the humorous side.

DEVONPORT. — Hippodrome. — Manager, Mr. Pearce.—A musical treat is provided by the Zigeuner Quartette; Gladys Huxley scores in some capital contralto songs; Arthur Croxon adds to his reputation as a comedian; Frank Hartley is a juggler of more than ordinary ability; Dawson provides a choice drawing-room entertainment, and Ciss and Will are a promising pair of juvenile artists. The Bioscope film depicts the funeral of his late Majesty Metropole.—Manager, Mr. G. S. King.—Almost His Bride has drawn good houses. Mr. Stephen Pritt's company, under the management of Mr. David McFarlane, is producing the piece, and full justice is done to the host of exciting incident with which the play abounds.

DEWSBURY. — Theatre Royal.—Proprietors, The Northern Theatres Co., Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. Herbert Asquith.—Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kimberley, Green, and Hinton's company in Was She to Blame? is appearing here. Mrs. Kimberley gives a highly finished rendition of the retired actress, Mrs. Roselle; Mr. Roland Henry is to be congratulated on his excellent portrayal of William Clark, the broken-down actor; as the hero, Capt. George Courtenay, Mr. George Keene is very successful; Miss Nancy Roberts invests the part of the erring Vicar's daughter with emotional ability; the character of John Norman is in the able hands of Mr. Henry Rutland; Mr. Clavering Craig as Frank Roselle portrays the villain capitally; Miss Ellen Beverley (Mary Norman) and Fred Astley (Jim Harford) well sustain their parts; Mr. Kenneth Black, jun., as Timothy and Miss Nita Owen as Sarah introduce some original comedy. The play is well mounted.

Empire.—Proprietors, Messrs. G. W. and G. E. Smith; Manager, Mr. Claude Shayler.—The bill is headed by the Gaudsmidt Bros., clever acrobatic clowns, who are assisted by two marvellously trained Spanish poodles; a musical treat is provided by Theo Le Gais' company in Music the Conqueror, the cast including Señor Angel Blanco, the violin virtuoso; J. P. Ling scores a success with his mimicry; Minnie D'Aubyn is a pleasing vocalist; Drum and Major cause much mirth in The Broker's Man; Earle and Melville introduce some good dancing and patter; Charles Gardener, comedian, goes well; the Zampas are applauded for some fine dancing and bâton juggling; and an excellent film portraying the funeral procession of his late Majesty King Edward is shown on the Palascope.

Hippodrome.—General-Manager, Mr. Geo. Weldon.—The annual performances promoted by Mr. Weldon in aid of local charities took place the first three nights of the week, and a company of local artists rendered excellent service. Crowded houses have included the Mayor and Corporation and the chairmen and committees of the various charities.

DONCASTER. — Grand Theatre and Empire.—Manager, Mr. J. W. Chapman.—Heading the bill are Jackson and May, in their sensational cycling feat; Captain Permane's Teddy Bear Family is popular; Maude Larette, mimic, assisted by the Glenisters, in illustrated song-scena, is well received; Annie Lang is a capable comedienne and dancer; Trogan, the one-armed athlete, gains general favour; Fred Ward is a witty comedian; the Mars Trio are smart military gymnasts; Maude Phillips is an acceptable contralto vocalist; and the boy flautist, Laurie Holmes, is roundly applauded.

DOUGLAS.—Empire.—Lessee and Proprietor, Mr. Charles Dare; Resident-Manager, Mr. James Carr.—The pictures presented are quite up-to-date, and compriso episodes and incidents, grave and gay. Mr. George Penn is amusing; Mr. Ernest D'Almaine has a pleasing voice, and his ballads were received with real appreciation. Mr. Cecil Bevan presides at the piano.

Other places of amusement open are the Palace, which relies on roller skating and animated pictures. Buxton is open for roller skating; and Mr. Charles Dare's minstrels attract large attendances to Douglas Head.

DUBLIN.—Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frederick Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Charles Terry.—Messrs. Alfred Paumier and Walter Howard's company, in The Midnight Wedding, has attracted appreciative audiences. Mr. Alfred Paumier gives a clever representation of the swordmaster, Paul Valmar; Miss Lilian Hallows acts the Princess Astrea in a graceful and sympathetic manner; and as Captain Rudolf Von Scarsbruck Mr. A. E. Winnington Barnes furnishes a capital study. The Crown Prince Leopold is admirably presented by Mr. John Nesbitt; and Mr Charles Whitlock does very well as Lieut. Eugene Von Strelsburg. Much humour is extracted from the rôles of Max, Otto, and Bobo by Messrs. James E. Page, St. George Frere, and Algie Spalding; and a vivacious portrayal of Kathie is given by Miss Jessica Black. Mr. Forbes Harrison makes a dignified Father Gerard; and Miss Ruth Wingrove submits a clever study of Rozel. The staging is particularly good.

Gaiety Theatre. — Managing - Director, Mr. Frederick Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Charles Hyland.—The Independent cellently. The play is preceded by a farce, by Nora Fitzpatrick and C D. Markievicz, entitled Home, Sweet Home.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. F. W. Marriott-Watson; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. F. Wright.—Messrs. O'Brien and Ireland's répertoire company entered on their second week here on Monday, when Kathleen Mavourneen was presented to an appreciative audience. Mr. James O'Brien was as humorous as ever as Terence O'Moore; and Miss Madeline Hurst was very creditable as Kathleen O'Connor. Mr. Harry Ireland gave an accomplished performance of Bernard Kavanagh; and Mrs. Mary Glenville was successful as Meg Marslogh. Father O'Cassidy had an able representative in Mr. J. B. Tully; and Miss Laura Lawson was excellent as Kitty O'Lavery. Mr. J. C. Boyle was exceedingly good as David O'Connor; and Miss Minnie Walsh was commendable as Miss Dorothy Kavanagh. The remaining parts were in capable hands, and the staging and scenery excellent. Paddy Miles's Boy preceded.

EMPIRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager and Secretary, Mr. George H. Marsh.—The star turn here is Mr. Jack Pleasants, who keeps his hearers in the best of humour with his songs and stories; Park's Eton Boys and Girton Girls come in for a hearty reception; the Marsumas, comedians on wheels, make a decided hit; Flo Inman, comedienne and dancer, is popular in all parts of the house; Frank Cass is a funny comedian; Johnny Fuller, the great little cat, on the wire, provides a clever turn; in a pleasing and graceful gymnastic act, Mlle. Pollo is deservedly applauded; Phil Parsons is an acceptable comedian; and the Empire pictures conclude an enjoyable programme

TIVOLI.—General-Manager, Mr. Chas. M. Jones; Assistant-Manager, Mr. H. A. Murphy.—The Belling Brothers, cycle equilibrists, head the bill, and meet with a pleasing reception; Walter Ellis and company, in The Sleepwalker, cause roars of laughter; Bonair and Tess, in their quick-change scena, display ability; Marjorie Clare's songs at the piano are well received; and the Makans, comedy duo, are highly amusing. Renz Brothers, comedy acrobats, keep the audience in a merry mood; the Sisters Dudley, vocalists and dancers, are a decided success; Jack Sheridan is a capital comedian; and the Three Orleans, vaudeville artists, are also to the fore. Pictures complete.

CINEMATOGRAPH THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W H. Huish.—This popular theatre is attracting very large audiences, and the reproduction of the King's funeral procession is a prominent feature of the pictures shown.

DUNDEE.—KING'S THEATRE AND HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Moul; Manager, Mr. S. McIntosh.—A finely assorted bill is headed by W. F. Frame, the famous Scotch comedian, whose wit and humour are as fresh and invigorating as ever; Rorke, Rooke, and company are accorded an ovation in The Prince's Love Affair; the Singing Jockeys appear with success in a racy act; Mike Cray tickles the risible faculties of the audience with his eccentric juggling, and is intelligently assisted by his clever dog Dooley; Montes and Welma score in a novel leaping act; the Calcotts, in their wayside episode, Rags and Tatters, prove expert musicians; and Ethel Campbell is a comedienne with a pleasing presence and dashing style. The Funeral of the late King Edward VII. is shown by the Kingscope.

GAIETY THEATRE.—Acting-Manager, Mr. J. K. Stewart.—The people's popular pictures introduce leading events in the life of the late King Edward and his funeral procession. Belshazzar's Feast and Princess and Slave are specially good films of the picturesque order, while Love in a Mining Camp is a capital dramatic picture. The vaudeville element is sustained by the Metherells, in a smartly-worked musical sketch, and Mabel Cameron, in song-scena, Boy Scouts.

PALACE THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. J. J. Bennell; Acting-Manager, Mr. Tom Lunn.—The chief item of a lengthy and varied programme of films is a magnificent view of the historic funeral of the late King Edward. The Girl and the Fugitive and Samuel of Posen are other notable views, and the singing picture continues popular.

EMPIRE THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. J. J. Bennell; Acting-Manager, Mr. R. W. Austin.—The picture programme this week is an attractive one, and business is in a very flourishing condition.

KINNAIRD HALL.—Feather's cinematograph is located here this week. The list of films includes King Edward's Coronation, his Visit to the Dreadnought with Queen Alexandra and other Royalties, the Late King's Visit to Lord Derby at Knowsley, and his Funeral Procession. The film representative of the Dundee Procession is also a strong feature.

DURHAM.—THE PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. T. C. Bawes.—Signor and Mme. Borelli, in a drawing-room comedy act, head the bill this week; Lovaine, with song and patter, creates much laughter; the Paolias, in a novel athletic act, receive well-deserved praise; and Gladys Hooley is very effective in the scena Fiddle and I. Gulliver and his doll are most amusing; the Saletos are well appreciated for a graceful balancing act; and the Tintos, in African gambols, are clever and amusing. The Cathodoscope shows a good picture.

EASTBOURNE.—DEVONSHIRE PARK THEATRE.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Murray King and Clark.—The local amateur operatic society gave three performances of The Yeoman of the Guard here during the early part of the week, and Miss Cora Anson's company was billed to appear on Thursday in Caste, with Mr. G. W. Anson as Eccles.

PIER PAVILION.—Manager, Mr. George Hayes.—Mr. Silvanus Dauncey and Mr. Hanworth Browning's company is appearing here in Dolly Reforming Herself. Miss Dorothy Giles as Dolly, with much to do, acquits herself with cleverness and success; Miss Florence Steventon has a fine grip of the part of Mrs. Sturgess, which she plays excellently; and Miss Sylvia Jones is satisfactory as Peters. Mr. Ethelbert Edwards does sound and refined work as Harry Telfer; Mr. Cecil Brooking acts with much point and interest as Matthew Barron; Mr. Hanworth Browning gives a refreshingly natural performance as Captain Lucas; Mr. Russel Barry is a distinct Professor Sturgess; Mr. James Beaumont a very good Rev. Pilcher; and Mr. Reginald Dauncey a helpful Criddle.

ROYAL HIPPODROME. — Managing-Director, Mr. Sidney W. Winter; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. F. Woodward.—Heading the bill here is M. De Biere, who has a tasteful and elaborate setting for one of the smartest and cleverest magic shows seen here; Mlle. Silotta has an exhibition of living statuary which find favour; the 'Varsity Girls return and give a bright, taking musical entertainment; Miss Rosali Jacobi has a sweet voice and engaging manner which are cleverly used; Claff and Tremaine are a very funny and interesting couple who appear as The Demon and the Fairy; Truro and Breece are two successful eccentric comedians; and Mr. Will Brockton sings his songs in admirable style.

ECCLES.—CROWN THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Sons; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. Albert Rogers.—Mr. Raynor's répertoire company is presenting An American Citizen and His Excellency the Governor. In the first-named production Mr. Raynor is seen to advantage as Beresford Cruger; and Mr. Joseph Montague as Peter Barbury lends capable assistance. Mr. Walter A. James gives a capital impersonation of Egerton Brown; as Sir Humphrey Bunn Mr. Milton C. Curtis proves himself a clever actor; Miss Cecilia Dare as Beatrice Carew again shows that she is a thorough artist; Miss Frances Waring as Carola Chapin is all that could be desired. The King' funeral procession is shown on the Bioscope.

EDINBURGH.—ROYAL LYCEUM THEATRE.—Managing-Directors, Mr. F. W. Wyndham and Mr. Geo. T. Minshull; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. M. Downie.—Mr. Horace Lingard and Mr. Arthur Shelton's company commenced a week's engagement here on Monday, when Mr. Jerome's comedy Fanny and the Servant Problem was presented with an admirable cast. Miss Beatrice Moreau, an actress who possesses every requisite for a comedy performer, played the title-rôle with excellent tact and discretion; Mr. Horace Lingard's impersonation of Martin Bennett was distinguished by many masterly touches, and Mr. Roland Hope in the part of Dr. Fremantle gave a finished piece of acting; Miss Mayran Fay and Miss Ethel Coleridge, as the two aunts, were clever in parts which afforded little opportunity for the display of their undoubted abilities, and the idiosyncrasies of the various members of the Barrett family had capital representatives in Mr. A. Lightowler, Miss Grace Bearing, Miss Phyllis Brent, and Miss Hilda Lane. The comedy was preceded by The Admiral. For Thursday and Friday a version of Sardou's comedy Divorçons was announced.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Directors, Mr. F. W. Wyndham and Mr. Geo. T. Minshull; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Whitehead.—Mr. Charles Steuart's company is here with that merry farcical comedy Facing the Music, and many playgoers have been the better for the medicine of mirth of which they have partaken during the week. Mr. H. Langdon Bruce is a genuinely clever light comedian, and as John Smith he enters into the humour of the part with a spirit that is droll without being conventional; Mr. Charles Fancourt is admirable as the meek Curate of St. Andrews; Mr. Charles Steuart is gay and debonair as Jack Desmond; Mr. Edward Bonfield contributes a distinctly successful study as Colonel Smith; and Mr. Charles Melton invests the muddle-headed Detective Duffel with marked expression; Miss Iris Hoey as Mabel acts with singular grace and charm; Miss Estelle Thebaud is bright and vivacious as Nora; Miss Questa Dearing is effective as Miss Fotheringay; and Miss Amy Coleman is notably good as Mrs. Ponting. A grim but powerful one-act drama, The Last Drop, gives Miss Thebaud and Mr. Melton the chance of presenting with vividness two repellent types of character. After the performance to-night (Saturday) the theatre will close for the summer recess.

KING'S THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Amand Mascard.—Chief among the attractions are a series of cinematograph pictures showing incidents in the late King's funeral. Variety turns are acceptably provided by Kitty Jones, Willie Garvey, O'Malley and Brown, Albert Athas and Lizzie Collins (introducing some smart step-dancing), the word-whistler Arthur Melrose, and the popular George D'Albert with a budget of new songs. The Sisters Aindow contribute a pretty and dainty musical act in quaint and pleasing style; Miss Rosie Archer proves a successful mimic of music-hall celebrities; H. R. Friscary's juggling with top-hats and other articles is clever; and Miss Rosie Ring, with her bevy of damsels, supplies an interesting scena entitled When the Heart is Young.

EMPIRE PALACE THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. Aynsley Cook.—Miss Ada Reeve, dainty and witching, is the outstanding attraction in an admirable programme here. Miss Reeve sings songs new and old, and in the rendering of each she displays that consummate mastery of humour and pathos which draws forth at will both laughter and tears. Spry and Monti, in The Song Writer and the Soubrette, act, sing, and dance with exhilarating effect; Mr. J. J. Dallas is very amusing in his song of the Distressful Widow, and Miss Alexandra Dagmar is, as usual, successful in song and story. The Little Stowaway, a dramatic piece produced by Mr. Bertie Shelton, is acted with real force and feeling by a company which includes Mr. John K. Walton, a breezy Captain Worsley; Mr. Arthur Temple, a capital Lieut. Burton; Mr. S. Griffiths Moss, admirable as the Bosun; and Miss Marjorie Armstrong, a pathetic stowaway. The Jackley Trio are excellent in their comedy acrobatic act; Les Marco Belli give a graceful and amusing conjuring act; and a grotesque quartette party, rejoicing in the title of "The Tune Chewers," sing with taste and expression. Additional and touching interest is imparted to the programme by a series of beautiful views of the funeral of King Edward VII. shown on the American Bioscope.

OPERETTA HOUSE.—Lessee and General-Manager, Mr. J. H. Sanders.—Scenes from the life of King Edward VII. and the last sad pageant of the final journey ending at Windsor are the great attraction here. Other films include The Cowboy Millionaire and All's Well that Ends Well.

PRINGLE'S PICTURE PALACE.—General-Manager, Mr. Geo. Edmunds.—A full and interesting programme at this popular house comprises Lieut. Rose and the Foreign Spy and Saved from the Tide, two exciting pictures, and The Wrong Man, a humorous story of a peculiarly droll kind. Bob Brown, the "midget Hercules," and the Delmore Trio in a comedy sketch In a Fix, give every satisfaction to the large audiences.

MARINE GARDENS.—Manager, Mr. G. B. Smith.—Pleasure seekers thoroughly enjoy the attractions of this pleasant resort, and the attendance has been gratifying to all concerned. Out of doors the band of the 7th Queen's Own Hussars, under the able direction of Mr. James Slattery, perform afternoon and evening in the band court. In the concert hall the "Smart Set" entertainers have delighted large audiences with two well-varied performances nightly. The skating rink's arrangements for the week included a fancy dress carnival on Friday evening for the amusement of skaters and spectators. Among the numerous stock side shows scattered about the grounds the Somali Village, the Figure 8 and Scenic Railways, the River Caves, Maze, &c., continue to excite interest and secure patronage.

ELLESMERE PORT.—HIPPODROME AND PICTURE PALACE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Corelli and Co.; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur Corelli.—The patrons at this popular place of amusement are favoured with a return visit of Gittins's Grand Opera company, with condensed versions of Il Trovatore, Faust, Maritana, Martha, Bohemian Girl, and The Daughter of the Regiment. The chief characters are ably portrayed by Mlle. Adele Prescott, Miss Nellie Moore, Messrs. T. H. Wood, Jno. Wheelan, and E. C. Gittins, who are assisted by a good company. Another good turn is provided by Eric and Nora, musical entertainers. An up-to-date and interesting selection of pictures are thrown upon the screen, including the King's Funeral.

EXETER. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Chairman and Managing-Director, Mr. E. J. Domville, J.P.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy M. Dunsford.—Mr. Neville Claude's company is delighting theatre-goers with that sparkling comedy, The Girl from Kay's. Miss Florrie Millington in the title-rôle is a speaking success, and well merited the applause which was accorded both for her vivacious portrayal and her vocal numbers; Miss Dorothy King's Ellen is coupled with clever singing and dancing; and Miss Rosie Burnett as Norah Chalmers proved a dainty and accomplished artist; Mr. Henry Admes is comical and smart as Max Hoggenheimer; and Mr. Charles Power exceedingly good as the Hon. Percy Fitzthistle; Harry Gordon is well portrayed by Mr. J. A. Latham; Mr. Barron H. Heron is a capital hall porter; and Master Walter H. Pink as Pepper is popular.

NEW HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. Fred Karno; Resident and Acting-Manager, Mr. Frederick Sandy.—Rosie Lloyd is adding to the golden opinions won on her last visit; Harry Bedford, who enhances his songs with a wealth of quaint mannerisms, speedily gains popularity; Violet Shelley and company introduce a well-conceived comedy scena, entitled The Ideal Woman; and the Great Vincent appears in a daring and smart acrobatic tambling act; beautiful and clever serpentine dances are contributed by Miss Maude May Murray; Captain EHis and son are well received in their musical and dancing act; and Chas Leighton presents A Tramp's Studies at the Piano excellently.

FOLKESTONE.—PLEASURE GARDENS THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. H. W. Rowland.—The F. R. Benson Shakespearean company is appearing in a series of eight plays. King Richard II. was on the bill, and was admirably performed. Mr. Henry Herbert, who takes the leading part in each of the plays, earned golden opinions for the manner in which he acquitted himself in the title-rôle; Mr. Robert Atkins is to be credited with a capable performance of Henry Bolingbroke; Mr. J. Cairns gave an impressive study of John of Gaunt; and as the Duke of York Mr. J. Hood did effective work. Mr. Charles Sparrow sustained the rôle of the Earl of Northumberland in a powerful fashion; and Mr. Cyril Sworder distinguished himself as Thomas Mowbray. A clever portrayal of the Queen was given by Miss Gladys Vanderzee; and the remaining characters were well filled. The Taming of the Shrew, The Merry Wives of Windsor, King Lear, Hamlet, Macbeth, The Tempest, and As You Like It are also in the bill.

GAINSBOROUGH.—KING'S THEATRE.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Leivers and Bonnett; Resident-Manager, Mr. Walter Norman.—A strong variety company is here this week, the principal turns of which are Martialo Trio, in a clever and sensational juggling and balancing act, and Emprise, a lady handcuff expert, who escapes from a tank filled with water. Other items include Alma Worth (comedienne), Stella and Rose (sketch artists), Charles Normand (bone soloist), Carvell and Dora (ventriloquist and lady dancer), Snowden and Alexander (comedy duo), and Rose Haden (comedienne and dancer).

GLASGOW.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Managing-Directors, Messrs. F. W. Wyndham and G. T. Minshull; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy Humphrys.—Mr. John Clyde and company are presenting the stirring Scotch drama Jeanie Deans. Mr. John Clyde gives a fine character sketch of the Laird o' Dumbiedykes; Miss Lydia Donovan contributes an admirable interpretation of the warm-hearted Jeanie; Miss Jean Macintosh is an extremely good Effie; a strong portrait of Madge Wildfire is presented by Miss Florence Lambeth; Mr. Herbert Evelyn makes an effective Geordie Robertson; Mr. W. S. Stevenson does well as David Deans; Marjorie Murdocheon is capably portrayed by Miss Clara Hunt; Mr. James Finlayson is well suited as Jamie Ratcliffe; Mr. C. Quinton Fulford plays powerfully as the counsel for the defence; and Mr. James Kilspindie is an impressive Reuben Butler.

KING'S, LTD.—Managing-Directors, Messrs. F. W. Wyndham and G. T. Minshull; Business-Manager, Mr. Hugh Macfarlane.—After an absence of two years that clever combination The Follies are here again, and opened on Monday to a crowded house. In the first part of their programme the outstanding items are the "Beverage Quartettes," the Teddy Bear song, the old English glee, and the impersonations of leading actors as music hall stars. The three "Potted Plays" which followed were Henry of Navarre, The Fires of Fate, and The King of Cadonia, and each of these was thoroughly enjoyed by the large audience. The concluding part of the entertainment was a burlesque of a music hall, and Mr. H. S. Pelissier and his able company kept the fun going with unflagging zeal in their caricatures of George Lashwood, Sam Mayo, Bransby Williams, Margaret Cooper, and, best of all, Harry Lauder, in addition to a display of cowboy shooting feats, and "a grand ballet divertissement," with Pelissier as the sylph-like dancer.

ROYALTY.—Sub-Lessees, The Scottish Playgoers, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Wareing.—Interesting revivals are given this week at the repertory theatre, the programme consisting of four performances of Nan and three of The Cassilis Engagement. The intense realism of Masefield's tragedy made a deep impression on Monday, the leading characters, Nan and Dick Gurvel, being most artistically realised by Miss Irene Rooke and Mr. Norman McKeown. The old farmer Pargetter and his shrewish wife were hit off to the life by Mr. Lawrence Hanray and Miss Elspeth Dudgeon, the daughter Jenny being capitally presented by Miss Muriel Pope. Mr. Campbell Gullan's Gaffer Pearce was an interesting study; the young men Artie and Tommy have clever exponents in Messrs. Percival Clarke and George Tawde; Mr. Walter Roy was good as the Parson; and the other parts were well filled. On different nights Tilda's New Hat and scenes from As You Like It were performed with this play. On Tuesday and two following evenings Mr. St. John Hankin's clever comedy The Cassilas Engagement was revived, and again proved the sterling ability of Miss Irene Rooke as Mrs. Cassilis and Miss Muriel Pope as Ethel Borridge. The cast otherwise was as before, with the exception of Miss Winifred Gunn, who now takes the part of Lady Marchmont.

GRAND.—District-Manager, Mr. B. G. Maclachlan; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. Christie Grant; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Chas. L. Scaly.—The Shaughraun is always welcome, more especially when in capable hands like the present stock company appearing at the Grand Theatre, Cowcaddens, Glasgow, and with an actor like Mr. E. C. Matthews, the well-known Irish comedian, as the irrepressible Conn. He is well supported by Miss Sadie Neville as Moya, Miss Marie Rignold as Clare, and Miss Alice Defoe as Arte O'Neill, who all filled their parts capably; while Mr. George Roberts as Captain Molyneux, Mr. Cecil Renton as Robert Ffolliott, and Mr. W. G. Robb as Father Doolan in their various characters kept up the interest throughout. Needless to say, Harvey Duff in the hands of Mr. Thomas J. Ashmore and Mr. Fred Terriss as Corry Kinchella received the usual unstinted appreciation, the former especially in the last scene reaching a high standard. Mr. Chas Danvers does well as Sergeant Jones. The Shaughraun was repeated each night this week except Thursday and Friday, when The Colleen Bawn was produced.

EMPIRE.—District-Manager, Mr. S. Gething; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. T. Reynolds.—Gaston Chevalier and company appear with considerable effect in a play of Parisian low life entitled The Rats. In a different style is the farcical sketch On the Track, in which Harry Roxbury and company cause lots of fun. The electrical effects of Hagendorn's Grotto are much admired; Fred Barnes takes well in his "Black sheep" song; Syd Walker is going strong in his intensely funny debt-collecting sketch; Nellie Wigley's songs are received with hearty applause; Pat Rafferty has several clever studies of character in his latest ditties; The Funeral of King Edward on the Bioscope forms a most impressive picture; Victor's Juvenlles in their songs, dances and imitations take well; and Aida Martine, comedienne, completes a varied programme.

PAVILION, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. Evan Good; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Ernest R. Foster.—A weird attraction tops the bill here in the spirit-painting act of Dr. Wilmar, presented by Mr. P. T. Selbit. It proves very mystifying. Herbert Dickeson and company cause much amusement in the musical farce A Fair Exchange; Bessie Slaughter's rich contralto voice is heard to advantage in several fine ballads; Henri Dekker gives a smart conjuring turn; Slippere's imitations, &c., at the piano are extremely good; La Belle Alva is a dancer of considerable merit; Marin and Lona give a clever juggling act, and conclude with some daring feats of hand-balancing and leaps; Hammon and Wyatt, the Sandow Girls, sing well and give a smart athletic display; and George Reeves, eccentric comedian, and Frank Harwood, a light comedian with a very catchy song, take well, and complete a good bill.

PALACE. — Proprietor, Mr. Rich. Waldon; General-Manager, Mr. Harry M'Kelvie.—Toplitsky is a sketch brimful of mirth, and in Messrs. Bernard and Dale and Miss Edith Martyn Messrs. Hayman and Franklin have a trio of most talented artists. Harriet Rose has several catchy numbers; Farr and Farland are responsible for much genuine enjoyment; the Vetter Bros. are high-class gymnasts; The Doll and the College Boy as presented by the Forsyths could scarcely be improved upon; the Cattaneo acrobats are worthy of special mention; Leslie and Stevens have a successful little comedietta entitled Love Levels All; Tom Yorke, character comedian, is above the average; and the Palascope Pictures are of an interesting character.

COLISEUM.—District-Manager, Mr. S. Gething; Resident-Manager, Mr. Samuel Lloyd.—Glasgow's own favourite comedienne, Miss Lily Morris, is responsible here for crowded houses nightly. Jordan and Harvey, the Hebrew comedians, are responsible for much enjoyment; Olga, Elgar, and Eli Hudson are among the most refined musical turns on the boards; and another turn of merit is presented by Mr. Hubert Carter and an excellent company in David Garrick. Lux and his dogs provide much amusement; Frank and Free are popular; the De Wynne Bros. present an athletic entertainment of a high quality; A. G. Spry, assisted by Miss M. Ogilvie, has quite a merry time with his "piccalilli" song; Chas. Robinson, the well-known baritone, renders several numbers in a pleasing manner; and the funeral of our late King Edward is followed intently on the Bioscope.

GAIETY.—General-Manager, Mr. J. J. Bennell; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Dickinson.—The Bioscope provides the greater part of the entertainment here. Capital turns are also provided by Edna Cragge, chorus comedienne, and Bert D'Arcy, light comedian.

PANOPTICON.—Proprietor, Mr. A. E. Pickard: Manager, Mr. William Sinclair.—The Carvers amuse the house with their absurdities and comedy dancing; Donaldson and Emslie cause considerable laughter; and Tom Black, double-voiced mimic the cornet and bugle playing of Kitty Gray, Ruby Glyn, vocalist, and the Bioscope are other attractions.

HENGLER'S.—Proprietor, Mr. Albert Hengler; Manager, Mr. Harry Milne.—Chief among the animated pictures here is the film depicting the funeral procession of the late King. The vaudeville part of the entertainment is carried out by Miss Tina Newlands, contralto; Jack Ramsay, comedian; and Fred Collins, Scotch comedian. The selections on the Auxeto gramophone were also fully appreciated.

GLOUCESTER. — PALACE. — Lessee, Mr. Will Smithson; Manager, Mr. R. T. Rea.—Mr. John Warren entertains with the magic carpet, and ventriloquism is very amusing; Clarke and Mostol are patter comedians and good dancers; Frank Melvin is quaint, and F. G. Fenn recites capitally; Miss Ada Tunks, soprano at the piano, is applauded; Jackson Collis is a light comedian of merit; the Sisters Volbecques renew their success.

GOOLE.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. R. Hainsworth.—Good houses are patronising a fine collection of new pictures by the Monarchscope, including The Funeral of His Majesty King Edward VII. Bert and Fay, in comedy sketch, keep the audience in roars of laughter; Claremont and James are seen in an original musical playlet, The Fiddler's Romance, which proves very interesting; Storey and Hughes are equally successful as society entertainers; Wee Wullie, Scotch comedian, is worthy of special mention; and Little Kinkey, comedian, is equally successful; May Merry is a very pleasing comedienne; and Miss Ray Douglas, comedienne, also submits a capital turn.

GRAVESEND.—GRAND THEATRE OF VARIETIES LTD.—Manager, Mr. T. W. Wright.—The strong programme includes Harry Wright, a good comedian and extemporaneous dancer; Amy Bathurst, a clever Scotch comedienne and dancer; Tom Bass, the favourite comedian; Nellie Gannon, a popular illustrated songstress; Zora and Zema, hand balancers and contortionists; Walter King, an exceedingly funny comedian; and Percy C. Emery's company in their sketch, A Message from the Sea, which goes extremely well. The Edisonograph, with up-to-date films, depicting King Edward's funeral procession and scenes in the life of the late King, is much appreciated.

NEW PUBLIC HALL.—Secretary, Mr. R. Feaver Clarke, J.P.—Here we have the popular picture palace and the procession of the late King's funeral is a really wonderful film. Amy Wooderson, an illustrated vocalist, is very successful.

GREAT YARMOUTH.—ROYAL AQUARIUM.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. W. Nightingale; Assistant-Manager, Mr. W. H. Nightingale.—Mr. J. W. Cordiner's company, in Dare-Devil Dorothy, is paying a welcome return visit. Miss Nellie Harcourt is a big favourite as Judith, her singing and dancing being much admired; Mr George A. Fox is a smart Captain Fielding; Mr Robert Gilbert gives a clever impersonation of Captain Dudley; Mr. James Salter is amusing as Silas Crump; and Ruth and Dorothy Montrose are charmingly played by the Misses Kathleen Stewart and Gertrude Lacey.

GREENOCK.—HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. L. Skivington.—Mr. John G. Brandon and company, in A Midnight Mystery, are proving a big attraction. Mr. John G. Brandon undertakes no less than five different characters in creditable style, and he is ably assisted by the other members of the company.

EMPIRE.—Lessee, Mr. J. J. Bennell; General manager, Mr. J. B. Lawton; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. L. Clayton.—The enterprise of the management has been particularly illustrated by securing an excellent film of King Edward's funeral pageant which is being shown at the Empire this week. Other attractive items include Saved from the Tide, His Only Daughter, and Back Among the Old Folks.

GRIMSBY. — PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. H. Curry; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. W. North.—Raffles is again being played here by Mr. Leonard Boyne's company. Mr. Reginald Dance acts with refinement and natural ease as A. J. Raffles; Mr. Edward Irwin is equally successful as Curtis Bedford, and gives a notable representation of the Detective; Mr. Harold West admirably fits the part of Harry Manders; Mr. Arthur Fitzgerald is excellent as Viscount Crawley; Mr. Oswald Griffiths makes a dignified Earl of Amersteth; Mr. Dalziel Heron gives a vigorous representation of the burglar, Crawshay; Miss May Brooke acts with distinction as Mrs. Vidal; Miss Frances Titheradge is altogether charming as Gwendoline Conran; and others responsible for good work are Miss Agnes Knights as Lady Melrose, Miss Beatrice Fitzgerald as Lady Ethel, and Miss Kathleen Grey as Marie.

THE PALACE.—General-Manager, Mr. F. Verner Walford.—An excellent animated picture of the Royal Funeral is being displayed; the Royal Banzai Family are a troupe of Japonese gymnasts, who perform striking and novel feats in acrobatics and equipoise; J. W. Hall is again proving popular, his character burlesques being highly amusing; Harry Grey contributes a humorous turn that has greatly diverting and original features; Bains and company combine smart acrobatic work with much laughable business; Al and Lal present a novel act, the lady being an expert ventriloquist; Olive Armidale is a pleasing vocalist; and Flo Cecil a dainty comedienne and dancer.

GUERNSEY.—THEATRE ST. JULIANS.—Joint Lessees, Messrs. Ed. Marris and Albany Ward; Resident-Manager, Mr. George A. Deighton.—Imperial Electric Pictures and Varieties continue to attract. The principal films shown this week are Tommy Atkins, Trip to St. Malo, and Proclamation of H.M. King George V. Joe Horton, "Ye Dame Comique," causes amusement, and Howe and Kessler, in their novel comedy and musical act, delight all.

HALIFAX.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling.—Miss Florence Glossop-Harris opened here on Monday with a first-class all-round company in a répertoire of Shakespearean plays. In Much Ado About Nothing Miss Glossop-Harris is a fascinating Beatrice; Mr. Frank Cellier a successful Benedick; Mr. J. H. Irvine's Leonato is excellent; Don Pedro is well played by Mr. V. O. Crabtree; Mr. M. Kinnell's Claudio is a good portrayal; Mr. Walter Carr's Verges is well played; Mr. G. Philliott's Dogberry is a decided success; and Miss I. Cameron plays nicely as Hero. In The Merchant of Venice Miss Glossop-Harris plays Portia with considerable skill; and Mr. Frank Cellier gives an excellent rendering of Shylock. Merry Wives of Windsor, Taming of the Shrew, Twelfth Night, and Othello have also been produced.

GRAND THEATRE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Resident-Manager, Mr. S. Winks.—The Dayton Family of twelve acrobats and Risley performers give a splendid turn, and get a rousing reception; the Gilberts present an excellent tight-rope performance, with a picturesque setting; Delafiorie, xylophone expert, is responsible for a good performance; Venitia is a refined lady musician; Mlle. Haydee's miniature vaudeville theatre is a successful turn; and Halter and Ray, in a comedy act, Sid Cotterell and company, in Phyllis, and the pictures complete a good bill.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Julius Simpson.—Half-a-Dollar, a tabloid comedy, is exceedingly well played by Miss M. Damer, Miss I. Vynall, Mr. A. Borthwick, and Mr. W. A. Haines. Friend and Downing repeat their former success as "Rosenthal and Harrigan"; Leo and Roland give a marvellous exhibition of strength and hand-balancing; John Macauley is still well to the front as a character ballad vocalist; Dorothy Vasey is a pleasing chorus singer; Vera Mayne is successful with illustrated songs; and Barrie and Wood, comedy artists, Dan Conroy, comedian and dancer, and the Palace pictures complete.

HAMILTON, N.B.—HIPPODROME.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Bostock; General-Manager, Mr. René Clayton; Musical-Director, Mr. J. Millar.—Cheebert's troupe of Chinese conjurors and acrobats is topping the bill here; Seeley, West, and Rhodesia are a smart and entertaining trio; Miss Florence is sweet and dainty; the Rhoda Bros., in a clever and refined gymnastic turn, are entertaining; Edward Rose and Dora Challoner, in a smart musical comedy sketch The Porter and the Singer, go well; and Harry Cooke, quaint comedian, Maclaine and Mac, and the Bioscope conclude.

HANLEY.—GRAND, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. G. Elphinstone; Manager, Mr. Arthur Rand.—Mr. Seymour Hicks and company provide the chief attraction in Scrooge, which is followed with keen interest. This is Mr. Hicks' first visit to the Potteries, and he has at once found a very warm corner in the hearts of the thousands who have witnessed his excellent performance. Torti, the Italian operatic tenor, is awarded a hearty reception for his fine vocalisation; La Pia introduces her superb scena, "The Spirit of the Waves," for which she is loudly applauded. The film depicting the Funeral of the Late King is followed with great interest; Yolande Noble, comedienne, sings charming chorus songs; Hal Forde is warmly received; Mlle. Dora Martini does a graceful gymnastic act; the Balzars, comedy conjurers, are also on the bill.

KING'S.—Lessee, Mr. J. P. Moore; Managers, Captain F. Shaw and Mr. Colin Hazlewood.—Capital houses are entertained with excellent pictures, which include the Proclamation of King George V. Barney Deeley, a comedian of the swell type, has smart songs.

HARROGATE.—GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Peacock; Acting-Manager, Mr. Eric Fielding-Smith.—For the first three nights of the week Mr. Ian Robertson and company appeared in the wonderful play, The Passing of the Third Floor Back. Mr. Robertson was excellent as the Stranger; Mr. Billington was good as the objectionable Bookie; and Miss Wills was excellent as the painted lady, Miss Kite; Miss Helena Parsons was good as the slavey, Stasia; and Miss Thomas made a typical landlady. For the remainder of the week Sir Herbert Tree and company appear in Trilby and The Man Who Was.

THE KURSAAL.—Manager, Mr. John E. Wilshire; Musical Director, Mr. Julian Clifford.—Barnard's mannikins are here, and prove vastly amusing; Mr. Willie Rouse does a humorous turn at the piano; Mr. Jas. Pearson is a cultured bass vocalist; and Miss Amy Simpson, Australian soprano, is also in the bill.

HARTLEPOOL.—EMPRESS.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Albert Maxstead.—Packed houses twice nightly enjoys a capital display of films and variety turns. The films include excellent pictures showing the Coronation of the late King and the Funeral Procession of last week. The variety turns consist of that ever-popular Tyneside comedian, Harry Nelson, with new songs and patter; Marie Kay, a pretty and dainty comedienne, whose dancing is graceful; and Pame and Fortune, comedians, whose efforts to amuse are liberally rewarded.

STARTLING REVELATION.

BY A MEDICAL MAN.

An eminent doctor recently said: "I frequently come across patients who imagine themselves to be the prey of some terrible internal malady—as, for instance, cancer, tumours, &c.—and cure them simply by recommending them the regular use of an antiseptic mouth-wash. It is an indisputable fact that diseases of the stomach are often caused by an unhealthy condition of the teeth, which makes it self-evident that a systematic care of the teeth may prevent and in many cases cure such diseases. The daily use of an established and scientifically recognised antiseptic mouth-wash like the world-famed Odol is of the utmost importance. The old-fashioned method of cleansing the teeth with powder or paste is useless, as the parts most susceptible to disease are inaccessible to the tooth-brush. For this reason I seriously and earnestly recommend everyone to accustom himself to a careful and regular treatment of the mouth with Odol. It is the only scientific mouth-wash."

HASTINGS.—Gaiety Theatre.—Manager, Mr. H. W. Rowland; Resident-Manager, Mr. Charles B. Scutt.—For the first half of the week the Hastings Historical Pageant was presented. For Thursday and remainder of the week Mr. Andrew Melville's company in The Diver's Luck.

Pier Pavilion.—Entertainment Manager, Mr. J. D. Hunter.—Mr. Eric H. Albury and company are here in Why Smith Left Home. The domestic incidents provide the necessary framework for a good deal of fun. Mr. Eric Albury puts plenty of healthy vigour into his embodiment of Count Guggenheim; John Smith has an original interpreter in Mr. Vernon Sansbury; General Billet-doux and Major Duncombe are represented with military bearing by Messrs. Charles Clarke and Lawrence J. Lawrence; Mr. Stanley Carrington is good in the part of Bob Walton; and as Rose Walton Miss René Glynne cleverly depicts the character; the part of Mrs. Billet-doux by Miss Clara Nicholls is full of vivacity; Miss Cornelia Smith is naturally taken by Miss Sybil Chester; as Mrs. John Smith Miss Gladys Lloyd acts with animation; and Miss Ethel Dunbar and Miss Lulu Standish successfully sustains the parts of Julia and Elsie; and Miss Maude Shelton gives an exceedingly effective portrait of the Irish cook, Lavinia Daly.

HOUGHTON-LE-SPRING. — Gaiety. — Proprietors, Messrs. Hall and Ainsley.—A new departure is made at this popular house, the boards being occupied by a variety company. A packed house appreciated the performance of the Suttons (Raymond and Maudie), refined duettists; Signora Margarita Nicoli, illustrated songstress; Miss Maudie Vere, chic comedienne; and Raymond Synnott, popular vocal comedian. Up-to-date pictures proves an additional attraction.

HUDDERSFIELD.— Hippodrome.— Proprietors, The Northern Theatres Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. William Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Resident-Manager, Mr. N. M. Robinson.—Mephisto, the mysterious, heads the bill with illusions. Others are the Sisters Ducane, singers and dancers; Tom Gott, comedian; the Coopers, in a comedy turn; Tom Joy, comedian; James Willard and company, who remain a second week, and are playing with marked success the one-act play The Devil's Box of Bricks; and the Five Whiteleys, in a daring acrobatic show. The Royal Funeral on the Bio. is a distinct attraction.

Palace.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Herbert Garside.—Appearing here are Donaldson Bros. and company, in Sports in a Jungle; Miss Cissie Thompson, comedienne; the Wedburns, comedians and instrumentalists; Miss Norah Emerald, comedienne; Edwin Garth, a comedian with an infectious laugh; the Kirbys, comedy entertainers; Bert Crosby, comedian; and Crosby and Walker, comedians. The Beck Story on the Bioscope is vividly depicted.

HULL.—Grand Theatre and Opera House.—Mortons, Ltd.—Manager, Mr. W. F. Morton.—A welcome visit is that paid this week by The Mummy and Humming Bird company. It is a long time since it was last seen in our midst, but that only makes it the more welcome. The acting is on a par with the play, which speaks well for those who assist in its representation. The leading rôle allotted to Mr. H. Hamilton Stewart is an excellent exhibition of histrionic talent; as the Signor D'Orelli Mr. Lewin Mannering secured a high place; as Lady Lumley Miss A. Bruce Joy was able to add a distinct charm to the reading of the rôle; praise should be accorded to Miss Constance Barton as Ruth Thornton; and the Lord Ronalds of Mr. Percy Marmont had praiseworthy features. The production has been well received. Mr. Trevor Langton-Lane is the courteous acting-manager for the visiting company.

Alexandra Theatre.—Mortons, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. Geo. Morton.—A Destroyer of Men has evidently hit the taste of the patrons of this house, who, in addition, this week have had a Biograph illustration of the Royal funeral. In the Destroyer of Men Miss Hilda Beverley fills the leading part with fine flavour. She realises the many phases of the character with subtle touches, in point of fact it represents some of the best work she has done as yet. Mr. Stephen Langton makes the Count Starevich a living reality. Mr. Pearson plays the part of Carl Mishla. The comic relief is excellently worked in by Miss Dorothy Hildebrande and Mr. Ed. Keith.

HYDE.—Empire and Theatre Royal.—Lessees, Central Theatres and Franco-British Picture Co.; Managing-Director, Mr. Wilberforce Turner; Resident-Manager, Mr. Percy Silver.—In lieu of a summer vacation a picture season is being given, two houses nightly. Ted Waite, W. H. Deacon, and Percy Johnson contribute vocal interludes between pictures of a high-class character.

ILKESTON. — Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Albert Leigh.—Premier position is held by the Five Jovers, double-bar performers and acrobats, who accomplish marvellous tricks; the vocalism of Miss Sybil Montague is thoroughly enjoyed; and a large share of the honours falls to Miss May De Rowse, a charming comedienne and dancer. A smart exhibition of dancing is given by Miss Elsie Hulbert and her dancing girls; whilst the Bernards, in their act, Fantazies of the Fis, are clever. George James, comedian, meets with approval; and Ethel Grahame and company in a sketch Lunatics at Large, are also on the bill.

IPSWICH.—Hippodrome.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. E. H. Bostock.—Dutch Daly, the concertina soloist, heads the bill, and his performance is clever and amusing; the Columbia Comedy Trio have a most amusing burlesque of the prison scene in Faust, and they sing well; Hayes and Merritt are smart gymnasts; Nash and Noel are a pair of amusing comedians; Archie Royer is an American acrobat with some original tricks; Merton and Rydon give a society show; and Allis and Cassati one of somewhat similar character. The Bioscope has some magnificent films of the funeral of his late Majesty which are much appreciated.

JARROW.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. H. Lionel Locke.—A good all-round variety company includes Miss Agnes Tina, in first-rate impersonations of well-known artists; the Pichel Troupe of risley acrobats, who do some marvellous feats; Jack Lumley, the quaint comedian; Carlos Menard, most excellent with the violin; Kell and Kelso, droll patter comedians and clever dancers; Miss Eva Moore, the dainty soubrette; and Miss Frederica's troupe of terriers and her cake-walk pony, Dot, whose performance is highly enjoyed.

JERSEY.—Opera House.—Lessee, Mr Edward Marris; Acting-Manager, Mr. Stanley Hope.—Splendid films were shown here this week of His Majesty's State opening of Parliament in February of this year; also of the lying-in-state, the procession from Buckingham Palace to Westminster, and the funeral, both in London and in Windsor. The variety turns are particularly good, and include Probyn and Bates, in an extraordinary eccentric contortion dancing act; Lilian Sivado, a shapely lady gymnast; and the Dunlops, in their cycling absurdity.

Olympia Winter Gardens.—Proprietor, Mr. Louis Marks; Manager, Mr. Charles A. Barnett.—The Cremona Ladies' Orchestra continues to be a big draw here. Miss Lucie Caine is a chic and vivacious comedienne; and Mr. Rex Burchell gives some smart character sketches. Electric pictures are also a feature of the fare provided.

KEIGHLEY.—Hippodrome.—Managing-Director, Mr. T. Barrasford.—Interesting and well-varied items constitute the programme, and business is good. The particular attraction of the bill is Harry Roxbury's musical comedy Sergeant Longfellow. In the title-rôle Mr. Will Lytton maintains the mirth at high pressure. The Jackson Family give a rare musical turn; Tom Kelso and Edie George entertain cleverly; Mlle. De Rose, the lady Foli; Hilda Claremont; F. H. Morton, who sings in good style; Elsie Ellis, an attractive comedienne; and J. H. Hawtrey are also in the bill.

KIRKCALDY.—Exchange Pavilion.—General-Manager, Mr. W. D. Walker; Manager, Mr. Wm. Walker.—A grand programme is served up here, the chief films being A Soldier and a Man, The Merry Widow, From Fishing Boat to Stage, and the King's Funeral. Gilbert Payne, comedian, is a success.

LEAMINGTON. — Theatre Royal. — Lessees, Messrs. Dottridge and Longden; Manager, Mr. Chas. H. Longden; Assistant-Manager, Mr. John Halifax.—Mr. Ernest Dare's company is appearing here in His Excellency the Governor to delighted audiences. Mr. E. Burnard gives a telling portrayal of the title-rôle, Montague Martin, G.C.S.I., whilst Mr. Dare himself wins golden opinions as Captain Charles Carew, A.D.C. Mr. Lionel Waltham is clever as the sentry; Mr. J. E. Savery is effective as the Rt. Hon. Henry Carlton, M.P., as is also Mr. Robert Barlande as Mr. John Baverstock, A.D.C. Mrs. Wentworth Bolingbroke is in the capable hands of Miss Irene Malvesyn, while other parts are meritoriously fulfilled by Miss Gladys Weevers and Miss M. Lowes Dare. The piece is preceded by the old farce Box and Cox, in which Messrs. V. B. Glyn, Robt. Borlande, and Miss Irene Malvesyn appear with distinction.

LEEDS.—Grand Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wynn Miller.—Alice in Wonderland is being played by an excellent company, which includes Miss Ivy Sawyer as Alice, Mr. Tom Graves as the Mock Turtle, Dan Leno, jun., as the Caterpillar, and Mr. Franklin Vernon as the Mad Hatter.

The Royal Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. Francis Laidler; Acting-Manager, Mr. Nathaniel Hepworth.—Mr. H. Armitage introduces an excellent company in a well-written drama, With Edged Tools. Marie Leonhard gives a charming impersonation of Jocelyn; Mr. Hamilton Deane is a big favourite as Jack Meredith; Mr. J. D. Geddes ably fills the rôle of Sir John; and Mr. Charles Barrett has a highly dramatic part as Victor Durnoto, which he takes full advantage of. Miss Marguerite Cellier portrays the unpleasant character of Millicent Cheyne with much effect; Misses Alice Maude and Edith Anton-Laing and Messrs. J. Graham-Pockett and Frank Leyton are also satisfactory.

The Empire.—District-Manager, Mr. T. Gerald Morton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Alex. Galley.—Arthur Roberts is starring with much success; the Francoli Troupe appear in a comic acrobatic sketch; Ben Albert has several excellent songs; Tom Stuart's impersonations meet with much applause; Grant Gardner and Marie Stoddard are big favourites; Sam Mayo, eccentric comedian, the Lyric Quartette, harmonious singers and May Mars and Gladys Mavius complete.

The Hippodrome.—Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Dunford.—Arthur Prince, the clever ventriloquist, is chiefly responsible responsible for crowded houses; the Ten-Ka Troupe excel as magicians; Harry Russon scores with new songs; the delightful vocalism of Belrose and De Velin meets with much applause; and other capital turns are those of Addie Lennard, Four Vagabonds, Two McKays, and Pichel and Scale.

The Varieties.—Proprietor, Mr. Fred Wood; Acting-Manager, Mr. Sam Jones.—Chummie La Mara has some new effective songs; Dan Whitley has become a big favourite; Mlle. Yetta is exceedingly agile and clever on a wire; Frantz's Comedy Five give a bright acrobatic act; Czar's Royal Troupe of whirlwind dancers take well; Blanco White and Miss Clifford and Charles D'Aix and his dog complete a capital company.

The Queen's Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. Fred Wood; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Bush.—Tubby Edlin, in Harry Roxbury's production, The Cowboy Millionaire, provides much mirth and melody; Miss Annie Schuberth gives an excellent singing entertainment; Frank E. Ford is a very clever wooden-shoe dancer; Burnetti, a quick-change character musician, meets with success; Dale and Vale appear in song and dance; and Norman Telma performs some billiard table tricks.

LEEK.—Grand Theatre and Hippodrome.—Proprietors, The Leek Theatre Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. James Bibby.—The pictures on the Bioscope this week are well worth seeing, a special feature being The Proclamation of King George V. at the Town Hall and Market Place, Leek. Squire Ashcroft, male soprano, is successful in his illustrated songs.

LEICESTER. — Theatre Royal. — Acting-Manager, Mr. P. Allerton Turner.—A capital attraction is provided by Mr. W. Graham Arthurs' company in The Mockery of Marriage. Miss Mabel Liston creates an excellent impression as Alva Kenyon; and Mr. W. Graham Arthurs as Dick Kenyon is also very good. Miss Priscilla is a success as Nellie Kenyon; and Miss C. Middleton as Rose Verham deserves much praise. Both Miss Ada Band as Mary Ann Barnicoat and Mr. David Phillip as Toby Wright are popular in the humorous parts. Other characters are adequately portrayed; and the drama is well staged.

Palace Theatre, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; District-Manager, Mr. Hatton Wharton; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. Finch-Hatton; Assistant-Manager, Mr. W. S. Buccleuch.—Gertie Gitana, who is topping this week's bill, has to sing four numbers before retiring. She is a great favourite, and the various songs she gives allow of full scope for the versatility of this clever young lady. Another lady who is making a deserved big success is Marie Kendall, the popular comedienne; the Tom Davies' Trio give a remarkably smart performance of motoring in mid-air; Annie Fielding and Bert Hull are amusing and sing well in their tabloid musical comedy, Mixed Bathing; Steve McCarthy is a particularly smart dancer; Walker and May, coloured singers and dancers, gain appreciation; Takio is very good as a Japanese mimic of sounds; Siems is a card and coin manipulator of repute; and the Bioscope shows a very clear film of King Edward's funeral procession.

Pavilion Theatre.—Proprietor and Director-General, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Acting-Manager, Mr. Joseph Lawrence.—Starring here is Joe Archer, a smart comedian and story-teller; Alice Craven, a Lancashire comedienne, is making a big hit; the Arabellas are responsible for a very clever act on the wire; the Keppels, operatice vocalists, sing delightfully; Sydney Brandon, character impersonator, is deserving of the highest praise; the Vaudeville Trio of vocalists and dancers are well received, their show being clean and clever; Norah Desmond, with fresh illustrated pictures, is retained over another week; Harry Martell shines as a dancer. The films include The Restoration, The Hero, and the Half-Caste's Revenge.

Empire.—Lessees, The New Bioscope Trading Co.; Resident-Manager, Mr. Chas. R. Craig.—The outstanding picture is a specially attractive one of King Edward's funeral, and others include Up San Juan Hill and The Murder of the Duke Nemous, two very fine films. Ada Victor, vocalist and dancer, is making a successful appearance.

Empress Picture Palaces, Ltd.—Resident-Manager, Mr. H. V. Horton.—The principal feature of the bill is The Funeral of King Edward.

LEIGH.—Theatre Royal and Opera House.—Sole Lessees, Messrs. Tolfree and Slingsby; Manager, Mr. W. H. Leo King.—Mr. Will Casey and company are here with An Unwedded Wife. Mr. E. St. Clair Forbes ably depicts the scheming Philip Blackstone; Mr. Arthur Cheeves gives a finished rendering of Frank Armstrong; Mr. Gilbert Elvin is successful as John Hawthorne; Miss Ethel Spence makes a charming and sympathetic Elsie Langham; and Miss Chrissie Dunbar's Marion is a highly-artistic performance. In the comedy element Mr. Will Casey as Napoleon Boomer and Miss Annie Mitchell as Carraway Crumpet are most successful.

Grand Theatre and Hippodrome, Ltd.—Secretary and Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Woolstencroft.—At the head of a good all-round bill are the Atlas and Vulcana Troupe, whose feats of strength and posing are greatly admired; the Crudons, in a ball-punching act, are popular; Miss Marie Edwards gives an interesting display of her vocal powers; Eileen and May, in a musical dancing act, find favour; Rose D'Aulby, comedienne, sings some good songs; A. U. Mackinnon's Comedy Quartette are heartily received; Phillips and Briston, comedians and dancers, supply a clever turn; Mr. Martin Adeson and Miss Clara Bernard, sketch artists, are deserving of praise; and the Bioscope pictures complete.

LEITH.—New Gaiety Theatre.—Licensee and Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. John Darlison.—An excellent stock company inaugurated a six weeks' season here on Monday evening, with the interesting domestic drama, Home, Sweet Home, of which a very acceptable rendering was given. Mr. Richard Ferris and Miss Doris Brookes, in the leading rôles of Stephen and Joan Armitage gained immediate popularity; Mr. A. W. B. Kingston interpreted the part of David Armitage with the skill of the experienced actor; and Mr. J. T. Dale was commendable as the Duke of Ancaster. The intriguing secretary, Lucas Lyle, lost none of his bad qualities at the hands of Mr. Addison Thomas; and Dick Redmayne was portrayed with much earnestness by Mr. John Darlison; the Hon. Percy and Sybil Fay were amusingly played by Mr. Mark Hannam and Miss Kitty Thomas; Little Peggy Macdonald made a pleasing appearance in the child's part of Dora; and successful character sketches were presented in the Lady Summerton of Miss Joanna Railton, the Lord Silvermere of Mr. George Futler, the Solomon Keary of Mr. J. W. Austin, and the old Gaffer of Mr. Paul Dysart. Following the drama, Messrs. Kingston, Dale, Hannam, and Dysart, with Miss Thomas, convulsed the house by a lively performance of the famous old farce, The Mummy. Thursday evening was set apart for the annual benefit of Mr. John Darlison, when a strong programme of special items was provided.

LIVERPOOL.—Royal Court Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. Arthur Lawrence.—Closed until August Bank Holiday, for extensive alterations.

Shakespeare Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wentworth Croke; Manager and Secretary, Mr. John Gaffney.—Delighted audiences are enjoying a second week's stay of Cavaliere F. Castellano's Italian Grand Opera Company. The programme includes Lucia di Lammermoor, Un Ballo in Maschera, Carmen, Faust, Ugonotti, Fra Diavolo, Cavalleria Rusticana, and I Pagliacci.

Rotunda Theatre.—Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery.—Here this week we are having Mr. Stuart Lomath's company in Whom God Hath Joined—a play written by Stuart Lomath and Ellen Owen. As the heroic Captain Jack Merritt Mr. Lomath acts in excellent style; Miss Helena Walbran shows much ability in the part of Marian; Mr. Arthur E. Pringle stands out prominently as the rascally Major Stevens; Mr. Lancelot Usher makes a laughable Digby Trant; Miss Amy MacNeil plays strongly as Beatrice Trant; Miss Ethel F. Greene and Miss Dorothy Booth are capital as the boys Teddy and Frankie; and worthy support comes from Messrs. Victor G. Vayne (Watty Cooper), A. Jennison (Joe Stubbins), Jack Miller (Richard Manley), George Wells (William Gibbs), and Miss Ellen Owen (Kitty Crumpet).

Star Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Harris Fineberg.—The attraction this week is A Sister's Sin, sent by Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kimberley. Included in the cast are Miss Edie Macklin, who ably presents Floss Perks; Miss Mabel Scudamore, with her old, carefully-played rôle of Minnie Hastings, and Miss Cissie St. Elmo as Charzel. Other supporters are Messrs. J. Dobson Clyde (Harold Raymond), Sidney Fiennes (George Oakley), Will Hee (Walter Hastings), Ernest Frere (Ikey Moses), Harry Lyndon, Miss Iza Lyndon (Redempta), and Miss Lily Bales (Nell Stubbs).

Kelly's Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. W. W. Kelly; Acting-Manager, Mr. Reginald Grant.—A Daughter of the Sea is being presented by a capable company under the control of Mr. Lewis Gilbert. Miss Florrie Green sustains the rôle of Sunshine with exceptional ability, her performance being marked by much discretion and care; Mr. Lewis Gilbert gives a clever study of the unscrupulous Mark Glensdale; Mr. Cyril Craven finds great favour with his Jack Strong; Mr. Joe Monkhouse amuses as the idiotic Billy; and good work also comes from Messrs. Roy Denman (Ken Moreland), and Carl Caigna (Sir Maxwell Brentwood), and Miss Allyce Wyllyams (Mollie). The play is being received with much favour.

Empire.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Manners.—Foremost here this week are Miss Ellaline Terriss, Miss Maie Ash, Mr. Stanley Brett, and Mr. Roland Chester in The Pink of Perfection, a comedy which is richly enjoyed. The popular principals have flattering receptions. Helen Trix, the American comedienne, finds great favour for her smart songs and sayings; the Lyons Trio of comedians and dancers have an amusing dining-room absurdity; as trick cyclists Lotto, Lilo, and Otto show remarkable ability, and win repeated applause; Conan and Doyle, comedians, are as diverting as ever; J. A. Wilson and his dog Towser again please everybody with the diverting trifle, The Troubles of a Recruiting Sergeant; Leo Tell provides a really excellent turn with his imitations of instruments and animals' voices; and Nellie Farrell renders popular and acceptable Irish songs.

Lyric.—Lessees, Liverpool Lyric Theatre Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Henry C. Arnold.—The twice-nightly drama innovation has caught on, and satisfactory business is being done. This week we are having The Angel of His Dreams, presented by George A. De Gray and Harry Masterman's company. As the clergyman Esdaile Mr. De Gray plays with effect and dramatic strength; Miss Effie Bartlett gives a talented rendering of the part of Hilda Revelle; and valuable support also comes from Messrs. Wallace Campbell (Major Ferrars), Charles Arnold (Sir Francis), Mayo Stanley (Sam Tippett), and Miss Etta Turner (Bessie Sparkles).

Royal Hippodrome. — Resident-Manager, Mr. Walter Hassan.—In front here this week is George Gilbey, with his amusing patter and songs, which include "Raspberry Sally," "Old Soar's Almanac," and "Constable Duffy." The popular comedian is having flattering receptions. Sinclair and Whiteford submit a funny turn, which at once catches on; Palles and Cussick cause their audience to rock with laughter by reason of their burlesque boxing match; La Belle Nella has a pretty bathing scena, "The Athletic Girl"; Sadie Lundy, for a child, possesses a remarkably good voice; the three Carlens go through a refined and artistic gymnastic act; some charming vocalism comes from the Quality Quartet; and also in the list are Charles Stevens, comedian; Clark and Hayden, smart musical comedy artists; and Young and Evans, the Yiddisher Boys.

Royal Palace of Varieties.—Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank O'Toole.—The stock dramatic company here are engaged this week with Rags, an American musical comedy-drama by Edward and Blanche Leroy. Among the principals are Messrs. Harry Tresham (Brant Yorel), R. Seath Innes (Major Seymour), Sydney Grant (Pedro), and Tom H. Solly (George Washington); Miss Lina Nazeby (Mrs. Seymour) and Miss Gertrude Entwistle (Leonora). Brown's Bioscope shows the Royal funeral.

Olympia. — District-Manager, Mr. Horace Cole; Acting-Manager, Mr. Ernest Wighton. — The favourite Ella Shields is here this week with her popular songs, which delight immensely; Amy Augarde and company present an excellent musical farce The Sicilians; Bellew and Stock's combination have a merry sketch Mortimer Magnus, M.P., in which the accomplished Master Edward Garratt is seen to great advantage; Peter Bermingham is a quaint Scotch comedian; the Carmos submit a clever show in juggling and herculean feats; Mdlle. Eldee gives a beautiful posing turn; the quick painter, Speedwell, deserves the applause he receives; Devon and Earle have a clever exhibition of wooden shoe dancing; and Fred Shepherd, vocal comedian.

Pavilion.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Manager, Mr. George F. Slatter.—Heading the programme here this week are Fred Karno's Yap Yaps, with Gus Le Clerq prominent—the sparring match is greatly enjoyed; Ruby Roya sings and dances to everyone's satisfaction; as the world's worst wizards Walton and Lester provoke great laughter; Mart and Pep are a couple of smart acrobats and tumblers who earn much favour; Louis J. Seymour has some popular songs; De Lilo and Metz go through a clever exhibition of comedy juggling and rubber-ball bouncing; Alf Wood and company present a funny sketch, Ten Minutes; and Rosie Lee, comedienne, also appears.

LLANDUDNO.—Prince's Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arnold Macara.—Les Rappos, equilibrists, head the bill here this week, and are exceptionally smart and clever in sime daring balancing feats; Matt Wilkinson Trio, comedy sketches, continue to be popular; the Sisters Maynard are dainty, and are heartily received; Violet Beatrice (male impersonator) and Fred Merry (comedian) add to the programme, whilst Ryde and Beeman, in comedy, are an excellent turn in every sense of the word. Mr. Hadyn P. Halstead, the musical-director, has now a talented orchestra, which is much appreciated.

Pier Head Pavilion.—Messrs. Adeler, Sutton, and Allandale's Pierrots continue to draw here. Mr. Fred Walmsley being the chief comedian this week. He is as versatile as ever, and the audiences thoroughly enjoy his many sided comicalities. Benita is a good soprano; Donald Macdougal, Scotch comedian, does well; Miss Dorothy Watson is an original entertainer at the piano; and Mr. Arthur Sutcliffe, the genial local manager and evergreen comedian, completes a good bill. Mr. Tunbridge (pianist) is all that could be desired.

LOUGHBOROUGH.—Vint's Electric Hippodrome.—Proprietor, Mr. Leon Vint; Resident-Manager, Mr. Lindsey Edwards.—Pictures of an instructive character here include a film showing the Funeral Procession of his late Majesty King Edward VII. Variety is provided by the Wagners, xylophone experts, in their musical fantasy.

Temperance Hall.—Lessees, Messrs. Weisker Bros.; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. Evanson.—The "world in motion" entertainments are still going strong. The King's Procession at Westminster, Paddington, and Windsor is a fine picture.

LOWESTOFT.—Marina.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. B. Pareezer.—Dr. Walford Bodie, "the electric wizard," is paying his initial visit with an entertainment which is both novel and startling. He is ably supported by Dolly Robson, Bella Skene, La Belle Electra, Billy Walters, Tom Gold, and others.

Hippodrome.—Proprietor, Mr. Geo. Gilbert; Manager, Mr. W. Alvar.—The picture subjects are exceptionally fine, and include the Funeral Procession of the Late King Edward; a remarkable dramatic subject, The Twisted Trail; an exceedingly funny Policeman film; and others. Will Godwin and Cissie Carter appear in successful vocal numbers, and Marie Wyndham and company contribute a capital sketch on the evils of drink.

MAIDSTONE.—Palace.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Ewart C. Potter.—The boards here are occupied by Mr. C. Watson Mills' company in The Love of the Princess, which is effectively staged under the management of Mr. John Burton. Mr. Frank Harvey gives a powerful representation of the popular Prince Conrad Ramona; Mr. Richard Vane as the traitor, Count Nicholas Danillo, makes much of an ungrateful part; Mr. John Burton is a stately King of Ilarnia; Mr. Beckett Bould and Mr. John Worth do well as Lieut. Orlans and Lieut. Zaroff respectively; while Mr. D. Lawrence Doyle is impressive as Prince Regent. The humorous parts of Boris and Duke Scarfe are in the capable hands of Mr. Edgar Morgan and Mr. Francis Serle, while Mr. Eric Wilde and Mr. Jas Austin supply the King's Guards. Miss May Beatrice makes a charming Princess Idalia, winning the heartiest applause; Miss Maud Steeple is delightful in the part of Lady Irene Ramona; and Miss Josephine Lee gives a fine study of Constantia.

Corn Exchange.—Manager, Mr. J. W. Beslee.—A series of plays presented here by Miss Dallas Yorke's company include Love's Sacrifice, Salome, East Lynne, Banished, and Under Two Flags. The Babes in the Wood is also billed.

MANCHESTER.—Theatre Royal.—Lessees, The United Theatres Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Edmondstone Shirra.—An interesting performance of Shylock was given by Mr. Arthur Phillips in his production of The Merchant of Venice here on Monday. Mr. Phillips's style is well suited to Shakespearean rôles, and this one of the Jew was distinctly good; Mr. E. Harcourt Williams, a Manchester favourite, was seen to advantage also in the part of Bassanio; while Miss Amy Brandon Thomas played Portia with credit; Mr. James Berry added a very good delineation of Antonio; and among other acceptable renderings, that of Launcelot Gobbo by Mr. Ross Shore was notable.

Prince's Theatre.—Proprietors, The United Theatres Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Lee.—Much entertainment is derived here from the performance of Mother-in-Law by Mrs. Mark Kinghorne's company. Mr. Fred Kaye as Major McTurtle is a source of considerable fun, and Mr. Alfred Hemming as Pounceby is also highly entertaining; Miss Nellie Christie makes an excellent Mrs. McTurtle; and all the remaining parts are in capable hands. A feature of the evening is Miss Violet Lewis's work as Margaret Ellerton in Meg the Mobswoman, an effective curtain-raiser.

Gaiety Theatre.—Proprietor, Miss A. E. F. Horniman; Acting-Manager, Mr. Edwin T. Heys.—This week we have here a revival of David Ballard, Charles McEvoy's locally well-known comedy. The cast is extraordinarily good, and the title-part is again in the hands of Mr. B. Iden Payne; while Mr. Charles Bibby repeats his successful comedy impersonation of Percy Ballard; Miss Louise Holbrook's Louisa is richly funny in a quiet way; Miss Edyth Goodall plays the ill-natured Gladys in capital style; and the other members of the quarrelsome family of Ballard are excellently rendered by Miss Ada King, the mother, and Mr. Edward Landor, the father. Miss Hilda Bruce Potter as Mercy Hainton is charming, as usual, and the cast is quite efficiently completed by Mr. Esme Percy, Mr. Leonard Mudie, Mr. Basil Dean, and Mr. J. V. Bryant. Reaping the Whirlwind, Mr. Alan Monkhouse's powerful little play, precedes, providing opportunities for Mr. Stanley Drewitt, Mr. Leonard Mudie, Mr. Henry Austin, and Miss Darragh.

Royal Osborne Theatre.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Mason.—Mr. Wentworth Croke presents here this week the old favourite play East Lynne. It is in the hands of a good company, the principal parts being capably filled by Mr. Leonard Yorke as Archibald Carlisle, Miss Muriel Marsden as Lady Isabel, and Mr. George R. Montford as Francis Levison. The play retains much of its original appeal to the emotions, and it is very attractively put on.

Queen's Park Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. W. Meek.—The Yellow Fang, a weird opium den incident in 'Frisco, is worthily the top turn here this week; while Johnson and Hart add a prominent act as hoop rollers and jugglers; and the Monckton are also successful in their comedy sketch A Woman's Curiosity. Other good turns are Ronald George, instrumentalist; the Whimsicals, in melody and mirth; Dan Weldon, singing newsboy; Fallows and Beaumont, in a comedy act; and a quaint selection of pictures.

Metropole Theatre.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Hearn.—Messrs. Marriott Watson and James Ussher's company are here in Only a Little Boy. Mr. F. Marriott Watson is well placed as Bragstone; Miss Florence E. Florence as June acquits herself well; Miss Dot Forde makes a very good Billie (the title-part); and Miss Hettie Senior is successful as Tag-rag. Humour is well supplied by Miss C. Meadows, Mr. C. Raymond, and Mr. J. Abbott.

Grand Junction Theatre.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Brearley.—Mr. Montague Beaudyn puts on here For Honour and Revenge, a sensational and appealing drama of every-day life. Mr. G. M. Montanini plays the heroic rôle of James Galston in capital style; and a very natural impersonation of Mary Galston is given by Miss Amy Dalby. Sir Gilbert Redville, Arthur Redville, and Maud Desmond, a villainous trio, are well represented by Mr. Courtney Robinson, Mr. H. Douglas, and Miss Muriel Inglis; while the comic element is capably supplied by Mr. Fred C. Imbert and Miss L. Ingles.

King's Theatre, Longsight.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jas. R. Trippett.—Harry Ford, the well-known comedian, tops the bill here this week with his usual success; Miss Rose Atherton presents a comedy episode. Murphy's Affinity, well played by Cissie Kingsley, Bessie Armytage, E. Mullins, and others; Baby Myrtle Grove is a clever little girl; the Days are second to none as exponents of second sight; Silvo is a very clever gymnast; and entertaining turns are offered by the Lovelaces, American song illustrators; S. W. Wyndham, comedian; and Sauteron Wonders, comedy speciality artists. Poorluck's Honeymoon, on Bioscope, is amusing.

Empire.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Hall.—The big turn here is provided by Lew Lake and company, in King Nobbler, an extravagant though amusing drama; the Abdullah Arabs are also prominent; and other good turns are Little Ganty, who is greatly appreciated; Billy French, a fine dancer; Fatmah Diard, an accomplished vocalist; Cavalli, a smart ventriloquist; Maxey and Pete, trick and comedy cyclists; Dan Hendy, acrobatic comedian; and Millie and Arthur, in a smart drawing-room sketch, entitled Domestic Bliss.

Hippodrome.—Managing-Director, Mr Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. Nelson Barry.—A capital programme here is headed by Evie Green, in selections from her répertoire, a refined and excellent turn; while Chanti, the Modern Proteus, occupies the second place of honour in the bill; the Bros. Redmond are seen in some smart acrobatic comedy; Tom and Marie Motramo, musical comedy artists, make a hit; the Villions are exceptionally clever trick cyclists, dancers, and eccentrics; and other pleasing items are Beaty and Blanche, duettists and dancers; Harry Herbert, comedian; Ike and Will Scott, comedians; and Fred King and Marie Queenie, in clever vaudeville.

Palace.—Managing-Director, Mr. Walter de Frece; Manager, Mr. A. J. Carter.—The programme here this week is excellent. The Kilties, Canadian concert band, under the able leadership of Albert Cook, who is a fine cornet soloist, augmented by the Clan-Johnstone Troupe of pipers and dancers, prove a capital turn; another prominent and clever turn is that of Howard and Harris, in The Adventures of a Happy Tramp; whilst other entertaining items are offered by Arthur Rigby, comedian; W. T. Ellwanger and company, in funny sketch Who Did It? Narow Brothers, trick and comedy cyclists; Jessie Albani, comedienne; George Speed, vocalist; and the Keeley Bros., in a smart athletic novelty. Up-to-date pictures complete.

Tivoli Theatre of Varieties.—Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. A. Wilkes; Manager, Mr. Arthur B. Wilkes.—Mme. Laure de Vilmar, the celebrated prima donna, who is here this week, meets with a deserved good reception; J. G. Grahame and Zerlina Harrington play effectively as usual, in their episode A Daughter of Pleasure; Vera Verona scores a big success as a violinist; Mabel and Hester Reeve, operatic duettists, are well received; Pat Lynch, the "dancing demon," takes well; and other smart items are provided by the Reays, silver chain acrobats and equilibrists; Lily Arthur, comedy artist; Ryder Davis, light comedian; and Eva Ward, comedienne. Pictures of the late King's Funeral complete.

Hulme Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Dry.—Herbert Darnley's popular sketch The Brigands of Tarragona, with Chas. H. Bell, Cecil Morton York, and Mrs. Herbert Darnley in the cast, is to the front here this week, and is well received. Another big turn is Ernest Cadle's absurdity The Casey Army, with Will Murray as Mrs. Casey—a scream from start to finish; the Five M.P.s are delightful musical experts; Ada Cerita is a sterling comedienne; and other good turns are those of the Litz Brothers, trick and comedy cyclists; Fred Evans, comedian, in Dreaming; the Kenmores, in gymnastic act; and the Eight Tennessee Coloured Guards, in American scena, Camp Life Down South.

Rusholme Pavilion.—Proprietor, Mr. Harry Leslie; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Phillips.—Mr. Harry Leslie's "Gay Lieutenants"—a first-rate combination—provide the programme here this week, and include those capable artists Cecily O'Shea, comedian and dancer; Nan Taylor, soprano; Jack Harris, comedian; Arthur Holland, light comedian; Alex Rubinoff, baritone; Griff Hodson, comedian and mimic; and Fred Shepherd at the piano. The Toy Shop, by the company, is a very pretty scena, written and produced by Mr. Arthur Holland.

Bijou Electric Theatre (Erskine-street, Hulme).—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Thos. Morrison.—This week there are a splendid set of new films, which include The Boarding-school Girl, Too Many Admirers, The Ranger and the Girl, A Storm on the Italian Coast, Tommy and the Magic Powder, Lying in State of the Late King, Back with the Old Folks Again, and Adventures of a Housemaid. There are well-attended matinées on Mondays, Wednesd

THE SUCCESS OF THE SEASON.

EDWARD LAURI, MAY BEATTY & CO.

— IN —

THE LADY BANDITS.

By HERBERT C. SARGENT and EDWARD LAURI.

A NEW MUSICAL COMEDY IN ONE ACT. The Quintessence of Refinement and Good Taste.

THE LADY BANDITS.

EDWARD LAURI AND MAY BEATTY

AT THEIR BEST.

3RD WEEK. OXFORD 3RD WEEK.

and EUSTON.

ONE LONG ROAR OF LAUGHTER AND APPLAUSE.

"CONFIRMATIONS" already to hand: LONDON SYNDICATE HALLS, 1910; DE FRECE CIRCUIT, 1910; ENTIRE MOSS-STOLL TOURS, 1911-12; and various independent Halls.

NOTE.—Vacancies through the closing of Lyric, Liverpool, Blackburn, Oldham, and Birkenhead.

July 4th, between Boscombe and Birmingham.
Aug. 8th, North.

Aug. 22nd, between Glasgow and Belfast.
Sept. 5th, ,, Belfast and Wolverhampton.

Direction:—Peels, Ltd., Hartley Milburn, or direct.

Chorus of English and Colonial Ladies.

THE SUCCESS OF THE SEASON. WHY? BECAUSE IT'S SO DIFFERENT.

THE LADY BANDITS.

The Quintessence of Refinement and Good Taste.

EDWARD LAURI and MAY BEATTY at their BEST.

MERTHYR TYDFIL.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, The South Wales Entertainments, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. A. Jackson Withers.—When It Was Dark is presented by Mr. Oswald Gray's company. Mr. Gray impresses the audience with an admirable interpretation of the Rev. Basil Gortre; as Sir Robert Llewelyn Mr. Edward Valentine displays ability; and Mr. Wordley Hulse as Schabe sustains the part with vigour. Mr. Walter Manfree as the Rev. Mr. Byars, Mr. Sidney Claydon as Charlie Gadfly are well suited; Miss Rosalie Notvelle presents a capable embodiment of Helena Byars; and Miss Lillian Herrries skilfully undertakes the rôle of Gertrude Hunt.

TEMPERANCE HALL.—Manager, Mr. Israel Price.—Brothers Leslie, who top the bill, provide a most enjoyable turn; Casselli is clever with the banjo; Panloe introduces a wire-walking speciality; Violet Rivers is a dainty comedienne; Bert Ivan scores as a comedian; and George Warren excels in clog-dancing. Some excellent films are shown on the Biograph.

MEXBOROUGH.—PRINCE OF WALES THEATRE.—Pictures and variety form the atraction here. Miss Marie Kay is a charming singer and dancer; Jack Hartley is a successful comedian. The animated pictures include The King's Funeral, Two Guides, Scientist's Nightmare, and Sweetmeat Making.

PICTURE HALL.—Proprietor, Mr. W. H. Melton.—The leading picture is The King's Funeral, and other excellent films are The Duke's Plan, Samaritan's Courtship, and An Equine Hero.

MORECAMBE.—ROYALTY THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Chas. M. Julian.—Miss Violet Osmund's company is here in a new version of The New Barmaid, and give a very entertaining show. The principal comedian, Mr. Alexr. Loftus, is distinctly funny in all he does, and keeps the house in excellent humour throughout; Miss Beatrice Earle is a charming comedienne; Miss Madge Prior in the title-rôle sings and acts with much credit; Mr. Llewellyn C. Hughes as good as William White; and Mr. J. Burlington Rigg uses an exceptionally good baritone voice to the best advantage. The chorus is strong.

WINTER GARDENS.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; General-Manager, Mr. Percy B. Broadhead.—The variety bill here includes Manek-Shah, Indian necromancer, with good business; Bendene, contortionist; Fanny Humber, smart vocalist and dancer; the Sisters Florencie, duettists and dancers; Smith and Gibbs, athletes.

TOWER AND GARDENS.—General-Manager, Mr. Tom Bradley.—Harry Leslie's entertainers, including Bert Byrne, present most acceptable programmes twice daily.

CENTRAL PIER.—Manager, Mr. Emilius Hill.—Capital programmes are submitted three times each day by Mr. Charles Parker's concert comedy party, the members of which are most popular.

MORLEY.—ALEXANDRA PALACE.—General-Manager, Mr. Tom Diacoff; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur Izon.—The Palace Merrymakers have now got into full swing with their summer alfresco programme, and a capital entertainment is gone through twice each evening. Messrs. Sid Bazley, Tom Sloan, and Joe Shamrock are responsible for the comedy; and Misses Beattie Howard and Gracie Hunt contribute pleasing ballads, &c. The charming Sisters Ray, duettists and speciality dancers, are fulfilling a welcome return engagement.

NEATH.—PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. Leon Vint; General-Manager, Mr. Arthur Brogden; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur Noice.—Good pictures are on the programme, chief among them being the Funeral of the Late King. Coverdale and Huxley's juvenile troupe of singers and dancers are favourably received.

NELSON.—PALACE.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Benson.—A first-rate programme has attracted good houses. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wilde scored a big success in their shadowgraph exhibition; the Ecenas, novelty performers, were on Monday twice encored; and the Crews provoked much amusement in an elaborately staged act, entitled Wrecked. An excellent film depicting the King's Funeral Procession in London was shown on the Palascope; and other contributors were Amy Bellwood, comedienne; J. G. Aitken, Scotch comedian; Dix and Dox, Continental musical grotesques; Eva Chadwick, vocal comedienne; and Benson and Rose, in a comedy duologue.

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. Teale Lingham.—Tom, Dick, and Harry is the attraction here. Capital impersonations are given by Mr. George Unwin as General Stanhope; and Miss Rose Temple as Daisy Armitage; and other important rôles are ably filled by Miss Dorothy Payn, Miss Audrey Esmonde, Mr. C. Hermann Pullen, Mr. J. Percival Jordan, and Mr. Leo St. Clair. On Monday, May 30 the theatre will close for the usual summer vacation, re-opening on July 25.

TYNE THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Lessees, Messrs. Howard and Wyndham; Manager, Mr. Fred C. Sutcliffe.—The Northumbrian Amateur Operatic Society is occupying the stage this week with the opera La Cigale.

PALACE THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. T. W. Rowe; Business-Manager, Mr. E. B. Clark.—Mr. Wilson Howard and company are here in Under the Iron Heel. Mr. Wilson Howard plays with ability as René de Maupassant; Miss Carlotta Anson is an effective Germaine Mirbeau; Mr. J. W. Richards deserves much praise for his Otto Marx; Mr. Dennis Clyde proves very popular as Major Schromberg; Father Mirbeau finds in Mr. John Talford a capable exponent; Mr. Carl Vallender adds to the success as Schultz; Miss J. Douglas Hickes is very good as Maman Gouffe; and Miss Marie Angus is quite satisfactory as André.

EMPIRE THEATRE.—Resident-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; Manager, Mr. W. P. Wells; Assistant-Manager, Mr. J. W. Kilgour.—Jimmy the Fearless, the Boy 'Ero, one of Karno's side-splitting absurdities, is the chief attraction here; Tom Clare, the well-known entertainer at the piano, is responsible for a typically smart turn; and Mr. and Mrs. Lucas, in sketches from Dickens present faithful and convincing character studies; a comedian of rare ability is H. O. Wells, "the funny man with the funny voice"; and Woodhouse and Wells, comedians and dancers, present a capital turn. Amelie de L'Enclos, the vocal phenomenon; Brace and Hemsley; Jennie Hartley; and Yamamoto and Miss Koyoshi, Japanese equilibrists, also contribute to the success of a fine bill.

NEWPORT.—EMPIRE.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; District-Manager, Mr. Albert Mitchell; Acting-Manager, Major Gallagher; Assisting-Manager, Mr. Percy A. Wilde.—Heading an excellent all-round bill is that popular raconteur, Mike Whallen, who keeps the audience merry; a diverting juggling act is submitted by Harry Friskey; D'Arc's Marionettes represent quite a bevy of stars of the variety firmament; Wyndham and Kitty do exceptionally clever feats on the wire; Charles Santon, double-voiced vocalist, is loudly acclaimed. Welcome contributions are also given by the Sisters Caselli; Orpheus, the master of melody; and Bert Williams. A prominent feature in this week's programme is the bioscope film depicting the Funeral of His Late Majesty King Edward VII.

NORTHAMPTON.—TEMPERANCE HALL.—Secretary, Mr G. Skempton; Resident-Manager for Andrew's pictures, Mr. Frank Lyndon.—Magnificent pictures of the lying-in-state and the funeral of the late King Edward. Relief is afforded by the illustrated songs "Amina mine" and "Far away in Australia," by Miss Margaret Payne.

THE COUNTY ELECTRIC PAVILION.—Resident-Manager, Mr. A. Lyle Edwards.—As elsewhere, the predominant pictures this week are the late King's lying-in-state and funeral processions, also the proclamation of King George V.—all good films; The Story of Esther, a Biblical subject, is full of Oriental life and colour; The Danish Dragoons gives a good insight into cavalry work; the vivaphone this week voices and illustrates the song "I'm in love with the slide trombone"; and the comics are also good.

PICTURE PALACE.—Proprietors, Messrs. J. F. Bentley; General-Manager, Mr J. W. Borrowman.—The Funeral Procession of the Late King Edward VII. is the leading feature here; a pretty classical subject is that of Pygmalion and Galatea, in artistic colouring; A Trip to Berlin takes us through all the principal points of interest there; whilst A Buried Secret is a most diverting subject.

NORTH SHIELDS.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Stanley Rogers; Acting-Manager, Mr. Horace Lee.—Mr. Mat Lynton's company with The Girl with the Angel Face is attracting large audiences here. As Angel Leigh Miss Minnie Love displays considerable ability; Miss Laurie Potter makes a clever Mollie; Ena Wentworth is safely entrusted to Miss Rhoda Douglas; and Miss Rosina White is a pleasing Nellie. In the dual rôle of Sir John Wentworth and Thomas Wentworth Mr. Graham Wingford achieves distinction; Mr. Montague Lane gives a satisfactory rendering of Stephen Arkwright; Mr. Edwin Ling ably handles the part of Jasper Death; Mr. John Stirling is good as Mark Fenning; Mr. Herbert Standing must be commended for his acting as the Rev. Gordon Cross; and Mr. Edmund Beresford makes the most of the Hon. Percy Paget.

CENTRAL PALACE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. William Mould.—Ormonde Penstone in his clever vaudeville act tops the bill here, and fully maintains his reputation. The Three Sisters Doris, juvenile vocalists and dancers, have many admirers; Fred Payne, coon delineator and dancer, meets with a hearty reception; the Meadsons are loudly applauded for their pot-pourri act; and Pictures complete an enjoyable bill.

NORWICH.—HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. E. H. Bostock and F. W. Fitt; Manager, Mr. Councillor F. W. Fitt.—At the head of an attractive programme are Carrie Laurie's Juveniles, who receive marked approbation for their delightful comedy and singing; the Bros. Webb (Jojo and Rute) give an amusing instrumental turn; the Hyde and Cody Trio are genuine mirth provokers; Reg. Beauchamp's eccentricities prove him a first-class comedian; Grace Oxley and company in their farcical sketch Peggy are successful; Marie Brayman is a pleasing pantomime artist; Edie Haley has a good reception; Herbert Rule scores in comic song; and the Hippo. Bio. is particularly attractive with pictures of the Royal Funeral.

THE NEST, ROSARY-ROAD.—Messrs. Goodman's company of Pierrots continue on excellent terms with their numerous patrons. Miss Aileen Delmore's songs prove very attractive; Miss Rosie Effingham wins popularity; Miss Cissie Scott is most successful; Mr. Jack Bonny makes a hit; Mr. Eric St. John is well received; Mr. Leslie Sears is a great favourite, his droll songs and antics arousing roars of laughter; and Mr. Fred Capion's violin solos are excellent.

NOTTINGHAM.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. Howard Finney.—The visits of Mr. F. R. Benson are always welcome. The Taming of the Shrew on Monday drew an appreciative audience. Mr. Benson's Petruchio is an excellent study, given with a crispness and breeziness of style that is quite exhilarating. Mrs. Benson invests the Shrew with sufficient virulence and vigour, making the character thoroughly interesting; Mr. Edward Harrison makes a capable exponent of Baptista; Vincentio is carefully drawn by Mr. John Howell; the Gremio of Mr. H. O. Nicholson, the Tranio of Mr. Moffatt Johnson, and the Grumio of Mr. Harry Caine deserve the warmest praise; and other clever portrayals are given by Miss Nora Lancaster (Bianca), Miss Elinor Aickin (Curtis), Mr. Murray Carrington (Lucentio), and Mr. Guy Rathbone (Hortensio). During the week were also staged Julius Cæsar, Macbeth, Much Ado About Nothing, and The Merry Wives of Windsor.

GRAND THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Harry J. Crane.—Shadows of a Great City is well received here. Mr. Otto Minster plays the part of the hero, Tom Cooper, in a manly and vigorous manner; Mr. Herbert Morgan depicts the unscrupulous George Benson in no uncertain way, and he is ably assisted in his designs by Mr. G. H. Asquin as Jim Farren. Mr. Gerald Venning is convincing as the Detective; Mr. Leslie Nolan makes a capable Abe Nathan; Miss Bessie Rignold imparts sympathy and charm to her rôle of Nellie Standish; Miss Violet Agnew carefully enacts Mrs. Higgan; and Miss Daisy Meynard works hard as Biddy Roonan.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. Albert C. Duncan.—The startling illusions of Chung-Ling-Soo are as smart and attractive as ever, and the clever conjurer is given a rousing reception. Pipifax and Panlo present some weird but skilful feats in tumbling, while the comic business creates a fund of wholesome laughter; the Smythson's provide several merry moments in their sketch The Lie-Alarm; Maidie Scott sings several songs in effective style; and interesting items are given by Rich. Taylor, silleur; Frank H. Fox, comedian; Lena Verdi, comedienne; Bert Weston, comedian; and Rossi Ashton. Bioscope pictures of the late King's funeral are also shown.

HIPPODROME.—Lessee and General-Manager, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. F. Miller.—The Tegernseer Troupe of Alpine vocalists submit a thoroughly novel and interesting entertainment of singing and dancing, which is greatly enhanced by the charming and picturesque setting. Spissell Bros. and Mack are a combination of clever acrobats and comedians; Fred Maitland and Pauline Walker supply an amusing absurdity in their sketch Roots, Rash Chemists; the Society Quartette, dance and sing in spirited fashion; the Zanfrettas are daring equilibrists; and W. G. Wesley, comic, Elsie Claire, vocalist, Dan Daly, comedian, and D. Escourt, entertainer, also contribute to the programme.

NUNEATON.—PRINCE OF WALES'S.—Proprietors, Theatre and Entertainments Co.; Managing-Director, Mr. A. F. Cross; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Brown.—Mr. Leonard Thackeray's répertoire company opened here on Monday with Lady Godiva. Miss Edith Lorraine appeared to advantage in the title-rôle; Miss J. Richards was capable as Lady Aldwyth; Mr. Harry Parr ably depicted Leofric; Mr. Leonard Thackeray gave a forceful performance as Algar; Mr. F. Cheevers was successful as Edgar; Mr. F. B. Woulfe put in excellent work as Tom; and the other parts were well filled. For the rest of the week Nana and Robin Hood are billed.

OLDHAM.—COLOSSEUM THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Wm. Eastwood.—Life's Sweetest Sins is presented by Mr. T. Arthur Jones and his talented company. Mr. Jones plays the part of Captain Harold Marston in artistic manner, and is ably seconded by Mr. John Davidson as Ernie Wodstone; Miss F. Melrose Millett as Doreen Rivers acts cleverly and gains much sympathy; and Miss Marie Daventry as Fay Colbrooke is well placed; Miss May Neilson as Bess Grayson and Mr. Bob Anderson as Bob Tanner are responsible for smart comedy; Mr. J. D'Alberti as Dr. Colbrooke does justice to a villainous rôle; and as Kimberley Coutts and the Rev. Edward Grey, Messrs. A. H. Clark and A. Prescott are thoroughly efficient. A feature of the drama is the submarine boat, which is staged in a realistic manner.

EMPIRE THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. B. Dottridge; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Hulme.—Dickie Clare and his comedians are providing hearty laughter in the musical comedy Lucky 'Liza, and business is good. Mr. Clare has endless opportunities of showing his ability in his various characters, one of them being the Judge; Mr. Leonard Maitland as Paul Pettitoe is most amusing; Miss Vesta Brownie as Eliza Bird is a vivacious artist, her singing and dancing being much appreciated; Miss Hettie Gale as Vergina Blotherwick makes a duly romantic miss; and Miss Helen Douglas is good as the gentle Marie Pettitoe; an old favourite appears in the person of Mme. Constance Bellamy, and her singing is much enjoyed. Mr. F. W. Benson as Peter Pettitoe, Mr. Harry George as Barnaby Blotherwick, Mr. J. W. Forrest as William Biffins, and Mr. Bert Collins as Tompkins, are responsible for ex cellent work, and some good dancing is introduced by the Jesmond Trio.

PALACE THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge.—Large crowds are being drawn to see and hear the popular idol, Miss Vesta Tilley, whose various impersonations evoke the utmost enthusiasm; Tom Foy and company appear in the amusing absurdity, The Yorkshire Lad in London. Among other artists also here are J. W. Rowley, comedian; the Four Scoreys, in a musical mélange; Steve Bartle, edeophone and concertina soloist; Palmyra, contortionist; W. G. Webber, vocalist; and Drury and Lane, in smart dances.

ROYAL THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Kilrow.—The Funeral of His Late Majesty King Edward is depicted among many others. Mr. Roger Alwyn sings new chorus songs with good results.

HIPPODROME.—General-Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Acting-Manager, Mr. L. King.—The programme includes the Funeral Procession of King Edward VII. Mr. King sings Tom Bowling.

BROWN'S ASSEMBLY ROOMS.—Proprietor, Mr. Wm. Brown.—The Suit Case Mystery is a capital film, and the Funeral of the Late King Edward is also good. Many other film subjects are dealt with.

OSBORNE HALL.—Proprietor, Mr. W. Hughes.—Good business is being done with pictures. Just Punishment and The Tramp's Story are excellent films, and The Valley of Anazaska is a fine travel picture.

OXFORD.—NEW THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. C. C. Dorrill; Assistant-Manager, Mr. G. T. Lucas.—This week Messrs. Platt and Towers' company is paying us a most welcome return visit with Bernard Shaw's plays, You Never Can Tell and Arms and the Man. The former has been received with cordial delight by full and fashionable houses, whose presence testified to the fact that the Summer Eights Races are now in full swing, though shorn of many of their festive rites. Miss Edith Hunter is a very satisfactory Mrs. Clandon; Miss Winifred Beech is very effective and imposing as Gloria, and wins general approval; Miss Ida Southern and Mr. G. Wilkinson are highly amusing as Dolly and Philip Clandon; Mr. J. E. Pearce is admirable as Fergus Crampton; Mr. J. A. Jeayes scores well as Finch McComus; Mr. Graham Colmer gives a very convincing and attractive performance as Valentine; Mr. Bellenden Clarke is well suited as Bohun; and Mr. Claude Haviland scores a most undoubted success in his easy and polished rendering of the Walter. The efforts of an excellent company meet with favour.

EAST OXFORD THEATRE.—Lessees, East Oxford Theatre Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Stuart.—There was a bumper house for Mr. Frank Stuart's benefit on Saturday, May 21. Most of the members of the late stock company, including Mr. Karl Edwards and Miss Emma C. Turner, contributed various items to a full programme. A very smart sketch, Son of the Morning, was presented and acted with great spirit by Mr. Karl Edwards and company; also a comedy sketch Timbuctoo by Miss Katie Norris and Mr. Edwin Firth. There was also a goodly array of local talent, Mr. Leonard Moon's "Merrymakers," Mr. Frank Halliday (Indian club expert), and Mr. Bernard White's ventriloquial sketch being specially noteworthy. At the conclusion of the performance some interesting and valuable presentations from members of the staff and from the stock company were made to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stuart, who were greatly pleased and very cordial in their thanks to all concerned. This week Mr. James Bell's company is here with The Idol of Paris. Mr. Cyril Austen-Lee gives a good portrayal of Phillipe D'Esterre; Mr. G. Robey makes an effective Prince Sergius; and Mr. Alfred Grenville carries conviction as Victor Cashelle. Mr. H. Vivian Thomas as Tatave and Miss Ida Thompson as Ann are both pleasing; Miss Frances Bruce adds dignity as Mme. Sancterre; and Miss Annie Bell gives a clever rendering of Flare-Flare.

PAISLEY.—HIPPODROME.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Bostock; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jack R. Bostock.—The last week of the variety season at this house is announced, and the occasion is marked by a splendid company, headed by Dave Samuels, American Hebrew comedian. The others participating in the bill are Duncan and Godfrey in their coster comedy Me and 'Er; Little Zola, the diminutive and funny comedian; Wilson Hallett in his humorous and pathetic studies of children; Lizzie Daniels, a clever comedienne; Jack Ross and Sue Lewis, an expert Yankee duo; Little Pam, an entertaining juvenile comedian and dancer; George Brooks, a vocal comedian who is popular: and the Hippodrome Bioscope is to the front with an excellent series of pictures, including the Funeral Procession of the late King.

PENTRE.—TIVOLI.—Sole Lessee, Mr. Will Stone; Resident-Manager, Mr. James Gunn.—An attractive picture programme is presented here, the price of seats being reduced in all parts of the house. The management have decided to run this popular house as a picture hall for the summer months.

WORKMEN'S HALL.—Manager, Mr. H. Solway.—The chief film shown here is our late King's funeral procession, which attracts crowded audiences. Bert Maddison receives quite an ovation nightly for his clever and clean humour as the happy Welshman.

PERTH.—PERTH THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. H. Savile; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Aldridge.—The principal attraction is Mr. Charles M. Daly and his company in the farcical sketch Men were Deceivers Ever, in which Mr. Daly plays the part of the husband with delightful humour, and is well supported by his talented company, including Mr. C. Blundell Lenton, Mr. Guy Blyth, Miss Hilda Merrilese, and Miss Dora Hilstrom. Miss May St. Hilda gives a smart and novel scena entitled The Studio. The audience simply cannot help joining in the chorus when Harry King sings his songs; the Smalleys create laughter in their comic parallel-bar act; and Morimura mystifies the audience with his illusions. A series of fine pictures is shown.

PETERBOROUGH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. A. Darville Vernon.—Mr. Keith G. Kenneth's company is here with Mrs. Gorringe's Necklace. Mr. Kenneth gives an excellent impersonation of Captain Mowbray; Colonel Jardine is cleverly presented by Mr. Horace Sinclair; Mr. Chas. Ashwell as Lieut. David Cairn is deserving of warm praise; and Mr. Arthur Linay is good as the detective Jennigan. As Mrs. Gorringe Miss Betty Fairfax meets with warm approval; while Miss Evelyn Ward achieves complete success as Mrs. Jardine. Miss Cicely Clutterbuck as Isabel Kirke distinguishes herself; and Miss Viola Lewis as Vicky Jardine and Miss Mynnee Kirk as Miss Potts play well.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. Fred Karno; Manager, Mr. Percy Hart.—Nerigne, classical artist, in selcetions from her répertoire, is well received; Harvey and Jesson are clever dancers; La Bella Greta, Spanish dancer, is loudly applauded. Other artists who appear successfully are Monty Walker, comedian; Mr. X, described as the prince of magic; Sybil Cann, in effective ideas; Sharon, the street musician; and Sidney Hamilton and company, in a farce, entitled Mabel's Cousin.

PLYMOUTH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Manager, Mr. J. Langdon Lee.—East Lynne well fills the house, particularly in the popular parts. In the dual rôles of Lady Isabel and Mme Vine Miss Rita Sporti gives a most effective rendering; Mr. John Sargent is admirably suited in the part of Lord Mountsevern; Mr. Ulick Burke works very hard to ensure success as Dill; and Miss Marion Neil wins the sympathies of the audience with her touching rendering of Little Willie. Boots at the Swan precedes.

PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. Jack Field.—The original Schichtl Marionettes furnish quite an entertainment in themselves; the Two Anartos are a genuinely funny couple; the Sisters Allen receive a warm welcome; Irve Hayman and company have a bright little episode, entitled 'Xmas Eve; Edie Veno is a smart comedienne; and Edna Latonne is a first-rate male impersonator. The Palascope has the latest films.

PONTEFRACT.—ALEXANDRA THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—The Four Gordonettis, head balancers on the swinging trapeze, give a smart performance; Goodall and Knox are clever patterers and eccentric acrobats; Inghram and Irving appear in a laughable absurdity, entitled The New Office Boy; the Sisters Wayland find favour as duettists and dancers; Bert Seddon delights his hearers with his fine bass voice; and other items of the bill are provided by Cissie Ferndale, vocalist and burlesque actress; Arthur Page, Lancashire dialect comedian; Mollie Watson, a good singer of chorus songs; and the Alexscope.

PORTSMOUTH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Armstrong Bell.—Miss Emma Hutchison and Mr. Percy Hutchison's excellent all-round company introduced Don here on Monday night. Miss Emma Hutchison as the simple, loving mother Mrs. Bonnington showed herself a finished actress; the impulsive Quixotic Stephen Bonnington was forcibly characterised by Mr. Gordon Bailey; Mr. Chas. Harley gave a powerful rendering of the fanatic, Albert Thompsett; the placid Canon was ably impersonated by Mr. Arthur Willoughby; Mr. Chas. Tyrel quite naturally portrayed the peppery General Sinclair; Miss Ethel Royale as Mrs. Sinclair and Miss Viola Garland as Ann both did well. Her Dearest Friend preceded.

PRINCE'S.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. E. Agate.—Her Life in London, presented by Mr. Stanley Carlton and company, is again winning approval. Mr. Carlton as the young clergyman, Miss Rubie Maude (Astra Bell), Miss Annie Megan (Dolly), Mr. C. Claude Aymond (the Blind Burglar), and a numerous and effective cast cleverly interpret the piece.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Captain E. H. Warren Wright; Secretary, Mr. W. Pratt.—Humour and music are happily combined in Cruikshank's amusing entertainment; Miss Wish Wynne has been winning laurels for her clever character studies; an interesting turn is Henry Coutts's protean act Outflanked, in which he is assisted by that promising young artist Miss Gwadys Soman, whose singing is admired; Jules Kiaro is an expert equilibrist, substituting hands for feet in the ascending and descending steps; Harry Simms, light comedian, dresses in good style; the Hulls deserve praise for their comic musical act; Charlie Carr sings and dances, as also does Daisy Hurdle; and the picture of the Funeral Procession attracts.

HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Walter de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Harris.—George Robey is the star this week, and his songs cause great fun; Maurice, assisted by Mlle. Aurore, demonstrates his marvellous skill in card tricks, &c.; the graceful and daring gymnastic display by the Chandon Trio is applauded; Olga Dore's powerful soprano voice is heard to advantage; little Jack Mark's Hebrew jokes and policeman's impersonation indicate talent; Reno performs some fantastic tricks on his bicycle; Tom Franks is a clever ventriloquist; the Forde trio of musicians deputised for Elmo and Rego; and the Funeral Procession of the late King is depicted on the screen.

KING'S.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Claude Marner.—Mystery and illusion sway the interest of the audience in the person of the Egyptian magician Rameses; Edward Lewis and company are heard to advantage in farcical interlude, The Five Wishes; the Seven Bramueas, young musicians, do justice to their instructors; Helena Hurst sings some charming songs; Les Berthos amuse with their dancing; Fred Elton at the piano is entertaining; the Two Lillys, Harry Johnson, Stowe Bros., and Kelly and Agnes successfully contribute; and the pictures are particularly interesting.

PRESTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, the Exors. of the late W. Johnson; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. Alban Newton.—The Passport is presented by an experienced amateur company, who have been most successfully coached by Mr. J. Alban Newton, the proceeds being devoted to local charities. At the conclusion of these performances the theatre will close for the summer vacation and the usual cleaning and redecorating.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; Resident-Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank E. Burdett.—Percy Williams' Nine Yankee Belles, in a song and dance scena, prove most entertaining; A. de Bessell, the original clay modeller, is as dexterous as ever, and is humorous withal; the Three Krakes, in their acrobatic comedy act, The Electric Car Conductor, arouse hearty laughter; Hope and Bayly (Diana and Monte), in The Altar of Duty, are successful; Edie Anderson, comedienne and dancer, is well received; Golden and Chance, in a novel and eccentric act, win applause; the Rangers are clever comedy cyclists; and Harry Conlin is a popular comedian. Alf Brooks, comedian, and patterer, also contributes; and The King's Funeral on the Bioscope concludes. Annie Purcell was unable to appear on Monday, owing to indisposition.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Page; General-Manageress, Mrs. M. M. Clarkson; Resident-Manager, Mr Chas. E. Clarkson.—Mr. Ernest Abbott's company, in Sapho, is this week's attraction. Miss Ada Abbott in the title-rôle has full scope for her undoubted dramatic powers; Mr. Edward Oasta is most successful in the rôle of Gaussin; and Mr. John Drake is an excellent Dechelette. Mr. Stephen Crossley gives a powerful presentation of Flamant; Mr. Weedon Ross is good as the old cabman Legrand. The humorous relief is ably sustained by Mr. Edwin Keene as Ceasaire and Miss Nellie Joinson as Mme. Hettema, who are both most successful. The pictures presented are much appreciated.

RAMSGATE.—ROYAL PALACE THEATRE.—Under the sole direction of Mr. Chas. Evans; Resident-Manager, Mr. Henry Bowman.—Walter Melville's powerful play, The Female Swindler, has been staged in first-rate style by Mr. Douglas Bruce's company. Miss Olive Warner fills with marked ability the rôle of Lu Valroy, otherwise Miss Darwen; she is ably seconded in her efforts by Mr. Henry Lonsdale, who earns for himself well-deserved praise for his impersonation of Jack Coulson; Mr. Fred Hodson does well as Abraham Mikestein; and Mr. Fred de Vere lends valuable assistance in a four-fold part. A villain of deepest dye is the Geoffrey Warden of Mr. W. T. Riley; Mr. Frank Howard makes fine play in the rôle of Harold Travers; and the May Andrews of Miss Irene Atchinson leaves nothing to be desired.

MARINA THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. J. Attack.—Large audiences have been attracted to the Excelsior Picturedrome during the past week, the usual exhibitions of animated pictures being given twice nightly. Great interest has been aroused by the film showing the funeral procession of the late King. The variety turn is this week presented by Baddow, an exceptionally smart ventriloquist, who introduces novel gags, and elicits loud applause at each performance.

RATHMINES.—TOWN HALL.—The Irish Animated Photo Co. opened here for a short season, and is well appreciated by large audiences daily.

WORLD'S FAIR AND MUSIC HALL.—Proprietor, Mr. C. A. James.—The company appearing here include: Mme Vertris's sketch company; Rosie Dawn, wooden shoe dancer; Charles Lisle, versatile comedian; Emma Poole, character dancer; George Danton, comedian; and Dolly Webb, vocalist.

READING.—ROYAL COUNTY THEATRE.—Proprietors and Managers, Mr. Milton Bode and Mr. Edward Compton; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. A. Evans.—This week Leo Dryden, the well-known vocalist, of "The Miner's Dream" renown, appears most successfully in a series of song playlets suggested by popular plays. On Monday night he elected The Exile, A White Man, and The Only Way, in all of which Mr. Drydon displayed great vocal and dramatic power. The programme is being changed nightly. Gibbon and Bell introduce their clever acrobatic and dancing specialities; Gena Manon is an accomplished vocalist; Henry and Tyler give an exceedingly good trick cycling display; Moon and Morris are amusing comedians and dancers; Bert Danson, comedian, does a good turn; Callahan and St. George give an artistic vocal and instrumental performance, the lady artist's harp-playing being particularly good; Brothers Huxter present a good sketch, Languid Energy; and King Edward VII.'s Funeral is realistically depicted on the Bioscope.

THE PALACE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Geo. Howard Watson; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. E. Draco; Stage-Manager, Mr. A. Burridge.—The Three Romas give a fine exhibition of feats of strength; Cyclumina gives a good trick-cycling display on a machine lighted by electricity; Sterling and Love show their skill as vocalists and instrumentalists in a sketch, entitled Discord and Harmony; Bessie Knight and Grace Lawn are acceptable comediennes and dancers; the Fimans give an amusing performance in The Fire Station; Tod Lowen, comedian, is a popular favourite; Tom Taylor and company produce a very funny sketch, The Plumbers; and a splendid film of the Royal Funeral is shown on the Bioscope.

NEW CENTRAL SKATING RINK.—The first fancy dress carnival was given here on Wednesday night, and was extensively patronised.

THE Vaudeville Electric Theatre, West's Picture Palace, and Bio-Picture Land are all giving good shows, King Edward's Funeral Procession being the predominant feature at each entertainment.

ROTHERHAM.—HIPPODROME, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Geo. E. Smith; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur R. Hollands.—An excellent company is here this week. Binns and Binns are most amusing in a comedy and musical act; the Carpati Brothers are brilliant bar performers; Victor Brothers are marvels in strength, skill, and dexterity; Guest and Newlyn, the Hebrew and the soubrette, are most diverting; the Four Jumels present a highly-finished musical act; Madoline Rees has a finished vocal comedy act; Iris Banfield is a pleasing comedienne; Sam Spira is a smart entertainer and mimic; the Renowned Lannons are well received in The Policeman and the Maid, the pedestal dances being deservedly applauded. The Royal Funeral Procession is shown on the Bioscope.

SALFORD.—P.O.W.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. E. B. Goulden; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harold Goulden.—Hamlet, with a clever young actor, Mr. George Munro, in the title-rôle, Mr. Stafford Dawson as the King, and Miss Doris Horrocks as Ophelia, was presented to a good house on Monday. Miss Gertrude Littlewood as the Queen, Mr. Eric Norman as Horatio, Mr. T. Weston Fields as the Ghost, Mr. Ivor Barnard as Polonius, Mr. Howard Rose as Laertes, and Miss Norah Vaughan as Player Queen also did well in their various rôles. The following evenings are devoted to The Sleigh Bells, David Garrick, The Taming of the Shrew, Romeo and Juliet, Othello, and Macbeth, with Mr. George Munro in the principal characters, supported by Miss Doris Horrocks as principal lady.

REGENT THEATRE OF VARIETIES, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Turner; General-Manager, Mr. Herbert Raymond; Secretary, Mr. R. H. Lee.—The Kidnapped King, a Sexton Blake episode, is a cleverly-performed and interesting sketch, in which Mr. C. Douglas Carlisle smartly presents the Detective in several disguises, and is supported by Miss Carlotta De Yonson as Princess Thyra, Mr. Lee Gilbert as Tinker, Mr. Chas. A. Carlile as Prince Stephen, Master Geoffrey Lewes as King Otto, and Mr. James Duncan as Prince Cloris; the Kebbles give a pretty musical turn; Larry Lewis, quaint comedian, evokes roars of laughter. Other good turns include Marie Blythe, contralto vocalist; Addie Adell, vocalist; Sisters Herbert, duettists and dancers; Violet Stockelle, comedienne; and Poole and Maguire, vocal comedy duo. The Funeral Procession of H.M. the Late King is shown on the bioscope, and is much appreciated.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; General-Manager, Mr. H. Winstanley; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. W. J. Boyle.—The Elliott-Savonas, in their latest success, Americana, gain much applause. An excellent programme also includes clever turns by Will Rhodes, comedian; Seven Wulfruns, comedy acrobats, in their speciality Fun in a Café; Milton and Horton, comedy triple-bar artists; Harry Marlow, light comedian; Olive and Owen, singers and duettists; and Baby Wolff, a clever child performer. The King's Funeral pictures are good.

OPERA HOUSE AND ASSEMBLY ROOMS, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Turner; General-Manager, Mr. Herbert Raymond; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. Shepherd.—The Funeral Procession of the Late King gives much satisfaction. The other films include Sailor Lad, Tough Steak, Girl I Left Behind, Winning Father, Life in a Danish Village, Leper of Aosta, Champion Bowl Player, A Little Child Shall Lead Them, and They Would Roller Skate. Mr. Tom Sherlock sings an illustrated song, "Don't go down in the mine, dad," copies of which are printed and sold by the management at 3d. each for the benefit of the Whitehaven Pit Disaster Fund.

CENTRAL HALL (Blackfriars-road).—Proprietors, Messrs. Matt Raymond Co.; Manager, Mr. A. H. Gilbert.—The Raymond pictures include a splendid film of the Funeral of King Edward; Ranch Girls' Legacy,

THE DRAMA IN BERLIN.

"GLUCK BEI FRAUEN."

...e, in Three Acts, by MM. Engel and Horst, Produced at the Thalia Theatre on May 14.

...inant .....HERR BACH
...au Lanrant .....FRAULEIN LY
...unier .....HERR JUNKERMANN
...vianne .....FRAULEIN CERIGIOLI
...osper .....HERR RIECK
...rothée .....FRAULEIN MARBA
...tournelles .....HERR OLVERS
...audine .....FRAULEIN ELSINGER
...ederic .....HERR MEYERHOFER
...ulou.....FRAULEIN FRIEDMANN
...n .....FRAULEIN KOENIG
...né .....FRAULEIN LEHMANN
...stine .....FRAULEIN WALDEMAR
...ançois .....HERR HERMANN

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

...ERLIN, THURSDAY, May 19.—The latest produc... at the Thalia made a good impression, and, ...ing from the mirth of the audience, should ... a lengthy run. There is not the slightest ...npt at originality in either plot or char...rs. The authors have resorted to Paris for ... action—a custom of German writers when ... plot is supposed to be "piquant." Unfortu...ly, the French element of light farce is alto...er lacking, and in its place is only a heavy ...seness; it is the bull-in-the-china-shop farce, ...hich we have had a plethora of late years. ... capital acting redeemed the piece from much ...s crudeness; the artists of the Lustspielhaus ... united with those of the Thalia for the occa..., and the cast gained considerably in conse...nce. The two heroines are Flora and Vivienne, ...y girls who have married the men of their ...ce—Lanrant and Prunier respectively—but ...e disappointment in them is exceeding great. ...ant is an elderly sinner, who is too blasé to ... love to the extent his bride desires, while ...ier is equally cool for another reason; he is ...shy. How the disappointed young women ...eed in warming up their husbands to the ...per degree—by the following of advice given ...an experienced woman of the world—or, better ...king, of the half world, is at times funny, ...imes wearisome. Take it altogether, the piece ...ot up to the usual standard of the Thalia. ...s its predecessor, Die lieben Ottos, of which ...e was not much to be said in praise, was ...er.

TANZHUSAREN," operetta, in three acts, by ...rt Szirmai, text by MM. Rajna and Motz, made a decided hit at the Theatre des Westens, deservedly so. The music is pretty, the plot of fun, and a good deal resembling the popu... farce Husarenfieber. The girls of a dull little ...rincial town are longing for partners for their ...ces, and when a regiment of Hussars is garri...ed there, with a fine young Highness at the ...d, their joy knows no bounds. Others of the ...n are, of course, opposed to the advent of the ...illingtry," and a good many comical scenes ...e in consequence. There are plenty of love ...odes, and a very amusing character is a school... of sixteen, who plays good angel to everyone. ...ulein Else Boettcher, of the Trianon Theatre, ...e this grateful rôle in admirable manner, and ... was well assisted by the rest of the cast. ...r Kutzner, in the part of the Prince Egon, ... especially good, both in acting and singing. ... mounting was exceedingly commendable, and ... orchestra, under the clever leadership of ...ellmeister Stefanides, was quite satisfactory.

CABARET company from Vienna, rejoicing in ... name of the "Hölle," commenced a season ... week at the Deutsches Chamber Plays. The ...es selected were mostly amusing and short in ...racter, while the interpretation was good all ...nd.

DER NEUE PARIS," a so-called comedy in three ...g acts, by Alfons Fedor Cohn, was produced ... Saturday at the Hebbel, with no particular ...ults. The author evidently had a goodly ...ber of friends among the audience, and these ... their utmost to make the piece a success, but ...r kindly efforts were not of much use. I fear ...r Cohn's first production will prove his last ...ss he improves a good deal.

...E Russian Imperial Ballet has opened its ...on at the Komische Oper, and is doing well. ...t of the artists are known here, but Mlle. ...vlovna is, unfortunately, absent this time. ...e. Will is, however, a very charming substitute.

...VERY old farce was revived at the Friedrich ...lhelm Städtisches last week, and the reception ... all that any manager could desire. It was ... Ruab der Sabinerinnen, by MM. Franz and ...l von Schoenthan, a piece which will surely ...er grow passé. It was capitally acted. The ...t of the immortal Striese had been entrusted ... Herr Schmasow, a comedian who has long ...e made a name with the public. Not only ... clever actor, but others of the cast deserved ... applause the audience lavished upon them. ... amusing piece occupied the bill on both holi...s, the house being crowded each time.

...r the Deutsches Theatre Hebbel's tragedy ...lith was produced after a long interval. It is ... heavy work for such tropical temperature as ... have been having the last few days, and both ...ists and audience suffered somewhat in conse...nce. Nevertheless, the fine acting and superb ...guage impressed the majority, and Fräulein ...ré, in the name-part, achieved a decided ...cess.

...E Ibsen cycle at the Lessing has reached ...a, of which a masterly performance was given ... Monday, with Fräulein Triesch in the title-... The star was called and recalled in response ... enthusiastic applause.

"NUR EIN TRAUM."

...edy, in Three Acts, by Lothar Schmidt, Pro... duced at the Kleines Theatre, May 19.

...ponholz .....HERR ADALBERT
...Sabrin .....HERR MARX
...nna .....FRAULEIN BRANDT
...ausmann .....HERR ZIEGEL
...lsela .....FRAULEIN HORWITZ
...ertha .....FRAULEIN HEGNI
...arnicky .....HERR STERNBERG

...ERLIN, THURSDAY, May 26.—More fuss has ...n made over this little piece than it is worth. ... was contended for by two of our theatres for ...period of six months several years ago, after ...had been prohibited by the authorities, which, ... I have said before, is the best possible adver...ment for any play here. When it was ulti...tely obtained—with certain concessions to the ...orship—by the management of the Berliner ...eatre, it met with a lukewarm reception and ...appeared from the bill after a few perform...ces. The author's justly esteemed name has ...used the revival, and the reception was more ...dial than the last time, a number of improve...nts having been made in the dialogue, which ...very bright and witty. Of the plot there is ...dly anything to be said. Four married people ...ke love to each other's rightful spouse indis...minately, and when the most ardent—a certain ...rl Stabrin—is discovered, he cuts a sorry figure ... promises his wife better behaviour for the ...ure; she, having had her own little amusement ... the quiet, magnanimously forgives him. The ...ength of the piece, such as it is, lies in the ...logue alone, for which Dr. Schmidt is always ...ebrated, and the acting was exceptionally ...od; Herr Marx, in the rôle of the chief sinner ...rl, being admirable.

...wo novelties were produced last week at the ...lks Oper with considerable success—Heimkehr, ... two-act drama, by Clara Blüthgen, and Der ...neral-Direktor, a drama in one act, by Arnim ...tersen. The former made the more favourable ...pression, and justifiably so. It displays unques...nable dramatic talent, and though not without ...lts in construction, there is so much that is natural and human that the audience followed every word with closest attention, and called the authoress repeatedly before the curtain. The plot is briefly the following: A well-to-do business man, whose second marriage, up to a certain point, has been the happiest possible, finds himself suddenly confronted by a terrible problem. He had married when very young a woman who, at a later period, lost her reason, and, the doctors pronouncing her incurable, he obtained a divorce. His daughter by the first wife is now a girl of seventeen and devoted to her stepmother, who is kindness itself to her. After many years' absence the first wife unexpectedly returns, having been dismissed from the asylum as cured. She knows nothing of her husband's second marriage, and the blow is a dreadful one; not only does she suffer, but he, too, and when the unfortunate woman becomes resigned to the inevitable and begs at least that she may have her child, that also is withholden from her, for the girl is frightened of her mother. The meeting between mother and daughter is a pathetic and even tragic scene. In the end the poor desolate woman begs the doctor to take her back with him to the private asylum that she may spend her days as a nurse there. The interpretation was very good on the whole. The second piece was too tragic for a warm summer's evening. An innocent young daughter saves her erring mother from a fatal situation by shooting the brutal rival of her father. What with horror at the scene witnessed, knowing her mother's guilt, and feeling herself a murderess, the girl then turns the revolver against herself. The little piece was well acted and mounted, and the management may be perfectly satisfied with the success of their experiment of turning an operatic stage into a dramatic one.

THE Imperial Russian ballet—the amalgamated forces of the Imperial theatres at St. Petersburg and Moscow—commenced a season at the Theatre des Westens on Saturday, which bids fair to be unusually successful. The programme was a fascinating one. It opened with a mimodrama entitled Cleopatra, which developed a brilliant Oriental picture, with some splendid dancing. Then came dances galore, classical ones by Chopin, bizarre dances, fiery pas-de-deux, wonderful national dances, sentimental and passionate by turns, always executed by beautiful women and lithe men with consummate grace and skill, and the costumes were as handsome as their wearers. The stars of the company are Mlles. Will and Geltzer, but their supporters are all stars of scarcely lesser magnitude.

HERR JOSEF KAINZ, the famous actor of the Imperial Burg, Vienna, has undergone a serious and painful operation at a private hospital in that city. He is now convalescent, but will not act again before the autumn.

DR. RICHARD STRAUSS has been called to Munich to the bedside of his mother, widow of the late Prof. Franz Strauss. She died soon after her son's arrival, having reached the age of 75.

THE GUILDHALL SCHOOL OF MUSIC.

The students' concert on Wednesday evening had many attractive features, and the programme was interesting. Mr. George J. Sims played Liszt's Polonaise in E with a fair amount of success; and Miss Muriel Hay, a very youthful violinist, gave Vieuxtemps' Romance, and Mazurka "Kuiawiak" (Wieniawski), with remarkably good tone and execution. Miss Winnie Browne was heard to much advantage in Coningsby Clarke's pretty song, "O, my garden full of roses" and "As all the maids," by German. In her piano solo Miss Muriel A. Weir took Weber's well known "Il moto perpetuo" at a rapid pace, without any faltering in her execution, and well deserved the hearty applause which followed; while Mr. Archibald Hudson sang "Mountain Lovers" with capital tone and expression. Massenet's charming air, "Ouvre tes yeux bleus" was ably rendered by Miss Dorothy Killik; and a very clever recitation, "The Flower Girl," was given by Miss Mila Philippoff, a promising pupil of Mr. Bassett Roe. Duets are not often heard at students' concerts, and therefore "O, Maritana," from Wallace's opera Maritana, cleverly sung by Miss Irene Alexander and Mr. Alfred Steed, proved a welcome feature in the concert. Miss Edna Bolus was applauded for her skilful piano solo "Toccato Brillante" (J. F. Barnett); while Mr. John Younger sang the "Prologue" to Pagliacci with good intonation, but little artistic or dramatic feeling. Other clever pupils were Miss Norna Clench and Miss Helen Honcke. A scene from Romeo and Juliet was given by Miss Vera Colledge and Miss Nellie Lake, pupils of Miss Kate Rorke, and the concert concluded with "God Save the King."

MR. THOMAS BEECHAM'S new prima donna, Miss Maggie Teyte, has, says the Standard, a career which reads like a romance. Miss Teyte was born at Wolverhampton, but came early to London with her parents. Five years ago, while singing one evening at a small concert, the young girl so impressed a gentleman present by the beauty of her voice that he induced some friends to take an interest in her musical progress, with the result that Miss Teyte was sent to Paris to study with Jean de Reszké. Her first appearance in public in Paris was at Rinaldo Hahn's Mozart Festival, in May, 1906, when she sang with Mme. Lilli Lehmann, M. Ancona, and M. Edouard de Reszké. Both on this occasion and in the following month, when she sang at Jean de Reszké's "at home," the seventeen-year-old English girl made a great hit.

THROUGH the indisposition of a principal Miss Teyte made her début at the Opéra Comique in Circé on April 17, 1907, when she was singled out as the feature of the production by both Press and audience. But the English girl's real conquest of the Parisian music lovers was reserved for her appearance as Mélisande in Debussy's Pélléas et Mélisande on June 13, 1908. She had signed a contract at the Opéra Comique after her success in Circé the year before, but had had to wait a whole year for a part. When her opportunity came, however, Miss Teyte made full use of it, and she scored an immediate triumph.

HER real London début took place in October, 1909, when she attracted considerable notice, singing at numerous important concerts and giving four recitals. Miss Teyte's three years' contract with the Opéra Comique expired this spring, leaving her free to make a name in her own country. However, she returned to Paris recently to create a part in a new opera by Debussy which was being written specially for her, but the production had to be indefinitely postponed, as the work was not completed. While in Paris Miss Teyte was engaged to sing at the American concert given in aid of the victims of the flood, and at another important function at the Palais Musicale.

"MOZART'S operas go remarkably well in English," said Miss Teyte to a representative, "and I love singing them in my native tongue—which, by the way, I do not consider ungrateful to sing in. Last February, in Paris, I signed a contract with Mr. Dippel, in which I had the option to decide this month whether I would appear at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York. I have just concluded not to go to America yet, as I am too keen on my work in London."

"MACBETH" was produced at the Abbey Theatre on the 18th inst. by members of the Dublin School of Elocution, of which Mr. and Mrs. McHardy Flint are the principals. Those artists appeared with distinction in the two principal characters, and their pupils acquitted themselves in a way that won the applause of a crowded house.

THE GERMAN "INDEPENDENT" THEATRES.

The so-called "Freien Volksbühnen" in Germany and Austria have in the course of years, in spite of much opposition both critical and active, developed into an important factor in the intellectual and social life of a cultured people. They have played, and are playing, a part not to be under-estimated in the education of the public, as well as in the development of the drama. From a social-economic point of view these associations of theatre-goers, organised by the public themselves, are a distinct step towards eliminating all the sordid speculative elements from theatrical life. They have already developed into such powerful bodies that they are on the verge of becoming their own caterers, and as employers they will shortly deal direct with their employees.

I.—FREIE VOLKSBUHNE.

The history of the independent theatre in Germany dates back about twenty years, when, in 1889, the "Freie Volksbühne" was formed in Berlin by Brahm and Schlenther, the first performance being young Gerhard Hauptmann's Vor Sonnenaufgang ("Before Sunrise"). By being registered as an association the irksome supervision of the Censor was avoided, and plays of realism, hitherto accessible only in book form, were brought out on the stage. As the result of an appeal in the columns of the Socialistic journal Vorwärts, Herr Bruno Wille, a brilliant young writer, succeeded in organising an association, to which subscribers flocked in great numbers, and the management of which was in the hands of a committee elected from among the members. The monthly subscription, originally fixed at 50 pfennigs (6d.), had to be paid to certain collecting stations, temporarily established prior to the performances in certain shops and inns. The receipt was an adhesive stamp, which was affixed to each membership card. The seats are distributed by ballot, every arrival drawing, on production of his duly stamped membership card, a sealed envelope containing the ticket for his seat. For the convenience of couples or friends who wish to sit together double tickets are arranged. The principle of equality is strictly carried out. Members willing to pay higher contributions do not thereby secure the right of a choice of seats. Only short-sighted members or those hard of hearing, on production of a medical certificate to that effect, are accommodated, as far as possible, in the front rows. The performances take place every Sunday afternoon, and a committee arranges an annual repertory of the plays, performed in regular rotation and by the same troupe; while all members receive gratis an official publication containing introductory and explanatory remarks about the productions. Among the first performances, in 1890, were Ibsen's Pillars of Society, Schiller's Kabale und Liebe ("Intrigue and Love") and The Robbers, and Sudermann's Ehre ("Honour"). In the third year of its existence the association, so auspiciously launched, underwent a trying period of stress and storm. The president, Bruno Wille, and a number of his followers, for reasons of a more or less political nature, broke away and founded a rival association, the "Neue Freie Volksbühne," of which more anon. The parent union, under the presidency of Mehring, continued to flourish, and in 1895 could muster some 8,000 members. It was now that the police succeeded in carrying before the Courts their point that the performances were subject to the supervision of the Censor. As a protest, the association dissolved, but reconstituted itself two years later, under a new and more stringent charter, in which complete freedom from censorship was authoritatively guaranteed. With the steady increase in membership, the theatres available on Sunday afternoons soon no longer sufficed, rents and royalties increased, and thus the monthly subscriptions had repeatedly to be raised. At present, including free use of cloak-rooms and gratis supply of the official organ, the monthly subscriptions amount to about one shilling. This, however, has had no noticeable effect on the component elements of the association. As statistics show, the working classes are in the majority, the total membership being 17,000, with an annual income of £8,000. The tendency of the performances, which are strictly confined to members of the Freie Volksbühne, can best be gleaned from a glance at the list of authors represented. Thus Ibsen tops the list with thirteen plays; next come Shakespeare, Anzengruber, Schnitzler, Hauptmann, with six to eight each; and, finally, Grillparzer, Schiller, Björnson, Hartleben, Shaw, and Sudermann. Only at very rare intervals a light comedy or a farce is performed.

II.—NEUE FREIE VOLKSBUHNE.

Among the founders of this association who followed the leadership of Bruno Wille are many names which have since acquired European fame, such as Max Halbe, Maximilian Harden, Otto Erich Hartleben, Wilhelm von Polenz, Ernst von Wolzogen, and many others. From 1890 to the season of 1904-1905 the association managed its own performances. Theatres without companies were hired, and the necessary artists were engaged individually by selection from different theatres. This was a comparatively simple mode of procedure so long as the association numbered only about 2,000 members, which it did during the first twelve years, but when, after 1903, the membership increased by leaps and bounds, and the field to be covered had to be divided into different sections, it was found more feasible and convenient to engage a theatre and the company en bloc. Frequently a management is asked to stage some play of the association's selection, and thus many a masterpiece has been brought to light, such as Hartleben's Erziehung zur Ehe ("Education for Marriage"), Georg Büchner's Danton's Tod ("Death of Danton"), Leopold Wagner's Kindesmörderin ("Infanticide"), Clara Viebig's Barbara Holzer, and numerous others. The Sunday performances of the association take place simultaneously in eleven of the principal large theatres. In the Deutsches Theater, Neues Theater, Hebbel Theater, and Kammerspiele the performances are limited to members only; but in the other theatres a certain small proportion of the tickets can be purchased by the general public at the box-offices at the ordinary prices of the theatre, which are, of course, considerably higher than those charged through the association. The annual expenditure for the hire of theatres amounts to over £20,000; it is, therefore, quite evident that the Neue Freie Volksbühne is a highly important factor in the theatrical economy of the capital. The ever-increasing numbers of applicants for membership—12,000 have been admitted already in this year—has given rise to the idea of permanently leasing a house of their own. This plan has since ripened into a project of constructing a "Volkskunsthaus," comprising a theatre of 1,500 seats, large and small concert-halls, reading-rooms, library, &c., the plans for which have already been prepared and sanctioned. The only difficulty at the moment is the selection of a suitable site, not mathematically in the centre of the town, where ground is very costly, nor too far away in the suburbs. The question of funds is apparently easily solved. By the simple expedient of raising the monthly subscription by one penny, at which nobody grumbles, a sum of £6,750 has been raised within the comparatively short period of six months towards the total of £20,000, the estimated total cost of the venture. Nor has the aspect of thrift been neglected. Whenever the payments of this additional impost have reached a certain amount, share certificates, bearing interest at the rate of 5 per cent., in the new building syndicate are issued to such members, while the same rate of interest is paid on all capital sums voluntarily contributed as an investment towards the building fund. This structure, however, will not be ready for occupation until the autumn of 1912; meanwhile, in order to satisfy the demands of an ever-increasing membership, the president of the Neue Freie Volksbühne since 1903, Dr. Josef Ettlinger, has personally rented the old Gastspieltheater in the Köpenicker Strasse, in Berlin, which, under the name of Neues Volkstheater, will be run by the association for ten months in the year with a specially engaged company.

A similar association, the Wiener Freie Volksbühne, was started in Vienna in September, 1906, with a membership of 1,200 people, now amounting to 12,000, and commanding an annual income of about £7,000. The Austrian Board of Education, in recognition of their services, has granted them a Government subvention, which has already twice been increased, as their sphere of popular utility has expanded. The opening performance of the Wiener Freie Volksbühne, in September, 1906, was Leonid Andrejew's famous drama To the Stars, then produced for the first time in German. Among other notable productions were Ibsen's Baumeister Solness, Nicolas Gogol's Revisor, and Herbert Eulenberg's Ein halber Held ("Half a Hero").

TRINITY COLLEGE OF MUSIC.

At the Students' Concert on Monday evening Hugo Kaun's Quintett in F minor for piano, violins, viola, and violoncello, Ruhig, mit Empfindung, was performed by Miss Evelyn Withycombe, Miss Mabel Gidden, Miss Olga Corrigan, Mr. James C. Carroll, and Miss Kathleen Thompson, members of the Chamber Music Class. Miss Mabel Hardy sang Recit. "Nei trionfei d'Alessandro" and Aria "Lusinghe più care" with intelligence; but as Handel's Aria requires such sustained tone and expression, Miss Hardy would have been more successful in less exacting music. The "Andante" from Mendelssohn's violin Concerto in E was another ambitious task for a student, although Miss Kathleen Lawler displayed talent, and was much applauded. The most successful items in Monday's concert were "Tears, idle tears," sung by Miss Alice Booth, a clever rendering of Liszt's "Liebestraum" for piano by Miss Eunice Lucas (an advanced pupil of the College), Miss Eva Sly's effective singing of "A Summer Night" (Goring Thomas), and an able performance of Chopin's Ballade in G minor by Miss Briana Prager. Mr. John Priestley sang "Thus saith the Lord" and "... who may abide" (Messiah), Handel, and the concert concluded with an organ solo, Toccata from Symphony V, C. M. Widor, well played by Mr. Harry Gray.

RICHARD STRAUSS, who is finishing a new opera, Der Rosencavalier, at his cottage at Garmisch, Bavaria, has given an interviewer some interesting accounts of his manner of working. "I am always composing," he said, "walking or driving, eating or drinking, at home or abroad, in railway cars and crowded hotel rooms, my sketch-book never leaves me, and as soon as I find a motif I jot it down. One of the most important melodies in my new opera struck me while I was playing schafskoff, a national Bavarian card-game, with the 'upper ten' of my village. The ideas I jot down are, of course, only sketches to be worked out later.

"Before I improvise even the smallest sketch for an opera I allow the text to permeate my thoughts and mature in me for at least six months, so that the situations and characters may be thoroughly assimilated. Then only do I let the musical thought enter my brain. At that time the sub-sketches become sketches. They are copied out, worked out, arranged for the piano, and rearranged as often as four times. That is the hard part of the work; the part scores, the symphonic colouring, which follow, are my recreation. The score I write in my study straight away, without trouble, working at it twelve hours on end."

THE death is announced in Paris of M. Jean Baptiste Théodore Weckerlin, a most industrious musician who in England is probably best known through his charming songs. Born at Guebwiller, in Alsace, on Nov. 9, 1821, M. Weckerlin was brought up to follow his father's trade of cotton dyeing, but his musical temperament soon asserting itself, he left the paternal roof, and betook himself to Paris, entering the Conservatoire in 1844. After four years at this famous institution, where he studied under Elwart and Halévy, he devoted himself to teaching and composition. Before leaving the Conservatoire he had made his début as a composer, in 1847, with a work planned on a large scale for soli, chorus, and orchestra, entitled "Roland."

A ONE-ACT comic opera from his pen, entitled L'Organiste dans l'embarras, was successfully produced at the Théâtre Lyrique, in 1853, after which M. Weckerlin wrote several operettas that were privately performed. A Fontenoy, a one-act opera, was hear at the Théâtre Lyrique in 1877, and a more important work, in four acts, written to a poem in Alsatian dialect, was produced with success at Colmar two years later. Among his other compositions may be mentioned "L'Inde," a symphonic ode; "La Forêt," a symphony; and six choruses for mixed voices, entitled "Les Soirées Parisiennes."

THE songs from the pen of M. Weckerlin numbered over 300, and he also devoted much attention to folk songs, of which he published several collections. He became assistant librarian to the Conservatoire in 1869, and he succeeded Félicien David in 1876 as chief librarian. He occupied the same post in connection with the "Société des Compositeurs." M. Weckerlin also wrote diligently on musical subjects.

IN his interesting "Reminiscences," Mr. Cyril Maude recalls an amusing incident during the rehearsal of The Little Minister at the Haymarket, when poor Mr. J. M. Barrie was nearly killed. "He and I," writes Mr. Maude, "were sitting, as usual, on a sort of little platform built on to the front of the stage, from which we conducted the rehearsal. Unfortunately the railing that surrounded the platform was not of the strongest, and Barrie, who had a habit of lolling about on chairs in somewhat unusual attitudes, leant heavily against it, with his seat tilted up. Smash went the railing, and over he fell into the orchestra. We picked him up, apparently lifeless, and, dismissing the rehearsal, carried him up to my office and laid him on the sofa.

"Happily he soon recovered, and, curiously enough, suffered practically no ill effects from a fall which might conceivably have proved a very serious one. Hardly had the accident occurred than we were visited by the reporter of an enterprising evening paper. 'I hear,' he began, 'that Mr. Barrie has met with a serious accident?' 'Oh, it's nothing,' I replied, cheerily; 'only a bad shock.' 'What?' exclaimed the disappointed emissary, 'no blood?'"

THE annual series of Promenade Concerts at the Theatre Royal, Birmingham, under Mr. Landon Ronald began on Monday, and lasts for three weeks.

THE Saffron Walden Pageant was opened to the general public on Tuesday. The author is Mr. Hugh Cranmer Byng, and Mr. Launcelot Cranmer Byng wrote the lyrics. Nine of the choicest scenes have been selected and rehearsed under the direction of Mr. Brendon Stewart, of Drury Lane. The most realistic was the Walden Fair in 1671, when Queen Katherine, in disguise, visited the fair-ground with attendants, was recognised, and followed to the palace by the eager crowd.

BRITISH EMPIRE SHAKESPEARE SOCIETY.

A fallacy which has been very commonly maintained by doubters of the identity of the play-actor of Stratford-on-Avon with the author of the great literary heritage known as the work of William Shakespeare, has (says the Windsor Magazine in an article on "The British Empire Shakespeare Society) consisted in the frequent statement that Shakespeare himself attained but little glory while he lived, and gained still less tribute from those who came after him within the century or more that followed. It is a point of curiosity that any such view should ever have obtained, either in print or in conversational argument, for, as a matter of fact, the praise of Shakespeare went onward in steady development and accumulation from the tributes of his contemporaries and immediate successors in literature—Rare Ben Jonson," Francis Meres ("the Muses would speak with Shakespeare's fine filed phrase, if they would speak English"), Richard Barnfield, John Weever, Michael Drayton, and others—to the magnificent eulogy of Milton's famous sonnet. And from Milton's time on, through the modish literature of the Restoration period, and the more pedantic feeling of eighteenth-century criticism, appreciation progressed, until the more humane spirit of nineteenth-century letters completed the shrine of appreciation that had gradually been built around the name and work of Stratford's seer. The compiler of "Shakespeare's Centurie of Prayse" gave an interesting survey of the continuity with which homage was paid to Shakespeare throughout the first century after his death, and Mr. C. E. Hughes, in his delightful volume "The Praise of Shakespeare," presents a still more comprehensive record, and one brought down to the tributes of our own day.

It is, however, somewhat curious, but still the fact, that the literary love for Shakespeare's work, and the resulting increase in the study of it, marched steadily onward side by side with a decreasing belief in the poet's plays as entertainments for the theatre-going public, until, by the middle of the Victorian era, only some half-dozen, or but few more than that, of the greater tragedies and comedies could be said any longer to hold the stage. Samuel Phelps, in his memorable management of Sadler's Wells Theatre, did his utmost to remove this reproach, but with the gradual passing of the actors trained in this tradition all but the more admittedly popular of Shakespeare's plays were relegated from the stage to the study again.

Throughout the period that ensued, however-before the full renaissance of the Shakespearean drama on the stage under the enlightened rule of the more literary of our modern actor-managers, the scholastic sense of the value of the Shakespearean repertoire continued steadily to increase in influence, and many sociable circles were formed, in towns and country districts alike, for the reading aloud of Shakespeare's plays by full casts of amateur readers, each of whom brought his or her personality to the representation of an individual character. One remembers how largely one's own early interest in Shakespeare's work was developed, after unillumined grammatical studies of mere textual points, by the reality and the atmosphere of dramatic action imparted for the first time to the printed words by the reading of them with the necessary variety of different voices for different characters. Even when readers were not especially qualified to suggest any very subtle psychology, the mere contrast of voice between two different characters helped importantly to bring out the real significance of dialogue, either in "short cue" passages of quick give-and-take or in the longer and more poetical speeches.

But excellent as was the intention, and, in many cases, the achievement also, of such groups of amateur enthusiasts, they suffered, as a rule, from lack of organisation. For a successful reading a sufficient number of people was the first essential, and how often one used to hear of postponements at the last moment through lack of numerical support within the confines of the one small social circle, while all the time neighbouring enthusiasts, personally unknown to the promoters of the meeting, would have been delighted to give their services!

It was organisation that was wanted—the evolution of some system which would form centres for the suppressed interest of young men and maidens, old men and children, who really wanted to read aloud and hear read aloud the works under the spell of which they had fallen. "The theatre is irresistible," cried Matthew Arnold; "organise the theatre." In this case it was the amateur theatre only, but owing to the vast size of it, organisation was possibly all the more important, certainly all the more essential. It was also the theatre in the largest sense of the term, that is, the Shakespearean drama not as subject-matter only for histrionic interpretation, but as a wide field for literary study and spiritual speculation, fruitful with influences of even national importance.

Some eight years ago Miss Greta Morritt, whose love of the Shakespearean drama led her to follow Matthew Arnold's precept and "organise" scattered enthusiasts already in existence into harmonious league with the many potential adherents of the rising generation, founded the British Empire Shakespeare Society.

In the earlier stages of her scheme Miss Morritt had the benefit of valuable advice and help from the late Sir Henry Irving, who became the first president of the Society; and when the work of correspondence and organisation had outgrown individual effort, Miss Morritt, five years ago, secured the invaluable co-operation of Mr. Acton Bond. Under their joint supervision the Society has extended its branches in all directions, until it has local honorary secretaries in close upon thirty different towns within the British Isles, "from John o' Groats to Land's End," as well as in Ireland, besides some ten in British Colonies.

The Society has had the sympathy and help, from its first stages onward, of many leaders of modern education and social progress, some of whom have contributed valuable lectures for the large audiences which the Society has assembled. Thus the Bishop of Ripon has taken the stage at a matinée in a crowded theatre, and given a notably illuminating address on "The Study of Shakespeare," the Bishop of Bristol has addressed a large gathering of the Society's members and friends, and both have taken part in the reading of plays by local "circles," as have also the Bishop of Knaresborough and the Bishop of Richmond. Canon Talbot has lectured on Macbeth, and Canon Beeching, Professor Boas, Professor Dowden, Sir Oliver Lodge, Mr. Henry Arthur Jones, Major-General Sir R. S. Baden-Powell, Lord Strathcona, and other distinguished public men have addressed meetings.

The vice-presidents of the Society, too, have constantly contributed support in various ways, the actor-managers, Mr. George Alexander, Mr. Lewis Waller, Mr. Arthur Bourchier, Mr. H. B. Irving, and Mr. Forbes-Robertson, by lending their theatres for the public readings of the Society, and by taking part in those readings themselves, and the three last-named have also given interesting lectures. And Lord Howard de Walden, Mr. W. L. Courtney, Sir Charles Mathews, and Mr. Alan Mackinnon, have rendered valuable help to the Society's organisation and development. Many of our leading actors have likewise given the movement hearty support by consenting to add to the interest of its readings by taking a part in them, and eloquent lectures have been given at various branches by Mr. F. R. Benson—on "Shakespeare and the Fuller Life of the People"—Mr. Martin Harvey, and other distinguished players.

LONDON AND SUBURBAN THEATRES.

THE MARLBOROUGH.

On Monday, May 23, the Drama, by Mrs. Morton Powell, entitled

"A GIRL'S TEMPTATION."

Judging from the flattering reception accorded the latest drama from the pen of Mrs. Morton Powell on Monday last, she has once again shown her ability in exactly gauging the pulse of a popular audience. In the play the authoress claims to expose some of the temptations placed in the way of many working girls. Some of the scenes are highly dramatic. As Guy Warren, Mr. Frank V. Fenn, although inclined to be a bit too "stagey," was a success, his manly bearing throughout being most effective, and he deserved all the signs of approval he gained. A most artistic performance is that of Miss Gertrude Gilbert as Kate Stirling, who combines good nature, noble and fearless sentiment, brave self-reliance, and tender womanliness in a part which never relaxes hold upon the sympathies of the audience. Every praise must be accorded to Miss Amy Corallie for her acting of Jemima Jossap, which is one continuous success throughout. Mr. Clifton Earle's Mark Klaw is as cruel, as heartless, and as callous as a villain can be, and has the desired effect of winning him the frequent execrations of the audience, which in this instance is the sincerest compliment. As Lady Constance Heathfield, who aids Klaw in some of his nefarious schemes, Miss Winnie Donnovan brings out with characteristic force the cruel vindictiveness of the character. Miss Louie Walton who plays Mrs. Stirling, makes a deep impression; and Mr. Gerald Nolan is responsible for the dramatic effectiveness of Geoffrey Stirling. Mr. Charles Herbert is well placed as Basile Warren; and Mr. Tom Handley is good as the Hon. Charles Clade. Mr. Fred J. Mace as Jim Judd plays with a right appreciation of the part that is effective and clever; and Miss Blanche Lee as Annie Brown gives a fine character sketch, full of clever points. Mr. W. H. Grande as Moss Isaacstein, Mr. Laurence Whipstone as Hiram Pinch, and Mr. Andrew Clarke as P.C. Lockley ably sustain their parts. For the comedy part of Sammy Sniggles, Mr. Freddie Bentley plays with a great sense of humour, making a great success and keeping the audience in fits of laughter throughout the evening. Miss Constance Crew (Mrs. Fade), Miss Ada Butler (Grace Bearing), and Miss Nellie Clift (Mary Dewar) capably handle their parts, and the play is well staged and well managed by Mr. Fred J. Mace.

THE ELEPHANT AND CASTLE.

On Monday, May 23, the Drama entitled

"THE GIRL OF MY HEART."

Mr. Wentworth Croke's company is presenting that stirring drama of naval and military life The Girl of My Heart. The play is thoroughly reminiscent of sea life, and the characters are well drawn. The scenes depicting the naval court-martial and military prison are followed with intense interest. Mr. Ernest Owtrim makes a handsome and manly hero, Will Stewart, the A.B. who goes through so much to win the girl of his heart. Mr. Henry Hare is so realistic as the black-hearted Major Fulton of Marines that the audience were glad to see him get his quietus. Mr. Ernest Rivarz makes a good Capt. Bridge, R.N.; Mr. Charles Herrick is very dramatic as the deserting Gunner Phillips; Mr. Philip Renouf is a tower of strength as the jolly bo'sun's mate, Ben Larky, and proves himself a great favourite; Mr. Fred Owen Stirling is the obnoxious Peter Swagg; Mr. William P. Sheen scores repeatedly as the henpecked Joshua Bradley; Mr. Morgan Rickards makes the most of his opportunities as Private Tim Hooley; Mr. Arthur Lambton is a dignified Colonel Dickson; Miss Gladys Purnell makes a pretty picture as the sailor's sweetheart, Mary Graham; Miss Marie Auckland plays the part of the mad Jenny Warden powerfully; Miss Florence Harcourt is bright and vivacious as the skittish Sarah Bradley; and Miss Marie Harcourt plays well as Mrs. Stewart.

THE BRIXTON.

On Monday, May 21, the Irish Drama,

"THE SHAUGHRAUN."

This week Dion Boucicault's evergreen drama is being presented by the stock company, with Mr. Newman Maurice as the "broth of a bhoy," Conn, the Shaughraun. In this rôle this clever comedian is seen to advantage, and his business in the Wake scene causes much amusement. Miss May Day is a sweet and artless Moya; and Miss Alice Belmore must be commended for her impersonation of the imperious Claire Ffolliott; Miss Marie Duncan is very attractive as Arte O'Niel; Mr. Charles Simms is capitally cast as the spy Harvey Duff, and his companion in villainy, Corry Kinchela, is well played by Mr. W. H. Porter. An ideal parish priest is found in Mr. Herbert Godard as Father Dolan. Mr. M. St. John is good as the unfortunate Robert Ffolliott. Mr. Charles Dickens is a most engaging English officer as Capt. Molyneaux; Mr. Vincent Loraine is a capital representative of Reilly; Miss Violet O'Neal is admirable as Bridget Madigan; and Miss Norah Reid makes good use of her opportunities as Nancy Malone, as does Miss Norah Layton as Mrs. Kelley. The Shaughraun is prettily mounted and staged, and picturesque scenery is provided.

THE PAVILION.

On Monday, May 23, the Drama entitled

"SAVED FROM THE SEA."

Mr. Ashley Page, Miss Marion Denvil, and the Pavilion company, who are presenting that celebrated drama Saved from the Sea, are given a hearty reception by crowded houses. This sensational and emotional play was first performed at this theatre some fifteen years ago. Mr. Ashley Page as Dan Ellington acts with strength and conviction, winning hearty applause. Mr. Fred Rivers makes excellent use of the opportunities afforded him in the part of Jim Weaver; Mr. Oswald Lingard enacts the rôle of the villain, Peter Scalcher, with power and dramatic skill; Mr. Alexander Bradley is a typical adventurer; Mr. Allan Carruthers extracts much humour from the part of Billy Snooks; Mr. Gwen Kinross is a gifted comedian, and invests the part of Farmer Jenkins with such drollery as to arouse continuous roars of laughter; Inspector Jennings is ably acted by Mr. Carlisle; and Mr. Arthur Estcourt makes an excellent Governor. Miss Marion Denvil plays the heroine, Nance Ellington, with fine dramatic power; as Polly Blake Miss Nellie James captivates the audience; and Miss Phyllis Orme makes an excellent mother.

NEW LYRIC, HAMMERSMITH.

On Monday, May 23, the Play, entitled

"THE SORROWS OF SATAN."

Hammersmith playgoers who appreciate the psychological have an opportunity this week of indulging their fancy by witnessing a mystical play presented in most intense fashion. The Prince Lucio Rimanez of Mr. Arthur Hinton is an admirable conception, the dual side of the character—the demon compelled to tempt man to sin, and the angel who, though fallen, rejoices at the overcoming of temptation — being sustained throughout with force and vigour. The Geoffrey Tempest of Mr. Travis Green lacks nothing in realism, and the part is invested with pathos and dignity. Miss Leila Zillwood is well chosen for the part of Lady Sybil Elton; the final love scene with Prince Lucio holds the audience rapt, whilst her depiction of Lady Sybil's death is quite tragic. Diana Chesney is well portrayed by Miss Shirley Dalton, who has an admirable scene, full of brightness and humour, in which she secures the hand of the aged Lord Elton, a part effectively played by Mr. Arthur Lowry. Miss Mabel Coleman as Mavis Clare wins all hearts by her gentleness and grace; Mr. Benthem and Mr. Ellis, played by Mr. Frank Brunelle and Mr. Harry Sidney, and Mr. Morgenson, the publisher, played by Mr. Clyde Anson, give a slight touch of comedy; whilst Mr. Charlton Morton as Lord Linton, Mr. Arthur Beaufort as Amiel, Mr. Roida Scan as Mr. Gibson, and Miss Maude Evans as the servant, are all efficient.

FULHAM THEATRE.

The Fulham Theatre is for the time being devoted to a special picture season, and the rattle of the cinematograph supplants the declamation of the histrion. Yet not entirely, as a certain number of dramatic sketches are given as well as the pictures. Two performances a night are being given, and the stricter rules of the "legitimate" theatre are relaxed in favour of the smoker, while the prices are, of course, considerably reduced. The first series contains some of the usual comical adventures, some good travel subjects, and two particularly fine films showing the funeral procession of King Edward at Hyde Park Corner and the carrying of the coffin into St. George's Chapel. The pictures are projected by the New Biscope Trading Co. A dramatic sketch concerning the matrimonial delinquencies of two young men and the wrath of their parents, is acted with much vigour by a cast of six. The ever-courteous manager, Mr. Merer, is still on the spot.

THEATRE ROYAL, WOOLWICH.

On Monday, May 23, the Drama, entitled

"ALONE IN LONDON."

The ever-popular drama Alone in London, written by Robert Buchanan and Harriett Jay, is being presented here for the current week by Mr. Chas. Gibbon, by arrangement with Mr. J. F. Elliston. The numerous members of the long cast render their parts in a very efficient manner and evoke much appreciation. The mounting is also worthy of note. Mr. Russell Norrie is well suited to the character of John Biddlecombe, the slow-and-sure miller, which he assumes in a natural manner. Miss Nellie Clyde essays the exacting rôle of Annie Meadows, afterwards known as Nan, the flower girl, very skilfully, and merits commendation for a praiseworthy rendering. As the adventurer and villain Dick Redcliffe Mr. Gerald Jordan distinguishes himself; Mr. Wallace Dunlop is amusing as Spriggins; Miss Laurie O'Neil supplies a clever study of Gipsy Tom; and Mr. J. W. Wilkinson does justice to old Jenkinson. Mr. C. M. Davidson as the benevolent and rich banker Mr. Burnaby acts with sincerity and conviction; Mr. Charles Gibbon maintains a strong hold of the audience as Walter Burnaby; Miss Molly Monaghan offers a capital delineation of Mrs. Maloney, an Irishwoman, and achieves distinction; Miss Irene Stanhope makes a dainty Ruth Clifton, and is successful; Miss Carrie Young contributes a lively impersonation of Liz Jenkinson; Little Paul has an excellent representative in little Hetty Hornsby, who becomes most popular; and Mr Frank Caffrey supplies a goodly amount of comedy relief as Charlie Johnson.

ARTILLERY THEATRE, WOOLWICH.

On Monday, May 23, the Comedy Opera, entitled

"THE MERRY WIDOW."

Mr. Jules Richeux must be congratulated on securing such an exceedingly powerful "draw" as Mr. George Edwardes's company in the record breaking play of The Merry Widow. The opera is lavishly mounted and gorgeously dressed, and the acting and singing are of high artistic merit. Not the least attractive feature of the production is the dance performed by Miss Mary Ridley and Mr. Robert Needham, to the famous waltz refrain, and encores are repeatedly demanded. Miss Mary Ridley, in the title-rôle, invests the part of the Merry Widow with delicacy and feeling, and, being the possessor of a capital voice, she is accorded a flattering reception. Miss Mabel Hope as Natalie supplies an attractive and pleasing study, her vocal numbers being rendered in a charming manner. The character of Baron Popoff, the Marsovian Ambassador, is in the very capable hands of Mr. H. Sinclair Cotter, a comedian of excellent ability, who provokes roars of laughter whenever he is on the stage. Mr. Robert Needham is a clever exponent of the part of Prince Danilo, scoring heavily in a very humorous characterisation. Mr. Ronald Pomeroy as Vicomte Camille de Jolidon has an admirable and powerful voice, which he uses to the best advantage, and is entirely successful. Nisch is a most comical personage, as played by Mr. Harry Emeric, whose agile dancing is much appreciated. Miss Nesta Laurel as Frou-Frou also achieves distinction as a dancer. Minor characters in the cast are all undertaken by members of experience and ability.

DALSTON THEATRE.

On Monday, May 23, the Drama, entitled

"A BEAUTIFUL FIEND."

Mr. Montague Beaudyn is presenting A Beautiful Fiend to appreciative audiences. Mr. Herbert Skardon as Major Ivan Paulovitch, of the Russian Police, acts with a good deal of vigour and natural dignity, and is vigorously applauded as Count Fedor Karateff, of the Imperial Guards. Mr. Hugh Carmichael acts the autocrat to the life; and Mr. Howard Hardy as Sergius Strogoff gives a polished performance. Nadine Strogoff, a Russian heiress, has a pleasing representative in Miss Netta Mitchell; Miss Sidney Crowe as Wanda Lubinoff takes the palm as a representative of female villainy, sustaining the character faithfully to the bitter end; Miss Anena Walton is a success as Patty Woodlands, maid to Nadine; and Mr. Henry Hellier as Malachai and Mr. Bert Woodin as Christopher Crackles make a decidedly comical couple.

THE BROADWAY, S.E.

On Monday, May 23, the Farcical Play entitled

"THE BRASS BOTTLE."

A bright and amusing bill this week consists of The Brass Bottle, which has delighted frequenters of this theatre and kept them laughing at the many farcical incidents until the fall of the curtain. The play is admirably acted throughout. Mr. Lawrence Grossmith is exactly suited to the part of Horace Ventimore, which he plays capitally, making the most of the many chances in the part; Mr. Holman Clark is a capital Fakrash-el-Ramash, the Spirit of the Bottle; Mr. Percy Marshall gives a highly-humorous portrait of the Professor; as Spencer Pringle Mr. Rudge Harding is really excellent; Mr. Luigi Lablache gives a clever rendering of Samuel Wackerbath; Mr. Harry Norton as Rapkin is very amusing; as are Messrs. A. Spencer and V. Holman in their respective parts. Miss Lena Haliday is a charming Mrs. Futvoye; Miss Sylvia Futvoye has an attractive representative in Miss Viva Birkett; Miss Mary Brough plays Mrs. Rapkin in her own inimitable fashion; and Miss Armine Grace, Miss Gladys Story, and Miss Meda de Burgh all give valuable assistance.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE, N.

The programme for the last few weeks at the Alexandra Theatre has consisted of a cinematograph entertainment, with a farce introduced about half way through the evening to lend variety to the proceedings. This week the farce selected is Brough and Halliday's The Area Belle, one of the many pieces founded on the theme of "high life below stairs." Penelope, the belle of the area, who entertains her various lovers in the kitchen in the absence of her mistress, has a pert and alert representative in Miss Gertrude Melville, who infuses a considerable amount of go and spirit into her impersonation. Her two principal lovers, Pitcher, the policeman, and Tosser, the soldier, have adequate exponents in Mr. Henry J. Corner and Mr. Henry Hallatt, who extract all the possible fun out of the material at their command; Walker Chalks, the milkman, is played by Mr. J. J. Daly with a certain idea of character; and Mr. Ridgewood Barrie appears as Snooks, a sweep. Mrs. Lorraine as Mrs. Croker, Penelope's mistress, is duly truculent and overbearing.

Of the films shown this week, the best and undoubtedly most popular one is that depicting scenes of the funeral of our late King from the time of its leaving Westminster Hall to its arrival at St. George's Chapel at Windsor. To those not privileged to witness the actual procession no better means could be afforded of forming an idea of the grandeur and solemnity of last week's sad and historic pageant. Cheese and Kisses and Calino's Dinner-Party, on the lighter side, provoke plenty of laughter; whilst the doings of the hero Lieut. Rose and the Foreign Spy evoke enthusiastic applause. The Centurion's Daughter, a story of Rome in the time of Nero, Rebellious Betty, The Little Orphan, and His Spanish Wife are amongst the other pictures shown. Smoking is now permitted in the theatre, and good houses are attracted by the management's change of policy.

BOROUGH THEATRE, STRATFORD.

On Monday, May 23, the Drama, by Hall Caine, entitled

"THE BONDMAN."

The return visit of Mr. Wentworth Croke's company, in The Bondman, attracted a very large audience to the Borough Theatre, on the opening night of the week. Several changes have taken place in the cast since the piece was here before, and, without making invidious comparisons, we must say that we do not remember this powerful play previously taking such a grip as it did upon Monday's audience. This was especially noticeable in the sulphur mines scene, when the half-brothers, Michael and Jason, are together after the explosion. The ill-starred Jason is debating whether to fetch his wounded brother some much-needed water, and the involuntary encouragement in the applause is unmistakable. The piece is splendidly staged, and this strong booking should find its due reflection in the box-office receipts. Mr. Stanley Harrison, as Jason, possesses the necessary physical attributes for the part, has an agreeably distinct delivery, and acts throughout with vigour and variety. Mr. Philip Darien portrays the varying fortunes of Michael Sunlocks with ease and fluency, and looks the part well. As Greeba Miss Violet Macaree displays much histrionic ability, but a tendency to speak too quickly should be avoided. Miss Madge Lanerton plays the sharp-tongued Mrs. Fairbrother to the manner born; and Adam Fairbrother has a genial representative in Mr. Wilfred Beckwith. Mr. W. H. Rotherham portrays the simple senility of the Grandfather very aptly, and is subsequently seen to much advantage as the reformed priest, Father Ferrati. Mr. Fred J. Waller portrays the plotting Dr. Boni with subtle strength; Mr. Alfred Fisher plays capitally as the brusque, over-bearing Governor Festa; and Mr. Cecil H. Ford is well placed as the Marshal of Police; Miss Emilie Mayhew is excellent as Christian Anne; and the child Mona is intelligently played by Miss Beatrice Hughes. Remaining parts in a long cast are all satisfactorily filled.

THEATRE ROYAL, STRATFORD.

On Monday, May 23, the Drama, by Dion Boucicault, entitled

"THE LIFE OF AN ACTRESS."

For the second week of his engagement at the Stratford Theatre Royal, Mr. A. B. Mackay is presenting Dion Boucicault's old-time success, The Life of an Actress; or, Grimaldi, the Clown, and the piece is playing to excellent business. As the aged histrion Grimaldi, whose love for his adopted child Violet is his one solace, Mr. A. B. Mackay very cleverly blends the mannerisms, petulance, and childish humour with the remaining undimmed ability of the former clown, and his performance is decidedly popular. Miss Ida Mackay as Violet, the actress, who makes her début under Grimaldi's tuition, looks very becoming, and acts with grace and animation. Mr. E. Finlay plays forcibly as Maltravers; and Mr. L. Newman is a robust representative of Lord Arthur Shafton. Mr. Graham Hamlyn plays the insipid Dudley Selwyn very appropriately; and Mr. W. C. Black is really good as Mr. Wapshott. Miss Lillie Lewis plays Julia in suitable cynical style; and Mrs. Corlass, in the dual rôle of Bridget and Lady Beaumarris is entirely satisfactory. Mr. J. Corlass, Mr. J. Brown, Mr. A. Leslie, and Miss T. Leighton complete an able cast. For Friday night Trilby was in the bill with Mr. A. B. Mackay as Svengali.

MME. KATE FLINN'S "AT HOME."

On Wednesday afternoon, at 11, Henrietta-street, Cavendish-square, Mme. Kate Flinn gave a very successful musical "At Home," at which several of Mme. Flinn's pupils greatly distinguished themselves. Among the guests invited were Mrs. Kendal, Miss Fanny Brough, Sir Charles and Lady Friswell, Lady Glover, Lady Prescott, Lady St. Davids, Mrs. Alfred Bishop, Dr. and Mrs. Knowsley Sibley, Mr. and Mrs. R. Strauss, Mrs. Robert Kerr, Miss Sarah Brooke, Lady Huntington, Sir Alfred and Lady Turner, Lady Taverner, Col. and Mrs. Gore, Mr. and Mrs. James Welch, Lady Rivett-Carnac, Sir Lucius and Lady Selfe, Lady Bloomfield, Mrs. Tobin, Mrs. Coleman, and many others.

The charming "Barcarolle" of Offenbach from the opera Tales of Hoffman was most ably sung by Miss Ruby Cobbett and Miss Millicent Le Hay, and Miss Erwin greatly pleased the audience by her skilful rendering of "Caro Nome," from Verdi's opera, by no means an easy task under more favourable conditions than at a crowded "At Home." Miss Elsie Trowell was also very successful in her recitation "Devil May Care," and Miss Muriel Franlinsky gave Arditi's favourite waltz song "Il Bacio" with considerable ability. To vary the vocal items, Mr. Sivori Levey, in songs at the piano, gave the audience good advice on the principle that "many a true word is spoken in jest." Mr. Levey's first song was "Smile," and, as this so pleased, he followed it by "Don't worry," an excellent thing to remember at all times, if one only can. Mr. G. Harding, who has a very pleasing voice, sang "Beauty's Eyes," while Miss Daphne Glenne, of Daly's Theatre, charmed the audience with a pretty song. A well-played violin solo was given by Miss Trowell, and other talented pupils of Mme. Flinn were Miss Houlder, Miss Von Taysen, and a clever child performer, Miss Corona Van Homan.

M. Mlynarski has been appointed conductor of the concerts of the Glasgow Choral and Orchestral Union for next season. He is an able conductor, but one cannot help regretting that a native conductor could not have been found to succeed Dr. Cowen.

One of the shortest strikes on record broke out at the Théâtre Antoine on Wednesday night. The piece now being played at this theatre is La Fille Elisa. One of the scenes represents an Assize Court, and when the time arrived for the stage-hands to prepare it they came out on strike, declaring that they would remain out unless the foreman, of whom they had to complain, was discharged. The manager pointed out that the action of the stage-hands was singular, and that he himself would be seriously affected by the strike, even though the men had no fault to find with him in his treatment of them. The strikers saw the manager's point. They confessed that he had done them no wrong. They returned to their work, set the scene for the Assize Court, and the performance was resumed. After the play there were further explanations, and the strike, which had lasted exactly ten minutes, was declared at an end.

'THE MASTER OF THE MILL."

Drama, in Four Acts, Adapted from a story of the same name by Henry St. John Cooper, Produced at the Shakespeare, Clapham, on Monday, May 23.

John Greenfield ..... Mr. Lawrence Derrick
Tom Bolton ..... Mr. Riddell Robinson
Julian Croft ..... Mr. Edward Thane
Adam Davenport ..... Mr. Edwin Bennett
Braithwaite ..... Mr. J. W. Hooper
Dykes ..... Mr. Stephen Nicholls
Collins ..... Mr. Martin Sands
Mr. Furnival ..... Mr. Herbert Stevens
Inspector Rawlings ..... Mr. Frank Ward
Nibbley ..... Mr. Jack West
Tackett ..... Mr. Will Crook
Phillip Darton ..... Mr. Jack Martin
Nancy ..... Miss Kathleen Russell
Mrs. Ray ..... Miss Annie Barclay
Isabel Ware ..... Miss Mary Allestree
Kate Rigby ..... Miss Alice Chapin
First Mill Girl ..... Miss Dinah Wright

All the necessary ingredients of a popular melodrama—exciting situations, telling lines, and plenty of comedy relief—are to be found in The Master of the Mill, produced at the Shakespeare, Clapham, on Monday. Mr. H. St. John Cooper has written an interesting play, but it would be an improvement to dispense with one or two of the scenes, and present it in three acts instead of four, some of the interruptions being unnecessary. The play opens in the woods of Chevedon Manor, the home of "the master of the mill," old John Greenfield. He has two nephews, Tom Bolton and Julian Croft—respectively hero and villain. Julian easily succeeds by lying tales in stirring up strife between Tom and his uncle, and the former decides to turn out from the old home and seek employment, a friend, Adam Davenport, gladly offering him a humble position in his mill. Tom has fallen in love with a mill lass, Nancy Ray, and becomes a lodger in her mother's house. He has previously declined to engage himself to an heiress, Isabel Ware, much to the chagrin of his uncle and the joy of Julian, who is anxious to wed that lady himself. Isabel, piqued at Tom's indifference, swears to be revenged, and, of course, is aided by Julian. That smooth-tongued scoundrel, however has forgotten for the moment his marriage to Kate Rigby, whom he has wedded under the name of Tom Bolton, and deserted, and who is now a "drifting straw on the ocean of life"—a weak, degraded creature, whose only consolation is the gin bottle.

Tom's mates at the mill—especially Collins a work-shy—have taken a violent antipathy to him, thinking he has been taken on as a spy, and show their dislike to him in unmistakable fashion; but when they enter his lodgings and try and prevent him going to see his uncle who is seriously ill, he speedily clears them out of the way. He is now married to Nancy, and in the next scene introduces his wife to his uncle just as the latter is expiring, and thus thwarts Julian, who would have been Greenfield's heir if Bolton had not married before the old man's death. In the next scene Tom is master at the Manor House, but he is far from happy, being estranged from his wife, whom he accuses of tricking him into the marriage on learning the terms of Greenfield's will. The distraught Nancy pleads to be allowed to go back to work at the mill, but Tom will not give his consent. Still believing that his cousin Julian is his best friend Tom allows that worthy and Isabel to remain at the Manor House. Here Kate turns up to remind her husband of her existence, and is promptly strangled by that scoundrel, her body being hidden in a coppice. Isabel, unknown to Julian, has witnessed the crime. Of course, Tom is accused of the murder, and as the marriage certificate found on the dead woman's body bears the name of Tom Bolton, the evidence is strong against him.

The wronged Nancy and Adam Devonport are the only ones who stand by him, and eventually they come across Philip Darton, a broken-down adventurer, who was a witness of Julian's marriage and can identify him. Julian has, however, previously come to terms with Philip to keep silent but has neglected to pay over the money promised. Isabel, in a delirium which accompanies an illness, denounces Julian as the murderer of his wife, and the villain is on the point of killing her also, but is interrupted by the entrance of Nancy. Ere husband and wife are reunited, however, he adds another murder to his account by despatching Darton, and is then marched off to durance vile, glorying in his crime.

The piece was creditably enacted throughout, but some of the principals will be seen to better advantage when they are more familiar with their lines. Mr. Lawrence Derrick was a capable and careful representative of John Greenfield, particularly affecting being the scene where the dying old man learns how cruelly he has wronged Tom. Mr. Riddell Robinson gave an earnest and convincing enactment of the hero, especially natural being his acting in the lighter episodes of the play, where he makes love to Nancy, his portrayal of Tom's anguish when he imagines his wife has wedded him for his money also being effective. Villainy had a polished and plausible portrayal from Mr. Edward Thane, who can be complimented on an excellent performance throughout; and Mr. Edwin Bennett had a very thankful rôle in the good-natured and gallant Adam Davenport, and contributed an easy and effective representation. Especially meritorious was Mr. J. W. Hooper as Braithwaite, a bibulous "work shy," the business and behaviour generally of this amusing character being very cleverly thought out and executed by the actor; and Dykes, an individual of the same kidney, was also humorously undertaken by Mr. Stephen Nicholls. Mr. Martin Sands deserving credit for a powerful performance of the ill-tempered, disappointed Collins. As the dilapidated Darton, the broken-down swell of an adventurer, Mr. Jack Martin was responsible for a quietly humorous and very effective study; and the other male parts were all ably undertaken. Miss Kathleen Russell, alike as the poor mill-girl and afterwards as the wife of Tom, submitted a very pleasing and natural portrayal, especially pathetic being the scene where she implores Tom to believe that her love for him is sincere, and her handling of the prison-scene was also excellent, her impersonation throughout being entirely praiseworthy. Miss Mary Allestree cleverly suggested the jealousy of Isabel Ware, and the episode where she denounces Julian as the murderer of Kate Rigby was realistically enacted; and the gin-sodden Kate was also a clever study by Miss Alice Chapin, the actress faithfully depicting all the unpleasant features of this difficult character. The loquacious, but good-hearted Mrs. Ray was naturally played by Miss Annie Barclay, and soon became a great favourite. The scenery fulfilled all requirements, the scene outside Low's Mills being particularly effective.

RE BAD BUSINESS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

Sir,—As we have heard so many conflicting reports lately of both good and bad business, and of the detriment to theatres of the picture palaces, it may interest my brother touring acting-managers to know what can be done with an animated picture performance. My final return at the Crystal Palace Theatre on Whit Monday (first house) resulted in a total gross taking of 2s. 4d.—Yours faithfully, WENTWORTH CROKE.

17, Shaftesbury-avenue, W., May 23.

Mr. Albert Leigh, of the Theatre Royal, Ilkeston, paid salaries in full last week (the occasion of the King's funeral). This was much appreciated by the artists engaged.

THE ALDBOURNE PLAYERS AT THE CORONET.

On Monday, May 23, for the First Time in London, the Cottage Drama, in Four Acts, by Charles M'Evoy, entitled,

"THE VILLAGE WEDDING."

Sarah Picter ..... Miss Mabel Hedges
Robert Beal ..... Mr. Charles Martin
Daisy Picter ..... Miss Alice Cook
Lizzy Beal ..... Miss Agnes Stroud
Fanny Picter ..... Miss Edith Palmer
Polly Saunders ..... Miss Lilian Lake
George Hicks ..... Mr. Charles Tucker
Dick Strong ..... Mr. Edward Hawkins
William Picter ..... Mr. George Jerram
Albert Black ..... Mr. John Orchard
A Tramp ..... Mr. William Freemantle
A Gamekeeper ..... Mr. John Tucker
Second Gamekeeper ..... Mr. E. Sheppherd
A Policeman ..... Mr. E. Barns

Unique entertainment is presented at the Coronet Theatre this week, Mr. Charles M'Evoy having brought his company of rustic players from the Wiltshire village of Aldbourne, where his play was first produced on the afternoon of Feb. 26, in the presence of many distinguished visitors. The Village Wedding is a simple story, simply told, what little action there is not being always convincing; and an introduced scene of a poaching affray is the least real thing in the play. But the studies of character are delightful, the somewhat solemn wedding festivities being very amusing, and the performance as a whole proved most enjoyable.

The scene of the first act is old Robert Beal's cottage, where preparations are being made for the marriage of his daughter Lizzie and George Hicks. The old man is too infirm to go to the church, and is left in charge of a little girl, Daisy Picter. A tramp calls, and is admitted, and eventually freely partakes of beer, the old man also imbibing more than is good for him. The wedding is, of course, the topic of conversation, and Beal tells the tramp a story of a certain Dan, a relative, who has been in Canada for years, and has left a suit of black clothes in Robert's charge. The tramp, whilst Robert is dozing, finds out where the clothes are kept, takes them, and then leaves. The next scene is a representation of the wedding festivities, the most exhilarating item of which is the dance. Songs and speeches are indulged in, the attempts at oratory of two of the male guests being very funny.

A song is interrupted by the appearance of the tramp, dressed in the stolen suit. He poses as the relative from Canada, and is made welcome, and eventually George's friends persuade the bridegroom to take advantage of the moonlight night, and go with them in search of birds, Lizzie being left alone. The new act is then introduced, showing George and his friends snaring rabbits, and the struggle with the keepers and police, and capture of the party. The tramp escapes, and returns to the cottage, where he finds Lizzie sitting up for her husband. Taking advantage of her loneliness, he tries to kiss her, but she repulses his unwelcome attentions, and cries for help. After a rather prolonged struggle, old Beal, who had retired upstairs to rest, comes down, armed with a gun, and threatens to shoot the tramp if he moves. The scamp throws up his arms, and is kept in that position till the arrival of George and his friends, when he receives a severe pummelling, and is at last allowed to get away, Lizzie and George becoming reconciled.

All the players faithfully realize the characters they represent, and their acting is apparently quite unstudied. A fine presentment of senility, not in the least over-coloured, is that of Mr. Charles Martin as old Robert Beal; the sedate Sarah Picter of Miss Mabel Hedges is a most realistic creation; the sheepish bridegroom, George, and his wife, Lizzie, were admirably portrayed by Mr. Charles Tucker and Miss Agnes Stroud; the two male guests, William Picter and Dick Strong, were amusingly limned by Mr. Edward Hawkins and Mr George Jerram; and the little maid, Daisy Picter, who is inclined to resent the commanding attitude of the tramp, is carefully played by Miss Alice Cook. The other players all contribute valuably to this realistic picture of English village life, and the enterprise of Mr. M'Evoy in providing Londoners with such a novel and interesting entertainment should find appreciation in large audiences during the remainder of the visit of the Aldbourne actors.

COMPLIMENTARY MATINEE TO MR. EDWARD RUSSELL.

QUEEN'S THEATRE, SHAFTESBURY-AVENUE, FRIDAY, JUNE 3, 1910.

For the past forty years Mr. Edward (Teddy) Russell has been connected with the management of several of the leading London theatres. In the early 'eighties he was lessee and manager of the Haymarket, the interests of which he acquired from the Bancrofts, whom he succeeded, and his management was marked by several successful productions, including that powerful play, Jim the Penman, in which Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree and Mr. E. S. Willard took the leading characters.

In the 'seventies Mr. Russell filled the responsible position of acting-manager to Mr. H. L. Bateman at the Lyceum and subsequently fulfilled similar duties for Henry Irving, thus continuing an early friendship which lasted for more than fifty years.

In more recent times fortune has not smiled too kindly on Mr. Russell, and in August last he was the unfortunate victim of a taxi-cab accident, owing to which he has been unable to carry out some important work he had in hand. An action against the cab company was settled out of court by his solicitor, who received the money, but Mr. Russell was unable to obtain a settlement. The solicitor in question committed suicide in February last, leaving a bankrupt estate, with the result that Mr. Russell will never get a penny of the money due to him.

In these unfortunate circumstances Mr. Russell, after many years of strenuous effort, in impaired health and strength and without resources of any kind, is reluctantly compelled to appeal to friends to stretch forth a helping hand. By kind permission of Mr. H. B. Irving a complimentary matinée will be held at the Queen's Theatre, Shaftesbury-avenue, on Friday, June 3 next. Subjoined is a list of those who have already promised their support: Chairman, Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree; Mr. H. B. Irving, Mr. Fred Terry, Mr. E. S. Willard, Mr. Edward Terry, Mr. F. H. Pedgrift, Mr. Brandon Thomas, Mr. John Beauchamp, Mr. C. Sugden, Mr. Edward Gurney, Mr. Sydney Paxton, Mr. Norman Forbes, Mr. Holmes Gore, Mr. E. C. Maurice, Mr. T. P. Haynes, Lady Tree, Sir Arthur Wing Pinero, Mr. Cyril Maude, Mr. J. Comyns Carr, Mr. Harry Nicholls, Mr. J. H. Barnes, Mr. George Giddens, Mr. Harry Paulton, Mr. J. D. Beveridge, Mr. James Fernandez, Mr. Frank Cooper, Mr. Ernest Leicester, Mr. Forbes Dawson, Mr. C. Dodsworth, Miss Ellen Terry. Those desirous of assisting in the good cause will oblige by communicating with Herbert Blackmore (hon. sec.), 11, Garrick-street, Covent Garden, London, W.C.

On Wednesday, at the Boudoir Theatre, Pembroke-gardens, the Poetry Recital Society presented abridged versions of the Prologue to the Canterbury Tales the Pardoner's Tale and the Nuns' Priest's Tale in the costume and the pronunciation of the fourteenth century. The arrangements for the performance had their origin in the production last year, at University College, of several excerpts from Shakespeare's plays rendered according to the accepted Shakespearean pronunciation.

MR. FRANK CURZON LIBELLED.

In the Court of King's Bench, on Thursday, before Mr. Justice Darling and a special jury, Mr. Frank Curzon, the well-known theatrical manager, sued Mr. Philip Ellissen, stockbroker, for damages for an alleged slander. The defendant denied that the words complained of bore the meaning which had been put upon them.

Mr. Marshall Hall, K.C., who appeared for the plaintiff, said that the action had been brought, not for the purpose of obtaining damages, but with the object of putting a stop to a rumour which had been circulated with regard to the relations between Mr. Curzon and his wife. In 1908 Mr. Curzon, having information which he thought he could rely on, presented a petition for divorce, but it was subsequently withdrawn. He and his wife separated. Mr. Curzon was a man of large means, and the words of which he complained imputed that he had acted very discreditably. On Oct. 9 Mr. Ellissen was at a house to which members of the theatrical profession resorted—the Corner House, opposite the Prince of Wales's Theatre—and in the presence of several persons he made the following statement:—

"Curzon deserted his wife, leaving her practically penniless and dependent on her people. He brought a divorce suit against her merely as a bluff."

Mr. Curzon wrote to Mr. Ellissen as follows: "My dear Ellissen,—It has been repeated to me that on Saturday last in the Corner House you publicly made a false statement concerning myself—namely that I had 'deserted my wife, leaving her practically penniless and dependent on her people,' and further, that I 'brought a divorce suit against her merely as a bluff.' Both statements are absolutely false and slanderous. Will you kindly give me the name of your informant?"

In reply Mr. Ellissen wrote:

"Dear Frank,—I was surprised to receive your letter this morning. I could not if I would give you the name of my informant, because I do not remember it. I did hear the rumours, which I foolishly repeated. It is no use asking me to give the name, but I am willing to make any reparation possible."

If people repeated statements of this kind, counsel said, they were personally responsible. Mr. Curzon would go into the witness-box and produce books to show that so far from leaving his wife penniless he made her an allowance of more than £25 a week.

Mr. Justice Darling: What more could Mr. Ellissen have done? In a letter to Mr. Curzon's solicitor he says: "I have received your letter. As I wrote to Mr. Curzon, I could not give him the name of my informant, because I do not remember it. I regret very much having caused annoyance by repeating this gossip, and am willing to make any reparation possible." He repeated in the Corner House gossip which I suppose he had heard in another corner house.

Mr. Marshall Hall: I submit that Mr. Curzon is entitled to come here and show that there is no foundation for the injurious statements.

His Lordship: There is no plea of justification on the record, and I cannot allow Mr. Curzon to use this court for proving what is not in issue. Nobody says that he did not make his wife an allowance, and the court cannot be used as a kind of annexe to the Corner House to correct what is said there.

Mr. Marshall Hall: I contend that Mr. Curzon is entitled to go into the witness-box and deny that there is any truth in the statements which Mr. Ellissen repeated.

His Lordship: Mr. Curzon can do that, but he cannot produce books showing that he has made his wife a certain allowance, because that point is not in issue.

Mr. Curzon, examined, said the statements of which he complained caused him considerable pain and annoyance. They were absolutely untrue. He left his wife in October, 1906, for very good cause; he did not approve of the people she associated with. He made her a liberal allowance amounting to over £25 a week, and it was paid regularly.

Mr. Hogg, at this stage, said Mr. Ellissen was perfectly willing to express publicly in court what he had already said privately, that he regretted very much that he should have been misled into uttering statements which he now believed to be quite without foundation. Mr. Ellissen would indemnify Mr. Curzon against any expenses to which he had been put.

His Lordship: That means there will be judgment for Mr. Curzon for 1s. and the costs of the action.

AN interesting little ceremony was carried out in the Londonderry Opera House on Monday night, when Mr. Payne Seddon presented his manager, Mr. Warton, with a purse of gold on the occasion of his benefit night. In the course of a felicitous little speech, Mr. Payne Seddon said that in the making of a successful manager he would award points as at a cattle show. He would give 25 points for maintaining the comfort of patrons, keeping good order, and cleanliness; he would give another 25 points for gauging the public taste correctly; and he would give 25 points for giving satisfaction to the employer. The last 25 points would be the most difficult to earn. He would be a good manager, indeed, who could suit everybody. (Laughter.). Mr. Payne Seddon added Mr. Warton was the best manager he had ever had, and announced, amid applause, that he had secured a contract with him for next year.

LATER, Mr. Seddon outlined to his patrons a scheme of improvements he intends to carry out during the vacation, which includes better exits from the dress circles and stalls. Mr. Seddon declared that this year had surpassed all others, and he also made the important announcement that he intended to turn his Irish business into a public company, so that his patrons might participate in the profits as well as the fare provided.

"FIFTY YEARS IN THEATRICAL MANAGEMENT" is the title of a book about to be issued by Mr. M. B. Leavitt, a name well known in the theatrical world on both sides of the Atlantic. It is intended to be a volume of history, reminiscence, and anecdote, and the comprehensive nature of the work may be gathered from the headings, which include The Beginning of the Theatrical Circuit System in America, The Commercialism of the Theatre at the Present Time, The New Theatre: Its Aims and Possibilities, The Theatrical Clubs of New York and London, Dramatic Stars of the American and English Stage, A Comparison of the Theatres of New York and London, The Personalities of the Dramatic and Musical Critics of England and America, and The Actor-Managers of America and England.

MR. T. F. DOYLE, the general manager of the Theatre Royal, Bradford, has reached his fiftieth year in the profession, and a movement has been set on foot by a committee of influential gentlemen of Bradford to present him with a recognition of his services to the stage and the public. Mr. Doyle has had a vast experience, and began his professional career as a super at the Surrey Theatre, and during his half century of stage life has played with such stars as Jefferson, J. L. Toole, Sims Reeves, Barry Sullivan, Charles Matthews, Phelps, Compton, Charles Dillon, T. C. King, Mr. and Mrs. Kendal, Miss Ellen Terry, Nelly Farren, and Adelaide Neilson. He has been connected with the city of Bradford for the last thirty years.

DEATH OF MR. HENRY TAYLOR.

Widespread regret will be expressed throughout the whole of the theatrical world at the death of Mr. Henry Taylor, who for many years directed the Lyceum Theatre, Crewe. Mr. Taylor was known throughout the country, and for something like twenty-seven years held sway at the popular Crewe establishment. Mr. Taylor—known in the profession as "Harry"—died rather suddenly at Cheadle, Manchester, late on Wednesday night, and much sympathy will be expressed with his bereaved family.

The deceased was sixty-eight years of age, and had been in the business practically all his life. His association with matters theatrical began in the fifties, when he became connected with the stock company under the direction of the late F. B. Egan at the Old Queen's Theatre in Spring-gardens, Manchester, of which city he was a native. During the time Mr. Taylor remained a member of the Queen's company he was associated with such well-known artists as Walter Montgomery, M'Kean Buchanan, Mme. Celeste, William M'Intyre, and Charles Horsman, all of whom, though familiar to last century playgoers, have since "gone over to the majority." Mr. Taylor was afterwards associated with stock companies in the North Staffordshire circuit, but experiences of the "bogus" manager—who existed at so remote a date as the early sixties—estranged him from the profession for some time. He went abroad, and spent four-and-a-half years in travels, which extended to Vancouver Island, the ports in Puget Sound and California, the Sandwich Islands, Chili, and Peru. During his sojourn in these countries he had opportunities of renewing his acquaintance with Mr. M'Kean Buchanan and Miss Emily Thorne in San Francisco.

On his return to England Mr. Taylor established himself in Crewe as a printer, and nearly twenty years ago, after being associated for many seasons with a number of amateurs, he conceived and carried out the idea of founding a theatre in the town of his adoption. For a number of years the improvised temple of the drama served to accommodate the somewhat scanty audiences who patronised this class of entertainment; but there was much local prejudice to combat, and many a wordy newspaper war, in which Mr. Taylor always managed to hold his own, had to be fought in defence of the theatre as an institution and the drama as an elevating form of entertainment. In 1887 the present pretty and well-appointed theatre was built and opened on the site of the old Lyceum (opened in 1881), the proprietors being a limited company for whom Mr. Taylor was the manager. Eventually he became the lessee and manager, still retaining a considerable holding in the limited company, a position which he retained up to a couple of years ago. From his patrons Mr. Taylor annually received warm evidence of the esteem in which he was held by the crowded houses which greeted him on the pleasant anniversaries of his benefit. For a number of years Mr. Taylor occupied uninterruptedly a seat on the Crewe Town Council, of which body he was a most active member.

[Photo by Bullock.

THE LATE HENRY TAYLOR.

AT Lambeth Coroner's Court on the 19th inst. Mr. Troutbeck held an inquest on the body of Ellen Fletcher, aged 74, of Guinness Buildings, Vauxhall, who was found dead in her room. The deceased lady was the widow of Mr. Charles P. Fletcher, professionally known as C. P. Flockton, a well-known London actor, who died in San Francisco in July, 1904. Mr. Fletcher played many parts at the Charing Cross Theatre, the old Globe Theatre in Newcastle-street, Strand (when Harry Montague ran that house in the seventies), at the St. James's Theatre, and at the Opera Comique.

A WITNESS who had known Mrs. Fletcher for twelve years, said that of late she had been eccentric, and would not allow anyone in her rooms. The old lady was heard moving about on the Sunday, and on Tuesday, as she had not been seen, an entry was effected, and she was found dead on the floor of her bedroom. Medical evidence was given that death was due to heart failure, and a verdict of death from natural causes was returned.

IN consequence of the death of His Majesty King Edward VII., the Shakespeare ball, in aid of the funds of the Shakespeare Memorial National Theatre, which was to have been held at the Albert Hall on June 27, has been postponed until next year. The committee are grateful for the great interest and support which has been accorded, and they also wish to thank the many distinguished and influential ladies who have given such generous assistance and co-operation.

MR. W. WILSON BLAKE concluded two tours as stage-manager for Mr. Ian Robertson's Passing of the Third Floor Back company at the Opera House, Harrogate, on Wednesday, and has been re-engaged by Mr. Robert Arthur for the stock season at Kennington Theatre. Mr. Blake has not yet settled his autumn arrangements.

"JIM THE PENMAN," recently revived by Mr. William A. Brady in New York, was produced at the Haymarket Theatre, the date of the first performance being April 3, 1886. The original cast was as follows:—James Ralston, Mr. Arthur Dacre; Louis Percival, Mr. Maurice Barrymore; Baron Hartfeld, Mr. H. Beerbohm Tree; Captain Redwood, Mr. Charles Brookfield; Lord Drelincourt, Mr. Edmund Maurice; George Ralston, Mr. Frank Rodney; Mr. Chapstone, Q.C., Mr. Forbes Dawson; Mr. Netherby, M.P., Mr. Ulick Winter; Dr. Pettywise, Mr. P. Ben Greet; Butler, Mr. Basil West; Agnes Ralston, Miss Helen Leyton; Lady Dunscombe, Miss Henrietta Lindley; Mrs. Chapstone, Mrs. E. H. Brooke; Mrs. Ralston, Lady Monckton. Later, Mr. E. S. Willard gave a very fine performance of the title-rôle.

PLAYERS OF THE PERIOD.

MR HERBERT ST. JOHN.

Born in London, educated at St. George's College, Weybridge, and Polytechnic, Mr. Herbert St. John, like many others of his calling, was originally a divinity student for the Roman Catholic Church, but realising that he had no vocation for the priesthood, he obtained a good position in the Civil Service. Having worked several concerts successfully, Mr. St. John succumbed to the fascinations of the stage, his first important engagement being in Ben Greet's Second in Command, in which he played a small part with just three lines and a laugh. Before the tour had finished he was playing a juvenile part in the same company, continuing in it for the following tour. Then came his experience in character, Mr. Greet entrusting him with parts in Caste, Moses in School for Scandal, Craigin in Sherlock Holmes, the solicitor in Sweet Lavender, &c. Some time after Mr. St. John was engaged by Sir Herbert—

MR. HERBERT ST. JOHN.

then Mr.—Tree for the parts of Sir Evelyn Wise and Maestro de Camera in the No. 1 Eternal City, in which Miss Maud Jeffries and Mr. Philip Cunningham appeared.

A love for music and dancing encouraged Mr. St. John to pass into a lighter class of work, to wit, An English Daisy, in which he played Lieut. Dick Pepler, a juvenile part, going from that to a dude part, Lord Hummingtop in The New Mephisto, and finishing his engagement on the last tour by playing the title-rôle. Then came an engagement as Captain Donegal in Florodora No. 1, extending over several tours. Subsequently, he returned to his old part of Dick Wargrave in the No. 1 Earl and the Girl company, which he considers is one of the finest juvenile characters written.

Between his various regular engagements Mr. St. John has managed concert parties, the last being "Middies and Maids." He also travelled as principal comedian of a concert party in Canada and Newfoundland, and on his return toured the music halls with his sketch My Tiger Lily. This led to a pantomime engagement as Dandini, in Cinderella, at the Brixton Theatre. Mr. St. John has played under the managements of Beerbohm Tree, Ben Greet, Milton Bode, Chas. Macdona, Bannister Howard, Stevens and Buchanan, and many others. His hobbies are golf, roller-skating, boating, and music.

MR. WALTER LAKE SCHONBERG.

Beginning about fourteen years ago as call boy at Drury Lane, Mr. W. L. Schonberg subsequently went on tour with the Drury Lane company in Hearts are Trumps, following which came a season with A Man of His Word, with Mr. Herbert Waring, for London season. Mr. George Hawtrey engaged him next for the Comedy Theatre, and he has also fulfilled engagements at the Comedy. Returning to the Imperial, this time under Mrs. Langtry's direction, he started an engagement which extended for a period of about three years, during which he fulfilled the duties of assistant stage-manager, in addition to playing parts in Mlle. Mars, Her Own Way, Cross Ways, and in that great success The Degenerates.

Our next record shows Mr. Schonberg supporting

[Photo by Nesbitt.

MR. W. LAKE SCHONBERG.

Miss Ellen Terry in The Vikings. Then Miss Annie Hughes offered him an engagement to appear with her at the Avenue in Lorna Doone. He was also at the Savoy with Mrs. Brown Potter in Du Barry. After this he went back to Drury Lane to appear in the original production of The Flood Tide, with which piece he went on tour, but returned in time to appear in the original cast of The Prodigal Son at the "Lane."

Amongst his many other engagements Mr. Schonberg was in the revival of The Prodigal Son at the Adelphi, and also assisted at the reopening of the Britannia, Hoxton, playing O'Grieff in The Flood Tide. He had a wide and valuable experience during the three years he was with Mr. Lewis Waller, appearing in Harlequin King, Brigadier Gerard, Lord Clancarty, Robin Hood, &c. When Mr. Fred Terry put on Henry of Navarre at the New he engaged Mr. Schonberg for the production. Last autumn he was stage-manager with the principal company touring The Sins of Society, sustaining in addition the part of Col. Gretton, that making his third tour with the piece. As will be seen from the above, Mr. Schonberg has had a vast and valuable experience. He is high up on the "ladder of fame," standing, as he does 6ft. 2½in. in height, and not yet being twenty-five years of age he hopes eventually to reach the top rung.

MR. WYN WEAVER.

Mr. Wyn Weaver, who is a younger brother of Mr. Astley Weaver, the society entertainer, had the good fortune to commence his career under the banner of Mr. Louis Calvert in Shakespearean répertoire and standard plays. This was in August, 1895; and he appeared with him as Sir Richard Vernon and Eros in his two revivals at the Queen's Theatre, Manchester. Short engagements followed with Mr. Charles Charrington at the Globe Theatre, London, and with Mr. Pitt Hardacre in stock at the Comedy, Manchester. Then in April, 1898, following an engagement as Fitzwarren with the late Mr. Henry Dundas, Mr. Weaver was engaged by Mr. Milton Bode for Mons. Camembert in The French Maid, and in May, 1899, he essayed his first attempt at management at the Aquarium, Brighton. After an engagement by Mr. Ben Greet he was associated with Miss Julia Neilson in As You Like It, doubling the parts of the Duke Frederick and Sylvius—a fair test of versatility. He then created the title-rôle in The Clown with Mr. Frank Thornton.

Mr. Wyn Weaver has played very successfully many of Mr. Cyril Maude's and Mr. James Welch's parts on tour, including John Smith in Facing the Music, Septimus Pontifex in The Brixton Burglary, Watkin in Sowing the Wind, and Sam Gerridge in Caste, with Mr. G. W. Anson. At the Standard Theatre in Oct., 1902, Mr. Weaver was seen as Tom Norman in Her Second Time on Earth, a production which ran nine weeks. After engagements with Miss Nina Cressy, playing a lot of leading parts, including Mr. Parbury in The Tyranny of Tears, the title-rôles in The Village Priest and The Shopwalker, and Mr. Hawtrey's part in The Sportsman, and in pantomime with Mr. C. St. John Denton as one of the Ugly Sisters at Crouch End, Mr. Weaver joined forces with Mr. Herbert Greville in a tour of Too Many Cooks, and in 1904 he ran a stock season of twelve weeks at the Crystal Palace Theatre. In November, 1903, in conjunction with Herr Max Behrend of the German Theatre, Mr. Weaver stage-managed The Lower Depths for the Stage Society, and played the part of "When"; and he has appeared in its productions at the Court, Royalty, and Kingsway Theatres. At various times Mr. Wyn Weaver appeared as Levison in the late Mr. Henry Dundas's version of East Lynne, and at Christmas, 1905, Mr. Peter Davey engaged him for a pantomime Baron, and he was re-engaged for 1906 and 1907. In the spring of 1906 Mr. H. F. Maltby engaged Mr. Weaver, and he has been closely associated with that rising dramatist ever since, appearing in all his plays with conspicuous success.

[Photo by Francis.

MR. WYN WEAVER.

In all Mr. Weaver has played 191 parts, his favourite rôle being Benjamin Goldfinch, and he generally revels in character, light comedy, and heavy parts of the Spider type. In his spare time Mr. Wyn Weaver is generally to be found on the links, and he speaks of golf as the finest possible game for keeping the actor fit. Another hobby of his is painting in oils—he was an art master before joining the ranks of the profession—and he particularly prizes a letter he received from the late Mr. W. E. Gladstone in acknowledgment of a drawing he made of him when a student of twelve at King Edward's Grammar School, Birmingham. The letter was written and the envelope addressed entirely by the Grand Old Man himself, and concludes with the eloquent words: "I hope you will cultivate your gift with high aims and with a brave industry. Your friend and well-wisher, WILLIAM EWART GLADSTONE."

AT a meeting of the Orchestral Committee of the Birmingham Festival on Thursday it was reported that Mr. Henry J. Wood, the conductor of the Queen's Hall Orchestra, had been appointed conductor of the triennial festival to be held in 1912. Satisfaction was expressed at the fact that the committee had been able to offer the appointment to a distinguished English conductor. Mr. Wood will succeed Dr. Hans Richter, who has resigned, after conducting the festival for twenty-five years.

MR. JAMES STEPHENS'S company is on its eleventh visit to the Town Hall, Ventnor, and opened on Monday, with The Golden Chance, to a good house. Mr. James Hart was a manly hero; Mr. G. Miller played the villain, Stephen Clinton, with duly sinister effect; Mr. James Stephens gave a humorous performance of Isaac Shelberg; Mr. A. Roote as Sam Brown was very good; Miss Margaret Saville was a sympathetic Lydia; Miss Viviane Douglas as Viva Zac was effective; and Miss Lucie Victor was a bright and vivacious Susan. A Fatal Fortune and East Lynne are billed for the remainder of the week.

The finest performance this season of Verdi's Aïda was given at Covent Garden on Wednesday night, when Mlle. Destinn made her rentrée in the part of the heroine. Mlle. Destinn, who was in splendid voice, sang the music superbly, and had a most enthusiastic reception. Signor Zerola's Radames was another fine performance, and by his fervent singing of the part Signor Zerola increased the good impression he has already made in this character. Mr. Murray Davey sang admirably the music of Il Rè; Mme. Kirkby Lunn was once again a magnificent Amneris; and the fine cast included such artists as Signor Sammarco and Signor Marcoux, who appeared as Amonasro and Ramfis respectively. Signor Zucchi was Un Messaggiero, and Signor Campanini conducted.

"DAME NATURE" TRANSPLANTED

Terry's Theatre has once again been placed upon the active list, and to judge by the enthusiasm of a crowded audience on Saturday evening last, when Dame Nature was transferred thereto from the Garrick, the pretty house will remain there permanently. Mr. Frederick Fenn's clever play fitted perfectly in its new quarters, and each scene was presented without any diminution of effect. Miss Ethel Irving astonishes again by her remarkable power and versatility as Lolette, the artist's model who wins the love of a painter during his period of adversity only to yield it to a superior rival when prosperity smiles. It is a part in which Miss Irving's acknowledged comedy gifts are less apparent than her tragic accomplishments, but her success in either is complete. She moves the audience deeply when pleading wistfully for the return of her husband's love, but her subsequent outburst of passion thrills the house and gives proof of emotional gifts of the highest order. Mr. Ernest Leicester is again a dominating figure as the faithless Bertram. He has the exact personality for the part, and his dramatic resource was never more conspicuous. He plays the devoted lover with convincing fervour, and portrays Bertram's more ignoble characteristics with admirable delicacy.

One important change from the cast of the original production at the Garrick on Jan. 20 last is noticeable in the substitution for Miss Nancy Price of Miss Lillian Braithwaite, who makes a regal and commanding Princess de Chabran, dressing the part exquisitely. The complexity of the character is suggested with artistic subtlety, and the delivery of her dialogue is an example of artistic phrasing. Elocutionary graces are also displayed by Mr. Frank Cooper, whose study of the "watch-dog," James Ridgeway, is as finished as ever, and the effective lines of the part fall impressively from his lips. Mr. J. D. Beveridge resumes his old part of the genial Paul Garford, hale, hearty, and drily humorous, a special round of applause awaiting the close of his little homily on Nature. His affectionate helpmeet is again agreeably realised by Miss Agnes Hewitt, who gives added proof of the value of experience by a performance irreproachable from every point of view. Miss Pamela Gaythorne is a prepossessing Suzon; and Miss Minnie Terry a winsome Mimi, ably seconded by Miss Verita Vivien as the model's vivacious friend. The Greek dancer is embodied with fascinating grace by Miss Mabel Hunt; and the Misses Florence Nelson and Winifred Hafris capably fill the rôles of Mme. Certin and Mme. Moulzi.

The artistic qualities of Mr. Norman Forbes' Prince de Chabran are thoroughly recognised. It is a remarkable character, delicately contrived, and Mr. Forbes does it full justice, his acting, when a spark of sentiment in the old man's breast is allowed to blaze, being particularly admired. Prominent among Bertram's studio friends is the Henry Greville of Mr. F. Kinsey Peile, who gives a characterisation of distinct merit. Mr. Richard Hatteras supplies a vivid and clear-cut exposition of the solicitor Rivett. Mr. J. A. Bentham now plays Rousell, and plays cleverly; and Mr. Richard Carfax is also a newcomer to the cast in the part of Taylor. Mr. Charles Dodsworth continues with credit in the rôle of Arnheim; Mr. Charles Hampden does excellent service as Chaillard; and Mr. H. Asheton Tonge, Mr. Bertram Steer, Mr. John Castle, and Mr. Edmond Breon do commendable work.

STEINWAY HALL.

Mme. Alma Haas, an accomplished performer, gave her pianoforte recital at Steinway Hall on Tuesday afternoon. At the commencement of the concert Mme. Haas played Beethoven's Funeral March, from Sonata in A flat, all the audience standing during the performance. The programme opened with Bach's Prelude and Fugue in A minor, admirably given by Mme. Haas; and in the delightful Pastorale and Capriccio of Scarlatti the pianist's charming interpretation greatly pleased the audience. The only example of Chopin was the seldom-heard Polonaise-Fantaisie, Op. 61, which concluded the first section of the programme. In Beethoven's Sonata (quasi una Fantasia), Op. 27, No. 2, better known as the Moonlight Sonata, Mme. Haas played with great refinement and in perfect keeping with the composer's intentions. The time of the slow movement was not dragged, nor the finale hurried as is so often done by less experienced pianists, and Mme. Haas was warmly applauded for her fine performance. Other interesting items in the recital were Brahms' Intermezzo in B flat minor and the same composer's Rhapsody in E flat, both being most ably played. Debussy's dainty "Jardins sous la Pluie" and Liszt's "Feux Follets" (Will-o'-the-wisp) were also pleasing examples of the accomplished pianist. Schumann's Etudes en forme de Variations, "Le Rossignol" (Air russe) (Alabieff-Liszt), Serenade "Hark, hark, the lark" (Schubert-Liszt), and Spinning Song from The Flying Dutchman (Wagner-Liszt) completed Mme. Alma Haas's varied, interesting, and successful recital.

THE Ibsen Club will give their last performance before the summer vacation at the Rehearsal Theatre on Sunday evening next, When We Dead Awaken being the piece selected. Mr. Rathmell Wilson will be Rubek and Miss Catherine Lewis undertakes the rôle of Irene.

ARRANGEMENTS are being made for a Young People's Empire Festival, to be held at the Alexandra Palace, in May next year. The object of the festival, which is to last for six days, is "to stimulate and encourage among the young people of the Empire a healthy rivalry in all the higher forms of art, handicraft, and physique. There will be numerous competitions for boys and girls.

A GRATIFYING tribute to the services which Mr. Lester Collingwood, the proprietor of the Alexandra Theatre, Birmingham, has rendered to that city, both socially and philanthropically, was paid at an influential gathering held at the Grand Hotel, Birmingham, on Monday evening. Mr. J. E. Chambers presided, and was supported by Mr. Councillor R. C. Marsh (vice-chair, Mr. J. F. Graham (Prince of Wales's Theatre), Mr. P. Rodway (Theatre Royal), Mr. A. Bushell (Gaiety Theatre), and many other gentlemen well known in theatrical circles. The function took the form of a banquet and presentation to Mr. Collingwood, and many felicitous speeches were made.

THE principal feature of the evening was the presentation of a handsome framed illuminated address, placing on record Mr. Collingwood's services to the city. In making the presentation, the Chairman referred in eulogistic terms to the many kind acts performed by Mr. Collingwood for the welfare of the public. Mr. Collingwood suitably responded.

THE twenty-fifth anniversary of the establishment of the drama at Oxford is to be commemorated by the publication within a few days of a history of the Oxford stage. The work is entitled "The Oxford Amateurs," and is written by Mr. Alan Mackinnon and published by Chapman and Hall. It will contain 200 illustrations, which will embellish the story of the first stage appearances of Messrs. H. B. Irving, F. R. Benson, Arthur Bourchier, and other eminent players. The Oxford A.D.C., of which Mr. Bourchier was founder, has to its credit the production of several comedies of Aristophanes in the original Greek, and was also responsible for several Shakespearean representations.

THEATRICAL GOSSIP.

As the vivid expression of the nation's sorrow nothing could have exceeded the dignity of the demonstration at the passing of Edward the Peacemaker—beloved in life and fitly honoured in death, but the intensity of grief is now passed. The blessed memory of a beloved King will be always with us; but Long live the King. "White-handed Hope now wings its flight towards us, a hovering angel girt with golden wings."

THIS thought is uppermost in the mind of King George, whose desire to disperse the clouds of gloom is manifested in his Proclamation of Wednesday, by which the period of national mourning is modified, and all outward signs of sorrow are to disappear by the end of next month. By this kindly action his Majesty has shown all the thoughtfulness and consideration for his loyal subjects in the theatrical profession that were among the qualities that endeared his illustrious father to the community of the people's entertainers.

HIS present Majesty and Queen Mary, it may be recalled, have been scarcely less frequent playgoers than was King Edward. Last year, for instance, they paid no fewer than sixteen visits to London theatres. Three times they went to the Gaiety to admire Our Miss Gibbs, while among the other pieces they saw were An Englishman's Home, The School for Scandal and False Gods at His Majesty's; The Arcadians, The Whip, The Prisoner of Zenda, Arsène Lupin, Henry of Navarre, and The Woman in the Case. Their Majesties were also present at the matinée at Drury Lane in aid of the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium at Davos.

SIR HERBERT TREE finished his Dublin season at the Theatre Royal on Saturday night, when The O'Flynn had a keenly appreciative reception from a large and enthusiastic audience. At the conclusion of the performance there were loud calls of "Speech" from all parts of the house, and in response the eminent actor-manager said he could only say a few words to them in the nature of a "good-bye," and thank the public of Dublin for the way in which they had received his company during their present stay. It had been a great delight to appear before them once more, and he was glad to think that it had been a delight to his audiences, for it was to delight them that they came, or they would perish in the attempt.

THAT fortnight, continued Sir Herbert, would be memorable in another way, for it had been memorable in the way of bringing about a great deal of goodwill between the two countries, and he was glad to think that he had the honour the previous day of being in the Chapel at Windsor and witnessing that remarkable sight which would be remembered through the ages. It would be the more memorable on that occasion because one could not help being struck by the dignity which had united the people in a brotherhood of grief. This fact would be remembered for many years both on this side of the Channel and the other.

LADY TREE recited at the "In Memoriam" concert given by the Queen's Hall Orchestra on Monday. Garbed in deepest black, her ladyship rendered Mr. Kipling's new poem, "The Dead King," the applause at the conclusion being appropriately subdued, but none the less eloquent.

MRS. KENDAL officiated at the opening of a maternity hospital at Leeds on Monday, and presented to the institution framed pictures of the Queen-Mother and Queen Mary. She pointed out that Queen Mary as Princess of Wales has for years been president of the Children's Happy Evenings Association in London, and told an interesting story. While the Princess was amongst the poor children of Lambeth, she said, one of the youngsters persisted in replying to her observations with "No, missus," or "Yes, missus." This led her to inquire, "Now, my little girl, do you know who I am?" For some time the child hesitated, and then blurted out, "Wales, missus!"

MESSRS. WALTER AND FREDERICK MELVILLE'S first attraction at the Lyceum Theatre, which they have recently acquired, will be a no less important one than Mr. Martin Harvey, who will appear as Richard III. Mr. Harvey won the approval of the Dublin critics a few weeks ago when he essayed the part for the first time, and his performance is awaited with interest by London playgoers, who will heartily welcome him back to the Lyceum, from whose historic stage he stepped into the wider domain of actor-management. Shakespeare's play will be staged this evening, with an elaboration and care for which Mr. Harvey is famous.

MANY of the artists who supported Mr. Harvey on the occasion of the Dublin production will again do duty, Miss N. de Silva playing Lady Anne, Miss Mary Rorke Queen Margaret, and Mr. Charles Glenney the Duke of Buckingham. Several recent Lyceum favourites will also figure in the cast, Mr. Eric Mayne being retained for Edward IV., Mr. Frederick Ross for Hastings, and Mr. S. Major Jones for Stanley. The remainder of the long cast will consist of Messrs. Owen Roughwood, C. George, E. J. Fraser, Philip Hewland, Leonard Craske, David Bain, S. McCarthy, D. Holm, Alfred Mansfield, Edward Combermere, Denholm Muir, A. Wilson, F. Percy, H. Graves, George Cooke, Percy Foster, Paul Barry, A. B. McKay, C. Leonard, and B. A. Pittar, Misses Sybil Walsh, Brenda Gibson, Ethel Patrick, Bessie Elder, and Mrs. A. B. Cross.

MR. MARTIN HARVEY'S view of Richard differs from all the other Richards. It will be found a younger, less deformed, almost fascinating villain—more of a human being, less of a human toad. It is a Richard remodelled on modern historical research, as far as Shakespeare will permit. The play will move swiftly through its succession of gorgeous scenes to the final array of horsemen and foot on Bosworth Field, the mysterious magic of the dream scenes, and the elaborate fight of Richmond and Richard. There will be eighteen scenes in the five acts of the play.

MR. ARTHUR PHILLIPS and his company from the Royal Court Theatre conclude a successful tour in The Merchant of Venice at the Royal Theatre, Manchester, to-night. In every city and town visited Mr. Phillips' reception has been enthusiastic, and the opinion of provincial dramatic critics is that this talented young actor has a most promising future. Negotiations are on the point of completion for the acquisition of a leading West End house, and it is Mr. Phillips' intention to appear in London in the autumn with a selection of new plays specially written for him.

THE season of Irish plays at the Court Theatre commences on Monday with the late J. M. Synge's last play, Deirdré of the Sorrows, which was first produced at the Abbey Theatre, Dublin, last January. Two other plays new to London will be included in next week's programme, namely, The Image, a comedy in three acts, by Lady Gregory, and The Green Helmet, "a play in ballad metre," by Mr. W. B. Yeats. In the course of the week other pieces by the dramatists already named will be put on the boards, including Mr. Synge's The Playboy of the Western World. The Glittering Gate, a one-act play, by Lord Dunsany, will be amongst the season's novelties.

SIR CHARLES WYNDHAM and Miss Mary Moore will be welcomed back to the Criterion on Wednesday, when Mr. Henry Arthur Jones's comedy, The Case of Rebellious Susan will be presented. Admirable engagements have been made for the revival, the principals being supported by Mr. Alfred Bishop, Mr. Sam Sothern, Mr. Charles Quartermaine, Mr. Leslie Hamer, Mr. Reginald Walter, Mr. King Fordham, Mr. Lawrence White, Mr. S. Bond, Miss Ellis Jeffreys, Miss Marie Illington, and Miss Athené Seyler.

MR. H. B. IRVING has decided upon the striking title of Judge Not — for the English version of M. George Henriot's L'Enquête, which he produces at the Queen's this evening. The play deals with the injustices of the French criminal law, a subject Mr. Irving has studied deeply to the extent of writing a book about it. Mr. Irving will be supported by Miss Edyth Olive, Mr. Ellie Norwood, Mr. Frank Tyars, Mr. Charles Allan, and Mr. Henry Vibart.

THE programme will be enriched by the revival of Fechter's The Roadside Inn, in which Mr. Irving will play Robert Macaire. Mr. Tom Reynolds has been selected as the Jacques Strop of the occasion, the part played by Mr. Weedon Grossmith to the Macaire of the late Sir Henry Irving at the old Lyceum, and other rôles will be in the hands of Mr. Charles Allan, Mr. Henry Vibart, Mr. Alex. Scott-Gatty, Mr. Arthur Curtis, Mr. Frank Tyars, Mr. J. Patric Curwen, Mr. Roland Pertuis, Miss Esmé Beringer, and Miss Gladys Baird.

MR. IRVING desires to acknowledge his indebtedness to the representatives of the late Mr. Frank Harvey in allowing him to use the title Judge Not — and also to Mr. Fred Terry for the use of the version of L'Auberge des Adrets, as played by Charles Fechter. The performance will begin promptly at 8.15, and as the interest of Judge Not — starts with the rise of the curtain, Mr. Irving hopes that the audience will be seated at that time.

"PARASITES" is to give place shortly at the Globe to The Beam and the Mote, an adaptation of Paul Hervieu's Connais-Toi, the English rights of which Mr. Arthur Bourchier secured some time after its production at the Théâtre Français, in March of last year. The adaptation has been entrusted to Mr. Kenneth Barnes, the new Administrator at the Academy of Dramatic Art, who has transferred the action to this country. Mr. Bourchier will appear in the leading rôle, and the cast will be strengthened by the inclusion of Miss Violet Vanbrugh and Mr. Herbert Sleath, Mr. Bourchier's partner in the Garrick Theatre.

THE London Committee of the Shakespeare Memorial National Theatre has received an interesting letter from Pietermaritzburg, Natal, where the Mayor is the chairman of the committee which has just been formed. The resolution put to the meeting on April 8 was as follows: "This meeting, being of opinion that Natal should support the National Fund of the Lord Mayor of London for the building and endowing of a Shakespeare Memorial Theatre, requests his Worship the Mayor of Maritzburg to establish in connection therewith a 'Natal Shakespeare Memorial Fund.'" This resolution was carried, and a committee formed.

THE hon. secretary and treasurer of the Natal branch is Mr. Ryle Shaw, who writes as follows: "I have just sent away the 183rd card. The Superintendent of Education is sending to the heads of all schools, pointing out, however, that scholars must not be asked to contribute. A letter asking for friendly co-operation from the chairman in the matter of the Shakespeare Memorial National Theatre has been sent on to five mayors, four chairmen of local boards of townships, and forty-three magistrates. I am going to write to the editor of the State, Cape Colony, asking him if he cannot start a similar fund to ours. They want it there more than we do here."

MR. GEORGE EDWARDES will produce The Girl in the Train, as the new musical piece by Mr. Victor Leon and Dr. Fall is to be called, at the Vaudeville on Saturday next. The English version is written by Mr. C. H. Brookfield. It is in two acts, the first taking place in a Court of Justice, where an amusing travesty of legal proceedings may be expected, and the second at a brilliant reception. The principals of the new production are Miss Phyllis Dare, Miss Clare Evelyn, Miss May Marton, Mr. Robert Evett, Mr. Fred Emney, Mr. Rutland Barrington, and Mr. Huntley Wright.

MR. WEEDON GROSSMITH has terminated his highly-successful tour with Mr. Preedy and the Countess, and is now pushing forward preparations for his reappearance in the West End in Billy's Bargain, a "sensational farce," which we had occasion to notice on its production under the title of Billy Rotterford's Descent at the King's, Hammersmith, just two years ago. The piece is in three acts, the last of which has been entirely remodelled. The first act opens in a ball and supper room in Mayfair, where the "degenerates" do congregate; the second takes us first to a "horribly weird hotel" in Russia, and, secondly, to the Caucasus Mountains on the side of the Caspian Sea, where the "sensation" is secured by the fall of the hero over a precipice; and the third act is laid in the banqueting hall of an English country house.

MISS ELLA ERSKINE will have the leading part of Julie in the new Napoleonic play The Man of Fate, which is to be produced at the Queen's Theatre, Manchester, on Monday. Miss Erskine's attractive personality will be enhanced by some beautiful gowns specially made for her by a well-know London costumier. Elaborate preparations are being made for the production, and a brilliant success is confidently anticipated.

MR. G. P. HUNTLEY, as a consequence of his success as Eccles in Caste, will remain in America all next season. Mr. Huntley will spend a brief summer holiday in this country, but crosses the Atlantic again in September in order to join Mr. Chas. Frohman's "star combination." He will then appear in a translation of De Caillavet and De Flers's Le Bois Sacré, a bright and witty piece, in which woman's urgent demands for the Legion d'Honneur are amusingly satirised.

MR. D. FORBES WINSLOW, who met with a bad accident at Leeds Station in February last, when touring in advance for Mr. George Edwardes's company in The Dollar Princess, has come to an amicable settlement with the North-Eastern Railway Company regarding his claim. After a stay at Margate to recuperate Mr. Winslow will be ready for the autumn tour of The Dollar Princess, having been re-engaged by Mr. George Edwardes, under whose management he has been for ten consecutive years.

MR. LEWIS WALLER goes to America in the autumn, and will open in New York in Henry V. In the course of his season he will present a series of his most popular productions, embracing Monsieur Beaucaire, Elizabeth's Prisoner, and Don César de Bazan. With a view of preparing, as it were, for his American campaign, Mr. Waller will conclude his season at the Lyric with revivals of the plays above referred to.

"DON CÆSAR DE BAZAN," which has been adapted from the well-known French piece by Mr. Gerald du Maurier, will be staged on Tuesday next. It is in three acts, the various scenes of which are laid in a street in Madrid, a guard-room in a fortress, the palace of the Marquis de Montefiore, and Don José's villa in the Forest of Aranjuez. Mr. Waller will have the support of Messrs. Leon Quartermain, William Haviland, Alec F. Thompson, Frank Woolfe, H. B. Tabberer, A. Baxendale, Henry Stevens, Caton Woodville, Cronin Wilson, Lewis Broughton, Reginald Dane, Patrick Digan, Arthur Ansell; and Miss Beryl Mercer, Miss Minnie Griffin, and Miss Madge Titheradge.

MR. BRANSBY WILLIAMS, the Charles Dickens star of the variety firmament, has been engaged by Mr. Wentworth Croke to create the hero's part in Mr. Hall Caine's new romantic play The Bishop's Son, which will be produced in September next at—well, a West End theatre, by Mr. Croke, in conjunction with Mr. Milton Bode. Mr. Croke informed The Era representative that, as soon as he conveniently can, he will publish in these pages a synopsis of the story. In the meantime it will suffice to say that the big scene of the piece will be a representation of Tynwald Hill, St. John's, Isle of Man. There we shall see a realistic summoning of the Manx Parliament, with all the quaint ceremonies attaching to the "call." This great scene will, of course, be but "an incident" in the history of a man who has committed a great crime and who works out his own atonement. The Bishop's Son will be produced simultaneously in London and Blackpool.

"WHY have I engaged Mr. Bransby Williams for the part of Dan?" queried Mr. Wentworth Croke to The Era representative. "Because he is one of the best character actors in the variety halls or out of them. Even he I should have been unable to get but for the courtesy of Mr. Oswald Stoll. We have had enough of 'our' stars going over to variety. We are now going to take the best that variety has made for the legitimate. And nobody will deny that I have made a good start with Bransby Williams, will they?

"I HAVE also," said Mr. Croke, "secured—in conjunction with Mr. Williams—an extremely interesting romantic-costume, dagger-and-pistol play, called Kit Careless, written by Beatrice De Burgh and Sydney Valentine, which I shall produce in the West End of London, with Mr. Bransby Williams in the title-rôle, and afterwards take on a tour I have already booked."

MR. CROKE, has, we are informed, six companies going out in the autumn with The Christian, The Bondman, and The Prodigal Son—Hall Caine's famous trilogy. In addition, he will present a new version of East Lynne, with six speaking parts, starting at the Camden Theatre (Gibbons tour) on June 20. Mr. Wentworth Croke has specially engaged Miss Beth Elliott to play the part of Lady Isabel in East Lynne.

THE annual general meeting of the Travelling Theatre Managers' Association will be held on Wednesday next, June 1, at 11.30 a.m., at the Criterion Restaurant. Mr. A. E. Drinkwater will be in the chair.

SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE, whose House of Temperley has had such a distinguished career at the Adelphi, will again be represented in the successor to that attractive piece. The new play which is underlined for Saturday next will also introduce a valued friend, inasmuch as the redoubtable Sherlock Holmes will again appear upon the scene. The title of the new drama is The Speckled Band; an Adventure of Sherlock Holmes, perhaps the most sensational of the seventy odd cases in which the intrepid detective figures.

THE story, we may remind our readers, is that of the Anglo-Indian doctor who compassed the death of a young girl on the eve of her marriage by introducing through a ventilator fixed in the wall of her room a swamp adder, which gliding down the bell-rope poisoned the sleeping girl, and was coaxed back by its owner, leaving the mystery of the girl's death unfathomable. Of the three acts, the first takes place in the hall at the Manor, where a coroner's inquest is being held; the second contains two scenes, the first a sitting-room in the Manor, the second Sherlock Holmes's lodgings in Upper Baker-street; and the third reverts to the Hall, and thence passes to the chamber where the doctor once more attempts to put into practice his dastardly experiment.

MR. H. A. SAINTSBURY, who has long been associated with the part of Sherlock Holmes, has been engaged for that rôle; Mr. Claude King will appear as Dr. Watson, Mr. Lyn Harding as the sinister Dr. Roylott, and Mr. C. F. Lowrie as Billy, Holmes's assistant. Also in the cast are Mr. A. S. Homewood, Mr. Spencer Trevor, Miss Agnes Thomas, and Miss Christine Silver.

WHEN Mr. George Alexander took to hat-trimming at the theatrical garden-party, we all, like Lewis Carroll, "marked with one eye." This year, on June 28, fortunate visitors may perhaps see Mr. Lyn Harding engaged in hair-dressing!—not doing his own hair nicely, nor metaphorically "combing the hair" of some unlucky author, but simply and literally emulating a ladies' hair-dresser or the lady's-maid in the "rites mysterious" of the coiffeur's art. We presume at least that it will be ladies' hair, and that the lovely owners' heads will be attached thereto, though the programme announces merely "Hair-dressing competition by actors and actresses, under the direction of Miss Phyllis Broughton."

MUCH tamer might have seemed the shooting matches in the Anglo-American Shooting Gallery if one had not noticed the names of the leaders. To see Miss Alexandra Carlisle leading her team into the contest against Miss Gertie Millar's squad, and the winners standing up against Miss Lily Elsie's and Miss Gabrielle Ray's sharpshooters, and all three breaking the records left by Messrs. Ainley, Coyne, Hallard, and Guy Standing—this will be novel and entertaining.

AFTER the din of warfare and the clash of arms, so to speak, what more refreshing than to stroll in the waxy shades of Jarley's Living Waxworks? Waxy they will doubtless be, if the afternoon is warm and the crush is as merry as last year, if Miss Jessie Bateman proves inexorable and permits no waxy waxwork to move a finger to scratch a tickling nose or trickling brow!

MR. GEORGE GROSSMITH, JUN., as master of the ring, cracking his whip in the sawdust, with Mr. W. H. Berry as clown, and Mr. Robert Hale as lion-tamer, taming that ferocious lion Mr. George Ali, will be found in Barnum and Bunkum's Royal Hippodrome. The tickets (3s. each before the day, 5s. on the day) will be strictly limited. Other particulars are to be obtained from the hon secretary, Anslow J. Austin, 26, Old-buildings, Lincoln's Inn.

MRS. MARK KINGHORNE'S tour with G. R. Sims's Mother-in-Law finished to-night at Prince's Theatre, Manchester. Until negotiations re a London success for the autumn are complete Mrs. Kinghorne will be at liberty for town or short tour.

MR. FORBES ROBERTSON is to be congratulated upon one of the most brilliant successes ever enjoyed by an English actor in America. Relying entirely upon one play, The Passing of the Third Floor Back, he presented it nightly for seven consecutive months at Maxine Elliott's Theatre in New York, then took it to Canada, where he played it to packed houses, thrice enjoying the patronage of Earl Grey, the Governor-General. Mr. Forbes Robertson will return to America for two more seasons, starting in September, and visiting all the big cities of the Dominion and the States with Mr. Jerome's play; while his brother, Mr. Ian Robertson, will tour the small towns with the same piece, and his wife, Miss Gertrude Elliott, will be "starring" in The Dawn of a To-morrow.

MR. HARCOURT WILLIAMS has acquired from Mr. Herbert Dansey a comedy in three acts called The Garden of Eve, in which Mr. Williams and Miss Jean Sterling Mackinlay will appear during their forthcoming pastoral tour at Bristol, Birmingham, and Manchester. The play is from a well-known Italian masterpiece.

THE remains of the late Mr. Matthew Russell Rosse, theatrical manager and proprietor of A Pair of Spectacles company, who died suddenly on the 15th inst. at 214, Westgate-road, Newcastle, were interred at Old Jesmond Cemetery on Thursday afternoon, May 19. The last rites were performed by the Rev. A. Thomas, Vicar of St. Barnabas Church, and the mourners were Mrs. Rosse, the widow; Dr. Bennett, Mr. Downing (of the Great Northern Railway Company), and Miss Lambeth, of Glasgow.

A NUMBER of members of the theatrical profession were present, including Mr. F. Teale Lingham (manager, Theatre Royal, Newcastle), Mr. John Clyde (Jeannie Deans company, Tyne Theatre), Mr. and Mr. W. S. Stephenson, Mr. A. L. Baran, Miss Clara Hunt, Mr. Mark Quinton, and Mr. Piggott (Merchant of Venice company, Theatre Royal). There were several wreaths, including one from A Pair of Spectacles company, and "the four dancers" in The Merchant of Venice company. There were also wreaths from the widow, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Holding (Miss Muriel Godfrey-Turner), Mr. and Mrs. George Mudie, jun., and Mr. and Mrs. Mee Mathews.

MR. ROBERT ARTHUR has arranged at the Coronet a répertoire season of T. W. Robertson's comedies, which will open on Monday, June 6, with M.P., and last three months. Mr. James Carew will play the parts associated with Sir Squire Bancroft; Mr. O. B. Clarence in the Sir John Hare rôles; Mr. Lionel Rignold, Mr. Edward Sass, and Mr. Charles Harley have the character and comedy; and Mr. Athol Stewart and Mr. Arthur Wontner share the juvenile work. Miss Rosie Begarnie is engaged for Polly Eccles, and other parts of Lady Bancroft's. Engagements have also been made with Miss Adeline Bourne, Miss Estelle Winwood, Miss Hetty Kenyon (for the children), Miss Kate Osborne, Mrs. A. B. Tapping, and Miss Nell Compton—the younger daughter of Mr. Edward Compton, Mr. Edgar Kent, Mr. James R. La Fane, and Mr. William Rokeby.

THE répertoire consists of M.P., School, Caste, Society, Progress, Home, Ours, and David Garrick. Mr. Eade Montefiore directs and produces, and the stage-management lies with Mr. Thomas Sidney and Mr. Montagu Wigan. One of the new effects of this season will be a departure from the usual orchestra, classical music being played by a Chamber Quartet.

AFTER the Robertsonian season at the Coronet, Mr. Robert Arthur has arranged (subject to certain outstanding contracts) to run the theatre from September wholly as a West End house, and produce plays for runs and transference to his provincial theatres. A feature will be made of special matinées of new plays. For his initial venture Mr. Robert Arthur has secured the rights of Don Q, a romantic play of Spanish environment and costume, by K. and Hesketh Prichard.

NEWS reaches us from Sydney, Australia, that a new and beautiful theatre is in course of erection. It is to be called the Marlow Theatre, and will be opened about November. This magnificent building is being erected at a cost of £40,000 by Australia's youngest and most enterprising manager, Mr. George Marlow, and the stage will be capable of accommodating the largest productions. Mr. Marlow has secured from Mr. Fredk. Melville the Australian and New Zealand rights in that remarkably successful drama, The Bad Girl of the Family. Mr. Marlow has two companies touring Australia. He is represented in England by Mr. Edward Thane.

SIR HERBERT BEERBOHM TREE will be the attraction at the Shakespeare Theatre, Liverpool, next week, playing The Merchant of Venice, The O'Flynn, and Trilby. This engagement is a feather in the cap of the managing-director, Mr. Wentworth Croke.

THE attraction at the Lyric Opera House, Hammersmith, next week will be Mr. Wentworth Croke's own company in The Girl of My Heart, which will be played with an entirely new production, and interpreted by an exceptionally strong cast.

THE Actresses' Franchise League is arranging a matinée for Tuesday, June 21, at the Aldwych, where will be presented two short plays by Mr. Bernard Shaw—Press Cuttings, and a piece that has not yet seen the footlights.

THREE additional performances of Miss Marie Brema's artistic revival of Orpheus are to be given at the Savoy on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons next and Friday evening. Miss Viola Tree will again be the Eurydice, and Miss Brema will, of course, reappear in the title-rôle. A tribute to the efficiency of our home-training is found in the fact that Miss Brema was a pupil of Mme. Bessie Cox, a professor who joined the Guildhall School of Music soon after it was opened, and who is still actively shaping the destinies of future British operatic artists.

AN interesting item of news comes from Australia. Mr. Ewan Brook and Miss Caroline Bayley, two popular members of Mr. Oscar Asche and Miss Lily Brayton's company, while playing at the Criterion Theatre, Sydney, were quietly married on Saturday, April 9, and it was four days afterwards before they announced the fact to the company. On the night the marriage became known Mr. Asche and Miss Brayton organised a little impromptu festivity on the stage in the form of some champagne and light refreshments in honour of the occasion. The healths of the happy couple were drunk with much cordiality.

GEO. A. DE GRAY AND HARRY MASTERMAN'S company concludes this week at the Lyric Theatre, Liverpool, an unbroken tour of forty-two weeks, with Mr. De Gray's latest and most successful play The Angel of His Dreams. The third tour starts August Bank Holiday at the Palace Theatre, Newcastle, where, on its first visit, The Angel played to enormous business. Mr. De Gray has just completed another intensely dramatic play, on an entirely unhackneyed subject, which he proposes to produce in the early autumn. He is also running a short season of his own pieces, twice nightly, at the Grand Theatre, Stockton-on-Tees, commencing next Monday.

WE have reason to understand that a play by the Baron de St. Eon is under the consideration of a prominent West End management for production in the autumn.

MR. NORMAN V. NORMAN and Miss Beatrice Wilson were received with the greatest enthusiasm at the Theatre Royal, Plymouth, last week. So pleased was Mr. Norman with his reception that he has made arrangements to pay a return visit to the theatre during the next few weeks. This is one of the shortest return visits on record in an important city like Plymouth.

MR. NORMAN V. NORMAN has arranged to give a special production of the famous comedy Caste at Plymouth. Miss Beatrice Wilson will be the Polly Eccles, Mr. Norman Leslie Eccles, Miss Madge Trenchard Esther Eccles, and Mr. Norman Hon. George D'Alroy.

MR. HERBERT TRENCH has engaged Miss Margaret Morris to play the part of "Water" in The Blue Bird, at the Haymarket. Miss Morris's dancing, it will be remembered, was one of the most admired features in the recent production of Gluck's Orpheus at the Savoy Theatre.

SINCE Mr. Arthur Verne has been discharged from the National Hospital, Queen's-square, W.C. (where he was an in-patient for over six months), he has been recuperating for the last four weeks at the Claughton Convalescent Home, Walton-on-Naze. He is now spending a holiday with his old friend and manager, Mr. J. W. Cordiner (with whom he toured as principal comedian in Dare-Devil Dorthy for five years), at Great Yarmouth and Lowestoft.

THE British Empire Shakespeare Society's reading of The Winter's Tale—postponed from 23rd inst.—will be given on Monday afternoon, June 6, at the Imperial Institute. The cast will include Miss Frances Dillon as Hermione and Perdita; Miss Gertrude Scott, Paulina; Mr. Acton Bond, Autolycus; Mr. Franklin Dyall, Polixenes; also Messrs. Fewlass Llewellyn, Arthur Machen, J. Edwyn Holloway, Maurice Elvey, George Silver, Miss Marjorie Hopcroft, Miss Rita Tomkins, and Miss Gwladys Morris.

MR. T. EDWARD WARD terminates to-night his first tour of his new play His Real Wife, which he has run since Christmas, when it was produced. Notwithstanding the acute crisis that theatrical business is now experiencing, Mr. Ward can boast of some of the largest receipts taken with this play during the whole of his managerial career of some fifteen years. He will resume the tour on August Bank Holiday, when he will travel with His Real Wife and a répertoire of high-class plays, including Moths, Trilby, Sapho, Nana, and the many dramas of which he is the proprietor..

MR. HORACE STANLEY is producing a new drama, in four acts, entitled The Female Detective, at the Osborne Theatre, Manchester, on Monday. Mr. Stanley's productions have an enviable reputation in the provinces, and the autumn tour is nearly fully booked prior to the production of the play.

A SERVICE for Freemasons, in aid of St. Michael and All Angels' Building Fund, to help pay off the debt on the new Memorial Chapel, will be held to-morrow (Sunday), at 3 p.m., at St. Michael and All Angels' Church, Bedford Park. The preacher will be the Rev. Canon Horsley, M.A. (Past Grand Chaplain), and W. Bro. James W. Mathews, P.A.G.D.C., will act as one of the Directors of the Ceremony. The soloists will be Bro. Courtice Pounds and Master John Child.

MR. WILFRED JESSOP, who has just concluded a thirty-two weeks' tour with Mr. Wentworth Croke's company in The Prodigal Son, has been engaged by Mr. Mark Blow for the part of Colonel Alexis in From Slave to Princess. He opened last Monday for the summer tour, and goes to the Theatre Royal, Bristol, next week.

MR. C. ST. JOHN DENTON has just returned to London after a flying visit to Australia, where, in conjunction with Sir Rupert Clarke and Clyde Meynell, his firm—Denton, Bode, and McKenzie—have just produced The Arcadians with enormous success. Mr. Denton speaks eulogistically of the production, and is also enthusiastic on the work of the Australian chorus. Mr. Denton has concluded arrangements extending over the next five years for the two firms to work in conjunction, and will be always glad to hear from musical comedy and pantomime artists wishing to visit Australia.

MR. ALLEN THOMAS, who has been very successfully playing the Old Sport in The Third Floor Back on the Forbes Robertson record American and Canadian tour, has returned to England for the summer vacation. He reports phenomenal business everywhere.

MR. CHAS. L. LUDLOW, we regret to learn, was compelled, through illness, to relinquish his part in the Lyceum company on tour, and has been in the London Hospital for some time. He is reported to be making satisfactory progress, and would be so pleased to hear from any old friends to break the monotony of hospital life. His wife, Miss Agnes St. Clair, who had practically retired for awhile, has decided to return to the stage, and would welcome an engagement.

MR. FRANK ADAIR will produce his new play, entitled It's Always the Woman, at the Shakespeare Theatre, Clapham Junction, on Monday, June 20. Under the nom de plume of "Riada" Mr. Adair is the author of several well-known dramas, amongst them being The Favourite, The Painted Woman, and A Heart's Desire. Mr. Adair is at present successfully touring Fred Maxwell's play The Heathen and the Christian.

THE British Empire Shakespeare Society's Elocution competition will be held at the Queen's Theatre on Monday afternoon, June 27. Mr. H. B. Irving will be the judge. This competition is open not only to London members, but to all members throughout the kingdom. The list of entries closes for professional and amateur classes on June 15. In the Essay competition the subject for the senior prize is "What was Hamlet's state of mind before or after seeing his father's ghost?" and for the junior prize, "State who is your favourite Shakespearean hero—excluding the characters in the historical plays—and give reasons for your choice." All essays must be sent in by June 15.

MME. MELBA, who, to the great disappointment of opera-goers, was not heard at Covent Garden last year owing to her Australian tour, will make her rentrée this season on Monday next in La Bohème, with Mlle. Symiane as Musetta, Mr. John McCormack as Rodolfo, and Signor Sammarco as Marcello.

THE summer season at the Winter Gardens, Bournemouth, opened auspiciously on Whit-Monday, under the management of Mr. Dan Godfrey. Arrangements for the entertainment of visitors are very attractive. The list of works performed by the municipal orchestra, of which Mr. Godfrey is conductor, at a series of thirty-two symphony concerts and a supplementary series of thirty classical concerts, from October to May, was a varied and extensive one, and included selections from the best composers, ancient and modern. Mr. Godfrey believes in the talents of the British musician, for out of a total of 232 works performed, native composers supplied sixty-one.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Garrick's Villa? Who Will Buy?

GARRICK'S VILLA, with Garrick's Ait, is to be sold by auction on June 6. The land is advertised as "ripe for building development." In the posters announcing the sale the auctioneers state that Garrick lived here one hundred years ago. It is over one hundred and thirty years since Garrick died there. It was at the close of the season at Drury Lane in June, 1776, that the actor determined to retire and live at the villa near Hampton. On the tenth of that month the English Roscius made his last bow to the public as Don Felix in The Wonder.

A Pathetic Farewell.

HE at first thought of making his last appearance, as he did his first, in the character of Richard the Third, but he judged that after the fatigue of so laborious a character it would be out of his power to utter a farewell word to the audience. He prepared a prologue for the occasion and spoke it, but he considered the jingle of rhyme ill-suited to his feelings when saying good-bye. "Whatever may be the changes of my future life, the deepest impression of your kindness will always remain here—here in my heart, fixed and unalterable." He passed from the stage he had adorned, and withdrew to his villa at Hampton to pass the evening of his days in peace and rural tranquillity. He lived to rejoice at the success of Sheridan—who followed him at Drury Lane—with The School for Scandal, and died in January, 1779.

Sheridan and the Censor.

IN 1776 Sheridan, aided by his father-in-law, Linley, bought half the patent of Drury Lane Theatre from Garrick, and started management with the Trip to Scarborough. But he was soon busy on his immortal comedy The School for Scandal, which he sent early in 1777 to William Chetwynd, "Examiner of All Entertainments of the Stage," writing thus:—"Sir,—If the following comedy, called The School for Scandal, meet the approbation of the Lord Chamberlain, we shall have it performed at the Theatre Royal, in Drury-lane, May 7, 1777.—R. B. SHERIDAN."

A Precious Script.

ON June 17, at Sotheby's, this original autograph manuscript of the famous classic will be offered for sale. Once, indeed, it was nearly destroyed by fire, having been sent to the binders in 1834 by Sir George Chetwynd, the examiner's grandson, when the premises of Fairburn, the binder, were burnt down. Some of the 137 pages of manuscript show the marks of scorching, otherwise, in the russia binding tooled with the Chetwynd arms, the precious document is complete. The suggestion that Sheridan was in such a hurry that he actually wrote portions of the play during its first performance is disproved by the state of the manuscript. The comedy is complete, with epilogue and prologue as well.

Sheridan's Alterations.

IT is certain, too, that it is the identical copy sent for licence, and found with many other manuscript plays among William Chetwynd's papers at his death in 1778. Again, it contains Sheridan's alterations, notably the combining of the character part of Miss Verjuice with that of Lady Sneerwell. Sheridan's letter quoted above accompanies the play, along with a certificate of authenticity written by Sir George Chetwynd on Sept. 10, 1834, in which the statement is made:—"This is the identical copy of The School for Scandal which was transmitted by a Mr. Sheridan to my Grandfather, William Chetwynd." The copy of the play used for Ireland in the year 1788 is taken from the manuscript which Sheridan forwarded to his sister for the use of the manager of the Dublin Theatre, who gave her one hundred guineas and free admission for her family for the privilege of performing it.

Lions and Men.

"I AM afraid of nothing," Mme. Cécile Sorel, of the Comédie-Française, once said to Baron Henri de Rothschild, in the green-room of the Française. "Not even of lions?" "Not even of them." "Then I will send you two," said the Baron. Lions, however, are not bought in a hurry, and some months elapsed before the Baron could redeem his promise. But now the lions have come, two darling little cubs, male and female, and Mme. Sorel is delighted. "I don't mind roars; I am used to them at the Française." She not only does not mind roaring, but she prefers wild beasts to men. She says they have neither the slavishness of dogs nor the fatuous arrogance of men. In the meantime Mme. Sorel, it seems, has had to send her lion cubs to a keeper's, as they were damaging her furniture. Her misanthropic panegyric of lions has drawn upon the actress's head from the aged M. Henri Rochefort one of the most biting and spiteful attacks which even he has ever written.

A Deadhead's Modesty.

MR. OSCAR ASCHE, who, with his wife, Miss Lily Brayton, is in Australia—his native land—which he left nineteen years ago, has remarked that the deadhead is a destroyer of drama. "Once give a man a free seat for a play," he said, "and you will have a difficulty ever after to make him 'pay to go in.' While I was touring with a certain highly-respected manager we were playing at a long-famous old playhouse in an ancient town. We had billed Macbeth for the Friday night, but during that day the theatre was burnt down. For our next week there our chief contrived to borrow a playhouse a little way out of the district. On reaching there to rehearse on the Monday the manager received a letter saying that the writer had been given two dress-circle orders for the performance of Macbeth, but as that play was not performed owing to the destruction of the theatre, the writer surmised that the manager would remit the money value of those orders."

"G. B. S." as a Linguist.

A YEAR or two ago at Milan Mr. Bernard Shaw found himself with a party of English folk dining at a railway restaurant, and their waiter knew no language but his own. When the moment came to pay and rush for the train, no one, says M.A.P., "was able to make him understand that what was wanted was not one bill, but twenty-four. Here Mr. Shaw's friends insisted that he must know Italian, and, thus called upon to interpret, he racked his memory for chips from Dante, but in vain. All of a sudden a line from the opera The Huguenots flashed to his brain—'Ognuno per se; per tutti il ciel' (Every man for himself; Heaven for us all). Mr. Shaw declaimed it with triumphant success. 'The army of waiters,' relates the dramatist, 'were doubled up with laughter; my friends applauded wildly, and my fame as an Italian scholar was established.'"

Overheard in Wall-street, New York.

"Say, Charlie, lend me 100 dollars, quick!"
"Sure!"
"Hello, what the deuce has come over you?"
"Don't cuss."
"Why?"
"I've seen 'it.'"
"What it?"
"For-bes-Robertson and his Third Floor Back. And he made me see my better self, so I've made up my mind to cuss no more, and I'm going to do all the good I can in future. The night I was there Rockefeller and his lady were in the stalls, and For-bes made him see his better self—just you go and see that Third Floor Back, and I'm sploshed if you won't sling me that 100 dollars back slick, that's a cinch. So long, old boss!"

"FIRES OF FATE" AT ADELPHI.

On Monday, May 23, the Play, by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, Revived for a Series of Monday and Friday Matinées at the Adelphi.

Colonel Cyril Egerton, D.S.O. ..... MR. BEN WEBSTER
The Rev. Samuel Roden ..... MR. J. D. BEVERIDGE
James Roden, M.D., F.R.C.S. ..... MR. BASSETT ROE
Mr. Thomas Belmont ..... MR. ARTHUR BURNE
Mr. Cecil Brown ..... MR. SPENCER TREVOR
Mr. Brodie ..... MR. ALEC. F. THOMPSON
Mons. Octave Fardet ..... MR. MICHAEL SHERBROOKE
Rudkin ..... MR. CHARLES COMBE
Abdulla ..... MR. A. S. HOMEWOOD
Capt. Jack Archer ..... MR. CHARLES MAUDE
Sidi Mohamed ..... MR. W. CRONIN WILSON
Ali Wad Ibrahim ..... MR. FRANK WOOLFE
Abdurrahman ..... MR. S. J. WARMINGTON
A Dervish ..... MR. A. CATON WOODVILLE
Mrs. Belmont ..... MISS DOROTHEA DESMOND
Miss Adams ..... MISS AGNES THOMAS
Miss Sadie Adams ..... MISS RUTH BOWER

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle preaches a very fine sermon in this modern morality play, and if we get little else than preaching in the first two acts, we must acknowledge that it stirs and moves us to sympathy, that we never entertain any doubt either of the truth or beauty of the religious cult of the Rev. Samuel Roden, and that, like all impressionable playgoers, we rejoice at the swashing blow given to polite scepticism by that impetuous but kindly Congregational minister. And this brings us to the consideration of his representative at the Adelphi, where Fires of Fate started on Monday for a series of matinées. Mr. J. D. Beveridge by his realisation of the kindly gospeller sounds the depths of sincerity. His wonderful inflections of tone, his spasms of temper, his fine delineation of the traits of Christian selflessness, and his expression of deep consciousness of duty rob the part of the tediousness that in less able hands might be easily accentuated. Mr. Ben Webster cuts a manly figure as the gallant Colonel Egerton, and dominates the third act, playing a most difficult scene with a directness and impetuosity that are quite convincing. Mr. Bassett Roe is irreproachable in his study of the specialist James Roden; the part of Rudkin is admirably played by Mr. Charles Combe; and a very bright and amusing study of Cecil Brown is presented by Mr. Spencer Trevor. Mr. Alec F. Thompson as Mr. Brodie of Edinburgh, and Mr. Michael Sherbrooke as M. Octave Fardet, score familiar successes in those parts; and Mr. Charles Maude since he first played Captain Jack Archer, of the Egyptian Camel Corps, has considerably advanced his reputation; his breezy style is particularly welcome in the part. Miss Ruth Bower is tenderness itself in the part of Sadie, and the love that comes into the heart of the sweet girl from Massachusetts is beautifully suggested. Miss Bower is decidedly charming, and has a future. Miss Agnes Thomas softens the asperities of the maiden aunt, Miss Adams; and Miss Dorothea Desmond is responsible for an interesting sketch of Mrs. Belmont. Mr. A. S. Homewood makes a picturesque figure of the dragoman Abdulla; Mr. Arthur Burne is effective as Mr. Belmont; and Messrs. W. Cronin Wilson, Frank Woolfe, S. J. Warmington, and A. Caton Woodville are fearfully and wonderfully made up as the black fellows, whose ferocity and sullenness they emphasise particularly well. The scenery on the banks of the Nile is very finely painted, and the drama admirably staged.

"A MIDNIGHT MEETING."

Comedietta, by Cuthbert Morley, Produced at the Globe Theatre, on Saturday, May 21.

Cecily ..... MISS ENID SASS
Kate ..... MISS JEAN HARKNESS
A Burglar ..... MR. GEORGE BEALBY

The story of a burglar's complete seriousness is generally set out in three acts; it is in the one-act pieces in which his reserve is thrown aside, and he becomes either the cynic, the pessimist, or the humorist. He is all three in Cuthbert Morley's little play produced on Saturday evening in front of Parasites at the Globe. Cecily and Kate are chatting in the former's bedroom before retiring for the night. Cecily is a leader of the Suffragist movement, and will speak on the morrow at the Caxton Hall. There is nothing angular or unattractive about her; but nevertheless she poses as a strong-minded female, and has wagered a new hat with a male friend that she would not faint at the sight of a burglar. During the conversation she toys with an unloaded revolver, frightening her friend, but unconsciously giving the cue to a burglar concealed behind the curtains of the French windows. Kate having said good-night, Cecily goes off to sleep while reading a speech antagonistic to the Votes for Women movement—a speech that she hopes to answer triumphantly in her speech on the morrow. A noise made by the cracksman awakens her, and she finds herself in darkness with the door locked and the key gone. At once concluding that a practical joke has been played upon her, she calls upon her male friend to come out of his hiding place. But she discovers her mistake when the brutal countenance of the burglar faces her revolver quite calmly and tells her it is not loaded. He appropriates the contents of her jewel case, her friend's diamond ring, her bracelets, and detaches a necklet by force. He considers himself an expert in jewels with advanced political views, and is quite a lady's man. Cecily behaves very pluckily, but when the burglar leaves her, after giving expression to his enjoyment of a very pleasant evening, she faints. On her recovery the thief has got clear away with the swag, and Cecily runs in terror from the room, calling her friend. The holding-up of the real burglar by the amateur who Cecily thinks is playing the part for a joke would make a better climax. Mr. George Bealby as the burglar presents a good study of the determined brutality of the thief in the night, and Miss Enid Sass, one of the most promising of our younger actresses, makes a spirited Cecily, whose distress is convincingly presented. Miss Jean Harkness is quite effective as Kate.

Mr. Arthur Bourchier's study of the amazing Colonel Philippe Bridau in Parasites has gained in breadth since the night of the first production of the piece. With such officers as Bridau, it is no wonder that Napoleon conquered Europe. Miss Constance Collier is fascinatingly diplomatic, with alternate fits of resentment when Flora is in the presence of her tormentor and tenderly solicitous when having a tête-à-tête with her fellow-conspirator and lover, Max Gilet. Mr. A. E. George is responsible for a fine study of senility as Rouget; Mr. Norman Trevor evinces all the determination and decision of character that belong to Max Gilet; Mr. Acton Bond is a picturesque Joseph Bridau; and Miss Marie Linden is a sweet, motherly Mme. Bridau. The piece goes particularly well, and the interest never slackens. Mr. Bourchier positively revels in his latest part.

HASTINGS Gaiety Theatre has just been the scene of the production of an historical pageant, in which over 200 persons appeared on the stage, and the result has been an artistic and financial success. No fewer than three bishops patronised the performances, and a prominent Nonconformist divine also attended. The stage-manager, Mr. Orlando Barnett, is to be congratulated upon the admirable success of the undertaking. William the Conqueror appeared upon ground which the great warrior undoubtedly trod under the same comet which we are told blazed out at the time of his great victory, and on Wednesday evening the personator of William I. might have been seen, robed and crowned, on the roof of the Gaiety Theatre looking through a telescope at Halley's comet!

ACTRESSES' FRANCHISE LEAGUE.

May we call them franchisseuses, those fascinating women of the stage who made everything bright at the Criterion Restaurant on Tuesday afternoon? Many of them had hung their bannerets of silken sheen on a large screen near the entertainment platform. In various hues of broidered significance we read the names of Ellen Terry, Mrs. Kendal, Violet Vanbrugh, and others prominent on the spindle side of many famous theatrical casts. Miss Decima Moore for once was commandant in front of the house, assisted by Miss Adeline Bourne, and the London stage was well represented by some of its finest players. As to the mere man—"not a grunt was heard nor a discordant note as through the programme we hurried."

It was perhaps a strange anomaly that a mere person in trousers supplied the chief attraction of the afternoon, a brightly-written comedietta, quite apropos, by the way, to the doctrine of women's emancipation from domestic thraldom. It bears the title of

"UNEXPECTED CIRCUMSTANCES."

Clara Murgatroyd ..... MISS EVA MOORE
Jenkins ..... MISS AVICE SCHOLTZ
Vincent Murgatroyd, M.P. ..... MR. CHAS. V. FRANCE

The author, Mr. Louis Cowen, a well-known critic, has drawn with some cleverness a self-sufficient and portentous Parliamentary bore, Vincent Murgatroyd, M.P., whose platitudes would send most members into the smoke-room at the House. Vincent has voted for an abstract resolution in favour of greater political freedom for women, but would deny them the vote. He is too self-centred and dull-witted to recognise the cleverness and smartness of his wife, whom he desires to be a womanly woman. She does not share apparently the advantages of his position in the House, as he is going alone to a dinner given by a famous party hostess. But Clara Murgatroyd does not intend to stay at home, and makes an appointment to dine at a restaurant with her stockbroker, whose tips have been of considerable value to her. The husband is told of her intention, and as he is dining out to further his political career he can scarcely complain of her doing the same. The truth then comes home to Murgatroyd that he possesses a resourceful, tactful wife, and his attitude of superior indifference changes to one of tenderness. He can learn much from her sound common sense. They agree to dine together, and put off their engagements owing to "unexpected circumstances." Miss Eva Moore and Mr. Charles V. France played exceedingly well as husband and wife; but we should like to hear the piece again under more favourable circumstances, as the dialogue did not always reach us.

Later in the afternoon was played the duologue A Matter of Moment, by Violet Langbridge, in which Mr. Lawrence Leyton and Miss Maud Hoffman appeared. Miss Theresa Beney opened the entertainment with a well-played Prelude by Rachmaninoff. The place of Miss Alice Esty, who was to have sung the "Jewel Song" from Faust, was taken by Mr. Gerald French, an agreeable tenor. Mr. Percy French gave one of the most successful turns of the afternoon when he turned on "Chuckles in Chalk" and recited parodies of Kipling and Robbie Burns. Miss Decima Moore was quite delightful in the accompanied monologue "The Waltz Quadrille," which she followed by a whistling solo; Miss Maggie Davies' pure intonation in Haydn's beautiful old aria "My mother bids me bind my hair" gave considerable pleasure; Mr. Ben Webster recited "The Sea," by Eva L. Ogden; Mr. H. V. Esmond was responsible for a dramatic rendering of "A Gold-digger's Story"; Mr. Hubert Bath accompanied Miss Lena Ashwell in two recitations, with music by Stanley Hawley; Miss Constance Collier gave two short pieces; Miss Fanny Wentworth at the piano kept her audience in roars of laughter with her stories of "bridge"; and Miss Cecilia Loftus was exceedingly welcome in her mimicry of Margaret Cooper, Yvette Guilbert, Caruso, and Alfred Lester. Miss Marjory Moore and Mr. Henry Ainley also contributed. The accompaniments were played by Mr. Leonard Calvert and Miss Theresa Beney, and the stage-management was in the capable keeping of Mr. Clifford Brooke and Mr. Roland Pertwee.

REHEARSAL THEATRE.

The fifteenth performance held by Mr. Clive Currie at the Rehearsal Theatre on Monday last was undoubtedly the best yet seen there. The afternoon, it will be remembered, was exceedingly hot, yet despite outdoor blandishments the little theatre in Maiden-lane was crowded. Act 2 of School, a new sketch Love is Passing, and Mr. Horace W. C. Newte's ever-welcome The Journey's End, in addition to recitations by the Misses Edith Carter and Eva Balfour, made up a most enjoyable bill of fare. In the chosen act from Mr. T. W. Robertson's School we got a delightful representative of Naomi Tighe in Miss Marjorie Hodges. Miss Evelyn Vandersee as Bella, too, was extremely good. Great credit is due to Mr. Keith J. Shepherd for his version of Dr. Sutcliffe.

Love is Passing is a well-written little sketch of the human type from the pen of Mrs. Angelo Savi, and, we are informed, was presented for the first time.

Robert Sylvester ..... MR. CLIVE CURRIE
Leonard Hill ..... MR. KEITH J. SHEPHERD
Dolly Hartley ..... MISS EVELYN GREY
Maid ..... MISS MILLICENT MERLE

The refrain from "Love the Pilgrim," sung before the curtain goes up on the opening, might well be omitted altogether, as it in no way affects the story, which in itself is excellent. Robert Sylvester, novelist, admirably portrayed by Mr. Clive Currie, is a man of possibly forty-five. He has a pretty ward, Dolly Hartley (Miss Evelyn Grey), eighteen years of age. Robert is engrossed in his work, and, kindness itself to his fair charge, allows her to do pretty well as she will. Dolly, too, is engrossed in the novelist and his work, but from a different standpoint. She loves him, but thinks it necessary to flirt with all the good-looking and eligible "boys" of her acquaintance. One afternoon at a garden party Leonard Hill (Mr. Keith J. Shepherd) asks her to be his wife. Dolly refers him to "Guardy." The interview that follows is capitally played by Messrs. Currie and Shepherd, and one scarcely knows which to admire most—the nervousness and awkward trepidation of the suitor or the politeness and studied cynicism of the guardian. Needless to say, "Guardie" ultimately marries "Wardie." Miss Grey's work is extremely good, and the sketch as played by the company mentioned is worthy of a place in any programme.

Miss Eva Balfour was inclined to be nervous in the potion scene from Romeo and Juliet, but she is an actress with a forceful delivery, and is undoubtedly a creditable Shakespearian student. Miss Edith Carter's unnamed monologue dealing with the petulancy of a newly-engaged girl was very well done indeed.

Mr. Clive Currie informs us that he is to give a special matinée on Thursday, June 16, at the Royal Court Theatre, Sloan-square, S.W. The programme will include the Forest scenes of Shakespeare's As You Like It, with Mr. H. A. Saintsbury as Touchstone, Mr. Clive Currie as Jacques, Miss Mary Forbes as Rosalind, and Miss Jean Graeme as Celia. This will be followed by a one-act play by Gaston Gervex, entitled The Accolade, produced by Mr. H. A. Saintsbury, who will play the Marquis de Valencourt.

IN consequence of the death of his Majesty King Edward VII., patron of the Royal College of Music, the orchestral concert of the Patron's Fund is postponed until the autumn.

SIR HERBERT TREE IN DUBLIN.

The second performance of two new plays at the Irish Theatrical Club, Dublin, in aid of the Samaritan Fund of the Women's National Health Association, on the afternoon of the 18th inst., was favoured by the presence of Sir Herbert Tree, who was appearing in the Irish capital. The plays were from the pen of Miss Mary Costello, and were entitled The Coming of Aideen and The Gods at Play, both of which were favourably received by the large audience. Owing to Sir Herbert Tree's engagement at the Theatre Royal, where he was appearing in a matinée performance of The O'Flynn, it was almost six o'clock when he was able to get over to the Club's cosy little theatre in Upper Sackville-street, and he had just time to get seated when the curtain fell on The Gods at Play.

Prevailed upon to speak a few words to the audience on the subject of the charity which they were assembled to support, Sir Herbert, whose appearance was greeted with loud applause, delivered a brief address from the stage, in which he said:—Ladies and Gentlemen—It is a great pleasure to me to come here to blow, with the broken bellows of my eloquence, the embers of public opinion in favour of the agitation for the Women's National Health Association of Ireland. It is the glory of our time that we recognise the duty of individuals towards the community, and this is essentially a women's movement. It seems that, in spite of all that is said to the contrary, woman's throne is her home, and that the home actually needs her. Men have to fight the battle outside. "You take from me the house when you do take the prop that doth sustain the house."

But I am particularly interested in this movement, as I have for many years been connected with a movement in London for the feeding of children—I mean the Referee Children's Dinner Fund—and I think we may claim to have done a great deal towards the helping of poor children to better health. Every child should have in the morning food in its stomach and boots on its feet. I have noticed in Dublin a great many children with bare feet, and I asked a jarvey the other day, as I sat with that nice balance which I have learned to attain on the car, how it is that so many children in Dublin prefer to have bare feet. He replied at once, with that humour which rarely fails an Irishman when he sits behind a horse, "Ah, sir, you see, they can get about quicker—that is, in sellin' the evenin' papers; it is a waste of time to put on their boots." Well, I suppose the day is far distant when the State shall take over all these responsibilities, although they have gone pretty far already in point of education.

But, still, more important than the food for the mind is the food for their little bodies, and every penny you give towards this will be productive of good at compound interest, not to be computed in this generation—it will help to give a vigorous race, and to make Ireland the prosperous country that it should be—the country that it will be. In inviting me here to-day your gracious president, Lady Aberdeen, reminded me that the war cry of the Crusaders was "God wills it." Surely this is a motto we can well adopt. I saw the other day there was a benevolent society called "God's Poor"—that, I think, is a misnomer—it is a shame to saddle God with these things. I think it is "man's poor," for the responsibility lies with man, and not with God. The world is large, and the sun's rays are wide, and there are many green fields that are yet untrodden. Well, ladies and gentlemen, I have nothing to say to you, as you no doubt realise by this time; but I am anxious to give you something, and if you will accept this little cheque from me I shall, at least, feel that I have done something in the service of this admirable cause.

Sir Herbert Tree subsequently left for London to attend the King's funeral.

ACTORS' ASSOCIATION.

Minutes of the Council meeting held on Tuesday, May 24, at 32, Regent-street. Present: Mr. Clarence Derwent (in the chair), Messrs. Cyril Cattley, F. H. De Quincey, Chris Walker, C. F. Collings, Robson Paige, Leonard Shepherd, Murri Moncrieff, Frederick Morland, Miss Rose Cazalet, Miss Beatrice Chester, Miss Mildred Cottell, and Mr. D. Young, secretary. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. It was decided that an addition should be made to the monthly advertisement to the effect that the Association could not use its funds in behalf of non-members.

The Finance Committee's report was read by Miss Chester and adopted. The House Committee's report was submitted by Mr. Moncrieff, and certain suggestions contained therein were discussed. It was suggested that an emergency meeting of that committee should be held to discuss the said suggestions and estimates be submitted.

With regard to Mr. Langford Reed's suggestion re Mrs. Siddons picture, the secretary was instructed to ascertain from an expert (free of charge) whether or not the said picture was valuable.

The secretary reported five engagements through the Agency. Elections: Blanche Ripley and Ethel Hodgkins. Nomination: Mary Goulden.

Mr. Frederick Morland gave notice of motion a fortnight hence (June 7) re the paying off of debentures.

A Connoisseur.

"WILLIAM RIGNOLD was a big, fine, robust man at the time I speak of," writes Mr. Fred Dobell, "but not quite so active as in his youthful days. On the first night of The Run of Luck at Drury Lane, in which Rignold played the part of a hard-riding country squire, he had to mount his horse in one scene and ride off to the meet. He was assisted to the saddle by a groom, who gave him too vigorous a 'leg-up,' and William consequently 'overleaped himself,' and fell on the other side. Nothing daunted, he mounted again—this time by the help of a chair brought on by a friendly super—and rode off triumphantly. A few minutes afterwards a messenger arrives on the stage with the news that the squire has been thrown from his horse, whereupon a voice from the gallery set the whole house in a roar with the exclamation, 'Hanged if I didn't expect it from his awkward way of getting up!'"

A Stage Irishman.

"AFTER a long absence from our midst the stage Irishman has again made his bow in one of our local theatres," says the San Francisco Leader. "This individual is one of the meanest specimens of the red-haired, red-whiskered, red-nosed stage Irishmen it has ever been our misfortune to see. Devoid of any sense of humour, he depends upon a laugh for a make-up which for idiocy can be found nowhere outside of a lunatic asylum. Here in San Francisco, where the hardest fight in the whole world was waged against the caricaturing of the Hibernian race on the stage, we thought we had wiped out the evil for ever. But it appears we have miscalculated. 'Pat' still stalks the boards more ignorant, more ferocious, more of a baboon than he ever was. Let it be understood right here that the stage Irishman doesn't go. Our people will not stand to be represented as a drunken, rowdy, monkey-faced race of beings, and the sooner this fact is recognised the better for the peace of all concerned."

OWING to a severe attack of tonsillitis, Miss Josephine Middleton, who has been playing the leading part for Mr. Tom Craven in his detective drama When a Lass Loves, was prevented from appearing last week at the Lyric, Hammersmith, but has now quite recovered, and will resume her part on Monday next at the Theatre Royal, Margate.

BEECHAM OPERA SEASON.

Sir Charles Stanford's Irish opera Shamus O'Brien was performed by Mr. Thomas Beecham's company at His Majesty's Theatre on Tuesday night. Shamus O'Brien, originally produced at the Opera Comique in 1896, was revived a year or so ago by a performance given by the students of the Royal College of Music at La Scala Theatre. The story of Sir Charles Stanford's opera deals with events in Ireland after the Rebellion of 1798. Shamus, an outlaw, in hiding from the English soldiers, is betrayed by Mike Murphy, a former lover of Nora, Shamus's wife. After his arrest, Shamus is sentenced to death, but by the aid of Father O'Flynn, a parish priest, makes his escape, and a stray bullet fired at Shamus kills the informer, Mike Murphy. One of the strongest features of the performance on Tuesday night was the excellent and characteristic impersonation of the informer, Mike Murphy, by Mr. Joseph O'Mara, who acted and sang with a life and spirit that gave interest to every scene in which he appeared. Several humorous touches were most artistically introduced, and a very hearty encore followed Mr. O'Mara's graphic singing of Mike's solo "Ochone, when I used to be young." Mr. Albert Archdeacon made a manly Shamus O'Brien, singing with pleasing effect and displaying considerable power as an actor. Mr. Robert Radford as Father O'Flynn was histrionically effective, but he did not seem vocally at ease in the music of the part. The pathetic part of Nora O'Brien was ably undertaken by Miss Edith Evans as regards acting, but she was a little timid in her singing. Miss Caroline Hatchard proved a vivacious Kitty O'Toole, and Mr. John Bardsley made a handsome Captain Trevor and sang well. Mr. Reginald Scrope-Quintin appeared as Sergeant Cox, and the Banshee air was admirably sung by Miss Carrie Tubb. The chorus acted and sang with spirit as the peasants, villagers, &c., and a most picturesque scene had been painted of The Village of Ballyhamis, in the Mountains of Cork. Mr. Hamish McCunn, who conducted, secured an excellent performance of Sir Charles Stanford's lively score, and the audience gave a most cordial reception to the revival.

Wednesday, May 25, Edmond Missa's Operatic Version of Ouida's Two Little Wooden Shoes, entitled

"MUGUETTE."

Muguette ..... MISS RUTH VINCENT
Lena Krebs ..... MISS MURIEL TERRY
Melka ..... MISS MAGGIE TEYTE
Mme. Vanhart ..... MISS STELLA PHELPS
Gertrude ..... MISS BRENDA BARNETT
Mère Rosa ..... MISS STELLA GODWIN
Lionel ..... MR. JOHN COATES
Klotz ..... MR. HARRY DEARTH
Peter Pot ..... MR. DENNIS BYNDON-AYRES
Vanhart ..... MR. ARTHUR ROYD
Jean ..... MR. FREDERICK RANALOW
Kobe ..... MR. ARTHUR WINN

Edmond Missa's opéra comique Muguette, founded on Ouida's novel "Two Little Wooden Shoes," was produced by Mr. Thomas Beecham, for the first time in England, at His Majesty's Theatre on Wednesday night, with every prospect of complete success. Originally performed at the Opéra-Comique, Paris, on March 18, 1903, the libretto of Messrs. Michel Carré and Georges Hartmann gives the chief incidents and carries out the spirit of Ouida's charming story until the last act of the opera is reached, when a change is made and Muguette is re-united to her lover, and all ends happily, in strong contrast to the novel, where poor Bébée drowns herself because Flamen, the artist, never returns. One sad event in connection with the production of Muguette is the death of its composer, Edmond Missa, in a motor accident some months ago. The action of the opera takes place in Flanders, and afterwards in Paris, about the year 1820, and in the first act we have a delightful picture of the poultry market at Antwerp, with all the life and bustle of a market day. Lionel, an artist, is seeking a certain type of face he wants to paint. Meeting his old friend Klotz, a silversmith, Lionel asks his aid, and Klotz introduces him to Muguette, a flower-girl. Charmed with her grace and beauty, Lionel requests a sitting, and it is arranged that he shall come and paint her in her old garden at home. The second act takes place in Muguette's garden. Children, after singing a hymn, dance round Muguette, and beg her to come to a fête, but she refuses, and when they leave sets up the easel and picture for a sitting. Lionel arrives, Muguette takes up a graceful pose, and the artist for some time goes on with the painting. It is evident, however, that the painter is deeply in love with his pretty model, and, as he gradually discovers she is equally infatuated with him, the brushes and palette are laid aside, the lovers sing a duet, and the scene ends with Lionel's departure and his promise to return. The scene of the third act is Lena Krebs' house. Lena, Rosa, and Vanhart and his wife expect a wedding party to celebrate the marriage of Kobe with Gertrude; folk-songs are sung, and when Muguette enters it is plain she is in despair about her lover, for, of course, Lionel does not return, and it is now mid-winter. Klotz comes in and tells Muguette he hears her artist friend is ill in Paris. Muguette then secretly resolves to go to Paris to nurse him. When the house is closed for the night Muguette comes from her room, and leaves for Paris. A snowy wood on the French frontier is shown in the third act. Muguette, worn out with fatigue, on her way to Paris, sinks on the ground. Discovered by Klotz, she tells him of her resolve to seek Lionel, and they depart for Paris. An artist's studio in Paris is the scene of the last act. Lionel, recovered from his illness, is seen painting Melka, a model. During his absence from the studio Muguette and Klotz arrive, and Melka, a kind-hearted girl, finding out Muguette's love for the artist, dresses her in a costume, and when Lionel returns he finds in the new model the pretty Muguette, when, after a brief love-duet, they are united, and the opera ends. Although, it will be seen, the story departs somewhat from Ouida's "Two Little Wooden Shoes," the main feature of the artist's love for the flower-girl is the same. In some respects it is a pity Jeannot, the young woodman, Muguette's former lover, could not have been introduced, as a fine baritone part could have been made of this character. The happy ending to the opera also is not quite so artistic as a pathetic one, for do not our "sweetest songs tell of saddest thoughts"? and the composer is evidently gifted with the art of writing plaintive music.

Edmond Missa's little opera is full of melodious themes, and the finest music is certainly found in the second act. Muguette's song, "May's the month of Mary; we sing to her for joy," her solo while posing to Lionel, and the duet sung by the lovers as the sun is setting over the quaint old-world garden are all full of charm. Very pleasing also is Muguette's ballad in the first act, "How sweet and fair the morning air." The music of Klotz has interest, and the model Melka in the last acts sings a lively "vieille chanson." Between the first and second acts the orchestra played what might be termed an intermezzo of such dainty melody that the audience insisted on an encore. Miss Ruth Vincent sang delightfully as Muguette, and made an attractive appearance in the quaint costume of the country; excellent also was the Lionel of Mr. John Coates, and fervent his singing and acting; as the good-hearted Klotz Mr. Dearth was vocally very effective; and Miss Maggie Teyte's Melka deserved great praise. In the minor parts, Miss Muriel Terry, Miss Stella Phelps, Miss Brenda Barnett, and Miss Stella Godwin were all successful; and Messrs. Byndon-Ayres, A. Royd, F. Ranalow, and Arthur Wynn ably played the market folk. The opera was handsomely mounted.

AMERICAN AMUSEMENTS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

NEW YORK, May 18.—The Spitfire, a play in four acts, now running at the Lyceum Theatre, is described as a "nautical melodramatic comedy." Two thieves, Ormond and Tracy, have robbed Bruce Morson, a young American engineer, of some valuable jewels. They are in league with the mate of the Spitfire, an ocean-going yacht, owned by an American millionaire. Using the owner's code, they order the captain to steam immediately for New York; but just as the yacht leaves Calais they pick up a man who has leaped overboard from a tug. The adventurers on board the yacht recognise him as their victim, although he does not know them, and when he tells his story to Valda Girard, the owner's daughter, they invent a plausible tale, by which she is made to believe that he is an impostor. So the young engineer is forced to scrub the deck and work for his passage. His humiliation by the mate and his efforts to recover the stolen jewels, in which he is aided by Valda's cousin, Polly Thurman, who falls in love with him, keep him in trouble all the time. The second act ends with a fight between the mate and Morson. Then there are some comedy scenes between Morson and Valda, who at times treats him decently, and on other occasions with marked discourtesy. When the jewels are stolen from the Spitfire's safe Valda suspects that Morson has taken them. A storm arises, and the yacht is wrecked, leaving Valda and the young engineer stranded in a lonely spot on the coast of New Jersey, where their makeshifts and misunderstandings create a series of amusing situations. By this time Valda has fallen in love with Morson. He has so bravely rescued her from the ocean that she makes up her mind he is not a thief long before Ormond and Tracy make their way to shore from the wreck, and are properly crestfallen and discomfited.

Mr. Charles Cherry upholds his popularity in the rôle of Bruce Morson; and Miss Ruth Maycliffe is a charming Valda. Mr. E. J. Ratcliffe, after a long absence from New York, appears with success as James Ormond, and the other parts are well played.

"Jim the Penman," revived at the Lyric Theatre by William A. Brady, has proved an immense success, the house being crowded nightly. For this the "all-star" cast is, no doubt, chiefly responsible, for there is no denying that the methods employed in the unfolding of the story are old-fashioned to say the least. But the opportunity of seeing such an eminent trio of players as Messrs. John Mason, Theodore Roberts, and Wilton Lackaye in the same cast, does not occur very often. A short while ago Mr. Roberts was impersonating one of those rough-and-ready Westerners who are always "toying" with their revolvers, and no one can beat him at that kind of characterisation. In the present revival he appears as Baron Hartfeld, and gives a faithful portrayal of the polished German schemer, who aids and abets Jim Ralston in his nefarious practices. His performance is a highly interesting example of all-round cleverness and versatility. As Captain Redwood Mr. John Mason shows us once more what an accomplished actor he is, for he plays the part to perfection.

Mr. Wilton Lackaye is not at his best as Jim Ralston, although his embodiment, on the whole, is satisfactory. The rôle of Nina Ralston gave Miss Florence Roberts the opportunity to distinguish herself for which she had waited, and she rose to the occasion splendidly. Her impersonation will long be remembered. Mr. Arthur Forrest plays Louis Percival with dignity and strength, and makes a very good impression. Mr. Frederick Paulding's Mr. Netherby is a capital character-sketch; and Mr. Louis Massen acts Dr. Pettywise very successfully. Miss Jeffreys Lewis as Lady Dunscombe, Miss Marguerite Clark as Agnes Ralston, Miss Grace Reals as Mrs. Chapstone, and Mr. Ernest Glendinning as George Ralston play their parts cleverly. Few revivals arouse so much enthusiasm on the opening night. Time and again the actors were recalled and heartily applauded. Mr. Brady, in a brief speech, wished he could write a play that would be received so favourably twenty-five years after its first presentation.

"The Mikado" is to be revived at the Casino on the 30th inst. The company will be quite a constellation, as Mr. Sam Bernard will play Ko-Ko, Mr. Jefferson De Angelis the Mikado, Mr. Andrew Mack Nanki-Poo, Mr. Charles Ross Pooh-Bah, Miss Fritzi Scheff Yum-Yum, Miss Lulu Glaser Pitti-Sing, Mr. William Pruette Pish-Tush, and Miss Marguerite Clark Peep-Bo.

Miss Marie Dressler has begun an engagement at the Herald-square Theatre, which promises to last through the summer. She appears in a "mixture of mirth and melody," called Tillie's Nightmare, some particulars of which have already been given. The entertainers include the original English "Dancing Dolls," Misses Carrie Poltz, Florrie Poltz, Eva Marlowe, and Nellie Wilkie.

Mr. George Arliss is at the Lyric Theatre, Chicago, appearing in a new play, entitled When Two Write History, by Agnes Bangs Morgan. Mr. Arliss impersonates a whimsical and pedantic individual named John Remington, who figures in a pretty love story.

Mr. Henry Miller and his company are appearing at the Garrick Theatre in a three-act comedy called Her Husband's Wife, by A. E. Thomas. The central character of the play is a hypochondriac, whose absurd ideas cause complications, which are woven into an interesting and humorous story. The scenes are laid at Saratoga during the racing season. Irene Randolph is happily married and enjoys good health, but she imagines she has an incurable ailment and is doomed to an early death. Every time the cuckoo clock strikes she takes a dose of medicine. Her one thought is to make her husband happy and comfortable after she is gone. With this end in view she decides that he must marry again, and chooses as her successor her dearest friend, Emily Ladew, who has had a misunderstanding with her sweetheart and lost her interest in life. To use her own expression she has allowed herself to "deteriorate."

Being of dowdy appearance, and having quite lost her "shape," she seems to be an ideal choice to the wife, who requires someone who will be a "mother" to her husband, and whom he cannot be expected to love, of course, as he loves his present partner. Irene's husband is not aware of her intentions; but John Belden, her uncle, is, and he tries to cure his niece of her hallucination. To humour her, however, he consults the lady upon whom her choice has fallen. But Emily, who is really a good-looking girl, is piqued at the idea of being considered plain, and at once wakes up. She endeavours to make herself as fascinating as possible, effects a wonderful change in her appearance, and starts a flirtation with Stuart Randolph. Seeing this, the wife becomes jealous, and soon recovers from her imaginary ailment, while Emily and her lover are brought together again.

Most amusing are the efforts of the wife to undo the effects of her ill-considered plan and to prejudice her husband's "fiancée" against him. She insists that he drinks heavily and even beats her. But Emily sees through her. "Oh, I'll tame him," she says, "you'll see!" Then she adds, pointedly, "But now I think of it you won't see," which completes the wife's discomfiture. Thanks to his wife's subterfuge, Randolph gets such a bad name that her brother and husband almost come to blows, and an amusing scene occurs when the latter, in trying to humour his wife and win her sympathy, offers her a divorce, which only proves to her how much he is interested in the other woman. Miss Laura Hope Crews as Irene Randolph and Mr. Henry Miller as John Belden share the principal honours. The dialogue is witty and diverting, and the play has been well received by the Press and the public.

THEATRICAL COSTUME SALE.

During four days of this week Messrs. Waring and Gillow have held a sale of rich art and decorative accessories, the property of the late Sir William Orchardson, at his house in Portland-place. Good prices have, in the main, been realised, and many prominent members of the profession have been interested spectators of the auction. Yesterday (Friday) was, perhaps, of most consequence from a theatrical point of view, for many useful costumes carefully chosen by the late painter for his pictures were offered, ranging from Paisley shawls to Pompadour vests.

Bargains were as plentiful as blackberries in September at Friday's sale. Really magnificent costumes and "props" changed hands for a few shillings in many cases. Thus two cocked hats, two shakos, and one beaver hat (the Napoleon period) fetched 16s. the lot; one box of six hats (period 1795), 5s.; one bundle of tassels and items, £1 6s.; one box of ribbons, fans, and flowers, 9s.; one box, containing muslin gown and oddments, 18s.; one box of old shirts, cravats, and ruffles, 16s.; brocaded bodice made for "The Borgia" picture, 12s.; one model green gown made for the picture "The Last Dance," 9s; one yellow and one black domino, one real black Spanish official cloak and hat, two pairs tights, and one crimson cloth robe, £2 10s.; one real green embroidered silk Persian robe, £6 10s.; four pairs real early nineteenth century gloves, 8s.; two real old quilted Georgian petticoats, one real old black printed chintz gown (same period), and one real old silk gown and belt, £3 3s.; and one brown Eastern embroidered shirt and a pair of real old Georgian stays, £1 6s.

There were many novelties that the dealers eagerly snapped up, among them being an embroidered Japanese fireman's coat, a real Turkish embroidered vest, a model blue linen jacket, patched trousers and pocket, worn by an Italian fisherman on the Lido, a real old satin Louis XVI. waistcoat, woven flowers and gold, original buttons and lining and all, and a very old curious Pompadour waistcoat. Two other garments for which there was the briskest bidding were a real old Georgian dressing-gown and a fine sixteenth century tunic.

At Edgware Police Court on Thursday Joseph St. Clair, a former manager with the Moody-Manners Opera Company, was charged with embezzling £160 10s., the moneys of the company. Mr. W. H. Mote, solicitor, who prosecuted, said that the accused was for seven seasons employed as business manager of one of the Moody-Manners touring companies, and that his contract expired during this month. He was not re-engaged for the next tour, and he wrote to Mr. Manners enclosing a statement of accounts, showing that the company owed him £155 10s. He added in his letter that he was anxious to fight the matter out in Court. Mr. Charles Manners, managing-director, bore out his solicitor's statement, and said that his accountant informed him that a sum of £160 was due from the prisoner. Mr. H. H. Olley, for the defence, asked for a remand to enable him to investigate the accounts. The case was adjourned, the prisoner being allowed bail, himself in £100 and one surety in £100.

Among the passengers on R.M.S. Lusitania, which arrived on Monday, was Mr. Frederick Meads, who has just concluded a most successful nine months' engagement in America with Miss Maxine Elliott.

Now that the taxgatherer is so very busy questions of motoring economy reach an acute stage. Foremost amongst them all is the problem of tyre service and tyre efficiency. Careful motorists should be sure that their tyre equipment embodies the latest advance in tyre construction and consequently ensures them the highest obtainable standard of tyre service and mileage. The tyre world does move. To see that you enjoy the full benefit of its progression,

Specify

Goodrich Tyres

Manufactured by
THE B.F. GOODRICH CO., LTD., 7, SNOW HILL, LONDON, E.C.

AMUSEMENTS IN AUSTRALIA.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

SYDNEY, April 20.—Criterion.—The Clarke and Meynell management has given a superb setting to Oscar Asche's play Count Hannibal. The capital all-round acting, allied with the elaborate staging, make for success, and a success is achieved. Miss Lily Brayton has the most strenuous character to portray as Clotilde, the lady of Vrillac. The strong play of emotions, varied and ever varying, showed the beautiful actress at her best. Mr. Oscar Asche had all the heavy work as the swashbuckler—ruthless, loving, and true in his dominant strength. The big, burly body, with its thundrous voice, eye and brain ever alert—thus was Mr. Oscar Asche. Next comes the deft limning of the portrait of King Louis IX. by the master hand of Mr. Herbert Grimwood. The fatuous monarch—fearful, dissipated, and easily led—was resurrected for our delectation. Mr. Caleb Porter realised the fanatic, Father Pezelay, completely. Miss Elfrida Clement had the only mirthful part as Mme. St. Lo, and she made the most of it. Tignonville, the lover of Clothilde, was allotted to Mr. Gerald Kay Souper, and he portrayed the moral and physical coward faithfully. Mr. Fritz Russell (who also stage-managed the production) and Mr. Athol Forde had their strong scene as Bigot and Badelon most heartily cheered. Mr. Reginald Ian Penny, with high-pitched voice, was the Rochefoucauld, a valuable acquisition. A host of other clever folk, including Miss Constance Robertson, undertook the long list of historical characters. Mr. Joseph Harker's ten scenes were very fine.

Palace.—Messrs. Allan Hamilton and Max Maxwell changed their bill on Saturday to In London Town. Miss Beatrice Holloway is the heroine, Alice Dalton, and no chance escapes her of making a point, albeit most natural throughout. Mr. Godfrey Cass makes Frank Dalton the living embodiment of concentrated villainy. Mr. Max Maxwell is thoroughly effective as John Hargreaves; Miss Jennie Pollock makes the adventuress, Rose Norrison, winsome as well as detestable; Mr. Charles Brown and Miss Muriel Dale have all the comedy as Jack Parker, the tar, and Liddy Bliss, the jam girl. Scenery and general production were up to the standard of Hamilton and Maxwell.

Royal.—Madame Butterfly, with three alternating prime donne, Bel Sorel, Elly Barnato, and Amy Castles, is still to the fore, but on Saturday the J. C. Williamson firm will revive La Bohème. In this opera Miss Maria Pampari will be the Mimi and Signor Zerga the poet.

Her Majesty's.—The pantomime Aladdin still keeps the box-office keeper and treasurer busy. Fresh interpolations keep the interest alive, and no note of departure or change is sounded.

Tivoli.—The crowds of interested folk who go to see how Houdini gets out of his handcuffs and leg-irons are most gratifying large for Mr. Harry Rickards' enterprise. Challenge follows upon challenge, and, to add to the excitement, Houdini makes aeroplane voyages. The Wille Brothers, Allan Shaw (the coin juggler), Lillie Langtry (the soubrette), the Two Bells, and Dorothy Forbes are a few of the many artists in the bill.

West's Pictures, Spence's Theatrescope, Wirth's Circus, the Bijou, Victoria Hall, Standard Theatre, these are among the fine picture shows and entertainments. Every suburb has several covered and open-air picture shows, each and all coining money.

MELBOURNE, April 19.—Princess's Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. J. C. Williamson; Business-Manager, Mr. Harry Musgrove.—The last nights are now announced of What Every Woman Knows. The play was, however, well patronised on Saturday evening. Miss Nellie Stewart, in the part of Maggie Wylie, the "home-spun" heroine, was again well received. The whole play is filled with interesting incidents that never fail of the expected sympathetic sigh or laugh from an intent house. The play will be withdrawn after next Friday to make way for the romantic drama entitled When Knighthood Was in Flower. So far, the booking for the opening night is exceptionally heavy.

Her Majesty's Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. J. C. Williamson; Business-Manager, Mr. E. J. Tait.—The Dollar Princess, the musical play, which is now almost as widely known throughout the world as The Merry Widow itself, was again witnessed on Saturday evening by an enormous house.

Theatre Royal.—Lessees, Messrs. Clyde Meynell and Rupert Clarke; Business-Manager, Mr. Arthur Levy.—The popularity which has attended Messrs. Meynell and Clarke's fine production of The Arcadians since its opening night shows no signs of diminishing. The theatre is thronged nightly. The dry humour of Mr. Tom Walls and the exuberance of Mr. Cromwell are met with prompt manifestations of approval, and they are not alone the dispensers of fun. The gorgeous setting of the play nightly calls forth loud applause. The Arcadians will run till further notice.

King's Theatre.—Lessee, Mr. William Anderson; Business-Manager, Mr. Julius Grant.—The stirring melodrama, From Shop Girl to Duchess, was produced for the first time on Saturday evening, with the following cast:—Duke of St. Baynum, Mr. George Cross; Lord St. Orbotrude Pelham, Mr. Max Clifton; Sir Morris Maitland, M.D., Mr. Edmund Duggan; Gilbert Spate, Mr. Rutland Beckett; Tommy Tinkler, Mr. Bert Bailey; Hotel Proprietor, Mr. J. H. Nunn; Dowager Duchess of St. Baynum, Miss Lillie Bryer; Lady Celeste Delamere, Miss Olive Wilton; Lady Cinderella Portcullis, Miss May Granville; Countess of Normantowers, Miss Kathleen Lorimer; Gertrude Haynes, Miss Daisy Scudamore; Tilly Dobson, Miss Fanny Erris; Sylvia Grey, Miss Eugenie Duggan. Miss Eugenie Duggan made a pleasantly attractive picture of the rôle of Syliva Grey. As the Duke of St. Baynum Mr. George Cross had a part entirely suited to him, and made the most of his opportunities throughout the play. Mr. Beckett as Gilbert Spate made an admirable villain; Mr. Duggan a dignified Sir Morris Maitland; and Mr. Bert Bailey, as Tommy Tinkler, kept the audience in roars. Miss Olive Wilton looked and acted well all through in the rôle of Lady Celeste Delamere. Mr. Max Clifton as Sir Obotrude Pelham was admirable.

Opera House.—Proprietor, Mr. Harry Rickards; Business-Manager, Mr. Frederic Aydon.—A particularly strong bill is being presented here just now, and in consequence the house is filled nightly. On Saturday evening Carter the Great, conjurer and illusionist, made his first appearance and met with a hearty reception. Carter performed a number of tricks neatly, and with his illusions completely mystified his audience. Billy Williams is now an established favourite with his humorous songs; Vasco, the mad musician, plays innumerable instruments with great skill; Alexandra and Bertie give a neat and clever turn on the trapeze; the Two Howards appear in a remarkable turn, entitled "Second Sight"; while excellent items are provided by Miss Olga Grey, Martine Brothers, Les Warton, Johnnie Gilmore, George Sorlie, Clarence Tisdale, the Donnellys, Graham and Dent, and the Two Banvards.

In addition to the numerous vocal and terpsichorean items in Miss Lancashire, Limited, Miss Florence Baines has introduced some part songs for mixed voices, which have met with gratifying success. The fully booked summer tour commences at Yarmouth in June, and for the autumn several important South Country theatres have been booked. There is every sign that Miss Baines's laughter-making farce will prove as popular down South as it has in the Northern counties, and in Australia and New Zealand.

"HARVEST."

A Play, in Three Acts, by S. L. Robinson, Produced for the First Time at the Abbey Theatre, Dublin, on Thursday, May 19.

Jack Hurley .....Mr. Fred O'Donovan
Mildred .....Miss Sara Allgood
Bridget Twomey .....Miss Eileen O'Doherty
Maggie Hannigan .....Miss Eithne Magee
Timothy Hurley .....Mr. J. A. O'Rourke
Maurice Hurley .....Mr. J. M. Kerrigan
William Lordan .....Mr. Arthur Sinclair
Mary Hurley .....Miss Maire O'Neill

Mr. S. L. Robinson is to be congratulated on his successful production. The play is full of poignant interest, and the situations are vigorous and effective and the dialogue clever. A very large audience received the play with continuous applause. The plot runs as follows:—Jack Hurley, a chemist's assistant in Dublin, and a son of a farmer in County Cork, arrives with his bride, a colonel's daughter, at his father's cottage, presumably to revisit the old place; but really to get money, for he is financially stranded after his honeymoon in London. He believes that farming is the best paying vocation imaginable, but he is cruelly undeceived. The farm has been heavily mortgaged to pay for the education of the family—three brothers are given professions, and his sister Mary is also well educated, but another brother, Maurice, is neglected, and left to help his father on the farm. Maurice is expected to make the farm pay, but he has been taught nothing about farming except what he learnt himself. The place is to be sold out, and there appears no hope of saving the old man from the workhouse. He applies in vain for assistance to his son in England, and to another who is a solicitor in the West of Ireland. In desperation the old man sets fire to his hayshed for the purpose of getting compensation. He tells his sons, Jack and Maurice, of his deed, Maurice sees no harm in it, as he believes it is the only way to save the farm. Jack is horrified, and threatens to reveal the truth if compensation is sought. He decides to give up his post in Dublin, and to devote himself to the farm with his wife, and so stave off destruction. But they soon discover that farming is not the pleasant, easy work they imagined. Mary, who for some years has been occupying a position as a typewriter in London, comes home, and realising the situation, gives her father £50, which she pretends has been sent by her brother in England. Eventually, however, she confesses that the money was obtained at the expense of her honour. Jack pleads with her to return with him and his wife to Dublin, but in an angry scene his wife refuses to have anything to do with her. Jack goes to America, cursing his country; Mary returns to London upbraiding her schoolmaster for teaching her to be clever and ambitious; and Maurice and his father remain on the farm, in blissful ignorance of the means by which they were saved.

An experienced and clever company played their parts extremely well. Miss Maire O'Neill's performance of Mary Hurley was a perfect study. Mr. Fred O'Donovan acted Jack Hurley in a most convincing manner; Miss Sara Allgood was excellent as Jack's wife; Mr. J. M. Kerrigan did splendid work as the farmer, Maurice Hurley; and Mr. Arthur Sinclair acted the schoolmaster, William Lordan, in capital style. Miss Eileen O'Doherty as Bridget Twomey, Miss Eithne Magee as Maggie Hannigan, and Mr. J. A. O'Rourke as Timothy Hurley fulfilled their respective parts in a creditable manner.

MANAGERS' MEETINGS.

The members of the Managers' Club, at their annual general meeting held at the Club-rooms, Savoy Mansions, on Tuesday afternoon last (Mr. Wentworth Croke presiding), came to the unanimous conclusion that a larger club-house is now required for the general accommodation. Accordingly new premises are to be leased at No. 5, Wardour-street, W.C., and in about three weeks or so the members will take possession of the second, third, and fourth floors there. Mr. J. Bannister Howard proposed, and Mr. Falcon seconded, that Mr. M. V. Leveaux be re-elected chairman for the ensuing year. Mr. Howard was re-elected hon. treasurer, and Mr. Frank Weathersby was re-elected hon. assistant treasurer. The retiring members of the committee were re-elected as follows: Sir Herbert Tree, and Messrs. W. W. Kelly, E. Lockwood, H. Ralland, Ed. Terry, John Tully, and L. Maitland. A vote of thanks to the chairman, proposed by Mr. Howard, and seconded by Mr. G. C. Wallace, brought the proceedings to a close.

The Touring Managers' Association also held its annual general meeting last Tuesday afternoon at the Managers' Club. Mr. Wentworth Croke, as Chairman, said that the committee during the past half-year had dealt with railway matters, arbitration cases, stage plays in unlicensed buildings, and had prosecuted an actor for breaking his engagement with a manager. Their association had won the case. A sub-committee had been appointed to co-operate with a sub-committee of the Theatres Alliance to consider the question of plays in clubs. Another sub-committee had been appointed to co-operate with a sub-committee of the Kinematograph Defence League to consider the question of the Sunday opening of all kinds of theatres.

The following officers and members of the committee retiring by rotation were re-elected: Mr. Wentworth Croke, president; Mr. E. Graham Falcon, vice-president; Mr. M. V. Leveaux, chairman; Mr. J. Bannister Howard, hon. treasurer; Mr. Frank Weathersby, assistant hon. treasurer; Mr. Muskerry-Tilson, hon. solicitor; Messrs. Bryden, Feddon and Co., auditors; and Messrs. Lauderdale Maitland, Clifton Alderson, Cecil Barth, Alfred Paumier, and G. Brydon Phillips, members of the committee. Messrs. E. E. Norris, W. D. Nicoll, and H. A. Langlois were elected as members of the committee.

It was further proposed that Clause 10 of the Articles of Association be varied to read "not less than five nor more than twelve." The Secretary was authorised to send a letter of condolence to Mrs. Russell Rosse on her recent bereavement. Among those present at this meeting were Messrs. Wentworth Croke, Frank Weathersby, Herbert Ralland, Gibbons, Lauderdale Maitland, Lambert, G. Brydon Phillips, W. D. Nicoll, Bromwich, E. Bertram, Taylor Platt, F. Leslie Moreton, Norris, Langlois, Carlton Wallace, A. Bertram, J. Bannister Howard, and E. G. Falcon.

A COPYRIGHT QUESTION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

Sir,—Mr. Gunn Gwennet's letter in your issue of the 14th inst. excites my admiration for a knowledge of the law of dramatic copyright rather unusual in a layman. I fail, however, to understand his reference to a Court of Appeal case of a year ago which he implies deprived plays of copyright in anything save their words.

The well-known case of Chatterton v. Cave, itself a House of Lords decision, made it clear that there is copyright in a dramatic or scenic situation, and there has since been no decision of the House of Lords to the contrary.

If Mr. Gunn Gwennet is not labouring under a mistake, the decision of the Court of Appeal referred to by him must have been based upon totally wrong principles. In fact, the Court may have confused literary and dramatic copyright. Such a decision cannot for long remain good without throwing the law into hopeless confusion, and as I do not find the case in any of the reports, I hope that Mr. Gunn Gwennet is mistaken. I beg to enclose my card.—Yours faithfully,

May 24. S. X. COURT.

SHAKESPEARE AND THE SEA.

"We cannot, writes H. Grierson in the Contemporary, "think of the Elizabethan times without thinking of the sea. Never since the old days of Athens and her glory had the sea been so constantly in men's minds, never had all things connected with it been of such overwhelming consequence. It forms the background to the heroic figures of the time, just as it did in the days of Pericles.

"And something of the freshness and vastness of the sea is about the literature of the time, too, a certain quality that relates it closely to the character of a seafaring age, to an age of adventure and discovery. It is only when one looks closely into it that one realises how this pervading habit of mind runs through every play Shakespeare has written. Of course, a great many of them deal directly with the sea; it forms, so to speak, part of the plot. The Comedy of Errors, The Merchant of Venice, Twelfth Night, Hamlet, Othello, Timon, Antony and Cleopatra, King Lear, Pericles, The Winter's Tale, and, of course, The Tempest, are played, some in part, some altogether, to an obbigato of winds and waves. But beyond that, the plays not dealing directly with the sea are filled with allusions or turns of expression, owing directly or indirectly to the influence of seafaring men and their thoughts and habits.

"It is interesting to examine the earliest play in which we can trace Shakespeare's hand, with this idea in mind. In the first part of Henry VI. there are not many passages that suggest Shakespeare. Generally speaking, the characters appear and declaim their speeches as in a sort of dramatic pageant of history; they exist only to exhibit certain historical events. Towards the end of the first part we come to Margaret and Suffolk, and we are in the presence of two real people, with real motives and real passions. Shakespeare's touch is evident in a moment. In the last scene of the fifth act comes a speech of Henry's, alluding to Margaret's influence upon him:—

"'And like as rigour of tempestuous gusts
Provokes the mightiest hulk against the tide,
So am I driven by breath of her renown,
Either to suffer shipwreck or arrivo,
Where I may have fruition of her love.'

That is Shakespeare, if nothing else in the first part is, and it stands in very close relation to some of the similes in Romeo and Juliet, written not long after.

"In the second part, where his hand is oftener felt, in the drama of Suffolk and Margaret and in the character of Richard of Gloucester, the allusions to the sea become more frequent; for the one in the first part we have half a dozen, all, I think, showing a Shakespearean touch. Then we have Suffolk's fate, to die by water, drawing him on all the while to that sea-sorrow on the sands by Dover.

"In Part 3 the greatest speeches by Henry, Margaret, and Gloucester all have allusions and similes drawn from the sea, and, roughly speaking, one may say the more Shakespeare the more sea throughout all three parts.

"But the sea was a good deal more to Shakespeare's imagination than a physical or geographical fact. If we examine the use he makes of it, both in the plots of his plays and in the way of simile and allusion, we shall soon begin to trace a certain symbolism connected with it in his mind. There is a certain trend of feeling that alters, develops, becomes almost revolutionised as time goes on.

"In the very early plays the sea stands for parting and sundering; it is an obstacle and hindrance, something to be crossed and so overcome. It sundered lovers and friends; its influence on human life was a malign one. So we see in the first quoted words of Henry VI. or in Gloucester's speech in Part 3:—

"'Why then I do but dream of sovereignty;
Like one that stands upon a promontory,
And spies a far-off shore that he would tread,
Wishing his foot were equal with his eye,
And chides the sea that sunders him from thence.'

"In the Comedy of Errors we have the first case of an often-repeated form of plot. The various members of a family are scattered by shipwreck, and brought together as the play ends, and it is curious to contrast the treatment of the theme with that of the later plays. There is not a trace of the mystic wonders and splendour of the storm that blew when Marina was born, or that other that drove Prospero and Miranda 'blessedly holp hither' to their island. In the Comedy of Errors 'the always wind-obeying deep' brings simply terror and dismay. It is scarcely alluded to except in the actual narrative of the shipwreck, and when the sundered family draw together again, it is as if they were snatching their happiness fearfully from the jaws of death. The raft that saves Emilia is called 'fatal.' Think of the 'great gap of time' that lies between that and the sea of The Tempest, with its purifying waters, through which men pass to atonement. But such a conception is far away still.

"In Romeo and Juliet there is a change and a development. The sea is no longer merely terror or parting; it stands rather for sorrow. It is 'nourished with lover's tears,' and Romeo thinks of it once and again as a parable of life. He twice expresses a sense of being piloted over dark waters to some dimly-seen end, almost in his own despite, once just before he meets Juliet and once again at the very end, when he has all but reached what Othello called 'the very sea-mark of his utmost sail.' There is a curious resemblance in the turn of thought between his simile in the balcony scene and that used by Henry VI., which I quoted a moment ago. We all know Romeo's

"'I am no pilot, yet kere thou as far
As that vast shore washed by the tideless sea,
I would adventure for such merchandise.'

In all these allusions there is a change of attitude. The sea may be wild, stormy, terrible, but it is no longer a fatal influence to be eluded if it may be so. There is a dawning desire to 'take arms against a sea of troubles.' Romeo is willing, more than willing, to adventure himself on that sea of perils. He 'runs to it as to a lover's bed.' Even amidst the frustration of the end, he is conscious that his bark is reaching a port, not the unfittest nor the strangest. It was better to have sailed on that sea, even to shipwreck, than to have stayed on the shore in safety. The sea is part of life, not an enemy of life now.

"When we turn to the historical plays we come, at the very outset, on Clarence's dream, and are reminded in a moment of The Tempest. It is the first trace we get of that wonderful sense of wealth and profusion and mystery about the sea depths, whose secrets Ariel will sing to us when the fulness of time is come:—

"'Wedges of gold, great anchors, heaps of pearl,
Inestimable stones, unvalued jewels,
All scattered in the bottom of the sea,
Some lay in dead men's skulls, and in those holes
Where eyes did once inhabit there were crept
As 'twere in scorn of eyes, reflecting gems.'

It is very terrible to Clarence's imagination, but it is very glorious, too. But, on the whole, the sea is terrible in the historical plays, and the subtle symbolism of which we saw a glimpse in Romeo and Juliet is absent. From the patriotic point of view it may be 'the triumphant sea

Whose rocky shore beats back the envious surge
Of watery Neptune.'

But where it images the individual life it is its storms and dangers that stand first. It is unrestful, and the mention of it comes with troubled thoughts as a rule. The sea is a sea of faction; the storms are those of rebellion and disloyalty."

ON THE ROAD, MAY 30.

ALICE IN WONDERLAND.—O. H., Southport.
ALONE IN LONDON.—Alexandra T., Birmingham.
ANGEL OF HIS DREAMS.—Grand T., Stockton.
AN UNWEDDED WIFE.—T. R., Bury.
ARRAH-NA-POGUE.—Empire T., Southend.
AS YOUR HAIR GROWS WHITER.—Queen's Theatre, Longton.
AT THE WORLD'S MERCY.—Muncaster T., Bootle.
BAINES, MISS FLORENCE.—P.O.W., Grimsby.
BATEMAN, MRS. FRANK.—Coloseum, Oldham.
BENSON, MR. AND MRS. F. R.—New T., Oxford.
BENSON, F. R. (N.).—Gaiety T., Hastings.
BEST PEOPLE.—Harrogate and Buxton.
BROUGHT TO RUIN.—T. R., Smethwick.
CASTELLANO'S OPERA CO.—Grand T., Hull.
CATCH OF THE SEASON.—D. P. T., Eastbourne.
CINGALEE, THE (A.).—King's T., Manchester.
COUNTRY GIRL IN LONDON.—Lyric T., Liverpool.
CRUISE OF THE CONSTANCE.—Grand T., Southampton.
DARE-DEVIL DOROTHY.—Marina T., Lowestoft.
DESTROYER OF MEN.—Prince's T., Blackburn.
DIANA OF DOBSON'S.—T. R., Ashton.
DIVER'S LUCK.—P. G. T., Folkestone.
D'OYLY CARTE OPERA CO.—Marlborough Theatre, Holloway, N.
DRAYCOTT, MR. CHAS.—Prince's T., Accrington.
EAST LYNNE (CROKE).—T. R., Huddersfield.
EAST LYNNE (WATT).—Star T., Swansea.
EVE OF HER WEDDING.—T. R., Darlington.
EYES OF THE WORLD.—Rotunda T., Liverpool.
FANNY AND THE SERVANT PROBLEM.—Aquarium, Yarmouth.
FAST LIFE, A.—Metropole T., Glasgow.
FEMALE SWINDLER.—O. H. Coventry.
FLORODORA (CONSTANT).—Prince's T., Manchester.
FOR LOVE AND THE KING.—T. R., Leeds.
FOR OLD TIME'S SAKE.—Miners' T., Ashington.
FOR WIFE AND KINGDOM.—T. R., Belfast.
FROM SLAVE TO PRINCESS.—T. R., Bolton.
GARROD, MR. W. V.—Lyric T., Liverpool.
GAY GORDONS.—County T., Bedford.
GIRL OF MY HEART.—O. H., Hammersmith.
GLOSSOP-HARRIS, MISS F.—T. R., Dewsbury.
HEATHEN AND THE CHRISTIAN.—T. R., Stockton.
HER LIFE IN LONDON.—T. R., Wolverhampton.
HER SECRET LOVER.—Palace T., Newcastle.
HIS DISHONOURED WIFE.—Palace T., Ramsgate.
LA COMEDIE ANGLAIS.—Tullamore.
LIGHTHOUSE ROBBERY.—Hippodrome, Todmorden.
LITTLE MISS CUMMIN.—O. H., Cheltenham.
LODGE-PERCY, MR. J. C.—T. R., Stratford.
LOMATH, MR. STUART.—Court T., Wigan.
LOVE OF THE PRINCESS.—Grand T., Brighton.
LUCKY DURHAM.—D. P. T., Eastbourne.
LUCKY 'LIZA.—Charlton, Manchester.
MIDNIGHT MAIL.—T. R., Sheffield.
MIDNIGHT WEDDING.—Royalty T., Chester.
MISS LANCASHIRE, LTD.—P. O. W., Great Grimsby.
MISS LANCASHIRE, LTD.—T. R., Barnsley.
MUNRO, GEO., AND CO.—Weston-Super-Mare.
NEW BOY, THE.—Gaiety T., Dublin.
NIHILIST, THE.—T. R., Scarborough.
NO MOTHER TO GUIDE HER.—Empire T., Oldham.
ONLY A LITTLE BOY.—Hippodrome, Salford.
OUTCAST OF THE FAMILY.—Alexandra T., Hull.
PASSING OF THE FIRST FLOOR BACK.—Halifax and Bury.
PASSION OF LIFE.—T. R., Rochdale.
PRIVATE SECRETARY.—P. O. W., Birmingham.
RAYNAR'S REPERTOIRE CO.—Crown T., Eccles.
ROLLICKING RORY.—Royalty T., Barrow.
ROYAL DIVORCE.—Prince's T., Portsmouth.
SAPHO.—T. R., Bolton.
SHADOW OF A CRIME.—Alexandra T., Sheffield.
SIN OF HER CHILDHOOD.—T. R., Birkenhead.
SINS OF A CITY.—T. R., Woolwich.
SOLDIER'S HONOUR.—P. O. W., Nuneaton.
SPENCER, SIDNEY.—T. R., Leigh.
THEODOR'S FLUTTER.—T. R., Bradford.
THOSE TERRIBLE TWINS.—P. T., Bristol.
TREE, HERBERT BEERBOHM.—Shakespeare T., Liverpool.
UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.—O. H., St. Helens.
UNDER THE IRON HEEL.—T. R., Sunderland.
WARNER, MISS GRACE.—Grand T., Luton.
WAS SHE TO BLAME?—T. R., South Shields.
WHY SMITH LEFT HOME.—W. Pier, Brighton.
WILKIE, ALLAN, AND CO.—T. R., York.
WOMAN OF KRONSTADT.—Grand T., Croydon.
WRECKER OF MEN.—Grand T., Doncaster.
YOU NEVER CAN TELL.—T. R., Portsmouth.
10.30 DOWN EXPRESS.—Osborne T., Manchester.

COMMERCIAL SIDE OF OPERA.

Mr. Thomas Beecham, who is earning the lasting gratitude of music lovers by presenting a season of opéra comique at His Majesty's Theatre is credited with the determination to establish a permanent opera house in London and, if necessary, to spend £500,000 in doing it. "The two seasons of opera, one complete, the other now in progress, that I organised this year, and the season of three months that I shall begin at Covent Garden next October," said Mr. Beecham to a Daily Mail representative, "are part of my preliminary scheme to encourage and foster opera-going in London. Opera is not popular in London. It is supported because it is a social function, and without that help would be as unprofitable as concert-giving. I want to make people realise that if they go to hear opera they will get something first-class, something that will satisfy them, something that is worth the enormous expense attached to its presentation.

"The short season I promoted at Covent Garden last winter gave me a personal experience of what it costs to present grand opera. I found that on the average it cost about £600 per performance. At His Majesty's we have an orchestra of sixty-five instrumentalists, a chorus of sixty, and numerous first-class principals. The only way to conduct a season of opera is to do it well, but I do not anticipate being able to keep my losses on this summer season much under £10,000, and they might easily run to double that amount.

"Rent alone for my three seasons this year will amount to £16,000 or £17,000, and with new scenery and costumes to be provided for about ten operas at His Majesty's Theatre there is no chance of the surplus over nightly expenses being anything like enough to pay for the mountings. So that opera given without a subsidy can cost a manager a great deal of money. All the same, I think our public can be encouraged to support it, just as the public on the Continent is. To that end I want, and am prepared, to build an opera house in London. I am only waiting until I can find a site in a good position at a fair valuation.

"This is not merely a commercial scheme. The making of money is not the object. To do everything in the best possible manner for the encouragement of opera, to attract the great public to hear the works of the greatest masters, will be its purpose, and if that can be done we are prepared to carry it on even if there should be some pecuniary losses attached to the working of it."

MR. FRANK BERESFORD has been engaged by Mr. Tom Watt to play Archibald Carlyle in East Lynne and stage-manage. Mr. Beresford opens at Shrewsbury on June 6.

MR. FRANK MACNAGHTEN, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Schuberth, the esteemed manager of the Palace, Bath, are off on a cruise to Buenos Ayres, having booked cabins on the Araquaya, which sails from Southampton to South America shortly. The little party expect to be away from England for nearly two months.

"THEATRICAL ACCOUNTS FOR BUSINESS MANAGERS." How the affairs of a theatre can be most efficiently controlled by the adoption of systems of internal check. By Cuthbert E. Smedley, A.C.A. Price 3s. 6d., post free 3s. 9d. Address: The Publisher, "The Era," 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

"THE ERA" NEWSPAPER.

Notice to Contributors.

All communications intended for publication should be sent to "THE EDITOR," and be accompanied by the Writer's Name and Address, not necessarily for insertion, but as a guarantee of good faith.

The Editor will not undertake to be responsible for any rejected MSS., nor to return any Contribution unaccompanied by a stamped and directed envelope.

Notice to Subscribers.

"The Era" is sold by all Newsagents in all the leading English, Irish, and Scotch towns, every Saturday Morning. Price Sixpence.

TERMS, POSTAGE FREE.

Home Subscriptions.		Foreign Subscriptions.
One Year	£1 6 0	One Year	£1 12 0
Six Months	0 13 0	Six Months	0 16 0
Three Months ..	0 6 6	Three Months ..	0 8 0

Cash must accompany order.

Notice to Advertisers.

Advertisements should reach the Office early in the week and not later than Thursday, 7 p.m. Remittances, payable to "THE ERA," LTD., and crossed Lloyd's Bank.

Communications.

Business Communications should be addressed to The MANAGER,
"THE ERA" BUILDINGS.
5, TAVISTOCK-STREET, STRAND, LONDON, W.C.
(two doors off Wellington-street).
Telegrams, "The Era, London." Telephones, 4747 and 1433, Central.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

[We do not answer Inquiries by post. In all letters the names and addresses of inquirers must be given as a guarantee of good faith. Initials only or pseudonyms will be used in the answers if so desired.]

A. SCHNEIDER (Buxton).—Mr. Jerome K. Jerome. See notice above.

WILLIAM AILSBY.—We have no record of the closing of the place. Possibly Mr. John Hart, of the Star, Bermondsey, might be able to tell you. Write him, enclosing stamped envelope. We do not answer questions by post.

P. R.—(1) We cannot say whether the gentleman you name will be retained in the company by the new proprietors. Probably neither party knows. So much depends on circumstance and opportunity. The actor may have very favourable offers from other managements. (2) We do not know the number of sons left by the deceased actor you name.

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, & DEATHS.

The charge for inserting in "The Era" an announcement of a Birth, a Marriage, or a Death, or an "In Memoriam" notice, not exceeding twenty-four words, is One Shilling and Sixpence.

As a guarantee of good faith, the name and address of the sender must accompany each notice.

DEATHS.

BRADLEY.—May 9, at Rathowen, co. Westmeath, Ireland, John Bradley, theatre proprietor, aged 46.

BLANCHARD.—On Sunday, May 22, after a serious operation, at her sister's residence, 270, Essex-road, Islington, Amy Blanchard, burlesque artist, age 66.

LYNCH.—Nell, of the Lynches, has fired her last shot in peace—perfect peace. From Joe and her children, 1, Seagrave-road, Fulham, S.W. Funeral to-day (Saturday), at 2.30, from this address.

MATT.—May 21, at 61, Brondesbury-villas, N.W., John Matt, late Professor at Guildhall School of Music, also member of Royal Opera and Philharmonic Orchestra, &c., in his sixty-seventh year.

PARRIS.—May 21, George John Parris, of 57, Greek-street, W., aged 79. For many years of the Savoy Theatre.

ST. CLAIR.—May 22, at St. Thomas's Hospital, Norman St. Clair, aged 44, after an operation.

TAYLOR.—On May 25, at Cheadle, Cheshire, Henry Taylor, J.P., of Exchange-street, Crewe, in his sixty-eighth year. Funeral service, Saturday, at Cheadle Parish Church, 12 noon, prior to the cremation at Withington. Friends please accept this (the only) intimation. Enquiries to Alcock and Sons, undertakers, Cheadle. No flowers, by request.

URQUHART.—May 20, Isabella Robertson (Mrs. Chas. Urquhart), aged 84 years. Beloved mother of J. Hamilton Urquhart.

WOLSTENHOLME.—Mrs. Wolstenholme, mother of Cissy Iris (Mrs. H. Creedon), aged 51, at her residence, 4, Greenhill-street, Greenheys, Manchester, on May 26, 1910. Deeply mourned by her sorrowing children.

WYNTER.—May 20, at 9, Catherine-street, North Belfast, Edyth Wynter, pianist, of cancer.

IN MEMORIAM.

SYMS.—In loving memory of my darling mother, Thea Syms (Mrs. Hansard Blair), who departed this life May 13, 1910. The night is come.

BIRTHDAYS OF THE WEEK.

We wish Many Happy Returns of the Day to the following ladies and gentlemen:—

Lottie Venne—Saturday, May 28.
James Fernandez—Saturday, May 28.
John L. Shine—Saturday, May 28.
H. Gomer May—Saturday, May 28.
H. T. Brickwell—Saturday, May 28.
Calvert Routledge—Sunday, May 29.
Kittee Rayburn—Sunday, May 29.
Will Evans—Sunday, May 29.
Georgie Wright—Sunday, May 29.
Harris Fineberg—Sunday, May 29.
Bella Skene—Sunday, May 29.
Chas. Wood—Sunday, May 29.
Chas. Rock—Monday, May 30.
Ernest E. Norris—Monday, May 30.
F. C. Francis—Tuesday, May 31.
Dorothy Richardson—Tuesday, May 31.
Maie Ash—Tuesday, May 31.
Alexander Fay—Thursday, June 2.
Ben Webster—Thursday, June 2.
Frank Coyle—Thursday, June 2.
Tom Vine—Friday, June 3.

AT the Pavilion Theatre, Mile End, on Monday a presentation was made to Mr. J. W. Rosenthal, who since November last has had the management of the theatre, and the able assistance of Mr. Fred Brown, the acting-manager, who has been connected with the house for thirty-two years. At the close of the opening night of Tommy Atkins a number of Mr. Rosenthal's friends gathered on the stage, where, in the presence of the large audience assembled, Mr. Lawrence Cowen (late proprietor of the theatre) presented him with a very handsome illuminated address, encased in a gilt frame, together with a valuable diamond ring. Mrs. Rosenthal also shared in the honours of the occasion, and was the recipient of a gold chain bracelet.

TAKING advantage of the closing of the theatres on the 20th inst., several members of Glasgow theatres staffs accepted an invitation to join the steamer Lord of the Isles on the famous Loch Eck and Kyles of Bute circular tour. They were favoured with splendid weather, and, to show that the solemn aspect of the day was not overlooked, as the brakes were journeying from Loch Eck to Loch Tyne a halt was called at one o'clock, and for ten minutes the passengers stood uncovered, as a mark of respect for the late King. Taking place as it did on a quiet Highland road, with the grand old hills all around, the scene was most impressive.

AT the conclusion of the A Message from Mars tour at the Coronet Theatre on Saturday, Mr. Douglas Eley, who has managed the play for ten years, was presented with a very handsome writing-case and an illuminated address in appreciation of the attention and courtesy shown by him during his management of the tour

"THE ERA" LETTER-BOX.

A Stamped Envelope, plainly addressed, must be enclosed with application for each Letter. Letters, after lying at this Office for One Month, are forwarded to the Postal Authorities, to be returned to the Senders.

No Circulars, Post Cards, or Parcels admitted to this list.

Albert, Mr. Ben
Allen, Dr. F. J.
Armadale, Miss Sybil
Baker's Hippodrome
Bannister, Mr. Walter
Bannister, Prof.
Barraclough, Mr. Sidney
Bell, Mr. W. G. B.
Bellman, Miss Lottie
Bennett and Martell
Bennett, Mr. Chas.
Bergeron, Mr. T. C.
Beringer, Miss Esme
Bogannys, The
Bollinger, Les
Boon, Mr. Bert
Braide, Mr. Stewart
Brett, Mr. Edwin
Butler, Mr. W. J.
Burley, Mr. W.
Caline, Mrs. Jack
Cameron and Alexander
Campion, Miss May
Cartwright, Mr. A.
Charcout, Mr. G.
Chard, Lieut.
Chirgwin, Miss Clara
Clements, Mr. Will L.
Clensey, Mr. Cyril
Cliquot, Mr. C.
Clifford, Mr. N.
Clive, Mr. E. E.
Cole-Aspinall, Mr. R.
Collisson, Mr. C. H.
Cook, Mr. Albert
Cooke, Mr. Edgar
Costello, Mr. Tom
Court, Mr. Wallace
Crawford and Johnson
Dandy, George
Dashwood, Mr. A.
Day, Mr. Geo. H.
Dellar, Mr. Kyburn
Delmar, Miss Georgina
Denham, Mr. Geo.
Denton, Miss Dolly
Digby, Mr. Chas.
Dockwray, Mr. Chas. W
Donovan, Miss Ruby
Earle, Mr. Fred
Englefield, Mr.
Escourt, Mr.
Evans, Mr. Wash
Fergusson, Mr. L. S.
Finucane, Miss M.
Fordwych, Mr. Herbert
Francis, Mrs. Joseph
Fraser, Mr. Dan
Gibb, Mrs. Horace
Gobbett, Mr. T. J.
Gordon, Mr. Ben D.
Gribben, Mr. A.
Groves, Mrs. J. H.
Gunn, Miss Winnie
Harley, Mr. Chas.
Heale, Mr. Jack
Hemming, Mr. J. W.
Houpla, Mr. Richard
Howard, Mr. Walter
Hunt, Mrs. J.
Irving, Mr. Lawrence
Jacobs and Jephson
James, Mr. David
Joyce, Mr. L. P.
Kemble, Mr. Henry
Kimberley, Mr. Harry
Kingsland, Mr. Geo.
Kingsley, Mr. Cecil
Kingsley, Mr. Gordon
Kingston, Miss Gertrude
Landon, Mr. J.
Lang, Mr. J. P.
Lawton, Mr. E.
Leigh, Mr. A. A.
Leon, Mr. Chas.
Leslie, Mr. A.
Lloyd, Miss Rosie
Loftus, Miss Kitty
Loftus, Mr. Alexander
Lorimer, Mr. J.
Mackersey, Mr. W. A.
Maitland, Miss Kitty
Mars, Mr. Harry
Marsh, Mr. Alec
Martens, Capt.
McEwen, Mr. Walter
Meynall, Mr. Clive
Mignon, Miss Mabel
Missouri, Mr. Ted
Moore, Miss Gertie
Nanakusa, Mrs.
Neilson, Mr. George
O'Connell, Mr. J.
Parsons, Mr. Phil
Pink, Mr. Wal
Poel, Mr. William
Polini, Mrs.
Re Vell, Miss Rosa
Ridgewell, Mr. Geo.
Roberts, Mr. R. A.
Rodney, Miss Nellie
Rosse, Mr. Russell
Sansbury, Mr. Vernon
Sarron, Miss Celia
Schofield, Mr. G. W.
Scott, Miss D.
Scott, Mr. Malcolm
Shine, Mr. W. E.
Smith, Miss Maisie
Soldene, Miss Emily
Sprake, Mr. H. J.
Spray, Mr. W.
Stoodley, Miss Ida
Stratton, Mr. E.
Stuart, Mr. Barney
Tate, Mr. Harry
Temple, Mr. Richard
Terry, Miss Marion
Towell, Mr. A.
Tozer, Mr. C. A. N.
Travers, Miss Marie
Valentine, Mr. Paul
Vane, Miss Edith
Varley, Miss Pattie
Vine, Mr. Tom
Walonell, Mr. Jack
Walton, Mr. W. W.
Ward, Mr. David
Ware, Miss N.
Warlow, Mr. Percy
Waterfield, Mr. Chas.
Watts, Mr. Clive
Wilbert, Mr. William
Willard, Mr. J.
Williams, Miss L.
Wilton, Miss F.
Wyatt, Miss Alice
Wyndham, Miss Pattie

BLACKMORE'S THEATRICAL AGENCY, 11, GARRICK-STREET, W.C.
Under the present management since 1869.
Office hours, 10 to 8. Interviews between 11 and 4.
'Phone 1785 Gerr. Wires, "Dramatique, London."
All descriptions of Theatrical Business negotiated.
Also First-class Music Hall Business.

The Great Raymond
BREAKING RECORDS FOR BIG BUSINESS EVERYWHERE.

IT has been a question of much literary controversy, whether, in our ancient theatres, there were side and other scenes. The question is involved in so much obscurity that it is difficult to decide upon it. In Shakespeare's time the want of scenery seems to have been supplied by the simple expedient of writing the names of the different places, where the scene was laid, in the progress of the play, upon large scrolls, which were disposed in such a manner as to be visible to the audience. In the year 1605, Inigo Jones exhibited an entertainment at Oxford, in which movable scenes were used; and he appears to have introduced in the masques at court several pieces of machinery, with which the public theatres were then unacquainted, as the mechanism of our ancient stage seldom went beyond a painted chair or a trap-door. When King Henry the Eighth is to be discovered by the Dukes of Suffolk and Norfolk, reading in his study, the scenical direction in the first folio edition of Shakespeare's plays, printed in 1628, apparently from playhouse copies, is, "The king draws the curtain, and sits reading pensively;" for, besides the principal curtains that hung in front of the stage, they used others as substitutes for scenes. If a bedchamber was to be exhibited, no change of scene was mentioned; but the property-man was simply ordered to thrust forth a bed. When the fable required the Roman capitol to be exhibited, two officers entered, "to lay cushions, as it were, in the capitol." On the whole, it appears, that our ancient theatres, in general, were only furnished with curtains, which opened in the middle, and were drawn backwards and forwards on an iron rod, and a single scene composed of tapestry, which was sometimes, perhaps, ornamented with pictures; and some passages in our old dramas seem to favour the opinion that when tragedies were performed, the stage was hung with black.

"DRAMATIC AND MUSICAL LAW." By Albert A. Strong, LL.B. (London), Solicitor. Third Edition. Price 5s., post free 5s. 4d. Published by The Era, Limited, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

INDISPENSABLE! Rayne's "Pocket Date Book." Contents: Map (19in. by 10in.), showing the distance betwixt the various music halls at a glance. Will tell if one hall is within the barring radius of the other, thus saving fears, worry, and anxiety. All about artists' luggage, list of clubs, information about stamping contracts, foreign money table, London music halls and theatres, their telephone numbers, list of brougham proprietors, list and address of photographers, size of theatrical printing paper, names and addresses of theatrical railway managers, &c. Price 1s., post free. The proceeds from the sale will be divided equally amongst the two great charities of the dramatic and musical professions, the Actors' Benevolent Fund and the Music Hall Home Fund. The Era Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

"I'll swear upon that bottle."—TEMPEST, Act ii., Scene ii.

WHITBREAD'S
BOTTLED BEERS

maintain their popularity because they are brought into condition by MATURING IN BOTTLE,
the Natural method,
without the aid of carbonating or other artificial process.

The Largest Beer Bottlers in the World.

APPLY TO CHIEF OFFICES,
BRITANNIA ST., KING'S CROSS, LONDON, W.C.
(Telephones: Nos. 2510 and 2511 North. Telegraphic Address, "Beerseller, London.")
FOR NAME OF NEAREST AGENT.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES.
For Sustaining the Voice.
Invaluable for ACTORS and SINGERS.
Indispensable for PUBLIC SPEAKERS

GENTLEMEN,—For sudden affections of the Bronchial Organs I use and most cheerfully recommend "Brown's Troches." They are regarded as most eligible, convenient, and indispensable by numerous artists of my acquaintance, BOTH IN EUROPE AND AMERICA. They seem to act specially on the organs of the voice, and produce a clear enunciation.—Yours truly (Signed), MARIE ROZE MAPLESON.

SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 1/1½ PER BOX.

DINNEFORD'S MAGNESIA.
The Best Remedy for Acidity of the Stomach, Heartburn, Headache, Gout, and Indigestion. The Safest and most effective Aperient for regular use.

THE LAW OF COPYRIGHT FOR ACTOR AND COMPOSER.
By ALBERT A. STRONG, LL.B. (Lond.).
Chapter I.
COPYRIGHT AS OPPOSED TO PERFORMING RIGHT.
Chapter II.
PERFORMING RIGHT.
Chapter III.
INFRINGEMENT AND REMEDIES.
CHAPTER IV.
MUSICAL COPYRIGHT.
Chapter V.
INTERNATIONAL AND COLONIAL COPYRIGHT.
Published at "The Era" Offices, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

BIRKBECK BANK
ESTABLISHED 1851.
SOUTHAMPTON-BUILDINGS, HIGH HOLBORN, W.C.
2½ PER CENT. INTEREST allowed on Deposits repayable on demand.
2 PER CENT. INTEREST on Drawing Accounts with Cheque Book.
All general Banking Business transacted.
ALMANACK, with full particulars, POST FREE.
C. F. RAVENSCROFT, Secretary.

MONEY £5 TO £5000
DON'T BE WITHOUT READY MONEY. I will advance any sum you may require AT ONCE without fuss or formalities, and you can repay by easy instalments to suit your own convenience. Courteous personal attention. Call, write, or 'phone.
Mr. ROSSLYN STUART, Burton House, 253, Brixton Rd., Brixton, S.W. Telephone 1285 Brixton.

BUREAU DE CHANGE
SPECIALLY RECOMMENDED. HANDS and CO., 16, STRAND, CHARING CROSS RAILWAY STATION, LONDON, W.C.

A WORLD-WIDE CIRCULATION.
THE ERA
IN DIFFERENT PARTS OF THE WORLD.

"THE ERA" IN AMERICA.

— NOTICE —
TO ADVERTISERS AND SUBSCRIBERS.

ADVERTISEMENTS AND SUBCRIPTIONS are received through Messrs.
J. ROLAND KAY & CO.
TEUTONIC BUILDINGS,
172, WASHINGTON STREET,
CHICAGO, U.S.A.,
from whom terms and full particulars may be obtained.

American Artistes visiting England use "The Era" Offices as their Permanent London Address.

"THE ERA" IN PARIS.

ERCOLE THEATRICAL EXCHANGE
(Established 1885),
22, CHAUSSEE D'ANTIN, PARIS.

SINGLE COPIES ON SALE.
SUBSCRIPTIONS RECEIVED.
ADVERTISEMENTS ACCEPTED.

Apply or Address,
C. M. ERCOLE.
Cable Address, "Ercole, Paris." Telephone 324-00.

LONDON THEATRES.

GAIETY THEATRE.
Manager, Mr. George Edwardes.
EVERY EVENING at 8.
A Musical Play,
"OUR MISS GIBBS."
Box-Office open daily 10 till 10.

ST. JAMES'S.
MR. GEORGE ALEXANDER.
Every Evening at 9.
"THE IMPORTANCE OF BEING EARNEST."
By Oscar Wilde.
MR. GEORGE ALEXANDER
and Mr. Allan Aynesworth in their original parts.
At 8.30, "A MAKER OF MEN," by Alfred Sutro.
MATINEE (both Plays), EVERY WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY, at 2.30.

DALY'S THEATRE.
EVERY EVENING at 8.
Mr. GEORGE EDWARDES'
New Production,
"THE DOLLAR PRINCESS."
A Musical Play, in Three Acts.
Matinée Every Saturday at 2.
Box-office (Mr. H. W. Anderson) open 10 till 10.

COMEDY THEATRE.
Sole Lessee and Manager, Arthur Chudleigh.
Every Evening at 9.
CHARLES FROHMAN presents
"Alias JIMMY VALENTINE."
a New Play in Three Acts by Paul Armstrong.
The cast includes
GERALD DU MAURIER.
At 8.30, NINA GORDON at a Piano.
MATINEE EVERY WED. and SAT. at 2.30.

MARLBOROUGH THEATRE.
Managing-Directors,
Mr. Ernest Stevens and Mr. R. C. Buchanan.
Nightly, 7.45. Matinée, Thursday, 2.30.
D'OYLY CARTE OPERA CO in
GILBERT AND SULLIVAN OPERAS.
Address all communications re dates to Mr. J. B. Mulholland, King's Theatre, Hammersmith, W. All other communications to Messrs. Stevens and Buchanan, Marlborough T., N. 'Phone 131 North.

ROYAL COUNTY THEATRE,
KINGSTON-ON-THAMES.
May 30, Robertson's Masterpiece, "CASTE."
The Comedy will be played Twice Nightly.
Mr. PETER DAVEY, Managing-Director.
Telephone, No. 58, Kingston-on-Thames.
Telegrams, "Theatre, Kingston-on-Thames."

MASKELYNE and DEVANT'S
MYSTERIES, St. George's Hall, W.
Daily, at 3 and 8.
New and Startling Mysteries. Pictures of the Royal Funeral, "The Scarab," a New Magical Farce, by Nevil Maskelyne and David Devant, introducing a series of Novel and Startling Illusions, &c., &c.
Seats 1s. to 5s.
'Phone, 1545 Mayfair.

LONDON MUSIC HALLS.

PALACE.
Anna Pavlova, Michael Mordkin, Russia's Greatest Dancers, and Co., Margaret Cooper, Clarice Vance, Barclay Gammon, Funeral Procession in Actual Natural Colours of His Late Majesty King Edward VII. on Kinemacolor, &c.
Evenings at 8.
Matinée full programme, Saturdays at 2.
Special Matinée Wednesdays at 3.
Managing-Director, Mr. ALFRED BUTT.

OXFORD.
Little Tich, Wilkie Bard, T. E. Dunville, Harry Tate in "Veri 'ot Taterplane," Chas. Whittle, Morny Cash, Harry Randall, John Lawson, in "Humanity," Radie Furman, Kitty Colyer, Geo. Newburn, Daunton Shaw Troupe, Beattie and Babs, Josie Delaine, Minnie Mace, Ernie Mayne, Larola, José Collins, Harry Thurston, Dan Crawley, Ruffell's Bioscope, Darracq Whizzing the Whirl in a Motor-car. Open 7.15. Saturday Matinées, 2.15.

TIVOLI.—
WILKIE BARD—LILIAN HERLEIN,
Austin Latham, Cinquevalli, T. E. Dunville, Harry Randall, Millie Payne, Morny Cash, Maie Dillon, Madge Osmond, Tom Woottwell, The Schmettans, Daisy Dormer, and others.
Open 7.40, Saturday Matinées, 2.15.

METROPOLITAN.
Twice Nightly, at 6.40 and 9.10.
Adey Spencer, H. J. Kisbey,
Chas. Austin and Company.
J. Whiteford, The Donatos, Ada Cerito.
Gicardo.
Ritter and Foster, Haley's Girls,
Pictures.

EMPIRE, Camberwell.
Proprietor (Debenture Holder),
FRANK POSTLETHWAITE.
6.30 Twice Nightly. 9 o'clock.
"Rejected Remounts," Gracie Graham, Northern Troupe, Jeapes' Animated Graphic, Harry Clifford, the Three Coopers, George Collins, Nell Cotter, Sam Williams, Mrs. Bennett and Co.

CHELSEA PALACE,
KING'S-ROAD, CHELSEA.
Twice Nightly, at 6.30 and 9.10.
Rousby's Electrical Review, "Greater London," Tom Woottwell, Creo Brothers, Grete Hahn and Co., in "Enchantment," Ritter and Foster, Minnie Mace, Charles Leighton, Edith Blanchard, Ruffell's Bioscope, Chas. R. Whittle, Thales and Massilia, in a Dramatic Pantomimic Sketch and Dance, entitled "Captivation."

QUEEN'S PALACE OF VARIETIES,
HIGH-STREET, POPLAR. Tel. 714 East.
Proprietors, F. and M. ABRAHAMS.
General-Manager, Mr. Morris Abrahams. Twice nightly, 6.30 and 9.10. Matinée Thursday, 2.30.
Rehearsal 1 o'clock Monday, May 30. Cissie Lawson and Co., "Sally in Our Alley," Bonnie Lexie, Johnny Cecil, Ella Blair and Boys, Ambrose Thorn, Keith, Ray Royal, Bioscope, Daunton-Shaw Troupe, and Violet Ingram. Artists must forward bill matter to above, according to Clause 18.

THE NEW BEDFORD
PALACE OF VARIETIES, LTD.
Twice Nightly 6.10 and 9.
Monday, May 30.
Miss Dolly Elsworthy, Gladys Warren, Douglas Bros. and Co., Lallie Brooke, The Lowells, Parke and Price, Bioscope, Harold Heath, Cadwell and Verne, Amy Clevere, Will Smythe, Les Terres, Charles Bignell, "Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde."
Artists are notified that they must send their full Bill Matter in two clear weeks before opening. Rehearsal, 1 o'clock Mondays. All must attend. Artists not complying with the above rules are subject to having their Contracts cancelled at option of Management.

ROYAL STANDARD MUSIC HALL
(facing Victoria Station).—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. T. S. DICKIE.—One House Nightly, Monday, 30th: W. S. Hartford and Co., Ernest Rees, John Donald, Jules Charmettes, Mte Ismay and Girls, Moon and Morris, Allsop and Bekwith, Two Veslas, Mabel Leroy, Frank Couch, Earle and Godfrey, Nancy St. John, Edisonograph. Rehearsal Monday 1 o'clock. Open 7.30. Saturday, 7 o'clock, with augmented programme. Tele., 503 Westminster. Assistant-Man., Mr. MAURICE VOLNY.

LONDON MUSIC HALLS.

ALHAMBRA.
"FEMINA."
New Grand Spectacular Ballet.
MLLE. LEONORA. MLLE. BRITTA.
Three Sisters Athletas, Lalla Selbini, Baron's Burlesque Menagerie, Rothig, Gracia Clare, Jury's Pictures, Funeral Procession of His Late Majesty King Edward VII.
Evening at 8.
Managing-Director, ALFRED MOUL.

EMPIRE (Leicester-square).
LYDIA KYASHT and ADOLF BOLM,
in New Series of DANCE IDYLLS.
"HULLO! LONDON."
MILLIE LEGARDE, J. F. McARDLE, &c.
"EAST AND WEST," FRED FARREN, &c.,
Royal Funeral on the Bioscope.
Petit Roberto, Signor Barbalonga.
Elsie Wulff, and Waldoff, &c.
Evenings at 8.
Manager, Mr. H. J. HITCHINS.

ACADEMIES AND SCHOOLS.

ROYAL ACADEMY OF MUSIC,
TENTERDEN-STREET, W.
Instituted 1822. Incorporated by Royal Charter, 1830.
The Academy offers to Pupils of both sexes an opportunity of receiving a thorough education in Music in all its branches, the Drama, and Dramatic Elocution under the most eminent Professors.
For terms and all other information, apply to
F. W. RENAUT, Secretary.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC
(Incorporated by Royal Charter, 1883).
Prince Consort-road, South Kensington, S.W.
Director, Sir C. Hubert H. Parry, Bart., C.V.O., D.C.L., M.A., Mus. Doc.
Hon. Sec., Charles Morley, Esq.
Syllabus and Official Entry Forms may be obtained from FRANK POWNALL, Registrar.

GUILDHALL SCHOOL OF MUSIC.
Established and Managed by the Corporation of London.
The only School in London for
OPERATIC and THEATRICAL TRAINING which possesses a completely equipped Theatre. Public Performances periodically given. Stagecraft, Elocution, Fencing, Gesture, Stage Dancing, and Deportment Taught by Eminent Professors. Half-term commences Mon., June 6. New Pupils can enter at any time.
FEES MODERATE. Prospectus on application to H. SAXE-WYNDHAM, Sec., Victoria-embankment, E.C. Tel. No. 1943 Holborn.

TRINITY COLLEGE OF MUSIC
(Inst. 1872). Chairman of Board:
Sir Frederick Bridge, M.V.O., Mus.D., M.A.
Director of Studies:
G. E. Bambridge, F.T.C.L., F.R.A.M.
Director of Examinations: C. W. Pearce, Mus.D.
Students may join at any time and are received for a single subject or the course. June 6, at 5 p.m., Students' Concert. Prospectus and Concert Tickets post free on application.
SHELLEY FISHER, Secretary.
Mandeville-place, Manchester-square, London, W.

FUNDS, &c.

ROYAL GENERAL THEATRICAL FUND.
FOR MEMBERS BECOMING INCAPACITATED EITHER BY OLD AGE OR INFIRMITY.
Hon. Treasurer, Edward Terry, Esq., J.P.
Subscribers are requested to send notices of alteration of addresses.
Charles Cruikshanks, Secretary,
Savoy House, 115-116, Strand.

ROYAL GENERAL THEATRICAL FUND.
THE SIXTY-FIFTH ANNUAL DINNER
will take place at the
WHITEHALL ROOMS, HOTEL METROPOLE,
on
SUNDAY, June 12, 1910,
at 7.30 p.m.,
MARTIN HARVEY, Esq.,
in the Chair.
Contributions, to be placed on the Chairman's List, will be gratefully acknowledged.
Musical arrangements under the direction of Wilhelm Ganz, Esq.
Tickets (inclusive of wine), £1 1s.
CHARLES CRUIKSHANKS,
Secretary.
Savoy House, 115-116, Strand, W.C.

ACTORS' BENEVOLENT FUND.
8, ADAM-STREET, STRAND.
C. I. Colston, Secretary.

ACTORS' ASSOCIATION.
32 REGENT-STREET, PICCADILLY-CIRCUS, W.
Free Medical Advice.
Free Legal Advice.
Agency. Tours Booked.
Telegrams, "Actoris, London."
Telephone, 1753 Gerrard.

THE FOURTH ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING of the TRAVELLING THEATRE MANAGERERS' ASSOCIATION will take place on WEDNESDAY, June 1, 11.30 a.m., at the CRITERION RESTAURANT, PICCADILLY, W. (by kind permission of the management). A. E. Drinkwater, Esq., will take the chair. Tickets on application to Mr. Loveridge, 219, Folkestone-road, Dover.

MUSIC HALL SICK FUND.
Founded in 1867.
Committee Meetings second Wednesday in the month at 4 p.m.
Sick Payments—£1 for 6d. per week, £1 10s. for 9d. per week. £10 paid to nearest relative on death of member. President, Mr. FRED KARNO. Hon. Auditors, Messrs. W. Brisco and T. Carney. Trustees, Messrs. H. Jennings, Jesse Sparrow, and Douglas White; Vice-President, Mr. W. J. Wainratta; Treasurer, Mr. Pat Carey; Secretary, Mr. R. T. Baines. Address all communications, the Crown Hotel, Charing Cross-road, W.C.

COLONIAL THEATRES.

AUSTRALIA.
MELBOURNE, SYDNEY, BRISBANE, WELLINGTON, N.Z.
Mr. J. C. Williamson,
Manager of the Leading Australasian Theatres,
HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE, MELBOURNE;
HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE, SYDNEY;
THEATRE ROYAL, SYDNEY;
HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE, BRISBANE.
London Representative,
J. A. E. Malone, Adelphi Theatre

AUSTRALIA.
MR. HARRY RICKARDS,
Sole Proprietor and Manager,
GRAND OPERA HOUSE, MELBOURNE;
PRINCE OF WALES' HOTEL, MELBOURNE;
TIVOLI THEATRE, SYDNEY;
TIVOLI HOTEL, SYDNEY;
TIVOLI THEATRE, ADELAIDE;
PALACE THEATRE AND GARDENS, PERTH.
Address all communications, Head Office, Tivoli Theatre, Sydney. Cable Address, "Tivolian, Sydney." General-Manager, John C. Leete.

AUSTRALIA and NEW ZEALAND.
GEORGE MARLOW'S ENTERPRISES.
London Agent,
EDWARD THANE.
18, Mount Pleasant-lane, Upper Clapton, N.E.

COLONIAL THEATRES.

BOMBAY.—CALCUTTA.
BOMBAY.—CALCUTTA.
EMPIRE AND NOVELTY THEATRES, BOMBAY.
GRAND OPERA HOUSE, CALCUTTA.
Cables:
"Soundy, Bombay."
"Operahouse, Calcutta."
The Finest and Most Up-to-date Theatres in the East.
Apply,
Soundy and Co., Ltd., Bombay;
or,
Manager, Grand Opera House, Calcutta.

INDIA AND THE FAR EAST.
BANDMANN'S EASTERN CIRCUIT.
MAURICE E. BANDMANN controls the only Circuit of Theatres in the East, and can offer attractions a Twelve to Eighteen Months' Consecutive Tour.
Rent! Share! or Certainty!
ROYAL OPERA HOUSE, BOMBAY.
Joint Owners, Maurice E. Bandmann and J. F. Karaka. District Manager, F. Mitchell.
The Premier Theatre of Bombay!
This new and magnificent three-tier theatre, now under course of erection, built on the cantilever principle, will be opened in October next. Holding capacity at ordinary prices £300. Every modern improvement. Stage capable of any production.
EMPIRE THEATRE, CALCUTTA.
Joint Owners, Maurice E. Bandmann and A. Stephen. District Manager, J. Bury.
Acknowledged by Press and Public as the Premier Theatre of the East!
Now in its second year of unprecedented success. Holding capacity at ordinary prices £350. A magnificent four-tier playhouse, built on the cantilever principle, with modern mechanical stage capable of any production.
A play palace.—Vide Press.
At last Calcutta has a theatre where one can both see and hear in.—Vide Press.
A Manager writes:—I have taken more money at the Empire, Calcutta, in one night than in another theatre in Calcutta in one week.
THEATRE ROYAL, CALCUTTA.
Sole Owner, A. Stephen. Joint Lessees, Maurice E. Bandmann and A. Stephen.
Holding capacity at ordinary prices £260.
THE FAR EAST.
District Manager, Roy H. Smith.
Address all communications to District Managers or to London Representative, 44, Cranbourn-street, W.C. Cables, "Svengali," London. "Svengali," Calcutta. "Svengali," Bombay.

NEW ZEALAND.
FULLER'S AMUSEMENT ENTERPRISES.
Props., JOHN FULLER AND SONS.
AUCKLAND OPERA HOUSE, SKATING RINK (shortly building).
WELLINGTON THEATRE R. (shortly re-building) HIS MAJESTY'S OLYMPIA RINK.
CHRISTCHURCH OPERA H., COLOSSEUM, DUNEDIN, HIS MAJESTY'S, ALHAMBRA, and PRINCESS THEATRES.
INVERCARGILL, ZEALANDIA HALL.
Head Office, Wellington.

PROVINCIAL THEATRES.

ALDERSHOT.—THEATRE ROYAL.
VARIETY SEASON TWICE NIGHTLY.
NEW EMPIRE, KINGSTON (now building).
Address, Mr. Clarence Sounes, 18, Walpole-road, Surbiton, Surrey. Telephone, 1200 P.O., Kingston.

BIRMINGHAM.
CURZON HALL.
Holding capacity about 3000.
To Let
for various dates
during 1910 and 1911.
Suitable for Circus, Diorama, &c.
For particulars apply to
Edmund W. Beech,
Chartered Accountant,
37, Temple-street,
Birmingham.

BLACKPOOL.
HER MAJESTY'S OPERA HOUSE,
WINTER GARDENS,
The PRINCIPAL THEATRE.
Holds MORE MONEY at ORDINARY PRICES and has better average business throughout the Year than any Theatre in the Town.
The Most Comfortable, Elegant, and Best-equipped Theatre, Large and Well Electric Lighted Stage, and First-class Orchestra.
All visitors to the Theatre have Free Admission to the Winter Gardens, Floral Hall, Empress Ballroom, and Pavilion Entertainments; thus Companies visiting Her Majesty's Opera House have this additional attraction, which no other Theatre can offer. Only best No. 1 Companies Booked. For Dates address, Jno. R. Huddlestone, Manager, Winter Gardens, Blackpool.

BLACKPOOL.
GRAND THEATRE, BLACKPOOL,
under the entirely new Proprietorship and Management of the Blackpool Tower Co., Ltd.
General-Manager, Geo. H. Harrop.
Acting-Manager, Percy Harrop.
The Finest, most Popular, and High Record Money-holding Theatre at ordinary prices in the town. Charmingly re-decorated and re-appointed throughout. A beautiful, luxurious, and perfectly appointed playhouse. Spacious and brilliantly-lighted stage. Superior dressing-rooms. Magnificent Orchestra.
Only Vacancy this year, July 4, and Oct. 24, No. 1 Companies only.
All communications, which should be made at once, to Geo. H. Harrop, General-Manager, as above; or, Mr. E. Lockwood, 5, Winterbrook-road, Herne Hill, London, S.E. Teles., "Tower, Blackpool."

BOLTON. — THEATRE ROYAL.
First-class Companies only. Several good Summer dates for High-class Drama.
Aug. 1 still open.
All Coms., J. F. Elliston, Bolton.

BRIGHTON.
MARINE PALACE AND PIER.
Manager, F. W. Walkington. Tele. 341.
The Finest Pier in the Kingdom.
Brilliantly illuminated with 6,000 incandescent and 32 powerful arc lamps. First-class Military Bands during Season. Handsome and luxuriously furnished Theatre, stage seen from every seat, wind and rain covered way from Pier entrance. Chief tram terminus opposite.
Theatre Vacant after Sept. 30; tenant required.

CAMBRIDGE.—NEW THEATRE (Ltd.)
Man.-Directors, Mr. W. B. Redfern, J.P., D.L.
A theatre among the most beautiful in England.—Sunday Times.
Now booking Autumn Dates for this year and Spring of 1911.
Silence a polite negative.

CHESTERFIELD.—Correspondent Required to supply Theatrical Reports Weekly. Address, Dramaticus, c/o "The Era," 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

CORK. — OPERA HOUSE.
Wanted Companies.
Autumn Dates rapidly filling.
Apply to R. J. Bell, Manager.

PROVINCIAL THEATRES.

DOUGLAS. — GRAND THEATRE.
The Premier Theatre in the Isle of Man.
Have July 11 & 25 open for First-class Attractions.
Address, Jas. Buck, Sec., 30, Brown-st., Manchester.

GRIMSBY.—PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE, LTD.
Established 1884.
Managing-Director, Joseph H. Curry.
Open all the Year Round.
Telegraphic add., "Curry, Grimsby." Tel. No. 240.

HANLEY.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.
The Staffordshire Potteries for all Dramatic Purposes must be considered as one large town.
Accommodation for 3,000 People.
Electric Trams and Trains after Performance to all ends of the District.
Vacant Spring Dates.
Sept. 5, 12, 19, and onwards.
First-class attractions only.
Chas. E. Elphinstone, Managing-Director.

HERNE BAY
URBAN DISTRICT COUNCIL.
All applications for Shares or Rental of the TOWN HALL THEATRE,
PIER PAVILION THEATRE, and various Al-fresco Sites, &c., to be made to the Entertainment-Manager, ARTHUR J. BARCLAY, Town Hall, Herne Bay.

HULL. — GRAND THEATRE.
Under the Management of William Morton.
1909-10 ENGAGEMENTS:—
Martin Harvey, Miss De Silva and Company, George Edwardes's Companies in "The Dollar Princess," "The Merry Widow" (two visits), "A Waltz Dream," "Our Miss Gibbs," Percy Hutchison in "Brewster's Millions," James Welch in "When Knights Were Bold," Walter Passmore in Robert Courtneidge's "The Arcadians," Annie Hughes in "The Chorus Lady," Weedon Grossmith and Co. in "Mr. Preedy and the Countess," Miss Marie Studholme and Co., Zena Dare in "The Dashing Little Duke," Cav. F. Castellano's Italian Grand Opera, from Drury Lane; H. G. Pélissier and "The Follies" (one week), Frank Curzon's "King of Cadonia" and "Dear Little Denmark," Mr. George Graves in "The Belle of Brittany," D'Oyly Carte, &c.
Probably vacant, Grand Theatre, August Bank Holiday, Aug. 8, 15, 29, Sept. 12, for Musical or other High-class Attractions.
Address, William Morton.

LEAMINGTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.
Vacant Dates, Sept. 12, onwards, with exceptions.
Address, E. Dottridge, Empire, Oldham.

LONDON, S.E.—Correspondent Required to supply occasional reports of the Rotherhithe Hippodrome. Apply, Dramaticus, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

MERTHYR. — THEATRE ROYAL.
MERTHYR.—THEATRE ROYAL.
(repeated 11 times)
Lessees, The South Wales Entertainments, Ltd.
Visited by all high-class Companies, including "Arcadians," "Merry Widow," "Gay Gordons," "When Knights Were Bold," Moody-Manners, &c.
Managers are requested to apply now for dates, Oct. 3, 10, 17, Nov. 28, Dec. 5, onwards, to A. Jackson Withers, at above.

NORWICH. — THEATRE ROYAL.
Now booking Autumn.
Weekly Matinées for Country Visitors.
Silence a polite negative.
Fred Morgan, Manager.

OLDHAM. — GRAND THEATRE.
One of the Finest Theatres in England.
Vacant for High-class Attractions.
Sept. 5, onwards, with exceptions.
Can entertain Big Panto., Xmas, four weeks.
Visited by Mr. Oscar Asche, Miss Lily Brayton, Mr. Martin Harvey, Moody-Manners Opera Co., Mr. Geo. Edwardes's Co's., Mr. Robert Courtneidge's Co's., "The Arcadians," &c., "Brewster's Millions," Mr. Jas. Welch, Mr. Geo. Dance's Co's., Mr. Frank Curzon's Co's., The D'Oyly Carte Opera Co., Mr. Richard Flanagan's Productions.
Address, Ernest Dottridge.

OXFORD. — NEW THEATRE.
Managers of First-class Companies are invited to apply for Dates to
Mr. C. C. Dorrill,
Managing-Director,
Silence a polite negative.

PLYMOUTH.—THEATRE ROYAL
Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. Langdon Lee.
Vacant dates, July 25, Oct. 17 (Musical Comedy).
Vacant next Spring, Feb. 27, March 6, 27, April 3, 10, and 24.

PORTSMOUTH. — NEW THEATRE ROYAL.
Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton.
Open throughout the year.
First-class Companies.
Weekly Matinées.

REDRUTH, CORNWALL.
DRUIDS' HALL.
Population of District, 20,000. Hall Holds 700.
Stage, 35ft. by 16ft. Electric light.
Dates and Terms, apply Owen Hill, Secretary, Public Rooms Co., Ltd., Redruth.

ROCHDALE.—Correspondent Required to supply Theatrical Reports Weekly. Address, Dramaticus, c/o "The Era," 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

SOUTHPORT. — OPERA HOUSE.
Lessee and Manager, Percy Hutchison.
Vacant.
Sept. 12 (?), Oct. 17, 24, Nov. 14, 21.

SUNDERLAND.—KING'S THEATRE.
Lessee and Manager, S. F. Davidson.
Business Manager, Lloyd Townrow.
Visited by all the best companies, including Geo. Alexander, Lewis Waller, Oscar Asche, Martin Harvey, Geo Graves, Moody-Manners, D'Oyly Carte, "Arcadians," "Merry Widow," &c., &c.
A few vacant dates in the Autumn.

WALSALL.—Correspondent Required to supply weekly reports of the theatres and music halls.—Apply, "Dramaticus," 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

WORKSOP.—Correspondent Required to supply Theatrical Reports Weekly. Address, Dramaticus, c/o "The Era," 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

A FEW VACANT DATES
for the following
First-class Theatre Circuit:—
OPERA HOUSE, TUNBRIDGE WELLS;
GRAND THEATRE, SOUTHAMPTON;
THEATRE ROYAL, BOURNEMOUTH;
OPERA HOUSE, CORK;
THE GRAND THEATRE, SWANSEA, can be booked in conjunction with the OPERA H., CORK. Journey via the popular Fishguard-Rosslare route.
GAIETY THEATRE, DUBLIN;
THEATRE ROYAL, DUBLIN;
OPERA HOUSE, BELFAST.
Apply, Frdk. Mouillot,
1 and 2, King-street, Covent Garden.

SCALE OF CHARGES FOR PROVINCIAL THEATRES AND PROVINCIAL MUSIC HALLS
Five Lines, TWO and SIXPENCE.
Thirteen Insertions (Including a Copy of "The Era" Weekly), THIRTY SHILLINGS.
For Each Additional Line, Sixpence.
Address, the Publisher,
5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.
"Wire," "The Era," London.
"Ring-up," 4747 or 1433 Central.

Warning to Concert Parties and all others who it may concern.
Re "THE ARCADIANS."
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the rights of public representation or performance of the music and words of "The Arcadians" are the property of Mr. Robert Courtneidge, the Shaftesbury Theatre, London, and are reserved; further, that legal proceedings will forthwith be instituted without any further notice against all persons giving or assisting in giving any such performance or representation of the words or music of the said play or any part thereof.
Dated the 24th May, 1910.
J. MOVERLEY SHARP,
Criterion Chambers, Jermyn-street, S.W.
Solicitor for Mr. Robert Courtneidge

PLAYERS OF THE PERIOD

ALPHABETICAL LIST
OF
ILLUSTRATED BIOGRAPHIES.

Albury, Mr. Eric H.	Feb. 5, 1
Allan, Mr. Charles	Jan. 7, 1
Anderson, Mr. William	May 29, 1
Anthony, Mr. Mark	Jan. 1, 1
Arnold, Mr. Harold	Nov. 6, 1
Austin and Cowan	Feb. 5, 1
Barbour, Late Mr. William	Feb. 19, 1
Barclay, Miss Lila	July 24, 1
Barrasford, late Mr. Thomas	Feb. 5, 1
Barratt, Mr. Lester	Oct. 23, 1
Bassett, Mr. Leon Alfred	July 3, 1
Beltram, Miss Josie	Jan. 22, 1
Black, Mr. Kenneth	Nov. 20, 1
Blackwood, Miss Nancy	March 12, 1
Blanchard, Miss Mildred	Nov. 27, 1
Box, Mr. Ted E.	Nov. 6, 1
Boyde, late Mr. Edwin	Nov. 6, 1
Braithwaite, Mrs. J. W.	April 30, 1
Brand, Late Mr. Oswald	Aug. 28, 1
Brough, late Mr. Lionel	Nov. 13, 1
Broughton, Mr. W. H.	Jan. 22, 1
Buonaparte, Mr. Juan	July 31, 1
Bushell, Mr. Albert	Nov. 20, 1
Calvert, Mr. Cayley	Feb. 12, 1
Carpenter, Late Mr. Ernest	Jan. 1, 1
Carpenter, Mr. F. W.	March 5, 1
Carr, Mr. James	March 5, 1
Caselli, Sisters	Nov. 13, 1
Cecil, Mr. Douglas	Aug. 21, 1
Chapman, Miss Ida Assheton	Dec. 18, 1
Clarkson, Mr. Willie	Jan. 29, 1
Clifton, Miss Dorothy	Feb. 12, 1
Clyffe, Miss Dolly	Jan. 22, 1
Colley, Mr. Herbert	Jan. 22, 1
Collingwood, Mr. Lester	March 26, 1
Collins, Late Miss Lottie	May 7, 1
Collins, Mr. Arthur	Feb. 26, 1
Colyer, Miss Kitty	June 19, 1
Conway, Late Mr. H. B.	Aug. 21, 1
Corri, Mlle. Ghita	April 23, 1
Cranston, Mr. Edward	June 26, 1
Craven, Miss Elise	Jan. 1, 1
Cross, Late Mr. A. B.	Jan. 8, 1
Curlette, Miss Cissie	Oct. 23, 1
Dallas, Mr. J. J.	Sept. 4, 1
Dalton, Miss Florence	July 31, 1
D'Arc, Mr. W. J.	Aug. 28, 1
Dare, Mr. Charles	Sept. 11, 1
Darien, Mr. Philip	Feb. 5, 1
Darling, Jessie	Oct. 2, 1
Davidson and Mitchell	Aug. 7, 1
Davies, Late Mr. Chas. J.	Jan. 29, 1
Day, Mr. Harry W.	March 26, 1
Delaine, Miss Josie	Feb. 12, 1
Diamond, Master Cliff	Oct. 23, 1
Earle, Miss Amy Lloyd	Feb. 5, 1
Edgar, Late Mr. J. W.	Aug. 28, 1
Erskine, Miss Ella	Sept. 18, 1
Evans, late Mr. Evans	Nov. 6, 1
Feldman, Mr. Bert	Feb. 12, 1
Fern, Miss Sable	Jan. 22, 1
Ferris, Mr. Edward	March 26, 1
Ford-Howitt, Miss Gladys	Jan. 22, 1
Ford, Mr. Herbert	May 7, 1
Ford, Late Mr. T. W.	Sept. 18, 1
Foster, Mr. Edward	Aug. 28, 1
Franklin, Miss Irene	Aug. 14, 1
Gibbons, Mr. Walter	Feb. 5, 1
Gittins, Mr. Ernest Ch.	Feb. 5, 1
Graydon, Mr. J. L.	Jan. 15, 1
Greatwich, Miss Dulcie	May 22, 1
Gregory, Mr. Walner	Jan. 15, 1
Grossmith, sen., Mr. George	June 5, 1
Groves, jun., Mr. Charles	May 15, 1
Hales, Late Mrs. Martha	Oct. 2, 1
Hampton, Miss Louise	Aug. 14, 1
Hardacre, Mr. J. Pitt	Oct. 23, 1
Hargreaves, Mr. W. H.	April 23, 1
Harwood, Late Mr. Robb	Feb. 26, 1
Hastings-Batson, Mr. J.	March 5, 1
Heath, Late Mr. Frank	Dec. 18, 1
Herbert, Miss Katharine	June 26, 1
Herries, Miss Lillian	July 3, 1
Hickman, Mr. Charles D.	April 23, 1
Housley, Miss Edith	Aug. 7, 1
Hudson, late Mr. T. P.	July 3, 1
Illing, Late Mme. Meta	Jan. 1, 1
Jenoure, Miss Aida	July 17, 1
Jerome, Miss Daisy	Nov. 13, 1
Jerrarde, Miss Maisie	April 10, 1
Kenney, Late Mr. Chas. H.	Sept. 25, 1
Kitts, Mr. Charles S.	Feb. 12, 1
Knight, Miss Agnes	July 10, 1
Law, Master Cecil Howard	April 24, 1
Leon, late Mr. Frank	Nov. 6, 1
Lilburn Mr. Charles	Sept. 4, 1
Lloyd, Mr. Tom	May 7, 1
Lockhart, Mr. William	Nov. 27, 1
Lomath, Mr. Stuart	May 22, 1
Loveday, Late Mr. H. J.	April 2, 1
Mack, Miss Bertha Doud	Dec. 25, 1
Mackay, Miss Ida	Feb. 12, 1
Mackay, Mr. A. B.	Feb. 12, 1
Mapleson, Colonel	April 23, 1
May, Miss Daisy	April 2, 1
Melford, Mr. Austin G.	April 10, 1
Mellon, Late Mrs. Alfred	Sept. 11, 1
Melville, Mr. Andrew	Oct. 2, 1
Montague, Little Constance	April 30, 1
Moore, Late Mr. G. W.	Oct. 2, 1
Morell, Miss Daisy	July 17, 1
Morgan, Miss Dorma	Dec. 25, 1
Morgan, Miss Mabelle	Oct. 30, 1
Moss, Mr. Hugh	June 12, 1
Newall, late Mr. Richard	Oct. 30, 1
Nolan, Late Mr. Michael	Jan. 15, 1
Payne-Seddon, Mr. W.	April 16, 1
Pembroke, Mr. Clifford	Sept. 4, 1
Penso, Mr. R.	Nov. 27, 1
Perrette, Mr. W. H.	Jan. 22, 1

Copies of "The Era" containing the above can be obtained, price 6d. each for any issue 1910 other dates double price.
Address, The Publisher, "The Era" Building, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

THEATRICAL SHOE AND HOSIERY MANUFACTURERS,
MAKERS TO THE PRINCIPAL LONDON THEATRES.

Louis Heel Dancing Shoes a Speciality.
Sixty Art Shades of Linen Back Satin,
Specially Woven for the Manufacture of Dancing Shoes,
kept in stock.
This Satin has a Fine Lustre, and is almost as Strong as Leather.

Large Stock of Pure and Spun Silk Tights,
Worsted and Cotton Tights, Opera Hose,
Stockings, &c.
A Special Study made of Symmetrical Paddings.
The Most Up-to-Date Stock of
Stage Requisites and Sundries.
Everything of the Best and at Store Prices.
H. and M. RAYNE,
115, 117, and 119, WATERLOO-ROAD,
LONDON, S.E.
(Opposite Electric Tram Terminus).
Tel. 7978 Central. Telegrams, Raynaloo, London.
And at 49, Charing Cross-road, W.C. (near Hippo).

TO OUR READERS.
A SINGLE COPY OF "THE ERA"
Post Free to any Address in the United Kingdom for SIX STAMPS.
Telegraphic Address, "The Era, London."
Address, THE PUBLISHERS,
"The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-st., Strand, W.C.

THE ERA

SATURDAY, MAY 28, 1910.

THE SAD SEASON.

The profession is at present under a cloud which is casting a shadow over it, morally and financially. None are mourning the loss of the late King EDWARD more sincerely than actors and actresses; and few are suffering, and will suffer, more seriously from the sad and solemn abstention which is following his death. At its outset, the theatrical season has had a most disastrous and injurious "set-back." We hear of several pieces which were confidently expected to run right through the hot weather, but will now, in all probability, be withdrawn. The command that mourning shall be general till June is more than half over must have its effect on the attendance at theatres; and the extended period of Court mourning must do great damage to the patronage of the stalls.

That there is something formal and artificial in these ordered and protracted periods of outward sorrow no one can deny. Even in the case of our nearest and dearest we cannot maintain for very long the first intensity of grief which was caused by their departure. No one on the point of death would desire that his wife and family should, for any length of time, be made miserable by his demise. The most he would wish would be that, when he was remembered it would be with pleasant thoughts of his lovable qualities and of the happy times he and his family had spent together. There is much good sense in the remonstrance of Claudius to Hamlet on his obstinate perseverance in grief for his father; and the lecture of the King would be absolutely unanswerable did we not know that Hamlet's gloom was caused as much by his mother's hasty re-marriage and by his suspicions of the way in which his father met with his death as by the death itself. To the sorrow of the King's personal friends it would be harsh to set any limit; but it is impossible that the great mass of the population, and especially the frivolous portion of it known as "society," can really maintain the interior mourning at the same pitch of darkness as the "customary suits of solemn black" which they are wearing.

The late King, a brave and buoyant man who took life like a natural philosopher, would have been sorely grieved if he could have foreseen the loss and distress, apart from the sorrow at losing him, which would be caused to those connected with the gayer and more cheerful callings in England. On the makers of beautiful and artistic costumes for ordinary wear the change from colour to black will press heavily; but by the managers, the actors and actresses, and the playwrights the disastrous season will be felt very keenly.

And the worst of it is, that a great deal of this abstention from amusement will be mere hypocrisy and want of moral courage. Hundreds of fashionable and would-be fashionable people will be prevented from going to theatres, after their real sorrow for King EDWARD'S death has passed away, by the fear of their neighbours. The deepest sorrow for a dead friend is not always felt by those who go about with long faces. The world's work has to go on, whoever lives or dies. Bread must be earned, even if the earner has lost his nearest and dearest. It is only the rich and idle who can indulge in the "luxury of woe." But their masquerade, if carried to too great an extent, means the actual physical want and distress of hundreds who get a living by ministering to their pleasures.

There is only one hope and consolation in the present depression. After the fast will come the feast; after the strain, the reaction. When the present period of mourning is over, all classes will hasten to reward themselves for their abstinence by an excess of amusement and enjoyment. We rely on our present King and Queen to do all they can to shorten the period of famine at the theatres, and when it ends to increase the harvest. Let them set an example of theatre-going as the late King did, and even more frequently than his age and many responsibilities allowed him to do. There is no more certain way of winning the hearts of a people than by joining sympathetically in its simpler pleasures. The stage is the only recreation in which the richest and the poorest, the highest and the lowest, the boy in the gallery and the King in the royal box, can join. The appearance of the late King EDWARD shaking with laughter at an amusing play, or applauding a fine dramatic scene, did more to make him beloved than any other actions in his life. Royalty must necessarily be aloof from the man-in-the-street, who only catches a glimpse of his King as he whirls by in a brougham to his palace, or starts in his motor-car for a railway station. But at the theatre the common man realises that his rulers are men of like passions with himself, and there is nothing more calculated to gain his affection and confidence. It was not without reason that SHAKESPEARE called the actors the "abstract and brief chronicles of the time." But now the situation is altered. Instead of the players going to the monarch's castle, he goes to their house. The chronicle of his playgoing is the sum of his popularity.

We feel certain that no actor or actress, still less a theatrical manager, would allow a complaint to escape him or her concerning the most unlucky depression of theatrical business caused by the late King's death. But it is all the more desirable that attention should be drawn to the inevitable distress that will follow the spoilt season, and to the serious demands that will be made on the resources of the Actors' Benevolent Fund. Our present King—who has already given evidence of his sympathy with the loss caused by the late King's death by shortening the period of general mourning—could not more gracefully and generously signalise his accession to the throne than by a suitable contribution to this Fund. Such a gift would be quite in harmony with the spirit of the late King, who sympathised with the trials and troubles of the profession as much as he enjoyed and admired their successes.

A KING EDWARD MEMORIAL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—As the nation turns sorrowfully from the graveside of its late Sovereign its first wish will be to devise a worthy monument to keep alive in the hearts of his people the memory of a reign and an example which have been, and may still be, profoundly valuable to them.

With fine eloquence the Prime Minister has described the memory and the example which King Edward has left to his people—"A memory of great opportunities greatly employed, an example which the humblest of his subjects may treasure and strive to follow, of simplicity, courage, self-denial, tenacious devotion, up to the last moment of conscious life, to work, to duty, and to service." If in memory of their dead King, and following his example, the people of his Empire will erect to him a monument, ære perennius, constructed of self-sacrifice and personal service, they will be paying to him a far nobler tribute, and one which they may feel confident that he would have valued more, than any structure that money can buy. Such a monument will be the most sincere, the most truly national token of regard. In erecting it all his subjects will share, from the highest to the humblest, and the humblest equally with the highest.

King Edward strove to promote concord at home and peace among the nations: his people may carry on that work. He devoted his life to the strengthening and building-up of his country; his people may set the crown upon his endeavour. He did his duty to the end: his people may unite to discharge that duty, the duty of practical personal patriotism.

His people may do all this by accepting with one accord, in memory of the King whom they mourn, the obligation of personal service in defence of the Empire. Universal military service, which is not conscription, would strengthen and consolidate the Empire as nothing else can, and by so doing would make for righteousness and peace. Morally and physically it would make our nations stronger and better, and it would afford one common interest in which the prejudices of class and creed and party would be submerged. No monarch has ever received such a splendid tribute of devotion to his person and recognition of his labours as the voluntary acceptance by his people of the obligation of universal military service for a memorial to him, and no monarch has so merited it as did King Edward. Let us honour him and honour ourselves by paying that tribute now. For the sake of Edward the Peacemaker, let us strengthen ourselves that we may preserve peace on the earth.

The sister nations of the Empire have begun already to lead the way, and the call comes to the people of the United Kingdom in the stirring words of our present King, uttered after a visit to those sister nations—"Wake up!" And so, while we adopt universal military service in memory of King Edward, we shall prove our loyalty to King George by heeding his message.

How, then, can the people of the United Kingdom voice, in a manner at once national, explicit, simple, and non-partisan, their desire for universal military service? Happily, there is a means ready and available for all. When the national self-consciousness was stirred by the issues at the last Parliamentary elections, a petition was inaugurated praying His Majesty "speedily to take such steps as to Your Majesty shall seem meet to establish a system of Universal Military Service, whereby all Your Majesty's male subjects in the United Kingdom shall be trained to bear arms and be rendered liable to serve in the United Kingdom, so far as may be necessary for the defence of the country." In the intervening months the organisation of the Universal Service Petition has been quietly and steadily prepared, and the petition was already in circulation when the news of King Edward's death came with sudden shock upon the world. He has not lived to receive the petition. Let us, in memory of him, make it a national demonstration of sorrow and affection, and then loyally present it to his successor on the Throne, our Gracious King, George the Fifth.—Yours faithfully,

E. B. WAGGETT,
Chairman General Committee, Universal Service Petition.

F. W. JONES, Secretary.
109, Victoria-street, Westminster, S.W., May 24.

HIS MAJESTY KING GEORGE has intimated to the promoters of the Army Pageant that his desire is that it should not be postponed owing to the recent national calamity. The pageant will accordingly be held, as arranged, at Fulham Palace from June 20 to July 2. Many well-known names figure in the list of contributors to the Pageant Book, and the joint-editors, Mr. F. R. Benson (Master of the Pageant) and Major Algernon Tudor Craig, are to be congratulated on the admirable manner in which they have arranged the matter at their disposal.

"CHAMPIONS OF MORALITY."

Comedy, in Three Acts, by Ludwig Thoma, Translated by H. A. Hertz and Frederick Whelen, Produced at the Aldwych on Sunday, May 22.

Adolf Bolland ..... MR. JULES SHAW
Fritz Beermann ..... MR. CLIFTON ALDERSON
Otto Wasner ..... MR. KENYON MUSGRAVE
Effie Beermann ..... MISS VON APPEN
Clara Bolland ..... MISS MARIANNE CALDWELL
Fraulein Koch-Pinneberg ..... MISS ROSAMUND MAYNE YOUNG
Hans Jakob Dobler ..... MR. FRANK ESMOND
Lina Beermann ..... MISS ANNIE HILL
Dr. Hauser ..... MR. JAMES HEARN
Frau Lund ..... MRS. THEODORE WRIGHT
Betty ..... MISS ADAH BARTON
Oskar Stroebel ..... MR. LEON M. LION
Josef Reisacher ..... MR. ALFRED BRISTOWE
Freiherr Von Simbach ..... MR. LEONARD SHEPHERD
Mme. Ninon de Hauteville ..... MISS SARAH BROOKE
Policeman ..... MR. FRANK RIDLEY
Freiherr Botho Von Schmettau ..... MR. LEON QUARTERMAINE

The flavour of French farce is strong in Champions of Morality, the adaptation from the German of Ludwig Thoma, which the Stage Society presented at the Aldwych on Sunday evening last and the following afternoon. Ludwig Thoma, a Bavarian, is one of the best-known humorists in Germany, a contributor to Jugend and Simplicissimus, author of humorous essays and tales, and of various comedies. Moral, of which the above production is a translation, was produced at the Kleines in the autumn of 1908. Its situations are Parisian, but its humour, with some brilliant exceptions, is ponderous, and only the closest attention could seize upon the satirical shafts that were let fly. Mr. Bernard Shaw, who was present in a private box, may have seen himself reflected in the more pungent periods of the piece, which at times was quite as disagreeable as that gentleman's "unpleasantest play," though the mirthful results were by no means equal.

The characters are essentially German, and are located in the chief town of a small principality. The capital boasts a vigilance society, of which Herr Fritz Beermann, a candidate for Parliament, is president, while upon the council are men of similar undeniable respectability, and the first act is taken up with an attack upon their principles by their respective wives, and a heated defence thereof. Consternation among the members of the council is created when it is learned that a member of the demi-monde has been arrested, together with a diary in which all the names of her clients appear. There is an amusing scene in the second act, when the "creature" is called before the examining magistrate and alludes mysteriously to an exalted personage who was secreted in a wardrobe on the day on which the raid was made. Herr Beermann calls, not, as the magistrate imagines, in the interests of his society, but to find out whether the case against the courtesan cannot be quashed, for the confiscated diary contains frequent repetitions of his name. He argues in vain that the misdeeds of the upper classes should be concealed for fear of scandalising the lower, and at length in despair walks off with the incriminating diary, which he secures while the official's back is turned. Eventually it is discovered that the occupant of the wardrobe was none other than the hereditary duke, and the necessity for hushing-up the affair is imperative to the police. Unfortunately, the prisoner will only consent to be released on payment of a princely sum, and it is the vigilance society, the whole council of which would be implicated in the case, that has finally to provide the money.

Well-drawn sketches of character were given by the members of the cast. Mr. Clifton Alderson covered himself with credit as the perturbed Fritz Beerman, whose increasing weight of woe he suggested by clever facial play, while always maintaining the comic dignity of the part. Mr. Leon M. Lion portrayed the snobbish Police-Magistrate realistically, his make-up being a masterpiece, and his attitudes and assumption of authority deliciously absurd. The striking features of Mr. Leonard Shepherd were invaluable in the part of the overbearing Police President, who gives his subordinate the responsibility of his office, but secures for himself the emoluments. Mr. Shepherd acted the rôle admirably, and contributed to one of the most effective scenes of the play. A pedantic professor, who has a hobby for collecting obscene literature, in order to test their effect on the public mind, and falls a victim to their influence, was capitally acted by Mr. Kenyon Musgrave; and Mr. Jules Shaw as a "councillor of commerce" who also falls from grace, succeeded admirably in a part quite in his line. Miss Sarah Brooke spared no pains in her rendering of the demi-monde, dressing the part rakishly, and acting in the low-comedy fashion required. A keen and observant lawyer, who makes no pretence to morality, and is therefore the first resort of those whose sins have found them out, was played in his own skilful and incisive style by Mr. James Hearn; Mr. Leon Quartermaine was a polished exponent of a ducal chamberlain; Mr. Alfred Bristowe made much of the few materials at his disposal as an abject police-office clerk; and Mr. Frank Esmond rendered the lines of a poet agreeably. A talkative old lady, who leads the campaign against the men folk, was played in her own humorous fashion by Mrs. Theodore Wright; and Miss Annie Hill made a comely Frau Beerman, and spoke her lines in a long interview with the husband much more clearly than the authors had expressed them. A charming young lady artist was presented by Miss Rosamund Mayne Young; Miss Marianne Caldwell created a diversion as an hysterically effusive society lady; and Miss Von Appen acted daintily as Beerman's young daughter. Mr. Norman Page was responsible for the production, and is to be complimented on the smooth manner in which it was accomplished.

MR. CHISHOLM TAYLOR, on relinquishing his appointment as manager of the New Century Theatre, Motherwell, was presented with a large touring basket from the staff. Mr. Taylor was also a guest at a smoking concert given by a few local friends, who during the evening presented him with a heavy silver cigarette case and a purse of gold.

PREVIOUS to the rising of the curtain on the performance of The Merry Widow on Saturday evening, Mr. J. Maurice Clement, proprietor-manager of the Opera House, Dudley, after a few appropriate remarks, called upon the large audience assembled to be upstanding and to join in singing "God Save the King," a request to which the house responded heartily. Mr. Clement wired this to the King's Private Secretary, and received the following reply:—"Buckingham Palace. To Maurice Clement, Opera House, Dudley. I am commanded to express the King's appreciation of the loyal feelings evinced by the large audience at the Dudley Opera House on Saturday evening.—Private Secretary."

SOCIETY was well represented at the Opera on Wednesday night. The Duchess of Marlborough was in a box on the grand tier; Lady Newborough was in a box on the pit tier, and also in boxes on the same tier were the Countess of Coventry and Baron and Baroness de Meyer. The Earl of Portsmouth was in his usual seat at the back of the stalls, and also present were Lord Westbury, the Hon. Mrs. Arthur Crichton, Captain the Hon. Henry Denison, and Sir Paolo and Lady Tosti, the Countess of Harewood, the Countess of Normanton, Lady Margaret Douglas, Lady Alwyne Compton, Lady Kathleen Pilkington, Lady Willoughby de Eresby, the Earl of Duncannon, and Sir Spencer and Lady Maryon-Wilson.

THE DRAMA IN PARIS.

"VIDOCQ."

Play, in Five Acts and Seven Tableaux, by Emile Bergerat, Produced at Sarah-Bernhardt's on May 15.

Charlotte ..... MLLE. DERVAL
La mère Pouillot ..... MME. MEA
Annette ..... MLLE. PARNY
Léocadie ..... MLLE. PASCAL
Vidocq ..... M. JEAN KEMM
Salvador, Comte de Casagoras M. JEAN WORMS
Arigonde ..... M. DUARD
Marquis de Madiran ..... M. CUIDE
Comte Décazes ..... M. LUITZ
Bussières ..... M. BALOGNE
Utinet ..... M. UTINEUX
Gardien du Roy ..... M. REYVAL

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

PARIS, THURSDAY, May 19.—Unlike Sherlock Holmes, Arsène Lupin, and tutti quanti, Vidocq, the hero in M. Bergerat's play, is not a creature of fiction, but a famous detective, who lived and flourished in the beginning of the nineteenth century. He was an unprincipled scoundrel, and had been several times sentenced to long terms of imprisonment for forgery, robbery, and embezzlement. Somehow or other, however, he managed to escape from prison, and it was he who first put into practice the adage "set a thief to catch a thief," for he had the audacity of proposing to the Minister of the Interior to appoint him Chief of the Detective Police, his argument being that he not only knew all the secrets of the profession but most of the members of the craft, on whom he could lay his hands at a minute's notice. Wonderful as it may seem, Vidocq's proposal was accepted, and there can be no doubt that he rendered real services to the State. On the other hand, he was suspected of having "arranged" several big thefts, and derived profits from the men he was supposed to have arrested. In 1827 he was asked to resign his post, whereupon he started a private enquiry office. Accused of blackmailing practices, the authorities, remembering the services he once rendered, did not prosecute him, but they compelled him to close his establishment, and Vidocq died in extreme misery.

To make a hero of such a shady personage is not an easy matter, and it cannot be said that the author has succeeded in his task. The play, moreover, has another grave defect. In all detective plays the public likes to share in the hunt after the unknown criminals. In the above story, however, we know from the start who committed the robbery, and the plot, therefore, fell a little flat We are supposed to be in the good year 1820. A pearl necklace belonging to the Duchesse de Berry, the King's niece, has disappeared in a mysterious fashion. At a masked ball at Saint-Cloud, the Duchesse, not wanting to be recognised, asked Mme. de Madiran, the handsome wife of a cavalry colonel, to take charge of it. Mme. de Madiran has put it round her neck, but on leaving the ball the necklace is gone. In Court circles the affair has become known, and the King especially is much annoyed, because necklace robberies have always proved fatal to the French throne. And, to make matters worse, the robbery can only have been committed by somebody at Court; for which reason the investigation has to be carried on with the greatest discretion. Count Décazes, the Minister, interrogates Mme. de Madiran, and learns from her that in the course of the evening she has strolled in the gardens on the arm of one of the guests, his Excellency Count Casagoras. But as this gentleman is, of course, above suspicion, the Minister, at his wits' end, sends for Vidocq, promising to rehabilitate him if he helps him to catch the thief.

Vidocq is not long in doubt. He at once gives the names of three men, who, according to him, have performed the deed. These three men are: Arigonde, an ex-convict; the gamekeeper, Utinet; and, finally, Salvador, also an ex-convict, and certainly the instigator. The problem, therefore, Vidocq has to solve is to discover in what manner this Salvador gained admission at Court, and to manage things in such a way as not to compromise Mme. de Madiran. We next see Vidocq in various disguises, and even running great risks. Fortunately for him he is saved by Arigonde, his former chum, the man he is now watching. Finally, after much trouble, he proves that the great Count de Casagoras is Salvador, the ex-convict, and he arrests the whole gang. But a fresh difficulty arises. Salvador, in view of possible trouble, has taken his precautions. Mme. de Madiran has been foolish enough to write him a letter couched in rather too affectionate terms, and Salvador has given the note to his friend, Léocadie, with instructions to send it at once to M. de Madiran the moment she hears that he, Salvador, has been arrested. It is impossible for Vidocq to intercept this note, but he succeeds in preventing the husband from reading it by inventing a clever story. He tells the Colonel that the letter refers to a Bonapartist conspiracy, whereupon M. de Madiran, a loyal servant of the King, tears up the paper without reading it.

The work was very well acted by M. Jean Kemm, who imparted to the character of Vidocq all the qualities the original did not possess. Salvador, the adventurer, was admirably impersonated by M. Jean Worms. The other rôles, too, were well sustained.

"LA FLEUR MERVEILLEUSE."

Play, in Four Acts, in Verse, by M. Miguel Zamacois, Produced at the Comédie-Française on May 23.

Griet ..... MLLE. LECONTE
Speranza ..... MLLE. GENIAT
Régine ..... MME. SILVAIN
Mietje ..... MLLE. PROVOST
Alida ..... MLLE. LIFRAUD
Lignerolle ..... M. DE FERAUDY
Florent ..... M. SILVAIN
Gobelousse ..... M. BERR
Chevalier de Blancourt ..... M. DUFLOS
Van Amstel ..... M. SIBLOT
Gilbert ..... M. DESSONNES
Médard ..... M. JOLIET

PARIS, THURSDAY, May 26.—M. Zamacois is the author of Les Bouffons, which scored such a deserved success at Sarah-Bernhardt's, but it is not probable that his new work, brought out at the Comédie-Française, will enjoy the same run. M. Zamacois, the son of a distinguished painter, however, is also an artist of no mean merit, and the four acts of La Fleur Merveilleuse are four delightful pictures that make us overlook some of the shortcomings in the play. The scene of the opening tableau is laid in a cut-throat inn near Arras.

We are in the good year 1643, and the dramatis personæ wear the picturesque dress of that period. Four villainous-looking fellows are indulging in a game of cards when the first traveller makes his appearance—the Chevalier de Blancourt, a young nobleman on his way to Haarlem, where he hopes to secure the hand of the pretty daughter of the wealthy Mynheer Van Amstel. The next to enter is Mme. Régine, a widow, who takes her son Gilbert on a trip to Holland; for Gilbert, having been jilted by the girl he loves, has become slightly "daft," and wants a change of scene. Finally the door opens again to admit Speranza, a young gipsy, who seeks shelter against the pelting rain. Médard, the landlord, wants to eject the girl, who has no money to pay for a night's lodging, but Mme. Régine interposes, and, thanks to her, Speranza can remain in peace. No, not in peace; for one of the before-mentioned bandits knows her and wants to take possession of her. In a scuffle with his friends the bandit is killed, and Speranza vows eternal gratitude to Mme. Régine.

When the curtain rises again we are in the city of Haarlem. The Chevalier de Blancourt is there, and Mme. Régine and her son have likewise arrived. They have already made the acquaintance of Mynheer Van Amstel, fanatically fond of tulips, like the other citizens of Haarlem. Gilbert, still daft, meets the charming Griet Van Amstel waltzing arm-in-arm with her equally charming girl friends. Griet gently chaffs the melancholy youth, and we foresee that Griet is anxious to make him forget the wicked girl who jilted him. But this happy state of things is not brought about without trouble. There is a prize competition of tulips, wherein Van Amstel, whose collection of flowers is famous throughout the country, does not secure the first prize. Mad with rage, Van Amstel then climbs on a table and, like a herald, informs the good citizens of Haarlem that he will give his daughter Griet and a huge dowry to him who within a fortnight will bring a tulip handsomer than the one with which his opponent won the prize.

Mme. Régine then has a happy thought. She has noticed that Gilbert is interested in Griet, and she feels certain that if her son's sympathy for the girl could blossom into love he would be cured of his semi-madness. But in order to win Griet he must find the miraculous tulip. And it is here that Speranza, the little gipsy, comes to the rescue. She has not forgotten Mme. Régine's kindness, and the moment has come for her to repay her debt. She herself has lost her heart to the melancholy youth, but she will sacrifice her happiness in order to save him. Among her collection of charms is a dried bulb of a tulip, picked up years ago on distant shores. By magic art she causes the bulb to blossom in one night, and she brings to the delighted Mme. Régine a tulip such as mortal eyes never beheld. The Chevalier de Blancourt tries to destroy it, but without success.

In the final tableau an estrade is erected in front of Van Amstel's house, when all the young men of Haarlem file past, each carrying a more or less beautiful tulip with which they hope to secure the prize. But when Speranza's magic flower is brought in a hush comes over the assembly. Gilbert, now very much in love with Griet, has to plead his own cause. At first he stammers and cannot bring out a word; but at the sight of Griet appearing on a balcony amidst a mass of roses he regains his self-possession, and, in lyric verses, he praises the beauty of Griet and of the flower with which he presses his suit. Griet is affianced to Gilbert, the wicked Chevalier returns to France, and Speranza goes away without wishing good-bye to those whose happiness she has brought about. According to the author, this miraculous flower is the symbol of love—a love that heals the wounds caused by the wickedness of others.

Anything more delightful than the rôle of Griet interpreted by Mlle. Leconte cannot well be imagined. Her acting was perfection itself, and in her becoming costume she looked as if she had stepped out of a picture by one of the old Dutch masters. Mme. Silvain and Mlle. Géniat did full justice to their parts; and MM. Silvain, de Férandy, Siblot, and Berr constituted an excellent ensemble.

"JACQUES ABRAN."

Play, in Three Acts, by Antoine Bibesco, Produced at Théâtre Réjane on May 24.

Isabella D'Arolla ..... MLLE. VERA SERGINE
Claire de Termand ..... MLLE. SYLVIE
Comtesse de Minois ..... MLLE. A. BRETTNER
Jacques Danier ..... M. GARRY
Sobanoff ..... M. PUYLAGARDE
Werner ..... M. NARENNES
Roulier ..... M. GARNIER
De Termand ..... M. FUGERE

The author of Jacques Abran is an exotic playwright, and, like many "society men," has had an attack of stage fever, with the usual symptoms—an irrepressible desire to write a play. The gentleman did his best, but his best in this case has not been good. His hero is what we call here an "arriviste." He has changed his name from Abraham to Abran, he has lived disreputably, and when the play opens he is about to discard the Marquise d'Arolle, the woman who helped him on in the world, for Abran covets a big prize in the person of an heiress, Claire de Termand. But the Marquise is not to be shaken off. She sticks to her disreputable lover, and when she sees that all her endeavours fail, and that Abran intends to elope with Claire, she takes the law into her own little hands and shoots the scoundrel. Like most insignificant plays, M. Bibesco's production ends with a revolver shot. All the personages are unsympathetic. Abran is a heartless villain, and the women who centre their affections on such a man are not to be pitied. Even the excellent cast failed to impart colour to this meaningless play.

THE NATIONAL THEATRE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

SIR,—I have read with considerable interest various letters in your recent issues on the above subject. In your columns and elsewhere I have, before now, ventured to express my scepticism as to its materialisation. If it ever does come (and I will believe it when I see it), one thing appears to be firmly demonstrated, viz., that the name of the one man to direct it is "written across the face of the heavens," and that name is J. Forbes Robertson. Recent events appear to establish the fact that if ever a theatre in "Shakespeare's England" shall bear his name, or be identified with his works, some strong and emphatic stand must be made against the terrible lack of idealism in the performance of his great characters, and the appallingly slipshod reading of his lines which is now in vogue. Again and again and again in recent years his meaning has been distorted, and his poetry eclipsed by efforts that would be unworthy of the average schoolboy, and the name I have suggested would be a guarantee that such efforts must be reconsidered.

Possibly Mr. Robertson may not thank me for putting his name so prominently forward. I have never spoken with him on this subject, nor have I met him for a long time; but Shakespearean art, in Shakespeare's country and in a theatre bearing Shakespeare's name (or allied thereto), is above individual feeling, and nothing short of the best would be good enough.—Yours faithfully,

J. H. BARNES.
Green Room Club, 46, Leicester-square, W.C.
May 25.

IN accordance with the usual custom during the summer months, the matinées of Our Miss Gibbs at the Gaiety Theatre will be discontinued after to-day.

A WREATH, composed of yew from an ancient tree traditionally known as Shakespeare's tree, was sent by the vicar, clergy, and wardens of the church where the dramatist lies buried at Stratford-on-Avon, to be placed on the late King's coffin. Lord Knollys has written a letter of thanks to the vicar on behalf of Queen Alexandra.

AN interesting operatic contract has just been signed in Berlin by the distinguished French tenor, M. Charles Dalmorès, who is to receive the sum of £40,000 for four years' services in the United States. M. Dalmorès will appear at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, and the allied opera houses at Chicago and Philadelphia.

THE recent complimentary benefit matinée to Mr. W. K Chatto, the popular manager of the Grand Opera House, Middlesbrough, attracted a very large audience. A long and interesting entertainment was given, including the Savoy operetta Captain Billy and a one-act play, Hearts and Spades, by Mr. Herbert Halliwell's company from the Theatre Royal. At the close of the proceedings Mr. J. C. Imeson, on behalf of the theatre staff, presented Mr. Chatto with a gold signet ring, and a brooch for Mrs. Chatto. Mr. Chatto feelingly responded, and tendered his sincere thanks to the staff and all who had helped to make the matinée a success. The house is closed for ten weeks

VARIETY GOSSIP.

The Surrey Vaudeville Theatre will be closed on Saturday, July 30 next, for the purpose of rebuilding. A definite date for reopening will shortly be announced, and all artists booked will be given other dates.

Mr. Frank Macnaghten sailed on Tuesday per R.M.S. Araguaya for an extended tour in the Argentine Republic. Mr. and Mrs. Schuberth, of the Palace, Bath, are accompanying Mr. Macnaghten as far as Madeira. We understand that Mr. Schuberth, after a stay in the island, will return by one of the German liners, making a tour of the chief Continental cities before he returns to take up the reins of management.

Mr. Bransby Williams, whose probable departure for the theatres was announced in these columns some time since, has been chosen by Mr. Wentworth Croke to impersonate the hero, Dan, in a new Hall Caine play, The Bishop's Son, which will be produced at a West End house in the autumn. The hero commits a sin; he suffers. The hand of Providence places within his reach a means of making atonement. He seizes it, and works out his own salvation.

In reference to his part of Dan, the Dickens star, who has been kindly released by Mr. Oswald Stoll, writes:—"I think the piece the best Hall Caine has done. It is grand drama, and gives me opportunities for the most powerful and emotional acting. Naturally, I am proud to think that Mr. Wentworth Croke has come to the halls for an actor to star in the West End. I hope I shall prove myself worthy of the author, the manager, and the public, who have always been my very good friends. The Bishop's Son will be produced simultaneously in London and Blackpool.

Mr. Wentworth Croke, in conjunction with Mr. Williams, has secured an extremely interesting romantic-costume, dagger-and-pistol play, called Kit Careless, written by Beatrice De Burgh and Sydney Valentine, which will be produced in London, with Mr. Bransby Williams in the title-rôle, and afterwards take on a tour he has already booked.

A contemporary states that Sir Henry Irving viewed with some disfavour the appearance of actors on the variety boards, considering that the environment of the lesser stage was inimical to serious work. We believe some opinion of this kind was uttered by the illustrious actor in the early nineties during the days of the Theatre Commission; but Sir Henry made his appearance on the Alhambra stage at the late Mr. Georges Jacobi's benefit, and recited "Eugene Aram." Another contributor to the bill was Dan Leno, who, strange to say, returned the compliment, and played Don Ferolo Whiskerandos, in The Critic, at a complimentary matinée at the Lyceum, Sir Henry's house.

Mr. Alfred Moul has selected Monday next for the first performance at the Alhambra of the new ballet entitled Femina. The novelty, which according to the official statement is of an unusually costly and magnificent character, is to be a ballet pure and simple, and is entirely devoid of anything in the shape of a topical or variety number. The leading idea of the novelty is the power which Vanity has exercised over Woman through countless ages.

Signor Alfredo Curti, who is responsible for the libretto, has, of course, been compelled to make a limited choice from the embarras des richesses contained in his subject. He has, it appears, taken as his motto "Vanitas vanitatum, omnia vanitas." His first scene has an allegorical suggestion of the "first garden," and from the Stone Age he progresses to ancient Assyria, thence to Spain, finally coming to a halt with a fantastic tableau illustrating the apotheosis of Fashion in Lace and Feathers.

The Spirit of Vanity is the rôle assigned to Mlle. Britta, and the title-part has been allotted to Mlle. Leonora, who will first be seen as "the symbolical embodiment of Eve." In the fourth tableau, the action of which takes place in Spain, she enjoys the especial advantage of being on her own ground. Here she is to have the support of Señor Faico, a typical Gitano dancer, of whom report speaks highly. A novel and unusual feature will be the special engagement as a portion of the corps de ballet of the Ri-tchaves, a troupe of male dancers who appeared last year in a Russian production at the Opera Comique, Paris, and in association with a corps de ballet they will play a prominent part in the coming production.

The dresses have been designed by Mr. Comelli, and an harmonious note will be struck for each scene with the costume colouring of flowers, furs, jewels, feathers, and lace. For three of the scenes the eminent French artist, M. Amable, is responsible, and for the remaining two Mr. E. H. Ryan. The music has been written and selected by Mr. George Byng, with an interesting addition by Signor Valverdi, the well-known Spanish composer.

An executive committee has been formed for the purpose of presenting Mr. J. L. Graydon with a testimonial on his retiring from the proprietorship of the Middlesex, in recognition of his long and honourable connection with the variety profession and as a slight return for all the kindness and consideration he has extended to all those with whom he came in contact. Mr. Graydon's policy has always been one of British straightforwardness, and his management for thirty years has been associated invariably with the best traditions of music-hall enterprise.

The following gentlemen have already given permission for their names to be placed on the executive committee, viz.:—Sir Edward Moss, J.P., Mr. Henry Tozer, Mr. Joseph Davis, Mr. Walter de Frece Mr. Henry Sutton, Mr. Walter Dickson, Mr. J. A. Harrison, Mr. E. Warner, Mr. Walter Gibbons, Mr. R. H. Haxell, Mr. Frank Allen, Mr. F. H. Pedgrift, Mr. Fred Bishop, Mr. Walter Emden, J.P., Mr. Ernest Baker, Mr. Harry Wilson, Mr. H. R. Nathan, Mr. H. W. Wells, and Mr. Tom Shaw.

It is proposed to present the testimonial, which it is hoped will be worthy of the occasion, at a dinner for gentlemen only, to be held at the Trocadero Restaurant on Thursday, June 9. Messrs. Henri Gros and Richard Warner are the joint hon. secretaries, and Mr. Philip J. Rutland is the hon. treasurer.

The famous Kilties Band has been engaged for next week by Mr. Fred Karno (through Mr. Percy Victor's Wolverhampton agency) for the Hippodrome, Peterborough, at a record salary.

"The Lady Bandits" is one of those refined and funny productions that gives a cachet to a programme; and Mr. Edward Lauri, a first-rate comedian, Miss May Beatty, and company are receiving not only hearty congratulations on their great and deserved success, but a large number of confirmations from the Syndicate, the Moss-Stoll Circuit, and the De Frece Tour. They are continuing their highly successful engagement at the Oxford, and will also be at the Euston on Monday.

The Kursaal Palace, Southend, has been taken over by a syndicate, and is under the management of Mr. T. W. Hilton (managing-director) and Mr. Jones. A variety performance will be one of the chief features.

The Bournemouth Corporation have received a communication from the Local Government Board respecting the proposals to erect a kursaal or pavilion at Bournemouth, costing £77,000.

It is stated that the Board have asked for further particulars and information regarding the details. Information is also desired as to the Corporation's policy in regard to administration, as the pavilion is to carry a licence, and these matters are now under consideration by a committee of the Town Council.

Mr. Arthur J. Barclay, whose administrative ability and initiative have full scope at Herne Bay as director of the Urban Council Entertainments in that popular resort, has sent us a photograph of the new alfresco theatre he has designed and had erected on the East Cliff for the Jollity Boys.

It is flanked by two towers, and the Tudor style has been chosen. This has a very nice effect, which will be added to at night, as it will be well lighted. A portion of the cliff has been fenced with white railings, and the ground has been prepared in terraces and gravelled, so that it will keep perfectly dry. In the centre are steps, which will enable the public to reach the chairs with ease.

There will be accommodation for 2,000 people within the fenced-in space. It may be added that not only was the stage designed by Mr. A. J. Barclay, but that the painting which gives such a realistic touch to the towers and back of the platform was done by him.

Dr. Walford Bodie, who sent a message to Queen Alexandra on the death of the King, has received the following reply from the Queen-Mother: "Buckingham Palace. Dr. Bodie, The Manor House, Macduff, N.B. Queen Alexandra sends her sincere thanks for your kind expression of sympathy in her bereavement."

Dr. Bodie writes that he is playing to record business at the Marina Theatre, Lowestoft. Mr. Pareezer says the booking is phenomenal. The doctor has been offered return dates at all his theatres, and returns on Monday next to the Hippodrome, King's Lynn. He has only a few vacant dates this year, and is fast booking 1911. He will shortly produce a new and startling novelty act.

At the Old Ship Hotel, Brighton, on May 19, Mr. R. B. Dell, of Messrs. Jenner and Dell, of Regency-square, Brighton, conducted the sale of the Swiss Gardens, at Shoreham, comprising about four-and-a-half acres, including ornamental lakes, and situated within a few minutes' walk of Shoreham-by-Sea railway station.

The gardens were laid out seventy years ago by a certain gentleman who managed the place most successfully for a considerable period. They were afterwards acquired by a Mr. Goodchild for £10,000, and were a thorough success. Some years later they were let to Messrs. Ind, Coope, and Co. for £750, but had been closed for several years. The auctioneer, receiving no bid whatever, remarked that he would be pleased to treat for the property privately.

Patrons of Devonport Hippodrome paid a tribute to the popularity of the manager, Mr. Herbert Taylor, by attending in large numbers his farewell "benefit" on the evening of the 18th. The two performances were exceptionally interesting, but the feature of the evening was not reached until Mr. Taylor appeared on the stage to receive several gifts from well-wishers.

Mr. E. M. Leese, who came on with Mr. Taylor, remarked that, as his hearers were aware, the genial manager was leaving Devonport to take up a better position in London. It was his pleasing duty to ask Mr. Taylor to accept a gold watch from the orchestra and staff of the Hippodrome, a diamond ring subscribed for by patrons of the theatre and others, a case of silver knives given by the Devon Albion Club, a silver card-case from an anonymous friend, and a silver inkstand presented by a friend connected with that house.

Mr. Taylor, in acknowledging the gifts, thanked the public in Devonport and the Three Towns generally for the way in which the Hippodrome had been patronised. He also thanked the artists, the musical-director (Mr. J. W. Gleghorn), the orchestra, and all others connected with the theatre. On behalf of his wife, Mr. Taylor returned thanks for the gift by the orchestra and staff of a gold and diamond brooch to Mrs. Taylor.

Mr. Herbert Taylor, who has taken up a position in the London offices of the United Counties Theatres, has been succeeded by Mr. Gwyther Prance, who was originally in the cinematograph department of Moss' Empires, Ltd., at Leamington, subsequently removing to the Hippodrome, Coventry, and afterwards becoming manager of the Electric Theatre, Devonport. Mr. Prance is a young man, and has all the characteristics of a successful manager.

Mr. C. D. Levy, of Chatham, offered for sale by auction, at Tower's Hall, on Thursday, May 19, the freehold property known as the Criterion Music Hall, High-street, Blue Town, Sheerness. The premises, which until recently held a licence for the sale of liquors, have a frontage of seventy-two feet to the main thoroughfare, with the music hall in the rear. There was a very poor attendance at the sale, and not a single bid was made. Mr. Levy suggested £800, but this failed to raise an offer, and after the lot had been withdrawn one of the few gentlemen in the room said he would not go beyond £500.

At the Hippodrome, Dewsbury, on Tuesday evening Mr. George Weldon, the popular manager, was presented with a beautifully illuminated address in recognition of his strenuous efforts in the case of local charities. Major P. B. Walker, J.P., V.D., chairman of the Infirmary Board, in the course of a neat little presentation speech told the audience that Mr. Weldon, since he came to Dewsbury, seven years ago, had been the means of handing over to the infirmary an average amount of £17 per year. Councillor F. Newsome, chairman of the Old Folk's Treat Committee, proposed the vote of thanks, and Mr. H. Stead (Dewsbury Tradesmen's Benevolent Society) seconded, and stated that his committee had elected Mr. Weldon a life member of the society's committee.

Mr. Weldon, who was heartily received, in some humorous sentences thanked the donors for their gift. The address was signed by Major P. B. Walker (chairman, Dewsbury Infirmary), Mr. Frank Newsome (chairman, Dewsbury Old Folk's Treat), Miss H. B. Walker (Children's Summer Holiday Fund), Mr. H. Stead (Dewsbury Tradesmen's Benevolent Fund), Alderman Chas. Preston (Dewsbury Football Club), Charles Thornes (St. John Ambulance Association).

We announce with regret the death of Miss Amy Blanchard, burlesque artist, who passed away on Sunday last after an operation at the residence of her sister, 270, Essex-road.

A Music Hall Home Committee meeting will be held on Thursday, June 2, at the Empire, Camberwell, when all committeemen are kindly asked to attend.

Horace Wheatley, the genial Irishman, has just finished his second engagement in five months at the Hippodrome, Manchester. He has recently added to his repertoire a most successful item, "Won't you give me a tiny sprig of shamrock?" by J. F. Lambe, half rights in which song he has secured from his friend Dave Carter.

Mr. Fred Elton, the man at the piano, has just signed, through his agent, Will Oliver, thirty-seven weeks for Moss and Stoll Empires, in addition to thirty-one weeks already booked by the same firm. In the Potteries his success has secured him three returns with Mr. G. Elphinstone, also through the rejuvenated "Spot."

Mr. J. W. Wright has resigned his appointment as manager of the Grand Theatre, Gravesend, in order to undertake the general management of the Luna Park and Palace of Amusement at Southend. The directors of the Grand Theatre have kindly waived the right of usual notice, so that Mr. Wright may commence his duties at Southend on Monday next.

James Stewart, the original "tramp at the piano," has been secured by several Continental proprietors for next year. He opens at the London Coliseum on June 20, and plays a full Moss and Stoll tour until next February. He then goes to Hanover, Magdeburg, Prague, and Paris. His Continental arrangements are in the hands of the Marinelli office.

Mr. Wentworth Croke is by way of doing a new version of East Lynne, with six speaking parts, starting at the Camden Hippodrome on Monday, June 20. It is also his intention to present a version of The Christian on the lesser stage, and this will be prepared by the author, Hall Caine, whose work should assuredly make a powerful appeal to the larger public of the halls.

Miss Louisa Peach will be at the Victoria Hall, Walthamstow, next week with a big sketch of The Colleen Bawn, with special scenery and music. Miss Peach will appear as Eily, supported by an excellent company, which includes Messrs. Edwin Bennett, Frank G. Cariello, Edwin Ferguson, Conrad Clerke, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Daly.

Mr. Frederick Joseph Bacon was initiated into the mysteries of the Terriers Order on Sunday last. The ceremony was performed by Terrier Martin Henderson, W.T., assisted by Terrier Tom Packer, P.W.T. Terrier Arthur Were officiated as Organist.

The "Welcome Home" banquet to Terrier Griff will take place upon Sunday next at the Hotel Boulogne, Gerrard-street, W., at 6.30 p.m. Reception at 6 p.m. Terrier G. P. R. Burgess, P.W.T., will occupy the chair. As Terrier Tom P. Packer has booked a provincial engagement, and will be prevented from attending the function, the musical arrangements will be under the direction of Terrier T. C. Callaghan. Applications for tickets should be made at once to the secretary. A hearty welcome was extended to Terriers B. H. Aimon, Arthur Dainton, Ted E. Box, Jock Miller, and Jesse Sparrow upon their reappearance in the kennel upon Sunday last.

The election of officers for the month of June resulted as follows:—Terrier Ted Karno, W.T.; Terrier Fred A. Hooper, V.T.; Terrier C. W. Kloof, W.D.; Terrier Pete Moriggia, Y.B.; Terrier C. C. Cornish, W.I.; Terrier Arthur Were, Organist.

S. W. Wyndham, on his first appearance at the Empire, Shoreditch, last week, was immediately secured by Mr. W. J. Grimes, of the Empress, Brixton, for eight weeks. He has placed his future business in the hands of Mr Walter Bentley. London audiences will have the opportunity of enjoying his funny turn in August, when he returns to town for a prolonged visit to the Oxford and other Syndicate halls.

The 660th committee meeting of the M.H.A.R.A. was held on Wednesday, the following being present:—Messrs. Fred Herbert (in the chair), Harry Blake, C. Callaghan, E. W. Edmonds, J. Miller Northern, Harry Bancroft, J. H. Milburn, Chas. McConnell, and B. Stavordale. Mr. Thompson, stage-manager of the Hippodrome, Norwich, was appointed agent there. The weekly statement showed an increase of nineteen members, and receipts of £27 5s.

Mr. Harry Randall, who as a Cockney comedian is one of London's "own particulars," is once more at the Tivoli, where his scheme of drollery is brightened by two songs of a decidedly enjoyable character. "Finger prints" may be called an "impressionist" song, so humorous is its significance in the hands of Harry; and in "Harry, the handy man," he has a subject after his own heart. The original singer of "Benjamin Binns" keeps up to date, and this is the secret of his continued success.

Another link with the past has been snapped by the death of that well-known Mohawk William Freeman, for many years a leading member of the famous troupe, and the comedian who popularised those great song-hits of their day "Over the garden wall" and "The Lord Mayor's Coachman." Mr. Freeman, who was getting well on the road to three score and ten, died in the West London Hospital, and was buried on Thursday last week at Hammersmith Cemetery.

The death of Mrs. Margaret Ann Lynch, better known as Nell Lynch, removes from the world of variety a famous markswoman. Unfortunately, of late years, her illness, which had a fatal termination on Sunday morning last at St. George's Hospital, prevented her fulfilling engagements; but with her husband, Joe Lynch, "the human target," she travelled in all parts of the world, and made a big reputation in South America on both sides of the Andes. She commenced her career on the variety stage in her early teens, and was married when little more than seventeen years to the husband who now mourns the loss of a devoted wife.

Nell Lynch may be said to have been gifted as a shot, and for a long two years' engagement at the Aquarium, under the management of Mr. Josiah Ritchie, her feats with the rifle attracted much attention. She was hailed, indeed, as champion lady marksman of the British Empire. Mr. Joe Lynch, her husband, is not only a descendant of a famous circus family, but is a nephew of the great Victorian tragedian Charles Dillon, whom he supported in small parts in many of his legitimate productions. Mr. Lynch has been a Terrier, and for a time was on the Executive Committee of the M.H.A.R.A.

The Lynches (Nell and Joe) were a well-appreciated turn in London and the provinces, and they won a big reputation on the Continent in their particular line. The funeral of the deceased lady will start from 1, Seagrave-road, Fulham, S.W., to-day at 2.30. Friends will please accept this intimation.

Miss Louie Tracy, "the dapper dandy boy," is this week working the Holborn Empire in place of the Hippodrome, Richmond. Next week Miss Tracy will be seen at the Empire, Shoreditch, and Empress, Brixton.

Mr. W. S. Buccleuch, assistant-manager of the Leicester Palace Theatre, will sail to-day (Saturday) for Boston, New York, on the Lusitania, on business and pleasure combined. Mr. Buccleuch will be away about a month, and will return on the Campania about the middle of June, to resume his duties. Bon voyage!

It is on the cards that Miss Jen Latona will appear at the London Coliseum on July 4 as a single turn. The Latonas, who own a considerable estate outside Buffalo, U.S.A., have the intention to take up permanent residence in England, should the inducements offered to Miss Jen as a single turn be sufficiently alluring.

Mr. Fred Eustace will produce his new sketch A Great Conspiracy, written for him by Chris Davis, at the Shoreditch Olympia on June 6. The company consists of Mr. E. Hoggan Armadale, of Face at the Window fame, Mr. Robert Ayrton, Mr. Pascoe Bioletti, Mr. Conrad Clerke, and Fred and Mary Eustace. The scenery has been painted in Lew Lake's studio, the music is by Alf. Peterson, and the costumes have been made by L. Benjamin.

"A Scotsman always gets on. When a Scotsman leaves Scotland he never looks back—and very seldom goes, except to fetch his brother!" So said Neil Kenyon in his famous "Postie" scena; and now he speaks from experience, for isn't he drawing crowds to the Apollo Theatre with his unique study of a Scottish Pasha in Major Marshall's musical comedy The Islander?

Like many other brither Scots, in the profession and out of it, he has had a hard up-hill fight. There is a lot in Kenyon's philosophy. Very few London Scots, for instance, ever return to their native heath, although such is always their ambition, and we are all aware that Britain has the settling instinct of the Scot to thank, to a large extent, for the prosperity of her Colonies to-day.

In The Islander Kenyon settles on a lonely island somewhere in the Persian Gulf, and, being a Scot, he soon becomes Pasha. It seems to have escaped the notice of some critics and "men who know," but it appears to us that The Islander ought to be snapped up for America. Indeed, we happen to know that Neil Kenyon has had more than one offer from theatrical magnates to play the "Pasha" or a similar part in the States.

The reason for this is not far to seek, for not only will the comedian's quiet, assured, and pawky style of humour go big "over the pond," but the 'Murricans will greatly appreciate having the laugh, even with a Scot, at the commander of a British Dreadnought. The part, now that Neil has worked in "a few of his ain," fits him to a T, and the rest of the fine company are just as well suited. This engagement of Neil Kenyon in The Islander will certainly mark the beginning of a new era in the life of musical comedy.

Miss Hettie Kerels writes from Toledo, Ohio, U.S.A.:—"In reading The Era of April 23 (this year) I was much surprised to see the erroneous statement that Mr. John D'Auban had taught Miss Kate Vaughan dancing. I feel that must be some mistake, as Miss Vaughan and I were pupils together at the Grecian Theatre, and from there she had a troupe called the Vaughan Sisters, of which I was one. From there she engaged in high comedy."

An important decision was given on Tuesday by Mr. Cecil Chapman, the Tower Bridge magistrate, in the matter of the summons issued at the instance of the London County Council against the Bermondsey Bioscope Company for opening the London Bridge Picture Palace, at Borough High-street, on Sunday, Feb. 27.

Mr. Chapman held that the London County Council had no power in the matter. The London County Council, he said, had assumed that, having been constituted the licensing authority under the Cinematograph Act of 1909, they had been invested with general powers of regulation as if they were licensing a music hall. He thought they were mistaken, because their licensing was controlled and restricted by the purposes of the Act—"to make better provision for securing safety at cinematograph and other exhibitions."

The Council's claim was obviously anomalous, because it could not be made for similar exhibitions where inflammable films were not used, and he was unable to find any legal justification for it. Even the Lord's Day Observance Act would not necessarily prevent an exhibition of this nature that would depend upon many other circumstances. The summons was therefore dismissed, five guineas costs being allowed.

Bosanquet, the human violin, returns to England in June. This very fine player signed for six weeks only, and opened at the Orpheum, Boston, on March 7, 1909, and since then has been headlined and featured in nearly every large city in the United States and Canada. He played on tour with Harry Lauder, and followed him at the American, New York. His Bosanquetphone has made a sensation wherever presented. Bosanquet is quite the music hall Kubelik.

The Alhambra, Sandgate, reopened on Monday with variety, under the management of Mr. F. Holt, who has for a number of years been connected in various capacities with that house. For some years the establishment was under the control of Mr. Tom Maltby, a former proprietor of the Bedford, and associated also with the Queen's, Poplar. The auditorium has been entirely redecorated and reupholstered, and a new bioscope box has been built outside the back wall of the circle.

Mr. John D. Hunter is severing his long connection with Hastings Pier, in consequence of a change in the directorate. Mr. Hunter made his first public appearance on the boards of the Pier Pavilion as far back as April, 22, 1878, in conjunction with the Four Sisters Bayley, the vaudeville company, under the title of "The Provincial Company of Varieties," being so successful that their stay was extended from a week to a month. On Nov. 3, 1879, he was engaged as entertainment manager, a position which he held until July, 1908, when he took over the reins as general-manager. Mr. Hunter has produced no fewer than thirty-one pantomimes.

The chief feature of the Oxford report is the payment of the balance of the debentures, viz., £31,500, out of the cash reserve, thus completing the redemption of the entire debenture issue of £60,000. The net profit for the twelve months ended April 30 last, after providing for interest on the debentures and all outgoings, amounts to the sum of £16,875. In November last an interim dividend of £4 per cent. (less income tax) was paid; the directors now recommend the payment of a further dividend of £6 per cent. (less income tax) for the half-year ended April 30, 1910, together with a bonus of 1s. 6d. per share (free of tax), equal to 11½ per cent. for the year. After payment of this dividend and bonus the directors propose to deal with the surplus by adding £5,000 to the general reserve fund, and carrying the balance to the current year's accounts. Lucky shareholders! Mr. Walter Payne, the retiring director, offers himself for re-election.

The Sisters (Rosa and Kitty) return on Monday next to the Empress, Brixton, where a warm welcome awaits the lively couple. They have just signed till the end of 1912 with Mr. Oswald Stoll, but are free for next Christmas.

Lloyd Morgan, the light comedian who has been winning golden opinions all over the country, returns to town on June 6, to Chelsea and South London Palaces. There can be little doubt his bright cheerfulness and distinction of style, his good voice and a genuine vein of humour will commend him to our West End managers, who, if we mistake not, will soon have his services firmly secured for a long time to come.

Miss Greta Hahn, who has already been guilty of writing for the stage, is by way of having a new one-act play produced at the Chelsea Palace on Monday, and will appear therein as Nell Turner, the wife of a house painter. The artistic contrast to Mr. Alfred Turner, who by his labour makes stucco look something like stone, will be Hugh Rossiter, an artist, a part played by Mr. H. Laurence Leyton.

Little Miss Elise Craven, who has just completed a long engagement with Mr. Oswald Stoll, will be seen on Monday at the Holborn Empire in an entirely new dance scena, entitled Danses Fantastiques; or, When Love is Young. She will be supported in this by Master Bert Clerc, who was associated with her at the Coliseum at Christmas in Mr. Jellicoe and the Fairy. The entire production is in the hands of Miss Elise Clerc, maîtresse de ballet, who is responsible for Miss Craven's terpsichorean training.

Mr. Ted D. Marks, who has recently arrived in London, can claim the distinction, counting-in his last voyage over from America, of having crossed the ocean 129 times. "I came over," he said a day or two since, "for the first time in 1864, to go to school, and during the following forty-six years have come over and returned once a year, and sometimes twice and three times. To cross the ocean forty or fifty years ago was something bordering on an achievement, while to-day it is regarded in the same light as travelling in a taxi about town. It used to take me thirteen days to come over; now you can do both journeys in the same time."

On Monday evening the baboon "François," a fine specimen of this tribe of Simian, belonging to M. Dubois, who had been appearing at the King's Hall, Corporation-street, Birmingham, was discovered in his cage with a broken arm and taken to the hospital for treatment. After consultation, it was decided to put him under chloroform in order to set the broken limb. This course was adopted because, when approached, the baboon became very ferocious, and the doctors did not wish to come into contact with two useful-looking rows of teeth. He took the anæsthetic well, but when the setting had been successfully accomplished and the bandage was just being put in place he drew a sharp breath, closed his eyes, and did not recover consciousness.

The interest taken by the general public in the Football News League was strongly shown at the Nottingham Empire on Wednesday evening, when the handsome shield presented for competition amongst the clubs by Moss' Empires, Ltd., was presented to the Ilkeston Catholic F.C. Mr. Albert C. Duncan (the resident-manager) had arranged that there should be a break during the second performance, and there was hearty applause from the large audience when the curtain rose showing the officials of the League and the players of the winning team and the runners-up, Mansfield Woodhouse, assembled on the stage.

Councillor R. A. Young was in the chair, and supporting him were Dr. Tinsley Lindley (who made the presentation), the Rev. Father McCarthy, Dr. Tobin, Mr. R. H. Jackson, and others. The Rev. Father McCarthy accepted the shield on behalf of the Ilkeston Club. "We found it hard to beat our opponents," he said. "I believe the better team won, and I hope it will always be so." The players of both teams were then presented with their medals. The thanks of the League to Moss' Empire, Ltd., Mr. Albert C. Duncan for his valuable assistance, Councillor R. A. Young for presiding, and Dr. Lindley for making the presentation were voiced by Mr. W. J. C. Hayward, Mr. R. H. Jackson seconded, and the audience signified their concurrence by sympathetic applause.

On Wednesday the case of Gooch v. Reading Palace (Theatre) of Varieties, Ltd., came before the Court of Appeal, consisting of Lords Justices Vaughan Williams, Moulton, and Buckley, upon the plaintiff's application for judgment or new trial in the action which was tried before Mr. Justice Grantham and a special jury at Reading. The plaintiff, a commission agent, claimed from the defendant company £322 commission on a loan of £9,000, which the plaintiff alleged he had, by agreement with the directors of the defendant company, procured for the company, but which the directors refused to accept. At the trial the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff for £50, and the plaintiff now appealed, upon the ground that the damages awarded by the jury were insufficient. The hearing was adjourned.

The Music Hall Ladies' Guild will hold their first sacred concert on Sunday, June 5, at the Metropolitan, by kind permission of the directors. Tickets may be bought from all committee ladies in town, and from Miss May at the Guild Rooms. Further particulars next week.

Miss Melinda May, secretary of the Music Hall Ladies' Guild, 61, New Oxford-street, W.C., begs most gratefully to thank the following:—Mr. R. G. Knowles (donation), £1 1s. (per Mrs. George Smythson); Miss Nellie Wallace (contribution), 2s.; Mrs. Paul Murray (donation), 2s. 6d.; Miss Irene Rose (result of guessing competition), 19s.; Mrs. Herbert, Grosvenor Hotel, Brixton (collecting box), 12s. (per Miss Irene Rose); Mlle. Pollo (collection), 5s.; Mme. Li Chang Hi (collection), 10s. 6d.; H. N. W. (collection), 4s. 9d.; Mr. R. Voss (collection), 7s.; Miss Kate Vulcana (collection), 4s.; Mrs. Day (donation), 6d.; Miss Indiana Smythson (result of houp-la at Reading); 3s. 6d.; Mr. Bob Wilding, Glasgow (donation), 1s.; Miss Nellie Nora, handsome crocheted tablecloth, made by herself; Miss Lottie Albert, clothing; Mrs. Alma Gallimore, gentleman's clothing; Misses Bertha St. Ruth and Cissy Conyers, useful clothing; Mrs. James Horne, handsome sachet, with eight beautiful handkerchiefs.

Mr. Charles Urban, joint inventor of "Kinemacolor," with a large staff of operators posted at every important point along the route, succeeded in taking of King Edward's funeral an animated pictorial record in the actual hues and tints of Nature which is well worthy of inclusion in our national archives, and so important a contribution to the history of bioscopics does Mr. Alfred Butt consider it that he gave a special matinée at the Palace Theatre on Friday. To an appropriate orchestral accompaniment were shown, not only the solemn progression of May 20 from Westminster to Windsor, but the impressive scenes incident to the removal of the coffin from Buckingham Palace, the Lying-in-State, the riderless charger, the King's favourite dog Cæsar, and the half-masting of the Royal Ensign, &c. For this occasion the prices were considerably reduced. The directors have decided to devote the whole of the proceeds to the late King Edward's Hospital Fund.

SONGS, WRITERS, AND SINGERS.

MISS FLORRIE FORDE'S great chorus number, "Flanagan," by Will Letters and C. W. Murphy, has just been issued as a "Sixpenny Pop," and is in rising demand, although but a few weeks old. On every occasion on which Miss Forde has sung this item the chorus has been seized upon by delighted audiences instantaneously, and the public appear as though they cannot have it too many times repeated. In fine contrast is her other tuneful song, "'Tis a faded picture," by Lester Barrett and Hermann R. Darewski, the lyric of which has that true ring of sentiment which appeals irresistibly to Britishers the world over, the melody, moreover, being one of great charm.

MISS ELLA RETFORD'S new song, "Hi! hi! hi! Mister McKie!" promises to vie in popularity with anything the fair artist has given the public, and she has favoured her large following with many tuneful songs in the past. "Mister McKie" is yet another number of Will Letters and C. W. Murphy that has been just added by Messrs. Francis and Day to their series of Sixpenny Pops.

A CHARMING song, written, composed, and sung by Messrs. Will Godwin and Leo Dryden, has just been secured by Messrs. Francis and Day for publication. It is called "Good-bye, Mary," and is fully in keeping with the reputation as first-class writers of the twain who gave the world that evergreen classic, "The miner's dream of home."

"ANYTHING new of Henry E. Pether's?" is a common query at music dealers' places of business, and music lovers will be gratified to hear that a new song from his pen will shortly be issued to the trade under the title of "In cherry blossom time in Japan." The graceful lyric is by Leonard Cooke, who wrote "You want a sweetheart," a Pether item which has proved a veritable delight in the safe hands of Miss Ellaline Terriss. Messrs. Francis and Day have secured the Japan number for immediate production.

ALF J. LAWRENCE has had a busy time during this, his last week in London prior to his summer campaign at Prestwick and Largs on the Ayrshire coast. With Messrs. Francis and Day he has published a song entitled "Take me away from the streets and houses," written by George Arthurs; a number named "My Susie-oosie-oo," written in conjunction with Tom Mellor and Harry Gifford; and "Keep the anchor chain I gave you," in which the popular young composer has had the assistance of Arthur Stroud and Aubrey Kennett. This (Saturday) morning Mr. Lawrence, with his two al fresco companies, leaves St. Pancras by the 11.30 express for the North.

MR. DAVID DAY'S firm has secured Joseph Tabrar's comic song, "For nights and nights and nights," rights of which, it is said, have been, even at this early period of the year, secured for nearly a dozen pantomimes. It has been sung with considerable success by the genial writer's clever son-in-law, Mr. Syd Walker.

MR. BERNARD RUSSELL'S newest songs, "Oh! Chantecler!" and "Verdicts," both written and composed by Frank Wood, are being brought out in sheet music form by Messrs. Francis and Day.

MISS MAY MARS' new ditty, "The Land of the Golden Sun," by Gilbert Wells and Henny Kay, will shortly see the light in printed form. Messrs. Francis and Day are the publishers.

MR. CHARLES R. WHITTLE'S latest acquisition, a song named "Take it nice and easy," is by Harry Castling, Fred Godfrey, and J. Glover-Kind, and will shortly be issued by Messrs. Francis and Day.

MR. JACK LORIMER'S quaint "Macgregor" number has been accepted for publication by Messrs. Francis and Day. The new conjunction of writers (W. Haines, F. W. Carter, and Donovan Meher) are responsible for words and music.

E. W. ROGERS and Fred Godfrey have collaborated in a song which is a fine conjunction of clever lines and melodious strains, and the name given the number is "He's a very old friend of mine." Messrs. Francis and Day have acquired it for publication.

MISS DORA LYRIC'S tuneful chorus song, "I want to go back to the dear homeland," by J. Glover-Kind and Fred Warwick, is a song that bids fair to be sung and whistled everywhere, judging by its reception on the occasion of its initial production in London a short while ago. It has this week been added to Messrs. Francis and Day's catalogue.

(Continued on page 22.)

THE IMPERIAL, CANNING TOWN.

A most interesting programme is submitted this week to the patrons of this tastefully-decorated house in the East End of London, the premier position being occupied by Mr. Alec Hurley and company in the bright little comedy operetta Cockneys in Japan. Mr. Hurley is quite at his best in this trifle, for several tuneful songs are introduced the music of which suits his voice admirably, and with the able assistance of four smart lady dancers and several Cockney pals an entertaining production is furnished. Mr. Archie Pitt, quaint comedian, is decidedly good in his schoolboy song, the patter being quite original. Della and Pley, comedy artists, are very amusing, the boxing skit being extremely funny and well worked. The male partner throughout is most diverting, and the lady's dancing is exceptionally neat. Miss Daisy Silcott, neatly dressed, with a pleasing stage personality, is well received for her rendering of "Woman wants everything she sees," a smartly written number, which is sung to the best of advantage. Anson and Bray are most entertaining in their comedy duologue, Lucy Whitelegs. The fun of the playlet is due to the confusion of names, a suspicious wife mistaking the references to a racehorse to be intended for a lady. Well staged and acted throughout, the sketch meets with a hearty reception.

Gordon and Leslie, Scotch comedians and dancers, have a catchy song in "Jean," and excel in dancing; the Eldras with their performing dog give a novel entertainment, the lady being a smart singer and dancer, while the gentleman goes through many clever feats with the assistance of the dog; Cadwell and Verne give an entertaining show, which consists of smart dancing, singing, and comedy, the special Park set scene adding much to the desired effect; the Five Bon-Bons are all talented performers, much good singing and extraordinary dancing being indulged in; Miss Gladys Warren sings "Money in the Bank" agreeably, and concludes with a well-executed step-dance.

Mr. Leonard Mortimer and company are playing in an elaborate production of the second adventure of The Man of the Forty Faces series—The Raven's Toll, dramatised by T. W. Hanshew from a story appearing in Cassell's Saturday Journal. The plot deals with the crimes of a country surgeon, who is connected with great insurance frauds. Many exciting situations occur throughout, and Mr. Mortimer as Hamilton Cleek, detective, plays well, and is ably supported by his company. Many interesting films are displayed on the Bioscope, and a capital orchestra is led by Mr. H. A. Knight.

LONDON VARIETY THEATRES.

THE OXFORD.

Phenomenal business is being done at the Oxford this week, and small wonder, when one reviews the programme of twenty turns, the names contained therein standing for all that is brightest and best in the variety firmament. Mr. Harry Tate having skitted many sports and pastimes, it was only to be expected that sooner or later he would make fun of the aviator's art. His present burlesque is conceived in the true Tate style, and in Flying; or, The Veri-'ot-Tater-Plane we have a very worthy successor to Motoring and Fishing. As in Motoring, Mr. Harry Tate poses as a fussy amateur, who professes to know all about "the game," but who in reality knows nothing. The great man is made up à la Grahame White, or Paulhan, or Blériot, or possibly it is an exaggeration on the styles of all three of the famous aviators. At the outset we are shown elaborate preparations for the flight of the "taterplane." The local mayor, in full regalia, and escorted by the local band and the local reporter, and much more that is local, arrive to do justice to the important occasion. Mr. Tate is responsible for many hearty laughs when he explains in the manner he has accustomed us to in Motoring the various uses and the many intricacies of his "taterplane." Of course, he has a secretary and a mechanic to help him in the fun, which both do very loyally. The mayor offers an address of welcome to "the intrepid bird-man," and the band at once strike up "Has anyone here seen Kelly?" The reporter is responsible for some very funny business, and the mayor's "little daughter" presents a bouquet to the "heavenly hero." There is a great deal of fuss, and then it is pompously announced that the "taterplane" is ready for flight. Great excitement! The "aviator" waves his farewell, pulls the lever, there is a mighty cheer, the "taterplane" gives a convulsive leap, turns a complete somersault, and is wrecked. The sketch is a very fine one, and in a week or so, when things have settled into smooth running, it is easy to prophesy that Flying will be the best number in Mr. Tate's répertoire.

Undoubtedly the cleverest mimic on the variety stage to-day, Geo. Newburn is deservedly an immense favourite with the Oxford audiences. One cannot give greater praise than to say that his impersonations of Sheridan, Lashwood, King, and Formby are life-like to the smallest detail. The Lady Bandits, in which Lauri and Beatty appear, was noticed by The Era on its production at the Holborn. Since then it has improved wonderfully, and the fine acting of Miss May Beatty and the singing and dancing of Mr. Edward Lauri prove thoroughly enjoyable. There is a capital chorus, prettily dressed, and the fun is clean, crisp, and refined.

Another turn that deserves a better time in the programme is that of Beattie and Babs, two very young ladies, whose singing and dancing is in the A1 class. The smallest of the young ladies—we will not say the youngest, as we might be mistaken—is a very fine comedienne.

A roar of welcome goes up when No. 12 is displayed, for it means that we are to have twenty minutes of Wilkie Bard. Mr. Bard gives us a military number and a very good alleged "glee" song with the theme "Hail, smiling morn." Little Tich presents his "Policeman" song, his "Skipper" ditty, and a skirt dance. Chas. Whittle sings "Let's all go down the Strand" and "Naughty, naughty boy," and T. E. Dunville is in fine Dunvillian form.

Gowned in an exquisitely made black dress that suits her particular prettiness to perfection, Jose Collins sang a ballad very nicely. Then came a quick change to a fanciful cowboy costume and the melody of "Pride of the Prairie." Ernie Mayne, another early arrival, has a funny one-man duet on "Excelsior."

We get laughs from Lancashire when Morny Cash comes on; Dan Crawley tells us that "Father went down to Southend to spend a happy day"; Kitty Colyer looks as pretty and is as agile as ever; and the Daunton-Shaw cyclists are extremely clever. Not the least enjoyable item on the present Oxford bill is the Bohemian Girl selection given by Mr. Leon Bassett's fine orchestra.

CAMDEN HIPPODROME.

Large audiences have been enjoying the fine programme which Mr. Albert H. Adams has provided this week. The chief place in the bill is held by Harry P. Selwyn's company, who are presenting a sketch version of the popular Drury-lane drama The Flood Tide. The staging is most elaborate, several racehorses being introduced in the course of the performance. Mr. Frank D. Powell gives a capital delineation of the hero, Captain Champion, and his devoted father is well handled by Mr. Roy Jackson. Miss Queenie Fraser-Brunner gives a charming picture of Mabel Corry. The play was received with tremendous applause. Mr. R. H. Douglass lectures on the various styles of love-making from the Middle Ages to modern times, and he does it in his own inimitable style, which causes endless delight.

Edward Ind, comedian, has a rollicking song addressed to the ladies with regard to their position when they succeed in getting a vote. Herbert Clifton, "the man with the £1,000 voice," is scoring heavily with his impressions of various styles of music-hall artists. The Sisters Condor delightful skit, in which he causes endless amusement, especially in the scene at the postal department. Mr. Fowler Thatcher and Mr. Norman Clifton also contribute largely to the fun; while Miss Daisy Stroud as Miss Allshop lends valuable assistance. The production is well mounted, and is fast settling down into a big success.

Miss Lucy Coventry, who is well known here, is adding to her popularity with her song, "Have you met a girl named Mary?" which she sings in a most captivating manner, and her dancing is a cause of much delight, for her steps are neatly executed; Prince Kuroki, the Japanese magician, bewilders all with his clever tricks; the Schaffer Four provide a most entertaining musical turn. The game of musical croquet is most novel, while the cornet and trombone playing is most melodious.

Another musical turn is that of Peggy Lennie and Walter Hast, who are presenting their well-known operatic phantasy, The Sea-Nymph, which is a very pretty little scena, and Mr. Hast makes things very lively with his topical hits. The Three Cunards and their wonderful dancing act again make a big hit. It is late in the day to say anything about their clever dancing, except that it is as good as ever, and always a delight to watch. Webb's Notions is certainly a varied production, including many quick-changes and pretty scenic effects. The electric display and the fountain certainly make it a most acceptable turn, which is as novel as it is effective. Lilian Oates sings a ballad and accompanies herself on the violin, and she also plays a solo in a masterly fashion, which called forth tremendous applause. Jack Heath, a comedian of the Dame type, soon sets his audience smiling with his lively patter. Cameron Matthews and company appear in the one-act play No Other Way, in which Miss Jessamine Newcombe and Mr. Cameron Matthews make a decided success. Lenow, speciality artist, and the Bioscope, with some fine films of the Royal Funeral, complete the bill. Mr. Arthur Edwards, the popular manager, is ever at hand with a welcome to all, and has the satisfaction of seeing his hall always well filled.

HACKNEY EMPIRE.

Another capital programme is being presented at this popular hall, and as a consequence the recent spell of fine weather is not having a marked effect on the audiences. The top of the bill is occupied by Mme. Ella Russell, the well-known prima donna, who is rendering several items from her répertoire, including Tosti's ever-popular "Good-bye." In all these the distinguished artist displayed her vocal accomplishments with great effect, and had to concede "Caller Herrin'" as an encore. A word of acknowledgment is due to Mr. Harold Scott for the excellent style in which he played the piano accompaniments. Gwennie Hasto in a couple of songs secured a hearty reception, and concluded her act with a very attractive dance. The Brothers Bright in an athletic show submit some wonderful exhibitions of strength and skill. In each case they seem to be achieved with the minimum amount of exertion, and the audience were quick to appreciate and cordially greet their show.

Mr. Will Poluski, in a parody on George Lashwood's "I've been out with Charley Brown" and another song, was successful, and finished with a capital dance. Nelson Jackson, the well-known humorist at the piano, is a very popular feature of the programme. He sings a couple of good songs, "The Three Ages of Man" and "The World in 1950," and tells some capital stories. Altogether his turn is most enjoyable, and he secured a flattering reception. Peggy Pryde sings two songs and gets on very good terms with the audience, her energetic style being apparently much to the liking of the house. The Three Merrills, in a comedy and trick cycling act, present a show of outstanding ability. The comedian of the trio does some exceedingly difficult feats in a particularly funny way, and the item with which they finish their performance is one that calls for great strength and endurance from the performer. They deservedly gained one of the receptions of the evening. The Two St. Johns, musical comedians, campanologists, and dancers, open the proceedings with a clever act. The musical items are capitally rendered, and they conclude with a clever dance.

The bottom of the bill is filled by Horace Hunter and company in a playlet entitled Under Suspicion. This proves to be altogether an admirable little affair. It deals with the very familiar subject of Russian Nihilists and the secret police. Opening under humorous circumstances, it proceeds by perfectly feasible events until a highly dramatic situation is evolved, the curtain falling at an exciting climax. Chief honours go to Mr. Horace Hunter for a very finished study of a German military officer, Major Von Holtz, which completely gained the sympathies of the audience. He receives excellent support from the lady and gentleman who played the Countess and the General respectively, who are somewhat unfortunately not billed. The duel between the two men was most realistic, and it remains to add that it gained a splendid reception. It should have a most prosperous career on the halls. The Bioscope is showing this week a magnificent film of the impressive obsequies of the late King, depicting the progress through London and at Windsor, which the audience watched in respectful silence. Mr. Walter Greco's fine orchestra perform a selection from Wagner's Lohengrin admirably, and Mr. Charles Marté and Mr. Cyril Percival, his assistant, are very courteous and attentive in the front of the house.

NEW CROSS EMPIRE.

Lafayette is the chief attraction here in his original, unique, and marvellous entertainment, consisting of, in Part 1, "Catching Pigeons Alive," "Freehand Painting in Sections," "The Reincarnation of Beauty," "The Mysterious Bathroom," and "Transfigurations and Substitutions." Part 2 consists of "The Foxhunt," and many other attractive items, all of which met with a very cordial reception from a large and well-pleased audience. The well-known comedians and dancers, Sandford and Lyons, are enthusiastically applauded in "When we go out." Their patter is funny and dancing capital. The Mezzettis are remarkably clever horizontal bar performers, and their turn includes "The New Recruit." The skilful banjoists Stanley and Greenop render effectively selections from grand opera, and also submit some well-played popular melodies.

Mr. Ed. E. Ford, the Australian Sundowner, makes a hit with "We are all growing older and older," including some new and clever patter. Mr. Forbes Russell and his capital orchestra discoursed most excellent music, including the "Fahnitza" overture by Suppé. Mr. Fred Epitaux is the courteous and popular acting-manager, and Mr. H. Percy Parry is his able assistant.

CROUCH END HIPPODROME.

Under the able and energetic management of Mr. Frederick Phelps, the entertainments at the Crouch End Hippodrome are of the most varied and interesting character. After a capitally rendered overture by the orchestra Mr. Harry Bonville sings with spirit "Rain, rain, go away"; and we next enjoy a song entitled "Hard up," by Sadie Stuart, which she supplements with a very neat dance. Albert Le Fre, a great favourite here, received a perfect ovation. His songs, "Storyettes" and "The Dancing Family," with imitations of various styles of dancing, simply "bring down the roof." Mr. Le Fre introduces some patter, which has the advantage of being really funny, and his turn is received with much laughter and prolonged applause.

The Four Kahns puzzle the audience in their fine magical act; and Professor Dunning vastly amuses with his clever ventriloquial entertainment. A bright and amusing Alsatian operatic scena, The Maid of Polaria, is contributed by Lennie and Hast, and proves very acceptable. The Four Idlers, four attractive and hard-working comediennes, were highly successful in a refined singing and dancing act. There is much humour in Syd Bandon's song "Yarmouth sands"; and Andy Gimmel scores with his Scotch song, "Jeannie McGregor." The Lowells, in a musical and balancing act, are very successful, and well deserve the favour they obtain. The Three Aza Boys are immensely popular, and this is not surprising, for they contribute, at the conclusion of their vocal number, a very skilful simultaneous dance. Hal Rushden is warmly greeted for "Send them along to me"; and Cameron Matthews and company, in an exciting one-act play, entitled No Other Way, present an entertainment that hits the taste of the patrons here to a nicety. Very interesting are the pictures shown by the Bioscope, including the Funeral Procession of His Late Most Gracious Majesty, King Edward VII.

POPLAR HIPPODROME.

This spacious East End variety house on the night of our visit was packed almost uncomfortably, a condition of things, without doubt, due to the excellence of the programme. Topping the bill is Fred Karno's company, in a new version of The Mumming Birds. The sketch, which is a travesty on the modern day music hall, is capitally played throughout, and evokes plenty of laughter. Most of the fun is centred round Jimmy Russell as the saucy boy. The rôle of the drunken swell is most cleverly played by an artist whose name was not mentioned on the programme.

Bright and breezy in her methods, Ella Retford proves entertaining. Her song "Mister McKie" is quite in accordance with the vivacious nature of the singer; whilst the step-dance, which concludes her turn, full of vim, brings down the house. Ella is certainly an acquisition to any programme. An artistic item is the handsomely-gowned Lena Wylie, with her selections from musical comedies. Fred Earle raises many laughs with his dilation on the working man's divorce, and even more in his decidedly humorous song "Dummy teat." Kitty Kearns sings about "It's the Alpine dress you're wearing," and dances nimbly. A most amusing couple are Johnson and Bert, who have quite an original and novel act in their Quzer Customer. The dialogue and "business" is very funny, and, what is more, clever. Williams' Eight Jubilee Singers shine in glees and songs. The fine soprano voice of Louise Zetland was well suited in the "Mountain lovers," her only number. The audience wanted more. Child comediennes and mimics, unless good, are apt to prove tiring; but Jenny Alexander is a real little artist. Her impersonations of Vesta Victoria, Marie Lloyd, and Victoria Monks being especially good. Not only is the inflection of the voice in each impersonation almost perfect, but the actions are as well.

Dale and O'Malley are old favourites. Their new quips and cranks are really funny, and go down well, especially their "dog joke." Reg. Bolton has a comedy scena in The Editor's Imp all to himself, and proves interesting. The Bioscope has a series of pictures of the funeral of his late Majesty King Edward VII. Mr. Manager Austin Anderson, busy as usual, ably attends to duties in front of the house.

MR. JOHN T. TUSSAUD, great-grandson of the original Madame Tussaud, founder of the well-known waxwork exhibition, has been elected a vice-president of the Newspaper Press Fund.

FRANCIS, DAY & HUNTER,

THE WORLD'S SONG PROVIDERS.

THE SEASON'S SONG SUCCESSES.

THE CHORUS SONG OF THE YEAR.

FLANAGAN.

SUNG WITH ENORMOUS SUCCESS BY MISS FLORRIE FORDE.

MISTER OWL.
G. H. ELLIOTT'S LATEST & GREATEST SUCCESS.

DOWN IN JUNGLETOWN.
The "CHANTECLER" HIT of "HULLO—LONDON!"

IN SWEET CEYLON.
MISS MARIE SANTOI.

I'VE GOT RINGS ON MY FINGERS.
THE RAGE OF ENGLAND AND AMERICA.

THE CORSICAN MAID.
MISS EVIE GREENE.

BETSY.
THE MARCH SONG OF THE YEAR.

IF I HAD THE WORLD TO GIVE YOU.

THE BALLAD HIT OF THE YEAR.

DAVE CARTER'S GREATEST SUCCESS.

HE'S A NAUGHTY, NAUGHTY BOY.
CHARLES WHITTLE'S LATEST HIT.

THE CUBANOLA GLIDE.
AMERICA'S LATEST NOVELTY SONG.

YOU WANT A SWEETHEART.
MISS HELEN TRIX.

PRIDE OF THE PRAIRIE, MARY.
THE GREATEST COWBOY ROMANCE SINCE "CHEYENNE."

'TIS A FADED PICTURE.
MISS FLORRIE FORDE.

DON'T STAND THERE WAITING AT THE GATE
The FAVOURITE "FEATURE" SONG for the Seaside.

SUMMER BOOKS NOW READY.

100 HUMOROUS SONGS 100
100 COON, SOUBRETTE, and CHORUS SONGS 100

FRANCIS, DAY & HUNTER, 142, Charing Cross Rd., London, W.C.

SONGS, WRITERS, AND SINGERS.

(Continued from page 21.)

The al-fresco season has now commenced in real earnest, and from all parts of these islands records daily reach the Feldman publishing-house of the phenomenal successes already achieved by exponents of their many songs. The song par excellence which is literally in everybody's mouth is "It's the Alpine dress you're wearing," run close by such popular favourites as "Molly O'Morgan," "Pretty little girl from nowhere," "Rain, rain, go away," "Hello, little girl," "Hold me just a little bit tighter," "Do you miss me in the dear homeland?" "Come by the drum in the big brass band," "Sweet garden queen," "The green, green ribbon," and others. Feldman ballads are also well represented at the seaside. Just now, the most popular of these are "Beautiful garden of roses," "Nobody knows—nobody cares," "I'm longing for one sight of you," "I wonder if it's true," "And a little child shall lead them," and "The garden of dreams."

In the comic department Feldman's indubitably hold the strongest hand they have had for years, as, in addition to Mark Sheridan's abiding success, "I do like to be beside the seaside," they are in a position to offer seaside comedians such tried successes as "Fish sauce," "I'd rather be by the fireside," "I must go home to-night," "They can't find Kelly," "Fetch John Willie," "It's a pity to waste the cake," and George Formby's numbers, "Playing the game in the West," "I put on my coat and went home," and "Since I had a go at my dumbbells."

Scotland has vigorously endorsed the verdict of Manchester and Newcastle that Chas. K. Harris's ballad, "Nobody knows—nobody cares," as sung by Miss Ada Reeve, is a really great song, and may confidently be car-marked as a worthy successor to the same author's and publishers' success, "Somewhere."

Writing from the Palace, Hull, Mr. George Lashwood speaks most enthusiastically of the receptions accorded him while he recounts the moving story of a resourceful Irishman's adventures in the harem of the Sultan of Turkey, in search of a supposedly recalcitrant wife, who is all the time safe and snug at home in County Clare. "Mister Pat O'Hare," as the song is styled, is from the pen of a popular American author-composer, Benjamin Hapgood Burt, who has already given this country many popular songs, and Messrs. B. Feldman and Co. have this latest Lashwood "winner" in the press for early publication.

The newly-interpolated Feldman number, "I do like to be beside the seaside," has been prodigiously successful in the Empire, Leicester-square, revue, Hullo, London! Mr. Mark Sheridan, the original singer, is convulsing his auditors at the Empire, Bradford, this week, with his quips and cranks whilst administering this sovereign cure for the "blues" in three carefully-apportioned doses.

At the Canterbury during the present week Miss Lily Edwards has been enthusiastically received in E. W. Rogers and John Neat's song of sentiment, "Do you miss me in the dear homeland?" Miss Zeta Russell also scores heavily in the same bill with "My sweet garden queen," by Harrington, Rogers, and Neat. Both of these songs are Feldman publications.

Miss Marie Reeve sang the ubiquitous "Pretty little girl from nowhere," by E. W. Rogers and John Neat, at the South London last week, and was so successful that she is now featuring it at all her engagements. At the same house Mr. Jack Smiles was eminently successful with yet another Feldman publication, "Fish sauce," by Alf. Davies and Charles Collins, his hearers joining in the catchy refrain with remarkable unanimity.

MASKELYNE AND DEVANT'S.

"A fine entertainment. Everyone was good!" Thus a young lady to an equally young gentleman last Thursday afternoon at the Langham-place home of mysteries, as the curtain descended for the last time. This was the unanimous opinion, and most people, could they have been heard, would have re-echoed the sentiment. As it was the writer cordially—if mentally—agreed, and then it suddenly dawned on him why two hours and a half had so quickly flitted by.

Mr. Nevil Maskelyne—to whom many happy returns of last Thursday—presented on that afternoon a new magical farce, The Scarab, by himself and partner, David Devant. He who shall attempt a synopsis of a Maskelyne and Devant story is a bold man, indeed. But this much must be said, the sacred beetle was sufficiently tempting to any common or garden burglar to annex if only because when, once in his possession, he had but to wish to have. The story deals with the purchase by old Drysdale Sandiman (very finely taken by Mr. W. Mayne) of a 6,000 year old mummy, Rather, an ex-King of Egypt, from Aaron Giltmacher, one of the chosen tribe—a great character-study by Mr. Arnold Mussett. A burglar, a buxom housekeeper, and the old archæologist in turn get their wishes gratified as they handle the ancient Egyptian scarab, and only the resources of St. George's Hall are equal to the appearances and disappearances that occur in consequence. Everyone as quickly as wishes can be uttered vanish only to appear later on. The entire scheme—it is nothing more or less—is one great gasp. How does one living individual after another voluntarily enter the sarcophagus, vanish from it, despite its apparent isolation from stage traps, back cloths, wings, everything that stagecraft, in fact, could suggest to mask the disappearance of the many excellent performers in the cast? It is all very wonderful, and, if Mr. Maskelyne will permit us to say so, is another feather added to the many that already adorn a cap which all illusionists, with one accord, salute.

Our old friend, Mr. Barclay Gammon, was in good form, and showed us how easy it was for such men as Elgar and Chopin to have anticipated the world-famed melodies, "Won't you come home, Bill Bailey?" and "Yip-i-addy-i-ay." Memora, we are told—vide programme—has "the world's history at his finger-tips." We believe the statement. Memora is nothing short of being a walking encyclopædia, and gives a very interesting show. Mr. David Devant's "Little Chantecler" and "Mascot Moth" mysteries are extremely good, even if built on conventional lines.

Altogether, the current programme at the St. George's Hall is bright, smartly staged, original as ever it was, and cannot fail to interest and divert the most blasé of London's amusement-seekers.

Mr. Editor.—Sir,—I notice in your Provincial news on May 16 you mention me as playing Panopticon, Glasgow. I played Public Hall, Darwen, that week.—Yours truly, Bella Leaburn (Hippodrome, Lowestoft).

The Palace, Crewe, of which the lessees are Messrs. W. Beecher Broomfield and F. R. Holmes-Meyrick, was opened on Monday by the Mayor of Crewe, after which a charity matinée was given. Edgar Cook, the comedy illusionist, presents his magical extravaganza, The Conjuring Chef, with great success, and produces large numbers of birds and animals from apparently nowhere; Miss Victoria Cross, a fine Scotch comedienne, is deservedly popular. Also billed are Four Toreadors, in comedy sketch; Cambo, musical monkey, &c. The pictures, which are intended as the chief attraction of this new house, are excellent, and include The Funeral of the King. The machine is ably operated by Mr. Scott.

"THE TOP-SIDE" DOG.

A Sketch, by Mr. F. D. Bono, Produced for the First Time at the Shoreditch Olympia on Monday, May 23.

Robert Boiler ..... Mr. Geo. Howard
Jim Bates ..... Mr. Neville Graham
Mrs. Boiler ..... Miss Evelyn Shaw

The above comedy sketch is one of a particularly entertaining and interesting character, for it tells how a worm, in the shape of a hen-pecked husband, may turn and reverse positions once and for all. The victim of a woman's tongue, Robert Boiler, by continual nagging on the part of his wife, has been completely cowed—so much so, indeed, that he is forced to darn the stockings and do the washing. At the opening of the story Mrs. Boiler goes out for a short time, but, first of all, orders her husband to bed. During her absence Robert receives a visit from Jim Bates, an old Army friend of his, who comes provided with that which will give sweet oblivion to anyone with a thirst. Jim attends to the refreshments in an adequate manner, and Robert, who has been an abstainer for many a long day, is rapidly overcome. Whilst in this care-for-nothing condition, he is told by his friend to be a man and stick up for his rights. This Robert determines to do, and when Mrs. Boiler returns, attempts to show his authority, but on his wife threatening to go to the police he is again completely submissive. Presently the effects of the drink wear off, and Boiler sees what a fool he has been to allow his wife to rule. He turns upon her and tells her to go for the police if she wishes, and shows himself at last to be a man of considerable spirit. Mrs. Boiler is frightened, says she is sorry for the past, and shows in every way that she has at length been completely conquered.

Mr. George Howard scores a great success as Robert Boiler. His acting is natural, and he cleverly contrasts the hen-pecked husband with the man of determination. Much praise is due to him, and also to Mr. Neville Graham, whose company is responsible for the production. Mr. Graham impersonates with considerable skill Jim Bates, and Miss Evelyn Shaw's acting is of considerable value in the character of Mrs. Boiler. The sketch evokes roars of laughter.

A COINCIDENCE.

To the Editor of The Era.

Sir,—In your notice of the sketch It, recently produced at the Ealing Hippodrome, I gather from the description that some of the incidents are similar to those of my sketch The Little Puritan, specially written by me for France and Stewart, and produced by them at the Palace, Leicester, on April 25. This, no doubt, is a coincidence; but as The Little Puritan is booked for all the Moss and Stoll halls, including the Coliseum, I shall be glad if you will insert my letter, and so save me in the future from any charge of plagiarism. I may add that I have never seen or even heard of It before the notice in your paper.—Yours faithfully,

C. Herbert Walther.
151, Hurlingham-road, Fulham, S.W., May 23.

MUSIC HALL CELEBRITIES.

MR. ROWLAND HILL.

A native of Bromley, Kent, Mr. Rowland Hill was originally intended for the building trade, but after a few seasons as a smoking concert comedian he decided to try his fortune as a comic singer on the music halls. This was fifteen years ago, and he has never regretted his choice. He did not take a stage name, but used his own. He gained plenty of experience in the provinces, and met with many ups and downs in the early stages of his professional career. He struck out a line of his own as a singer of "dame" and character songs. His first song was written by the late Tom Conley, and was entitled "Oh, the young man in the parlour"; since then many authors have written "dame" and patter songs for him. Though still a young man Mr. Hill has played Ye Dame in Christmas pantomimes—a part for which he seems to have a special qualification—for thirteen consecutive years. Mr. Hill's first pantomime of note was Sley and Horrocks' Cinderella at the Grand Theatre, Derby. In 1900 he played the Dame, and the following year he enacted the same character in H. A. Jordison's touring pantomime. Two seasons followed in J. F. Elliston's pantomimes as Dame at the Palace Theatre, Newcastle-on-Tyne, and Theatre Royal, Sheffield, then two more seasons in H. A. Jordison's touring pantomime as Dame in Babes in the Wood. Mr. Stanley Rogers saw him in this part, and recommended him for the following Christmas to the Renad Bros., who engaged him to play Dame in their production of Puss in Boots at the Grand Theatre, Hull. Mr. Stanley Rogers wrote the book, and Mr. Hill says it is the finest Dame part he ever had. Mr. John Hart engaged him for the next season to play Mrs. Sinbad at the Theatre Royal, Manchester, where he scored a big success, and was re-engaged by Mr. Hart to play the same part Christmas, 1909, at the Grand Theatre, Leeds. This year he again played Dame for Mr. Hart in Jack and the Beanstalk at the Theatre Royal, Bradford, and it was Yorkshire's most successful pantomime. This coming Christmas Mr. Hill will play Dame at the Theatre Royal, Sheffield; this will be his fourth consecutive season with Mr. John Hart. Mr. Hill has an original singing and patter act, viz., "Ye Dame and Historical Humorist," with which the music halls keeps him well employed when not in pantomime.

[Photo by Garrett.

MR. ROWLAND HILL.

"CHANTECLER."

To the Editor of The Era.

Sir,—The Chantecler idea is very much older than your correspondent, Mr. Williams, seems to imagine. On Dec. 26, 1865, a pantomime called Cock-a-doodle-doo; or, Harlequin Prince Chantecler, written by Mr. Charles Millward, was produced at Sadler's Wells Theatre. The idea struck me as a good one, and several years ago I procured particulars of this old Sadler's Wells show, and prepared the scenario of a pantomime on modern lines, with the view of producing it when opportunity might occur.

I have only to add that one of the scenes of this pantomime was utilised by Mr. Stanley and myself in preparing the little fantasy Cock-a-doodle-doo, which I am now presenting at the leading variety houses.—Yours faithfully,

Peter Davey.
Royal County Theatre, Kingston-on-Thames.
May 23.

DICKENS AND DOVER.

To the Editor of The Era.

Sir,—Referring to the letter in your last week's issue from Miss Helen Brinckman, "Dickens and Dover," I quite agree with her that Dickens is nowhere held in greater esteem or his writings more appreciated than in Dover. That Mr. Bransby Williams was disappointed on visiting the old town I have no doubt is due, in a great measure, to his not having resided there and knowing the literary tastes of the inhabitants.

In the Market-square, a tablet on my property indicates the site of the steps on which David Copperfield sat to eat his loaf when in search for his aunt, Betsy Trotwood. As Dickens was staying on the sea-front for some time, there has always been a large amount of interest in connection with the great novelist.—Your faithfully,

B. A. Igglesden.
The Laurels, Priory-road, Hastings, May 23.

FELDMAN'S

SPECIAL SONGS AND SINGERS.

THE SEASIDE SONG OF THE YEAR.

IT'S THE ALPINE DRESS YOU'RE WEARING.

Al Fresco Artists—Get this! It's "IT."

ARTHUR ALDRIDGE. The Greatest Ballad Vocalist on the "Halls."
BEAUTIFUL GARDEN OF ROSES.
I'M LONGING FOR ONE SIGHT OF YOU.

FRED BARNES. The Rising Star.
I'D RATHER BE BY THE FIRESIDE.

G. H. ELLIOTT. The One and only Chocolate-Coloured Coon.
BY THE LIGHT OF THE SILVERY MOON.
MOON, MOON, MOON.

GEORGE FORMBY. The King of Comedians
PLAYING THE GAME IN THE WEST.
I PUT ON MY COAT AND WENT HOME.

MISS GERTIE GITANA. Most Delightful of Vocalists.
YOU WERE COMING THROUGH THE CORN, MOLLY DEAR.

Mr. GEORGE LASHWOOD. The Music Hall Beau Brummel.
MISTER PAT O'HARE.

MISS CLARICE MAYNE The Incomparable Comedienne.
GEORGIE TOOK ME WALKING IN THE PARK.

MISS ADA REEVE. The World's Greatest Songstress.
NOBODY KNOWS—NOBODY CARES

MARK SHERIDAN. The Best of the "B'hoys."
I DO LIKE TO BE BESIDE THE SEASIDE.

MISS ELLA SHIELDS. The Dandy Militaire, Par Excellence.
IN THE ARMY.
COME BY THE DRUM IN THE BIG BRASS BAND.

MISS BESSIE SLAUGHTER. The Beautiful Contralto.
BEAUTIFUL GARDEN OF ROSES.

MR. JACK SMILES.
The Popular Comedian.
FISH SAUCE.

MISS ALICE TREMAYNE
Mr. Harry Claff's "Demon and the Fairy."
I WONDER IF IT'S TRUE.

B. FELDMAN & CO.,

2 & 3, Arthur St., New Oxford St., W.C.

Tel. Address: "HUMFRIV, LONDON." Telephone: 4447 GERRARD.

"NAPOLEON'S WASHERWOMAN."

Sketch, in One Scene, Produced at the Chelsea Palace on Monday, May 23.

Napoleon ..... Mr. Henry Deas
Fouché ..... Mr. E. Mayne Lynton
Catherine ..... Miss Annie Hughes

A comedienne like Miss Annie Hughes is particularly welcome on the halls, and it should be admitted at once that she has most cleverly adapted herself to her new environment, receiving most effective aid from the sketch that has been specially written for her. Variety audiences do not want subtlety, but breadth and directness, and they certainly get both these qualities in Napoleon's Washerwoman. The lady of the washtub is none other than Catherine Duchess of Dantzig, married to Sergeant Lefebvre, one of the soldiers of Napoleon's grande armée, who carried a marshal's bâton in his knapsack. He has been made Duke of Dantzig. At the opening of the play Napoleon in his study at the Tuileries is fuming with rage at the gaucheries, the indiscretions, and the incredible bluntness of the Duchess. She must leave the Court, she must share the fate of Josephine and be divorced, in order that her husband, the Duke of Dantzig, may find a wife more suited to his exalted rank. Catherine, summoned to the Emperor's presence, is called to account for her lâches, and told peremptorily to go back to her washtub. She takes Nap at his word, and, doffing her Court dress, with the assistance of Fouché, chief of police, finds a tub and starts washing there and then. The great "little corporal" is furious; but becomes mollified when he is shown a little unpaid bill, owing to Catherine, blanchisseuse, by a young lieutenant of artillery, who was glad to take credit in the days of his youth. The impecunious officer is now Emperor, and when Catherine on her knees pleads to him for forgiveness his heart is touched: she shall not be divorced, and her husband shall be given the important command for which his splendid abilities fit him. Catherine puts paid to the bill, and, kissing the hand of her benefactor, cries, "God save the Emperor!"

Every line of the playlet is effective, and Miss Annie Hughes brings all the resources of her art to bear upon a character that exactly suits her. She broadens her method considerably, and in dealing with the qualities of artlessness and unappreciated sincerity in Catherine does not lose sight of the staunchness and loyalty of the woman—devoted to the creator of kings and the founder of dynasties. From the reception given to her throughout the piece, which goes with a roar from start to finish, Miss Hughes is already a great favourite in Chelsea, and that favouritism will, if we mistake not, increase rapidly, for the sketch is likely to have a long run. Mr. Henry Deas realises the traditions of the part of Napoleon in his little tricks of manner, and plays most effectively. Mr. E. Mayne Lynton is a capital Fouché.

The variety bill is blessed with a comic interlude by the popular Will and Sam Poluski, who burlesque a coon song in a way that is quite their own. Mr. George Newburn, choosing the chief successes of a few of the stars, gives imitations of them that are amazingly accurate; Miss Daisy Stratton sings "Tipperary Mary," a song that is naturally rounded off with an Irish jig; Scotch comedy has a favourite exponent in Jack Lorimer, who, in song, imagines the day when the girls will wear the kilts; Miss Mona Garrick's double forte declamation in scenes from The Woman of Cronstadt and The Corsican Brothers is not always convincing; we get plenty of laughs out of the genuine musical comedy of the Warsaw Brothers; and Ella Lorraine, vocalist, opens the programme, of which the final item is a series of fine pictures of the funeral of his late Majesty Edward the Seventh, presented by Ruffell's Imperial Bioscope. Mr. J. Norman Berlin, the popular manager here, has the assistance of Mr. George B. Andrews, a courteous acting-manager, and the orchestra is capably directed by Mr. Charles Aves.

The following amounts have been collected by Mr. Percy Ford for the Music Hall Home:—A. E. Chapman, 1s.; W. E. Stephenson, 1s.; W. Croxon, 1s.; F. Neiland, 1s.; J. Inwood, 1s.; and Fred Kitchen, 1s.

Mr. Editor.—Dear Sir,—Will you kindly rectify mistake in The Era of last week in the notice for Tivoli, Barrow? "Mrs. Delda Gray sings in excellent style" should have been—Yours faithfully, Della Ray.

The entertainment company at the Pier Pavilion, New Brighton, is headed by Mr. Chris. Van Bern, a versatile comedian, whose many-sided contributions as vocalist, instrumentalist, conjuror, and quick-change merchant have been vastly enjoyed. Mr. Norman Osborne, ventriloquist; Mr. Griff Owen, tenor; Brothers Errard, comedy musicians; Miss Sybil Lister, vocalist; Miss Decima Troughton, soubrette; Sisters Lesmere, vocalists and dancers; and the Waterloo Trio, are other turns.

Moon's Merry Mascots are at the head of the bill at the Alhambra Theatre, Stourbridge, with their up-to-date Pierrot entertainment; and a good show also includes Maidie Percival, soubrette and dancer; Stanley Marvell, a versatile comedian of merit; Gladys May, a favourite comedienne and dancer; Will Pimm, eccentric comedian, who causes much merriment; Muriel Vivian, character vocalist, smart and capable; Barry Moon, comedian and mimic; and Sandes and Vincent, a smart comedy duo. The pictures include the Funeral of His Late Majesty Edward VII.

Owing to the abandonment of the "Festival of Empire" Pageant, at the Crystal Palace, a hundred horses, together with their saddles and bridles, were disposed of at Aldridge's, St. Martin's-lane, on Wednesday. Some useful horses were to be found among them, the prices for many ranging between 30 guineas and 40 guineas. A consignment of trotting horses and ponies was also dealt with. One of them, Sally Randell, credited as the best all-round animal imported from the States, with a record of 2.25, changed hands at 55 guineas.

There is a fine bill at New Brighton Winter Gardens, and big business is being done. The Quaint Q.'s have made a great success, and received an ovation. The same can be said of Graham, the Lilliputian wonder; Messrs. Martin and Savage, marvellous dancers; August, September, and May in a screaming eccentric act; and Miss Maud and Sydney Wood, in a delightful drawing-room entertainment. Mr. Nelson Hardy is a good ventriloquist; Miss J. Jones and Mr. Frank Gordon in musical sketch; the Three Royal Temples, splendid vocalists, have all come in for enthusiastic applause. The pictures, including a film of the funeral of his late Majesty King Edward VII., are first-class productions.

Considerable annoyance was caused at the Beach Pavilion Aberdeen, on a recent evening by a band of well-dressed young men, who attempted to interrupt the performance. Previous to the start of the concert the young men took possession of the platform, and seemed bent upon giving a performance of their own. When the concert commenced they indulged in a good deal of noise by shouting, yelling, and otherwise causing much annoyance to the audience and artists. After being appealed to by Mr. Dufton Scott to behave themselves, the conduct of the young men improved, and comparative quietness afterwards prevailed. The rowdy demonstration was keenly resented by the soloists, some of whom were a bit unnerved by what had occurred, while several of the audience left the building.

RINKING GOSSIP.

Allie Moore at Bournemouth.
ALLIE MOORE has been on a visit to Bournemouth this week, and patrons of the Westover Rink have had an opportunitiy of witnessing his fine performance. Standing blindfolded, and with his feet tied, Allie Moore sprang from the floor into an ordinary tub, and from thence on to a platform some three feet high. The tub was placed on the platform, and one jump repeated, and added to by a jump into and from the tub on to a still higher narrow platform, and down again on the other side, platform by platform, finishing by a spring to the floor. The last item was what has been described as a startling coaster ride. The skater, having ascended a slanting 11in. wide plank to a height of 12ft., a wheelbarrow was hauled up to him by a rope, and at a signal the rope was detached, and he gave a daring shoot down the slope with the wheelbarrow, at a terrific pace, and ascended a see-saw plank arrangement, and, after going down the other side from a height of 5ft., left the wheelbarrow on the floor of the rink, and racing round again, cleared the seven-chair-long jump, having before this given a see-saw exhibition without the wheelbarrow.

Novelty Contests in N. London.
THE North London Skating Rink is under new management, and many functions are announced for the next two months. Next Monday there will be a commemorative session in honour of Atalanta (the Goddess of Speed—whose enemies, jealous of her achievements, strewed golden apples in her path, thereby tempting her to stoop to pick up a golden apple, thus causing her to lose the race). Every patron present and skating at this session will receive a present of fruit. On Tuesday and Wednesday, May 31 and June 1, there will be a ladies' half-mile race. A white summer carnival and confetti battle will take place on June 2. All competitors must be dressed in white; gentlemen either in flannels, white drill, or some all-white material. They must also wear straw hats with a red band. All competitors must wear a red tie or scarf, no other bit of colour will be allowed.

The New Blyth Rink.
WHAT is probably one of the largest skating rinks in the North was opened at Blyth last week. The floor space available for skating is 178ft. by 75ft., there being provision made at one end for learners. The roof span is composed of steel principals, and give a span of 75ft. Ventilation is by movable sashes in the windows. A large bandstand has been provided. Blyth was tremendously "on the move" on the opening day of the rink. As had been expected, several expert skaters from Ashington, Whitley Bay, &c., put in an appearance, while a surprisingly large number of Blyth skaters skilled in the pursuit also took the floor.

New Rink at Bray.
MR. J. E. MACDERMOTT, the successful amusement caterer, has been for some months preparing the Assembly Rooms, Quinsborough-road, Bray, to suit the requirements of a well-arranged skating rink. Having secured a lease of the premises, he has laid down a fine maple floor, and the new skatery is now crowded at every session.

Blackpool Rinks.
AT the Colosseum Rink the spacious skating surface is in the best possible condition, and is the venue of crowds of merry pleasure-seekers. A splendid exhibition of fancy and trick skating is given both afternoon and evening by Mr. Turner, an acknowledged expert in graceful skating.

T. G. Harris to Retain Secretaryship.
MR. T. G. HARRIS will retain the hon. secretaryship of the Bristol Roller-skating Club. A few weeks ago the double announcement was made that both Mr. Brown and Mr. Harris had resigned the chairmanship and secretaryship respectively. Mr. Brown's step is permanent, but Mr. Harris has made such business arrangements as will permit him to keep on the duties. Every member of the club will welcome this news.

Successful Year at Mill Lane.
THE Mill-lane Rink, Bristol, has been opened just a year, and Mr. Ryder states that the proprietors are thoroughly satisfied with the year's working. Every effort has been made to strike the happy medium between sociability and any tendency to overdo the feeling of friendliness. Those who have frequented the rink will bear witness to the admirable way it has been conducted.

J. Campbell, of Burslem.
SINCE the first of the Staffordshire rinks opened about eighteen months ago, others have gradually sprung up until all the Potteries towns now possess a rink of their own. The Burslem rink is the last to open its doors to the public, but it is not the least. The rink so far has "caught on." It is the third largest of the local skating palaces, and has a number of improvements over the earlier constructed buildings. The proprietors of the rink have secured the services of Mr. J. Campbell as general-manager. Mr. Campbell has had a long experience in rinking business, having been employed on the rinks for the last five years. A native of Manchester, he started his rinking career at the White City in his native town, which at that time had an ashphalt floor, but has since been relaid with maple. Leaving Manchester, Mr. Campbell took up an appointment as floor manager at the Castle Rink, Bury, when after a stay of twelve months, he was engaged at the King-street Rink, Bury. Mr. Campbell's abilities were further rewarded when he secured the position as manager for the opening of the Olympia, Barnsley, which accommodated over 2,000 people on that occasion. During his stay at Barnsley he had a very successful season and made himself exceeding popular with the patrons of the rink. Mr. Campbell is a member of the International Professional Roller Skaters' Association, and is an accomplished skater. He passed the association test for figure skating which was held in London some eighteen months ago, winning a gold medal.

Summer Rinking in Cardiff.
CARDIFF skaters are realising the possibilities of the rink as a rendezvous, and the American Roller Rink in Westgate-street has won the distinction of being one of the best and select. Ladies and gentlemen by the score, and often by the hundred, each session enjoy the delightful exhilarating pastime, and as they whirl smoothly along the polished surface of the floor find that relaxation from care and worry so necessary in these stirring nerve-racking times. Mr. Thomas, the manager, by his geniality and close attention to the needs of the patrons, not forgetting their digestive demands, is adding to the popularity of the rink, for every effort is being made to add to the pleasure and the comfort of skaters.

At the Pleasure Beach Skating Rink.
SKATING has been in full wing during the holidays. The spacious floor has an excellent skating surface of 16,200ft. of finest American kiln-dried rock maple, and it is the scene of happy pleasure-seekers obtaining the maximum amount of enjoyment. Special provision is made whereby the rink can be converted into an open-air skating pavilion by the removal of the wooden partitions which form the walls. The skates in use are Winslow's famous make.

Carnival at Derby.
PATRONS of the Alexandra Rink turned up in full force to participate in a farewell carnival last Wednesday evening. The rink, tastefully decorated, presented a brilliant and animated appearance, and prizes for dress were keenly contested. On Saturday evening some exciting relay races and a confetti battle wound up a successful season, which reflects great credit upon Mr. W. H. Innes, who throughout has been a hard-working and courteous manager. The concert season commences on June 6.

Round the Glasgow Rinks.
SINCE the commencement of the summer session at Ibrox Rink every evening has seen a goodly number of skaters on the floor. The rink is only open for the evening session now. The American Roller Rink, Victoria-road, still continues to do good business. There continues to be little diminution in the attendance at the Dennistoun Rink at the Old East-End Exhibition grounds. Features of the establishment are an excellent floor and good skates, and a first-class band. Great interest is being taken by the patrons of the Great Eastern Rink in the novel attractions promoted by the proprietors. One of Glasgow's most popular rinks is the West End, where the daily attendances continue to be exceptionally large, especially at the evening sessions, when the skating capacity is always fully taxed. The floor is in splendid condition. What promises to be a most successful venture has just been inaugurated by the proprietors of the Summerton-road rink—namely, a summer social club—a large number of entries having already been received. The Govan rink has a large patronage, and every evening there is always a large turn-out of enthusiasts. Indications point to the summer season at this establishment being as successful as during the winter months.

Rinking in India.
THE Rink and Theatre Mussoorie is again in the capable hands of Mr. George Leslie, and has every prospect of a bumper season. Large crowds are attracted to all sessions, and skating goes merrily to the strains of the band of the East Yorkshire Regiment. Two fancy-dress carnivals are advertised for May, and some handsome prizes will be offered. A two-mile race will be run on the 20th for a cup, kindly presented by Messrs. John Dewar and Sons, Ltd. The pictorial bills used by this rink (Moody Brothers, Birmingham) are said to be the finest yet seen in India.

Staff Benefit at Pentre.
A STAFF benefit will be held on Monday next at the Olympia Rink, Pentre, Rhondda, when a crowded "session" is anticipated. A hockey match between Porth Ladies and Pentre Reserves should prove a great draw. The management has decided to close the rink for the summer months, reopening early in the autumn. The large circle of patrons much regret the impending departure of Miss Daisy Turner, the popular floor-manageress, who, by the way, has been connected with the rink since its opening.

Rinking at Porth.
AT the Rhondda rink business is as brisk as ever. The floor is excellent, and the hockey matches which take place add to the popularity. Porth Ladies met a team of gentlemen, "The Excelsiors," but were defeated by 2 goals to nil. However, credit must be given to the ladies for their excellent combination play; it would be well if the gentlemen players followed their idea. On Wednesday evening Pontypridd met Ynyshir in a League match. Result: Pontypridd 1 goal, Ynyshir nil.

Carnival at Scarborough.
A VERY successful fancy dress and advertisement costume carnival was held at the Grand Skating Rink, Scarborough, on Monday night, when prizes were awarded to Miss Oates, for the most handsome costume; Miss Proughton, character costume; Miss Booth, advertisement; Mr. Holden, humorous; and Mr. Reynolds, character costume.

Southampton Skating Rink.
THE Southampton Skating Rink, in Shirley-road, will, on Wednesday, June 1, be the scene of a fancy dress and advertisement carnival, the last of the season. Prizes will be offered for the prettiest costumes (ladies' and gentlemen's), there will be exhibitions of fancy and trick skating, and from 11.30 to 12 o'clock there will be a confetti battle.

Carnival by the Sea.
AT the American Palace Pier Skating Rink, St. Leonards-on-Sea, a skating carnival was held on Wednesday, in Army, Navy, and fancy dress costumes.

Variety Artists for Rink.
IN addition to reduced prices, the management of the Ton-y-Pandy Rink has engaged eminent artists, who give open-air concerts on the staging in front of the rink.

Presentation at Walkergate Rink.
A PLEASING function took place at the Olympia Skating Rink, Walkergate, last week, when Mr. Vivian D'Alby, the esteemed manager, was made the recipient of a handsome presentation as a token of the esteem in which he is held by the members of the staff and skaters. For four or five months he has been in charge of the Olympia, and not only has he achieved success in its management, but it is safe to say that he has done much to enhance its attractiveness. The present consisted of a handsome case of pipes, a silver shield attached bearing the words: "Presented to Mr. Vivian D'Alby by the staff and patrons of the Olympia Rink, Durham, as a mark of affection and esteem, May 18, 1910."

Successful Widnes Hockey Team.
LAST Thursday evening the now famous Borough Rink Hockey Team defeated Wallasey at the Albert Hall (Liverpool) Rink by four goals to nil; thereby becoming the 1910 champions of the Liverpool and Wirral Hockey League, and winners of the much-coveted cup and medals. Since the inauguration of this hockey team the prospects of attaining the championship have been distinctly rosy, and to gain such a success is a well-deserved honour. The successful team was composed of the following players: Jackson, Morris, Price, Randles, and Peacock. Randles scored three goals and Peacock one. The cup and medals were presented to the borough team by Mr. De Larrinaga, president of the league. On arrival at Widnes stirring scenes were witnessed, proving that rink-hockey in Widnes is a force to be contended with. The previous week the Borough succumbed to the Bury Hockey Team by two goals to nil in the first round of the English Amateur Association competition (Northern Counties).

DRAMATIC AND MUSICAL LAW.

Being a digest of the Law relating to Theatres and Music Halls, and containing chapters on Theatrical Contracts, Theatrical, Music and Dancing, and Excise Licences, Dramatic and Musical Copyright, &c., with an Appendix containing the Acts of Parliament relating thereto, and the regulations of the London County Council and the Lord Chamberlain, by Albert A. Strong, LL.B. (London), solicitor. Third edition.

THE ARTIST'S LEGAL HANDBOOK.—We welcome a third edition of Mr. Albert A. Strong's "Dramatic and Musical Law" (The Era Offices), as it is nine years since the second appeared, and much has happened since then, not least the foundation of the V.A.F. and the resultant Award of 1907. This will be found incorporated in the now greatly improved and extended Appendix of Statutes, ranging from the Disorderly Houses Act of 1751 to last year's L.C.C. Cinematograph regulations. As far as is possible with further developments in daily progress, this invaluable work of legal reference for all interested in the entertainment profession has been brought up to date. Sixty pages have been added, and the whole revised and rendered easier of reference by the re-arrangements that have been made and the numerous marginal headings that have been introduced. Strong on "Dramatic and Musical Law" may be regarded as the layman's complete authority on the subject, whether he be proprietor, manager, or artist, and with a lucid explanation of the law so readily available, the artist will be wise to consult its pages before venturing on new contracts and agreements, whether as employed or—in these days of "combinations," sketches, troupes, and what not—as employer.—The Performer, May 12, 1910.

Mr. Albert A. Strong's valuable treatise on "Dramatic and Musical Law," published at the offices of The Era, has reached a third edition. This includes the text of the recent Berlin Convention and the new Copyright Act of the United States, also all the important decisions of the Courts, since the last edition, on which the compiler has been able to lay hands. As Mr. Strong remarks, "There is probably no more fruitful source of litigation than the ordinary theatrical contract." If the work under notice achieved no other object than to impress this fact on the parties concerned, it would still be worth its weight in gold.—The Music Hall, May 12, 1910.

Mr. Albert A. Strong's valuable work "Dramatic and Musical Law," published at The Era Offices, Tavistock-street, has reached its third edition. The author has made every effort to bring the book right up to date.—Referee, May 15, 1910.

Dramatic authors, composers, and all of those interested in dramatic enterprise will find much that is useful and instructive in "Dramatic and Musical Law," by Albert Strong.—Sporting Life, May 16, 1910.

"Dramatic and Musical Law," by Albert A. Strong, LL.B. (Era Offices, W.C.), has gone into a third edition, which would seem to prove its usefulness.—Sportsman, May 14, 1910.

Price 5s., post free 5s. 4d. Published at The Era Offices, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

MR. J. A. MOLLOY is again making use of his dual licence at the Ealing Hippodrome, with the result that this week The Bad Girl of the Family is presenting her attractive personality to an Ealing audience. With its four acts and eighteen scenes there is not a moment when the interest is allowed to flag, and, judging from the excellent bookings, Mr. Walter Gibbons will soon be sending along another, equally exciting, of Mr. Fredk. Melville's melodramas.

"THE ORGAN-GRINDER."

A Dramatic Sketch, in Four Scenes, by Alicia Ramsey and Rudolph de Cordova, Produced at the Leicester Palace Theatre on Monday, May 23.

The Padrone ..... MR. LAWSON BUTT
Sal ..... MISS JOAN PEREIRA
Jim ..... MR. LEOPOLD PROFEIT
Sir Horace Wyndham, Bart... MR. CHAS. ALDRED
Nellie ..... MISS MOLLIE SHIELLS
Arthur Thorne ..... MR. WILLIAM E. HARBERD

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

Coming from the pen of the authors of most of the London Hippodrome's famous successes, a great deal was naturally expected of the above dramatic sketch when it commenced its tour at the Leicester Palace Theatre on Monday evening. A good send-off awaited the company, who are being toured under the management of the authors. The plot was given in detail on the production of the sketch at the New Cross Empire in 1908, but our readers may be reminded Nellie, the little daughter of Sir Horace Wyndham, is stolen by a villainous organ-grinder from motives of revenge, and, after having her golden curls cut off and her face stained with walnut juice, is compelled to dance in the streets for money. After undergoing much cruelty she is restored to her father by her devoted companion, a young man who had also been stolen by the organ-grinder and who turns out to be her brother. The situations are both exciting and pathetic, and realism is secured in their interpretation.

We have nothing but praise for the real excellence of the work of Alicia Ramsey and Rudolph de Cordova, who have added to their long list of successes, and the sketch will undoubtedly receive a hearty welcome wherever it is performed.

The staging is well done, and to Mr. Robin Shiells, the stage-manager, should be accorded warm praise.

To the members of the company we must reiterate our hearty congratulations on the way in which one and all portrayed the characters entrusted to them. Mr. Lawson Butt as the Padrone gave a fine performance; and Miss Joan Pereira as Sal, his reputed wife, well maintained her reputation as an actress of distinction. Miss Mollie Shiells is a young artist of versatility and remarkable intelligence, who makes herself a big favourite as Nellie, a part she plays in a manner that leaves nothing whatever to be desired. Mr Charles Aldred is a thorough success as Sir Horace Wyndham, and as Jim Mr. Leopold Profeit is deserving of high eulogium. As Arthur Thorne (a policeman) Mr. William E. Harberd does well.

MISS DOROTHY RICHARDSON has been engaged by Mr. L. Cohen for Monday, June 6, for his sketch A Glass of Port at the Royal Standard, Pimlico.

THE Ramsgate and District Popular Amusements Co., Ltd., was registered on May 13. The capital is £2,000, in £1 shares. The offices are at 39, Harbour-street, Ramsgate.

WULLIE FRAME, the man you know, "hooch, aye!" is in the North Countrie the noo. He has had a big welcome in Bonnie Dundee, and next week he appears in the Silver City o' Aberdeen. "O, Wullie, we have missed ye."

THE sum of £33 for the mine disaster fund has been collected at the Hippodrome, Peckham, and East Ham Palace by the Singing Pit-brow Lasses, in conjunction with Mr. G. W. Sykes Blythe, the proprietor of the troupe, which is so capably represented by Mr. David Hart.

THE latest quotations of music hall shares are as follow:—Alhambra, 1⅞; Empire (15s. paid), 1½; Empire (10s. paid), 1½; London Pavilion (5), 3½; London Pavilion Pref. (5), 5½; Metropolitan, ⅜; Moss Empires (5), 4½; Oxford (5), 7; Palace Theatre (9s. paid), 1⅛; Tivoli, New (5), 6¼.

MR. JUSTICE SWINFEN EADY, in the Companies Winding-up Court on Wednesday, on the petition of Coote and Richards, made a compulsory order for the winding-up of the Amusements Development Syndicate, Ltd. His Lordship said the company was managed by a gentleman who, unfortunately, was an undischarged bankrupt, and he was clear it was a case in which there ought to be a compulsory winding-up.

WHAT might have been a serious accident was averted by the promptitude of Mr. F. G. Fenn at the Palace, Gloucester, on Monday last. Mr. John Warren as the old Hindoo Magician in The Magic Carpet throws a light from his hand into the air. On Monday this light happened to catch a part of the scenery above the heads of the performers and quickly burst into flame. Warned by shouts from the audience, Mr. Fenn left the stage quite naturally, whilst Mr. Warren and Mr. James went coolly on with the dialogue. The scenery was lowered, and Mr. Fenn returning, promptly extinguished the flame, the sketch proceeding as though nothing out of the ordinary had happened.

FOLLOWING up the great success of Cottage or Palace and The Irony of Fate, Mr. Harry Barford is presenting at the Camden Theatre on Monday next, May 30th, a new episode entitled The Bishop and the Thief. In this we shall see that fine actor Mr. Edward O'Neill for the first time on the variety stage. Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables" is the basis of this romantic playlet, and from the same source was derived the curtain-raiser, The Bishop's Candlesticks, by Norman McKinnel, produced at the Duke of York's, Aug. 24, 1901. Mr. O'Neill will sustain the part of the much-tortured Jean Valjean, and the sympathetic Bishop Myriel will be in the keeping of Mr. Windham Guise, the Bishop's sister, Mme. Magloire, being entrusted to Miss Eugenie Verney.

IN "Stage Facts and Figures," a neat little volume recently published, Mr. J. Wellesley Lynn points out the way to the profession, and shows how to produce, protect, and present plays and sketches. Mr. Lynn does not encourage all and sundry to fly to the footlights, but gives some wise words of warning to the aspirant, who, after reading his book, will not rush into an overcrowded profession without being aware of the adversities and disappointments that await the unfit. Having himself written and staged several sketches, Mr. Lynn is able to give valuable hints as to how to secure production of that class of entertainment, and does not minimise the difficulties that confront author or producer. Copyright is dealt with in several interesting chapters, and the methods and procedure tersely summarised. Essays on "The Art of Make-up," "Should Girls Make Up?" and "Beauty on the Stage" add to the variety and value of the little work, which is illustrated by some striking situations from Mr. Lynn's sketches.

MR. ERNEST CHARLES GITTINS writes:—"In your last issue your correspondent for Bootle states that my company appeared in The Daughter of the Regiment at the Winter Gardens. Will you kindly allow me to say I was under no contract to Messrs. Adeler, Sutton, and Allandale (the proprietors), nor had I any communication with them whatever, and was, as a matter of fact, under contract for a fortnight to Mr. Arthur Corelli, of Ellesmere Port, after only a month's absence?"

"THE LAW OF MUSICAL COPYRIGHT." By Albert A. Strong, LL.B. Price 1s., post free 1s. 1d. Published at The Era Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

TORTURE ON THE STAGE.

"About King Lear I by no means go all lengths with Thackeray," writes Mr. Andrew Lang in Blackwood's Magazine. "Thackeray wrote to his mother after seeing the play acted, and Charles Lamb says, 'Lear is essentially impossible to be represented on a stage.' Tennyson was of the same opinion. It was perfectly possible on the Jacobean stage. M. Jusserand enumerates the horrors of the drama—'the torturing of Gloucester, who shrieks, tied to a chain, while his eyes are plucked out in our presence (Cornwall takes one in his hand and crushes it under his heel); . . . the mad men, semi-mad men, crazy from birth or circumstances, or by a feint, four mad men together' (three, in fact), 'shouting and gesticulating at once; . . . this is too much: . . . our goodwill fails, our confidence in the guide who is leading us through the dark mazes of the human soul becomes blunted.' Thus it strikes a learned and sympathetic Frenchman. Dr. Johnson says that 'the cruelty of the daughters of Lear is an historical fact,' for Hollinshed dates Lear in the reign of Jeroboam, King of Israel. But, says the Doctor, 'I am unable to apologise with equal plausibility for the extrusion of Gloucester's eyes, which seems an act too horrid to be endured in dramatic exhibition. . . .' Shakespeare borrowed the incident from a story in Sidney's Arcadia. M. Jusserand saw Lear acted, 'with the greatest applause,' in Copenhagen. 'Gloucester's torture, it is true, caused, more than once, some fainting fit among the audience.' Dr. Johnson adds, 'Let it be remembered that our author well knew the audience for which he wrote.'

"That is the truth. Our Jacobean ancestors were familiar with burnings of Unitarians at the stake; our Elizabethans with the Iroquois-like torments of Cecil and Walsingham; and in the reign of Charles I., in a play of the learned Chapman, torture of a woman on the stage was a legitimate ornament of the drama. Molière introduces a lover proposing various holiday treats to his mistress—one is to go and see a prisoner tortured. But Molière did not put this pleasing scene on the stage. The countrymen of M. Jusserand had seen plenty of horrors in the Bartholomew Massacre, the Tumult of Amboise, and so on; but, no more than the Greeks, did they make such things matter of dramatic entertainment.

"Mr. Saintsbury does not hold with M. Jusserand and Dr. Johnson. He says: 'With barely even the exception which has so often to be made of Titus Andronicus, Shakespeare's horrors are never to be sought beyond a certain usual and probable round of circumstance, and are almost always tempered and humanised by touches of humour or pathos, or both.' Gloucester's case seems rather out of the usual and probable round of circumstance; so are the adventures of King Lear, but all these things, and worse, were 'the daily round, the common task' of the victims of Mrs. Elizabeth Barnes.

"Shakespeare, says Dr. Johnson, and M. Jusserand agrees, 'has suffered the virtue of Cordelia to perish . . . contrary to the faith of chronicles,' in which Lear 'triumphs over his enemies.' Lear's tale, we know, like all the Greek historic legends of 'Thebes, and Pelops' line,' is merely a Märchen, a world-wide nursery story, set in false history. The Augustan public would not endure the tragic close. 'The public has decided: Cordelia, from the time of Tate, has always retired with victory and felicity.' Johnson was so horrified by her hanging, that he never re-read the last scenes till he edited Shakespeare. But, unlike Charles II., Shakespeare did not decree that all tragedies should end happily! In Aristotle's words, he 'purged the soul by pity and terror.'

"But, as Molière says that 'everything becomes a pretty woman,' tout sied aux belles, so Shakespeare cannot go wrong. It is otherwise with 'the meaner people of the skies,' his predecessors, contemporaries, and followers, whom Mrs. Barnes sent to the stake. 'Contrast the character of Aaron in Titus Andronicus,' says Mr. Saintsbury, 'with the nightmare ghastlinesses and extravagances, not only of Tourneur and Webster, but even of Marlowe in Barabbas, and the difference of Shakespeare's handling will be felt at once.' Barabbas, in Marlowe's Jew of Malta, goes far beyond the hero of Aytoun's Firmilian when, after many minor experiments, he 'blows up the Cathedral.' The motive of Firmilian was to attain, for literary purposes, the emotion of remorse. He was less successful than Flamineo in Webster's Vittoria Corombona. He has slain his brother in his mother's sight, and hears her wild heart-broken laments, and her wonderful dirge; then, at last, he says—

"'I have a strange thing in me, to th' which I cannot give a name, without it be Compassion.'

Firmilian knows no such weakness. Then to Flamineo enters the phantasm of another of his victims—

'Enter BRACHIANO'S ghost, in his leather cassock and breeches, boots; a cowl, a pot of lily flowers, with a skull in't'— like Keats' Pot of Basil. This rather daunts Flamineo; he reckons that the ghost is not a subjective hallucination, for it throws earth at him. So he goes out, threatening to murder his sister. Dekker, in his 'Gull's Hornbook,' advises young gallants to distinguish themselves at the play by laughing aloud in the crisis of the tragedy. It is no wonder if they did laugh at the ghost in his leather cassock, boots, and breeches.

"Here we have Webster's 'nightmare ghastlinesses and extravagances'; while those of Beaumont and Fletcher, Chapman, and Betty's own detested Massinger, are quite as loathsome and absurd.

"The unnatural, Mr. Saintsbury says, is the Dutch courage of dramatists. Webster and Ford must be intoxicated with the wine of the nightmare before they can rise to the scenes and speeches by which alone they live. 'The judgment of three generations,' says Mr. Saintsbury, 'has placed Vittoria Corombona and The Duchess of Malfi at the very head of all their class, and they contain magnificent poetry.' They do, indeed, yield 'wholly magnificent poetry in phrases and short passages,' but, as wholes, they are nightmares of the worst, and Webster cannot attain poetry except when he has intoxicated himself, filled himself with the Dutch courage of the unnatural. His comedy is the usual stupid ribaldry.

"M. Jusserand says, of all the Epigoni of Shakespeare, 'they please nowadays only in parts, and are read only in extracts.' The extracts made by Charles Lamb in 1808 'were very cleverly selected,' but Lamb, in his own words, '"expunged without ceremony all that which the writers had better never have written." . . . The reader's pleasure is increased, but the opinion he is thus led to form of these authors is necessarily false: the more so that, in his enthusiasm as an explorer, Lamb, whose eloquence is very persuasive, goes far in his praises: "Heywood is a sort of prose Shakespeare,"' and so forth.

"Lamb had better moments. 'After all,' he says, 'Beaumont and Fletcher were but an inferior sort of Shakespeares and Sidneys.' After extracting from Ford the love-scenes between a brother and a sister, and the murder of the sister by the brother, Lamb does not give the passage in which the brother enters with the heart of the sister on the point of his sword, and stabs her husband. Omitting these passages, Lamb gravely quotes Sir Thomas Browne's rebuke of 'such authors as have chosen to relate prodigious and nameless sins.'"

"CINEMATOGRAPH PICTURES." The law of copyright affecting the same. By William Jago, F.C.S., Barrister-at-Law. Price 6d. Address: The Publisher, "The Era," 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

"What Ripping Skates they Provide!"

is the kind of remark you will often hear at your rink if you supply

"BRAMPTON" ROLLER SKATES

for the use of your patrons.

Write for particulars of these—the finest Rink Skates ever made—and also for our low prices on Winslow, Union, and Phillips. Largest Stocks; Promptest Deliveries.

BROWN BROTHERS, LD.,
Great Eastern Street, E.C. Deansgate, Manchester.

THE SHOWMAN WORLD

FAIRS, FEASTS, AND WAKES IN ENGLAND, SCOTLAND, AND WALES FOR JUNE.

ENGLAND.

1. Kirkburton (2,976)
1. Rawtenstall (31,652)
1. Rugeley (4,447)
2. Tiverton (10,400)
5. Normanton (12,353)
7. Southrapps (1,800)
9. Prescot (7,500)
10. Bicester (3,023)
11. Cranbrooke (3,949)
11. Haverhill (4,864)
13. Tetney (800)
13. Thorne (Yorks.) (3,708)
15. Lambert Castle
16. Kidderminster (24,700)
17. Taunton (21,078)
18. Astwith (74)
18. Dore and Totley (2,217)
18. Falmouth (11,779)
18. Hardstaff (190)
18. Mexboro' (10,417)
18. Staveley (11,420)
18. Abingdon (6,500)
20. Chipping Campden (1,700)
20. Coleford (2,541)
20. Maidstone (83,500)
20. Newcastle-on-Tyne (264,511)
21. Cinderford (3,112)
21. Southampton (104,911)
22. Newport Pagnell (4,000)
22. Selby (7,780)
22. Shipston-on-Stour (1,700)
22. Wadebridge (2,300)
24. Andover (6,500)
24. Bromsgrove (8,416)
24. Cambridge (38,939)
24. St. Just (6,000)
24. Willersey (356)
25. Brampton (112)
25. Bridgwater (15,200)
25. Burslem (38,766)
25. Coal Aston (1,000)
25. Duckmanton (525)
25. Dronfield (3,809)
25. Elmton (675)
25. Penistone (3,071)
25. Tibshelf (3,000)
25. Unston (1,810)
25. Winster (844)
25. Yeovil (9,838)
27. Feckenham (4.587)
27. Halifax (104,938)
27. Pershore (3,970)
28. Bolton by Bowland (600)
28. Folkestone (12,093)
28. Inkberrow (1,631)
28. Saltash (2,357)
29. Belper (10,934)
29. Camborne (14,726)
29. Fareham (8,246)
29. Reedham (1,200)
30. Dereham (5,545)

SCOTLAND.

4. Hawick (15,000)
4. Lanark (6,440)
6. Saltcoats (4,237)
14. Alyth (3,000)
14. Largs (3,550)
17. Selkirk (5,701)
21. Peebles (3,093)
24. Renfrew (10,000)
29. Fraserburgh (8,998)

WALES.

2. Caerphilly (15,835)
3. Carmarthen (9,935)
9. Llandovery (1,869)
11. Brynmawr (6,534)
14. Ferndale (10,300)
17. Llangefeloch
17. Usk (1,476)
25. Lydney (4,200)
30. Ton-y-Pandy (6,027)

Guild Memorial Service.

All things considered, the showmen's Memorial Service for the late King must be numbered amongst the remarkable events of a great historic day. In accordance with the expressed wish of King George, the Guild Memorial Service was timed to begin at the same moment as the Royal Funeral Service at St. George's Chapel, Windsor Castle. It was at Birmingham Fair that the showmen's service was held. P. Collins' Royal English Circus made a most appropriate temporary chapel, the Guild Chaplain, the Rev. T Horne, taking his place in the centre of the ring, the congregation filling quite half the circumference of the tent.

The form of service used was the one issued by the Archbishops for the solemn occasion, and largely based upon the beautiful funeral liturgy of the National Church. Over 400 showpeople from the shows, roundabouts, variety amusements, and stalls gathered for the fair were present, the service being restricted to those immediately concerned with the varied enterprises of the fairground.

The Representatives of Showland.

P. Collins (president of the Showmen's Guild of Great Britain), J. Collins (vice-president), Joe Caddick, and S. Mercer, S. Jeffrey, Wm. Chaplain, J. Caddick, jun., T. Wortley, S. Braham, J. Wright, and other members of the executive committee were present. Amongst the prominent members of the Guild were seen—H. Stephenson, R. Yelding, H. Austin, Mr. and Mrs. Crockett, R. Scott, S. Braham, jun., H. Cullis, T. Bew, H. Powell, S. Bolesworth, H. Taylor, and R. Stephenson.

The Guild Chaplain's Tribute.

After the recital of the appointed lesson, 1 Cor. xv., 20, to the end of the chapter, the Rev. T. Horne referred to the sterling qualities of the dead monarch. Measured by time his was a short reign, but estimated by the many and beneficent deeds he did it was a great reign. Edward the Peacemaker would go down to posterity with this glorious eulogium, "He sought peace and ensured it." "Blessed are the peacemakers." He (the Chaplain) reminded his hearers of the essential characteristic of the late King—his intense humanness. This, above all other qualities, endeared him to his people. His love of the things made for joy and brightness in life. His amusements—his people's amusements. He enjoyed the comradeship of the fair with the lowliest of his subjects. There were showmen present at that service who remembered the late King's general appreciation and patronage of their work as caterers of amusement for the common people, though always a King amongst them. He delighted to show that he was a man in all the mutual enjoyments and pleasures of life.

Showland and the Royal Grief.

The Chaplain, proceeding with his address, drew a picture of the solemn pageant of grief he had seen in London in the early days of that sad week. The carrying of the dead King's body from Buckingham Palace to lie in state in great Westminster Hall was an awe-inspiring pageant. To his mind, the most touching sight of all in that solemn procession was the widowed Queen sorrowing for her dead. It was that sight that broke the tense silence of the crowd. The silent homage for their loved King as his body, covered with the insignia of Kingship, passed by was broken by the sympathetic weeping of tender-hearted women and the sobs of strong men at that figure of woe—the widow sorrowing for her dead. Here, indeed, was the triumph of that fellowship with his people; the triumph of that humanness that was, above all else, the power of the dead King.

In the service that now linked the showmen of the United Kingdom with the rest of the national life, there were prayers for the bereaved Queen-Mother and all the Royal Family in the dark hour of sorrow. They would also join in prayer for the son of so worthy a sire, called upon to fulfil the duties of the throne of Great Britain.

Showpeople as a class are intensely loyal to the Throne. Their Most Gracious Majesties King George and Queen Mary will ever find showpeople ready to render homage and obedience. It was for that reason that he (the showmen's Chaplain) was holding that day in a circus and on a fairground a service that was the heartfelt and spontaneous expression of the travelling showmen's grief for their dear friend and patron, King Edward VII. A service also of sympathy with the sorrowing Queen-Mother and the Royal Family, and with that a service of loyalty to the Throne and the King and Queen called to that high estate. It was for that reason that he (the Chaplain) would ask them, at the end of the service and after the circus band had rendered the "Dead March," to join in singing the National Anthem as a fitting tribute to the King beginning his reign.

The service was marked throughout with the utmost reverence and devotion. The responses of the congregation were heartfelt, and the Guild Chaplain's address most impressive.

The playing of the "Dead March in Saul" by the circus band was a notable and worthy part of the service. This was followed by the Benediction, and the whole congregation, led by the band, joined in the National Anthem.

Showmen's Sympathy.

Mr. Michael J. Rooney, the popular advance agent, who wrote a sympathetic letter of condolence to His Majesty King George V. on behalf of the theatrical and circus agents touring Ireland, has received the following reply:—

"Dublin Castle.

"Sir,—I am directed by the Lord-Lieutenant to inform you that the resolution adopted by the theatrical, circus, and showmen's agents touring Ireland has been laid before His Majesty King George V., who has commanded His Excellency the Earl of Aberdeen to thank them for their message of sincere sympathy and condolence on the lamented death of His Most Gracious Majesty King Edward VII.

"(Signed) J. B. DoughERTY.

"Michael J. Rooney, 1, Corn Exchange-place, Dublin."

Fossett's Circus at Penzance.

In connection with the visit of this famous circus to Penzance last week, the hon. local chaplain to the Showmen's Guild, the Rev. C. F. Rogers, vicar of St. Mary's, held a memorial service for the late King. It took place in the circus arena on the afternoon of Friday, May 20, the day of the Royal funeral. The same service was used as in all the churches throughout the kingdom.

Birmingham's New Fairground.

We have already referred to the great change of opinion in Birmingham official quarters with regard to the maintenance of the people's fairs. In the year 1872 the Birmingham Corporation determined to stop the fairs. This was done not by popular consent, but against the wishes of the people. The resolution of the Borough Council to refuse to let stands on their accustomed fairground spaces was deemed sufficient law to justify the practical abolition of the fair. It was at this point that private enterprise stepped in and secured the continuance of the fair for the people. Messrs. P. and J. Collins carried on the ancient fairs on private land. This excellent enterprise secured two things, the fairs were saved for the people and for the showmen, and time was given for public opinion to impress itself on the official mind, with this entirely satisfactory result: the Corporation now recognises its duty to the people, and provides a suitable fairground. The new fairground is situated at Aston, a thriving and populous suburb of Birmingham, and wisely and well the Corporation have leased the ground to P. Collins, who, together with his brother, J. Collins, has managed as well as maintained the Birmingham fair for over thirty years past.

Birmingham Whitsun Fair.

The principal shows and machines were provided by Messrs. P. and J. Collins, and included P. Collins's Royal English Circus, Mrs. Flora Collins's Grand Picture Palace, the Wonderland show, P. Collins's motor-cars, and the Teddy Bear roundabout, John Collins's Brooklands Motor Track, the four-abreast galloping horses, and the steam yachts, P. Collins's haunted castle, Mrs. Davies's switchback and the twin ships in the air, Mr. Hayes' swings and overboats, juvenile roundabouts by Messrs. S. Mercer, W. Chaplain, and J. Wright, shooting concerns by Messrs. Humphries, Parkin, and Wright, sideshows and ground booths by Messrs. Sidney Braham, T. Wortley, H. Cullis, and others, photo studio by J. Caddick and Son, avenues of throwing games, pannum, and toy stalls by Messrs. Wright, Chaplain, Mercer, Cordwell, Parkin, Humphries, and other well-known caterers on the great Midland circuit.

Treherbert Fair.

The great Rhondda Valley Fair, hitherto held at Treorchy, was this year held at Treherbert. The change of venue was on account of Mr. John Studt being unable to secure a suitable fairground at Treorchy itself. Treherbert is but a few miles higher up the same valley, and there is easy access by train and by tramway from the neighbouring colliery towns. So great has been the industrial development in the Rhondda that from Pontypridd to Treherbert the towns and villages are linked together, and form one continuous hive of human life. The new tramway service from Pontypridd to the top of the Rhondda Valley makes it possible for the people to attend the fairs, wherever they may be placed.

The Shows and Amusements at the Fair.

The lessee's grand picture show, the Palace of Light, and Wadbrook and Scard's electric Bioscope and theatre of varieties were the chief show attractions at the fair. Davies's model of a coal pit at work was an interesting sideshow; Haydn's Second Sight Temple another capital show. Sol Reader's miniature jungle, Scarrott's school of boxers, H. Gess with similar concern, and a number of small novelty booths were on exhibition. J. Fossett and J. W. Turner provided photo saloons; the shooting ranges were by J. Fossett, H. Whayman, J. North, E. Clarke, and others; throwing games, houpla circles, and cokernut shies by North and Son, Kinder, Winoper, Chapman, Chadwick, Phillips, Jones, J. Whayman, E. Clarke, R. Anderson, C. Gaze, A. Coleby, H. Wright, T. Taylor, Carr Nelson, T. Unwin, and many others.

The Machine Novelties at Treherbert.

The lessee, Mr. John Studt, had his two high-class machines on exhibition, the Gordon-Bennett Motor-car set, and the zoological roundabout; Messrs. H. Studt and Son exhibited their grand motor switchback; Mr. Jervis the helter-skelter tower, and North and Son had swings, and high-fliers.

Risca Fair.

Mr. Jacob Studt, with his up-to-date fairground combination, provided the chief amusements at this Whitsuntide fair. The entertainments included the Colossal Picture Theatre, with splendid range of new films, including the Royal Funeral Procession; the grand motor-car switchback, the galloping horses, and the helter-skelter tower. There were the usual throwing games and stalls by various caterers.

Treorchy Fair.

The Treorchy Fair has found a new home at Treherbert, in a good central position. Mr. John Studt is in attendance with his bioscope, scenic railway, and other novelties. Messrs. R. Dooner and Son, of bioscope fame, are also showing the latest subjects in animated photography. Cokernuts, shooters, tower, swings, rings, and hoop-las complete the list.

White City, Old Trafford.

This beautiful amusement park is an excellent retreat, which large numbers of people have found out this week. The new arrangements for witnessing the firework displays on Wednesday and Saturday evenings meet with much approval. The musical part of the entertainment includes some of the best bands, and at present the band of H.M. Green Howards (2nd Yorkshires) provides acceptable programmes during the afternoons and evenings. All day long the scenic railway, water chute, figure eight railway, old mille, fun factory, dragon slide, &c., are in full work. The ballroom and the large roller skating pavilion also have their patrons in good numbers.

Showmen's Letter-box.

Letters await Messrs. J. W. Chipperfield and W. Biddall at The Era Office.

A Copy of "The Era" will be forwarded to any address in the United Kingdom for six stamps. The Era is posted on Saturday in time to reach London Subscribers by the first Town Delivery, and Country Subscribers should receive their Papers by the first London Post. Address, The Publisher, 5, Tavistock-street, W.C.

ANNUAL GUILD MEETING IN WALES.

The first provincial circuit in showland to hold an annual meeting of the Showmen's Guild was gallant little Wales. Since Wales led the way, Scotland and Cornwall followed suit, until to-day there is no part of the United Kingdom, no circuit of fairs, East, West, North, or South, without its annual gathering of Guild members.

For many years Treorchey has been the fair selected for the annual meeting in Wales. The impossibility of obtaining a site for the fair at Treorchy this year made it necessary to hold the gathering at Treherbert. The meeting took place on Sunday last, May 22, in John Studt's cinematograph pavilion. The proprietor occupied the chair, and on the platform and in the auditorium were the following prominent showmen on the Welsh circuit: Messrs. H. Studt and Son, Wadbrook and Scard, John Fossett, J. North and Sons, Prof. Haydn, Robt. Anderson, Whayman Brothers, W. Kinder, J. W. Turner, C. Gage, P. Phillips, H. Wright, Clarke Brothers, T. Taylor, S. Reader, T. Unwin, W. Kitson, H. Scard, jun., Carr Brothers, G. Chadwick, A. Coleby, Davies, Tuson, Lee, Jeffries, and John Scarrott. There was also a large attendance of stallholders and employees of the shows, &c., at the fair.

The Propaganda Work of the Guild.

Mr. John Studt briefly referred to the fact that for many years now the Welsh members of the Guild had met in the Rhondda Valley, and had done their best to support the good work of the Trade Protection Society. Their old and tried friend and leader, the organising chaplain, was again with them, and no doubt he had much to tell them of the work done by the Guild to safeguard the interests of the whole body of amusement caterers. Wales had always tried to do its full share in finding the money for that important and necessary work. He therefore asked, with the greatest possible pleasure, the Guild Chaplain to address the meeting.

The Chaplain on the Recent Work of the Guild.

First of all (he said) he had to tell the Welsh showmen what the Guild committee had done to express the mind of showland in the national sorrow at the loss of King Edward VII. On the Sunday following the death of the good King, the showmen held a meeting at Leicester Fair, and a resolution of sympathy with the bereaved Queen and the Royal Family was passed. Further he (the Chaplain) was asked to send a suitable telegram of condolence to the grief-stricken Royal family. The Guild Chaplain read to the meeting the words of the resolution and the telegram of condolence, with the King's most gracious and touching reply (as already given in these columns). The speaker also referred to the "In Memoriam" cross sent to Windsor Castle by the Guild in the name of the showmen of the United Kingdom, and read to the meeting the inscription upon it.

Parliamentary Trade Defence.

Turning from the more immediate work in which showmen as an organised body had shown their identity in all things good and loyal with the life of the nation to the work that now for twelve years had engrossed the greater part of their time—the work that had drained their funds—he referred to the always costly work of Parliamentary Trade Defence. He announced with the greatest possible satisfaction that again the Guild had been successful.

Two corporations only this year had ventured to put clauses in their Private Bills before Parliament to penalise and to injure the show business—Middleton, in Lancashire, and Handsworth, in the Midlands. Briefly stated, Middleton wanted a cinematograph Act of its own, with powers greatly in excess of the Cinematograph Act of 1909. The Guild's executive officers were speedily successful in convincing the Corporation of Middleton that such restrictions would be met by the determined opposition of showmen, and the Corporation were wise enough to withdraw that part of their Bill. The local authorities at Handsworth wanted to secure powers to prevent show business on private land, and to impose all the bad proposals of the Movable Dwellings Bill. This was a most flagrant attempt to restrict show business, when it was remembered how frequently Parliament in recent sessions has refused such powers. The Guild officials and the local showmen did everything in their power to persuade the Corporation of Handsworth to drop the penal clauses out of the Bill. It was not until the last moment that better counsels prevailed, and the clauses were expunged from the measure. He was confident that it was only by their persistent determination to fight Handsworth at every stage of the possible struggle that victory had been achieved. Handsworth repented in time, but its repentance was very slow, and in the meantime the Guild had been subjected to considerable expense.

The Fight to Protect the People's Fairs.

Just before Christmas three fairs in the London district were threatened with abolition—Hounslow, Isleworth, and Heston Green. The Society had been the means of saving these fairs for the people. The Guild not only petitioned against abolition, but it went down to the threatened towns and roused the people to defend their own interests. For four years now they had been fighting to retain Mitcham Fair for the people. He was confident that the big fight the Guild had waged over Mitcham had been the means of saving other fairs. Local authorities knew that the Showmen's Guild would defend fairs, and that the opposition of the showmen would be seconded by the show-loving public.

The Past Work of the Guild.

The Guild had successfully dealt with over sixty corporations attempting to abolish fairs. He asked his hearers to imagine what would be the state of their trade and business in the present day if these public bodies had been successful in their mistaken policy. If the sixty corporations had been successful hundreds of other corporations would have tried for the same powers, and the show business would have been killed and the people robbed of their fairs and holidays. It was for those reasons that he came amongst his Welsh friends year by year and asked them to subscribe liberally to the Guild funds. Wales had always given the other parts of the United Kingdom a good lead. He confidently depended upon the Welsh showmen to maintain their honourable record.

Mr. Henry Studt on Guild Work.

Mr. H. Studt, vice-president, in moving a vote of thanks to the Rev. T. Horne for his address, expressed the gratification he felt that the showmen of the Empire had come forward in the time of national sorrow at the loss of a great and good King and had shown their union with the rest of the people. It was a great honour to receive, as their leaders had done, the thanks and acknowledgments of the King and the Royal Family for the showmen's loyal expressions of sympathy and condolence. He, personally, was extremely glad to have his anxiety on these matters relieved by the knowledge that as a body, through their Guild or Society, everything had been done, and so well done, by their chaplain and others to voice their sympathy and their sorrow in the time of national loss and bereavement. He was glad to hear the words of the resolution of condolence and loyalty, the words of true sympathy in the telegram sent to the King and Royal Family, and to know that a beautiful floral tribute with a most appropriate inscription had been sent to Windsor Castle in the name of the show-people. All this had been done, and well done. He moved, therefore, a hearty vote of thanks to their friend the Rev. T. Horne, Guild Chaplain, for his able address and for the good work he had at heart.

The motion was seconded and carried with acclamation.

The chairman made a strong appeal for funds, and headed the subscription list with a second donation of two guineas; Mr. John Studt, £2 2s.; Messrs. Wadbrook and Scard, £2 2s.; Messrs. H. Studt and Son, £1 1s.; Mr. John North, £1 1s.; Mr. John Fossett, 10s. 6d.; Mr. James Whayman, 10s. 6d.; Mr. Henry Whayman, 10s. 6d.; Mr. Gilbert Chadwick, 10s. 6d.; Mr. D. Gorman, 10s. 6d.; Mr. E. Clarke, 10s. 6d.; Mr. R. Anderson, 10s. 6d.; Mr. J. Scarrott, 10s. 6d.; Mr. J. Kinder, 10s. 6d.; Mr. J. Davies, 10s. 6d.; Mr. S. Reader, 10s. 6d.; Mr. W. Kitson, 10s.; Mr. J. Haydn, 5s.; Mr. J. Lee, 5s.; Mr. W. North, 5s.; Mr. C. Gage, 5s.; Mr. J. W. Turner, 5s.; Mr. H. Wright, 5s.; Mr. Tueson, 5s.; Mr. L. Clarke, 5s.; Mr. Jeffries, 5s.; Mr. A. Coleby, 5s.; Mr. P. Phillips, 5s.; Mr. T. Taylor, 5s.; Mr. Carr, 5s.; and Mr. T. Unwin, 2s. 6d.

The Guild Service.

The first service of the Showmen's Guild at Treherbert was a most gratifying success, the Vicar of Treherbert and the senior curate assisting the Guild Chaplain. The united church choirs led the singing, and the Rev. T. Horne was the preacher. John Studt's show was well filled by showpeople and the general public.

SHOWPEOPLE'S MEMORIAL SERVICE.

The showpeople engaged on the fairground in Lichfield-road, Birmingham, paid a striking tribute to the memory of the late King Edward VII. on the day of the Royal funeral. To the number of about 400 they assembled barehaded around the sawdust-strewn arena of a great circus tent on the ground to offer up prayers for the dead King. They included the proprietor of the fair and president of the Showmen's Guild (Mr. Pat Collins), Mr. John Collins, Mr. J. Caddick, Mr. E. Bower, Mr. G. Braham, Messrs. Scott, Messrs. Yelding, the Stephenson family, Mr. and Mrs. Crockett, Mr. and Mrs. Austin, Mr. T. Wortley, Mr. W. Chaplain, Mr. S. Jeffery, Mr. T. Bew, Mr. R Davies, and stallholders, showmen, and employees of every description. A profound silence lay over the fairground whilst the service was in progress, all manner of work being suspended, and the ground closed to the general public. It was a touching scene to witness these people, whose ranks include some of the humblest of His Majesty's subjects, pay their last token of respect to a monarch who was beloved by all. Their grief was no less sincerely shown than by the congregations who that day assembled at the leading cathedrals and churches.

The service was conducted by the Rev. T. Horne, senior Chaplain of the Showmen's Guild. Although simple, it was of a most impressive character, and the tears which rolled frequently down the cheeks of many men and women in the congregation showed that his words went straight to their hearts. Form three of the special series of memorial services for churches and chapels in England and Wales was used, and the clergyman recited a chapter from the Bible on the subject of Christ's death and resurrection. This was followed by a short address, in the course of which he made a touching reference to the recent bereavement which the showpeople sustained by the death of John Humphries, a respected member of their company. The grief of the nation, he said, at the death of King Edward VII., was quite as deep as that which the showpeople had suffered. The late King was a man who was fit to mix amongst the lowliest of the low as well as the highest in the land; he was a friend of the travelling showmen as well as of Kings and Queens. His death was a severe blow to all their hearts, and they hoped that such another man would take his place.

The congregation stood with bowed heads whilst the band attached to the circus, under the leadership of Mr. Hirst, played the "Dead March" in Saul, after which all joined in singing the National Anthem. At the close of the service the Rev. T. Horne remarked that in all the world he was sure there had not been a service so real, so touching, and yet so simple and near to the heart of God as that which they had held. It was a melancholy reflection that the call of God must be obeyed, alike by the highest and the lowest.

Fun in Penzance.

Corpus Christi, the largest fair in Cornwall, opened on Wednesday evening at the Recreation Ground, Penzance. There was a large number of people present, and the fair promises to be most successful. Thursday, Friday, and Saturday are considered the main days of the fair.

An enormous crowd gathered at New Brighton Tower on Saturday last, May 21, the pièce de résistance on the day's programme being the twelfth annual brass band contest, for which sixteen of the champion bands of the North had entered. Prizes to the value of £155 were offered, and the awards were as follows: First prize, the Tower Challenge Cup, value 52 guineas, and £30 in cash, was won by the Goodshaw Band; second prize, Perfection Soap Works; third, Foden's Motor Wagon Works; fourth, Irwell Springs; fifth, Black Dyke Mills; sixth, Hebden Bridge; and seventh, Nelson Old.

Messrs. Bostock and Wombwell's menagerie visited Spennymoor on Tuesday, and was largely attended by the inhabitants, who appreciated the hearty amusement which the efforts of the performers provided them.

Elsecar Feast commenced on May 23, and was held on the two successive days. The attractions this year were numerous, and included Messrs. W. Marshall and Sons' gondolas, F. Harness's galloping ostriches, and Gledstone's helter-skelter. Messrs. Proctor and Farrar's cinematograph shows were up-to-date with their pictures, and received hearty support. There were the usual rifle ranges, coker shies, dolly stalls, &c.

Messrs. Sedgwick's well-known menagerie is on a Welsh tour with a fine selection of wild beasts, birds, reptiles, &c.

THE
LAW OF COPYRIGHT
IN KINEMATOGRAPH
PICTURES.

BY WILLIAM JAGO, F.I.C., F.O.S.
Barrister-at-Law.

Price SIXPENCE.

Published at "THE ERA" Offices,
5, Tavistock Street, Strand, W.C.

FILM GOSSIP.

All Records Broken.

All records in the history of cinematography have been broken by the demand for films depicting King Edward's funeral. This on the authority of the Evening News. The first order received by the Warwick Trading Company came from Johannesburg immediately after His Majesty's death. Orders for Sydney and Melbourne were next; but the demand from New York eclipsed everything. Special messengers eager to take back films arrived from Continental centres on Friday. From all the Colonies—South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, Canada—America, and even Mexico City, the orders have easily broken all records. The pictures were exhibited at practically every music hall and picture palace in the metropolis on Saturday. The views—especially those taken at Windsor, where the Kings are walking slowly behind the coffin through the High-street—are, indeed, remarkable, and before many days are over they will have been seen by millions of people.

A Great Cinematograph Feat.

One hundred and fifty cameras for taking living pictures were in operation on the royal funeral route in London, at Windsor Station, and by special permission in the Grand Quadrangle of Windsor Castle. The cinematograph houses of Paris and Berlin sent special operators to London, and at ten o'clock last Friday night in Paris the bioscopes were showing on the screens the funeral of King Edward VII. To do this the pictures had, by special arrangement with the English and French railways, to be developed and printed on the journey from London and conveyed instantly on arrival at Paris to the theatres. At upwards of 2,000 variety and cinematograph theatres in the United Kingdom living pictures were exhibited on the night of the royal funeral.

The Land of Oz.

Selsig's third edition of the "Oz" series has arrived, and we find our little friend Dorothy and her happy companions successfully combatting circumstances in the Mystic City of the Emerald Isle, the rebellious army of General Jingar showing myriads of Leith soldiers in glittering array. No time or expense has been spared by the Selig Polyscope of Chicago to make the Land of Oz one of the most interesting and entertaining of all fairy stories in film pictures. The next release on this great subject will be John Dough and the Cherub, the Ginger-bread Man.

The Unmailed Letter.

Hiram Harris is the owner of a quarter section down in central Indiana, and, being a prosperous farmer, has sent his son to the city to receive a business education. Hiram makes up his mind to take a trip to the city to see how Harry is getting on. The Hotel Astor, being so thoroughly well known to even the country folk, is the hostelry Hiram decided to patronise. His arrival and the adventures which befall him are ludicrous in the extreme. The splendour of the office with its liveried bell boys and porters, the bustle of arriving and departing guests, bewilders the simple farmer on his entrance. His mistakes are numerous and varied, and convulse the guests with merriment. Harry is astounded when he receives a letter from his father acquainting him that he has been locked up. Calling a taxicab, he rushes to the rescue. Hiram's case is dismissed when it comes before the magistrate, and he departs with every evidence of delight. Notwithstanding the earnest entreaties of his son to prolong his visit, Hiram hastens to the Grand Central depot and boards the first train for Hayville. It is night at Hayville, and out on the farm "Sairy" is sitting alone grieving over the absent one. Hiram approaches, and, being doubtful of his welcome, looks into the keyhole with fear and trembling. A glance at the unmailed letter which he carries as a proof of his innocence finally encourages him, and he throws his hat through the door. "Sairy" recognises the ancient article of headgear, and receives her truant husband with open arms. Seated comfortably at his own fireside he recounts his adventures.

Sunday Picture Shows.

Mr. Cecil Chapman, at Tower Bridge, gave a considered judgment in a summons taken out by the London County Council against the Bermondsey Bioscope Company (Limited), 48, Mark-lane, for opening the London Bridge Picture Palace and Cinematograph Theatre, 116 and 118, Borough High-street, on Sunday, Feb. 27, in contravention of the licence granted by them. Mr. Cecil Chapman, in giving his decision, said: The simple but important question raised in this case is whether the Country Council has acted ultra vires under the Cinematograph Act, 1909, by making it a condition of the licence granted by them for the exhibition of pictures by means of a cinematograph, for the purposes of which inflammable films are used, that "the premises be not opened under the licence on Sundays, Good Fridays, and Christmas Day." The authority for making this condition is derived from the Cinematograph Act only. That Act is entitled "An Act to make better provision for securing safety at cinematograph and other exhibitions," and the safety referred to is shown by Section 1 to be safety from fire, because it says: "An exhibition of pictures or other optical effects by means of a cinematograph, for the purposes of which inflammable films are used." It follows, therefore, that the Act does not deal with any cinematograph exhibition for the purposes of which inflammable films are not used. By Section 2 a County Council may grant licences to such persons as they think fit to use the premises for what may be described as an exhibition to which is attached some danger of fire on such terms and conditions and under such restrictions as the Council may determine, subject to regulations of the Secretary of State. The regulations of the Secretary of State are made in pursuance of the power vested in the Home Secretary by the Act, and deal with nothing whatever except the safety of the public in some way or other.

"I Think They Are Mistaken."

It is quite obvious that in these regulations nothing is contemplated in the way of conditions and restrictions except such as might affect the safety of the public. The London County Council have assumed that, having been constituted the licensing authority under the statute, they have been invested with general powers of regulation, as if they were licensing a music hall. I think they are mistaken, because their licensing is controlled and restricted by the purposes of the Act described in its title and defined by Section 1. As Lord Lindley said, it has for many years been established that the title of an Act is part of the Act, and must be read in conjunction with every section of it. However desirable a restriction may be in itself with which a licence is granted, it cannot be allowed to go beyond the purposes of the Act by which it is created, because by so doing it would interfere with a common right of all His Majesty's subjects without direct legislative authority. In this case the claim is obviously anomalous, because it cannot be made for similar exhibitions where inflammable films are not used, and I am unable to find any legal justification for it. The summons, therefore, will be dismissed.

National Electric Theatres.

The first ordinary general (statutory) meeting of the members of the National Electric Theatres, Limited, was held on Monday last at the offices, 20, Bedford-street, Strand, W.C. Mr. Sydney Boyle Lawrence, who presided, said that very fine theatres were being erected at Halifax, Chatham, Southampton, and Nottingham. The National Electric Theatres, Ltd., now forms a very powerful group. Before September Mr. Lawrence said he hoped at least three theatres would be in active operation, and if past experience is anything to go by, they would all be returning profits at least as large as was promised in the prospectus. At the end of the year he hoped about ten cinematograph theatres would be in active operation.

Living Pictures for the Nation.

The suggestion that cinematograph films of great historic events such as King Edward's funeral should be preserved in a national collection has met with wide support. Mr. J. McIntosh, secretary of the Royal Photographic Society and editor of the Photographic Journal, expressed the opinion that such a collection would prove very useful, as it would enable future generations to see over again in all the living detail such epoch-making achievements as the first great flight, and historical events such as King George's Coronation pageant. There appear to be one or two difficulties in the way, such as, for instance, that of preserving the celluloid films. Photographs printed on platinum paper, which will practically last for ever, are, of course, very different.

A Practicable Suggestion.

"The idea of preserving cinematograph films of historical interest is not only admirable, but entirely practicable," said Mr. W. M. Borradaile, manager of the London Cinematograph Co. "The negatives could be properly sealed, and as only really important pictures need be kept, they would not occupy much room. The industry is only about twenty years old, and we cannot say definitely how long a film remains in good condition. But we are printing now from negatives almost as old as the industry, and they are perfectly satisfactory."

Films for the British Museum.

For many years the National Photographic Record and Survey Association has been collecting negatives and permanent prints of objects of very varied interest, and has placed them in a collection in the British Museum. It has approached many public bodies with varied success, and though its records are only numbered by tens of thousands when they ought to be hundreds of thousands at least, the collection includes many things that will be of the greatest possible value to historians who may have to write of the doings of this and the last century. Any patriotic cinematographer who is willing to give a film representing any historical event to the nation can have it carefully preserved and made available under suitable conditions by the authorities of the British Museum.

Film Fire in a Church.

During a special service, illustrated by cinematograph views, in the church of St. Mary-at-Hill, Love-lane, last Sunday night, the film caught fire and set the operating box alight. The congregation were somewhat alarmed, but the fire was extinguished by buckets of water before the arrival of the fire brigade. Prebendary Carlile is the vicar of the church.

Another Leon Vint Theatre.

Mr. Leon Vint, who has already built a number of picture palaces, will shortly be able to include Llanelly in his circuit. The new palace will be situated in Stepney-street, and as soon as the leases of several buildings expire, operations will be commenced.

Changes at Ealing.

At West Ealing this week the films depicting the funeral procession of King Edward are of absorbing interest, both for those who were able to witness the pageant of the eight Kings and for others who were not so fortunate. Some changes in the management have occurred here since our last notice. Mr. Day, who was in command at the opening of the theatre in September, and who did so much to ensure the good fortune which has attended this venture of the Electric Theatres Co., has taken up an appointment under the same company at the Brussels Exhibition, and is succeeded by Mr. E. H. Bertram.

"Fair Japan."

The experiment of adding some picturesque variety to the cinematograph has proved highly successful at the Marble Arch Electric Palace. The management produced last Thursday afternoon a highly original picture play of "Fair Japan." In this there are a love story and some very sly, humorous hits.

Eden Theatre, Bishop Auckland.

Mr. T. F. McDonald, the pioneer of animated pictures on Tyneside, has added the Eden Theatre, Bishop Auckland, to his other numerous and successful ventures on the North-East Coast, and opened last week to big business. Mr. McDonald, who wins the appreciation of his patrons wherever his standard has been raised, bids fair to capture the public of Bishop Auckland, the result of his keen perception, admirable organisation, and the excellent and up-to-date entertainments which he provides. His intention is to run this his latest venture entirely as a first-class electrical theatre.

The management at the Electric Picture Palace, Canterbury, are this week giving a realistic film of the funeral of King Edward VII. The picture gives all the most thrilling incidents in the great mournful procession, from the most advantageous positions, and those visiting the Picture Palace really gain, after all, a better idea of the magnitude and impressiveness of the scene than many who went all the way to London to see it. The rest of the programme for the week is in keeping with the great all-pervading event.

New Crewe Electric Picture Palace.

The new Electric Picture Palace in Edleston-road, Crewe, built by Messrs. Blakeley and Co., of Liverpool, was opened last Monday afternoon by the Mayor to excellent business. The building accommodates 900, in plush-seated tip-up chairs, and the floor is entirely covered with a patent cork carpet. The colour scheme is two shades of green, and all the fittings are in perfect harmony, even to the programme boys, who wear costumes of white. The proprietors are Messrs. W. B. Broomfield and F. R. H. Meyrick, two well-known local gentlemen, who are to be congratulated in providing a long-felt want to the town. A first-class picture programme was given by a Gaumont latest type machine, together with one of the Allefex sound- and character-producing machines. The films are interspersed with variety turns by E. Cooke, conjurer, with his animals and birds; Cambo, musical monkey, assisted by Nora Castelle; the Toreadors; and Mons. Mobac, ventriloquist.

New Picture Houses at Leicester.

The patrons of picture shows at Leicester are being well provided for, as in addition to the Empire and Empress Picture Palaces three new ones are now in course of erection and will be completed in a short time. The sites are in High-street (one of the main business thoroughfares of the town), Silver-street (another good spot, and quite close to the Royal Opera House), and Belvoir-street (another main thoroughfare), Leicester, will then be possessed of five picture entertainments.

A short season of animated pictures commenced at the New Theatre Royal, Seaham Harbour, on Monday, when there was a crowded audience. The funeral of the late King proved the picture of the evening, and another fine series was the Royal Proclamation in London. Varieties were introduced by Eugene, the girl with the male voice, and J. C. Heffron, a pleasing singer and dancer.

New Theatre at South Shields.

In the presence of a crowded audience, Mr. James Kirkley last Monday afternoon formally opened the new Electric Theatre, in Ocean-road, South Shields. The proceedings were presided over by Ald. R. Readhead. The theatre is one of the many buildings which have been erected in the principal towns in the kingdom by the United Electric Theatres, Ltd. It has been specially designed for displaying animated pictures to the best advantage. The entrances and exits are admirably arranged and the floors are sufficiently sloped to ensure an uninterrupted view of the stage from every seat in the theatre. The theatre is lighted by electricity. Machinery of the latest kind has been installed for manipulating the pictures. There are very careful precautions against film fires, the operating chamber having been made fireproof. The seating arrangements are of an up-to-date character, each patron having his own tip-up chair. The theatre has been constructed by Messrs. W. Townson and Sons, Ltd., Bolton and London, from plans prepared by Mr. J. H. Morton, F.R.I.B.A., of South Shields and Newcastle.

Tunbridge Wells and the Royal Funeral.

Tunbridge Wells has probably had a record in the Bioscope reproductions of the Royal Funeral for a small town. In no fewer than four places—viz., the Opera House, the Great Hall, the Pump Room, and the Electric Theatre—are some four exhibitions of films of the Royal Funeral being given daily, commencing on Saturday last and continuing throughout this week.

Some interesting films exhibited at the Theatre Royal, Tyldesley, include Sherlock Holmes to the Fore, Elinora, and Foolshead Policeman. Teddy Godfrey is a droll comedian, and A. F. Johnson a good raconteur.

New Picture Palace for West Bromwich.

The Electric Picture Palaces (Midland), Ltd., have just completed the erection of a new place of amusement for West Bromwich, which was opened last week, and has already found considerable favour among amusement-goers. The general manager of the company is Mr. H. Stanley Marks, late theatre manager for Pathé Frères, who is also a director of the Sheffield and District Cinematograph Co., and is a man well known and highly esteemed throughout the profession. Although the company has only been in existence a short time, they have already opened a magnificent building at Walsall, and have now five in course of erection. The residential management is in the capable hands of Mr. A. C. Simpson, whose rapid popularity in the town is assured. Though the building has been rapidly erected, it is a solid and handsome place of amusement, with entrances in High-street and Paradise-street. It is beautifully decorated and is capable of holding 1,000 persons. The architects were Messrs. Hecton and Farmer, of Walsall and Birmingham. Since the building has been opened, it has been well patronised, and with the pictures in the hands of Mr. Stanley Marks, there should be no doubt as to the success from an entertainment point of view.

STAGE STAFF GOSSIP.

The Sports Committee are glad to be able to say that Miss Violet Vanbrugh has kindly promised Mr. James Carew to present the prizes at the Theatrical Sports to the successful competitors. The chairman will present a cycle as a prize for the one mile cycling handicap. Miss Ellen Terry and Mr. George Alexander, among others, have promised to attend, and it appears that the Sports will receive a large measure of support this year. The entry forms are now ready, and copies will be sent on application to the honorary secretary, at 29, Wellington-street.

The decision in the case of the proceedings taken by the L.C.C. against the London Bridge Picture Palace has come as a surprise, but it is practically certain that the Council will appeal from the decision, and it is not altogether a disadvantage to have the matter tested. Should the magistrate's decision be upheld in the High Court it is certain the Council will seek legislation to give them full power to regulate Sunday entertainments. The matter is far too important to be allowed to rest in a state of uncertainty. The Imperial Sunday Alliance, the Sunday Lay Movement, and the Sunday Defence Committee have considered the situation at meetings held during this week.

The Heads of Departments Association propose to arrange an outing, as last year, on the river, and the hon. secretary, Mr. Philip Sheridan, Strand Theatre, will be glad to hear from members and friends who wish tickets reserved for them. The tickets will be 10s. 6d. each, inclusive of the journey by rail from Paddington to Bourne End and the trip on the river in the launch, cold lunch, and tea. Last year lunch was provided in the little White Hart Hotel at Henley and tea on board the launch. The outing will take place on Sunday, July 10, or the 17th. Last year the party numbered over fifty, including members and their wives and friends, and the outing was a most enjoyable one.

The staff of the Theatre Royal, Newcastle, had their annual outing on Sunday, under the patronage of Mr. Robert Arthur and Mr. F. T. Lingham. The company travelled by special carriage to Hexham, where beautiful weather conditions enabled the visitors to enjoy to the full the fine scenery and walks. Dinner was provided at the White Hart Hotel, and in the afternoon the company drove to Corbridge, returning to the White Hart for tea. A return was made to Newcastle shortly after 7 o'clock, after a very enjoyable day.

Sunday, June 26, is the date fixed for the annual outing of Mr. Lester Collingwood's Alexandra Theatre staff and friends. The venue is hardly settled, but in all probability the Birmingham party will visit historic Stratford-on-Avon and picturesque Bidford.

In our report of The Love That Women Desire at the Theatre Royal, Sheffield, of May 9, Miss Ada Tilley was included in the cast. Miss Tilley was playing with her own company that week at Ilkeston.

The Empire Theatre Bioscope, aided by the beautiful weather, has again excelled itself in the magnificent moving pictures of the lying in state and funeral processions of his late Majesty. They were obtained from special positions in London and Windsor, those of the latter showing perfect portraits of all the Royal personages.

Mr. Edmond Bosanquet, the well-known violinist and conductor, writes from Davenport, Iowa:—"As we have had the misfortune to lose our late beloved King Edward through taking cold in the first place, I enclose a prescription of my own which will prevent a cold developing into pneumonia if taken in time. This remedy has saved me on many occasions from a serious illness, and I am sending this to you for the benefit of my brother and sister artists and others, so you are at liberty to publish this for the good of humanity."

The following is Mr. Bosanquet's prescription:—For external use only—Oil of eucalyptus, 2 drachms; terebene, 2 drachms; powdered camphor, 2 drachms; menthol, ½ drachm; alcohol, 3 ounces. Rub well in the pit of throat, pit of stomach, and back (lungs), also rub some on hands (palms), and inhale several times. This remedy is also good for rheumatism, sciatica, and all nerve pains.

PROGRESS OF THE PICTURE SHOW

A CHAT WITH MR. F. R. GRIFFITHS.

The centre of the cinematograph industry is Cecil-court, Charing Cross, otherwise known as "Flicker-alley," and here in state dwells the "Cinematograph King." That proud distinction was long since conferred by the unanimous voice of the trade upon Mr. F. R. Griffiths, the managing-director of the New Bioscope Trading Company, Ltd., and proprietor of the People's Picture Palaces, who, despite increasing competition, holds the title against all comers. We found him in his royal sanctum.

"Yes," said the monarch of the moving picture, stifling the telephone with one hand and waving back a host of callers with the other, "you are quite right in your surmise. We have some important developments on hand. But all I can reveal at present is that negotiations for a wide-spread amalgamation of picture palaces is on foot. As you are aware, I have under control a number of establishments devoted to plays and pictures both in London and the provinces, but they are to be supplemented by numerous houses all over the country already in existence, while sites have been secured for the erection of new buildings. Further details, however, must be reserved until contracts are signed and sealed."

One of the earliest operators in the United Kingdom, Mr. Griffiths is an expert at the art. He was the first to give picture shows combined with dramatic performances on the twice-nightly principle. The innovation was started a little more than five years ago at the Artillery Theatre, Woolwich, and the success then obtained led him to institute similar shows in different parts of the kingdom. Among the various places of amusement he now controls are the West London Theatre, the Holloway Hall, the Grand Theatre, Forest Gate, the Peckham Public Hall, Theatre Royal, Ryde, the Arcadia, Brighton, the Apollonian Hall, Dover, the Co-operative Hall, Sheerness, the Theatre Royal, Darwen, the Empire, Leicester, the Empire, Wigan, and a number of others. These are all to be linked up with other establishments, thus forming a unique aggregation of play and picture houses.

[Photo by John Avery.

MR. FRED GRIFFITHS.

Pioneer of the colony of cinematographists in Cecil-court, Mr. Griffiths is proud to recall that he started in one small room, and has so developed his business that he now occupies three sets of premises. He has an affectionate regard for the office, which he looks upon as a mascot, and vows he will never leave. Within its walls are stocked a complete library of films to the value of some £10,000. An enormous hiring business—probably the largest in the world—is carried on, and the firm can undertake to supply anything from a roll-ticket to a complete theatre. An extensive export trade is also done, supplies being sent to China, Africa, and Mexico, among other remote portions of the earth. It is quite a sight on Saturday and Sunday and Monday in the court to see the busy preparations for despatching the goods, a special staff being employed for collecting and delivering by rail.

In answer to an inquiry as to how long he had been entertaining the public in this way Mr. Griffiths replied: "Ever since 1896. At that time I was touring Europe with cinematograph entertainments, and eventually went to the great Paris Exposition in 1900. I returned to England when the exhibition closed, and took over the management of the Empire at Hastings, which has since been re-named the Hippodrome. It was after then I started the People's Picture Palace Company, which is entirely my own property, and shortly after the New Bioscope Trading Company, Ltd., in which I hold the chief interest."

As a caterer Mr. Griffiths' prosperity is of an enviable character. "I believe I know what the people want, and I give it to them. Every place I had was originally a 'white elephant,' but I managed to give it a little colour—the colour of gold. How do I do it? Ah! that's a little bit of juggling, but so performed that you can't see how it's done. Everywhere I go I am followed by competitors, and so keen is the competition to secure the house for which I bid that I have frequently to buy the lease outright."

Mr. Griffiths has no faith in the continuous entertainment. "Two or three interesting pictures, then a bright play, and pictures to finish with. That's the sort of programme for the people. Pictures and prize-fighting," continues Mr. Griffiths emphatically, "I certainly cannot reconcile. You may draw big money for the week, but look how it lets the house down! You attract a crowd of undesirables, and you feel the effects for weeks after. The class of people who patronise a picture show and drama do not as a rule appreciate a fight.

The day of the picture-drama, we learn, is dawning. A whole army of inventors are experimenting with the gramophone, in order to combine it with the cinematograph, and as soon as a machine is perfected which will reproduce the tones of the actor in harmony with his movements on the cinematograph its commercial possibilities will be immeasurable. "The cinematograph," explains Mr. Griffiths, "has a decided advantage over the stage, inasmuch as the real scene of events can be reproduced, and a railway accident, a ship at sea, and many other events can be pictured amid the actual surroundings."

The chief delight in which Mr. Griffiths indulges is that of motoring. "That's a splendid car," the writer remarked, gazing admiringly at a superb 50 horse-power Mercédès landaulette which met the eye on emerging from the office. "Is that yours?" "Certainly it is," replies Mr. Griffiths, "and it's the best in the business. I give the best in the business, so why shouldn't I enjoy the best myself? Jump up!" he added, without giving one a chance to confirm so obvious a contention. "We called it the 'Dreadnought' at first, after the celebrated projecting machine which we introduced, but one or two accidents have happened to the car, so we call it the 'Unsurpassable.'" Mr. Griffiths rejoices in the possession of a chauffeur celebrated for his audacity and skill in driving. The writer had an experience of it. "Whew!" he said, with justifiable alarm, as the car skimmed with lightning speed down St. Martin's-lane, escaping a collision with a Vanguard by the merest hairsbreadth. "That was a close shave." "Tut-tut!" retorted the chauffeur contemptuously, "you could have got a fag-paper between!" With such methods applied to his business, can it be wondered at that Mr. Griffiths succeeds.

POINTS FOR PLAYWRIGHTS.

"My first piece of advice," writes "A Manager's Reader" in an article on the above subject in Work and Play, "is one of encouragement. It is: Be not afraid! Your MS. will be read! Many, I know, will not believe this, the sole reason for their incredulity being, perhaps, that their plays have not, so far, been accepted. But running a theatre nowadays is far too expensive and difficult a pastime for managers to incur the risk of turning away a possible success. To avoid such a contingency, most, if not all, employ a reader, a person competent in their opinion to read every MS. submitted, and to recommend for further inspection any play which seems at all likely to prove a marketable commodity. With an experience that covers some years and two thousand odd MSS., it is my present object to state briefly what appear to me the chief stones of stumbling to the would-be dramatist and to point out certain qualities, mostly not difficult of acquisition, which would favourably impress those called upon to judge his efforts.

"The primary cause of the many failures is no doubt the complexity of the demands made upon a man's faculties by theatrical conditons. To be a good dramatist it seems to be necessary to be a little bit of everything and a very large bit of many things. The dramatist has to be wary, yet spontaneous; broad, yet in a sense narrow; sympathetic, yet remorseless. He has to combine subjective with an objective imagination.

"The first thing for the tyro is to find out whether he really is a born dramatist or not, and the simplest way to do this is to put himself through a frank self-examination.

"First, 'Why do I want to write a play at all? Is it because my thoughts run naturally in that direction? Am I attracted by an innate love for the drama, and do I hanker after dramatic expression, or am I caught by the glare of those enormous rewards which, I am told, fall to the lot of the successful playwright?'

"If he can honestly answer 'I am prone to think in action; I wish to make people live and move and talk; I would rather earn my living in that way than in any other, not on account of the size of the living, but on account of its nature'—then he may fairly suspect playwriting to be his work, and if he will only supplement his natural bent by learning all he can about the objective side of his calling, the limitations of the stage the demands of an audience, the idiosyncrasies—and they are many—of actors, and the hundred and one little concessions and sacrifices that must be made to the medium through which he hopes to present himself—he may work up to success.

"The first condition of success is that a play shall be capable of drawing an audience, of filling stalls, dress circle, pit and gallery with people from different ranks in society and with different standards of education.

"That being so, I should advise the dramatist not to rack his brains too hard to evolve something new in the way of plot. Novelty is sometimes popular, but not always, nor even generally, and it is always very difficult to come by. You may succeed in turning out something quite new once, it will be more difficult to do it twice, and practically impossible three times, and then you will find yourself risking a fall into a condition frequently met with, that of the one-play man.

"Human nature is very conservative and very lazy, and requires strong inducements before it will bestir itself to seek and appreciate a novelty. As much novelty as is necessary will always be found in the individuality of the dramatist himself in the freshness of his own point of view, and that novelty will always be at hand if he writes out of his own heart, and lets us see what he really thinks and feels, rather than what would be expected of him were he the fine fellow he would like the public to think him.

"Human nature is, and always will be, deeply interested in itself. It is therefore in the most ordinary and everyday events rather than in the miraculous and exceptional that attractive plots are to be found. And well it is for the dramatist that this is so. For he will, if his eyes are open find that every day of his existence teems with plots for plays. It is the ability to see, rather than to invent, the good plot that makes the dramatist

"Plots should not be complicated and twisted into sub-plots and counter-plots. A distinguished critic once told me that unless the dramatist could write out a sufficient résumé of his plot on the back of an envelope it was not worth working out. Experience has taught me he was right.

"The first thing a dramatist has to learn is to be dramatic, and that all through his plot, situations, characterisation and dialogue.

"As good a definition of drama as any other is given by the word—'action.' A plot, however strong, is not dramatic until it begins to move until something happens. There was no dramatic situation as far as the public was concerned in the Gunpowder Plot, until they entered the cellar and found the unfortunate Guy—sitting by his barrels waiting to fire the train. Had he succeeded and blown up the Lords, the situation would have become still more dramatic! Strictly speaking, it is at the moment when the action begins that the good dramatist should ring up his curtain, but the practical man makes certain concessions to the habits of playgoers. One of these is coming late to the theatre. So it is a good plan to begin with a little unimportant dialogue, without much bearing on the plot, but the more amusing the better, to pass the time until all are comfortably seated.

"A dramatic plot is a plot that produces dramatic situations. One character has one point of view, another another. So long as they keep quiet, nothing happens, but the moment they let out the situation becomes dramatic "And this situation must take place on the stage, in full view of the audience. This is a positive law.

"Many a time have I had to return a MS. with quite a possible plot, with a note to say that if the whole thing were rewritten and we were shown what we were only told about, it might be acceptable. In the old Greek drama it was the custom to do many things off the stage and come on and talk about them. In Shakespeare's day they did them on the stage and talked about them at the same time Nowadays, things move more quickly, and drama must be drama and nothing else."

The Gallimore Trio return to London on Monday next after a successful provincial tour.

A Copy of "The Era" will be forwarded to any address in the United Kingdom for six stamps.

PLAYS AND AGENTS.

"Dramatists write plays," says Arthur John, in an article in "The Green Book Album," "and managers produce them, but it often takes a third person to sell them, and that person is the play agent who acts as the business representative of the author. As there are brokers in Wall Street in real estate, coffee, cotton, and what not, so there are brokers in plays.

"Probably there are from fifteen to twenty firms in the United States who deal exclusively in the selling of dramatic literature, yet few people outside the theatre and the book world know that such a profession as play brokerage exists, and it is a profession as well as a trade in that it is creative.

"The play-broker must not only have business sense and executive ability to act as the representative of his client in business matters, but he must have, to a degree, a sane, practical, and effective critical judgment; tact to deal with those whose business proclivities are rather irresponsible than otherwise; integrity, an open mind to receive the unknown (who may be the known of to-morrow!); a creative power to aid, when permitted, in the artistic side of playwriting; and the constructive power of fitting his supply to his demand, or of finding a supply for the demand that exists.

"Everybody knows 'The Little Minister,' yet few know that J. M. Barrie at first refused to dramatise his novel because he knew of no actress to create the leading rôle of Babbie. And it was a play agent who told Mr. Barrie, at the Holland House, of Maude Adams, at that time leading woman with John Drew, and who carried him off that night to see Miss Adams act. When Barrie left the theatre he had consented to dramatise his novel, for he had found his Lady Babbie. The whole theatregoing public is under a debt to that play broker, for it was an absolutely creative thing to have conceived and executed the idea.

"There are in America five leading agencies, but of these two are far ahead of the others, and always will represent probably about 85 per cent. of the plays that are handled through agencies. The best known agent is a woman who, some eighteen years ago, conceived the idea of establishing a business that would represent the interests of dramatic authors, not only in the placing of their work, but in their proper protection, in the construction of contracts and in the collection of royalties. This agent has for many years represented the best known playwrights of France, England, and America, and has been instrumental in discovering a great number of now famous playwrights.

"The firm that takes second place to hers has only been established about five years, but of late has been making rapid strides in the representation, particularly of American plays. The other firms have each only one or two, so to speak, fixed clients, and depend for the remainder of their success upon such odd plays as may come to them from here or there.

"The real importance of these brokers in brains in the play world is enormous. Managers and stars in search of a play constantly come to them, and it rests with the play agent to satisfy these demands to the best of his ability. He, therefore, has an opportunity of submitting the wares of his clients to far better advantage than they can individually, for his hand is on the managerial pulse. He can often dispose of a drama in a quarter where the author would think it least likely to be sold. With this advantage of being in constant touch with the demand and supply of plays, the agent is enabled very often, in the case of a young author, absolutely to establish him.

"It was an agent who was responsible for the writing of The Little Minister. It was an agent, by his belief in Mr. Eugene Walters, and his financial backing during a period when Mr. Walters was stranded, who gave this young author the time and the encouragement to write Paid in Full. It was an agent, after three years' constant submission of his plays, who finally succeeded in landing Mr. W. Somerset Maugham as the Clyde Fitch of Great Britain, with four plays running simultaneously in London and two in America.

"It was an agent who revolutionised the business standards regarding the importation of French plays into America. It was not so many years ago that the average French author sold outright, for a few hundred or a few thousand dollars, the American rights of his play; but through the agent who to-day represents 95 per cent. of the French plays in America, no French author sells his play outright, but is assured of a generous and permanent royalty during such time as his play may be represented.

"Mr. Henri Bernstein, who fifteen years ago—had he been writing plays then—would have been glad to take 5,000 francs for the American rights of The Thief, will from its American run receive about 275,000 francs.

"It was an agent who broke away from long established precedent by demanding that in her clients' contracts there should be a stipulation that if the manager did not yearly present the play for at least fifty, and, in most cases, seventy-five performances, the managerial rights terminated and reverted to the author, to be disposed of as might seem best to him. Prior to the inclusion of this condition, it had been customary for the manager, on signing the contract, to assume the right to present a play in perpetuity so long as he paid his royalties. This made possible a dog-in-the-manger policy of keeping a manuscript on the shelf after its first season, in the possibility of some day reviving it, and, in the meanwhile, of depriving the author of an income. Nowadays, if the manager does not keep performing the play, it comes back to the author, and the latter has an opportunity of making such an income from it as may be.

"Many a successful dramatic author of to-day owes his first beginning as a playwright to the skill, enthusiasm, and stick-at-itiveness of the agent to whom, as an unknown man, he has entrusted his plays.

"Mr. Clyde Fitch's first plays were placed through the agent who, after sixteen years, still exclusively represents all his dramatic activities

"Mr. Bernard Shaw likewise has had all his plays placed for the United States through this same agent, who, as her first venture into the business, sold Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett's Little Lord Fauntleroy. Booth Tarkington, Eugene Walter, Hubert Henry Davies, Rachel Crothers, Captain Robert Marshall, Cosmo Gordon Lennox, Anthony Hope, William James Hurlbut and Margaret Mayo are others whose first stage-productions were owing to the intermediation of play agents.

"The play broker is a gambler of time rather than money, for the agent is compensated according to the success of his client, the compensation received by the agent being legitimately 10 per cent. of such royalties as the author may receive from his play during its career. Some agents, in the case of a young author, endeavour to secure 20 or 25, or sometimes 50 per cent., but the leading agents keep to the definite policy of an invariable commission of 10 per cent., no matter who the author is or what may be the special conditions governing the representation of his play."

The Home Secretary could not find sufficient grounds to justify him in advising his Majesty to grant a reprieve in the case of Thomas William Jessbope, the fireman, condemned for the murder of a scene-shifter by stabbing him at Camberwell Empire. The execution took place on Wednesday morning.

Cinematograph Bill, 1909. May be obtained at The Era Publishing Offices, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C., post free threepence.

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS.

(Continued from page 10.)

SCARBOROUGH. — Aquarium. — Secretary and Manager, Mr. W. Kitchingman; Assistant-Manager, Mr. H. Bench.—The Enzer Trio, heading the bill here, are highly entertaining; Emma Don and company appear in a vocal scena On the Thames Embankment; Little George Harris is a good child comedian; Gladys Wise is a pleasing Scotch comedienne and dancer; and Lace and Leno are clever wooden shoe performers. Others appearing are Bert Belton, comedian and dancer; Thornbury, lightning artist and entertainer; and Alf. Warner, comedian and instrumentalist.

The New Hippodrome.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Peacock.—Mr. Chalmers Mackey and company are appearing very successfully in Rollicking Rory, with Mr. Mackey in the title-rôle; Mr. Edward Warden as Stephen D'Arcy; Mr. C. M. Julian, Captain Ashleigh; Miss Connie Meadows as Rosie; Mr. J. P. McBride, Desmond Fitzgerald; Mr. Claude Seaton, Sergeant Callagan; and Mrs. Chalmers Mackey, who takes a dual rôle.

The Spa.—Proprietors, Cliff Bridge Co.; Manager, Mr. H. Chambers.—Mr. H. C. Amer's Band has taken up its quarters here for the summer and excellent programmes are submitted three times daily.

A good display of pictures is given in the electric theatre, the chief one being The Funeral of the late King.

SHEERNESS.—Hippodrome.—Lessee, Mr. B. Pareezer; Resident-Manager, Mr. Julian Graham.—Under the new management this house continues to show twice nightly, with good results. A very interesting feature of a fine programme is the weird Vampire Dance, by Amy Broadwood and company; Mons. Le Roy, in a conjuring act introducing the American mail-bag mystery, wins great applause; Mlle. X., in her classical art poses, is high in popularity; warm favourites also are the Two McDougalls, whose business is very funny; and other items on the excellent programme include Maizie Ray, chorus comedienne; Kerr and Beasley, in It's a Walk-over; Sisters Slatter, duettists, dancers, and expert banjoists; Jimmie Grant, Scotch comedian; Dan Scott, quaint comedian; and Daisy Hall, serio and dancer.

SHEFFIELD. — Lyceum Theatre.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont.—The new musical comedy Theodore's Flutter is being performed to good houses by Mr. Mark Moyes' specially organised company, which includes the charming and talented Miss Doris Woodall, Mr. Charles Victor, and Mr. E. C. Hedmondt, the popular operatic singer. There is a well-balanced chorus, and the scenery and dresses are artistic and beautiful.

Theatre Royal.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont; Assistant-Manager, Mr. C. Henfrey-Aldred.—A Royal Divorce obtained cordial reception from a big house on Monday. Miss Violet Ellicott, a graceful and accomplished artist, acted with great skill, and secured the warm sympathy of the audience for the unhappy Josephine; Mr. Frederic Moyes played with sustained power as Napoleon, and his portrait of the "great adventurer" was a most interesting study. The play was mounted with Mr. W. W. Kelly's usual care and artistic display. For last night (Friday) Miss Ellicott's benefit was announced.

Alexandra Theatre. — Managing-Director, Mr. W. D. Forsdike; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. W. Ramsay.—The directorate of this popular people's theatre has reintroduced, for the summer season, the two-houses-nightly system, and good business has been the rule. Mr. J. E. Barnes's company appears in The Drama of Life.

Empire Palace.—The Moss' Empires Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Alan D. Dunbar.—Auguste Van Biene opened to a good audience on Monday in the pleasing little domestic play Van Biene's Baby. The smart illusionist Mr. Oswald Williams, accompanied by Mlle. Le Barte, was enthusiastically cheered; Mr. R. G. Knowles, with quaint patter, caused much laughter; and the programme included Messrs. Heeley and Meeley, American acrobatic funologists; the Brooklyn Quartet; Miss Marjorie Lawrence; Miss Tiny Arnold; the Bioscope, with fine pictures of the Royal Funeral; and Mr. Billy Hobbs, the clever Ethiopian vocalist and dancer.

The Hippodrome.—The Barrasford Co., Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. Frank Poole.—The big novelty this week is the laughable spectacular extravaganza Chantyclair; or, Hi Cockalorium, presented by Messrs. Joe Peterman and Geo. Rickett's burlesque company. Others who appear are Tennyson and Wallace, comedians; the Oakes Duo, in a novel act; Regan and Ryan, two old Sheffield favourites; the Jaunitos Troupe of acrobats; Mr. Tom Finglass, coon vocalist and dancer; Tiny and Mite, clever young performers; and Miss Patty Yole, a pleasing serio-comic vocalist. A fine series of pictures illustrating the funeral of "Edward the Peacemaker" and the lying-in-state of the late King conclude the entertainment.

SHREWSBURY.—Theatre Royal and Hippodrome.—Lessee and Director, Mr. W. Yates Gregory; General-Manager, Mr. Thos. Baugh.—Scottie's smart and entertaining variety combine is here this week on a return visit with the diverting pantomimic absurdity Androcles and the Lion. Scottie as Psyche Aphrodite is clever and amusing; Mr. Cecil Dashwood makes a very smart Titus; Miss Kitty Aden is pleasing and graceful as the Princess; Mr. Rex Allester merits praise as Marcus Superfluous; Mr. Will Warren acts creditably as Tigeolinus; Mr. Will Freda is successful as Claudius; Miss Dolly Frank makes an attractive Portia; Miss Violet Charlton and Miss Daisy Charlton are an entertaining pair; Steve Young as the Terrible Lion worked hard, and merits encomiums; Mr. Charles Hector as Unit acts satisfactorily; Mr. Cecil Bird as Duo ably fulfils the part; and Miss Violet Courtney may be complimented upon the manner in which she fulfils the rôle of Andro Klees. Variety turns of an excellent character are introduced by Scottie; Mr. Rex Allester; the Sisters Charlton, dancers; Freda and Frank, novel entertainers; Will Warren, vocalist; Knoto, contortionist; the Merry Marvels, a troupe of agile and well-trained dancers.

SMETHWICK. — Royal. — Proprietor, Mr. C. Barnard; Manager, Mr. E. Hewitson.—Arrah-na-Pogue is presented by Messrs. Matthew H. Glenville and Fred Osmond's company before large and appreciative audiences. The staging is effective, and the costumes and uniforms are a notable feature of the production. Mr. Matthew H. Glenville (himself an Irishman) has special qualifications for the part of Shaun, in which character he is seen to advantage; Miss Lalla Stanhope finds plenty of scope for effective acting in the name part; Mr. H. C. Gilpin proves himself capable as Michael Feeney; Miss Lydia Audre is responsible for a delightful impersonation of Fanny Power. Other clever members of the company are Messrs. Edward E. Hobart (Beamish McCoul), J. Sutton Pateman (Oiny Farrell), T. Edwards (Andy Regan), Fred G. Kay (the Sergeant), Wilton Reed (Colonel O'Grady), Frank McCellant (Major Coffin), and Lewis Jordan (the Irish Secretary of State). Mr. Ernest Hamilton is amusing as Winterbottom; as is also Miss M. Veriton as Katty Walsh.

SOUTHEND-ON-SEA. — The Hippodrome.—Proprietors, The Southend Hippodrome, Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. Lewis de Burgh.—The entertainers comprise: Horace Golding, famous illusionist, assisted by Mlle. Jeanne Fransioli; Dolly and Madge McCalla, in their novel dancing and singing act; Walter Munroe, Irish comedian; the Borella Bros., in their acrobatic potpourri; Daisy Morrell, comedienne; George S. Melvin, light comedian; and Corwalla and Eddie, comedy acrobats and jugglers.

Empire Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. B. Pareezer; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. Lingham Power; Assistant-Manager, Mr. A. L. Pareezer.—Mr. Harry Tilbury and company are giving a praiseworthy portrayal of His Dishonoured Wife, which is well mounted. In Mr. A. George Fry is found an accomplished exponent of Frank Lindon; Mr. Fred Owen impersonates Neil Locksley with marked ability; Mr. Alex. Alexander as Lord Devant gives a strong exposition of the villain; and has a good accomplice in Mr. Frank Orchard as Tom Redman; Mr. Harry Tilbury, the author, in the humorous part of Micky Doolan, gives a smart and talented portrayal. Miss Belle Tilbury is seen to great advantage as Florence Lindon; Mabel Lindon is pleasingly characterised by Little Violet; and the Misses Arline T. George and Etta Spalding also give good delineations.

Pier Pavilion.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. E. Angless.—The Chaterboxes are a clever and versatile concert party, who provide two hours' continuous amusement. Among the favourite items are the "Chantecler Trio," "The Covent Garden ball," "Off we go to the picnic," and "Sandown Park." The company comprise Miss Betty O'Brien, a powerful soprano; Miss Edie Buckingham, comedy artist; Miss Marjorie Craig, comedienne and danseuse; Mr. Cecil Berkeley, light comedian and baritone; Mr. Charles Dawe, comedian; and Mr. Arthur Chenery, society entertainer and humorist.

SOUTHPORT.—Opera House Winter Gardens.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Percy Hutchison; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Clarkson.—The visit of Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree to Southport for three nights and a matinée has been looked forward to with great interest. On Monday night he appeared as Svengali in Trilby and as Austin Limmason in The Man Who Was. Both plays were finely staged. In the former the characteristics of the subtle and mysterious Svengali were depicted by Sir Herbert with great dramatic power. In the title-part Miss Gladys Harvey was excellent; Madame Vinard had a clever and vivacious representative is Miss Grace Croft; Mr. Edward Sass submitted a well-conceived interpretation of Talbot Wynne; Mr. Edmund Gurney was entirely satisfactory as Alexander McAlister; Little Billee has an able and vigorous impersonator in Mr. Shiel Barry; the Rev. Thomas and Mrs. Bagot were well played by Mr. W. R. Creighton and Miss Elinor Foster respectively. In The Man Who Was Sir Herbert repeated his former success. For the last three nights of the week Mr. Frank Weathersby's company, in The Best People, is billed.

SOUTH SHIELDS.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. John Coulson.—Mr. Fred J. Webb presents For Old Times' Sake, himself enacting Rupert Sidney with considerable power and skill; Paul Sidney is ably delineated by Mr. John C. Carlyle; Wallace Rivington is in the experienced hands of Mr. Edwin Beverley, who makes the part stand out prominently; Frank Rivington is cleverly portrayed by Mr. R. Oliver; Mr. H. Lewis is good as Jean Brooke; and the Dr. Heathcote of Mr. W. Palliser Acock is a vigorous embodiment. Miss Marie Danvers-Smith, an accomplished actress, gives a finished representation of Sareta Berkley; and Phyllis Brooke is gracefully performed by Miss Mamie Stanton. The comedy element is ably sustained by Mr. Tom Taylor as Jimmy; Miss Marie Robertson as Polly Pearson; and Miss Agnes Gagan as Mrs. Hale. Another bit of clever and original comedy is the Evan Berkley of Mr. Edwin Beverley.

Empire Palace Theatre, Ltd.—Managing-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Resident-Manager, Mr. Ernest Bridgen.—Jack Lane, the Yorkshire rustic and musical comedian, has an excellent reception; Picitt and Lizette, pantomime illusionists, create much merriment; May Henderson, the dusky comedy queen sings and dances effectively; the Vernon Troupe, xylophone specialists, are a great attraction; Graham and Barron, comedians and novel dancers are well received; Johnny Walker, Scotch comedian, is an old favourite; Vera Rochdale is a first-rate singer and dancer; and the Bioscope completes the bill.

SPENNYMOOR.—Cambridge Theatre.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Resident-Manager, Mr. David Collins.—Mr. Frank Ayrton and company opened on Monday for a season of six weeks with Shadows of a Great City, which was ably produced. Mr. Vincent W. Carlyle played the hero, Tom Cooper, ably; Mr. Norman A. Overton was good as George Benson; Mr. F. Ayrton as Jim Farren acted with credit; Mr. Percy Coningsby made a successful Mr. Arkwright; Mr. George Wallace was effective as Abe Nathan; Miss Madge Seymour acted well as Nellie Standish; Miss Ada Simmons as Mrs. Higgins and Miss Anna Beaumont as Biddy Roonan played well.

Picture Palace.—Manager, Mr. Arthur Sleep.—Another good programme is pleasing large audiences. The variety turn is Rolf Slater, a clever mimic and comedian.

ST. HELENS.—Theatre and Opera House.—General-Manager, Mr. McLeod Loader; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Harry E. Johnson.—Mr. E. Vivian Edmond's play The King's Romance is being presented here, with Mr. Edmond and Miss Mary Austin in the leading rôles. Mr. Edmond plays the part of Prince Andreas in a remarkable telling and effective manner, and secures the close attention of the audience throughout; as Vera Navairre Miss Austin is pleasing in every way; Mr. William H. Dewhurst shows much dramatic power in his representation of Paul Navairre; and the villain's part, Michael Vocurat, is decidedly well taken by Mr. George P. Porteous. Mr. Henry Earlesmere is also successful as Baron Cavonia. Other characters, including Lizette (Miss Ella Vinroy) and Mme. Pomeroy (Miss Bella Power), are excellently filled. The play is finely staged. The Cotton Spinner was billed for Friday.

Hippodrome.—Proprietors, Messrs. Barrasford, Sley, and Willmot; Acting-Manager, Mr. Leo Weisker.—Sears, the wonder-worker, heads the bill with mysterious illusions, which are highly entertaining; King's College Boys sing tunefully and well; Sisters Terry are pleasing duettists; and R. C. Note's songs take on. The Westbrooks are graceful dancers; Ena Compton pleases with imitations; and Chas. Postor provides a good turn.

STOCKPORT. — Theatre Royal and Opera House.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Charles Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Revill.—Are You the Man? capably presented by Mr. W. V. Garrod's company, has commanded the close attention of large audiences here this week. Mr. Chas. Halling worthily fills the part of Joshua Beaumont; Mr. W. V. Garrod acts with natural ease and ability as Captain Jack Beaumont; Solomon Moss is humorously played by Mr. Frank Dallas; Mr. Seymour Perry very ably impersonates the character of Private Tom Hopkins; Sidney Beaumont is effectively acted by Mr. Wm. Bradford; and Mr. Herbert Fredericks gives an admirable portrayal of the mad coiner Dotty Dalton. Miss Ethel Crawford acts with power and effect as Flo Dalton; Miss Bertha Kingston makes a pleasing Lilian Brandon; and Miss Alice Clarke is good as Jennie Wagstaffe.

Empire.—Proprietors, The Stockport Empire Theatre Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Black.—A special feature and an absorbing attraction is The Funeral of King Edward VII., depicted on the Bioscope. An excellent combination of talent is also appearing, headed by Leonard Charburn's Young Stars, in their vocal scena, "A Picture Up the River," and who are clever little people; Frank Elliston and company, in My Lady Betty, are highly entertaining; Marion Scott is a pleasing male impersonator; Margaret, Ruby and Ernest Laws are vocalists of ability; Marion Fern, ballad vocalist, sings sweetly; and Bert Woodward is a smart cyclist.

STOCKTON-ON-TEES. — Grand Theatre. — Proprietor, Mr. John Batty; Manager, Mr. Walter Batty.—The musical absurdity Miss Plaster of Paris is staged here by Miss Winifred Chalmers' company. Mr. Chas. Tolcher appears with distinction as Numbskull Nibbs, J.P.; and Mr. Harry Ed. Ray is very amusing as Alexander, the waiter. Miss Celestine Brandon is charming as Eliza Plaster; and the other characters are well sustained.

Hippodrome.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Harry Burns; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. Stainton.—Bert Coote, in his amusing sketch A Lamb on Wall-street, proves a great attraction; the Three Orros are very clever on the silver chains; the Three Gascoignes give a smart comedy act; Terry and Tate are clever dancers and singers; Will Willis is a pleasing comedian; Austin Lenton and Agnes Lane present a merry mixture, Unconsidered Trifles; the Crisps give a capital dancing scena, The Little Deputy; and Barney Murphy sings some popular songs.

STOKE-ON-TRENT.—The Hippodrome.—Lessee, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Arthur Burton.—Wireless telegraphy on the Marconi system is exemplified by Gilbert Heron and a capable company in the sketch Saved by Wireless; Harley and Melton, in cross-talking patter and comedy work are most popular; Pete and Minnie Lee, in their miniature musical comedy, are much appreciated; the Four Janowskys are seen in a novel and clever balancing act. Also billed are The Cairo Trio, The Belmonts, Adie Lombard, and the Perfection Pictures, with an excellent picture of Graham White's flight.

SUNDERLAND.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietor, Mr. Richard Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Harry Esden; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Dunn.—Mr. Frank Lindo's company is performing Love the Conqueror to well-filled houses. Miss Marion Wakeford is frequently applauded for her excellent work in the rôle of Beatrice Mortimer; Miss Nellie Benson gives a capital portrayal of Dame Norval; as Brian Norval Mr. Lindo (the author of the play) performs throughout in his usual accomplished manner; Mr. Norton Shields is good as Captain Rupert Armadale; and Mr. Sidney Dench gives a creditable performance as Sir John Mortimer. Mr. Leonard Laurence is admirable as Count Leon Lascelles. The comedy is in the effective hands of Miss Helen Thompson (Susan Shortly) and Mr. Bert Dench (Peter).

Avenue Theatre.—Proprietor, Mr. Richard Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Harry Esden.—The principal item here is a capital ventriloquial act by Carl Bennie. The Rowntrees are well received in their amusing comedy act; and Lenaro is equally successful with his funny juggling and tumbling display. The pictures include The Funeral of His Late Majesty.

Empire Theatre. — Managing-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Harry Esden.—The Belclair Brothers are starring here, and are scoring a success with their remarkable feats of strength and dexterity; William Mitchell and John Cain, comedians, create roars of laughter; Roma and Romani are well received in their entertaining musical items; the Delevines are extremely popular with an excellent comedy act; Wallie Walker is a capital character comedian; Georgina Leno is a pleasing comedienne; and the Sisters Tower also provide acceptable amusement.

Palace Theatre.—Proprietors, Messrs. Hamilton's Pictures and Variety Co.—Felix and Fisher, in a humorous gymnastic and dancing turn make a hit; Alpho gives an amusing ventriloquial item; Tom Nayton and his Six Manchester Lads present a vocal and dancing scena with great success; and the pictures are good.

SWINDON.—Empire Theatre.—Proprietors, The Wiltshire Entertainments Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Manners.—A season of variety on the two performances a night principle was commenced this week. At the head of the bill is Rapoli, the sensational juggler, who introduces many novelties; Maudie Laurel, comedienne and acrobatic dancer, merits applause; a pleasing comedy duo is provided by Howard and Wallace; Crystal and Saville present a smart musical duologue, entitled Jack's Jacket; Andie Burns, comedian, does well; Camilla Leo, comedienne and dancer, gains favour; Will Conn is a clever dancer; and the Three Langfords excel in their dancing act.

County Electric Pavilion. — Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur E. Melborne.—Capital films of the funeral of King Edward VII. are on view. Other pictures of interest are The Sorceress of the Strand, Lieutenant Rose and the Foreign Spy, The Tribes of Nubia, Fishing in the South Sea Islands, The Girl and the Fugitive, and The Heart of an Outlaw.

TODMORDEN.—Hippodrome.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Richard Dewhurst.—Variety takes the place of the legitimate this week, and a full house on Monday enjoyed the performance. Yukio Tani, the Ju-Jitsu expert, tops the bill, but his place was taken by Mr. Adam King, whose offer of £20 to the man who could stand up to him for fifteen minutes was accepted by a Mr. Harrison, of Burnley, and won by that gentleman amid great excitement. The Eltons present a smart triple bar act; Miss Elsie Grey pleases as a male impersonator; the dancing and singing of the Three Tivoli Girls is greatly admired; an enjoyable turn is presented by the Marbiesque Trio; Mme. Barrett Stone is very popular as a contralto singer; Wat Tyler, character vocalist; Walter Lee, vocalist-comedian; some good pictures by the Cambrian Bioscope Company; and Miss Daisy Marshall's sketch completes.

Olympia Picture Palace.—Proprietors, Messrs. A. and H. Andrews; Manager, Mr. Chas. Tyers.—The Honour of the Family is a very fine picture, and other good films are Western Maid and Terrible Punishment. Mr. Tyers sings two songs with success.

TON-Y-PANDY. — Royal.—General-Manager, Mr. Sam Duckworth.—Miss Ida Molesworth and Mr. M. Blow's company is here in From Slave to Princess, which is admirably staged. Mr. W. Ryott is a majestic Prince Julian; and the Michael Bordoni of Mr. C. E. Johnson is an artistic assumption. Mr. G. Jessop is well placed as Lieut. Alexis; and Otto is capably interpreted by Mr. J. E. Cuthbertson. Miss A. Verity does good work as Vera; and Miss D. Gilham is highly praiseworthy as Princess Claudia. The Royal Funeral is shown as a special attraction.

Hippodrome.—Lessee, Mr. Will Stone; General-Manager, Mr. Edgar Harper.—Geo. Leylon pays a welcome return visit; Chas. Mildare, a king of whistlers, is well received; Marie Yorke scores heavily; and so does Dan Noble. The leading picture is of the King's Funeral.

Empire.—General-Manager, Mr. W. Wright.—The Tokio troupe of Japanese acrobats are a striking top of the bill; Cullen and Carthy and Little Cluley create great laughter; Carl Lynn does well; Gladys Revell sings nicely; and Dolly and Elsie, Dort and Leonard, and Elsie Malpass add to the attractions. The King's Funeral is shown on the Empirescope.

TUNBRIDGE WELLS. — Opera House. — Lessee, Mr. Welton Dale; Manager, Mr. Harry Ball.—The Hippodrome season was resumed on Monday last, when the principal turns were the Chung Ling Hee Troupe of Chinese Entertainers and the Berg Brothers in their comedy bicycle act; Kitty Leon and Lilian French, comediennes; Bertini in his instrumental act; Kydd and Kydd in their up-to-date patter; and the Maro Duo in their triple bar act made up an excellent programme. The Hippodrome Pictures were devoted to the Royal funeral.

TYNEMOUTH.—Palace and Winter Gardens.—Proprietors, the Palace Co., Ltd.; General-Manager, Councillor Harold Arnold.—Graham is paying a welcome return visit, and on Monday night before a house filled to its utmost capacity, scored a huge success by his life-like imitations in miniature of past and present comedians. Taree, billed as the Australian Musical Bushman, is responsible for a unique turn; Vardon, Perry, and Wilber are seen to advantage in a clever singing and dancing novelty; Cole and Rags, acrobat and eccentric, are both clever and highly amusing; Vere and Nelldon score in their songs and dances; Les Wartanas, lady jugglers, perform many wonderful feats; Sylvene equilibrist, also contributes to the programme, which winds up with an admirable show of animated pictures.

WAKEFIELD. — Opera House. — Proprietors, Sherwood and Co.—Miss Florence Baines' company is here in Miss Lancashire, Limited. Mr. H. B. Pippin gives a praiseworthy rendition as John Higgins; Mr. Sydney Deach, jun., makes the most of Henry Higgins and sings pleasantly; Moses Goldberg has an able exponent in Mr. Allan Servington; Mr. Lonnen Meadows is capable as John Henry Thompson; and Mr. Billy Brereton is effective as Herbert Fox. Miss Madge Grey as Mary Ellen Thompson, the laughing Lancashire lass, gives a fine character-study, and keeps the house in high merriment; Miss May Beigh is good as Miss Lancashire; and Miss Fanny Olive was well suited as Mrs. Thompson.

Empire.—Proprietors, Sherwood and Co.; Manager, Mr. S. H. Laycock.—Mr. Victor Niblo's wonderful talking birds show excellent training; Miss Helen Charles, mimic and pianist, gives an admirable and artistic performance; the Whittington Trio, acrobats, are exceedingly good; Miss Dorma Morgan, comedienne, submits an enjoyable turn; Len Hale, comedian, is a clever dancer; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Leonard appear to advantage in their sketch Coming Home; Doyle and Gibeon, comedians, merit applause; and Jack Holland, comedian, is amusing.

Hippodrome.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. Sydney Tolfree.—The Cumberlands are a marvellous troupe of cyclists; the Smarte Brothers, acrobats, are deservedly applauded; the Northcotes are charming duettists; and Irene and Morton, comedy artists, are clever and amusing. A series of excellent pictures on the bioscope complete the bill.

WALLSEND.—Borough Theatre.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Hugh Duffy.—Sandy McNab and company head the bill, and score in an amusing sketch, entitled The Egyptian Mummy; Menotti, trick cyclist, performs some difficult and dangerous tricks; Violet Desmond is a bright and dainty comedienne; Andrews and Thompson please in their vocal scena; Eunice and Zena, comedians, obtain a flattering reception; Tom Child, tenor vocalist, has a budget of good songs; and the Rurals, in musical scena, and Barney Noble, mimic and dancer, contribute to the enjoyable entertainment. There is also an excellent show of animated pictures.

Premier Picture Hall.—Sole Proprietor, Mr T. F. McDonald.—The principal film here is that of the Funeral of His Late Majesty King Edward VII. The Story of Esther is the title of a capital historical picture, which is much admired. Mr. Syd Carter, Scotch comedian, is well received.

WEST BROMWICH.—Theatre Royal.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. R. Nightingale; Lessee, Mr. Montague Beaudyn.—There is an attractive performance at this place of amusement this week, Mr. Beaudyn presenting Mr. G. Carlton Wallace's love romance, The Love That Women Desire. Mr. Arthur Britton as Squire Abingdon is an excellent study; Mr. Chas. D. Pitt is good as Richard Abingdon; and Mr. Beaudyn excellent as Philip Carnaby. Miss Irene Munro as Madge Abingdon is a sweet and lovable creature; Miss Maud Hastings as Sybil is good.

New Hippodrome.—Proprietor, Mr. R. Colin; Resident-Manager, Mr. R. Colin, sen.; Assistant Manager, Mr. Ted Leamar.—There is a host of good things at this popular house this week, a strong bill being headed by Les Romas, who, in an intrepid double trapeze act, perform admirably. Madge Marten is a vocalist and dancer of ability; the Maddison Bros. are clever acrobats, and Le Dor Troupe of male and female acrobats give a striking turn. The pictures are up-to-date.

WEST HARTLEPOOL.—Grand.—Lessee, Mr Fred Granville.—On Monday the management here made their first attempt at a "twice-nightly dramatic season," the play chosen being The Eve o' Her Wedding, which was creditably presented by Mr. Wilson Benge's company. A capital rendering of the part of the cripple, Jack Herne, was given by Mr. Herbert Hastings; and some strong work was done by Mr. Louis Lingard in the character of George Tremaine. Others who deserve praise are Miss Pauline Nanton as Mavis Leverton and Miss F. Zillwood as Rennie de Telle.

Empire.—Managing-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; Resident-Manager, Mr. G. F. Thompson.—The Courtiers head the bill and present a pretty musical mélange. Allan Holt and company, in a sensational dramatic episode, A Society Woman, cause considerable excitement; Verno and Voyce, the singing comedians, retain their popularity; the burgling song of Fred Lincoln is intensely funny as is also his other business; a humorous sketch A Barmaid and Her Eccentric Lover, by Otto Tate and Lola Tate, causes much amusement, and their dancing is good; simultaneous dancing has expert exponents in Dorris and Francis; and a picture, showing the Procession and the Funeral of the Late King is a considerable attraction.

Palace.—Proprietors, Brothers Black; Manager, Mr. W. Ball.—The principal picture is that of the Royal Funeral Procession. A Biblical subject The Story of Esther, is watched with considerable interest; and some splendid scenic effects are brought out in The Twisted Trail. Variety is added to the programme by Renson and Waite, a pair of refined Yorkshire humorists; and Wana and Wanstee, clever comedy gymnasts.

Royal Electric Theatre.—Proprietor, Councillor Everton.—In addition to a capital selection of pictures, which includes an excellent one depicting the Funeral of King Edward VII., the programme includes Mlle. Adelina, whose impersonations of the late Queen Victoria and the late King Edward VII. are remarkable.

WESTON-SUPER-MARE. — Knightstone Pavilion and Opera House.—Manager, Mr. W. Payne.—Mr. James E. Lewis's company is presenting The Welsh Maid. Mr. Laurie H. Stuart gives a good impersonation of Jack Francis; Mr. Cecil Parkes is excellent as Philip Seymour; Mr. Herbert De Ville shows talent as James Seymour; Mr. William Pemm is a humorous Dafydd Thomas; as Ceradoic Howell Mr. Victor Cannon is praiseworthy; Miss Zeta Murdock makes a charming Jenny Jones; and Miss Bertha Beresford (Elsa), Miss Marie Beresford (Elsie), Miss Florrie Beresford (Maudie), and Miss Josephine Allbutt (Phœbe) all act with distinction.

Grand Pier Pavilion.—Manager, Mr. John H. Stevenson.—Mr. John Ridding's opera company is paying its tenth visit here, and is more popular than ever. Il Trovatore was given a flattering reception on Monday. The Leonora of Miss Lucy Lewis was a complete success; Miss Jessie Browning's Azucena is entitled to high praise; Mr. F. S. Gilbert's Manrico was an artistic treat; and Mr. Michael Kemble sang and acted with dramatic fervour as Count di Luna. Miss Marion Stanley did exceedingly well as Inez, and Mr. Ditchfield made the most of the character of Ruiz.

WEXFORD.—Theatre Royal.—Proprietor, Mr. Edward P. Ronan.—Mr. J. W. Whitbread's company of Irish Players paid their annual visit here this week, and on Monday opened with the popular historical drama, Lord Edward. Mr. Whitbread has gathered together a first-class company of artists, and their efforts were greatly appreciated. Mr. Fred Lloyd, in the name-part, acted sympathetically, and gained much praise; Mr. Tyrone Power played the Irishman, Shady McGrath, in a way that appealed to the audience; Mr. M. M. Carroll gave a powerful delineation of the informer, Francis Higgins; and Mr. Dane Clarke, an old favourite, in the rôle of Magan, portrayed the faithless friend with great realism. Miss Annie Hylton as Pamela gave an appealing rendering of the rôle, and Miss Annie Graham made a stately Mme. de Sillery; Miss Jessie Glenne as Katie Malone was racy of the soil, and was loudly applauded; and Miss P. Reynolds, in the part of Lady Louisa Connolly, was all that could be desired.

WIDNES.—Alexandra Theatre.—General-Manager, Mr. Geo. Burton.—The principal feature of the bill is The King's Funeral. In addition to several other films, variety turns are presented by Denby and Dent, in comedy acts; Tom Conroy, light comedian; Allister and Arthur, clever comedians; Marquis and Truly, comedy acrobat and baby mimic respectively; and Tony Iveson, "the ragman and the piano."

Co-operative Hall.—Managers and Lessees, Messrs. Hamilton and Hughes.—Interest is centred in a wonderfully clean and steady film, The King's Funeral, which is attracting crowded houses. The following variety turns go well:—Yost and York, military entertainers; Ford and Hanson, musical entertainers and mimics; Miss Georgina Buxton, vocalist; and Master Doonan, the funny page boy.

WIGAN.—The Royal Court Theatre.—Proprietors, the Wigan Entertainments Co.—Mr. J. A. Campbell's play The Sin of Her Childhood is the attraction. Mr. Hastings gives a fine impersonation of the Rev. Alan Grey; and Miss Warburton's delineation of Mary Haysell wins all hearts. Mr. F. Liston (Captain Thornton), Mr. C. Mannering (Stephen Haysell), Mr. H. Brady (Barney O'Reilly), Little Miss Gladys Brittain (Eric Dugdale), Mr. H. C. Ross (Servant), Miss Clara Santley (Maria Haysell), and Miss Pollie Denville (Lizzie Muggins) enact their parts admirably.

Hippodrome.—Lessees, the U.S.A. Animated Picture Co.; Manager, Mr. Fletcher Sansome.—An up-to-date programme, presented to large audiences, includes a beautiful film of the Funeral of King Edward VII. and of the late King Yachting at Cowes, and on his holidays at Biarritz.

WOLVERHAMPTON.—Theatre Royal.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Walter de Frece; General-Manager, Mr. Edwin Leslie; Resident-Manager, Mr. Fred Ball.—Miss Grace Warner's company opened here on Monday with The Scarlet Clue. Pride of place must certainly be given to Miss Grace Warner for her vivid delineation of the variable moods of Sal Scarlet; Mr. George Gordon as Michael Stanton is well in the front rank of the many stage villains seen here; Mr. Frank Smith doubles the parts of the twin brothers Jack and Harry Esmond ably; Mr. Frank Hertie is excellent as the old servant, Edward Croker; Mr. Louis Nanton causes amusement as Billy the Rotter; and Mr. Roy Rhind is a success as Crazy Jim. Miss Lizzie Palmer wins favour as Elsie Dane; Miss Lalah Price is an acceptable Mother Scrooge; Miss Florence M. Daly is thoroughly consistent as Miss Tabitha Esmond; Miss Estha Dean makes the most of her opportunities as Musette; and two clever youngsters are found in Dolly Graham as Little Polly and Master Willie Taylor as Reggie Carstairs.

Empire Palace.—Managing-Director, Mr. Walter de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. Vivian Evans.—Quite a round of return visits is being paid here, and large audiences are amply testifying their pleasure at seeing old friends. First on the list come those inimitable Hebrew comedians Lowenwirth and Cohan, who receive an enthusiastic welcome; then there are the Juggling Geraldos, whose exhibition of amazing dexterity has lost none of its attractiveness; Ryder Slone again sings his experiences of Sing-Sing, to the delight of the audience; Pyck, Tholl, and Taylor once more charm all with their unique dancing act; the Brothers Lavelle provide a clever comedy acrobatic turn; and Clarice Sefton, comedienne and dancer, and Henry Hilton, magician, complete.

Electric Theatre.—Proprietors, The London and Provincial Electric Theatres, Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur Hickman.—This charming little theatre is simply crowded with patrons anxious to see the lying-in-state and funeral procession of King Edward VII; Love One Another, a beautifully-coloured Pathé film of a religious nature, evokes much admiration; the Three Brothers causes roars of laughter. Other pictures of equal interest are The Thread of Destiny, Caught Red-handed, The Admirers, City of Lucerne, and His Father His Rival.

WORCESTER. — Theatre Royal. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur Carlton; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. Edward Evans.—A capital variety programme is provided this week, a chief feature of which is Miss Minola Hurst and her midget comedians. Miss Hurst herself is a clever vocalist and dancer, and she is ably supported by her midget colleagues. The Everharts are clever hoop manipulators; Mr. C—— creates much amusement by his racy stories, and he and Miss Maud Courtney contribute some excellent musical items; the Milsted Bell Trio appear in a comical sketch, Three Sharps in a Flat; and Reski and Reski do some excellent work on bar and rings. Another capital sketch is presented by Alice Hughes and company, entitled The Star of the Bazaar; Frank Weaver is a sand dancer of great ability; and Happy Attwood, a Yorkshire comedian, is very popular.

WORTHING. — Theatre Royal. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. C. Adolf Seebold.—The Co-operative Variety Artists' Federation provides the programme here. At the head of the bill are Farley, Renie, and company, in their comedy act The Terrible Tailors; Li-Chang-Hi gains applause for smart conjuring; and others in the bill are Beattie Bloom (comedienne), Sid Penna (musical comedian), Wisper (comedy juggler), Gilbert's dog and cat circus; Lilly Electra (serio and speciality dancer), and Hugo and Smit (acrobats).

WREXHAM.—Empire Music Hall.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. J. Scott.—The great features of the picture show here this week are some fine films illustrative of the processions connected with the funeral of the late King, and a number of other State processions. Halsey and Bowers are responsible for a funny interlude, I'm Not Alluding; and Harry Manton is an amusing comedian.

YORK.—Royal.—Lessees, Messrs. Waddington; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. J. Dacre.—Mr. Allan Wilkie commences a three weeks' season on Monday last with The Merchant of Venice. Mr. Wilkie's rendering of the Jew was most effective, and he had a most cordial reception; Miss F. Hunter Watts was exceptionally clever as Portia; and Miss Hilda Plowright gave a delightfully fresh impersonation of Jessica; Mr. Henry Hargreaves played well as Bassanio; Mr. Herbert Mansfield did full justice to the part of Antonio; and Mr. Phillip Gordon made Lancelot Gobbo a most amusing personage.

Empire.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Peacock; Acting-Manager, Mr

REVISED SCALE OF CHARGES FOR

ARTISTS WANTING ENGAGEMENTS. MANAGERS WANTING ARTISTS.

THREE LINES (ABOUT TWENTY WORDS), ONE SHILLING.
Each Additional Line (Six Words or less), Sixpence.

This Scale does not apply to "Trade" Advertisements in these Columns.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION (Post Free).

	UNITED KINGDOM.	FOREIGN
One Quarter	6s. 6d.	8s.
Half Year	13s. 0d.	16s.
One Year	26s. 0d.	32s.

The Offices of "The Era" are
"THE ERA" BUILDINGS,
5, TAVISTOCK-STREET, STRAND, W.C.
For the convenience of Advertisers, Replies to Advertisements are received. They can remain until called for, or be forwarded by Post if postage be arranged.

NO STAMPS.

Advertisers and subscribers are politely requested to forward Cheques or Postal Orders in payment of their Advertisements and Subscriptions, crossed 'Lloyd's Bank, Ltd.' Remittances should be made payable to "The Era," Limited, and addressed,

THE PUBLISHER,
The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-st., Strand, W.C.
"Wire," "The Era, London."
"Ring-up," 4747 or 1433 Central.

IN case of the non-delivery of "THE ERA" by the First Post, the Publisher will be greatly obliged if Advertisers will forward their Postal Wrappers with the time of delivery marked upon them.

COMPANIES WANTED.

TWENTY WORDS, ONE SHILLING.
Each Additional Six Words, Sixpence.

MILTON BODE and EDWARD COMPTON'S THEATRES.

WANTED, First-class Companies, for THEATRE ROYAL, BRIGHTON.
July 11, 18, Aug. 8, 15, Sept. 19, 26, Oct. 3, 31, Dec. 12, Feb. 13, 20, 27, on.
DALSTON THEATRE, LONDON, N.E.
Sept. 12, 26, Oct. 10, Nov. 21, Jan. 23, Feb. 6, on.
COUNTY THEATRE, READING.
Aug. 15, 29, Sept. 12, 19, 26, Oct. 10, 24, 31, on.
OPERA HOUSE, LEICESTER.
Aug. 8, Sept. 5, Oct. 31, Nov. 21, 28, Dec. 5, 12, on.
ROYALTY THEATRE, CHESTER.
June 6, Oct. 3, Feb. 27, March 6, on.
GRAND THEATRE, WOLVERHAMPTON.
July 18, Aug. 1, Sept. 5, 12, 19, Oct. 3, 10, 24, on.
THEATRE ROYAL, HUDDERSFIELD.
Aug. 1, Sept. 5, Oct. 3, 10, 17, Nov. 7, 21, on.
OPERA HOUSE, NORTHAMPTON.
Aug. 1, 15, 29, Sept. 19, 26, Oct. 17, Nov. 28, Dec. 12, 19, 26, Jan. 16, on.
THEATRE ROYAL, LEICESTER.
June 27, July 4, Aug. 1.
Oct. 17, 24, 31, Nov. 14, Dec. 12, Jan. 2 9, on.
Address, MILTON BODE, Theatre, Reading.

PIER THEATRE, EASTBOURNE.
This Theatre will in future be booked by Mr. MILTON BODE, and all communications re dates should be addressed to him at COUNTY THEATRE, READING. All other communications to G. Hayes, Pier, Eastbourne.

WANTED, Companies for July 18, 28 (three nights), Aug. 1 (six nights), Aug. 15 (two nights), Aug. 29, Sept. 5, 12, 22, 26, on.
Apply MILTON BODE, Theatre, Reading.

WANTED, First-class Attractions, for COUNTY THEATRE, BEDFORD,
June 6, Aug. 1, onwards, with exceptions.
GRAND THEATRE, LUTON,
June 6, Aug. 1, onwards with exceptions.
THEATRE ROYAL, CANTERBURY,
Aug. 15, 22, onwards, with exceptions.
Address, E. G. FALCON, County Theatre, Bedford.

WANTED, First-class Attractions, for
MARINA THEATRE, LOWESTOFT,
Oct. 6 (3), to follow Laurence Irving.
NEW ROYAL THEATRE, KING'S LYNN.
June 6 (3), Aug. 4 (3).
EMPIRE THEATRE, SOUTHEND.
Dec. 5, 12, 19, Jan. 2.
HIPPODROME THEATRE, SHEERNESS.
June 13, Aug. 4 (3), 15, Sept. 12, 19.
All Communications to B. PAREZER, Proprietor and Manager, Marina Theatre, Lowestoft.

NEW THEATRE ROYAL, BIRKENHEAD.
WANTED, First-class Attraction, for
Aug. 8.
To play twice nightly.
Wire or write immediately to
W. W. KELLY,
New Theatre Royal, Birkenhead.

KELLY'S THEATRE.
Paradise-street, just off Church-street, Liverpool.
WANTED, First-class Attractions for June 20, for June 20, Royal Show Week.
Wire immediately.
W. W. KELLY,
New Theatre Royal, Birkenhead.

THE QUEEN'S THEATRE, DUBLIN.
Rebuilt at a cost of £15,000.
WANTED, First-class Companies, Aug. 8, 29, Sept. 26, and various onwards.
Address,
F. W. MARRIOTT WATSON, as above.

SHAKESPEARE THEATRE, LIVERPOOL.
WANTED, First-class Attractions, Aug. 1 (Bank Holiday) and 8.
The only Principal Theatre open at this time in Liverpool.
WENTWORTH CROKE,
Piccadilly-mansions, 17, Shaftesbury-avenue, W.

GRAND THEATRE, WEST HARTLEPOOL.
Closed for entire redecoration and alterations.
WANTED, First-class Companies, Aug. 1, and on, with exceptions.
STANLEY ROGERS,
Theatre Royal, North Shields.

LYRIC THEATRE, LIVERPOOL.
WANTED, First-class Attractions, Share or Certainty.
All must play Twice Nightly.
HENRY G. ARNOLD, Managing-Director.

WINTER GARDENS, NEW BRIGHTON.
The Premier Place of Amusement.
WANTED, Big Attractions, First Vacant Date,
Oct. 17, and onwards, with exceptions.
Musical or Farcical Comedy preferred.
Must be First-class. Address, MANAGERS.

ROYALTY THEATRE, MORECAMBE.
WANTED, First-class Attractions, July 11, 25, Aug. 15, Sept. 15 (3 nights), Sept. 19, and on.
Address,
GENERAL MANAGER.

NEW THEATRE ROYAL, BLYTH-BY-SEA.
See Page 15 of "The Era," dated May 7, 1910.
New Theatrical Watering-place.
Touring Managers' opinion:—
A fine theatre, a fine stage, a good audience, and good business.
WANTED, Powerful Dramatic or Musical Attractions for June 13, through transfer to oblige E. V. Edmonds, Esq.
Aug. 1 (Bank Holiday), Aug. 8.
Sept. 5.
Lessee and Manager, ARTHUR C. MOODY.

NEW GAIETY THEATRE, CLYDEBANK, N.B.
WANTED, First-class Dramas, Musical Comedies, and Pantomimes coming North, Autumn and Winter Season, 1910-1911.
Full particulars and dates,
A. E. PICKARD, Britannia Theatre, Glasgow.

METROPOLE THEATRE, GATESHEAD.
WANTED, Pantomime for Two Weeks, must be really first-class production. Open Dec. 24.
Address, R. G. ELDER, General Manager.

COMPANIES WANTED.

WANTED, First-class Companies. Wanted, First-class Companies.

THEATRE ROYAL, WORCESTER.
THEATRE ROYAL, WORCESTER.
Vacant Aug. 22, Sept. 5, Nov. 7, Dec. 5, onward, with exceptions.

EMPIRE, WORCESTER.
EMPIRE, WORCESTER.
Pictures and Bijou Vaudeville.
All arrangements complete at present.

THEATRE ROYAL, TON-Y-PANDY.
THEATRE ROYAL, TON-Y-PANDY.
Vacant July 11, 18, 25, Aug. 1, 18, 29, onward, with exceptions.

NEW THEATRE, BARRY.
NEW THEATRE, BARRY.
This magnificent Theatre now nearing completion. Undoubtedly one of the finest theatres in Wales, up-to-date in every detail. Holding capacity over 2,000. Stage 62 by 37. Equipped with every modern stage contrivance. Superb plant of electric light, 500 ampères available. This Theatre caters for a very large population, standing right in the centre of the populous towns of Cadoxton, Barry Dock, Barry, and Barry Island, the latter being full of visitors during the summer season.

Wanted, Big Musical Attraction, for Opening date in July, also for following vacancies:
Aug. 1, 22, 29, Sept. 5, 19, Oct. 3, Nov. 28.

Bookings already include "Silver King," "Fatal Wedding," "Florodora," "Miss Hook of Holland," "Merry Widow," "When Knights Were Bold," "Gay Gordons," &c., &c.

BARRY ELECTRIC THEATRE DE LUXE.
Pictures and Bijou Vaudeville.
All arrangements complete at present.

Wanted, Dates, "ALADDIN," "BABES IN THE WOOD," "PUSS IN BOOTS."

All communications,
ARTHUR CARLTON,
Theatre Royal, Worcester.

Telegrams, "Carlton, Worcester."

ROYALTY THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE, BARROW-IN-FURNESS.
Lessee and Manager, Mr. HUGH ROBERTSON.
The Premier Theatre in the Town, with a holding capacity greatly in excess of any other Theatre in the Town.
Booked by Mr. George Edwardes, Mrs. D'Oyly Carte, George Dance, Mr. Arthur Hart, Mr. Frank Curzon, Mr. Fred Mouillot, Messrs. Sidney Cooper and Lyn Harding, Messrs. Paumier and Howard, Mr. R. Courteidge, Mr. J. W. Turner, Miss Florence Glossop-Harris, Messrs. Armitage and Leigh, Mr. J. A. Campbell, Mr. Fred J. Ellis-ton, Mr. E. Hill Mitchelson, Mr. L. Collingwood, Mr. Chas. Windermere, Mr. W. W. Kelly, and, in fact, practically the whole of the first-class managers of the country.
WANTED, First-class London Successes, for June 6, 13, 27, and July 4, on, with exceptions. All applications for dates to HUGH ROBERTSON, Theatre Royal, Jarrow.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, MIDDLESBROUGH.
GRAND OPERA HOUSE, MIDDLESBROUGH.
One of the handsomest Theatres in the county. Holding capacity 3,500. Visited by all the biggest Stars and Companies.
WANTED, Aug. 1, Bank Holiday, onwards, with exceptions, including Aug. 15 (Race Week).
Could arrange Stock Season for June and July.

CASTLE THEATRE, STOCKTON.
This handsome Theatre will reopen Aug.
Holding capacity 3,000.
WANTED, Aug. 1, onwards, with exceptions, including Aug. 15 (Race Week).
All communications to
J. CHAS. IMESON,
Theatre Royal, Middlesbrough.

KING'S THEATRE, SEACOMBE.
KING'S THEATRE, SEACOMBE.
KING'S THEATRE, SEACOMBE.
WANTED, First-class Attractions, for Aug. 8 and Sept. 19; good Pantomime for Xmas.
Apply, JAMES KIERNAN.

PALACE THEATRE, TYNEMOUTH.
WANTED, for Summer Season, 1911, First-class Musical Comedy Productions.
Apply, with full particulars, to
ROSEN and BLISS, 12, Henrietta-street, London, W.C.

WEYMOUTH NEW THEATRE.
One of the most charming Theatres in the Provinces. Holds £120 at ordinary prices. Lit throughout by electric light. No other Theatre within radius of thirty miles. Drawing capacity 60,000.
WANTED, First-class Companies, July 11 (?), 18 (3), Oct. 10 (?), 24, 31, Nov. 14, 28, on.
All coms. re dates to London Representatives, JAY and MANN, 10-11, Jermyn-street, S.W.
All other coms. direct to W. R. WALLIS.

GAIETY THEATRE, BURNLEY.
WANTED, First-class Attractions, June 20, 27, and July 18.
Address, Mrs. T. CULKEN.

THEATRE ROYAL, PETERBOROUGH.
WANTED, First-class Companies, Aug. 1, Sept., on. A. D. VERNON.

GRAND THEATRE, LLANDUDNO.
WANTED, First-class Attractions only, Aug. 4, 11, 18, Sept. 19 (three nights).
Address, The MANAGER.

WANTED, First-class Attractions, for June 6, 27, Sept. 19, 26, Oct. 3, 20, 27, onwards.
PHILLIPS, Coliseum, Aberystwyth.

WANTED, First-class Attractions, PAISLEY THEATRE,
Aug. 29, Sept. 5, Oct. 10, Nov. 7, 28, Dec. 12.
PERTH THEATRE,
Aug. 15, 29, Sept. 5, 12, 19, 26, Oct. 17, 31, on.
Address,
J. H. SAVILE, Theatre, Paisley.

THEATRE ROYAL, CROOK.
WANTED, Companies, June 6. WALLACE DAVIDSON, Shakespeare Hotel, Nottingham.

WORTHING THEATRE ROYAL.
One of the Prettiest Theatres on the South Coast. Rebuilt and enlarged. Holding £100.
WANTED, First-class Companies, Three Nights, One Matinée, June 20, 23, 30, July 18, Aug. 1. Apply, C. ADOLF SEEBOLD.

WANTED, Companies, Dramatic or Musical, June 6, 13, and on; now booking Autumn.
JAMES ELPHINSTONE, Lyceum Theatre, Stafford.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SWINDON.
WANTED, Musical and Dramatic Attractions, July 11, 18, 25, Aug. 29, Sept. 5, 12, 26, on, with exceptions. Also Variety Combinations, Musical and Dramatic Attractions, first three nights, Garrison T., Tidworth, June 6, 13, 20, on.
ALFRED MANNERS.

GRAND THEATRE, CHORLEY, AND RADCLIFFE.
WANTED, Special Répertoire Company for the holiday 7 nights commencing July 16. Big week, for good Company. Open dates July 25, Aug. 1, on, with exceptions. SANTE, Radcliffe.

BOROUGH THEATRE, STRATFORD.
WANTED, Strong Dramatic Attractions, new to Stratford, from June 13 to July 25. Write, FRED FREDERICKS, Borough Theatre, Stratford, E.

ABERYSTWYTH ROYAL PIER PAVILION.
WANTED, First-class Attractions, Dramatic and Musical Comedy Companies, Vaudeville Entertainers, &c.
Apply, J. H. ROWE, c/o A. J. Hughes, Town Clerk, Aberystwyth.

OPERA HOUSE, KIDDERMINSTER.
WANTED, Applications from Companies for August Bank Holiday and various Autumn Dates. Bookings: "Merry Widow," "Gay Gordons," "Mrs. Wiggs," F. R. Benson, &c. Address all coms., MANAGER, O. H., Kidderminster.

WANTED, for Theatre Royal, Barnstaple, Companies, for two nights, Musical or Comedy preferred. Apply, H. ASHTON, Strand, Barnstaple.

COMPANIES WANTED.

Booked by
MOSS' EMPIRES, LIMITED,
BORDESLEY PALACE THEATRE,
GRAND THEATRE, NOTTINGHAM,
BROADWAY THEATRE, NEW CROSS,
and
GRAND THEATRE GLASGOW.

WANTED, Musical Comedy or very Special Attractions.

BROADWAY THEATRE, NEW CROSS.
Vacant Sept. 26, Feb. 13, 20, March 6, 13 (?), 20, 27, April 10, May 1, 8, 15, 22, 29.
Several Autumn (1911) Dates.

BORDESLEY PALACE THEATRE.
Vacant Sept. 5, Nov. 14 (?), 28, Dec. 12 (?), Jan. 9, 23, Feb. 13, 20, March 20, 27, April 10.
May 1, 8, 15, 22, 29, June 5, and several Autumn (1911) dates. Good Pantomime for two weeks at Christmas.

GRAND THEATRE, NOTTINGHAM.
Vacant Aug. 1 (?), Oct. 31 (?), Nov. 14, 28, Feb. 20 (Pantomime), 27 (?), April 3, 10, 17, 24, May 1, 8 (?), 15, 22, 29, June 5. Several Autumn (1911) dates.

GRAND, GLASGOW.
Vacant Aug. 1, 8, 15, 22, 29, Sept. 5, 12, 19, Oct. 3, 10, 17, 24, Nov. 7, 14.

Good Stock Companies Wanted for all Theatres. Address, with full particulars, terms, &c., where can be seen, to
MOSS' EMPIRES, LIMITED,
Cranbourn-mansions, Cranbourn-street, W.C.
Envelopes marked "Theatres."

QUEEN'S THEATRE, FARNWORTH.
WANTED, First-class Dramatic Attractions, June 20, 27, all July, Aug. 1, 8, 15, on.
MORTON POWELL, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

SCOTLAND'S PROVINCIAL THEATRES.
WANTED, First-class Dramatic, Musical, or Variety Attractions, for:
AYR, COATBRIDGE, FALKIRK, MOTHERWELL, LEITH, and KIRKCALDY,
for August and Autumn, 1910.
Wire or write, R. C. BUCHANAN,
6, John-street, Adelphi, London, W.C.

WANTED, First-class Attractions for Aug. 1, 8, and 15, 22, and 29, at Newcastle, Edinburgh, and Glasgow.
Apply, Mr. ROBERT ARTHUR, 24A, Regent-street, S.W.

ROYAL ARTILLERY THEATRE and OPERA HOUSE, WOOLWICH.
Lessee and Manager, JULES RICHEUX.
Re-decorated, re-seated, upholstered, and equipped up to date, and will have the advantage of the personal and alert management of the Lessee.
WANTED, First-class Attractions for June 27, Aug. 8, 22 (?), 29, Sept. 12, 19, Oct. 3, 10, 24, Nov. 21, Xmas, on.
Re dates direct to
JAY and MANN, 10-11, Jermyn-street, S.W.

THEATRE ROYAL, WOLVERHAMPTON.
THEATRE ROYAL, WOLVERHAMPTON.
THEATRE ROYAL, WOLVERHAMPTON.
Under the direction of WALTER DE FRECE.
Notice.
During the Summer Months and onwards the above will be run once nightly as before.
WANTED, good strong Dramatic Companies, for June 6, 20, 27, July 4, 18, 25.
All communications to WALTER DE FRECE,
178, Charing Cross-road, W.C.

HARROGATE GRAND OPERA HOUSE.
WANTED, First-class Company, July 14, 15, 16.
Vacant through obliging Manager.
Apply, WILLIAM PEACOCK.

GRAND THEATRE, HULL.
WANTED, August Bank Holiday and Aug. 8, for Musical or other High-class Attraction.
Address, WILLIAM MORTON.

PIER PAVILION, HASTINGS.
WANTED, Companies.
Mr. Walter Maxwell is now booking First-class Attractions from July 4 for the Season.
Address all communications,
WALTER MAXWELL, 52, Bedford Court-mansions, London, W.C. 'Phone 4,270 Gerrard.

WANTED, Comedy Companies, &c., to Book Theatre Royal, Inverness, open September, onwards. Manager, CAMERON BURGESS.

WANTED, for the Palace, Porth, after four years' rest from Drama, good Companies of all descriptions, sure to do well, June 20, 27, and dates in July.
Apply, POOLE, Theatre, Gloucester.
For August dates, onward,
WILL SMITHSON, Empire, Barnsley.

WANTED, T. R., Margate, June 13, July 11, weeks only; July 25 (3), Aug. 19 (3), Sept. 12 (3), musical preferred. WEATHERSBY'S Agency, 3, Bedford-street, W.C.

PARDOE'S THEATRE, MIDDLETON, LANCS.
WANTED, First-class Companies, for the re-opening week, Aug. 22.
All coms. to W. PARDOE.

OPERA HOUSE, DUNFERMLINE.
WANTED, High-class Companies, Musical preferred, Aug. 15, 22, Sept. 1, 5, 19, on, with exceptions. W. E. POTTS.

WANTED, Dec. 26, for Two Weeks, First-class Panto., Lancs. Must be big production and good company. Box 7,776, "The Era."

KING'S THEATRE, GREENOCK.
WANTED, First-class Attractions, Aug., Sept., onwards. Address, A. B. and J. J. WRIGHT.

H. M. THEATRE, BARROW-IN-FURNESS.
WANTED, Known, possibly Vacant for First-class Costume Concert Party à la the Follies, the weeks of June 13 and 20. Apply, CALVERT ROUTLEDGE,
His Majesty's Theatre, Barrow-in-Furness.

WANTED, for "Pretoria," Okehampton (main line Exeter-Plymouth), Companies, two nights. Hall holds 300; scenery. E. WILKINSON, Whimple-street, Plymouth.

THEATRES WANTED.

"THE GIRL WHO LOST HER CHARACTER."
WANTED, Aug. 8, Dec. 26.
DOUGLAS BRUCE,
14, Bloomsbury-street, W.C.

"THE FEMALE SWINDLER."
WANTED, June 27, July 11.
DOUGLAS BRUCE,
14, Bloomsbury-street, W.C.

ANDIE CAINE'S PANTOMIMES.
"CINDERELLA."
"RED RIDING HOOD."
"BABES IN THE WOOD."
WANTED, Theatres or Music Halls.
A few Vacancies left.
Production Dates settled.
Coms., ANDIE CAINE, Filey, Yorks.

"A ROYAL DIVORCE."
"A ROYAL DIVORCE."
"A ROYAL DIVORCE."
WANTED, for this Phenomenal Success, Weeks of August 22 and 29.
Wire or write to
W. W. KELLY,
New Theatre Royal, Birkenhead.

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN."
WANTED, Theatres, Wanted, July 25 (?), Aug. 8 (?), 15, on.
Big Company.
Chorus, Negro Specialities.
New plant of scenery and printing.
CHARLES HARRINGTON,
Theatre Royal, St. Helens.

THEATRES WANTED.

MORTON POWELL ENTERPRISES.
WANTED, Wanted, Dates.
"DRIVING A GIRL TO DESTRUCTION," by Mrs. Morton Powell.
July 11, Oct. 17, 31, Nov. 7, 14.
MORTON POWELL, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

"BROUGHT TO RUIN," By Mrs. Morton Powell.
WANTED, Wanted, Dates.
"BROUGHT TO RUIN."
Sept. 26, Nov. 21 (through transfer), Dec. 5, 26.
MORTON POWELL, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

"A GIRL'S TEMPTATION." By Mrs. Morton Powell.
WANTED, Wanted, Dates.
"A GIRL'S TEMPTATION."
July 4, Nov. 14, 28, Dec. 26.
MORTON POWELL, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

"FROM MILL GIRL TO MILLIONAIRESS." By Mrs. Morton Powell.
WANTED, Wanted, Dates.
"FROM MILL GIRL TO MILLIONAIRESS."
Oct. 3, 17, Jan. 9, 16.
MORTON POWELL, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

"DARE-DEVIL DOROTHY."
"DARE-DEVIL DOROTHY."
Once or Twice Nightly.
WANTED, June 13, 20, July 28 (three nights), South, Aug. 4 (three nights), South, 8, 15, Sept. 5, 12, 26.
All communications, J. W. CORDINER, May 30, Marina Theatre, Lowestoft.

"THE PRIVATE SECRETARY."
EUGENE C. STAFFORD'S No. 1 CO.
WANTED, for this Wonderful Moneymaker, Sept. 26, Oct. 3, 17 Nov. 7, 14, 21, and Dec. 26. BISHOPSDALE Biddenden, Kent.

WANTED, June 20, June 27, THE WILSON BARRETT ORIGINAL VERSION of the Famous Play, "EAST LYNNE" (BULLOCK VERSION), by Arrangement with J. Pitt Hardacre.
TOM WATT'S SPECIALLY-SELECTED CO.
Broke all records at the Theatre Royal, Belfast, week commencing April 11. Gross receipts £306, 10,040 persons paying for admission during the week. Hundreds turned away on the Saturday evening. Return date immediately booked.
The following week played to £322 at the Queen's Theatre, Dublin. Refer to Messrs. Fred Warden and F. Marriott Watson.
Note.—No one but Mr. Tom Watt has any interest whatsoever in this production, and the sole theatrical rights of this version are vested in him.
Managers requiring a sound Attraction and sure Money-maker, wire or write,
TOM WATT, 6, Adelphi-chambers, John-street, W.C.
Vacant June 20, 27, July 18, 25, and on, with exceptions. May 30, Star T., Swansea.

MR. BULMER'S ENTERPRISES.
"THE GIRL WHO WENT ASTRAY."
"THE GIRL WHO WENT ASTRAY."
"THE GIRL WHO WENT ASTRAY."
The Drama that is averaging £200 a week.
Three weeks' receipts exceed £1,000.
Vacant Oct. 10, Dec. 5, Xmas.
Vacant Oct. 10, Dec. 5, Xmas.
"THE TYRANT."
"THE TYRANT."
"THE TYRANT."
(By arrangement with Miss Marie Dagmar.)
WANTED, Aug. 1, on, with exceptions.
FRED BULMER,
Managers' Club, Savoy-mansions, London, W.C.

"SILVER KING" CO.
WANTED, Dates, Oct. 17, 24, 31, Nov. 7, 21, also Spring, 1911.
Address, G. M. POLINI, 93, Penge-rd., London, S.E.

WANTED, First-class Theatres. MR. WENTWORTH CROKE'S COS.
"EAST LYNNE,"
Vacant June 13 (Suburban), July 4, 11.
"THE GIRL OF MY HEART,"
Vacant June 20 and 27.
Piccadilly-mansions, 17, Shaftesbury-avenue, W.

"THE ANGEL OF HIS DREAMS."
Geo. A. De Gray and H. Masterman's Co.
Concludes next Saturday a most successful tour of 42 consecutive weeks. Managers please note. Only vacant Autumn dates, Oct. 31, Dec. 12, Spring, Jan. 2, Feb. 6, 13. Third tour starts Aug. 2, Palace, Newcastle (return).
WANTED, Oct. 31, Dec. 12, Jan. 2, Feb. 6, 13.
All coms., GEO. A. DE GRAY,
Lyric Theatre, Liverpool.
Next three weeks, Grand T., Stockton-on-Tees.

NORA-CARTON'S No. 1 COMPANY.
Autumn Tour with Russell Vaun's Latest Dramatic Success,
"TEMPTATION."
Played, Staged, and Advertised.
WANTED, good Dramatic Theatres for this acknowledged success. Concluded Saturday last the 250th performance. Vacant Aug. 22 (follow T. R., Barnsley), Sept. 19, 26 (North), Oct. 31, Nov. 7 (precede Ramsgate), Dec. 5 (precede St. Helen's), Dec. 26 (between Warrington and Star, Swansea). All coms., MARTIN COMSTOCK, Cambridge Theatre, Spennymoor, co. Durham.

EDWARD S. PETLEY AND UNA GILBERT'S CO., in "LITTLE MRS. CUMMIN," from the Playhouse, London,
by arrangement with Mr. Cyril Maude.
WANTED, June 27, July 4, only Vacant Dates.
E. S. PETLEY, this, T. R., Brighton; next, O. H. Cheltenham.

MISS FLORENCE BAINES' COMPANIES, in the Musical Farce,
"MISS LANCASHIRE, LIMITED."
"MISS LANCASHIRE, LIMITED."
WANTED, Aug. 8 and 15 (between Devonport and Aldershot), Nov. 7 and 14 (between Birkenhead and Portsmouth).
A new Musical Farce in active preparation, by the Author of "Miss Lancashire, Limited."
Address,
Miss FLORENCE BAINES, P. O. W., Grimsby.

"JOHN GLAYDE'S HONOUR."
"DR. WAKES' PATIENT."
WANTED, June 13, 20, First-class Theatres only.
ERNEST E. NORRIS, Opera House, Blackpool.

MR. C. W. STANDING'S COMPANY, in "THE MARRIAGE OF KITTY."
WANTED, June 6 (between Cardiff and Blackpool). Wire or write, STANDING, T. R., Colchester; next, New Theatre, Cardiff.

WANTED, First-class Theatre for Production of a New Comedy. June 20 or 27 preferred.
Address, Mr. A. BINGHAM, 9, St. Martin's-court, London W.C. Telephone 7298 Gerrard.
Telegrams, care of "Stirpes, London."

"THE MAGNETIC GIRL."
A Romantic Farcical Comedy,
By Fred Jarman,
Author of "The 'Varsity Belle," "The Little Widow," &c., &c. For dates, G. PARRINGTON, c/o J. E. Vedrenne, 52, Shaftesbury-avenue, W.C.
WANTED, June 8, 9, 10 (to follow Weston-super-Mare), and on.

WANTED, E. Hill Mitchelson's Co., vacant, "Who is She?" Oct. 31, Nov. 14; "King and the Unknown Woman," Sept. 5, 26, Oct. 10, 31, Nov. 7.
Address, care of "The Era."

"THE SHADOW OF A CRIME,"
By Nita Rae.
WANTED, June 20, July 4, and various onwards.
WALTER J. HORNE,
To-day, Palace, Derby.
Next week, Alexandra Theatre, Sheffield.

THEATRES WANTED.

FRED GRANVILLE'S PRODUCTIONS, LTD.

"THE BETTER LAND."
WANTED, for this phenomenally Successful Domestic Drama,
June 13,
June 27, July 4, 11, 18, 25, Aug. 8, and later.

"ANOTHER MAN'S WIFE."
Wanted for this Great Attraction,
June 13,
July 11, 18, 25, Aug. 1, 15, and later.

"A HOT NIGHT,"
Musical Comedy, Screamingly Funny.
Gorgeously Mounted and Dressed.
25 Performers 25.
Wanted, Good Theatres,
June 13, 20, 27, July 4, 11, onwards.
Look out for Grand New Production.

"SHE DID IT FOR LOVE."
Re Dates, FRED GRANVILLE, The Depository, Cazneau-street, Liverpool.
Wires, c/o "Pagoda, Liverpool."

Pantomime, 1910-11.
"BABES IN THE WOOD,"
"ALADDIN."
"BEAUTY AND THE BEAST."
WANTED, Managers with Vacant Dates for First-class Pantomime Productions.
Communicate with
FRED GRANVILLE,
The Depository, Cazneau-street, Liverpool.

MISS HILDA BEVERLEY in "A DESTROYER OF MEN."
WANTED, Wanted, June 20, to follow P. T., Bradford, and precede T. R., Leeds.
Wire for June 20.
Miss HILDA BEVERLEY (to-day), Alex T., Hull; next week, Prince's T., Blackburn.

MISS HILDA BEVERLEY in "A WOMAN OF TWO LIVES," by Charles Darrell.
WANTED, Wanted, Nov. 14, Dec. 26.
Only two vacant dates this year.
Miss HILDA BEVERLEY, Prince's T., Blackburn.

"LITTLE PHIL'S MOTHER."
WANTED, Theatres for Oct. 31, Nov. 14, 21, and 28.
Address, FRANK M. THORNE, Newlands Cottage, Cloughton, near Scarboro'.

"LES CLOCHES DE CORNEVILLE."
WANTED, Aug. 11, 12, and 13, for the above to follow Llandudno.
Apply, MILTON BODE, Theatre, Reading.

The New Musical Comedy,
"MISS PLASTER—OF PARIS."
WANTED, good Theatres, June 13, 20, 27, through extension of Tour.
Wires, HENRY L. ORMOND, Grand Theatre, Stockton. Letters, T. R., Blyth.

MISS NANNIE GOLDMAN AND CO., in the Screamingly Funny Farcical Comedy, "NOT BEFORE THE MISSUS!"
Shortly to be Produced in West-end Theatre.
WANTED, June 6, 13, 27, all July, and onward.
Wire, WILLIAM HOLLES T. R., Bath.

WANTED, for "The Cingalee," July 4, 11, Aug. 22, 29, Sept. 5, Oct. 10, 17, Xmas.
HALDANE CRICHTON, 18, Walsingham-road, Hove.

WANTED, for "His Real Wife," and Répertoire of "Moths" and "Trilby," Nov. 14 and Xmas. Enormous success this week at Birkenhead. Address, T. EDWARD WARD, Star Theatre, Liverpool.

WANTED, First-class Theatres for Mr. H. Hamilton Stewart's Co.'s "Sherlock Holmes," Sept. 19, 26, Oct. 17, 24, Nov. 14. LANGTON LANE, Kelly's T., Liverpool.

WANTED, Managers with Open Dates for First-class Pantomime Productions (theatres where good money can be taken with good shows). Please communicate with J. F. ELLISTON, Bolton.

WANTED for Pantomime, "THE SLEEPING BEAUTY,"
Weeks of Jan. 30, Feb. 6 and 13.
"JACK AND JILL," Hickory Woods' version.
Only open date, Feb. 13.
"MOTHER GOOSE." Vacant Feb. 6, 13.
Address, J. F. ELLISTON, Bolton.

"LUCKY 'LIZA."
WANTED, July 11 and 18, Aug. 1, 29, and Sept. 5.
DICKIE CLARE, Chorlton T., Manchester.

"HER LIFE IN LONDON," by Arthur Shirley.
WANTED, Big Theatre, for June 6, vacant through transferring Darlington. Wire, STANLEY CARLTON, to-day, Prince's Theatre, Portsmouth; next week, T. R., Wolverhampton.

CHARLES GIBBON'S TOURS.
WANTED, for the Magnificent Production, "ALONE IN LONDON."
"ALONE IN LONDON."
Carefully-selected Company, including
MISS NELLIE CLYDE
as Nan, the Flower Girl.
Sept. 5, 12, 19, Oct. 3, 17, and Nov. 14, only Dates Vacant.
Wanted, for the Funniest Farcical Comedy of the day,
"THE LITTLE STRANGER."
"THE LITTLE STRANGER."
By Michael Morton.
From the Criterion Theatre.
Only Dates this year, July 4 and 28 (3).
Address, CHAS. GIBBON, Alexandra T., Birmingham.

MR. AND MRS. F. G. KIMBERLEY'S CO.'S.
"HER SECRET LOVER."
WANTED, June 20, Sept. 12, Xmas Week. This Play fast booking. Refer Barnsley this week. Guaranteed one of the Finest Mounted Plays on the road.

"TWO LITTLE DRUMMER BOYS."
Wanted, June 27, July 4, Aug. 1.
Wire, F. G. KIMBERLEY.
This, T. R., Dewsbury; next, South Shields.

KIMBERLEY'S, GREEN, and HINTON'S "WAS SHE TO BLAME?" By Mrs. F. G. Kimberley.
WANTED, through prolonging Tour, June 20, 27, good Theatres only, Aug. 29, Nov. 21, Xmas, few Spring, 1911. Wire, F. G. KIMBERLEY, this, T. R., Dewsbury; next, T. R., South Shields.

MESSRS. HAMILTON AND LOCKE'S TOUR.
"A WOMAN'S PAST."
WANTED, Wanted, Theatres, Aug. 1, 29, Sept. 5, 19, and on.
Once or twice nightly.
Once or twice nightly.
Refer Harris Fineberg, Esq.
W. H. Westwood, Esq.
Lester Collingwood, Esq.
Address, CHARLES LOCKE, King's T., Seacombe.

MR. AND MRS. ARTHUR HINTON AND TRAVIS GREEN present their No. 1 Co. in "HER FATAL MARRIAGE."
"HER FATAL MARRIAGE."
WANTED, June 27 (unexpectedly vacant), July 25, Aug. Bank Holiday, Nov. 14 (?), Dec. 12, Xmas, Jan. 9, various, onwards.
JERROLD HEATHER as Zaco.
HILDA SHIRLEY as Myra.
Wire or write,
ARTHUR HINTON, to-day, Lyric, Hammersmith. Monday, T. R., Chatham.

"THE 10.30 DOWN EXPRESS; OR, GUILTY GOLD."
WANTED, June 20, between Birmingham and London.
HORACE STANLEY, Osborne Theatre, Manchester.

"THE MAJOR."
WANTED, June 6, onward, for above Musical Absurdity, going stronger than ever. This, Theatre, Dinnington, Rotherham; next, Gaiety Theatre, Worksop, Notts.

"MAN TO MAN."
EDWARD LLOYD and CLIFFORD BROWN'S CO.
WANTED, Aug. 15, Sept. 19, Lancs. or Yorks.
EDWARD LLOYD, Queen-square Hotel, Bath.

THEATRES WANTED.

"THE SORROWS OF SATAN"
and
"NANA," the Rage of Paris.

WANTED, June 6 and 13.

Miss Esmond desires
a few Summer Dates for the above.

Either or both plays. Once or twice nightly.

Wire, Loie Esmond, Opera House, Coventry.
May 30, Hippodrome, Stoke-on-Trent.

THE GREAT RAYMOND,
The Globe-trotting Fun-maker and Illusionist.
Enormous success of First British Tour.
Records Broken Everywhere.
The Biggest, Brightest, Most Elaborate, and Costly Magical Performance ever Toured. Five completely different two-hour Programmes. Gorgeous Stage Settings of Gold, Silver, Silk, and Plush. Special Scenery. The finest variety of five-colour Lithographic Posters in the World, all sizes.
Twenty People. Twenty Tons of Equipment.
Creating a positive Furore everywhere.

Weekly Press Verdicts:—
The finest performance ever seen in the town.
He is the most natural performer in the world.
Such an entertainment has never been seen before.

WANTED, Known, Raymond will be pleased to hear from Managers of Theatres, Halls, and First-class Piers having open time.
A few Summer Dates Vacant.
Coms., Maurice F. Raymond,
En route, or care of "The Era."
Let it be distinctly understood that the name RAYMOND means big business, and nothing is spared to keep up the BREAKING OF RECORDS.
Enormous success of First British Tour.
THE GREAT RAYMOND.

ARTISTS WANTED.

WANTED, for Summer and Autumn Tours, First-class Artists in all lines. Full Particulars, Terms, and, if playing, where can be seen, to Fred Granville, TheDepository, Cazneau-street, Liverpool, N.B. Mark envelopes "Drama."

FRANK ADAIR'S NEW PRODUCTION.
"IT'S ALWAYS THE WOMAN."
Shakespeare Theatre, Clapham, June 20.
WANTED, Special Week, Rehearse in Town. Two Juv. Leading Gentlemen, Irish Comedian (refined light comedy). State height, age, references, terms, &c. Photo in all cases.
Frank Adair, 62, Church-gate, Stockport.

"A DAUGHTER OF THE SEA" CO.
WANTED, Artists for Autumn, present Tour of 51 weeks terminates July 2; Autumn Tour starts July 18. All particulars, photos., and at least three weeks' addresses, Lewis Gilbert, Queen's Theatre, Farnworth.

WANTED, Artists for Stock, including Child, rehearse June 6. Terms (must be low), photos., refs. James Elphinstone, Lyceum Theatre, Stafford.

HARRY ARMITAGE'S STOCK SEASON.
WANTED, Powerful Leading Lady, four (possibly six) weeks, Stock, Blyth. Send photos., absolute lowest Summer terms, to Campbell Goldsmid, Star Theatre, Liverpool.

WANTED, Juvenile Leading Lady. Rehearse 31st. Age, height, references, lowest terms, photos. Carr Loates, White Hart Hotel, Stafford.

WANTED, Lady to understudy Little Damozel and play in first Piece. Terms, height, reference, Mark Blow, 11, St. Edmund's-terr., London, N.W.

WANTED, a Lady and Gentleman, to play small parts for a few weeks in Summer. N. V. Norman, Theatre Royal, Torquay.

WANTED, for Autumn, commence August Bank Holiday, good Amateur Actor and Actress for Répertoire Co. Address, stating height, experience, and two references. Box 7,771 "The Era."

THEATRE ROYAL, DARLINGTON.
WANTED, for Summer Stock,
Experienced Actor
to Produce and Find Dramatic Sketches.
Address, with fullest particulars and absolute lowest inclusive terms to James Bell,

WANTED, Responsible Gent for Small Parts, for few weeks. Send full particulars and terms, Sydney Spenser, Grand Theatre, Radcliffe.

WANTED, Juvenile Gentleman, to look 20, for Son, in "Pride of Regiment." Photo, age, height, terms, Graham; Hippodrome, Ilford.

WANTED, Shortly, Clever Low Comedian, must be versatile. Those disengaged Autumn only apply. Full particulars, references, to T. E. Ward, Star T., Liverpool.

WANTED, Smart Amateur Gentleman, with good appearance and voice, to play part in Musical Comedy (autumn tour). Premium £25. Address, Box 7,783, "The Era."

WANTED, Lady, talented, with £15 available, can have part with salary and percentage, in Screaming Music Hall Sketch, by well-known Author. Only portion of amount may be required.

Address, Box 7,764, "The Era."

WANTED, tall young gentlemanly Juvenile Actor, small part Sketch, two weeks (June 13, July 4), rehearse Liverpool June 7. Salary, photos., experience, Lancelot Lowder, 38, Canning-street, Liverpool.

WANTED, at once, Tall Acrobatic Dancer for Troupe.
Carlene Yorick, East T., Oxford.

WANTED, to Thank the Eighty-Seven Artists who have written in re "Her King of Men" and "Mr. Smith." Those desiring interviews please write again in three weeks, giving address. Probable vacancies for lady and gentleman for responsible parts. Must be young, tall, refined, and used to high-class work.
Fullest particulars, photos, refs., and lowest terms to Russell Norrie, Alex. T., Birmingham.

WANTED, Dramatic Artists who experience difficulty in obtaining copies of "The Era" at any of Messrs. Smith and Sons' Bookstalls to kindly communicate with the Publisher, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Known, Combine Tuition in Stage Dancing (on stage) with Holiday.
Sandgate House, facing Sea, Sandgate.

PANTOMIME ARTISTS WANTED.

Pantomime, 1910-11.
"BABES IN THE WOOD."
"ALADDIN."
"BEAUTY AND THE BEAST."
WANTED, Artists in all Lines. Full Particulars, Terms, References, and where can be seen working next six weeks, to Fred Granville, The Depository, Cazneau-street, Liverpool.
N.B.—Mark envelopes "Panto."

WANTED, Principal Boys, Principal Girls, Comedians of repute, Knockabouts, Demon Kings, Vocal Quartettes, Speciality Dancers, &c., &c., for First-class Panto. Houses. Lowest terms, height, age, experience, fullest particulars,
Smythson's Agency,
38, Craster-road,
Brixton Hill, London, S.W.

WANTED, Pantomime Artists, Comedians for Dames, Barons, Pages, Knockabouts, Patter Comedians, Principal Boys, Principal Girls, 200 Chorus Ladies, not less than 5ft. 4in. Photos, terms, and where can be seen imperative.
Fred J. Little's Agency,
4, Arthur-street, New Oxford-street.
London.

WANTED, for Various Pantomimes, Principals in all Lines.
Male and Female Chorus.
Particulars to E. Dotteridge, Empire, Oldham.

SCENIC ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Scenery, Contracts, Productions, Our Paint Frames, 40 by 34 Theatres completely fitted with Scenery, Ropes, Blocks, Cleats, &c. Estimates and Designs submitted free. Scenery bought and exchanged. Fred Wilkins and Bro., Ltd., 27-35, Duke-street, Liverpool. Telegrams, "Theatrical."

WANTED, Known, Scenery, Properties, Profile Boards.
Bernasconi's, Ltd., Scenic Artists,
41, Gore-street, Liverpool. Tel. 732 Royal.

SCENERY.
WANTED, Contracts for Scenery, Pantomimes, Dramas, Sketches, &c.
Reasonable terms. Estimates free.
Townsend and Co., Rotunda Theatre, Liverpool.

SCENERY OR PROPERTIES.
WANTED, Contracts, New or Secondhand, Hire or Purchase. Largest stock in London. Estimates free. Sharp, 272, St. James-road, Old Kent-road. Tel., 497 Hop.

WANTED, Contracts for Painting Scenery, First-class Work guaranteed. Cecil E. Hicks, Painting Room, Princess's Theatre, Oxford-street, London, W.

WANTED, Known, Theatrical Advertising Curtains, designed, painted, and written. Distance no object. Real good showy work. Will Molesworth, Shirley, Warwickshire.

WANTED, Engagement, now or Autumn, by Scenic Artist of long experience, for high-class work only. Moderate terms for long or permanent engagement. Box 7,760, "The Era."

WANTED, Known, Sidney Beltram, completed engs. with "Her Fatal Marriage" Co. and Hippo., Sheerness. Now at Grand, Brighton. Engagements wanted. Refer.

MISCELLANEOUS.

WANTED, an Energetic, Capable, and Experienced Manager for a London Variety Agency. Some knowledge of foreign languages desirable. Strictest testimonials to to character required. Apply, stating remuneration, &c., required, to Box 7,782, "The Era."

WANTED, smart young Property Man. Apply Saturday, Bird, 43, Harders-road, Peckham; or Hippodrome, Bristol.

WANTED, Operator-Electrician, for High-class Picture Theatre, steady, reliable man. Apply, Manager, Chelsea Rink and Picture Theatre, King's-road, Chelsea.

WANTED, Electrician, to take charge of plant, also combine Stage-Management. State lowest terms, full particulars, refs., photo. White, Pavilion, Rothesay.

WANTED, by smart Working Manager, a change, 17 years' experience in good houses, up to date in Bookings, expert advertiser, control bars, staff, &c.; used to twice nightly, also Pictures. Manager, 5, New York-street, Manchester.

WANTED, by Fred White, Re-engagement as Carpenter or Baggage, capable of small parts; late of F. Bertram, Esq., and F. Fenton, Esq., and Loie Esmond's Co., Theatres or Halls. Address, Grand, Birmingham; Monday, Her Majesty's, Walsall.

WANTED, Engagement, Practical Stage Carpenter, Resident or Tour, now or Autumn; first-class refs. Carpenter, 179, Boleyn-road, Forest Gate.

WANTED, by Foreman Billposter, Position take charge Branch, London and Provincial experience; excellent references. Address, Box 7,754, "The Era."

MUSICIANS WANTED.

WANTED, an experienced Conductor, for a London Music Hall. State experience, and give references, &c. Address, Box 7,761, "The Era."

WANTED, to augment First-class English Ladies' Orchestra, touring Switzerland, First Lady Violinist, thoroughly used to orchestra music, young and good appearance essential. Orchestra performs in first-class hotels, join end of June, fare paid, second class, in advance. State lowest weekly salary, all free. Lady Pianist, combine solo songs also.

Apply direct to MacGregor,
Kursaal Schänzli, Bern, Switzerland.

Double Postage.
Allow time for replies.

WANTED, June 27 (Seaside), 11 Weeks, Variety, good First Violin. Others write. Age, refs., and lowest terms. Harvey's Band Office, Sheffield.

WANTED, First Violinist and 'Cellist for Restaurant, must be brilliant players and soloisits. Liberal salary. Address, 7780, "The Era," giving full particulars.

WANTED, Solo Cornet, Tenting, 32s. 6d.; comfortable shop for young reliable man; open Monday, Lampeter, Cardiganshire. Wire, Bandmaster, Fossett's Circus, Llandyssil.

WANTED, for Concert Season, Brilliant Cornet Soloist. 'Cello Soloist, Second Cornet, Viola, Oboe. Conductor, 44, West End-road, Morecambe.

DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE'S
EASTBOURNE ORCHESTRA.
WANTED, at once,
First Clarionet (flat pitch).
First Clarionet (flat pitch).
First Clarionet (flat pitch).

Apply,
P. Tas, Musical-Director,
Devonshire Park, Eastbourne.

BRIGHTON MUNICIPAL ORCHESTRA.
WANTED, to commence June 27, First-class Harpist. If possible combining another instrument.
Joseph Sainton, Musical Director to the Corporation.

WANTED, First-class Pianist, to Conduct; also First Violin.

Address by letter,
marked "Orchestra."
Sidney Bacon, 143, Charing Cross-rd., London, W.C.

POOLE'S PERFECT PICTURES.
WANTED, Experienced Pianist, commence June 2, at Cowes. Lowest terms and refs.
J. W. Poole, Verona, Malmesbury.

WANTED, Lady Pianist and Vocalist, for Cinematograph Entertainment. Age, references, lowest terms, photo., E. G. Falcon, County Theatre, Bedford.

WANTED, Leader, First Violins, 'Cello, Bass, Flute, Clarionets (A, B, C), Bassoon, Cornets (transpose), Trombone, Double Drummer with Tympanis, Glockenspiel, Tube Bells and Effects, Principals Soloists, June 22, Sept. 30, Hamburg; if satisfactory, all year; Double-handed preferred. Trial expected London; thoroughly experienced, smart Musicians (absolutely useless otherwise). Send details, references, lowest. Director, 92, West End-lane, N.W.

MUSICIANS.
WANTED, at once,
Good B Flat Clarionet,
Tenor Trombone,
and E Flat Bass performers.
Only experienced players need apply.
Address, Bandmaster,
Headquarters, North Irish Horse, Belfast.

WANTED, Known. Wanted, Known. I still have vacancies for First-class Cornets, E Flat Trombone, E Flat Saxophone, BB Bass, Tympani, and Oboe, to open Monday
Palace Theatre, Plymouth.
Others may reply for later vacancies.

Wire, write, or call,
Reano, Bedford Hotel,
Southampton-row, London, W.C.

MUSICIANS WANTED.

WANTED, First Violin, Bass, Cornet, and Drums, open June 20, seaside resort, thrice daily, 13 or 14 weeks, must be well up in Variety; sober and reliable. Send lowest terms, refs., and photo. Beckett, 37, Surrey-street, Runcorn.

WANTED, Euphonium, Cornet, E flat Bombardon, B flat Clarionets (double-handed preferred). Drums. July 4, eight or ten weeks. Bellerby, Council Offices, Ilkley.

WANTED, for Thirteen Weeks, from July 4, Third Clarionet, Second Saxhorn, Trombone, and Double Drums; also Bombardon, to combine String Bass. Hoskino, Adelaide Cottage, Penzance.

WANTED, for Australian Liner, sailing June 3, Pianist, 'Cello or Bass, Cornet (First), and Clarionet.

Refs. to Bandmaster,
1, Thornton-house, South-street, Greenwich.

WANTED, Lady Instrumentalists, Vocalists, Leader, Flute, and Pianist, commence July 1. Stockham's Ladies' English Orchestra, 32, Rembrandtplein, Amsterdam. Stamp 2½d.

WANTED, Two Young Ladies, Violinist and 'Cellist, to study two hours weekly with lady Harpist for mutual practice. London, S.W. Box 7,766, "The Era."

WANTED, Musicians who experience difficulty in obtaining copies of "The Era" at any of Messrs. Smith and Son's Bookstalls, or from any Newsagent in the United Kingdom, to kindly communicate with the Publisher, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

MUSICIANS' WANTS.

WANTED, by Conductor (à la Continental) or Leader, Seaside Engagement. Photo, refs. C., 8, Grafton-square, Clapham, London.

WANTED, Engagement as Conductor, Pianist-Conductor, or Violin, any business; good library. Conductor, 391D, Mile End-road, London.

WANTED, Known, Smart Conductor (violin), disengaged, experienced, and reliable. Extensive library, highest references. Wilfred Ball, 50, Tunnel-road, Wavertree, Liverpool.

WANTED, Engagement as Bandmaster, Solo Cornet, and Violin; efficient and reliable. Institution or Works. Any business. A. C. Jones, c/o Mackersie, 188, High-st, Perth.

WANTED, Engagement by Competent Violinist as Leader, First Violin or Second. Theatre, Variety, or any Business. Also First-class Pianist. Both at Liberty May 21 through closing. F. H. Bridgewater, Drews Holloway, Halesowen, near Birmingham.

WANTED, Engagement, Leader or First Violin, Season or Theatre. Excellent refs. Open at once. Address Box 7,763, "The Era."

WANTED, Engagement as Leader or First or Second Violin, any business; open at once. J. Furniss, 26, Worcester-street, Gloucester.

WANTED, Known, Engagement, Miss Hetty Austin, Violinist and Accompanist, Disengaged May 21. Address, 152, Herbert-road, Plumstead, S.E.

WANTED, by Young Lady Violinist, experienced. engagement, Orchestral and Solos. Box 7,768, "The Era."

WANTED, Engagement, by experienced Violinist (lady). Miss Phyllis Greenwood, 126, Gibbet-street, Halifax.

WANTED, by Experienced Violinist (First), Re-engagement. Open Monday, anywhere. Abstainer; good refs. Phipps, c/o Clements, 176, Gt. George's-street, Glasgow.

WANTED, Engagement as First or Second Violin. Can combine First or Second Clarionet. 74, Purves-road, Kensal Rise.

WANTED, Known, Violinist, at Liberty June 4. Can supply small band of four or more. Conductor, 45, Guildford-road, Levenshulme, Manchester.

WANTED, Engagement by Reliable Second Violin. Can open at once. Any distance. Thomas Pass, No. 5, Baker-street, Reading, Berks.

WANTED, an Engagement by a thoroughly experienced and reliable Violinist. Leader or repetiteur. Any business. Heap, 55, Cog-street, Burnley.

WANTED, Engagement, as Violin, First or Second, any business; can combine Clarionet. Violinist, 48, Upper Victoria-street, Darlington.

WANTED, Shop, by experienced Violinist, steady and reliable.
J. Marsh, 7, Garthland-lane, Paisley, N.B.

WANTED, Engagement, as Violin or Viola, any business. Wire or write,
Kirkman, 120, Albert-road, Blackpool.

WANTED, Engagement, by experienced Violinist, through closing.
J. H. Dixon, Poole's Myriorama, Abertillery.

WANTED, Known, Miss Ida Angless, Solo and Orchestral Cornet, Disengaged.
Address, 61, Dumbarton-road, Brixton Hill, S.W.

WANTED, Engagement, Cornet, First or Second, Season or permanency, experienced Orchestra and Military. Long, Coronet Theatre, London, W.

WANTED, by Good Second Cornet, Engagement in Theatre or Music Hall. Excellent references. Box 7,756, "The Era."

WANTED, Engagement by P. Burke, Solo Cornet, and T. Gordon, Drums, &c, experienced, any business. At Liberty June 6. Address, Hippodrome, Ipswich.

WANTED, Good Engagement, First and Second Cornets, together or separate. Any biz.; good refs. Gildersleeve, 38, Withipoll-street, Ipswich.

WANTED, Engagement, Good First or Second Cornet. Total abstainer, any business, excellent refs. H. Wilson, c/o G.P.O., Edinburgh.

WANTED, Engagement, by good Cornet, experienced and reliable, any business. A. F., 48, Frewell-buildings, Bourne Estate, Holborn, E.C.

WANTED, Engagement by Cornet and Trombone (Ladies).
Box 7,752, "The Era."

WANTED, Engagement as Cornet. Can join at once. Any business; steady and reliable. A. Cuthbert, 186, High-street, Perth, N.B.

WANTED, Engagement, by Solo Cornet, experienced any business. Variety preferred. Charles Walters, 6, Stamfordham, near Consett, co. Durham.

WANTED, an Engagement by a Brilliant Solo Cornet and Trumpet, late solo performer the Crystal Palace, Queen's Hall. Seaside or town, age 33. Soloist, 41, Byrne-road, Balham, S.W.

WANTED, Known, Solo Cornet, Disengaged end of month, any business, experienced, town or seaside. Leedham, 73, Clarence-rd., Sutton.

WANTED, by Experienced Cornet, Engagement, any Business; First-class references. George Bradley, 70, Connaught-rd., Kensington, Liverpool.

WANTED, Known, Miss Lizzie Hepper, Clarionet and Mandoline Soloist, thoroughly experienced, Disengaged. Note change of address, 129, Mirabel-road, Fulham.

WANTED, Engagement as Clarionet, Summer Season, or Permanency. Good experience and references. Orchestral or Military. Clucas, 52, Aberdeen-walk, Scarborough.

WANTED, by two Clarionet Players (chums), Engagement with Season Band.
Box 7,755, "The Era."

WANTED, Engagement by Clarionet Player, reliable, military, or string, good refs. H. Moore, Clarionet, H.M. Theatre, Aberdeen.

WANTED, Engagement by Good Clarionet Player, Orchestra or Military Band. Thoroughly experienced in both. 10, Liverpool-street, King's Cross, W.C.

WANTED, Engagement as Clarionet, thoroughly experienced, Military or Orchestral. Sober and reliable; good refs. Fred Matthews, Leicester-road, Oadby, Leicester.

MUSICIANS' WANTS.

WANTED, Known, Miss Grace Nicholls, Double Bass, is at liberty to accept offers. Any Business. 74, Cowley-road, Ilford.

WANTED, by thoroughly experienced Contra Basso (Carl Rosa), Engagement, highest references; Liberty June 12. Will Darley, Concerts, T. R., Birmingham.

WANTED, by E. flat Bass, Engagement, Army experience, late prize band, reliable. Apply, Penfold, 2, Sidney-street, Ashford, Kent.

WANTED, Engagement, reliable Double Bass, long experience, Musical Plays, any business; good refs. Basso, 216, Lancaster-road, Notting Hill, London, W.

WANTED, by Bassoon, Engagement, any business, disengaged through closing; good refs. T. Hopkins, Upper-street, Fleet, Hants.

WANTED, Engagement by E Flat Bass, Steady and reliable.
Apply, Heath, 8, Sloane-street, Bradford.

WANTED, Engagement by Double Bass, steady and reliable. Open at once. Harry Hare, 43, Great Western-street, Alexander-road, Manchester.

WANTED, Engagement, by good Double Bass, any business, Theatre closing, at Liberty June 6. Tom Unsworth, 1, Gloucester-place, Cheltenham.

WANTED, Known, good Double Bass, at Liberty to deputise for four or five weeks. Bassist, 19, Lloyd-street, Derby.

WANTED, Known, Double Bass, all-round Experience, thoroughly reliable. Open to accept engagement at once. R. B., 19 The Green, Richmond-on-Thames.

WANTED, Situation for Double Bass, good performer, steady, reliable, distance no object. W. Jas. Pranglen, 227, New Kent-road, London, S.E.

WANTED, Engagement, Double Bass, reliable, thoroughly experienced, any business. Hippo. closing 28th. Excellent testimonials. M. H. Chisholm, 1, Mackerrell-street, Paisley.

WANTED, Engagement, String Bass, any district, Theatre or Variety. J. Reeves, 7, Swingate-lane, Plumstead, Kent.

WANTED, engagement by Bassoon or Double Bass any business; steady and reliable. E. M. Lancaster, 5, Mount-pleasant, Ilkley, Yorks.

WANTED, Engagement by Solo Trombonist, experienced, Variety to Opera. Steady, reliable. Can combine Euphonium. Pitblado, 38, Wyndham-street, Pentre, Glams.

WANTED, Engagement, Trombone and Cornet, together or separate, any business; good refs. Climer, Theatre, Bedford.

WANTED, Engagement, as Trombone or Euphonium, or could provide band of six, smart uniform. Apply, Fred Peel, 94, Duke-st., Southport.

WANTED, Engagement, Trombone, in Orchestra or Military Band. Highest experience and references; steady and reliable. Taylor, 44, Stockwell-road, London.

WANTED, by Euphonium, Soloist, combine Trombone, Engagement, Season or permanent, fully experienced; excellent refs. Apply, Box 7,762, "The Era."

WANTED, Engagement by Euphonium and Trombone. At Liberty. Any business. Experienced and sober. Write or wire. Matthews, Clovelly, Oadby, Leicester.

WANTED, Engagement by Euphonium, through closing. Any business. Can open at once. Chas. Grice, c/o Wilson, Theatre-buildings, Kirkcaldy, N.B.

WANTED, Engagement, by Solo Euphonium, Military, Orchestral, Rinks, best references; at Liberty May 30. J. Anthony, 2, Robinson-st., West Hartlepool.

WANTED, Engagement as Euphonium, well experienced, String or Military; abstainer. Spendley, 5, Granville-road, Wimbledon. At Liberty June 5.

WANTED, Engagement, First or Second Horn, or Second Cornet. Good references.
J. Dorson, 19, Myrtle-road, Sutton, Surrey.

WANTED, by French Horn, Engagement, any business.
W. A. Pattison, 23, Hartismere-road, Fulham, S.W.

WANTED, Engagement as Horns, from June 6 to July 16. Address, Messrs. E. A. and W. Chapman, 6, St. Philip's-terrace, Cheltenham.

WANTED, Engagement by Miss Lilian Sexton, Violoncello, or deputising. Experienced. Combine pianoforte. Address, 10, Connaught-street, Hyde Park, London, W.

WANTED, Known, 'Cellist, good abstainer, good refs., seeks Engagement through reducing; permanency desired. Address, 'Cellist, 3, Manchester-street, Southampton.

WANTED, Engagement as 'Cellist, thoroughly experienced, any business, good refs. Also good Trombone, at Liberty. Wiltshire, 61, Vastern-road, Reading.

WANTED, by 'Cello, Engagement or Deputising, any business, or solo; age 30; would combine Clarionet. Sortin, 65, Torren's-buildings, City-road, E.C.

WANTED, Known, Noble Haigh, 'Cellist, Dis. for a Few Weeks, commencing Mon., May 30, High-class work preferred. Wire or write, c/o "The Era."

WANTED, Engagement, Viola, Theatre, Varieties, Seaside, or deputising. At Lib. June 13, through closing. Address Geo. Littlewood, Palace Orchestra, Reading.

WANTED, Engagement as Viola, could combine Trombone; good testimonials; at Lib. June 6. Herbert Allen, 1, Gloucester-place, Cheltenham.

WANTED, Summer Engagement, as Viola, any business, closing June 4.
Address, E. Ransley, Prince's Theatre, Bristol.

WANTED, Known, Viola or Second Violin, Disengaged, any business, first-class refs. Address, G. D., 6, West-road, Portway, West Ham, London, E.

WANTED, Engagement by Experienced Oboe and Cor. Anglais, low or high pitch; excellent references. Oboe, 15, Denis-road, Eastbourne.

WANTED, Re-engagement by Oboe.
G. W. Webb,
50, Kennington Park-road, S.E.

WANTED, by First-class Oboeist, Disengaged for eight weeks, Engagement, whole or part of time. Wright, 18, Windsor-st., Hanley, Staffs.

WANTED, by Oboe, Engagement, experienced in First-class Orchestral and Military Work. Highest references. Address, C. Herrick, oboe, Grand Theatre, Hull.

WANTED, Engagement as Flautist, by Charles Gretton, celebrated Manchester Flute Player; high-class business preferred. Talbot Hotel, Withington, Manchester.

WANTED, by experienced and reliable Flautist, through closing of Theatre, Engagement, good Piccolo Soloist. Flautist, 93, Narbonne-avenue, Clapham Common.

WANTED, by Flute and Clarionet, Engagement, together or separate; experienced, sober; any business; good refs. Karlstedt, 33, Mimosa-street, Fulham.

WANTED, by Flute and Piccolo, Engagement, Orchestra or Military, thoroughly experienced, reliable. Cullen, 9 Woodford-terrace, Pavilion-road, Worthing.

WANTED, Engagement, by Flute and Piccolo, experienced, any business.
Fred Antcliffe, 40, Marina, St. Leonards-on-Sea.

WANTED, Engagement, by Flute and Piccolo, experienced all lines, any business; good refs. Flautist, 15, Treherne-road, Brixton, London, S.W.

MUSICIANS' WANTS.

WANTED, Known, Engagements, Concerts, Banquets, At Homes, &c., Accompanist, Composer, Singers Coached. Miss Katherine Moore, 7, Pilkington-road, Peckham, London.

WANTED, by Lady Pianist, excellent reader, Summer Engagement, in Trio, Hotel, Margate or neighbourhood; songs at piano. Box 7,757, "The Era."

WANTED, by Lady Pianist, Re-engagement, experienced, Orchestral, Dramatic, Pictures, Variety, Expert Accompanist. Pianist, 57, Wargrave-avenue, Stamford Hill, London, N.

WANTED, Engagement by Lady Pianist, experienced in Dramatic and Variety, Orchestral, or Solo. M. S. S., 59, Tideswell-rd., Eastbourne.

WANTED, Summer Engagement as Pianist, with Orchestra, Conductor, or High-class party; good orchestral library. Beaumont, Conductor, Victoria Hall, Halifax.

WANTED, Summer Engagement, by Experienced Pianist, Solo, Orchestral and Accompanist, seaside preferred. Fred Hooton, 14, Clarendon-st., Nottingham.

WANTED, Re-engagement by Pianist, Orchestral and Accompanist; also Violinist, both long experience; good refs., together or separate. Sales, 67, Clarence-road, Sutton.

WANTED, Engagement, Pianist (can combine Clarionet), or as Pianist-Conductor. Can arrange. Haydn Farnhill, 72, York-street, Bedford.

WANTED, by Lad, 16, smart Pianist, reads sight, MS., son of well-known Variety Artist, Engagement, Picture Palace, &c. J. D., 40, Ravensbourne-road, S.E.

WANTED, by Good Double Drummer and Effects, engagement, any business. First-class refs. Address, Drums, 5, Beardell-street, Upper Norwood, London.

WANTED, Engagement by Drummer, experienced, any business. Theatre closing. Excellent refs. Write, Harry Ades, 1, Gloucester-place, Cheltenham, Gloucester.

WANTED, Engagement, Double Drummer and Effects, thoroughly experienced, steady and reliable; can open immediately through closing unexpectedly. Walley, Tivoli, Pentre.

WANTED, Engagement, by good Double Drummer, with Effects, Dramatic, Variety, any business; excellent refs.; can join at once. Drummer, 14, Hilldrop-terrace, Torquay.

WANTED, Known, at Liberty, Drums, &c., or Tymps and Drums, any business. First-class references, steady and reliable. R. Evans, 63, Seaford-street, Shelton, Stoke-on-Trent.

WANTED, Engagement, by Double Drummer, any business. Drums, c/o 33, Harbury-road, Cannon Hill, Birmingham.

WANTED, by experienced Drummer and Tympanist, reliable, through closing. Kent, c/o Mrs. McCourt, 4, Clarence-street, Paisley.

WANTED, Engagements, Celebrated Ladies' Poppy Orchestras and Singers, from Brighton, Southport, Ramsgate Piers, Olympia, &c. Scarlet costume. 19, Bedford-place, Brighton.

THE RED ROSE ORCHESTRA.
MANTON-MYATT FAMILY.
WANTED, Known, just concluded highly successful Engagements at Royal Pier Pavilion, Aberystwyth, Pontypridd, &c., now at Exeter and Exmouth, and fully Booked till Autumn.
One of the very best small orchestras before the public.—Vide Press.
All enquiries,
Madame Manton-Myatt,
28, Rosendale-road, West Dulwich, S.E.

WANTED, Engagements for Madame Angless's Celebrated Orchestra of Ladies, vacant Summer. Great success New Britannia Pier, Great Yarmouth (nine consecutive seasons). Smart Costumes, up-to-date Répertoire. 61, Dumbarton-road, Brixton Hill, S.W.

WANTED, Known, Celebrated Ladies' Cremona Orchestra, including Vocalists, &c.; smart uniform; any business. Dorothea A. Vincent, 8, Grafton-sq., Clapham, S.W. 'Phone 990 Battersea.

WANTED, Known, Imperial Ladies' Orchestras, Vocalists, Bells, &c.; established 1890. Directress, Madame Nellie Baker, 114, Woodlands-road, Ilford. 'Phone 877 Ilford.

WANTED, Engagement, for the White Rose Ladies' Orchestra.
Kent, 23, Moring-road, London, S.W.

WANTED, Seaside Engagement, for Miss Kathleen Wolseley's Quartette (two Violins, 'Cello, Piano), Leader, Medalist Associated Board, R.A.M., R.C.M.; extensive Répertoire. 88, Chichele-road, Cricklewood.

WANTED, Known, the celebrated Zingari Band will be at Liberty early in June, ten to twenty performers, brass or reed, splendid uniform and répertoire. Professor Mitchell, Oates-square, St. Mark's-street, Leeds.

WANTED, Engagement, British-Hungarian Orchestra, small number can be engaged for Restaurants, &c. Vincent, 163, Norwood-road. 'Phone, 392 Brixton.

WANTED, Seaside, for Collini's Military, Orchestral Band, any business, splendid library, Rinks this season, Highgate, Stratford, Woking, Stamford Hill. C/o "The Era."

WANTED, Known, J. Guy's Imperial Military Bands at Liberty for next season, smart uniforms and first-class music. Piers, promenades, fêtes, garden parties, dances. London address, American Rink, Merton, till June 4, 1910.

WANTED, by the Royal Bohemian Band, six, to any number, Exhibitions, Theatres, Pictures, &c. Uniforms or evening dress. 47, Rodney-street, Wigan.

WANTED, Engagement, First-class Quartette or Trio (Violins, 'Cello, and Piano). Hotels, Hydros, &c. Apply, Conductor, 96, Oxford-road, Reading.

WANTED, Engagements for Ladies' Orchestra or Trio. For terms and vacant dates, apply Mme. Silvestre, 84, Cavendish-place, Eastbourne.

WANTED, Short Season Engagement, by small Brass or Military Band, just finishing nine months' engagement at Clifton; booked for re-opening Sept. Smart Uniform, good Library; first-class testimonials. W. Durrant, Arcade, Bristol.

WANTED, Engt., good small Military or Orchestral Band, any business, experience in Bandstand Programmes; highest references; uniforms. Maddison, 11, Inver-rd., Clapton.

WANTED, Seaside Engagement, by Smart Orchestral Band; Rink, Pictures, Ball-room, &c. Special Summer Terms. Uniform; evening dress. Palmer, M.D., Grovehill-road, Beverley.

CIRCUS ARTISTS WANTED.

E. H. BOSTOCK'S INTERNATIONAL
RAILROAD CIRCUS.
WANTED, July 4, for Tenting, Good Comedy Act; also small but good Troupe Dogs.
Address, with terms, E. H. Bostock, Zoo, Glasgow.

CIRCUS ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, by Rumbo Austin, Talking and Knockabout Clown, May 30, onwards; also Mlle. Sylvesto, Contortionist. Wire, 35, Hercules-road, London, S.E.

WANTED, Known, Dan Gregory, English and Continental Clown, now appearing with big success at the Royal Italian Circus, Aberdeen, and kindly wishes to thank Mr. George Arundale for paying salary in full.

WANTED, Known, Bishop and Winkles, Clowns, still alive and going strong. Thanks to Geo. Arundale, Esq., for paying salaries in full.

WANTED, Fêtes and Galas, for the most daring Act on earth.

Watson's Somersaulting Motor-Car.
Watson's Somersaulting Motor-Car.
Watson's Somersaulting Motor-Car.

Sensations eclipsed.

Apply, Watson,
37, Lorn-road, London, S.W.

CIRCUS ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Known, that Signor Lorenzo, King of Aerial Performers, now performing for Studt's on his High Mast, at Liberty on June 21. C/o Post Office, Ferndale, South Wales.

WANTED, Known, The Knotellas (Harry and Rose), Flexible Acrobats and Dancers, Liberty July, on, Fêtes; two Acts. 4, Peterboro'-mansions, Fulham.

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS WANTED.

WORCESTER PALACE OF VARIETIES.
WANTED, Variety Artists, also Empire, Worcester. No wires. ARTHUR CARLTON, Palace, Worcester.

BRITANNIA, GLASGOW.
WANTED, Variety Artists in all Lines, now and onwards, with exceptions. Address, MANAGER, as above.

WANTED, for Hippodrome, Blackpool, Variety Artists, all Lines, Monday, May 30, and on. Terms, vacancies, &c., MANAGER.

WANTED, Monday, June 12, and onwards. Variety Artists, all Lines, Stars and good Specialities. Particulars, KITCHINGMAN, Aquarium, Scarborough.

WANTED, Star Artists, all Lines, for Immediate and Future Dates. WILLIAM MOULD, Central Palace, North Shields.

WANTED, Star Artists all Lines, from now onwards; Hall small, terms same. Good break for Artists going North, South, or Ireland. J. J. SCOTT, Empire, Wrexham.

WANTED, Artists, small Fête, July 21, Aug. 1, and other dates. Absolute lowest, lithos., &c., TOM HAY and Co., Gloucester.

WANTED, Artists in all Lines, to send full list of Bookings. Suitable turns can have tour arranged in Scotland, also North of England. Wire "Contracts, Greenock"; 'Phone 800. SKIVINGTON'S Agency, 41, Ardgowan-street, Greenock.

FRED DURHAM'S AGENCY.
WANTED, Artists, in all Lines, June 6, on. 1A, Loughboro'-rd., Brixton. 'Phone 15 Brixton.

BIRMINGHAM AND DISTRICT VARIETY AGENCY.
WANTED, Artists in all Lines, May 30, onwards. Letters, R. FORDHAM, Star Hotel, Brierley Hill, Staffs.

THE WARREN AGENCY.
WANTED, Artists, Novel and Original, Tops, Bottoms, Middies, &c., British, American, and Continental, who have not played the Syndicate Halls, send bookings, lowest terms, particulars, &c., 21, Victoria-street, Liverpool. No callers.

WANTED Star Artists, Big Tops and Bottoms, Town and Country. "Lord" GEO. AYTOUN, 25, Camberwell New-road, London, S.E.

WANTED, Alfresco Artists, all Lines, Lancs. Open next week. Send full particulars, age, height, &c., and enclose photos. WILL ELGAR, Empire, Ton-y-pandy.

VERNO'S AGENCY,
16, Elizabeth-street, Liverpool.
WANTED, Artists, in all Lines, June 6, onwards. Telegrams, "Merriment." Telephone, 2,076 Royal.

WANTED, Known, Grand Trial Turn Matinée will be Held at the Hippodrome, Hull, on Thursday, June 16, when many prominent London Agents will be present with a view to booking any acts of merit. Mr. Walter Bentley will himself guarantee immediate bookings for suitable turns. Send in names and description of business to him at once, to the Hippodrome, Hull. Several turns booked from last Matinée.

WANTED, all communications re Engagements for Temperance Hall, Merthyr, to be addressed to DAN NOBLE'S Agency, 272, Liverpool-street, Salford.

WANTED, to Open Next Week, London Halls, Smart Amateur Ladies and Gents. Genuine engagements offered to the right people. Call, WARRENER'S, 46, Rathbone-place, Oxford-st., W. 'Phone, 498, Gerrard.

CADLE'S AGENCY.
WANTED, for June 6 and onward, Stars in all Lines. Stars in all Lines. CADLE'S Agency, 105-106, Strand, W.C.

VINT'S ELECTRIC PALACES, NEATH, BARRY DOCK, LOUGHBOROUGH, KETTERING, RUGBY, and EXMOUTH.
WANTED, well-known Turns, Comedy, Musical Comedy, Vocal, smart Light Comedy Duos, clever Juvenile Troupes, and anything smart, for Summer Dates. Address, ARTHUR BROGDEN, General-Manager, Barry Dock.

WANTED, Good Turns for Outdoor Carnival (Covered Stage) for Nine Days, commencing July 14. Apply, GREEN, The Carnival, Glasgow.

WANTED, for Anderton and Rowland's Picture Palace, on Tour, First-class Speciality Turn. Open Monday, for 4 weeks. Terms, &c., ANDERTON and ROWLAND Empire Fair Ground, Penzance.

JOHN R. POOLE'S PICTURE PALACE.
WANTED, Speciality Turns for June 6, 13, 20, 27, and July 4. Must be refined and up-to-date. Those who have played Aberdare don't apply. POOLE, Palace, Gloucester.

WANTED, Very Best of Talent, in all Lines, for Widnes, Runcorn, and Northwich. Refinement Essential. HAMILTON & HUGHES, Co-Op. Hall, Widnes.

DAVE BARNARD'S AGENCY,
Shaw-street, Liverpool.
Telephone, 2349 Royal.
WANTED, Wanted, Wanted, Big Acts, salary or sharing. Big Acts, Salary or Sharing. Immediate Dates and on.

WANTED, Big Acts, Blackpool and Morecambe. July and August. JAMES FIONI'S Agency, 21, Norton-street, Liverpool.

WANTED, for Royal Star Palace, Bridgeton; Royal Star Palace, Partick, Glasgow. General-Manager, Mr. Gus Lazenberg. Acts in all Lines. Price no object for Star Numbers. LAZENBERG, Star Palace, Bridgeton, Glasgow.

WANTED, Gala Acts, all Lines. Send Dates and actual lowest. Plenty of work. TURNER'S Agency, St. Julian's Hall, Guernsey, C.I.

PALACE, SUNDERLAND.
WANTED, really Big Specialities, Acrobatic Comedy Troupes, Big Animal Acts, Novel Musical Shows, Pantomimical Troupes, with Trick Scenery, and any really Funny Novelty, for June 6, 13, onwards. Lowest terms and samples of printing to Manager, Palace, Sunderland.

WANTED, Novel Specialities, Sensational Acts of all kinds, for Week's Carnival, London, commencing Aug. 1. Terms, Lithos, &c., to CLAUDE ERNEST, Reliable Entertainment Bureau, 97, Wick-road, South Hackney, London, N.E.

EMPIRE, BARNSLEY.
Managing-Director, WILL SMITHSON.
WANTED, good Drawing Novelties, for Top of Bill, June 13 and 27, and Autumn dates. Must be good Attractions.

PERCY VICTOR'S AGENCY.
WANTED, the Greatest Top-liners. Artists all lines. Big Variety Combinations (immediate Dates). First-class Performers, for Six Pantomimes (trial week given Panto. artists). Good Gala Acts. Bookings. Perm., Pictorials, 48, Bilston-street, Wolverhampton.

PALACE THEATRE, READING.
WANTED, Tops and Bottoms of Bills, several dates this and next year. Letters only, STANHOPE and Co., LTD., 12, Buckingham-st., W.C.

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS WANTED.

BODIE'S ROYAL MAGNETS AND ENTERPRISES.
WANTED, Artists all Lines, Single and Double Turns, Specialities, &c., for Bodie's Royal Magnets, No. 1, 2, and 3 Companies, also clever Young Lady Pianist, for long tour, must be petite, young, and good appearance, and be able to play from memory; to suitable party a long and comfortable engagement assured; latest photo. must be sent, also age, height, and weight. I have several vacant dates for No. 1 Combination, including the greatest draw in the country, the one and only Dr. Walford Bodie, the Monarch of all Entertainers, admitted by the Press, Public, Proprietors, Managers, and even jealous Pros. as the greatest Showman living. "Barnum redivivus." Still playing to record business. Broke all records at Wakefield and Rotherham last week. This week playing to phenomenal business at the Marina Theatre, Lowestoft; packed to the doors nightly with the elite of the town. Cheered to the echo again and again. The vast audiences held spellbound nightly with the marvellous doings of a marvellous man. The whole talk of the town. Many thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Pareezer for very happy week, and offer of return dates at all his Theatres. Mr. Pareezer says: Doctor, you are greater than ever; the business is simply phenomenal. Your marvellous cures the wonder of all beholders. Your charming personality has again won the hearts of my patrons. There is only one verdict—Dr. Bodie is irresistible; he is truly a human magnet, and gets right to the heart of the people. Our Advance Booking this week is a record, despite the week after the holidays, and the beautiful weather. There is only one Bodie. You can have return dates at all my theatres. Many thanks to Managers for offers, but must have our price.
Remember, the working expenses of this great show are over £100 per week.
If you are doing bad business, send for Dr. Bodie; he will cure it.
Remember, the only vacant dates now this year are June 27, July 4, 11, 18, 25, Aug. 8, Nov. 21, 28, Dec. 5, 12, 19.

Dr. Bodie is supported by Gigantic Company of Star Artists, and has the finest and most sensational Coloured Pictorial Printing on the road, by Stafford and Co., D. Allen and Sons, Avery and Co., &c., &c.

All letters, &c., please address to Sole Director and Proprietor, ALBERT EDWARD BODIE, Hippodrome, King's Lynn.

Look out for startling Advertisement. An eyeopener.

WANTED, Artists in All Lines. June 6, Barrow-in-Furness.

June 13, Theatre Royal, Worcester.
June 20, Empire, Swindon, and a Great Many Other Dates.
Nothing Too Big, Nothing Too Small.
Sure Money-Comfortable Engagements.
No Commission.
Artists must state whether ever appeared at any of the Towns mentioned before, or whether Quite New for Towns in question.

Lowest Combination Terms to THE DAYTON FAMILY, The Hippodrome, Bishop Auckland.

WANTED, Top Liners, for Continent. Sole Continental Agency only entertained. SMYTHSON'S Agency, 38, Craster-road, Brixton Hill, London, S.W.

Also Star Acts for Britain.
Are you vacant for Panto. 1910-11?
Then, see Panto. "Artists Wanted" Column.

PALACE, DURHAM (on the Main Line).
WANTED, Tops, Bottoms, and Middles, with drawing powers, immediate and future dates. T. C. RAWES, Proprietor.

WANTED, Big Tops and Bottoms, now and onwards. HARRY TAFT, Alhambra, Paris. May 30, Chatham.

WANTED, Big Valuable Tops and Bottoms, for Immediate and Later Dates; also Smaller Turns. State full bookings and absolute lowest summer price. (See Wanted Artists Column). SEARS, Empire, Tonypandy.

WANTED, Big Star Tops Aug. 1 and 22; also Small Items, for July, onwards. Write or wire, NORTHERN COUNTIES AGENCY, Levenshulme, Manchester.

WANTED, Tops and Bottoms for Middlesbro', Stockton, and Scarboro'. Terms, Lithos, Full Bookings, WILLIAM AINSWORTH'S NORTHERN AMUSEMENT BUREAU, 135, Abingdon-rd., Middlesbro'.

WANTED, Girls with Smart Appearance (short) to join Troupe; those with good voices and can do clog-dancing. HAMILTON, The Rifleman, Kennington Park-road, Saturday, 1 p.m.

WANTED, for Troupe, a Smart Girl. Must be a good singer and dancer. Full particulars to Box 7,775, "The Era."

WANTED, to work Halls with Comedian in Comedy Duologue, Lady, must be tall, good, youthful appearance. Letters only, photo., salary, refs. MAY, 65, Delverton-road, Kennington, S.E. No Singing or Dancing.

WANTED, a really beautiful Girl, experienced in some form of Oriental Dancing, or one who would be willing and capable of learning same under competent tuition. State experience, and enclose photo. (returnable), SEARS, Empire, Ton-y-Pandy; or 166, Piccadilly, London.

WANTED, Good Tumbler, at once, one used to Comedy preferred. State Age, Height, Terms, &c., RECCO, Grand, Bolton.

WANTED, young Athlete (educated Amateur might suit), to be coached in part requiring some athletic work, long tour to suitable man; no premium required. Full particulars, LAMBERT, 6, Hollinshead-street, Chorley, Lancashire.

WANTED, Lady Assistant to work in first-class Electric Act, principal Tours Give height, weight, age, salary required. State previous experience (if any), Box 7778, "The Era."

WANTED, Bioscope Operator; only those who thoroughly understand their business need apply. State age, references, and salary. E. G. FALCON, County Theatre, Bedford.

WANTED, good Operator, sober and reliable, join immediately; one used to gas or electric. Age, terms, and references to Circus, Killarney, Monday and Tuesday.

WANTED, Music Hall Artists who experience difficulty in obtaining copies of "The Era" at any of Messrs. Smith and Son's Bookstalls to kindly communicate with the PUBLISHER, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Known, Madame Adah Payne, the Australian Prima Donna, late of Moody-Manners' Principal Opera Company, at Liberty for May 30, June 6, and July 4. Thanks Frank Macnaghten, Esq., for further offers; also Charles G. Rembges, Esq., Jack Waters, Esq., and H. Montague Franklin, Esq., for offers. To-day, Royal, Warrington (return); next week, 35, Churchgate, Stockport.

WANTED, Monday next, 30th, also June 6, 13, Violet Rivers, Comedienne, Dancer, and Speciality Whistler, encored nightly; also Jack Pardoe, the clever Wire-walking, Bending, and Tumbling success. Don't miss two successful Acts, but wire quick. Temperance Hall, Merthyr Tydfil; one or both.

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, by Madge Price, Charming Creole, Plantation, and Coon Vocalist, six or twelve nights, June 6, 13, 20. This, R. C. T., Warrington; next, T. R., St. Helens.

WANTED, Known, Terry Sisters. A decided hit everywhere. At Liberty June 13 and 27. May 30, Hippo., Accrington.

WANTED, by Sisters Geretti, June 20, July 11, 25, Oct, 3 10. Address, Casino, Rotterdam, Holland.

WANTED, June 6, 13, 20, by Dolly, Agnes, and Maud, the Famous Singing Boxmakers, Three Sisters. Sure draw for Picture, Halls. Add., Alex. Theatre, Widnes.

WANTED, Engagements, Dan Ashton, Collier Comedian (Original), Enthusiastic Receptions E., S. Shields Mon., Hippo., Wallsend-on-Tyne. Coms., 104, Clayton-st., Jarrow.

WANTED, Known, Lucknow, English and Continental Comedy Musical and Patter Comedian, Liberty May 30, June 6. Wire, 16, Moreton-street, Strangeways, Manchester.

WANTED, by Phil Durham, Summer Dates. Comedy and Scotch Songs in Character or otherwise; Speciality if required. 46, Claverton-street, S.W.

WANTED, Known, Happy Attwood, vacant June 6. Wire to-day, Palace, Worcester; Monday, Alexandra, Pontefract.

WANTED, by Sergeant Bert Powell, the famous Military Entertainer and Illusionist, June 6, 13, and 20, concludes to-night Theatre, Perth; next week, Victoria T., Uddingston, near Glasgow.

WANTED, May 30, also June 6 and 13, by the Great Li-Chang-Hi, Chinese Conjurer. Theatre, Worthing. D.C. and Demy Lithos.

WANTED, Known, King of Mystonia. Big Success. Packed houses during the week at Worksop. All Coms., LESLIE STANLEY, East Oxford T., Oxford.

VENTURINIS, returned from South America. WANTED, Known, only vacant May 30, June 6, 13, 20, 27, Venturinis, Great Illusion Act; only Novelties; also Asra, the In the Air Floating and In the Air Disappearing Lady, and the Glass Trunk Mystery; best draw. Good top or bottom for everywhere. Wire, VENTURINI, 4, Old Compton-street, London, W.C.

WANTED, June 13, 27, on (exceptions), The Monckton's (Fred, Lillie), Premier Duologuists, presenting screaming farcical absurdities, "A Woman's Curiosity," "Two in a Flat." Monday, Hippo., Hulme, Manchester.

WANTED, June 13, 27, on, Fred and Lillie Monckton presenting original Dramatic Episode, "A Daughter of Judas." Monday, Hippo., Hulme, Manchester.

WANTED, Known, Winnie Steele, Musical Sketches, Imitations, Humorous and Sentimental Songs; and W. B. Steele, Humorous Songs, Monologues, successful Manager. Duologues a Speciality. Entertainment in themselves. Open through disappointment. 5, Vernon-road, Stratford, E.

WANTED, by Wisper, Comedy Kid Juggler, and Miss Beattie Bloom, a Star Comedienne, June 6 and 27. Wire, Hippo., Leigh, Lancs.

WANTED, Monday next, by the Dancing Duggans, Vocalists and Skate Dancers, Buck Dancing, Dance on Skates. 119, Lombard-street, Birmingham.

WANTED, Monday next and June 6. Ray and Lingard, in Comedy Sketch; also Rene Ralph, Comedienne and Dancer. Wire, 218, Stockwell-road, Brixton, S.W.

WANTED, by Ward and Davis (Howard and Louie), Mus. Com. Duo, in "Wanted, a Typist," Mon. next. Just concluded Gibbons, 175, Bromsgrove-st., Birmingham.

WANTED, June 6 (South preferred) and 27, by Tom Kelso and Edie George, in Novelty Comedy Sporting Scena. Novel and original in song, dance, and story. New Scenic effects, well dressed and mounted. Refer Mr. Rembges, Empire, Middlesbrough (last week). This, Hippo., Keighley; next, Gaiety, Chatham.

WANTED, Monday next, by Cambo, the Musical Monkey, assisted by Nora Castelle, big sensational Novelty Musical Act. Two acts if required. Wire offers, PICTUREDROME, Longton, Staffs.

WANTED, June 6 and 20, by Ryder Davis, Comedian; Eva Ward, Burlesque. Till Sat., Tivoli, Manchester. Next, Palace, Cradley, Staffs.

WANTED, June 6 and Later Dates, Belasco, refined Musical Act. Isa Davis, Petite Mimic. May 30, City Varieties, Leeds.

WANTED, by the Bros. Webb, July 11, Aug. 1, 8. Address, Hippodrome, Ipswich.

WANTED, Monday next, and June 6, The Eldras, Canine Acrobatic Act. This, Imperial Var., Canning Town; next, 27, Philenon-house, Westminster Bridge-road, London.

WANTED, Known, Elton and Elma, Knockabout Triple Bar Act, Liberty June 6 and 13. Monday, Hippodrome, Boscombe.

WANTED, June 6, by Ray and Douglas, the Original Comedy Couple. Away from all others. This, Empire, Dudley; next, Pavilion, Northampton.

WANTED, by Hector and Lauraine, Novelty Grotesque Comedians, June 13, 20. Coms., Victoria Theatre, West Stanley, co. Durham.

WANTED, Known, Pearce and Ward, Comedy Artists. This, Empire, Doncaster; next, Hippo., Preston. Vacant June 6, only vacancy.

WANTED, Monday next, by Fields and Lewis, Great Comedy Act. Topping the Bill this week, Grand, Manchester (third return). Wire.

WANTED, by Kloof and Ramsay, May 6, on, Refined Original, Clever Musical Funny Novelties, Singing, Starring, &c. 30th, Hippo., Aldershot.

WANTED, June 6 and 20, by the Original Ward and Davis, Comedy Duo. This week, Tivoli, Manchester (tenth return). All coms, May 30, RYDER DAVIS, Palace, Cradley Heath.

WANTED, June 6 and 13, by Will and Roze, Novelty Comedy Act, "Le Café Magique." Coms., Empire, Swindon.

Vacant. Gala Season. Vacant.
Free for Seaside Towns, Free
The Great Vincent, Acrobatic Table Expert.
The Great Vincent, Acrobatic Table Expert.
The Great Vincent, Acrobatic Table Expert.
The Great Vincent, Acrobatic Table Expert.
WANTED, Wanted, Wanted, Galas or Seaside Engagements for the weeks of June 27, July 4, 11, 18, 25, and Aug. 1. all communications, This week, Hippodrome, Exeter. Next week, Empire, Sheffield.

WANTED, Known, Le Blond and Miss Ol. Dare, Liberty for Fêtes, Galas, Halls, with New and Sensational Revolving Breakway Ladder. Wood Castle, Bordesley Green, Birmingham.

WANTED, by Mlle. Sylvesto and Comedy Assistant, the Lady Contortionist with a figure, a Novel and Original Act, free Monday 30th, also June 6, onwards. Big success on return visit at Hippo., Burslem, Staffs., where wire till Saturday; after, 35, Hercules-road, London, S.E.

WANTED, May 30, June 6, onward, Rohde and Roche, Chameleon Artist and It, combined with clever Comedy Contortion, Singing, Dancing, Pot-Pourri Act. 41, St. Mary's-square, Kennington-road, London, S.E.

WANTED, by Frantz's Comedy Five, May 30, June 6, 13, 20. Topping Varieties, Leeds. P. A., 15, Richmond-terrace, Clapham, London, S.W.

WANTED, Known, What a Draw, Four Cecilians, Top Line, storming everywhere. Vacant May 3, June 6. 120, Victoria-dwellings, Clerkenwell, London.

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, June 13 and 20, The Carlsens, Continental Comedy, Trampoline Speciality and Champion Somersault Dog Jack; own Scenery, splendid Lithos. Sure success. Hippo., York.

WANTED, by Maro Duo, June 6, 13, 20, Funniest Three-bar Act; all say so. This, Tunbridge Wells; Monday, Grand, Manchester.

WANTED, Known, Brothers Almo, Comedy Three Bar Act. At Liberty. Two Acts. Fêtes and Galas. 34, Highfield-street, Beeston Hill, Leeds.

WANTED June 6, onwards, by The Woellhafs, High-class well-dressed Comedy Act. 120, Merrow-street, Walworth, S.E.

WANTED, June 6 and 13, by the Three Borelia Brothers, the World's Greatest Gymnastic Act. This, Hippo., Southend-on-Sea; next, Palace, Derby. Now finishing De Frece Tour. Apply direct, or LEO FRITZ, or ANGER and BAUER.

WANTED, May 30 (through transferring Ilkeston), also June 13, on, by the Flying Orenius'. 67, Walcot-square, Lambeth, S.E.

WANTED, Monday next, by La Dor Troupe, male and female Novelty Acrobats, three Acts. Hippodrome, West Bromwich. Wanted, smart Youth, Acrobat.

WANTED, June 6, 20, 27, by Gulliver, Ventriloquist, and the Doll with the Laugh; a great Comedy Act. Successes everywhere. Managers in want of a strong Comedy Act full of life and novelty, should wire. Monday, Spanish City, Whitley Bay.

WANTED, June 20, July 4, 11, by Hulbert, Ventriloquist, and De Lil, Illusionist. Two acts. Offers invited. Public Hall, Runcorn.

WANTED, Monday next and June 6, by Wheatley, the Original Ventriloquial Coon; a thorough reliable turn. Wire, Theatre R., Tyldesley.

MISS ELLA'S EDUCATED LION SHOW.
WANTED, Managers to secure this sure draw. Vacant for the months of June, July, and Aug. Offers invited. 18, Gloucester-st., Jersey, C.I.

WANTED, Known, Miss Tudora's Ponies. Liberty June 13, 27, and on. June 6, Hastings. All coms., Pier, Hastings.

WANTED, Known, Miss Shanara's Great Troupe Deer, Goats, Great Novelty, the only Known Act of this kind; refined, up-to-date; something out of the usual. Stage Set and Costumes A1. Big Turn for Parks, Fêtes; the one Original. Marvellous performance, including the High-springing Bok. For dates address, 24, Worcester-street, Gloucester.

WANTED, Known, Mlle. Hengleur and her Beautiful Troupe of Russian Poodles and Leaping Dogs. Great Attraction for Galas, Garden Parties, &c. Success Gala, Whit, Longton Park. Vac. May 30, June 6, 13, Aug. 1. Coms., Tudno House, Rhyl.

WANTED, by Daisy Graham's Troupe of Educated Birds and Baby Dog. Liberty June 6, 13, 27. Address, 20, Clarence-street, Penzance.

WANTED, Known, Devereux's Wonderful Dogs. Big Show for Galas, &c. A sure success. Liberty June 6 and 13. Hippo., Dewsbury.

WANTED, Known, Clown Inanda presents Bute, the marvellous educated canine wonder, refined speciality, humorous, clever, the only dog performing the Barrel Act. This, Palace, Gloucester; 30th, Poole's Pictures, Aberaina. For dates address, 24, Worcester-street, Gloucester. Big for Pictures and Galas.

WANTED, Known, the Cyclinis, Football on Wheels and Sensational Somersaults on Bicycles. Vac. June 6, 13; also Galas. Next, Vic. T., Kettering.

WANTED, The Dunlops, Comedy Cyclists and Skaters; Lillian Sivado, Gymnast; vacant June 13. Address, St. Julian's Hall, Guernsey, C.I.

WANTED, May 30, June 6, Swift Duo, a real'y funny Act on Cycles. Wire, Tredegar Hall, Newport, Mon.; after Sat., 43, Oscar-street, St. John's, London, S.E.

WANTED, Pauletti, Acrobatic Eccentric Cyclist, vac. for few Galas only. Two good acts. Perm., 105, Bigland-street, Salford, Manchester.

WANTED, Engagement with well-known Comedy Act (with bookings preferred), by well known first-class patterer, comedy tumbling, dancing, knockabout comedian. Box 7,774, "The Era."

WANTED, Known, good strong Gymnast, Hand Balancer, Hand Jumper, and Comedy Knockabout, at Liberty Monday. FRANK THOMAS, 62, Frithville-gardens, Shepherd's Bush.

PIERROT WANTEDS.

WANTED, Amateurs of Education, Refinement, and Ability, for First-class Concert Party. LYNN and HARDING, Savoy House, Strand, W.C.

WANTED, Pierrot Performers, Ladies and Gents. Also good Pianist who can sing. Must be refined. One or two good amateurs might write. Full particulars to CHARLES MASON, Acting-Manager, Palace, Watford.

PAVILION, SYDNEY GARDENS, BATH.
WANTED, complete Concert Parties, on Sharing terms. Vacant dates to FRED MCCREA, Gloucester.

WANTED, Young Lady to sing and play piano at well-known South Coast Town, must go on shares; also experienced Alfresco Comedian. Letters only, D., 14, Glebe-place, S.W.

WANTED, immediately good Low Comedian for High-class Concert Party. Photos (imperative) and Lowest Terms for Long Tour. H. J., c/o Actors' Association, 32, Regent-street, W.

WANTED, Al Fresco Comedian (Funny), well up in gags and Sketches; open at once. Lowest terms, ALLNUTT, P.O., Stroud, Glos.

WANTED, Known, Fred Roper (La Dame Comique), Versatile Comedian, Lady Impersonator, Elaborate Costumes, Humorous Entertainer and Dramatic Monologues, 4 different turns, refined and successful, concerteds, sketches, moderate terms. Splendid attraction for Alfresco or Tour. Offers invited. PRESTON, Candover, Basingstoke.

WANTED, Good Pitches for High-class, Refined Pierrot Troupes, Seaside or Inland Towns. Public Gardens, Hotel Gardens, &c. CHARLES MASON, Acting Manager, Palace, Watford.

SHOWMEN'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

WANTED, Known, Cartridges, all Brands, Winchester Repeaters, Glass Globes, Water Balls, Targets, and every size cartridge, for the Stage, in stock. GREENE, 74, Falmouth-road, London, S.E.

PIPE ORGANS.
WANTED, Wanted, Known, the Patent Posauto.
Can be played by Hand or Paper Roll.
Unlimited Répertoire.
Impressive and Beautiful Tone.
Full particulars from The POSITIVE ORGAN CO., LTD., 44, Mornington-crescent, N.W.

NOTICE TO EXHIBITORS.
WANTED, Known, Just the Thing. Send Sevenpence for samples and particulars of the latest Novelty, the Rotary Calculating Machine, shilling line, good profits. PEARCE & COOP, LTD., 48, Strand, London.

AMERICAN PARK,
AMERICAN PARK,
AMERICAN PARK,
AMERICAN PARK,
MARSEILLES, FRANCE.
MARSEILLES, FRANCE.
MARSEILLES, FRANCE.
MARSEILLES, FRANCE.
Now in course of construction.
Opening date, July 1, 1910.
Opening date, July 1, 1910.
Opening date, July 1, 1910.
Splendid climate. Long season.
WANTED, High-class Side Shows, Wanted, High-class Side Shows, Wanted, High-class Side Shows, Wanted, High-class Side Shows, Mirror Maze, Illusions, Electric Theatre, Automatics, Floss Machines, Games, and any Money-taking Novelties.
Terms: Shares.
The greatest American Attractions are now building, including the Roller Coaster, Water Chutes, Tickler, Human Roulette Wheel, Katzenjammer Castle, &c., &c.
Space vacant for a First-class Merry-go-round, must be equal to anything seen in this country.
N.B.—Seven days' business per week. Sundays equal to English Holidays.
Send fullest particulars in first letter to A. ELLIS, 57, Rue de Provence, Paris (postage 2½d.).

WANTED, First-class Freaks and Other Good Attractions, for Crouch's Old-established Wonderland and Variety Theatre, Argyle-street, Glasgow.

WANTED, a Lady Palmist and Novelties for Automatic Arcade. Apply by letter, 1, St. Mary-street, Southampton.

WANTED, good Lady Palmist, at once. Apply, R. ARNOLD, The Novelty Exhibition, High-st., Southend-on-Sea.

WANTED, a Smart Comedian, to Travel with Auction Mart. Must have plenty of songs and up to date in gags, &c. Apply, AUCTION MART, Risca, Mon.

WANTED, a Doorsman-Lecturer for a Premier Bioscope Show. Must be steady and speak well. Apply Box 7,773, "The Era."

WANTED, Known, Erinia, the Successful Drawing-room Entertainer, Mandolinist, and Character Reader. At Homes, Bazaars, &c. Box 7,758, "The Era."

WANTED, permanent Engagement, for Lady Palmist, Shares or Salary. MADAME WHITELEY, 35, Buchanan-street, Blackpool.

WANTED, Known, Auctioneer, at Liberty, good all-round man. First-class references. Can do watch repairs. Address, Box 7,759, "The Era."

WANTED, to Sell, Mr. Wingate has for Sale, owing to the recent fire, 7 horse power Traction Engine, by Fowler, of Leeds, with 80 volt, 180 amp. Dynamo, two Driving Belts, and Main Cables. Showmen's Fittings.

Booth, made by Orton's, Burton-on-Trent, 70ft. by 32ft., complete, with Plush-backed Seats, Linings, Wind Stays, and everything but Tilts.

Flat Truck, for packing same, fitted for Traction Haulage, covered in Truck, practically new.

Gaumont Chrono Machine, with Fireproof Spool Boxes (Motor driven), 60,000ft. of up-to-date Films, Illustrated Song Slides, eight Excello Flame Arc Lamps, four new upright Piano.

Portable Kitchen, in four sections, with Stove, Table, and Shelves, &c.
All the above are in first-class condition, and can be seen built up at Park Place, Alloa, Scotland.

WANTED, to Sell, a Nice One-horse Living Van, every convenience, nearly new. Price £60, or offer. A. RHODES, Mays-lane, High Barnet.

WANTED, to Sell, Rail Living Wagon, 18ft., with packing place at back, nicely fitted inside, Howcroft's make; also Small Booth, 18 by 24, complete. PARKER, P. O., Watford.

WANTED, to Sell, Auction Mart, also Living Carriage. Mart consists of Large Van, 15ft., opens out to 21ft. 6in., shutters, poles, and Birkmire cover, lights, &c. Address, WHITE, Monday, night, Cleckheaton; after, Adwalton, near Bradford.

WANTED, to Sell, Cakewalk, complete Arc Lamps, Organ, &c., in good working order and repair. Can be seen working at any time. Apply Box 7,742, "The Era" Office.

WANTED, to Sell, one 87-key Paper Organ, like new, suitable for Roundabouts or Skating Rink. Apply, P. COLLINS, Gondola Works, Walsall.

WANTED, to Sell, Cheap, 40ft. Circular Tent, six Flare Lamps, four-wheeled Vehicle, stored Rhyl. HYBERT, c/o Creber, Printer, Plymouth.

WANTED, to Sell, Love Letters, Palmistry, Fair, Dark, Comic Cards, Eyes, Marriage, Liars' Licences. Illustrated Catalogue. MEURICE, 39, Argyle-square.

WANTED, to Sell, Automatic Machines, New and Secondhand, Card Delivery, Mother Shiptons, marvellous money-takers. New Catalogue. MEURICE, Argyle-square.

WANTED, to Sell, Gold-framed Photos, Husbands, Wives, Babies, X-rays, latest sensation, for Automatic Machines. Catalogue illustrated. MEURICE, Argyle-square.

WANTED, to Sell, Automatic Machines all kinds, lists free, Husband, Wife, Eye, Hair, Fortune, Astrologer cards, 5s. 1,000; Love Letters, 9s. LESLIE, 5, Denning-road, Hampstead Heath.

WANTED, to Sell, Automatic Machines of every description, (including the marvellous Guess Your Weight Weighing Machine). WORMALD, 123, Blythe-road, West Kensington, London.

WANTED, to Sell, Auto Photo Machine, complete, 50s.; Photos in one minute; money back first day. BUTLER, 175A, Tranmere-road, Earlsfield.

SHOWMEN'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

WANTED, Known. Wanted, Known.
Important.
That the next Meeting of the British Roundabout Proprietors and Showman's Union will be held on Wednesday next, June 1, at the BLACK LION HOTEL, SALFORD, at 2.30 p.m., prompt.
Important Business on the Agenda.
(Signed) THOS. HURST, Sec.

THE CAKE-WALK AND SEE-SAW SLIP MACHINES.
By Royal Letters Patent in all the Leading Countries of the World.
Providing for the Public a Sensational Ride and Thrilling Slip. Always on the Move. Quick Money-takers. Apply for full particulars to TAYLOR, PLINSTON BROS., and Co., Ltd.
WANTED, Known, we are Sole Makers of W. Taylor's Patents for above Novelties, 94 Farncombe-street, and 98, Bermondsey-wall, London, S.E. Registered Trade Mark "Cake Walk."

FOR CONTINUATION OF "WANTED" ADVTS. SEE PAGE 32.

MOSS' EMPIRES, LTD & STOLL COMPANIES SUBSEQUENT

(Moss, Stoll, Thornton & Allen Theatres, Amalgamated) — Chairman: SIR EDWARD MOSS

WORKING IN CONJUNCTION

Capital £2,086,000.

(Including Coliseum Syndicate, Ltd.) — Chairman OSWALD STOLL.

Managing Director: OSWALD STOLL

Assisting Director and Chief of Staff: FRANK ALLEN.

Department Superintendent and Chief Accountant: W. S. GORDON MICHIE.

Co-Operative Offices: CRANBOURN MANSIONS, CRANBOURN STREET, LONDON, W. C.

INTERVIEWS BY APPOINTMENT ONLY.

CALLS FOR MONDAY, MAY 30, 1910.

Telephone: 1050 and 1051 Gerrard.
Wires: Moss' Empires and Associated Properties, "Twigsome, London."

THE LONDON HIPPODROME

Rehearsal at 10 a.m. for :—

Russian Dancers, Yvette Guilbert, Bros. Miller, Marquis' Cobs, Henry Leoni, Campbell and Barber, Alf. Agoust, Hardini Trio, Avolos, Animated Pictures, Raymond Phillips' Airship.

THE LONDON COLISEUM

Rehearsal at 10 a.m. for :—

Russian Dancers, Cecilia Loftus, Fragson, Thora, Les Pages, Bellclair Bros., Norman and Leonard Trio, Geo. Ali and Co., Jack Smiles, Bioscope, Serene Nord.

EMPIRE PALACE, EDINBURGH.

Rehearsal at 1.30 p.m for :—

Victoria Monks, G. H. Elliott, Roma and Romani, Brull and Hemsley, Mitchell and Cain, Jack Lane, May Henderson, Johnny Walker, Bioscope, Twelve Fezzans.

EMPIRE THEATRE, GLASGOW.

Rehearsal at 12 noon for :—

Ada Reeve, Barrington, Jackley Trio, Harry Merrilees, Lotto, Lilo, and Otto, Devon and Earle, Millie and Arthur, Bioscope, Alexandra Dagmar, Edward Davies.

COLISEUM, GLASGOW.

Rehearsal at 12 noon for :—

Karno's "Mumming Birds," Mildred Bryan, J. J Dallas, Marco Belli, Villions, Spry and Monti, Ellis Barrieton, Percy Dalton, Bioscope, "The Little Stowaway."

GRAND THEATRE, GLASGOW.

Stock Company, "Arrah-Na-Pogue."

ARDWICK THEATRE, MANCHESTER.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for :—

Olga, Elgar, and Eli Hudson, Sisters Pine, Bob and Jennie Leonard, Pat Rafferty, Hall and Earle, Park's Eton Boys, Elton and Edwin, Speedwell, Bioscope, Bert Coote and Co.

HIPPODROME, MANCHESTER.

Rehearsal at 12 noon for :—

Cyril Clensy, Ella Retford, Harry Lamore, Lydia and Amelys, Manchester Mites, F. V. St. Clair, Nellie Farrell, Bioscope, Hubert Carter, Burt Shepard.

EMPIRE PALACE, BIRMINGHAM.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for :—

Maidie Scott, Dot Hardy, Alfred Wood's Co., Binns and Binns, Alcide Capitaine, Keene and Adams, Wyndham and Kitty, Sybil St. Elmo, Bioscope, A. C. Lilly and Co., in "Drummed Out."

BORDESLEY PALACE, BIRMINGHAM.

Edward Marris' Stock Company.

GRAND, BIRMINGHAM.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for :—

Chanti, Mike Whallen, Gwennie Hasto, Lulu Russell, Quaint Q's, D'Arc's Marionettes, Mlle. Eldee, Orpheus, Bioscope, Seven Perezoffs.

PALACE, LEICESTER.

Rehearsal at 2.30 p.m. for :—

Bransby Williams, Brennans, Frank Maura, Francoli Troupe, Courtiers, Gladys Mavius, Chas. Santon, Frank H. Fox, Bioscope, Goodfellow and Gregson.

EMPIRE, NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for :—

Lew Lake and Co., in "King Nobbler," Mona Vivian, Fielding and Hull, Five Vernons, Laurie's "Belles of the Kitchen," Alf. Gibson, Maxey and Pete, Cull Pitt, Bioscope, Fred Earle.

EMPIRE PALACE, LIVERPOOL.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for :—

Vesta Tilley, Frank Cass, Bioscope, Bertha Winder, Yamamoto and Koyoshi, Ben Albert, Channings, Beaty and Blanche, Tom and Marie Motramo, Billy Merson.

OLYMPIA, LIVERPOOL.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for :—

Jack Pleasants, Dan Lipton's "Songland," Two St. Johns, Walter King, Florence Yaymen, Lux's Dogs, Dot Stephens, Johnny Fuller, Bioscope, Livesey and Rosebery's "Would-be Actors."

EMPIRE, HACKNEY.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for :—

G. H. Chirgwin, Poluskis, Bioscope, Kitty Wager, Bert Weston, Fred Poplar, Hilda Jacobsen, Staig's Steeplejacks, Kratons, Glenroy Troupe, Two Anartos.

EMPIRE, HOLLOWAY.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for :—

The Great Lafayette, Jewel St. Leger, Bioscope, Will Poluski, jun., Three Merrills, Bros. Bright, Peggy Pryde.

EMPIRE, NEW CROSS.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for :—

Courtice Pounds and Co., in "Charles, His Friend," Anna Chandler, New Macs, Harry Freeman, Andos Japs, Smite and Smote, Miles-Stavordale Quintette, Helene Donald, Bioscope, Danby Piddock and Co.

BROADWAY THEATRE, NEW CROSS.

Stock Company, "Bells of Haselmere."

ALEXANDRA THEATRE, STOKE NEWINGTON.

Stock Company and Pictures.

EMPIRE, STRATFORD.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for :—

Chas. T. Aldrich, Haytors, Harry Leybourne, Mezzettis, Ed. E. Ford, Nina Wood, Frank Lynne, Dolly Bell, Bioscope, Sanford and Lyons.

EMPIRE THEATRE, BRADFORD

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for :—

Van Biene and Co., La Pia, Billy Hobbs, Hans and Lux, Heeley and Meeley, Rhoda Paul, Cissie Thompson, Bioscope, Oswald Williams.

EMPIRE, SWANSEA.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for :—

Gardner and Stoddard, Tom E. Hughes, Bert Williams, Chas. Norton, Harvey's Boys and Girls, Tom Davies' Trio, Stanley and Greenop, Chas. J. Johnson, Bioscope, Alicia Ramsey and Rudolph de Cordova's Co., in "The Organ Grinder."

EMPIRE, CARDIFF.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for :—

Ellaline Terriss, Maie Ash, Stanley Brett and Co., Takio, Smythsons, Herbert Shelley, Humpsti-Bumpsti, Wood, Wells, and Wilkins, Kathleen Gray, Bioscope, Ernest Shand.

PHILHARMONIC HALL, CARDIFF.

Rehearsal at 3 p.m. for :—

Company as booked.

EMPIRE, NEWPORT.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for :—

Kellinos, Sisters St. Julian, Phil Rees' Stable Lads, G. W. Hunter, Ryan and Hall, Alice Kingsley, Bioscope, Dion Wade.

EMPIRE, NOTTINGHAM.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for :—

Harry Roxbury and Co., Harry Weldon, Bioscope, Findens, Abdullah Arabs, Fred Curran, Dan Fraser, Marconis, Bros. Egbert, Winifred Ward.

EMPIRE PALACE, SHEFFIELD.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for :—

Ella Russell, Wullie Walker, the Great Vincent, Carmos, Holden's Mannikins, Harry Herbert, Wilson and Waring, Conan and Doyle, Sisters Tower, Bioscope, Alice Raymond.

PALACE THEATRE, HULL.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for :—

Mark Sheridan, Falco and Eida, Fred Lincoln, Selkirk's Boy Scouts, Bros. Redmond, Rauschle, Talbot and Pearce, Maudie Francis, Bioscope, Ella Shields.

EMPIRE PALACE, LEEDS.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for :—

George French, Empire Comedy Four, Conn and Conrad, Addie Dorina, Albert and Edmunds Troupe, Fatmah Diard, Musical Silvo, Bioscope, Barrett and Knowles, La Freya.

EMPIRE, SHEPHERD'S BUSH.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for :—

Will Evans, Alexandre and Hughes, Sisters Jerome, Mabel Sinclair, Herbert Dickeson and Co., Esta Stella, La Berat, Three Van Dammes, Harry Marte, Bioscope, Serenaders.

The following are Booked in conjunction with the above:

EMPIRE, SUNDERLAND.

Rehearsal at 12 noon for :—

Tiller's Combination, Three Laurels, Cavalli, May Mars.

EMPIRE PALACE, SOUTH SHIELDS.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for :—

Piccolinos, Nellie Wigley, Emma Don and Co., William Strother, Siems, Woodhouse and Wells, Pictures, H. O. Wills, &c.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE, WALSALL.

Rehearsal at 12 noon for :—

Gertie Gitana, Sisters Kilner, Dan Hendy, Phillips and Merritt, Bros. Durant, Bioscope, Craggs.

EMPIRE, WEST HARTLEPOOL.

Rehearsal at 12 noon for :—

George Lashwood, Tom Stuart, Lyric Quartette, Jennie Hartley, Georgina Leno, Bioscope, Hagedorn's Grotto.

EMPIRE THEATRE, DUBLIN.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for :—

Gustave Fasola, Sylvia Du Barry, Edna Deno, Carl and Carr, Taree, Pictures, Adras, &c., &c.

EMPIRE THEATRE, BELFAST.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for :—

Delevines, Aida Martine, Mlle. Yetta, Frank and Free, Phil Parsons, Pictures, &c., &c.

IMPERIAL HALL, WALSALL.

Company as Booked.

CROYDON HIPPODROME.

Closed for alterations.

SPECIAL NOTE.—NO DEPUTIES WILL BE ACCEPTED AT REHEARSALS.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

RE APPLICATIONS FOR ENGAGEMENTS.—All applications by either Artists or their Agents must be made to the Head Office. Lowest terms must be stated, and distinction made between salaries required for larger and smaller towns. Vacant dates should be stated. If a list of existing bookings be sent, it will render selection easier. Artists employing agents should accredit one only at one time, as the friction arising when several Agents are employed at the same time, all expecting the one booking to go through each of them, often renders it expedient to avoid that booking altogether rather than give undeserved offence to several Agents. New Acts seeking Engagements, or turns not rebooked (possibly because they have played a series of dates without introducing new business), will facilitate matters by having their acts seen by our Districts Managers. Their Districts and Postal Addresses are as follow ;—

EDINBURGH, GLASGOW, NEWCASTLE, and DISTRICT.—MR. S. GETHING, Empire Theatre, Glasgow.
LEEDS, SHEFFIELD, HULL, BRADFORD, and DISTRICT.—MR. PERCIVAL CRAIG, Empire Theatre, Bradford.
BIRMINGHAM, NOTTINGHAM, LEICESTER, and DISTRICT.—MR. HATTON WHARTON, Empire Theatre, Nottingham.
LIVERPOOL, MANCHESTER, and DISTRICT.—MR. HORACE COLE, The Empire, Liverpool.
SOUTH WALES DISTRICT.—MR. ALBERT MITCHELL, Empire Theatre, Cardiff.
LONDON DISTRICT.—MR. J. CHRISTIE, Empire Theatre, Shepherd's Bush, W.
TOURS COMMITTEE.—LLEWELLYN JOHNS and DISTRICT MANAGERS.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SOUTH SHIELDS.—Artists and Agents wishing to submit TRIALS for their Acts in the North, should apply to the Manager, as Matinées are held every Wednesday for that purpose.

N.B.—MR. OSWALD STOLL or MR. FRANK ALLEN can be seen by appointment on all matters arising out of the above, and for the discussion of entirely new Numbers.

All Artists or Agents who communicate with our District Representatives must have made definite applications, in accordance with above directions, to the Head Office, at the same time, or just previously. Artists and Agents are requested to note that the Standard Theatre, Shoreditch, and the Terriss Theatre, Rotherhithe, come within the areas absolutely barred by us. Artists and Agents are also requested to note that the Hippodrome, Aston, Birmingham, comes within the area absolutely barred by the Grand Theatre and Empire Palace, Birmingham.

INSTRUCTIONS TO ARTISTS.—Artists must have at least Fourteen Band Parts for English Orchestrations, and Seventeen Band Parts for Foreign Orchestrations. Matter of Bill, Blocks, and Specimens of Pictorials FOR THE ABOVE THEATRES must be sent to Co-operative Offices, at above address, THREE WEEKS before Opening, failing which Artists will run the risk of having their Engagements cancelled. It is important that separate bill matter, blocks, pictorials, &c., for Dublin, Belfast, and South Shields, be sent direct to Mr. Frank Allen at the Co-operative Offices. IMPORTANT.—Artists must forward Copies of Songs to the STAGE DEPARTMENT, ABOVE ADDRESS, TWO WEEKS previous to opening, with Assignments for same, which will be returned. Artists are requested to note carefully that the clause in their contracts relating to rehearsals will in future be strictly enforced. Artists' Scenery, Properties, &c., MUST be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Licensing Authorities. ARTISTS WILL CLEARLY UNDERSTAND THAT THEIR BUSINESS MUST BE FREE FROM ALL VULGARITY.

No order or contract for goods or services must be accepted for any of the foregoing theatres except upon receipt of an Official Form, issued from the Co-operative Offices, London, and signed by either Mr. Oswald Stoll, Mr. Frank Allen, or the Chief Accountant, otherwise the Company concerned will not be responsible for same, and will refuse payment. In special cases, where goods are required at once, suppliers must look to the individual placing the order, who will be personally liable, unless an official confirmatory order, signed as above, is received within forty-eight hours. Invoices must be sent to the Theatre, but monthly statements should be sent to the Co-operative Offices. The individual Company on whose behalf orders are signed is solely responsible for payment. The Management will not hold themselves responsible in the event of loss of or damage to any MSS., Songs, &c., submitted for consideration.

The Greatest Aggregation of Variety Theatres in the World

THE MACNAGHTEN VAUDEVILLE CIRCUIT

LONDON OFFICES:
— OAKLEY HOUSE, —
Bloomsbury St., W.C.,
where please address all communications in regard to the Professional and Publicity Departments of the PROVINCIAL CIRCUIT to Mr. SYDNEY ARTHUR.
—— Telegraphic Address ——
"CIRVAUMAC LONDON."
Telephone—No. 8167 GERRARD.

Director-General:
Mr. FRANK MACNAGHTEN.

Secretary: Miss AMY ROBINSON.

General Business Manager for the Circuit:
Mr. E. P. LAWTON.

Provincial District and Booking Manager:
Mr. SYDNEY ARTHUR.

SHEFFIELD OFFICES:
KING'S CHAMBERS,
Angel St., Sheffield,
where please address all communications in regard to FINANCIAL, COMMERCIAL, and GENERAL BUSINESS MATTERS.
—— Telegraphic Address ——
"MACNAGHTEN, SHEFFIELD."
Telephone—No. 3449.

CALLS FOR WEEK COMMENCING MONDAY, MAY 30.

PROVINCIAL HOUSES.

PALACE, BRADFORD.
Matinée Thursday.
Carlton, Alfred Long, Adie Lombard, Susie and Protti, Burnetti, Haines and Borthwick, Palace Perfection Pictures, "The Circus."

PALACE THEATRE, CARLISLE.
Eight Lancashire Lads, Dolly Ross, Dene and Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Lucas, The Newmans, Gillin, Palace Perfection Pictures.

PAVILION, LEICESTER.
"The Red Triangle," Reid and Power, Harry Keeble, J. J. Mannix, Roberta Svendsen, Musical Keiths, Pavilion Perfection Pictures.

PALACE, SOUTHAMPTON.
Chung Ling Soo, Lisbon and Barker, Milsted-Bell Trio, Mamie Morris, Williams Trio, "Adolf Beck" Pictures, George Geoffreys.

SADLER'S WELLS.
Matinée every Monday, at 2.30.
Helen Martin, Ross and Grayson, Pictures, Mabel Thorne, "The Barbarian," Gilbert's Dogs, Edith Lewis and Co., Gallimore Trio, Leice Prinella, The Dancing Gilberts.

FORESTERS'.
Matinées Monday and Thursday, at 2.30.
Pictures, Arthur Clifton, Jessie Wilton, Billy Whitlock, "Drink" Co., Florrie Thurstone, E. D. Nicholls and Co., Royburn and Dix, Kittie Correlli, Empire Girls, Leon and Lee, Willie and Johnny.

PALACE, HALIFAX.
The Tan Kwai Troupe, Chas. Woodward, Gwen Francis, Charles Vincent, The Kirbys, Milner and Storey, Palace Perfection Pictures.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME, WARRINGTON.
Cassie Walmer, Zellini, Sisters Maynard, Madison and Webb, Blanche Marion, John Macauley, Marie Santoi and Co., Palace Perfection Pictures.

PALACE THEATRE, BATH.
Florrie Forde, Clarke and Mostol, Norah Desmond, The Sages, Edie Reynolds, Three Alskarnos, Josh Dixon, Palace Perfection Pictures.

HIPPODROME, STOKE-ON-TRENT.
"Nana," "Sorrows of Satan," "Ticket-of-Leave Man."

COLISEUM, SOUTHAMPTON.
Flo Burnett, Charles Erard.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME, BURNLEY.
T. Elder Hearn, Leo and Roland, Canard, Kate Traill, Friend and Downing, Palace Perfection Pictures.

PIER PAVILION, SOUTHPORT.
Arnold Richardson and Co., Doris Druce, Le Hurst, Cedrics, Vela, Raymond and Ivy, Dan Conroy, The Belmonts, Carney Bros., Pick of the Picture World.

PALACE, BLACKBURN.
Gilbert Heron and Co. in "The Key," Bert Crosbie, Bartholomew Girls, Cumminger and Colonna, Crosby and Walker, "Roode, Rash Chemist" Dorothy Vardon, Broughton and Creedon, Palace Perfection Pictures.

PALACE THEATRE, HUDDERSFIELD.
Banzai Family, Leolin, Lily Edwardes, The Tintos, Vesta Nixon, The Heriot Trio, The Jackson Family, Palace Perfection Pictures.

HIPPODROME, STALYBRIDGE.
Closed.

THEATRE ROYAL, ROTHERHAM.
Picture Entertainment.

THEATRE ROYAL, CHESTERFIELD.
"Judith."

THEATRE ROYAL, ATTERCLIFFE.
Picture Entertainment.

KING'S, NOTTINGHAM.
Picture Entertainment.

PALACE THEATRE, LINCOLN.
Palace Perfection Pictures, Barrie and Wood, Cairo Trio, Harry Martell, Joe Belmont, Burdetter Bros., Tate's "Motoring," Kitty Clinton.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME, CARDIFF.
Comedy Meisters, Three Rutlands, Richard Finberg, Les Arabellas, Ethel Bourne, The Rosses, Will Van Allen, Palace Perfection Pictures.

LONDON HOUSES.

PALACE, BOW.
Matinée every Monday, at 2.30.
Letine, Pictures, Sisters Edwards, Rousby and Rene, Fred Moule and Co., Telephone Tragedy, Will Harris, Dando, Viviania and Co., Josephine Crook.

SURREY THEATRE.
Matinée every Monday, at 2.30.
Carl Lynn, Pictures Cattle Thief, Leonard and Vereker, Mlle. Leonas, Ethel Pierce, May Poulton, "For Honor," "The Plumbers," Chas. Coborn, Gallimore Trio.

PALACE, BATTERSEA.
Matinée every Monday, at 2.30.
Pictures, Chris. Baker, "The Plumbers," Irene Meldon, Arabella Allen, Runaway Girls, "Convict's Revenge," Walton and Williams, Arthur Stacey, Lily Lassah, Laurie and Fuller Co.

London District and Booking Manager: Mr. FREDERIC BAUGH.

SPECIAL AND IMPORTANT NOTICE.—Artists engaged will please note that Rehearsals at ALL Halls take place at 12 o'clock noon each Monday. No excuses whatever for non-attendance will be entertained. All billing matter and notification of appearance accompanied by samples of pictorial printing must be IN THE CASE OF THE PROVINCIAL HALLS SENT TO OAKLEY HOUSE, BLOOMSBURY STREET, W.C.; AND IN THE CASE OF THE LONDON HALLS TO THE FORESTERS' THEATRE, CAMBRIDGE ROAD, E., fourteen clear days prior to opening, or Contract may be cancelled at the option of the Management. Artists wishing to negotiate Engagements for the London Houses of the Circuit will please apply to Mr. FREDERIC BAUGH, Booking Manager for London, at the FORESTERS' THEATRE, CAMBRIDGE ROAD, E. Telegraphic address, "Stageyness, London." Telephone 5954 Avenue.

Artists wishing to negotiate provincial engagements, Agents and Managers of Touring Companies, can be seen at Oakley House by appointment only.

All applications for dates at the Theatre Royal, Rotherham, and Theatre Royal, Chesterfield, to be addressed to Oakley House, Bloomsbury-street, London.

THE SURREY VAUDEVILLE THEATRE, Ltd.
Managing Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten.

In accordance with the Arbitrator's Award, Eight Weeks' Notice is hereby given that the above Theatre

Will be Closed on Saturday, July 30, 1910,

for the purpose of Rebuilding A definite date for re-opening will shortly be announced. All Artistes booked will be given other dates.

FREDERIC BAUGH,
For the Surrey Vaudeville Theatre, Ltd.

All Comms, The Foresters' Vaudeville Theatre, Cambridge Road, London, E.
Telegrams: "Stageyness, London." Telephone: 5954 Avenue.

NOTICE TO ARTISTS AND AGENTS.
POOLE'S THEATRES, LTD.,
Hereby give notice that after July 30, 1910, the Palace, Porth, has been leased to Mr. Will Smithson, of the Empire, Barnsley, and all contracts after that date are cancelled in accordance with the "Award."

(Signed) C. W. POOLE,
Managing-Director, Poole's Theatres, Ltd
Gloucester, May 24, 1910.

SONGS, SCENAS, AND ACTS WRITTEN.

My Songs alone will make you successful, for my work is done to fit you.
I first find out what you can do, then utilise your best bits. No cheap work.

For an interview, address,
Box 7,781, "The Era."

HANDSOME ILLUMINATED METAL TABLETS
of
"THE ERA."
PUBLISHER, "The Era" Buildings,
5, Tavistock-street Strand, W.C.

THE STRAY, HARROGATE.

The Corporation of Harrogate are prepared

TO LET BY TENDER
TWO SITES,

for PERFORMANCES by ENTERTAINERS on the STRAY during the coming Season.

Conditions of letting may be obtained from the undersigned, to whom Tenders endorsed "Performances on Stray," must be delivered not later than Saturday, 4th June, 1910.

The highest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted. J. TURNER TAYLOR,

Municipal Offices, Harrogate. Town Clerk.

ENTERTAINERS OR SMALL BAND.

OFFERS ARE INVITED to perform on board a Pleasure Steamer plying in the South of Ireland during July & August.

Also a Pitch
At a popular seaside resort.

Apply, Manager, Greenboat Steamers, Cork.

PLEASURE BEACH, SOUTH SHORE, BLACKPOOL.

30 Acres of Open-Air Attractions on the Sea Front. Next Tram Terminus.
Opens for the Season at Whit-week.
Good sites available for something new.

Apply, SECRETARY,
Blackpool Pleasure Beach, Ltd., Blackpool.

PROFESSIONAL APARTMENTS.
Three Lines, ONE SHILLING.
Thirteen Insertions, TWELVE SHILLINGS.

BELFAST.—Comf. rooms, good cooking, bath, piano, 5 min. theatres, good refs. Belvoir-terrace, 8, University-street.

BRIGHTON.—Seven Stars, Ship-street, opposite G.P.O. The professional house, Sunday Reunions. Always a hearty welcome. Luncheons, &c., at popular prices. DE COSTA, Proprietor.

EDINBURGH.—Cathedral Hotel, near Lyceum, Royal, Empire, and King's. Recommended. Personal Supervision. CHARLES GRANT.

GLASGOW.—Buchanan-street Station Hotel. Recommended. Terms, moderate. Near Royal, Royalty, Grand Theatre; Empire, Pavilion.

HUDDERSFIELD. — Mrs. Elstone, Central House, 11, Queen-street; every convenience; excellent accommodation for Troupes; highly recommended.

LIVERPOOL.—Royal Court Hotel, Queen's-sq., fully licenced; first-class accommodation. Special terms. Mr. and Mrs. De Silva (Cissie Noel).

LONDON, S.E.—Camberwell Gate. Large combined rooms vacant; bath (h. and c.), piano; very moderate. Board-residence from 15s. 6d. 23, Grosvenor-terrace.

LONDON, S.W.—303, Brixton-rd. Mrs. Peers. Sitting and bed rooms; bath, and pianos. Also combined room. Good cooking and attendance.

LONDON, S.W.—Superior drawing and bedrooms; piano, good cookery and attendance, moderate; trams and 'bus pass door. 145, Brixton-road.

PORTSMOUTH.—Judd's Hotel. In same family over 30 years. Accommodation for Professional gentlemen; inclusive from 30s.

RHYL.—Mrs. Canton, 4, Bridge-st. Professional Apartments. Moderate terms.

WAKEFIELD. — Harewood Arms Hotel. Professional house of call. Close to Empire. All papers taken. WALTER HEWITT.

THE COVENTRY HOTEL
FOR BACHELORS.
7 and 8, Rupert-street, Coventry-street, W.
Bed, Breakfast, Bath, and Attendance, 4s. 6d.

BRAID HILLS HOTEL,
MORNINGSIDE, EDINBURGH.
Charmingly situated hotel, completely appointed, every modern luxury, uninterrupted views of the city and surrounding district, 450ft. above sea level, pure mountain air, splendid public golf course adjoining hotel, also ladies' course; cable cars to and from city every three minutes up to 11.30 p.m. Terms moderate.
For descriptive brochure apply to MANAGER.

HOME SCHOOL FOR GIRLS AND LITTLE BOYS. Mrs. Rudge, Crowland, 163, Trinity-road, Upper Tooting, London, S.W. Good house, healthy situation; near Wandsworth Common Station and Balham trams.

RHYL. — Seaside Home School. Recommended by professional. Terms strictly moderate. Winterdyne, Rhyl.

DRAMATIC AND MUSICAL LAW.

Being a digest of the Law relating to Theatres and Music Halls, and containing chapters on Theatrical Contracts, Theatrical, Music and Dancing, and Excise Licences, Dramatic and Musical Copyright, &c., with an Appendix containing the Acts of Parliament relating thereto, and the regulations of the London County Council and the Lord Chamberlain, by ALBERT A. STRONG, LL.B. (London), Solicitor.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS—

THE MUSIC HALL, May 12, 1910.
Mr. Albert A. Strong's valuable treatise on "Dramatic and Musical Law," published at the offices of "The Era," has reached a third edition. This includes the text of the recent Berlin Convention and the new Copyright Act of the United States, also all the important decisions of the Courts, since the last edition, on which the compiler has been able to lay hands. As Mr. Strong remarks, "There is probably no more fruitful source of litigation than the ordinary theatrical contract." If the work under notice achieved no other object than to impress this fact on the parties concerned, it would still be worth its weight in gold. THE ENCORE, May 26, 1910.
We have just received the third edition of Mr. Albert A. Strong's book on Theatrical and Musical Law, which is published at The Era Office, 5, Tavistock Street, Strand. Since the second edition of this work was published—nine years—many changes have taken place in the laws relating to entertainments, and these have necessitated a considerable enlargement of the volume. Full texts of the recent Berlin Convention and the United States Copyright Law are included in this edition, in which is also published the awards governing the relations between artists, agents, and managers. A number of new cases are also cited illustrating the effects of the barring clause. The Musical Copyright Act, children on the stage, the sketch question, and the Workmen's Compensation Act are all fully dealt with and in a readable and easy style, as free as possible from legal phraseology and technicalities. It is a legal axiom that ignorance of the law is no excuse for breaking it, and, therefore, it behoves everyone connected with the entertainment world to make himself acquainted with the law as it stands in relation to the profession or business in which he may be engaged. To everyone connected with the Drama or Variety Mr. Strong's book is a necessity, and this last edition is so comprehensive that anyone who consults it can have no possible excuse for infringing the law on the ground of ignorance. The work will, no doubt, have a ready and rapid sale, for all artists, managers, and agents should have it at hand.

THE PERFORMER, May 12, 1910.
THE ARTIST'S LEGAL HANDBOOK.
We welcome a third edition of Mr. Albert A. Strong's "Dramatic and Musical Law" ("The Era" Offices), as it is nine years since the second appeared, and much has happened since then, not least the foundation of the V.A.F. and the resultant Award of 1907. This will be found incorporated in the now greatly-improved and extended Appendix of Statutes, ranging from the Disorderly Houses Act of 1751, to last year's L.C.C. Cinematograph regulations. As far as is possible with further developments in daily progress, this invaluable work of legal reference for all interested in the entertainment profession has been brought up-to-date. Sixty pages have been added, and the whole revised and rendered easier of reference by the re-arrangements that have been made, and the numerous marginal headings that have been introduced. Strong, on "Dramatic and Musical Law," may be regarded as the layman's complete authority on the subject, whether he be PROPRIETOR, MANAGER, or ARTIST, and with a lucid explanation of the law so readily available, the artist will be wise to consult its pages before venturing on new contracts and agreements, whether as employed or—in these days of "combinations," sketches, troupes, and what not—as employer.

REFEREE, May 16 1910.
Mr. Albert A. Strong's valuable work "Dramatic and Musical Law," published at "The Era" Office, Tavistock-street, has reached its third edition. The author has made every effort to bring the book right up to date.

SPORTING LIFE, May 16, 1910.
Dramatic authors, composers, and all of those interested in dramatic enterprise will find much that is useful and instructive in "Dramatic and Musical Law," by Albert Strong.

SPORTSMAN, May 14, 1910.
"Dramatic and Musical Law," by Albert A. Strong, LL.B. ("Era" Office, W.C.), has gone into a third edition, which would seem to prove its usefulness.

Third Edition. Price 5/- Post free 5/4.

THEATRICAL ACCOUNTS
— FOR —
BUSINESS MANAGERS.

How the Affairs of a Theatre can be Most Efficiently Controlled by the Adoption of Systems of Internal Check.

BY CUTHBERT E. SMEDLEY, A.C.A.

Price 3/6. Post free, 3/9.

Published at "THE ERA" OFFICES, 5, Tavistock St., Strand, W.C

GAMAGES

The World's CHEAPEST HOUSE for Amateur and Professional Make-Ups and Properties.

THE SECRETS OF MAKING-UP.
By J. AINSLEY BROUGH.
The most useful book on the subject published.
Highly Recommended.
Price 1/- Post Free.

PIERROT COSTUMES
INCLUDING
HAT.
LATEST PATTERN.
Price 14/6
Postage ... ... 6d.

A. W. GAMAGE Ltd. HOLBORN. & BENETFINK & Co Ltd CHEAPSIDE

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 29.

SHOWMEN'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

MANCHESTER INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION,
MANCHESTER INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION,
MANCHESTER INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION,
MANCHESTER INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION,
MANCHESTER INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION,
MANCHESTER INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION,
MANCHESTER INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION,
MANCHESTER INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION,
RUSHOLME, MANCHESTER.
RUSHOLME, MANCHESTER.
RUSHOLME, MANCHESTER.
RUSHOLME, MANCHESTER.
RUSHOLME, MANCHESTER.
RUSHOLME, MANCHESTER.
RUSHOLME, MANCHESTER.
RUSHOLME, MANCHESTER.

OPENED MAY 12,
OPENED MAY 12,
OPENED MAY 12,
OPENED MAY 12,
OPENED MAY 12,
OPENED MAY 12,
for six weeks certain.
for six weeks certain.
for six weeks certain.
for six weeks certain.

"OLDE MANCHESTER" SECTION,
"OLDE MANCHESTER" SECTION,
"OLDE MANCHESTER" SECTION,
"OLDE MANCHESTER" SECTION,
under cover in best portion of Exhibition.
under cover in best portion of Exhibition.

WANTED, Wanted, Known,
Owing to a misunderstanding,
I have
ONE SIDE SHOW VACANT,
ONE SIDE SHOW VACANT,
ONE SIDE SHOW VACANT,
ONE SIDE SHOW VACANT,
ONE SIDE SHOW VACANT,
15ft. front by 26ft. deep.
15ft. front by 26ft. deep.
Good Sharing Terms to a really High-class Show.
Good Sharing Terms to a really High-class Show.
Marionettes preferred.
Marionettes preferred.

I can place
I can place
I can place
PORTRAIT SKETCH ARTIST
PORTRAIT SKETCH ARTIST
PORTRAIT SKETCH ARTIST
(will Frank Durra write)
OR SILHOUETTIST, ON SHARES OR RENTAL.
OR SILHOUETTIST, ON SHARES OR RENTAL.
OR SILHOUETTIST, ON SHARES OR RENTAL.

Caricature and other Photographers please apply.
Caricature and other Photographers please apply.
Caricature and other Photographers please apply.

There is money here for smart people, but I want no rubbish.
Those used to best Exhibition work write at once to
WALTER STENNING, as above.
WALTER STENNING, as above.

WANTED, Known, Spaces to Let at World's Fair, The Tower, Promenade, Portobello, opposite the Sands, for all kinds of Exhibits and Amusements. Applications to be made to THE MANAGER, Exhibition Offices, The Tower, Portobello.

COLISEUM, SOUTHAMPTON.
WANTED, to Let, Spaces for quite small Side Shows, open at once, long season.
Apply, MANAGERESS.

WANTED, to Let, Ground and Spaces, cheap. Novel Riding Machine for sale, partner or sell, finest Side Show extant, with season's position. B., 34, Marine-parade, Great Yarmouth.

WANTED, to Let, Handsome Shops, Electric lighted; also Spaces. Real Novelties only. F. W. WALKINGTON, Manager, Pal. Pier, Brighton.

WANTED, to Let, for the season, large Distorting Mirrors.
Address, A. MILTON, 77, Virginia-street, Southport.

WANTED, to Hire, or would buy spot cash, small Organ, for Walk-up Show.
SOLBINI, Post Office, West Bromwich.

WANTED, a Room on a Pier or other Good Position in a Seaside Town, for Character Reading and Palmistry this season.
Address, DEANE, 26, Worcester-street, Gloucester.

WANTED, to Sell, good Working Models, Fortune Tellers. No reasonable offer refused.
Apply, OWNER, 16, Coleraine-road, Hornsey.

WANTED, Known, for sale, the Greatest Money taking Illusion Side Show ever invented. Full particulars. Best offer. MAXIM, 34, Grosvenor-road, New Brighton.

WANTED, to Buy, Loading Waggon (open top) for Traction, or would exchange Pullman Car for above if suitable. MILLES, Whatmore, Wokingham.

WANTED, to Purchase, any Novelty, Joint, new or secondhand, for Fair Grounds, must be money-takers.
S. TOMPKIN, 202, Waterloo-road, Blackpool.

WANTED, W. Morey, who was at Work for Mr. S. Jones, Roundabout Proprietor, who started work in July, 1908, to communicate to this address. He will be well paid for his trouble in the matter.
S. JONES, Fair Ground, Epsom.

WANTED, every Showman who uses the railway to send to "The Era" for a copy of the article on the new Railway Rates. This will be sent on application, free of charge, to any Showman in the United Kingdom.

WANTED, Known, the Seventy Thousand Showmen who use the Columns of "The Era" and are moving about should know that they can make "The Era" Offices their Permanent London Address. Letters received will be held till called for, or immediately re-addressed according to instructions. Address all communications respecting the Letter Department to the PUBLISHER, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand.

WANTED, Showmen who experience difficulty in obtaining copies of "The Era" at any Railway Bookstall to kindly communicate with the PUBLISHER, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

SKATING WANTEDS.

WANTED, General Manager for Large Amusement Rink in Paris. Must speak French. Good references required.
Apply by letter to Mr. LAMB,
11, Denman-street, Piccadilly-circus, London.

WANTED, First-class Lady Skater, willing to join well-known Exhibition Skater, in Skating Act. One with own Costumes preferred.
State height, &c.
Address, Box 7,767, "The Era."

WANTED, by Experienced Instructor and Instructress, positions on good Seaside Rink. First-class skaters, latest waltzing, two step, &c., smart appearance. Address, Box 7,765, "The Era."

WANTED, Known, J. A. Thorp, late of Sydenham Rink, London, requires Engagement as Floor Manager or Instructor; first-class references. 115, Auckland-hill, West Norwood, S.E.

WANTED, Known, Mr. R. Beeston, late Manager of Smethwick Rink, is now open for Engagement as Rink or Floor Manager of High-class Rink.
Apply, "The Era."

WANTED, Offers for a Few Hundred Pairs Barney and Berry's Roller Skates (fibre wheels), excellent condition. MANAGER, Victoria Pier, Colwyn Bay.

WANTED TO SELL.

WANTED, to Sell, for Electric or Picture Theatre, in Edinburgh, First-class Premises, best attractive position for business; present hall seats about 600, which, with little alteration, could be much increased.
Address,
No. 222, KEITH and Co.,
Advertising Agents, 43, George-street, Edinburgh.

WANTED, to Sell, the Magnificent Court Scene (with or without Rostrums) used in the Globe Theatre production of "Madame X." Also French Court robes.
Apply, BARING BROS., Cheltenham.

WANTED, to Sell, Divided Office Set; also Corridor Scene, suitable hotel, theatre, or prison, 4 working doors, backing cloths, &c., by Bull. Mrs. MARK KINGHORNE, 26, Dagmar-road, Camberwell, S.E.

WANTED, to Sell, a Large Quantity of Theatrical Scenery and Properties.
Apply, ORMESHER'S, Duke-street, Stockport.

WANTED, to Sell, Scenery and Properties, good condition. Suitable for Shakespearean Répertoire. Apply, Box 7,779, "The Era" Office.

WANTED, to Sell, Portable Electric Light Plant, suitable Bioscope Hall.
ARTHUR CARLTON, Theatre, Worcester.

WANTED, to Sell, Several Fine Panto. Productions; or would Let on a Percentage of the Receipts. ARTHUR CARLTON, Theatre, Worcester.

WANTED, to Sell, one Biunial Lantern and one Single Lantern, nearly new, with Slide Carriers, Arc Lamps, Resistances, Gas Jets, and Multifocal Lenses, to get any picture, any distance, suit Illustrated Song Singers, maker Tyler. J. R. POOLE, Palace, Gloucester.

WANTED, to Sell, Bioscope, Chas. Urban, 4in. Lens, 14in. lantern lens, 40 ampere arc lamps, 150-volt, frame, iron hut, electric fan, switches, fuse boxes, &c; £17.17. Humphrys, Peckham Rye, London.

WANTED, to Sell, Films, cheap, and Films for Hire, up-to-date.
THE BENDON TRADING CO., 75, Jamaica-st., Glasgow

WANTED, to Sell, Films. Excellent subjects from 2s. 6d. each, by Leading Makers. Lists free. REED, 20, Belgrave-terrace, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

WANTED, to Sell, Gaumont's magnificent Film King Edward's Funeral (London and Windsor), dispatch Saturday night, 1½d. per foot. DAVIS, Tredegar Hall, Newport, Mon.

WANTED, to Sell, Film, King Edward's Funeral Procession (about 900ft.), released May 28. Wire best offers. MANAGER, Albert Hall, Cheltenham.

Funeral of the late King Edward.
WANTED, to Sell, Magnificent Films after to-night.
Gaumont, about 1000ft., £8; Urban, with Gaumont St. George's Chapel Scene added, about 800ft., £5; Barker, with Gaumont Chapel Scene added, about 800ft., £5.
Warwick, about 600ft., £5.
Cash with Order. Prompt Delivery.
TETLOW, Panopticon, Cardiff.

WANTED, to Sell, Large Supply of Films, showing Funeral Procession and other Ceremonies in connection with the death of King Edward VII., for sale, Monday, May 30, at 1d. per foot.
Write, NEW CENTURY FILM SERVICE, Bradford.
Telegrams, "Concerts, Bradford."

WANTED, to Sell, Tubular Bells (plated), complete, on handsome portable stand, grand tone, perfect, £3 10s., splendid for orchestra, 5ft. 3in. high. CONDUCTOR, 9, Elizabeth-street, Blackpool.

WANTED, to Sell, B Flat, Alto Saxophone great bargain, Marimbas, Xylophones Rattles, Sleigh Bells, Organ Chimes, Tubaphones Resonaphones, Glockenspiels, Tubular Bells. LISLE, 299, Camberwell New-road.

WANTED, to Sell, Flying Lady Apparatus, new, best make, and improved; £2 10s., cost £12. F. ALLEN, 8, Hanover-street, Burslem.

WANTED, to Sell, Convict's Suit, Livery Suit, odds and ends of office furniture, handsome 'phone, set of boxing gloves; £2 the lot. Mrs. MARK KINGHORNE, 26, Dagmar-road, Camberwell, S.E.

WANTED, to Sell, Magnificent Distemper Painting of the Marriage of our late King, perfect portraits; cost £200. Size 12ft. by 24ft. Seen by appointment.
Best offers to A. HAMILTON, Palace, Sunderland.

WANTED, to Sell, my Rights of Pitch and Dressing-room, from June 13, two seasons, at Cheltenham. FRED BOULTON, Pavilion, Cheltenham.

WANTED, to Sell, Two Magnificent Show frames, 5ft. by 3ft., by Whiteley; also case to hold one. Price, 1 picture frame, with case, 25/-; frame, without case, 15/- Write, or can be seen.
CHAUFFEUR,
Eden Court, Emliss-lane, Esher, Surrey.

WANTED, to Sell, Stage Illusions, Original and New. Also Cremation Sphynx, Noah's Ark. Bargains. Quantity apparatus. 212, Kennington-road, London, S.E.

WANTED, to Sell, Elaborate Stage Setting for Hand-balancing Act. Splendid condition. Apply, ALMON, 213, Kennington-road, London.

WANTED, to Sell, Two-Act Musical Comedy, "The Flower Girl," completed two-years tour. Can be played twice nightly; 16 numbers, three alone worth the price for Panto. or Scena. WILLIAMS, M.D., Brixton Theatre, S.W.

WANTED TO BUY.

WANTED, a copy of "The Era" dated Dec. 1, 1900. Address, THE MANAGER, "The Era" Office, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

WANTED, to Purchase, Cocoanut Matting for Circus Ring. Must be in good condition. State size, particulars.
E. H. BOSTOCK, Zoo, Glasgow.

WANTED, Copy of Play, "Clancarty."
Produced 35 Years Ago.
Revived Two or Three Years Ago.
Box 7,772, "The Era."

WANTED, Comic Songs, Price no Object for Good, up-to-date Stuff. Samples returned at once if not suitable.
Address,
MICHAEL WELSH, Pavilion T., Newcastle-on-Tyne.

WANTED TO LET OR HIRE.

GRAND THEATRE, DOUGLAS, I.O.M.
WANTED, to Let, on Rental, from May 30 to June 25.
Good opportunity for Stock Companies or for Picture and Diorama Shows.
Apply, JAS. BUCK, 30, Brown-street, Manchester.

WANTED, to Let, Dates in June and onwards, Byculiah Athenæum, Enfield, any kind entertainment, Scenery, Electric Lighting. MANAGER.

WANTED, to let for season, Bijou Hall, Gt. Yarmouth, hold 500; electric and gas, splendid entrance; or would hire Wax Group of Royal Family. LESSEE, Bijou, Great Yarmouth.

WANTED, to Let during Summer Months, large Hall, near centre of Leeds, suitable for Cinematograph; thickly-populated working-class district.
Box 7,751, "The Era."

WANTED TO LET OR HIRE.

WANTED, to Let, for Rehearsals, &c., Large Room, 45ft. by 30ft., smoothpine floor; good piano, accommodation, and ventilation, 1s. 6d. per hour with electric light, 1s. without; two entrances. Bay Malton Hotel, 160, Great Portland-street, W. 'Phone 2948 Mayfair.

WANTED, to Let, a Large Room for Rehearsals, with Piano; also large Store Room, for props., &c. Terms low. Apply, PENDER, 1, St. George's-buildings, St. George's-road, S.E.

WANTED, Known, Films for Hire, from 15s. per 1,000ft. per week. Send for new lists. Bargain Films, Accessories. Cut Prices. CROSS'S Imperial Pictures, 12, Macclesfield-st., W. Ger. 9844.

WANTED, to Let, the Enormously Successful Drama "Fair Play," Well rested, Fine Printing, Plant; Booking certain. CROZIER, 296, Kennington-rd.

WANTED, in Town or Country, Halls or Sites, suitable for Cinematograph Shows or Roller Skating. Letters only. M. W. SHANLY, 35, King Henry's-road, South Hampstead, N.W.

WANTED, to Rent, Premises suitable for high-class Photographer, near No. 1 Theatre or good Pier.
Box 7,753, "The Era."

WANTED, Portable Theatre, Hire (share preferred), with Picture Plant, near London, nothing within two miles, large district, immediate. PERCY EMERY, 122, Kensal-road, W. Lynch write.

PARTNERS WANTED.

WANTED, Working Partner with £250 cash, to join Theatre Manager (with similar amount) to take over Theatre. Proprietor retiring, Manager has first refusal; real good thing. Partner with knowledge of bookkeeping preferred. Ingoing Stock, Scenery, Fireproof Box, £500. Reply, first instance, Box 7777, "The Era."

WANTED, Known, Advertiser (gentleman with reliable business experience), able to invest, desires opening, management small Hall or Theatre; or would consider any sound proposition. Apply, in first instance (letters only), G. E. G., c/o Ashley Beale, Walcott Cottage, Kennington-road, S.E.

WANTED, Partner, Illusionist. Two Sensational Death-defying Illusions. What offers for partnership? or will sell above. No reasonable offer refused. Address, Box 7,769, "The Era."

WANTED, Known, Comedian, late of Known Double Turn, at Liberty to join Partner, Paris. Box 7,770, c/o "The Era."

MISCELLANEOUS.

TWENTY WORDS, ONE SHILLING.
Each Additional Six Words, Sixpence.

WANTED, Known, Fred Karno's Theatrical Factory and Cartage Stores, 28, Vaughan-road, Camberwell, S.E. All kinds of Scenery, Properties, Costumes, and Electrical Effects made and supplied; Sketches and Models free. The Scenic Factory is equipped with full-sized Paint-Frames, capable of carrying any size Cloth. The Scenic Stores are large, lofty, and dry.
Estimates for Storage given on application.
Every Description of Theatrical Cartage (day or night) on most reasonable terms. Omnibuses, Broughams, Lorries, and Motors on Hire. Contracts wanted for above. Telephone 3550 and 3551 Hop. Telegrams, "Karno, Camberwell, London."

WANTED, Known, H. Boxall, maker of Tights, Paddings, Animal Dresses, &c., 166, Waterloo road, London, S.E. Telephone 2681 Central.

WANTED, Known, F. G. Wright, Gymnastic Apparatus Maker, Electrical Engineer, and Theatrical Blacksmith. 66 and 68, Kennington road, S.E.

WANTED, Known, C. Kinch, Gymnastic Apparatus Maker, Theatrical and General Blacksmith, 17, St. Mary-sq., Kennington-rd., S.E. Large Hall for Practice.

WANTED, Known, for Ventriloquial and Marionette Figures and Specialities, LA MARE and SON, 79, Burlington-st., Oxford-road, Manchester.

WANTED, Artists to write for Free Samples. Memos. from 1s. 100, two colours; Cards, Envelopes, &c. Mention paper.
ARTISTIC PRINTING CO., Forest Hill, London, S.E

WANTED, Known, Pictorial Postcards reproduced from your own Photograph, 250 for 3s., 1000 for 16s. SENIOR & CO., Cotham-hill, Bristol.

WANTED, every Member of the Profession to go to LYNN and HARDING,
If you wish to place Songs, Plays, Sketches, &c., or to Purchase Songs, Plays, Sketches, &c.

This quarter's Clients for whom we have done business include:—
Messrs. Herbert Fordwych, Mark Melford, John S. Egan, Max Cardiff, H. E. Garden, R. Findlay, B. Beir, W. Hart, Bert Cramer, A. Harding, A. Lewis, T. Dalrymple, Robert Ayrton, A. Jennings, A. Wyndham, A. Mitchell, The Misses D'Alroy, Milner Rowna, Noel, Kersey, Carroll, Mignonne, &c., &c.

WANTED, Known, Melodies Composed and Arranged. Band-books supplied. Sample 3 stamps. Fox and SON, 134, Queen's Park-road, Brighton.

E. H. BOSTOCK'S INTERNATIONAL RAILROAD CIRCUS.

WANTED, Wanted, Known,
Wanted, Wanted, Known,
Wanted, Wanted, Known,
Wanted, Wanted, Known,
Wanted, Wanted, Known,
Wanted, Wanted, Known,
the following Artists of the above Concern wish to tender their sincere thanks to E. H. Bostock, Esq., and our Manager, Mr. Frank Bostock, for kindly paying salaries in full for the two nights during which the Circus was closed, owing to the death and funeral of our Gracious Majesty King Edward.

Signed,
Mlle. Leoville and Sandy.
Mlle. Helga Yensen.
Harez and Jamez.
Miss Pinder.
Little Sid.
Little Tony.
The Lorettes.
J. Madigan.
Mlle. Chloe Convere.
Mlle. Florence.
Ernest and Charleroi.
Valdo Bros.
Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Johnson.
Nimble Nip.
Wee Willie.
Miss J. and B. Cooke.
Tony, Hoppit, and Jerry.
Eugene Foote.
The Erneste Family.
Mons. Abex.
The Tokio Troupe.

Saturday, May 21, 1910.

WANTED, Known, the undersigned Artists, Bandsmen, and Staff engaged at Buxton's Amusement Resort, Douglas, I.O.M., beg to tender their thanks to Fred Buxton, Esq., for paying full week's salary, although closed all day last Friday on account of King Edward's funeral: Hal Lowe, Ernie Famont, H. Corris, Lemaitre, G. Hudson, R. Sedgwick, H. Jones, W. and A. Henry, Bert Rose, F. Marrion, Geo. Jennings, A. Howarth, Louis Cooper, P. Cooper, G. V. Cooper, F. Baker, Tiny Davies, Eva Gill, D. Woodhead, C. Faragher, M. Connor, and H. Woodhead.

IPSWICH HIPPODROME.
WANTED, by the Gentlemen of the Orchestra, to thank E. H. Bostock, Esq., for paying full salaries for last two weeks.

WANTED, Drill Sergeant, able to supply and take charge of twelve good men for mounted and foot display.
Write, Box 1,736, Willing's, 125, Strand, W.C.

MISCELLANEOUS.

WANTED, Information of the present Addresses of Robert Brunton, Scenic Artist, last heard of at Winnipeg, Manitoba;
and
Frederick Brunton, sometime employed as a ship's steward between London and Cape Town.
R. S. GORDON, Solicitor,
462, Paisley-road, Glasgow.

WANTED, Instruction in Zouave Drill; only those who have been connected with same need write.
Box 1,735, Willing's, 125, Strand, W.C.

WHAT DO YOU WANT?
If it is Artistes or Engagements, Scenery or Properties, Baggage Collected or Delivered, To Buy, Sell, or Hire Wardrobe, Scripts, Parts or Letters Typed, a Permanent Address for Redespatching Letters—in fact, if you are in any Doubt or Difficulty, and want to save yourself Time and Trouble, Ring up
Gerrard 3714,
THE UNIVERSAL THEATRICAL BUREAU,
49, Bedford Street, Strand, W.C.
Telegrams—"UTRIBURO, LONDON."

WE WILL FIND IT!!!

WALMSLEY'S SCENIC STUDIO,
RIVERS STREET, PORTSMOUTH.
Scenery of Every Description.
MODELS. ESTIMATES.
"The scenery was designed and painted by Mr. Fred Walmsley, and gained great admiration." ("La Forza del Dest no," Carl Rosa Opera Co.)—Press.

SPENCER BROTHERS, LTD.,
45b, Aberdeen Park, Highbury, N.
Aeronauts to the Crystal Palace, &c.
Balloon Ascents, Parachute Descents.
Captive Balloons, Airship Flights.
Terms upon application.
C. G. SPENCER & SONS,
56a, Highbury Grove, London, N.
Manufacturers of Airships, Aeroplanes, Balloons and Parachutes. Captive Advertising Balloons and Small Toy Balloons.
Price Lists or Quotations, 1 Stamp.
Telegrams, "Aeronaut, London," 'Phone, 1893 Dalston

PHOTOS
with Individuality, with Style, and with distinction,
MEAN SUCCESS.
MODERN PHOTOGRAPHIC WORK FOR ARTISTES.
The well-known establishment of
THE Hana STUDIOS, Ltd.,
place at your service a thorough knowledge and experience of artistes' requirements.
WE CAN PLEASE YOU, AND OUR PRICES WILL SATISFY YOU TOO.
We gladly answer any enquiries.
THE HANA STUDIOS, Ltd.,
22, Bedford-street, Strand.

"THE ERA"
IN AMERICA.
NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS & SUBSCRIBERS
NEW YORK.
"THE ERA" IS ON SALE
OUTSIDE THE KNICKERBOCKER THEATRE BUILDING, AND AT SHULTZ'S NEWS STAND
CORNER OF THIRTY-SEVENTH-ST AND BROADWAY.
ALSO AT BRENTANO'S,
FIFTH AVENUE,
CORNER TWENTY-SEVENTH-ST.
SUBSCRIPTION RATES.
1 Year, 32/-; 6 Months, 16/-; 3 Months, 8/-
INQUIRIES & COMMUNICATIONS MAY BE SENT TO
"THE ERA," P.O. BOX 492, NEW YORK CITY.
American Artistes visiting the Metropolis use The Era Offices as their Permanent London Address.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT, 1906.
EFFECT ON THEATRES AND MUSIC HALLS.
BY
ALBERT A. STRONG, LL.B.
SOLICITOR.
PRICE SIXPENCE.
"THE ERA" Offices,
5, Tavistock Street, Strand, W.C.

INDISPENSABLE.

RAYNE'S
POCKET DATE BOOK

JUST PUBLISHED.
Price ONE SHILLING.

Five Shillings' worth of information for One Shilling. Purchasers of this work will not only be making a good investment, but will be also adding to the funds of two deserving charities. The above work, got up in a convenient size for the waistcoat pocket, should be in the possession of every Actor, every Music Hall Artist, and every Entertainer, in fact everybody concerned in the Amusement World.

CONTENTS.

Map (19in. by 10in.), showing the distance betwixt the various Music Halls at a glance. Will tell if one Hall is within the barring radius of the other, thus saving fears, worry, and anxiety.

All About Artists' Luggage.
List of Clubs.
All About Stamping Contracts.
Foreign Money Table.
London Music Halls and Theatres with their Telephone Numbers.
Provincial Theatres and Halls.
List of Brougham Proprietors.
List of Photographers.
Size of Theatrical Printing Paper.
Names and Addresses of Theatrical Railway Managers, and other useful information.

RAYNE'S
POCKET DATE BOOK

will be sold at ONE SHILLING, post free.

The proceeds from the Sale will be divided equally amongst the two great charities of the Dramatic and Musical Professions, THE ACTORS' BENEVOLENT FUND
AND THE
MUSIC HALL HOME FUND.

Mr. Arthur Bourchier, Garrick Theatre, writes:—
"I thank you for the little book, which I am sure will be very useful."
Mr. Joseph Wilson, the Tivoli, says:—
"The Distance Chart is very handy."
Mr. C. Blyth Pratt, The Oxford, writes:—
"The little Date Book should be very useful."
Mr. Seymour Hicks, Aldwych Theatre, writes:—
"I thank you for the Telephone Book, which I find most useful."

Send 12 Stamps to the Publisher.
"THE ERA BUILDINGS,"
5, TAVISTOCK STREET, STRAND, W.C.
'Phones: 4747 and 1433 Central.
Telegraphic Address: "The Era," London.

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

ABERAMAN.—POOLE'S PICTURE PALACE (GRAND THEATRE).—Lessee, Mr. John Poole; Manager, Mr. R. Tebbitt.—The Five Tritons in a capital musical act are highly appreciated; Joan Deering, with a tuneful voice and a violin, gains great praise. The pictures are very interesting.

ABERDARE.—NEW EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Victor Rowe; Resident-Manager, Mr. Alfred Reid.—Morrelli and Moore, in their eccentric speciality act, top the bill; Sim Maree is a clever Indian contortionist; Marjorie Lawrence is a chic comedian and dancer; and Stuart and Evans cause roars of laughter. Pictures are good.

ABERTILLERY.—PAVILION.—J. C. Poole is here with his up-to-date myriorama. Amasis, wizard of the Nile, is a novelty; the Brothers Rees are unique military athletes; Inez and Pim accomplish a fine gymnastic performance; Harry Carsdale scores as a Yorkshire humorist and mimic; Vasey and Ramsey present Jerks, the Butler; and a fine series of pictures is given.

ACCRINGTON.—PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. B. Ormerod; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. E. Barnes.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Draycott opened a short stock season here on Monday with The Octoroon. As Salem Scudder Mr. Charles Draycott makes a decided hit with a clever and breezy portrayal; Mr. St. John Stuart delineates George Peyton in a quiet, earnest, and natural manner; Mr. Clinton Baddeley gives an able rendering of the villain Jacob McCloskey, and Mr. George Steel presents with telling effect the part of the Indian Wah-no-Tee. Mr. Theo Balfour is highly successful as Mr. Sunnyside; Mr. Joseph Magrath is all that could be desired as Pete; and Miss Nana Flensburg cleverly represents Paul. Mrs. Charles Draycott wins all hearts by her excellent interpretation of Zoe; Miss Issa Steel sweetly portrays the character of Dora; and Miss Louise Millward merits praise as Mrs. Peyton.

NEW HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, The Accrington Hippodrome Co.; Resident-Manager, Mr. Walter Mould.—The Cattaneo troupe of acrobatic sketch artists hold the premier position here, and are warmly received; the King's College Boys, in their vocal scena, repeat former successes; and Maud Beaumont, an old pantomime favourite, is decidedly popular. The Sisters Terry are a pleasing and engaging couple; the Corcoran Bros. are clever instrumentalists; and Maud Vera is a dainty comedienne and dancer. J. E. Roscoe is a capital comedian; and Tom Hamer, a local coon vocalist and wooden shoe dancer, is enthusiastically received. The bioscope is an added attraction.

ALDERSHOT.—ROYAL AND HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Clarence Sounes; Resident-Manager, Mr. Jack Gladwin.—John Grun Marx gives an exhibition of weight-lifting, chain-breaking, &c., and keenly contested competitions are taking place; Kloof and Ramsey give a fine musical act, introducing novel instruments; the Four Sydney Girls are exceedingly clever and graceful dancers; Tom Garland's ventriloquial efforts are amusing and interesting; Emmie Ames is very successful with her character songs; Harry Bancroft is a favourite; Harry Desmond as a comedian does well; Lily Denville is a capable comedienne and dancer; Bert Anderson as a conjurer pleases.

WIDE WORLD PICTURES.—Proprietors, Messrs. J. Golder and Bert Sloman.—Instructive pictures of considerable merit are shown here, the making of locomotives being especially interesting. The Derby was billed for Thursday.

GROSVENOR PICTURE PALACE.—At this new hall the management are displaying their ingenuity and up-to-date methods by showing all the latest public events almost as soon as they happen.

ASHINGTON.—BUFFALO PALACE.—Proprietors, Messrs. J. and E. Lamb; Manager, Mr. W. P. Carr.—Eileen and May, in their musical act, are very clever, and Lenaro, eccentric comedian, is well appreciated. The pictures are up to the usual high standard.

PAVILION PALACE.—Proprietors, Messrs. McGraw and Weallans; Manager, Mr. Joe Curry.—The McLaren Troupe, capital dancers, are proving a big draw; Joseph Hudson has an excellent bass voice; Russ and Johnson are responsible for the comedy element, which is very good. The pictures are highly appreciated.

ASHTON-UNDER-LYNE.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr Chas. Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Chas. Revill, jun.—Miss Lena Ashwell's company is here in Diana of Dobson's. The part of Diana is in the hands of Miss Eleanor Delaporte, who portrays the varied moods of the irrepressible Diana with great skill; the Hon. Victor Bretherton is capitally acted by Mr. Leslie Rea; Sir Jabez Grimley is remarkably well hit off by Mr. Thos. Pauncefote, and Mrs. Cantelupe finds in Miss Hilda Francks an actress fully equal to the demands of the character; the assistants at Dobson's drapery establishment are all admirably presented by Misses Nannie Hume, Eva Leonard-Boyne, Cecily Oates, Winifred Trevor Lowe; Miss Marie Ault gives the proper self-importance to Miss Pringle; Miss Mary Crewe is satisfactory as Mrs. White Fraser; Mr. Leslie Crowther is agreeably prominent as Police-Constable Fellowes, and Mr. R. F. Beach makes a characteristic waiter.

EMPIRE HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Leech; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Jesse Burslem.—Mlle. Irma Lorraine, assisted by Marajah and Mlle. Leoney, presents artistic living pictures and Eastern dances; the Harringtons, in a scene of Mexico, give a clever comic juggling act, and also sing and dance; Mollie Watson pleases with her singing of favourite ditties; the Lashmars are fun-makers extraordinary; A. De Bessell astonishes with his wonderful clay modelling; the Cosmopolitan Male Quartette are harmonious part singers; Mr. Chas. M. Daly and company appear in a clever sketch, I Must Have It; Mr. Daly as Jovial Jim the Tramp scores, and Miss Dora Hilstrom as a barmaid is chic and smart.

THE NEW PAVILION.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Leech; Assistant-Manager, Mr. E A. Sims.—The double cinematograph programme gives a variety of pictures. The most striking films of the week are the Naval picture, Lieut. Rose, R.N., and the Foreign Spy.

THE ODDFELLOWS' HALL.—Lessees, the Ashton Entertainments Syndicate; Managers, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Marks.—The Stricken Home and The Lesson by the Sea are leading films. Mr. Wm. Travis Green, descriptive baritone vocalist, sings good songs

THE PICTUREDROME.—Lessees, Messrs. Weisker Bros.; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. Lackie.—The leading films are supplemented by new views of the late King Edward's Funeral. The MacGregors are two talented artists in song and patter.

ATTERCLIFFE.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manageress, Miss Ethel J. Hope.—The leading picture in this week's programme here is For the Honour of His Family, a sensational military drama; full of pathos is The Two Portraits; Mary, the Coster Girl, is a highly dramatic film. The comic portion is represented by A Runaway Stove, Beneath the Gas, and Too Many Admirers. A special feature is the engagement of Mysterious Parker, whose quick changes and transformations prove him an artist of ability, and meets with hearty recognition.

PICTURE PALACE.—Lessee, Mr. Matt Raymond; Resident-Manager, Mr. Bert Dent.—A star programme of up-to-date pictures at this popular house includes one of the latest A.B. series, As It is in Life, full of dramatic incident, and well acted; Double Dealing, a pathetic story; Brother's Devotion; A Loving Wife's Devotion; Rebellious Betty; Airship Gazing; and Foolshead Marries. Pleasing vaudeville items are presented by the Two Daniells, in speciality act, and Mr. A. T. Bute, quaint comedian. The weekly children's matinée is popular, crowded houses being the rule.

BARNSLEY.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Manager, Mr. A. C. Mitchell.—Miss Florence Baines' company are keeping audiences merry with Miss Lancashire, Limited. The capital company includes Miss Madge Grey, Mr. H. B. Pippin as John Higgins, Mr. Sydney Deach, jun., as Henry Higgins; Mr. Allen Servington as Moses Goldberg, Mr. Lonnen Meadows as John Henry Thompson. Miss May Beigh is good as Miss Lancashire; and Miss Fanny Olive appears as Mrs. Thompson.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Will Smithson.—Les Ados top the bill with astonishing feats of strength, and Signor Ados gives an astonishing exhibition of muscle displacement and physical development. Victor Kelly, assisted by Miss Agnes, gives a funny and exceedingly clever act; Azella Wilson, a charming lady in appearance and physique, performs gracefully on the trapeze; Graham has a novel show in "The Music Hall, 1875 to 1910"; Rose and Challoner give a funny act as The Porter and Singer; Making a Man of Her, enacted by the Oakes Duo, is screamingly funny; Iris Branfield is a charming comedienne; and the Palacescope provides good films.

BARROW-IN-FURNESS.—ROYALTY THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Stone.—Mr. Chalmers Mackey's company is here with Rollicking Rory. Mr. Mackey as Rory is simply irresistible, and Miss Connie Meadows is a vivacious Rosie; Miss Nellie de Lacy and Miss Jeanette Lyons are good as Peggy and the Widow O'Donoghue; and Mrs. Chalmers Mackey does admirably as Mrs. Ashleigh and Roseleen.

HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE.—Lessees and Managers, Mr. and Mrs. Calvert Routledge.—The Will o' the Wisps are still here with an interesting and varied entertainment.

TIVOLI THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Lessee and Manager, Signor Pepi; Acting Manager, Mr. Henry Wood.—Mr. George Formby is here singing his latest successes; Edwards and Wards prove good comedy acrobats; Roy Beavis is an accomplished conjurer; Dancit is an expert dancer; Thessen's acrobatic dogs do some clever things; Rene juggles admirably; and Gilbert Girard proves himself an excellent animal and instrumental mimic.

BARRY DOCK.—PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Mr. Leon Vint; Manager, Mr. Arthur Brogden.—Topping a good bill are the Cheers, with their educated cats, who are thoroughly entertaining; a capital turn is supplied by the Sisters Glynne, instrumentalists and dancers. Some of the most impressive pictures are shown on the Bio.

BATH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Egbert Lewis; Acting-Manager, Mr. Lewis A. Long.—The farce Not Before the Missus holds the boards, and proves highly acceptable; Miss Nannie Goldman heads the cast as Jane Parker, and, together with Mr. William Holles as Burnaby Bunstone, is responsible for most of the merriment the piece provokes; Mr. Frank Attree and Mr. Toby Jones create no little laughter by their impersonations of Alphonse Duprez, an excitable Frenchman, and Bob Longshanks, a Guardsman. The lively parts of Augustus Whistler and Vandyke Brown are rattled through with credit by Mr. Leonard K. Mansford and Mr. Francis James; their lady-loves, Julia and Bessie, finding pleasing representatives in Miss Helene Dale and Miss Edith Bruce. One of the best played parts is the Constance Bunstone of Miss Pattie Walton. As a curtain-raiser Miss Nannie Goldman is seen in her well-known Little Charwoman protean sketch, in which she receives good support from Mr. William Holles and Mr. Francis James. The theatre closes after to-night until August Bank Holiday.

PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Chas. Schuberth.—During Mr. Schuberth's absence abroad Mr. Jules Simpson, a former manager, is in charge. He is fortunate in having such a popular artist as Florrie Forde to head this week's bill in all her latest successes. Her reception is great. An instrumental treat is the violin playing of Edie Reynolds; the Three Alskarnos score in their comedy risley feats; return visits are paid by the Sages, vaudeville artists, and Norah Desmond, the American pictorial songstress; an old favourite is Josh Dixon, the quaint comedian and dancer; the expert dancing and jokes of Clarke and Mostol are loudly applauded. Pictures prove an attraction.

BEDFORD.—ROYAL COUNTY.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. E. Graham Falcon; Acting-Manager, Mr. Walter R. Wilson.—Under the direction of Mr. Robert Macdonald, The Gay Gordons is attracting good houses. Mr. Frank Lincoln carries off the part of Angus Graeme in dashing style, making the breeziest of lovers in his scenes with the charming Peggy Quainton, brightly and tenderly played by Miss May Yates. Mr. Edwin Dodds is equally successful in evoking merriment as the quaint old showman Nervy Nat, and is loyally seconded by Miss Edie Martin as Charlotte Siddons. Miss Dorothy Grasdorff makes a pretty and vivacious Victoria Siddons; Miss Ada Mellan is natural in the part of Janet MacLeod; and the chorus is attractive and efficient.

BELFAST.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred W. Warden; Acting-Manager, Mr W. A. Salmond.—Monday commenced the third week of the revival season here under the direction of Mr. Mathew H. Glenville and Mr. Fred Osmond, when the romantic drama The Guiding Star was presented. In the dual rôle of Gladys and Madge Goodwin, Miss Hettie Zillwood achieved much success, her acting throughout being quite irreproachable; Mr. Albert Guyon furnished a clever impersonation of Harold Hagar; Mr. Reginald T. Fox submitted a manly impersonation of the young squire Jack Hilton; and Mr. Charles H. Gallier portrayed the rôle of Martin Hardcliffe as vividly and realistically as the part required. Mr. Lewis Gordon was quite equal to the rôle of Farmer Dean, and Miss Alice Buckland was a charming Dolly Dean. A vivacious representative of Pattie Barnes was found in Miss Lillian Malvern; and a capital impersonation of the Hon. Algy Allonbury was furnished by Mr. Robert Mann. Mr. Fred Osmond kept the audience highly amused as Bob Bowser, and other rôles were adequately presented.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Fred Willmott; Resident-Manager, Mr. Henry T. Downs.—Mr. Fred Kitchen and company top the bill again, and continue their success with their military comedy Private Potts; the clever comedy cyclists, Narrow Bros., gain a deserved reception nightly; and Mark Sheridan, jun. (son of the great Mark), made a hit on Monday with droll songs and patter; much humour is infused into the act presented by Walton and Lester; the Maltans, comedy duo, have been successful; Williams and Warden, comedians, are very funny; and also on the programme are Flake White, painter and cartoonist, and the Bioscope.

EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. C. Laidler.—The leading attraction here is provided by John Le Hay and company, who present with much éclat their very droll sketch Oysters, in which Mr. Le Hay is inimitably quaint as the Needy Nut; the Délevines return with their original comedy dancing act Flip and Flop, which gains applause; Mlle. Yetta introduces her novel act, in which she dances a cake-walk on the wire; Miss Aida Martino is a smart comedienne with good songs; and Mr. Phil Parsons is a talented light comedian. Also here are Frank and Free, capital comedians; Mlle. Polio, a graceful and agile lady gymnast; and the Bioscope.

NEW ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Will White.—A fine series of pictures have been presented here. Messrs. Dennis and Morris are good comedians and expert dancers, and Mr. Frank Whiteley a capable comedian, whose dancing is exceedingly smart.

ST. GEORGE'S HALL.—General-Manager, Mr. Herbert Rogers.—Some beautiful pictures have been exhibited here, including (for the first time anywhere) The Power of the Press, Flossie's Theft, A Noble Sacrifice, &c. Mr. Percy Gill's clever dancing has been vociferously applauded.

BILSTON.—ROYAL AND HIPPODROME.—Lessee, Mr. Edwin C. Jazon; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. J. Tunstall.—A clever display of contortion and acrobatic feats is given by Eccentric Billy and his performing dog; Miss Georgina Buxton renders popular ballads in a pleasing manner. Among the pictures shown by means of the Hippograph is The Kingdom of Lilliput, a very fine film.

BIRKENHEAD.—NEW THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessee, Mr. W. W. Kelly; Acting-Manager, Mr. Herbert M. King.—Mr. J. A. Campbell's company is here with the interesting play The Sin of Her Childhood. Mr. Guy Hastings is conspicuous with a fine rendering of the Rev. Alan Grey; Mary Haysel is admirably played by Miss Mary Warburton; and Mr. Cecil Mannering is well placed as Stephen Haysel. Comic relief is cleverly accorded by Mr. Hugh Brady as Barney O'Reilly and by Miss Polly Denville as Lizzie Muggins; and the cast generally is most efficient. The production draws two good houses nightly.

ARGYLE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. D. J. Clarke; Acting-Manager, Mr. John Keating.—The clever comedian, Tom Foy, assisted by some capital colleagues, is appearing in the side-splitting sketch First of April, to the intense delight of large audiences. Jan Rudenyi and company, in the musical sketch The Power of Music, and Miss Queenie Essex, an accomplished comedienne, are leading turns; and Harry Helme, an excellent vocalist. Miss Harrie Greene, comedienne; Cestria, a smart comic juggler; Tom Yorke, coster comedian; Fred Land, eccentric comedian; W. Graham, the human marionette; and Brown's Royal Bioscope complete.

HIPPODROME.—Director of Entertainments, Mr. Will Sley; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Weston.—Mr. Junius Booth's company, in that gentleman's dramatic version of Monte Cristo, are fulfilling a week's engagement here with considerable success. The title-rôle is represented by Mr. Booth with considerable skill and effect; and Miss Lilian Dean is well suited as Mercedes.

WINTER GARDENS, ROCK FERRY.—General-Manager, Messrs. B. Allandale and L. Blattner; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Dooley.—Mr. Frank L. Hayter's Dutch Drolls Concert Company furnish a most agreeable entertainment.

BIRMINGHAM.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Tom B. Davies; General-Manager, Mr. Philip Rodway.—Ideal weather conditions favour the promenade concerts here, which, under the direction of Mr. Landon Ronald, are being satisfactorily patronised. The programmes are varied and classical.

PRINCE OF WALES.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. J. F. Graham; Acting-Manager, Mr. Henry Johnstone.—The Private Secretary is here again, and again the audiences are excellent. The farcical comedy is presented by Mr. Eugene C. Stafford's company, but the veteran actor, Mr. J. F. Graham, popular manager of the theatre, is the chief attraction. He appears as the Rev. Robert Spalding, and a better characterisation than his, one could not wish to see. Mr. W. Hargreaves (Mr. Cattermole) is a big favourite here, and his humour is delightful; and others who deserve special mention are Mr. Frederick Tyrrell as Gibson, Mrs. Alfred Davis as Miss Ashford, Mr. Sam Wilkinson as Harry Marsland, Miss Cecily Wade as Mrs. Stead, and Miss Aimee Gratton Clyndes, and Miss Elsie Blythe.

ALEXANDRA.—Proprietor, Mr. Lester Collingwood; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. T. Guest.—Mr. Charles Gibbon's company is responsible for an effective representation of the ever-popular drama Alone in London. The outstanding feature is the performance of Miss Nellie Clyde, an actress of considerable ability, to whom is entrusted the part of Annie Meadows. She quickly wins the sympathies of audiences and is always convincing. Mr. Gerald Jordan ably portrays a villainous character as Dick Redcliffe, and Miss Laurie O'Neil is a favourite in the character of Tom Chickweed. Mr. J. W. Wilkinson gives a notable portrayal as the philosophic thief; little Hetty Hornsby is clever as Little Nan; and others who claim attention are Mr. Wallace Dunlop (Spriggins), Miss Molly Monaghan (Mrs. Maloney), Miss Carrie Young (Liz), and Mr. Frank Caffrey (Charlie).

BORDESLEY PALACE.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. W. Goodwin Woodward.—The crowded houses assembling each evening at this theatre clearly demonstrate the success of the two-houses-a-night system inaugurated a fortnight ago. This week a strong drama holds the boards, Mr. Edward Marris's stock company presenting A Warning to Women. Mr. Harry C. Robinson earns praise for excellent work in the heavy character Marcus Dread, and as a set-off is the humorous performance of Mr. Joseph Millane as Shaun. Miss Blanche St. Albans is well chosen in the part of Moira Kennion; Mr. Charles B. Williams is successful as Fergus McNaughten; and others who merit praise are Miss Graham Edwin, Miss Nora Melton, Mr. Templar Ellis, &c.

METROPOLE.—Proprietor, Mr. Andrew Melville; Manager, Mr. J. Hindle Taylor.—The powerful mystery play The Girl with the Angel Face is being presented for the first time at this theatre, and the appreciation of good houses goes all in its favour. Mr. Mat Lynton's company is responsible for the production. Miss Minnie Love undertakes the difficult rôle of Angel Leigh, whose ravishing beauty makes men commit all manner of crimes to gain her favour, and she provides a remarkable character study. Mr. Graham Wingford as the unscrupulous Sir Thomas Wentworth displays great ability, and Mr. Edwin Ling (Jasper Death) and Mr. Bert Conway (Martin Flood) are excellent in other heavy characters. Miss Rhoda Douglas is a favourite as Ena, and praise is also due to Miss Laurie Potter, Miss Rosina White, Mr. Arthur Lawrence, and Mr. Edmund Beresford.

THEATRE ROYAL, ASTON.—Lessee, Mr. Charles Barnard; General-Manager, Mr. E. Hewitson; Acting-Manager, Mr. Lewis M. Chapman.—The Great Awakening, a four-act drama with a strong domestic interest, is presented in capable style by Miss Olga Andre and company, and the hearty reception accorded it each evening leaves no doubt that it is built on the right lines. Miss Andre gives a notable performance in the principal character, Lola Selby, her acting being always convincing. Mr. Herbert Barrs gives many indications of ability as James Selby, an escaped convict; and Mr. Arthur Winpenny ably portrays the part of Jack Merton. Miss Eva Conway gives a good delineation as Selina Worts, and Mr. F. R Turner (Sergeant Brew) contributes acceptable light comedy.

CARLTON THEATRE.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. James Alexander.—The Carlton Dramatic Company are this week attracting big houses with Unknown: A River Mystery, a melodrama of the best type. The story itself and the characters portrayed therein are features that at once compel attention. Mr. Haldane Dalton is a forceful actor in the part of Harold Merrybright, and Miss Nellie Thorn Hallam is always pleasing in the rôle of his sister Nellie. The heavy work is in the capable hands of Mr. Victor Gardour (Arnold Tyson) and Mr. Geoffrey Broughton (Dr. Brinkton). Of the other characters Mr. Newton Pearce's portrayal of the old sailor Jack Salt deserves especial praise. Mr. Norman Tracy fills the rôle of Albert Stormking with distinction, and Mr. Willis Collins and Mr. Frank Holyoake are also prominent.

EMPIRE.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. W. Matcham; Assistant-Manager, Mr. A. Williams.—Miss Maidie Scott heads a good all-round bill, and introduces new numbers, which are well received. A stirring military episode, entitled Drummed Out, is admirably played by A. C. Lilly and company. Binn and Binn are highly entertaining in a humorous musical turn; a skilful performance is given by Wyndham and Kitty, whose jumping feats are novel and difficult; operatic numbers, sung by Sybil St. Elmo, are distinctly good; a bright farcical episode, entitled Ten Minutes, is presented by Alfred Wood's company; Dot Hardy gives character comedy studies; Alcide Capitaine an aerial gymnast of more than ordinary skill and attractiveness.

GRAND.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. Foster; Assistant-Manager, Mr. H. Lucas.—Crowded audiences enjoy a well-varied programme. Mike Whallen, always bright and cheerful, is a lively turn, his gags being particularly smart; Chanti, in a series of character dances of various nations, is remarkably good; the Seven Perezoffs take part in an animated combined pantomime, entitled A Supper in a Paris Café; Miss Lulu Russell is a charming lady who elicits rounds of applause with her delightful songs; Orpheus, rightly described as "the master of melody," plays with skill upon eight different instruments; D'Arc's marionette figures provide a pleasing entertainment; the Quaint Q's are full of melody and humour; and others who contribute to the bill are Gwennie Hasto, comedienne, and Mlle. Eldee, in a series of poses.

GAIETY.—General-Manager, Mr. Albert Bushell.—Miss Sable Fern's musical interlude, entitled Boys in Camp, is one of the most up-to-date novelties on the music hall stage, and it forms a splendid head-liner, the songs, which are a leading feature, going with a pleasant swing. The Achmed Ibrahim Troupe of Arab acrobats are responsible for a clever exhibition of tumbling and equilibrism; Kartelli performs surprising tricks upon a slack rope, and gains a good share of applause; Eileen Douglas, a sweet-voiced singer, has a good répertoire; Bessie Butt, a clever male impersonator scores a hit in "Girls, girls, girls"; the L.V.O. Trio present a good comedy act; Merton and Rydon are successful comedy entertainers; and Giovani Daruso is an accomplished violinist.

HIPPODROME.—Manager, Messrs. Barrasford; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. D. Elbourne.—Harry First is an American actor who has full scope for his peculiar humour in the comedy-drama The Matrimonial Fee, a piece which is well played by the company; a clever and mystifying performance is given by the Ten-ka Troupe of Japanese magicians; Cedar and Elgar are up-to-date entertainers; Arthur Rigby sings his latest songs and is warmly applauded; an exceptionally clever turn is that of the two McKays, children, who give a remarkable exhibition of Scottish singing and dancing; the Musical Marvels sing well, and are funny when playing their instruments; the Quality Quartet have some splendid concerted numbers; Pallas and Cussick are knockabout comedians; Clark and Haydon appear in a musical act; and Smit and Smit are clever and humorous performers on the bars.

ASTON HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Aston Hippodrome, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. T. H. Middleton.—The visit of Sandy McNab and company is a popular one judging by the hearty laughter provoked by this turn at every house. The sketch presented is the popular absurdity The Egyptian Mummy, and as a "star" turn it would be hard to beat. The Brothers O'Brien in their gymnastic act are above the average; the Rhobins and Kruso Trio present a laughable musical speciality, Pastimes on the Island; H. R. Friscary is a clever top-hat manipulator; Elise Malpas has a great reception upon a return visit; Kitty Kearns is a popular comedienne and dancer; and Will E. Stopit arouses much merriment.

CURZON HALL.—Lessee, Mr. Waller Jeffs.—One of the most attractive programmes ever presented here is arousing great interest this week. The chief subject is The Passing of King Edward, which forms a striking national tribute to the memory of the late monarch, and earns the appreciation of all members of the audience. A popular feature is also a series of striking photographs by Mr. Cherry Kearton, F.Z.S., illustrating the travels of ex-President Roosevelt in Africa. The Woman of Samaria is a splendid Biblical subject, and there are many other good dramatic and comic pictures. Mr. Frank Clarke, a pleasing baritone vocalist, sings several popular numbers.

KING'S HALL.—Proprietors and Managers, Messrs. J. P. Moore and B. Kennedy.—A varied entertainment containing items of exceptional interest is heartily appreciated by crowded audiences. As usual, there is a strong programme of pictures, including dramatic and comic subjects; and M. Dubois presents two Indian monkeys who have been trained to give a remarkable performance. Young Pongo causes a sensation by circling round the hall seated in a miniature aeroplane. Miss Ivy May, who is attempting a fast of thirty-one days, sustaining life merely on aerated waters, provides an attractive sideshow.

BISHOP AUCKLAND.—HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, The Hippodrome (Bishop Auckland), Ltd.; Managing-Director, Signor Pepi.—The Dayton Family give a capital turn; the Three Gascoignes are skilful comedians and comedy jugglers; Dorma Morgan is a clever comedienne; Dott and Williams give a good sand-dancing turn; Walter Wade is a smart comedian; Sylvene, assisted by Mlle. Florence, produce an exciting equilibristic scena; and the Hippo films are good.

EDEN.—Lessees, Messrs. R. Addison, Ltd.; Business-Manager, Mr. J. Huntley.—Excellent films are again provided, most interest being evinced in the film showing the local Church Parade of Police, Territorials, and Boy Scouts.

BLACKPOOL.—HER MAJESTY'S OPERA HOUSE.—General-Manager, Mr. J. R. Huddlestone.—Mr. Ernest E. Norris and company are playing John Glayde's Honour here this week with considerable success. Mr. Norris presents a capital study of John Glayde, and his acting meets with warm appreciation; Muriel Glayde has an admirable exponent in Miss Gwladys Faunce; and Mr. Royce Milton cleverly depicts the scheming Trevor Lerode. The minor parts are in good hands.

GRAND THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. George H. Harrop; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy Harrop.—Miss Violet Osmond's company is here with The New Barmaid. Mr. Alexander Loftus is still the life and soul of the piece as Bertie White; and William White is cleverly played by Mr. Llewellyn C. Hughes; Miss Madge Prior is seen to advantage in the title-rôle, and Miss Beatrice Erle is a charming Dora Heather; Mr. Burlington Rigg as Captain Loveday, and Mr. E. W. Chewd as Colonel Claymore had good support.

PALACE.—General Manager, Mr. George H. Harrop; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Waller.—Wee Georgie Wood, the wonderful boy comedian, is meeting with an ovation here; Fred Barnes does a popular turn, and is particularly successful in his sketch The Black Sheep of the Family; Ray Miles and Ray excel as eccentric jugglers and gymnasts; Francini Olloms is a wonderful musician; Sam Austin and Ray Cowan are clever vocal entertainers; Cosgrove and Burns shine as comedy duettists; Dora Poole and Fred Maguire are favourite vocalists; and Craig, Roze, and Craig are remarkably clever gymnasts.

BOLTON.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. F. Elliston; Acting-Manager, Mr. John Moncur.—For the summer season the management here has adopted two performances nightly, which promises to be successful. Mr. Ernest R. Abbott's capable company is appearing in Sapho, Miss Ada G. Abbott playing the part of Fanny Legrand (Sapho) and Mr. Edward Ouston that of Jean Gaussin. The other parts are well filled.

GRAND THEATRE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. J. F. Elliston; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Kenyon.—The company here this week comprises the artistic Selbinis, in their difficult bicycle trick performances, &c.; Ruby Emerson, comedienne; the Lester Brothers, dancing demons; John Lloyd's Napoli Singers, in An Evening at Home; Ridiculous Recco, burlesque acrobat; the Carina Sisters, in their refined musical act; Dorothy Gould, comedienne; Will Penn, eccentric comedian; W. Fullbrook and company, in their comedy concoction Astronomy; and the pictures.

EMPIRE HIPPODROME, LTD.—Director of Entertainments, Mr. Will Sley; Manager, Mr. A. R. Harrison.—Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kimberley's company is appearing in the military drama Two Little Drummer Boys, the Misses Maggie English and Maudie B. Douglas respectively appearing as the two little drummers.

BOOTLE.—WINTER GARDENS.—Lessees, Messrs. Adeler, Sutton, and Allandale; Joint-Managers, Mr. Bobbie Allandale and Mr. Ludwig Blattner; Resident-Manager, Mr. C. Lionel Cole.—Top of the bill are the Brothers Errard, smart acrobatic violinists; Frank Weaver takes high rank as a sand-dancer; W. H. Atkinson, the popular baritone, contributes several songs; Mr. Leslie P. Paget displays exceptional talent in his character impersonations from Dickens; and the Sisters Lesmere are smart duettists and dancers. Miss Dorothy Watson displays distinct talent as a pianist; and an excellent impression is created by George Barlow, the new comet.

BOURNEMOUTH.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Proprietors, David Allen and Sons; Sole Lessee, Mr. Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Hubert Dunbar.—Mr. Neville Claude's company is here with The Girl from Kay's, with Miss Florrie Millington in the title-rôle, and Mr. J. W. Hooper as Hoggenheimer. Other parts are undertaken by Miss Rosie Burnett as Nora Chalmers; Miss Dorothy King as the maid; Mr. Harold Perry as Harry Gordon; Mr. Charles Power as the Hon. Percy; Mr. Richard Andean as Theo. Quench; Mr.

On their garments not a blemish,
But fresher than before.—The Tempest.

CLEAN UP FOR YOUR

AUTUMN TOURS.

By special arrangement

TOURING MANAGERS CAN HAVE THEIR WARDROBES CLEANED BETWEEN SHOWS WHEN IN OR NEAR LONDON

by the

CHEMICAL CLEANING & DYEING CO.,

T. HARRIS, Manager.

ORIGINAL THEATRICAL CLEANERS & DYERS.

UNSOLICITED TESTIMONIALS.

"27, Moore Street, Lennox Gardens, S.W., May 22nd, 1910.

Mr. HARRIS,—I am very much obliged to you for the prompt way in which you attended to my request, and also for the very satisfactory way in which the things were dyed.—Yours faithfully (Signed) ENID SPENCER-BRUNTON."

"45, Green Road, Southsea, Hants, May 18th, 1910.

Dear Mr. HARRIS,—Thanks so much for taking the trouble to do a little order like this so quickly for me.—Faithfully yours, STUART ALEXANDER."

"Royal Aquarium Theatre, Great Yarmouth, May 26th, 1910.

Dear Mr. HARRIS,—Goods just received; am delighted with them. Very many thanks. Kind regards.—Yours faithfully, J. W. CORDINER."

For further particulars apply to

6, ARGYLL STREET, REGENT STREET, W.

Telephone: Gerrard 1911 (2 lines). Telegrams: "CLEANING, LONDON."

Charles Leverton as Mr. Chalmers; Mr. B. H. Heron as the hall porter, and Master Walt. Pink as the page boy.

BRADFORD. — THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager, Mr. T. F. Doyle; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Richardson.—Thepdor's Flutter, the French farcical comedy, with music, is being presented here this week. Miss Doris Woodall, who plays Aurelia, and Mr. E. C. Hedmondt as Mons. Adolf Plumeau winning unstinted applause for their exquisite vocal efforts. Mr. Charles Victor (Adolf Durand), too, sings well, and Miss Marion Broom, Miss Annie Van Dyck, and Miss Hilda Morris as Angela, Claire, and Eve respectively are a trio of very capable vocalists. The humour of the piece is accentuated by the acting of Mr. S. Boulderstone in the nondescript character of Theodor, and by Messrs. Victor and J. K. Campbell as the successful dealers of pickles.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Lessee, Councillor F. Laidler; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. M. Hamilton.—Mr. T. Arthur Jones presents here this week his striking drama of thrilling interest, When Other Lips, which is well represented and received with favour. Miss Marie Daventry as the heroine of the story of love and intrigue acts with conspicuous ability, and Mr. Juan d'Alberte is effective as the villain; Mr. John Davidson has scope for his capabilities as the sailor hero; Mr. Jones makes much of his part of Phlyocrates Jenkins, and excellent support is rendered by Miss Marion Wells and the other members of the capable company in working out the plot and counter-plotting.

THE EMPIRE.—Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. J. Kelly.—Some striking illusions are presented here this week by Oswald Williams, who is assisted by Winifred La Barte, and a series of wonderful tricks and disappearances, accomplished with remarkable rapidity, quite astound the audience. La Pia, "the Enchantress," aided by the limelight and the cinematograph, presents a series of very charming and fantastic dances, and a remarkable illusion, viz., "The Spirit of the Waves"; Van Biene is on a return visit, and his delightful 'cello solos, played in his latest sketch Van Biene's Baby, win great applause. Heeley and Meeley, "the lucky tramps," are clever acrobats and very grotesque, and Cissie Thompson, a charming comedienne, Billy Hobbs, a capital "nigger" comedian and dancer, Rhoda Paul, a smart male impersonator, and Hans and Lux, comedians, complete the fine company, and there are some amusing Bioscope pictures in addition.

THE PALACE.—Lessee, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. E. Harrison.—Carlton is here, entertaining as ever with card tricks and patter, and he is most diverting in his burlesque The Showman, assisted by the Two Hillands, Jock Walker, and others. W. A. Haines and Alan Boothwick are particularly amusing in their capital sketch Half a Dollar, and they are well supported. The excellent company this week also includes Alfred Long, alto vocalist; Burnetti, quick-change character musician; Adie Lombard, an excellent comedienne; and Susie and Protti, in an original Continental dancing act. The Palace Perfection Pictures form quite a feature.

BRIDLINGTON.—ROYAL PRINCE'S PARADE.—Manager, Mr. Charles Palmer. — Mr. Norfolk Megone and his orchestra are adding to their reputation by playing twice daily in the Floral Pavilion. The vocalist this week is Miss Rosa Pallow, whose clear soprano voice is a source of delight. In the Grand Pavilion The Gipsies and their Jester are still drawing big houses. Mr. Will Gane, the manager of the company, has written a new musical sketch, with a Japanese setting, which was played for the first time on Saturday evening, and was highly appreciated. In the Royal Victoria Rooms the animated pictures are drawing large houses.

NEW SPA AND GARDENS.—Manager and Secretary, Mr. R. C. Luxton.—Mr. Wilson James and his talented co., "The Gaieties," are still going strong.

BRIGHTON.—GRAND THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Ernest Gates; General Manager, Mr. Ben Court.—Mr. C. Watson Mill's company is here this week with The Love of the Princess. Miss May Beatrice gives a charming impersonation of the Princess Idalia; Mr. Frank Harvey submits a powerful enactment of Prince Conrad Ramona; Mr. Richard Vane is very effective as the traitor Count Danillo; Mr. Beckett Bould as Lieut. Orlans and Mr. John Worth as Lieut. Zaroff are admirably suited; much amusement is afforded by Mr. Edgar Morgan as Boris and Mr. Francis Serle as Duke Scarf; and the remaining characters are satisfactorily represented. The play is well staged and mounted.

ALHAMBRA.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Alfred Smith; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. A. Smith.—James Fawn, the favourite comedian, is enthusiastically received; the Lecardo Brothers, as the tired bakers, give an original acrobatic turn; Preston Holmes's musical selections are admirably performed; Ted Cowan is a quaint comedian; Manson and West are diverting in the comedy sketch, Telling the Tale; the Four Sparks are capital vocalists and dancers; the Manites, a comedy duo, win hearty applause; Ethel Donna is a pleasing singer and dancer; Minnie Warner, comedienne and speciality dancer, merits praise; and the Alhambra Picturegraph is highly interesting.

BARRASFORD'S HIPPODROME.—Resident Manager, Mr. Bertram J. Brown.—Miss Zona Vevey, assisted by Max Erard and his piano, contributes songs in pleasing style, winning very hearty applause; Johnson Clarke is a clever ventriloquist; Dort and Leonard are very funny acrobats; the Two Lillys are excellent equilibrists; Tim O'Connor, "the boy with the obedient feet," is well received; Baby Vi Davis is a capital child actress-vocalist; Jack and Evelyn, the popular comedy couple, achieve distinct success; the Columbia Trio are artistic vocalists; Les Berthos' acrobatic dancing is admirable; George D'Albert is a good actor-vocalist; and Tennyson and Wallis, comedians, are cordially applauded.

WEST PIER.—Secretary, Mr. A. W. Scholey.—Mr. Eric H. Albury's company is here this week with Why Smith Left Home. Mr. Albury submits an admirable and entertaining representation of the Count; Mr. Vernon Sansbury is highly effective as John Smith; Mr. Charles Clarke as General Billet Doux and Mr. Laurence J. Lawrence as Major Duncombe are well placed; Miss Sybil Chester acquits herself admirably as Amelia; Miss Edna Eden merits praise for her embodiment of Mrs. Smith; Miss Maude Shelton presents a clever character sketch as Lavinia Daly, the cook.

PALACE THEATRE.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Jay and Man; Resident Manager, Mr. Wilfred H. Kent.—Animated pictures are exhibited here this week. Foremost in the programme is the series of films depicting the Funeral Procession of the late King Edward VII. Heart of the Outlaw is a stirring drama; The Girl and the Fugitive conveys a stirring story of Western life; Glimpses of Bird Life is a charming production; and among the amusing pictures are Foolshead Disguised as a Porter and A Present for His Wife.

COURT THEATRE.—Lessee and Manageress, Mrs. M. Barrasford; Manager, Mr. F. J. Thompson.—The animated pictures exhibited here this week prove very attractive. The Roman is a superb dramatic film; Broken Friendship and the Barber of Seville convey stirring stories; the Funeral of King Edward VII. is still shown; A Visit to an Ostrich Farm is instructive; and the comics include A Slippery Day, Baffles Bandit, and the Champion Bowl Player. Mr. Osland Denner contributes excellent baritone songs.

THEATRE DE LUXE.—Proprietors, Electric Theatres, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. W. H. Cousens.—The animated pictures here continue to attract full houses. Dramatic stories are submitted in The Father's Ransom, Irish Boy, and Vengeance of the Sea; very picturesque are Along the Nile and In the Land of Monkeys and Snakes; and much amusement is afforded by Artist's Nightmare. The Funeral of King Edward VII. is exhibited.

BRISTOL.—PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Macready Chute.—Messrs. Leedham, Bantock, and Frederick Mouillot's company is here with the farcical comedy Those Terrible Twins. Mr. Bantock is highly amusing as William; Mr. Charles Esdale makes a capital part of Charlie Pringle; Mr. Edwin H. Wynne does excellently as the Hon. Harry Scott; Miss Marion Hargrave makes a good character part of Maria (the cook); Mr. Harry Cane and Miss Margaret Skelton are well placed as Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Pringle; Miss Louie Beckman and Miss Edna Morgan are pleasing as Violet Fairfield and Lillie Leyton; and Mr. Archie McCraig is quaintly funny as Minks (the lift boy). The one-act play Only a Clown, by Percy Greenbank and Leedham Bantock, commences the performance, the parts being capitally taken by Mr. Harry Cane, Mr. Edwin H. Wynne, Mr. Charles Esdale, Mr. George Rathbone, and Miss Nora Walker.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, Mrs. Emma Carpenter; Manager, Mr. Henry C. Alty.—The romantic drama From Slave to Princess is being well played here by Miss Ida Molesworth and Mr. Mark Blow's company. Miss Agnes Verity and Mr. Wernham Ryott do excellently in their respective parts of Vera and Prince Julian; Miss Doris Graham evinces considerable power as Princess Claudia; Mr. Charles E. Johnson acts very effectively as Michael Bardoni; Mr. Pringle Roberts displays ability as Otto; the comic parts of Patrick O'Brien and Amelia are capitally taken by Mr. Harry Benson and Miss Mary Morrell; and the remaining parts are all in capable hands. The play is effectively staged.

PALACE.—Local Manager, Mr. Horace Livermore; Assistant-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. F. J. V. Welchman.—The Schichtl Marionettes, a capital reproduction of a variety theatre in miniature, heads the programme, and obtains considerable appreciation; the Seven Bramusas present an excellent musical act, their speciality being entitled "Music Afloat"; Frank Hartley does some smart juggling; Yost and York amuse with patter, song, and piano playing; Edna Latonna is a successful male impersonator; Arthur Croxton amuses as a mimetic comedian; Ciss and Will are clever juvenile clog-dancers, &c.; and a pleasing selection of animated pictures concludes.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. B. Pearce Lucas; Resident-Manager, Mr. G. Rhodes Parry.—Hetty King, male impersonator, heads the programme with an enjoyable turn; the Six Brothers Luck amuse with their comedy sketch H.M.S. Perhaps; Walter Bird and company please with their comedy sketch Her Husband; the Scottish Meisters amuse with their vocal extravaganza Ancestral Spirits; Milton and Horton are successful speciality artists; Andy Gimmel is a capable Scotch vocalist; Olive Dene sings and dances in pleasing style; and J. Randolph Sutton, light comedian, is appreciated. Pictures conclude.

BURNLEY.—VICTORIA OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. C. Horner.—Another excellent list of pictures is shown here, including a finely-acted story, The Postmistress, and On the Reef. Good audiences are the rule.

EMPIRE THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. W. C. Horner.—The Lukushimas Troupe of Japanese acrobats present an original series of acrobatic features with wonderful neatness. The Eisteddfod Vocal Sextette please with capitally-rendered glees, and Ada Leach is applauded to the echo for pretty singing. Allan Hanbury wins high approval with good patter, and Vardon has a novel ventriloquial turn. The Georgians, a well-trained troupe of young artists, present a pretty vocal dancing scena, and D'Aulby is a remarkably rapid landscape artist. The Empire Theatrescope shows some fine pictures.

PALACE THEATRE AND HIPPODROME. — Managing Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident Manager, Mr. G. R. Badcoe.—Tom Hearne's lazy juggling act creates roars of laughter, and he is also good in his new sketch, in which seven remarkably quick changes are made. M. Gaston Chevalier and company give a sketch, The Rat, in which M. Chevalier and Mlle. Etoille Noir perform the sensational Apache dance. Friend and Downing convulse the audience, and Canard, "the man on time," gives a clever contortion exhibition. Merited applause is accorded Leo and Roland for a balancing act, and Kate Traill sings pleasantly at the piano. Wild Birds in their Haunts is shown by the Palace pictures.

BURTON-ON-TRENT. — NEW THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Bennett; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. de Hague Body.—The mysterious De Biere is astonishing large audiences here by his marvellous conjuring; Mlle. Silotta and her beautiful white horse are the perfection of artistic statuary; the Whitworth Trio manipulate their cycles in a wonderful manner; Dainty Lena Leslie is a bright and pleasing comedienne; good turns are also given by Jack Hayton, Stewart and Morris, and The Frohmans; and the Operascope supplies the latest films.

BURY (Lancs.).—ROYAL, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Assistant Resident-Manager, Mr. J. McPherson.—Mr. Will Casey's company opened here on Monday with An Unwedded Wife, of which two performances are given nightly. Mr. E. St. Clair Forbes is a satisfactory Philip Blackstone; Miss Gilbert Elvin plays well as John Hawthorne; Frank Armstrong is capitally portrayed by Mr. Arthur Cheeves; Mr. and Mrs. Will Casey as Napoleon Boomer and Carraway Crumpet respectively are very amusing; and Mr. Ern Turner as Kit, Mr. Frank Masters as P.C. O'Runyin, contribute to the success achieved. Miss Ethel Spense is a sympathetic Elsie Langham. Miss Chrissie Dunbar proves herself an experienced and talented actress.

CIRCUS OF VARIETIES.—General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Assistant Resident-Manager, Mr. J. McPherson.—The Funeral Procession of His Late Majesty is on view for another week, and is attracting large audiences. There are other excellent pictures, and variety is provided by Denby and Dent (vocal comedians) and Lilian Neville (character vocalist).

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son.—A very attractive bill is topped by Florence and Rose Showell, duettists, whose vocal contributions are greatly admired. Golden and Chance appear successfully in a comedy tumbling act; Barney Armstrong, comedian, and his clever and original assistant, Kelly (appearing as deputy for Tony Black, indisposed), are responsible for considerable merriment; Ronald George performs cleverly on a variety of instruments; the Whimsicals, in melody and mirth; Die Kleaner Reays, gymnasts; Gipsy Hodgson, comedienne and dancer; and the Geraldos, the famous juggling combination, conclude the programme.

CAMBRIDGE. — NEW THEATRE. — Managing-Director, Mr. W. B. Redfern, J.P., D.L.—Miss Horniman's company, in a round of plays, is occupying the boards here. On Monday night Mr. Bernard Shaw's Candida was presented. Mr. Henry Austin was all that could be desired as Rev. James Mavor Morell; Mr. Edward Landor was successful as Burgess; Mr. B. Iden Payne played Marchbanks cleverly; Mr. J. V. Bryant was also exceptionally good. Miss Warragh rendered Candida with marked ability; while Miss Ada King as Phroserphine Gurnett did her best with an unsatisfactory character. The play was preceded by the capital little comedy, Makeshifts. The Silver Box, Widowers' Houses, and Cupid and Commonsense are also in the bill.

CARDIFF.—NEW THEATRE.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Robt. Redford.—A welcome return visit is paid by the clever comedy The Marriage of Kitty, presented with infinite care by Mr. C. W. Standing's London company. Mr. Standing as Sir Reginald Belsize gives an easy and natural representation; Miss Myra Swan as Katherine Silverton is charming; and Miss Winifred Pearson as Madame de Semiano closely approaches perfection. John Travers is excellently portrayed by Mr. Sidney Burt; Mr. Christopher Steele (Norbury) and Miss Pamela Hope (Rosalie) gain distinction for careful studies. The piece is preceded by The Man in the Street.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. J. Taylor.—Miss Ellaline Terriss delights Cardiffians in a humorous and entertaining sketch entitled The Pink of Perfection, in which Miss Terriss captivates everyone by her impersonation of a character well suited to her bewitching personality; Mr. Stanley Brett and Mr. Roland Chester give effective support. Ernest Shand achieves fresh laurels with his latest songs; Humpsti Bumsti, by Pipifax and Panlo, is a marvellously eccentric performance; Herbert Shelley appears in a clever "quick-change" Irish play, and thoroughly merits the approbation he is accorded; and Wood, Wells, and Wilkins score with a humorous act, in which they introduce delightfully harmonised vocalism. Takio, a remarkable mimic of sounds; the Smythsons, in an amusing sketch, entitled The Lie Alarm; and Kathleen Gray, in an entrancing Spanish song, complete a varied programme.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Acting-Manager, Mr. Will A. Jackson.—The Comedy Meisters head the bill with their talented performance of mirth and harmony; Will Van Allen, the tramp musician, occupies second position with his skilful merrymaking; Ethel Bourne is a talented contralto vocalist; Richard Finberg presents with much success his character studies from famous plays; and the Three Rutlands, gifted harmonica players; Les Arabellas, speciality wire artists; and the Rosses, comedians and dancers, also contribute to the bill.

CARLISLE. — H.M. THEATRE. — Lessees, Mr. Thos. Courtice and Mrs. R. Stewart M'Kim; Manager, Mr. Thos. Courtice.—Mr. Edmund Tearle again produced Jeanie Deans on the opening of his third week of stock season, the cast of the principal characters being almost identical with that of the last performance. Mr. Tearle, Miss Kate Clinton, Miss Mary Campbell, Miss Nancy Blackwood, Mr. Ernest Lodge, and Mr. Stuart Black all scored heavily, and were well supported by the other members of the company. The week's bill includes East Lynne, The Merchant of Venice, The Merry Wives of Windsor, The Three Musketeers, and Richard III.

THE PALACE.—Sole Lessee, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. D. Askew.—William Jackson's Eight Lancashire Lads are the principal performers, and an excellent turn they give. Gillin is more amusing than ever as a ventriloquial humorist; in their "Scenes from Dickens" Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Lucas score a big success; something new in trick cycling is introduced by the Newmans, whose boxing act on wheels is one to be seen. Dine and Dixon and a smart sketch entitled The New Page Boy; Dolly Ross, a clever comedienne and dancer; and some unusually good pictures complete.

CASTLEFORD.—QUEEN'S THEATRE OF VARIETIES, LTD.—Managing-Directors, Messrs. Charles H. Beanland and Will H. Emerson.—A large audience assembled here on Monday to witness a new series of up-to-date animated pictures by the Loyal Dominion Co. Vonetta, a quick-change artist and illusionist, appears with immense success, her tricks being smartly performed; Earle and Melville, the quarrelsome pair, dance with effect, and their patter is mirth-provoking.

CHATHAM.—BARNARD'S PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. L. B. Barnard.—Max Waldon surprises and delights all by his clever female impersonations; the De Wynne Brothers are responsible for a neat and clever athletic display; Wilson and West, as the stage-struck costers, please all; Lacey's Erascope has an interesting film entitled A Trip on the Continent; Will Harmony mimics well-known music hall artists; the Schaffer Four contribute a musical scena which has many novel features; and others appearing are La Folles, in a singing and dancing act; Jack Heath, comedian; and Ada Smart, vocalist.

CHELTENHAM.—OPERA HOUSE.—General-Manager, Mr. H. Oswald Redford.—An excellent season is brought to a close this week by Mr. Edward S. Petley and Miss Una Gilbert's company in a delightfully artistic presentation of Little Mrs. Cummin. Miss Gilbert, in the title-rôle, gives a finished study; Miss Christine Raynor realises perfectly the part of the girl-wife Juliet; Mr. J. Edgar Stevenson plays capitally as the perplexed, yet determined, husband; the rich, deaf old uncle, Horace Eglamore, is cleverly presented by Mr. Edward S. Petley; Susy Plain is breezily studied by Miss Jessie Perceval; Mr. John Bellon does well as Captain Sands; and Miss Caroline Fenton is sufficiently starchy as Mrs. Plain. Minor parts are well sustained by Miss Isabel Leatham, Miss May Ford, and Mr. Gordon Hamilton. A Pair of Lunatics gives good opportunities for droll acting to Mr. Petley and Miss Perceval.

MONTPELLIER PAVILION.—Manager, Mr. Alfred W. Newton.—Old friends in Mr. Wallis Arthur's comedy concert company are in possession this week. Mr. George Blackmore, a versatile humorist, is exceedingly popular; Mr. Dolf Wheeler, in his coon songs and dances, is entertaining; Miss Doris Lee is a gay and pleasing comedienne; Miss Dora May has a rich contralto voice, and her songs are enjoyed; and Mr. Eric Davidson is a pleasing baritone, also rendering good service as accompanist.

POOLE'S PICTURE PALACE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. E. B. Shenton.—A beautiful new film, depicting the Royal Funeral, is the attraction among other successful pictures.

CHESTER. — ROYALTY THEATRE. — Proprietors, Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton; Resident-Manager, Mr. C. B. Fountaine.—The Midnight Wedding is presented by Messrs. Alfred Paumier and Walter Howard's company. Mr. Alfred Paumier in the principal rôle of Paul Valmar gives a highly crediable representation of the sword-master; Miss Lilian Hallows as the Princess Astrea proves herself a graceful and fascinating leading lady; Mr. A. E. W. Barnes is distinctly clever in the part of Captain Von Scarsbruck; and Mr. John Nesbitt admirably interprets the Crown Prince Leopold; Mr. Charles Whitlock's Lieutenant Von Strelsburg is a capable performance; the humorous rôles of Max, Otto, and Bobo are made the most of by Messrs. J. E. Page, St. George Frere, and Algie Spalding; Mr. Forbes Harrison is suitably dignified as Father Gerard; the Kathie of Miss Jessica Black is played with vivacity and charm; and Miss Ruth Wingrove displays great merit in the part of Rozel. The play is splendidly staged.

CHORLTON-CUM-HARDY. — THEATRE AND WINTER GARDENS, LTD.—Manager, Mr. Walter Stott; Acting-Manager, Fr. Fredk. J. Reece.—Mr. Dickie Clare's company is presenting Lucky 'Liza to appreciative audiences. Mr. Clare causes much merriment as Silas Slim; Mr. Leonard Maitland presents a laughable picture of Paul Pettitoe; Mr. T. W. Benson as Peter Pettitoe is most amusing, as is Mr. J. W. Forest, who plays Biffins. Mr. Harry George successfully burlesques the manner of a barrister; Mr. Bert Collins takes the part of Tompkins with effect; Miss Helen Douglas as Marie Pettitoe and Miss Hetty Gale as Vergina Blotherwick appeared to advantage; and Miss Vesta Brownie acts and dances with great charm in the title-rôle. Madame Constance Bellamy sings with all her accustomed ability, and the dancing of the Jesmond Trio is acceptable.

CLACTON-ON-SEA.—PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Managing-Director, Mr. H. R. D. Hooper.—A strong programme of films includes Living Cigarette Cutters, Paris from the Eiffel Tower, the Training Ship Cecilie, Through the Breakers, and a magnificent film of the Funeral Procession of his late Majesty King Edward VII.

OPERETTA HOUSE.—Lessee, Mr. W. F. Jury; Manager, Mr. A. Bloomfield.—The films here this week include a very realistic one of the Funeral Procession of his late Majesty King Edward VII. Other excellent subjects are The Converts, The Alps from Annece to Chamonix, Bald-headed Corporal, Skating Carnival, and Hunting Red Deer in Exmoor.

COLCHESTER.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. Charles Macdona; Lessee and Manager, Mr. F. Graham Macdona.—Mr. Morton Powell's company in A Girl's Temptation is attracting good houses. Miss Gertrude Gilbert ably sustains the rôle of Kate Stirling; the villain is capably portrayed by Mr. Clifton Earle; and Mr. Frank V. Venn makes a good Guy Warren. Comedy is represented by Mr. Freddie Bentley and Mr. Andrew Clarke.

HIPPODROME.—Directors, Messrs. Fredk. Mouillot and Walter de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. Ben de Frece.—M. E. Lavigne and company are presenting La Belle Thelma and seven lady models in an attractive series of statuesque poses and picturesque tableaux; Cline and Clark, with whirlwind dancing, have a sensational act; Alfredo Nardi, the blind violinist, secures a gratifying reception; Lottie Stone's Six Cherry Girls are charming in dance and song; Elsie Denby, the Postcard Girl, has a pleasing style; Lilian French, comedienne, and T. G. Royde, comedian, obtain notice; and the film Funeral of King Edward is watched with great interest.

CORK.—PALACE THEATRE, LTD.—Manager, Mr. Thomas F. O'Brien.—The popular and genial manager took his benefit this week, during which crowds thronged the house. The programme was full of good things. Jordan and Harvey, Hebrew dialect comedians, created abundant laughter; Agnese and Arthur Lynch, in their American picture-songs, were most entertaining; Les Marzumas, comedy cyclists, provided daring feats, interspersed with laughable tricks; the acrobatic turn given by the Renz Brothers was clever and original, as also was the wire-walking and acrobatic exhibition given by the Prince-Milner Trio; Neville Dalmar, comedian, contributed capital songs; the Misses Penhair and Tess, in a Japanese scene, furnished smart quick-change impersonations; and the Polascope pictures were very good.

COVENTRY.—THE OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor, Mr. William Bennett.—The Female Swindler is produced by Douglas Bruce's company, and Miss Olive Warne deserves credit for her capable rendering of Lu Valroy. Mr. Henry Lonsdale as the hero, Jack Coulson, is very popular; Miss Irene Atchinson makes a charming May Andrews; Mr. W. T. Riley effectively impersonates Geoffrey Warden; and Mr. Fred Hodson as Abraham Mikestein also does good work; and plenty of humour is introduced by Mr. Fred De Vere as Billy Binks and Miss Gertie Henderson as Mary Ann Mee.

HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. S. T. Newsome; Resident-Manager, Mr. G. E. Wright.—The star turn is the popular comedian W. J. Churchill, with bright songs and shrewd satire. The Derrington Family give a smart and neat performance of trick cycling; the Ten Dixie Girls are picturesque dancers and tuneful singers; the W. J. Thompson Trio give a farcical sketch entitled Watch the Chalk; David Poole is a humorous ventriloquist; and other artists are Slippere, the blind musician; A. W. Scott, coon delineator and dancer; Jessie Templeton, smart comedienne; and May de Rowse, comedienne and dancer.

CROYDON.—GRAND THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Alexander Watson; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Ernest Archer.—Mr. Keith G. Kenneth is presenting here this week The Woman of Kronstadt, Under the Greenwood Tree, Mrs. Gorringe's Necklace, and Nan. On Monday, in the first-mentioned, Miss Betty Fairfax was very good as Marion Best; Miss Evelyn Ward made a dignified Princess Marie de Hesse; Miss Cicely Clutterbuck was commendable as Madame de Bellegarde; and Misses Viola Lewis and Mynne Kirk were lively as Vera and Olga. Mr. Keith G. Kenneth gave a manly rendering of Captain Paul Zazzoulic; Mr. Horace Sinclair was excellent as General Nicolai Steffanoff; Mr. Charles Ashwell was well placed as Colonel Bonzo; Mr. Arthur Linay was convincing as Baron Konrad Muller; and minor rôles were adequately played by Messrs. Eric Cameron, Lionel West, R. Reubyn, and Hugh C. Bernard.

EMPIRE PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Managing-Director, Mr. Walter Gibbons; Manager, Mr. Eustace Jay.—Mr. Adderley Howard and company are winning approval here in nautical sketch, Black-Eyed Susan; Lupino Lane is an exceptionally clever comedian and dancer; Velanche's performing dogs are a marvel; Peter Davey and company bring down the house in their invigorating and novel skit on the Chantecler craze Cock-a-Doodle-Doo; Maud Esmond is a comedienne of merit; C. W. Walker, blind coloured comedian, and Ida May are accorded an ovation; Dan Crawley is a smart comedian; the Six Lancashire Lasses are expert dancers; Will Musgrave, comedian, is capital; and pictures on the bioscope complete the bill. Mr. Sydney Axford is a first-rate musical director.

DARLINGTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. James Bell.—Mr. Wilson Benge's company is here with The Eve of Her Wedding, the play being accorded a hearty reception. The part of John Tremain is cleverly undertaken by Mr. Louis Lingard; Miss Pauline Nanton's reading of Miss Marvis Leverton is a fine piece of acting; Mr. Fred F. Loyd's impersonation of Dean Clifton is agreeably prominent; Mr. Ben Carr as Squire Leverton is good; Mr. Jay Kay as Dick Leverson does well; Mr. Herbert Hastings plays to perfection the part of a cripple; and Mr. Charles Digby is smart in the comedy part of Rudolph Earle.

HIPPODROME THEATRES, LTD. — Acting-Manager, Mr. Albert E. Nicholls.—Mr. Harry Tate's No. 1 company head the bill, and cause roars of laughter; the Foresteers present a pretty dramatic sketch, entitled A Society Sinner; Goodall and Knox are clever knockabout comedians; Leo Fields is a smart up-to-date comedian; the Phœnix Trio are fine singers and dancers; Barnard's Mannikins are very amusing; Miss Madge Beresford, chorus comedienne, and the Hipposcope pictures conclude a real good entertainment.

DARWEN.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor, Mr. F. R. Griffiths; General-Manager, Mr. D. P. Cooper; Acting-Manager, Mr. F. Sutcliffe.—Gesta and Hoe, in their refined drawing-room act of dancing, &c., are deservedly applauded; Alfred Warner being equally successful in his musical speciality act; Mr. J. Torkington, descriptive vocalist, is well received. Capital films are projected on the Bioscope.

DERBY.—GRAND THEATRE.—Sole Owner and Proprietor, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Denley.—The chief item, a comedy episode, entitled Her Devonshire Dad, is very smartly presented by Mr. Victor Widdicombe, Mr. Fred Hill, and Miss Clara Russell; a skilful cycling act is submitted by The Rangers; The Eeduns, harmonising duettists, are pleasing; the Borella Brothers provide a clever and graceful gymnastic turn; Ivy Aberdare is a refreshing comedienne, and her neat wooden shoe dancing calls forth hearty applause; Charles Gardiner keeps the house in roars of laughter; Lilian Farrar has a successful song scena, entitled Bubbles; Wallace Lupino is a nicely trained juvenile comedian and speciality dancer. The Bioscope gives a detailed reproduction of the Funeral Procession of King Edward VII.

PALACE.—Sole Lessee and General-Manager, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. E. Moyes.—Geoffrey Langdon's Wife is well staged and acted here by Mr. and Mrs. Percy Brown's company. In the name-part Miss Amy Ellam acquits herself capably; and as Felix Beverley Mr. Wilson Coleman does full justice to the rôle; Miss Kathleen Magee gives a good impersonation of the Hon. Mrs. Sands; and Mr. Francis Roberts is successful as Jack Stirling. The comedy element is well sustained.

DEVONPORT. — HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. G. Prance.—Braatz troupe of dogs are honoured with top place on the bill, and thoroughly deserve the choice bestowed, their tricks, culminating with a little sketch in which the dogs alone participate, being little short of marvellous. Vardon Perry and Wilber are exceedingly popular in their songs and musical selections; Marco performs some really skilful conjuring tricks; George Prince, comedian, is popular; Walker and Lake have some amusing patter; the Pimans have a first-rate Fire Brigade sketch; and Rose and Jeanette are fascinating vocalists and dancers.

METROPOLE.—Manager, Mr. G. S. King.—Fifty Fatty is the title of a sensational nautical drama staged here. In the title-rôle Mr. John Sargeant gives a fine rendering of a man accustomed to ride rough-shod over everybody; Mr. Leonard Aardale makes an excellent Detective; and Miss Maggie Lindsay works hard in the repulsive part of Mother Fatty.

DEWSBURY.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Resident-Manager, Mr. J. Herbert Asquith.—Miss Florence Glossop-Harris's company in a Shakespearean répertoire occupy the boards, the plays produced being Twelfth Night, Much Ado About Nothing, Merchant of Venice, School for Scandal, Taming of the Shrew, and Othello. In Much Ado About Nothing Miss Glossop-Harris appeared very successfully as Beatrice; Mr. Frank Cellier as Benedick was responsible for some very fine acting; Mr. Murray Kinnel was well placed as Claudio; Mr. H. P. Owen gave a humorous depiction of Dogberry; Mr. Gordon Phillot did well as Verges; Hero was in the very capable hands of Miss Ine Cameron; Miss Madge Spencer as Ursula and Miss Nora Craigie as Margaret won great credit; Mr. J. H. Irvine gave an excellent portrayal of Leonarto; and Mr. Eugene Wellesley was good as the Friar. The production was excellently staged.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Proprietors, Messrs. G. W. and G. E. Smith; Manager, Mr. Claude Shayler.—At the head of a most enjoyable programme is the Child Trio of actor-musicians presented by Mr. Edward Platt. The juvenile artists are loudly applauded for some very tuneful music and singing. The Brooklyn Comedy Four amuse greatly with their humour and capital part singing; hearty laughter is caused by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Leonard in a highly-amusing sketch, Coming Home; Wallace Whitney is a particularly funny comedian; a unique acrobatic act is submitted by the Victor Bros.; the Claymore Trio present a novel turn, consisting of singing, dancing, and club-juggling; De Lilo and Metz, the lady contortionist and comedy juggler, are clever and funny; Rosie Archer, mimic at the piano, is popular; Beattie Foster is a dainty comedienne; and animated pictures are also included in the programme.

HIPPODROME.—General-Manager, Mr. Geo. Weldon; Director of Entertainments, Mr. Jack Harris.—Some excellent films are shown on the Harriscope. Variety turns are supplied by Capt. Devereux's performing dogs and Mappin and Webb, comedians.

INDUSTRIAL HALL.—Lessees, Messrs. A. and H. Andrews; Resident-Manager, Mr. B. J. Christian.—Large houses are appreciating a good supply of dramatic, humorous, and travel pictures. Illustrated songs are rendered at intervals.

DONCASTER. — NEW GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE, LTD.—Manager, Mr. J. W. Chapman.—A Wrecker of Men, presented here by Mr. C. Watson Mill's company, has been received with enthusiasm. With a massive and well-developed physique, Mr. Arthur S. Pitt is realistic in the part of Slogger; Mr. William Heilbronn as Pharosaphus, an Egyptian wanderer, is a great success; Mr. Richard Bosco's Railton, a silent servant, is an interesting portrayal; Mr. Arthur Robinson as Guise Strange is well conceived; and Mr. William A. Armour shows artistic skill as the Hon. Reggie Verincourt. In the dual rôle of Ezekiel Isaacs and Karnaphus Mr. Edward A. Brooke is humorous, and as the weird Eric Melville Mr. Thompson Carruthers acted dramatically. Miss Mabel Edwards was pleasing as Marion Isaacs; Miss Lydia Hart an engaging Vavasole Slopper; Miss Gwendoline Talbot as Doris Melville is sympathetic and charming; and the titular rôle as presented by Miss Ruth Zillwood was a distanct triumph.

DOUGLAS.—EMPIRE THEATRE.—Lessee and Proprietor, Mr. Charles Dare; Resident-Manager, Mr. James Carr.—Crowded houses have patronised both performances nightly. The pictures have been excellent, and the film showing the Funeral of King Edward VII. has attracted much attention. Mr. Bert Rolfe has a budget of quaint and clever songs; Mr. Arthur Bright is a smart comedian, and as a Milanese pipe soloist he scores.

Other places accessible are the Palace, with dancing and roller skating; Buxton's Amusements—roller skating and the Bijou Band, under the direction of Mr. Louis Cooper. Charles Dare's White Minstrels draw large concourses of people to Douglas Head when the weather is propitious.

DUBLIN.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frederick Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Charles Terry.—The Royal Hippodrome season commenced here on Monday, when the house was very full, the principal attraction being the famous comedian Harry Lauder; Luis Hardt, the Sandow boy, gave a very interesting display of muscular strength in an effective scena, entitled In Days of Old; Kirk and Saraski have a very pretty aquatic act; Cheebert's troupe of Chinese do a wonderful conjuring and acrobatic performance; the Leslie Brothers are most amusing in their musical act; and Little Lily Shaw is a wonderfully clever child artist. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wilde are entertaining in their novel speciality, entitled "Talking and Singing Shadows." The Royal Bioscope concludes.

GAIETY THEATRE. — Managing - Director, Mr. Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Charles Hyland.—Mr. John E. Watson's company is appearing here in The New Boy and A Country Mouse. On Monday night the former piece was presented to a good house. Mr. W. Besley Beltran had the part of Archibald Rennick, which he rendered in capital style; an equally good performance was submitted by Miss Phyllis Manners in the rôle of Mrs. Rennick; Mr. J. Poole Kirkwood was well suited as Felix Roach; and Miss Evelyn Ormon

TIVOLI.—General-Manager, Mr. Chas. M. Jones; Assistant-Manager, Mr. H. A. Murphy.—Leo Dryden, in his song-scenas dealing with The Only Way, The House of Temperley, and A White Man, is warmly appreciated; Abel and Walsh prove themselves a pair of amusing eccentric comedians and contortionists; the illustrated songs given by Adela Varcoe are most acceptable; and Lucy Gillett causes no end of amusement with her "dumb boys." Marie Pera and Thomas Kennard are very successful in their sketch Two Doors and a Passage. The other artists appearing are F. A. Martell, equilibrist; Alice Craven, comedienne; Wills and Warlock, comedians and dancers; the Wedburns, burlesque instrumentalists, and the Bio.

CINEMATOGRAPH THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. W. H. Huish.—Large crowds continue to be attracted here to see the pictures.

WORLD'S FAIR.—Proprietor, Mr. Charles A. James.—This company includes Corri and Foote, comedy couple; Charles Lisle, a capital versatile comedian; Miss Eileen Hall, described as the Yorkshire Nightingale; Alf Corri, in humorous songs; and Miss Ethel Foote, ballad vocalist.

TOWN HALL, RATHMINES.—The Irish Animated Picture Company continue here another week, and large audiences are present at each performance.

DUDLEY.—OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. Maurice Clement; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. W. Tilley.—Large crowds nightly appreciate the excellent pictures, which include a very fine film of the Funeral of King Edward VII.

EMPIRE.—Proprietors, Midland Entertainment Corporation, Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. Robert Watt.—A fine military episode, entitled Napoleon at Waterloo, occupies premier position. Mr. Scott Alexander makes a striking Napoleon, and he is ably assisted by a strong company; a lively troupe render Androcles and the Lion, a merry musical sketch; Wana and Wanotee are strong favourites in a clever comedy gymnastic act; Kenrick and Laura are successful in harmony, comedy, and dancing; the Sisters Charlton, dainty entertainers; Freda and Frank, in a speciality; and Will Warren, patriotic vocalist, are all good.

DUNDEE.—KING'S THEATRE AND HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Moul; Manager, Mr. S. McIntosh.—At the head of a varied bill are Mlle. Suzanne de Verneuil and her lady assistants with a series of beautiful art poses; the Pasquali Brothers are applauded for a dexterous tumbling and equilibristic act; Natalia and Diana are veritable queens of the trapeze; the Three Prestons create great merriment in their distinctly novel act, The Village of Shift-'em; the Three Phydoras have a unique act on the musical ladder; Bruce Green infuses much life into his various ditties; a clever dancing turn is submitted by Alec Lawson; and the Funeral Procession of the late King is again shown by the Kingscope.

GAIETY THEATRE.—Acting-Manager, Mr. J. K. Stewart.—An assortment of dramatic and humorous pictures prove very entertaining; Miss Ina Black appears with success in several illustrated songs.

PALACE THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. J. J. Bennell; Acting-Manager, Mr. Tom Lunn.—The B.B. Pictures constitute quite a feature of the entertainment world in Dundee. Across the Plains depicts the struggles and sufferings of the brave men and women, our early pioneers in the Far West. Other pictures of a bright and entertaining programme are shown, and the singing picture, "Sing me to sleep," is given with effect.

EMPIRE THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. J. J. Bennell; Acting-Manager, Mr. R. W. Austin.—A varied picture programme is submitted here, and good houses are the rule.

DUNNINGTON (Yorks).—SKATING RINK AND LYRIC THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. James England.—The Major, played by Miss Ada Wallis's company, has drawn crowded houses. The title rôle is ably filled by Mr. T. C. McGuire, the author; and Mr. Harry Davis, with a capital tenor voice, is seen to great advantage in the part of the sentimental lover; Mr. J. W. Groves is very funny as Ezekiah Stoney, and sings some capital songs. He is effectively supported by Miss Lizzie Quire as the sentimental pietist. The life of the piece, however, is Miss Ada Wallis in the "slavey" part of Angelina Touch-'em-up. For pure fun and deviltment she could not be surpassed. She sings several very good songs in pleasing style. The heroine's part is well filled by Miss Gladys Maxwell, who sings in good style. There is a well-balanced chorus, and several good dancing turns by Miss Grace Denny, Miss Mabel Evans, and Miss Annie Trayle. The theatre orchestra, under Mr. F. Boulton, is responsible for several good selections.

EASTBOURNE.—DEVONSHIRE PARK THEATRE.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Murray King and Clark.—Mr. Arthur Leigh's capable company is appearing here in Lucky Durham. Mr. Edmund Kennedy, strong and powerful, repeats as John Durham the success of a former occasion; Mr. Arthur Leigh, too, is again the Hon. Reginald, and his clever work is worthy of the highest praise; Mr. William Calvert is an admirable Lord Mountfallon; Mr. Charles Wemyss is a refined Mr. Vallerton; Mr. W. F. Clitherow is to be complimented on his very successful character study as Ben Verstein; and Mr. Frank Elton is a very good Walcombe. Miss Florence Tressilian as Helen Vallerton is artistic and interesting; Miss Dorothy Turner does full justice to the part of the Hon. Margaret; Miss Nellie Bonser is a dignified and appealing Mrs. Durham; and Miss Frances Wolviston gives the best of help as Lady Mountfallon.

PIER PAVILION.—Manager, Mr. George Hayes.—Mr. Harold V. Neilson and company are appearing here this week in a bill which includes A Florentine Tragedy, A Debt of Honour, and The Light that Failed. Mr. H. V. Neilson works hard and well in all three of these; Mr. Harry Braban, a handsome and efficient actor, does well everything he undertakes; Miss Amy Sangster is a very clever and versatile actress, whose sweet voice and charming manner are capably used in the three characters she plays; and Miss Doris Digby achieves general success, and particularly as Bessie Broke in The Light that Failed.

ROYAL HIPPODROME. — Managing-Director, Mr. Sidney W. Winter; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. F. Woodward.—Heading the bill here are the Sarnthaler Troupe of Tyrolean vocalists, and their songs and dances find much favour with the audience. Miss Jessie Albini returns, and is as bright and popular as ever in her new songs; the Berg Brothers are very clever and daring cyclists; Bolo is a juggler of exceptional excellence; Miss Agnes Molteno has a very effective vocal scena, Dolly and a Coach; Mr. Ted Saunders is a very successful and refined mimic; Miss Maisie Dene sings and dances well; and new pictures are shown.

ECCLES.—CROWN THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Sons; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. Albert Rogers.—Mr. Raynor's répertoire company is this week presenting three plays, viz., David Garrick, The Idler, and The Tree of Knowledge. In the first-named production the title-rôle was in the capable hands of Mr. Raynor, who gave an admirable interpretation of the character. He was well supported by Mr. Milton C. Curtis, a capital Simon Ingot; and Mr Conrad Heywood Heywood as Squire Chivy; Miss Cecilia Dare as Ada Ingot submitted a pleasing and natural performance; Miss Frances Waring and Miss Hilda Blanche as Mrs. Araminta Brown and Mrs. Smith played their parts in the true comedy spirit; Miss Dora Dench gave a neat performance as the maid. The play is well staged.

EDINBURGH.—ROYAL LYCEUM THEATRE.—Managing-Directors, Mr. F. W. Wyndham and Mr. Geo. T. Minshull; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. M. Downie.—This season's production of Rob Roy by Mr. William Mollison's company, introduces new names into the programme in connection with the singing rôles. Mr. Seth Hughes and Miss Eda Bennie are heard to advantage in the vocal numbers allotted to Francis Osbaldistone and Diana Vernon; Mr. Montague Alliston successfully fills the part of Major Galbraith; and Miss Jeannie Macintyre is an excellent Matlie. Mr. John Clyde looks and acts better than ever as Rob Roy; Mr. R. B. Drysdale repeats his familiar and realistic impersonation of the Dougal Cratur; Mr. Mollison's Bailie Nicol Jarvie is, as usual, full of dry humour and an admirable character-study; and Miss Evelyn McNay gives a spirited rendering of Helen Macgregor. Mr. Archie W. Chappell as Rashleigh Osbaldistone, Mr. C. Quinton Fulford as Captain Thornton, Mr. W. S. Stevenson as Sir Frederick Vernon, and Mr. Harold Neville as Mr. Owen, more than maintain the best traditions of their respective rôles; and the minor parts of Sanders Wylie, Andrew Fairservice, the Sergeant, the Landlady, Martha, and Jean M'Alpine lose nothing at the hands of Mr. Graham Heaton, Mr. Tom Mortimer, Mr. James Callander, Miss Elsie Roberts, Miss Hilda Donn, and Miss Josephine Woodward.

KING'S THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Amand Mascard.—The programme here, amongst several meritorious turns, contains two outstanding performances—the entertainment by Mr. Albert Whelan and the charming character-songs of Miss Bertha Stuart. Mr. Whelan's whistling solos, his imitations, and his stories, are characterised by his usual neatness and cleverness. Miss Stuart, who made her first appearance in her native country on Monday evening after her successful tour in Australia, had a rousing reception. There is, perhaps, no vocalist now on the variety stage who is more perfectly endowed by nature for the interpretation of songs demanding charm and pathos than Miss Stuart. Gifted with an expressive contralto voice, carefully trained, and grace of form and feature, she threw into the rendering of her selections a tenderness and feeling that would be difficult to surpass. The appreciation of the audience was shown by the stillness that reigned during her delightful rendering of the favourite Scottish ballad, "We'd better bide a wee," and the dramatic power which animated her singing of a new number, "Ten a penny, walnuts," drew forth a storm of applause. Mr. Mooney and Miss Holbein gave a clever sketch, in which smart dancing, amusing songs, and excellent playing on the piano, concertina, and mandoline was introduced. "Mr. C," a droll story-teller, found much favour with the audience; and other artists who contributed to an admirable performance were Mr. Pat Lynch, a marvellous clog-dancer; Miss Maude Courtney, American comedienne; Mr. Marcus Boyle, comedian; Benson and Rose, in a sprightly farce, Elizabeth and the Baby; Mr. R. C. Note, a good light comedian; and Mr. Willie Allan, a capital dancer.

EMPIRE PALACE THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. Aynsley Cook.—The popularity of Victoria Monks, who heads this week's bill, has been abundantly indicated by the insistent clamours of pit and gallery for "more," even four turns failing to satisfy the more ardent of the artist's admirers. Dusky-faced performers were much in evidence and duly appreciated, including G. H. Elliott, the chocolate-coloured coon; May Henderson, a tinted comedy queen; and the Twelve Fezzans, a troupe of Sahara natives, in an exhibition of weird and wonderful acrobatics. Roma and Romani distinguished themselves in a clever display of their accomplishments in playing many musical instruments; Jack Lane caused much amusement as a rustic at the piano; Johnny Walker and also Elsa Brull with Arthur Hemsley, contributed animated turns; and the diversion supplied by William Mitchell and John J. Cain in The Frenchman and the Other Fellow, was most acceptable. A selection of good films was shown on the American Bio.

OPERETTA HOUSE.—Lessee and General-Manager, Mr. J. H. Sanders.—The absorbing and widespread sorrow excited by the death of King Edward VII. is strongly manifested by the interest displayed by the large audiences in the pictures of the funeral procession, and at this house a series of beautiful views is being shown. Pictures illustrating the wonderful horsemanship of the Cossacks are greatly appreciated; and a powerful story of the Middle Ages, entitled The Death Disc, gives a thrill to the spectators. The programme is varied by many amusing subjects.

PRINGLE'S PICTURE PALACE.—General-Manager, Mr. Geo. Edmunds.—The series of films showing the funeral pageant of King Edward VII. is being shown here for another week by special request. But variety is not overlooked, and in two dramatic subjects, Gold is Not All and The Brigands of the Coast, and various amusing pictures, including a droll story, Aunt Matilda, the audience is kept thoroughly interested from first to last.

MARINE GARDENS.—Manager, Mr. G. B. Smith.—The band of the 7th Queen's Own Hussars continues its attractive and popular performances, and on Wednesday evening no less than five bands took part in "The British Army Quadrille." The concert hall has been occupied this week by D'Amatos' Neapolitan Singers, whose programmes have been greatly enjoyed; Hibbert's electric pictures, which include new series of the latest films, are becoming increasingly popular exhibitions; and the outdoor amusements and spectacles steadily grow in public favour. The Somali Native Village, with its colony of eighty men, women, and children, is undoubtedly one of the finest representations of aboriginal life which has yet been shown in this country.

EXETER. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Chairman and Managing-Director, Mr. E. J. Domville, J.P.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Percy M. Dunsford.—A complimentary benefit arranged by local amateurs was given this week to Mr. Dunsford. The theatre is now closed for the summer vacation.

NEW HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. Fred Karno; Resident-Manager, Mr. F Karny.—A popular programme attracts big houses. The Celebrated Celestas are a most entertaining comedy quartette, and their harmonious rendering of several selections was encored; Willie Black is smart in song, story, and burlesque; and a refined act is Charlie's Visit, by James Eadie and Cissie Ramsden, the dancing of the former being very clever; The Tree of Truth, well presented by Harry Brayne and Bert Lloyd, created roars of laughter; Edwards and Ward, the comedy couple, are very good, and the Crown Trio are clever speciality vocalists; Cressie Leonard's songs have a romping reception.

FERNDALE.—NEW WORKMEN'S HALL.—Manager, Mr. David Williams; Secretary, Mr. Wm. James.—When it was Dark is presented to appreciative audiences by Mr. Oswald Gray's company. Mr. Gray plays with great ability as the Rev. Basil Gotre; Mr. Edward Valentine gives a capital interpretation of Sir Robert Llewellyn; in the part of Constantine Schwabe Mr. C. Worldly Hulse displays great vigour; Mr. Charles A. Baker is very popular as Harold Spence; the Rev. Mr. Byars finds in Mr. Walter Manfree a capable exponent; Mr. Sydney Clayton as Charles Gayfly and Miss Barbara Lea as Minnie Golightly are quite satisfactory in their comedy parts; Miss Lillian Herries is deserving of much praise as Gertrude Hunt; and Helena Byars is in the able hands of Miss Rosalie Notrelle. This week terminates a most successful dramatic season.

FLEETWOOD.—EMPIRE THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. H. J. Snelson.—Messrs. John Power and Robert Faulkner's company appear in For Wife and Home. Mr. Faulkner takes the part of Roland St. Pierre in a convincing manner; Mr. Wilton Llewellyn gives a sinister rendering of Henri St. Pierre; Gaspard le Farge, a mesmerist, has an able exponent in Mr. Maydew; Cicard Picole, "the irrepressible," is undertaken by Mr. Bruce Williams; Miss Marion Ryder is excellent as Rosette Legrand; and Miss Georgina Clifford is good as Celeste Legrand.

FOLKESTONE.—PLEASURE GARDENS THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. H. W. Rowland.—The Diver's Luck is the attraction here. Mr. William Macready, strong, manly, and convincing, does excellent work as Martin Faber; a decidedly humorous performance is given by Mr. Edmund O'Grady as Barny Bawn; Mr. Herbert Vere is responsible for a powerful portrayal of the villainous Tom Hall; Snowball is amusingly acted by Mr. Harry Buss; and the Pedro of Mr. James Burt is a clever sketch. As Maurice Wyngate Mr. H. J. Walton is all that could be desired. Praise is due to Miss Chrissie Bickerstaff for sympathetic and womanly work as Helen Wyngate; Miss Edna Godfrey Turner is an animated Nancy; and Miss Phyllis Spalding does well as Winnie Hall.

LEAS PAVILION.—Manager, Mr. D'Arcy Clayton.—The return visit of the Go Bangs is very acceptable, judging from the audiences which gather at every entertainment. The capable party include Miss Blanche Belsham, Miss Edith Eatherley, Miss Kitty Conway, Mr. Charles Conyers, Mr. Bryan O'Sullivan, and Mr. Edward Lacey.

GATESHEAD.—KING'S THEATRE, LTD.—Chairman and Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Moul; Licensee, Councillor Harold Arnold; Local-Manager, Mr. Sydney B. Stringer.—A welcome "star" item here this week is Will Lytton's company in Harry Roxbury's Sergeant Longfellow, in which Mr. Lytton repeats a triumph scored in pantomime last Christmas. Julian Mack, apparently, has an interminable supply of "gag"; an original and clever juggling turn is presented by Newman and Knight; Cambo, described as the musical monkey, is praised for a capital act; Les Zelovas, acrobatic equilibrists, are worthy of the encomiums showered upon them; and Vi Lauri, comedienne and dancer, and the Kingscope are other entertaining lines.

METROPOLE THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. F. W. Bolam; General-Manager, Mr. R. G. Elder; Acting-Manager, Mr. Ernest Dixon.—The second week of Mr. F. W. Bolam's first annual stock season has seen the house well filled, the good old drama Harbour Lights proving a strong attraction. Every rôle is excellently filled, and the show is capitally put on. Mr. John B. Shinton puts heart and soul into his embodiment of David Kingsley; Nicholas Morland is efficiently portrayed by Mr. Stanley Bedwell; Mr. Bert Atherton is becoming highly popular, and as Tom Dosseter he makes a decided hit; Miss Ada Ryder submits a pleasing Dora Vane; Miss Lilian Earle fills the rôle of Lena Nelson with distinct credit; the female comedy rôles are in the exceptionally good hands of Misses Annie Brunnette (Mrs. Chudleigh), Gertrude Morella (Peggie Chudleigh), and Edith Watkins (Bridget Maloney). The Lights o' London is billed for next week.

QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. F. W. Bolam; Acting-Manager, Mr. Joe Bardsley.—In addition to a mammoth picture programme—including Samuel of Posen, On the Border Line, and Two Portraits—there are appearing here this week J. W. Darley and company, comedians, and J. W. Shevill, a local funny man who has some talent.

BLACK'S PICTURE PALACE.—The prominent items on the film bill here are The Dawn of Freedom and The Tramp's Story; and with George Bernard, actor vocalist, and Hearn and Palmer, comedians, the entertainment is one of special merit.

RAVENSWORTH PICTURE HALL.—The leading lines at this comfortable little hall are Bradford's Claim and The Suit-Case Mystery. Tiny Ashton, boy vocalist and impersonator is very popular.

GLASGOW.—KING'S, LTD.—Managing-Directors, Messrs. F. W. Wyndham and G. T. Minshull; Business-Manager, Mr. Hugh Macfarlane.—Facing the Music is here, under the direction of Mr. Charles Stewart, who takes a prominent part in the boundless fun as Dick Desmond, causing the heartiest laughter; the Two Smiths were excellently portrayed by Mr. Chas. Fancourt as the meek and mild curate and Mr. H. Langdon Bruce as the man about town; Mr. Edward Bonfield was well fitted in the part of the uncle, Colonel Duncan Smith; and Mr. Cyril Melton, as Sergeant Duffell hit off the over-confident detective capitally. Nothing more charming and convincing could be desired than Miss Iris Hoey's performance of Mabel, and that of Miss Estelle Theband as Nora. Effective assistance was also rendered by Miss Questa Dearing as Miss Fotheringay and Miss Coleman as Mrs. Ponting. The farce, which was greatly enjoyed by a fine house, was preceded by The Last Drop.

ROYALTY.—Sub-Lessees, the Scottish Playgoers, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Wareing.—The first week of the summer season of the repertory company opened auspiciously on Monday with a fine performance of Cousin Kate. In the title-part Miss Madge McIntosh acted with excellent effect, her comedy scenes being irresistible, while the pathetic moments were artistically treated; Mr. Norman McKeown made a clever Heath Desmond; Miss Muriel Pope as the demure Amy Spencer acted with much charm; and Miss Lola Duncan made a subdued and lady-like Mrs. Spencer. Bobby Spencer was played with lively emphasis by Master Frank Carpenter; the Rev. Mr. Bartlett received just a touch of caricature from Mr. Walter Roy; Miss Winifred Gunn made a hit as a beaming servant-girl. The comedy was preceded by that grim little play The Price of Coal, in which Miss Agnes Bartholomew acted powerfully as Mary, and the other parts were ably played by Mr. George Tawde, Miss Elspeth Dudgeon, and Miss Lola Duncan.

GRAND.—District-Manager, Mr. B. G. Maclachlan; Resident-Manager, Mr. W. Christie Grant; Assistant-Manager, Mr. C. L. Sealy.—The seventh and last week of the stock season commenced on Monday with a highly creditable production of Arrah-na-Pogue. Mr. C. C. Mathews was the Shaun, and invested the part with rich Irish humour; Arrah Meelish, represented by Miss Pearla Gardiner, was a sweet and winsome lass; and as Beamish MacCoul Mr. George Roberts was very successful. Mr. Thomas J. Ashmore gave local colour to the character of Feeny; as Major Coffin Mr. Clark Keith showed promise; good studies were submitted by Mr. W. G. Robb as the O'Grady, Mr. Hulme Sharp as Farrell, and Mr. Charles Danvers as the Sergeant. Miss Marie Rignold looked and acted the part of Fanny Power admirably; and Miss Maude Mellis was a pleasing Katty Walsh.

METROPOLE, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. Arthur Jefferson; Acting-Manager, Mr. G. Gordon Jefferson.—After being closed for two weeks for new electric installation and general renovation, this house opened on Monday with Mr. Walter Steele and his company in the stirring drama A Fast Life, which is meeting with substantial support; Mr. Walter Steele outlines the part of John Dixon with vividness; and Mr. Frederick Garratt as Sir Oliver Franklin brings to bear upon his portrayal experience and care. A piece of clever acting was that of Mr. Bruce Warwick as Harris Goldberg; and Mr. Ed. Kingsley was most successful as Lord Craven, singing several songs in fine style. The comic element was well looked after by Mr. Willie Barratt as Tommy Burke and Miss Maude Ryder as Juliana, who kept the house in good humour, the former's song and dance being a praiseworthy item. The Mrs. Dixon of Miss Lillian Croft was a very effective performance; and Miss Beatrice Hone was all that could be desired as Lady Franklin. Mr. James Hamilton as Dixon and Mr. James Cummins as Crawford also played well. The drama was admirably staged.

EMPIRE.—District-Manager, Mr. S. Gething; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. F. Reynolds.—Ada Reeve tops the bill here, and rouses the audience to great enthusiasm; Lotto, Lilo, and Otto give a very smart trick cycling act, their football match on bicycles being both clever and amusing; Alexandra Dagmar, with songs and stories, keeps the audience in the best of humour all the time she is on; Edward Davies, of the Carl Rosa Opera Company, sings several tenor ballads in excellent style; Harry Merrylees is a rising Scotch comedian, and his patter and songs are both good; Devon and Earle are wonderfully smart dancers, their neatness and precision being exceptional; Barrington contributes an enjoyable turn at the piano; Millie and Arthur are very amusing in their comedy duologue Domestic Bliss; the Jackley Trio of acrobats complete an excellent programme.

PAVILION, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. Evan Good; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Ernest R. Foster.—R. A. Roberts is starring here in his latest protean sketch Cruel Coppinger, in which he plays seven different characters with excellent effect; Nelson Jackson is a humorist whose turn at the piano is much enjoyed; Caryl Wilbur, in the amusing comedietta, 61, Prospect-street, keeps the fun going well; Venie Clements again displays her ability as a comedienne; Lily Hayes, comedienne and dancer, takes well; and Clinko, the young juggler, proves his dexterity in a number of feats. The cycling turn of Minnie Kaufmann is clever and neat.

PALACE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Rich. Waldon; General-Manager, Mr. Harry M'Kelvie.—The principal turn is The Ghost of Jerry Bundler, presented by Harry Nuttall's company, the chief character being excellently filled by Mr. Martyn Roland. Another good sketch, and one responsible for much amusement, is that by Graham Moffatt and Co., The Concealed Bed; Colley and Scott appear in a laughable comedy act; and Russell and Held are pleasing vocalists and expert dancers. Other successful turns include Ruby Morton, a pleasing comedienne; Arthur Harris, comedian and actor-vacalist; Les Warbanas, clever lady jugglers; Horace Jones, comedian; and Zera and Zema, Continental equilibristic marvels.

COLISEUM.—District-Manager, Mr. S. Gething; Resident-Manager, Mr. Samuel Lloyd.—Fred Karno's company in The Mumming Birds are responsible for much hilarity; Mr. J. J. Dallas sings and acts a very comical song; Les Marco Belli as comedy conjurors are very successful in their "Illusion and Disillusion"; Spry and Monti in The Song-writer and the Soubrette get through a good deal of highly diverting and clever business; Percy Dalton sustains the rôle of comedian and dancer with great ability, and well deserved the applause awarded; the Villions, in their trick cycling and dancing, are exceedingly good; the vocal contributions of Mildred Bryan, a mezzo-soprano, and Ellis Barrieton, a baritone, are very pleasing. The Little Stowaway is presented by Bertie Shelton's company. The sketch is finely staged, and all the parts well filled.

GAIETY, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. J. J. Bennell; Acting-Manager Mr. George Dickinson.—The B.B. Pictures are attracting large and appreciative audiences. The Merry Mascots high-class vaudevill artists, add greatly to the enjoyment.

PANOPTICON.—Proprietor, Mr. A. E. Pickard; Manager, Mr. W. Sinclair.—An old favourite, in N. C. Bostock, the comic king, tops the bill, and pleases large audiences with some of his old favourites; Rosy Dawn is a clever comedienne and an expert dancer; and May St. Hilda also proves very popular; Joe S. Aitken contributes several excellent parodies; and Will Candlish's drolleries are responsible for loud laughter. The Bioscope pictures are particularly attractive. In the American Museum and Waxworks there is exhibited a host of interesting freaks, &c.

GLOUCESTER. — PALACE. — Messrs. Poole's Theatres.—Instead of the usual vacation, the above theatre has been opened with a capital picture show. The Warwick films of the Lying-in-State and the Funeral Procession are excellent. Miss Kitty Woodford, with illustrated songs, and the Vocophone make up a capital entertainment.

THEATRE DE LUXE.—Pictures continue popular.

GOOLE.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Sole Lessee and Manager, Mr. R Hainsworth.—A fine collection of new pictures is shown by the Monarchscope. Doyle and Deane, vaudeville artists, are well received; Miss Cora Lee, comedienne, submits an enjoyable turn; Dan Idle, comedian, keeps the house highly amused; D. W. Watson gives a fine performance on the post-horn; Leslie and Player, comedy duettists, keep the house in hearty laughter, and Fred Walton, comedian, is successful.

GREENOCK.—HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. L. Skivington.—A good all-round bill this week is headed by Lily Morris, comedienne, and her bright and breezy manner delights the audience; Seeley, West, and Rhodesia, speciality artists, are well received; Clara Coverdale's Dainty Dots, in their vocal scena, are very smart. Other attractive items are furnished by Albert E. Smythe, in a series of muscular poses; Roxboro and Wright, in a pot-pourri act; and J. K. McFarlane, a popular Scotch comedian.

EMPIRE.—Lessee, Mr. J. J. Bennell; General-Manager, Mr. J. B. Lawton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Clayton.—The B.B. Pictures are proving a source of great enjoyment to large crowds. Amongst those exhibited are Samuel of Posen.

GRIMSBY. — PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE. — Managing-Director, Mr. J. H. Curry; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. W. North.—Miss Florence Baines is scoring greatly with her laughable musical farce Miss Lancashire, Limited. Miss Baines's quaint humour and dialect mimicry in the part of Mary Ellen Thompson is richly entertaining, and her singing secures the warmest approval; Miss Nellie Dyson acts and sings charmingly as Eva Lancashire; Mr. Burt Burton gives a clever character burlesque as Moses Goldberg; Mr. Joseph Burley is equally amusing as Herbert Fox; Mr. Sinclair Holden adapts himself admirably to the part of Harry Higgins; and Mr. David Donaldson as John Higgins; Mr. Payne Fletcher as John Henry Thompson, Miss Mary Collier as Bertha, Miss Maud Locker as Mrs. Thompson, and Mr. H. Lloyd as Grant all contribute good work.

THE PALACE. — General-Manager, Mr. F. Verner Walford.—The Olympian Team of Cyclists give a clever display, and their cycle football match is a very exciting performance. Mr. Will H. Fox gives a series of interesting piano monologues, and has a fund of good stories; Albas is an expert wire performer, and introduces a sensational slide on his head down a wire; Gus Garrick presents some capital impersonations of variety artists; Lindsay and Harte appear in an excellent Scottish comedy act, and the lady is a pleasing singer; much laughter is created by the sketch A Call to Arms, by Ada Tilley, Harold Wagner, and company; and other good turns are contributed by Monie Mine, vocalist and dancer, and Annie Braddan, a Manx artist.

GUERNSEY. — THEATRE ST. JULIANS.—Joint Lessees, Messrs. Ed. Marris and Albany Ward; Resident-Manager, Mr. George A. Deighton.—Imperial Electric Pictures and varieties still continue at this popular house. The keenest interest is displayed in the Lying-in-State and Funeral of King Edward VII. Capital variety turns are provided. Jenny Downton is a chic comedienne; Probyn and Bater deserve all the applause bestowed upon them; Lillian Sivado is a charming gymnast; and the Dunlops in their cycle absurdity are very smart.

HALIFAX.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling.—The Better Land is presented by Fred Granville's Productions, Ltd. Miss Margaret Trevosper plays well as Doris; Mr. Douglas Watson makes a good Philip Radcliffe; Mr. Stanley Radcliffe is well placed as Hubert Radcliffe; Miss Kitty Terriss is a vivacious Pollie Perkins; and Mr. Leonard Marshall, Mr. W. Reid, Mr. E. W. Duxfield, Mr. Paul Milne, Miss Gertie Moody, Miss Madge Trevelyan, Miss Bella Moody, and Miss E. Entwistle also take part.

GRAND THEATRE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Resident-Manager, Mr. S. Winks.—Miss Jennie Johns is having a brilliant reception; Mephisto has some good illusions, splendidly staged and smartly done; the Snow Family, grotesque skaters, cause considerable amusement; Ruby and Laws' comedy act is well received; George French's troupe of acrobatic comedy cyclists contribute an excellent turn; Felix Remington, comedian; Lola Patey, the dainty Dutch girl; and the Pictures complete.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Julius Simpson.—The Kirbys are clever burlesque entertainers, and very popular; Gwen Francis is a dainty comedienne, with a clear enunciation; The Tan Kwai Troupe give a varied turn; Charles Vincent, comedian; Milner and Storey, comedy artists; and Chas. Woodward, comedian, are also appreciated.

HAMILTON, N.B.—HIPPODROME.—Sole Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Bostock; General-Manager, Mr. René Clayton; Musical-Director, Mr. J. Millar.—The Hippodrome enters upon the last week of the season, and an excellent bill is provided. Dave Samuels, American Hebrew comedian, is topping the bill, and proves an excellent mirthmaker; Duncan and Godfrey, in a coster sketch Me and 'Er, are excellent; Wilson Hallet, in his clever studies of children, is entertaining; Little Zola proves a decided hit; Lizzie Daniels is a clever comedienne; Little Pam is a quaint and amusing juvenile comedian; Jack Ross and Sue Lewis, American duo; George Brookes, vocal comedian; and the Bioscope conclude.

HARROGATE.—GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Managing-Director, Mr. William Peacock; Acting-Manager, Mr. Eric Fielding Smith.—For the first three nights of the week Mr. J. W. Weathersby's company presented The Best People. Mr. Elliott Ball, as Lord Emsworth, hit off the caddish nobleman to the life; Mr. Pennington-Gush was effective as the consumptive Gerald Bayle; Mr. Dennis was duly calm and collected as Lord Wynlea; and Lady Emsworth was well played by Miss Irene Lavington; Miss Roberta Pulleyne was capable as the Hon. Mrs. Bayle. The Best People was preceded by Cinders. For the last three nights variety constituted the bill.

THE KURSAAL.—Manager, Mr. J. E. Wilshire; Musical Director, Mr. Julian Clifford.—Mr. Thorpe Bates is the vocalist here; Mr. Tom Clare, entertainer, goes very well; Mr. Julian Clifford and his band are very popular.

ST. JAMES'S HALL.—New Century Animated Picture Co., Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. E. Boden.—A fine film shows scenes of the late King's funeral. Huge houses assemble twice and sometimes three times a day. Miss Nellie Greenan, a popular songstress, sings suitable songs.

HARTLEPOOL.—EMPRESS.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Albert Maxsted.—The popularity of Ruffell's films is fully maintained; they are worked on the Bio-Speech principle, artists behind the scenes delivering the dialogue. Elephants in India is a picture of great interest. Miss Florence Smithers, a comedy actress who is always welcome in this district, appears, supported by Owen Dacroy and Co. in an exceedingly funny sketch, Our Mary Jane, which fairly convulses the audience. Gladys Hooley, in an original scena, Fiddle and I, proves herself a finished executant on the violin; Mark Stuart, in songs and patter, goes well; and Ena Compton, a charming versatile comedienne, has a good reception.

HASTINGS.—GAIETY THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. H. W. Rowland; Resident-Manager, Mr. Charles E. Scutt.—The F. R. Benson Shakesperean company opened its annual week's visit on Monday with a fine presentment of The Taming of the Shrew. The staging was admirable, and was under the direction of Mr. Henry Herbert, who also filled the rôle of Petruchio, and from start to finish thoroughly identified himself with every phase of the rôle; Miss Gladys Vanderzee thoroughly realised the ill-humour of Shakespeare's Katherine, and both artists secured flattering applause for their artistic efforts. Assisting them were Mr. John Cairns as Baptiste, Mr. Andrew Leigh as Grumio, and Mr.

This is the Dentifrice which has made its way round the world.

In fact, Odol has acquired a world-wide fame and popularity surpassing that of any other dentifrice or mouth wash. Beyond all doubt Odol has the largest sale of all the mouth-washes and tooth-cleansing preparations in the world, and this is one of the most striking proofs of its superiority. The reason for its enormous success lies in the following special property peculiar only to Odol:

While all other preparations for cleansing the mouth and teeth act only during the few moments of application, the antiseptic and refreshing power of Odol continues gently but persistently for hours afterwards. Odol penetrates the interstices of the teeth and the mucous membrane of the mouth, to a certain extent impregnating them, thus securing a safeguard and preservative for the teeth such as no other dentifrice can provide, not even approximately.

Charles Sparrow as Lucentio. The remainder of the numerous company were good in their respective parts, and their spirited rendering of this laughable comedy afforded the utmost pleasure to the well-filled house, roars of laughter being evoked throughout. King Lear, As You Like It, Hamlet, The Tempest, Richard II., Macbeth, and The Merry Wives of Windsor were also billed.

PIER PAVILION.—Entertainment Manager, Mr. J. D. Hunter.—Mr. Alfred West and Lieut. J. G. Sutherland are giving their instructive pictorial entertainment entitled "Our Navy and Army."

HORWICH.—PRINCE'S.—Proprietor, Mr. A. P. Patterson.—The above place reopened on Saturday evening last, under the management of Mr. Johnny Holland, with a very fine exhibition of animated pictures, and attracted large audiences.

HUDDERSFIELD.—HIPPODROME, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. William Robinson; General-Manager, Mr. Otto C. Culling; Resident-Manager, Mr. N. M. Robinson.—Mr. Seymour Hicks, assisted by Miss Maie Ash and company, is proving a great draw with his light musical farce Cook's Man. The Gilberts are two young and accomplished performers on the tight rope; Walter Munroe is singing his Irish songs, to the delight of all; Miss Josie Mooney has two tuneful songs; Arthur Wellesley and company are repeating a brilliant success with the sketch Uncle's Courtship; Leonard Charburn's youngsters have a thorough appreciation of their clever singing and dancing.

PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Herbert Garside.—The Banzai Troupe of Japanese are skilful and daring; the Tintos are a pair of energetic acrobatic comedians; Miss Lily Edwardes sings good chorus songs; the Heriot Trio are bright and amusing in the sporting farce, Denbigh's Divorce; Miss Vesta Nixon dances with much skill; the Jackson Family, of two brothers and two sisters, are among the most accomplished quartette of musicians seen here for some time. The pictures provide plenty of interest.

HULL.—GRAND THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Mortons, Ltd.—Manager, Mr. W. F. Morton.—The Castellano Company are again in Hull, and on this occasion it may be said that the company is stronger in numbers and even better in quality than on the previous visits. The season opened with Ernani, and a most commendable performance was given. The Elvira of Signora Protto was a delightful conception and, from the vocalistic standpoint, was a fine piece of work; Signor Barbato is a tenor robusto who fills his efforts with largeness, his high notes being produced in a clear and clean fashion; Signor Modesti is a baritone with a rich, resonant voice; the vibrant bass voice of Signor Vittori was a delightful addition to a fine musical ensemble; and the chorus is larger, and consequently more efficient. The repertory has included Faust, Rigoletto, Puritani, Ugonotti, Barbiere de Seville, Cavalleria, and Pagliacci.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE.—Mortons, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. George Morton.—There has been much appreciation shown of The Outcast, which this week is holding the boards at the Alexandra. It contains all those features that appeal to the theatre patrons, and is presented with fine force. Mr. Bert Oaks afforded evidence of his insight into a somewhat difficult rôle; as the Yorkshire smith Mr. H. Bentone realised what was required of him; the Squire was well played by Mr. Wybert-Clive; Miss Maud Leslie Cudd showed her talent in her conception of the rôle of Grace Redburn; the distracted wife evoked the sympathy of the house as played by Miss Elsie Shelton; and comic relief was cleverly introduced by Miss Freda Beckett and Mr. Tom Armitage.

ILKESTON. — THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Albert Leigh.—At the head of the bill we have Miss Vona Clifford and company in an interesting dramatic sketch, My Friend the Thief. The rôle of Hester Oliver is ably sustained by Miss Clifford; Mr. Edward Thane gives a good impersonation of Jack Oliver; and Dave (the thief) is most cleverly represented by Mr. Cyril Fairlie. The Gordon Girls in A Platform Rehearsal win good opinions; and an excellent turn is provided by Bert and Jen in an electric cycling act. Hal Bert, the elastic comedian, is a big success; Clark and Glenny, in The Haunted House, are the cause of roars of laughter. Phœbe Lyndhurst, vocalist, receives well merited applause; and Kate Gourlay is a clever Scotch comedienne and dancer.

IPSWICH.—HIPPODROME.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. E. H. Bostock.—Carrie Laurie and her juvenile troupe give a most acceptable turn; Peggy, a sketch by Ada Oxley and company, is smart from start to finish; the Hyde and Cody Trio are expert tumblers, and the Garden of the "Grand" is an elaborate piece of setting; Miss Mary Braymen has a powerful voice and some good catchy songs; Herbert Rule is a most amusing comedian; Reg Beauchamp scores in singing and dancing; the Brothers Webb have musical talent of a high order; Edie Haley contributes Scotch songs; and the Bioscope concludes.

JERSEY.—OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee, Mr Edward Marris; Acting-Manager, Mr. Stanley Hope.—Owing to numbers being unable to gain admission last week, Mr. Albany is repeating the film of the Funeral Procession, with some new and additional scenes. La Belle Duchesse, with her boxing stallions, performing ponies, and leaping hounds, give a very good turn. Wednesday's matinée takes the form of a benefit for the victims of the Whitehaven disaster, when the whole of the receipts will be given.

OLYMPIA WINTER GARDEN.—Manager, Mr. Charles A. Barnett.—The Cremona Ladies' Orchestra continues to draw. The electric pictures are good, and the new turns are Miss Mabel Lester and E. A. Reilly, Irish baritone.

KEIGHLEY.—HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. T. Barrasford.—Honri in Concordia is here, supported by a number of clever performers. The staging is excellent. An exceedingly well-played and humorous sketch is presented by Mr. W. T. Ellwanger; Mr. Rowland Hill proves a big favourite, his humour being irresistible; La Belle Nello, Queen of Equipoise, is seen in a charming act; Andrews and Thompson's vocal efforts are loudly applauded; the Musical Bentleys are exceedingly entertaining; Mr. Chas. Stevens, "Swell" comedian, sings in good style; Mr. Harry Tomps, comedian, relates some good stories; and the King's Funeral is shown on the Bioscope.

KING'S LYNN.—NEW ROYAL THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. B. Pareezer; Resident-Manager, Mr. Reginald Pareezer.—This week Dr. Walford Bodie is paying a return visit with a strong variety company, who are attracting bumping houses. The items include Billy Walters, ventriloquist; Jack Diamond, trick dancer; Tom Gold, comedian; G. W. Walker, Scotch vocalist; W. H. Williams, eccentric comedian; and Dr. Bodie, with La Belle Electra, the electric marvels.

LEAMINGTON. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Lessees, Messrs. Dottridge and Longden; Manager, Mr. Chas. H. Longden; Assistant-Manager, Mr. John Halifax.—We are having a very fine variety entertainment, two shows being given nightly. Topping the bill are Lockhart's performing elephants, presented by Captain Taylor. It is a marvellous performance, combining much humour and intelligence. Beaumont's ponies and dogs are another very clever turn, their tricks being clean and much above the ordinary. The programme includes Tom Packer, funny comedian; Emie Harlow, an entertaining comedienne; Dalvere and Wallace, comedy artists; Lily Vesta, a smart chorus vocalist; Pat Lang, a droll comedian; Talberto and Douglas, in a unique comedy act; and Ethel Sheffer, a ballad vocalist, who sings with much charm.

LEEDS.—GRAND THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager, Mr. Wynn Miller.—Are You a Mason? is being played here to appreciative audiences. Mr. William Lockhart embodies Amos Bloodgood in a delightfully breezy manner, and the rôle of Frank Perry is undertaken by Mr. Howard L. Tracy with success; Mr. Stanley Arthur as Hamilton Travers has a good conception of the character; Mr. Edward J. Hinge extracts plenty of fun out of the part of John Halton; Mr. Archie Selwyn plays George Fisher with effect; Miss Agnes Maude is good as Mrs. Caroline Bloodgood; and other prominent characters are sustained by Mr. Gordon Blyth, Miss Clare Townshend, Miss Mary Dane, and Miss Peggy Yeoman.

THE ROYAL THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Francis Laidler; Acting-Manager, Mr. Nathaniel Hepworth.—For Love and the King is here. Mr. C. Watson Mill plays a soldier with success, and Miss Rosalind Tate (Mrs. Watson Mill) has a good part, and does justice to it.

THE EMPIRE.—District-Manager, Mr. Percival Craig; Acting-Manager, Mr. Alex Galley.—George Trench has some nice songs; Conn and Conrad go through a smart act; Addie Derina proves herself a clever quick-change character artist; the Albert and Edmunds Troupe are favourites; La Freya appears in a pretty posing scena; Barrett and Knowles are popular comedians; Silvo plays on the musical glasses with effect; and Fatmah Diard is also successful.

THE HIPPODROME.—Acting-Manager, Mr. Harry Dunford.—G. H. Carlisle and H. M. Wellman provide a good musical turn here; Miss Marguerite Broadfoote, a Leeds favourite, is prevented by indisposition from appearing. A very interesting sketch, The Last of the Desmonds, is performed by Phil Herman and company. Mr. Herman does a single turn successfully, and the Athos Troupe provide a clever acrobatic entertainment.

THE VARIETIES.—Proprietor, Mr. Fred Wood; Acting-Manager, Mr. Sam Jones.—Toplitsky; or The End of the World, is a very interesting sketch; W. B. Raby sings some amusing songs; George E. Barnes and Irene West are clever buck dancers; T. E. Bates is an eccentric comedian; Isa Davis, Elsie Ellis, and Belasco complete a capital company.

THE QUEEN'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Fred Wood; Acting-Manager, Mr. Charles Bush.—Long Live the King, a capital sketch, tops the bill. Florence Esdaile is a favourite vocalist; Rutter's football dogs create amusement; Syd Walker provides a good comic turn; Tennis and Lane, Bros. Ford, and Linn and Darius also appear.

LEEK.—GRAND THEATRE AND HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, The Leek Theatre Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. James Bibby.—An attractive picture programme is presented here, the chief film being the Funeral Procession of the late King Edward. Corri and Foote, comedy artists, contribute excellent items.

LEICESTER. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Acting-Manager, Mr. P. Allerton Turner.—A very entertaining attraction is provided here in the first visit of Messrs. Chas. H. Lester and Bertram Damer's company in the mystical magical farce The Egyptian. The company responsible for its interpretation have been selected with care, and the staging and dressing is highly commendable.

PALACE THEATRE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; District-Manager, Mr. Hatton Wharton; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. Finch-Hatton; Assistant-Manager, Mr. W. S. Buccleuch.—England's famous character portrayer, Bransby Williams, worthily fills the star position here this week. His various delineations are given in his usual masterly style, and his reception is again of a most flattering nature. George Goodfellow and Jennie Gregson are amusing comedy artists and excellent dancers; the Courtiers (under the direction of Paul Mill) are responsible for a delightfully entertaining musical comedy mélange; the Francoli troupe arouse great merriment with their comic sketch, The Billposter. The Brennans make a hit with their smart dancing act; Charles Santon, a double-voiced vocalist, is very good; Frank Maura, the clever foot equilibrist, is again on a most successful visit; Gladys Mavius shines as a vocalist and particularly clever dancer; Frank H. Fox is a capital light comedian; the bioscope is a fixture here, with well-selected and clear films.

PAVILION THEATRE.—Proprietor and Director-General, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Acting-Manager, Mr. Joseph Lawrence.—Carlotta De Yonson and her popular company of players are presenting with the greatest success their Sexton Blake episode The Case of the Red Triangle. Prominent parts are well played by C. Douglas Carlile (Sexton Blake), Carlotta de Yonson (Sal Williams), Charles A Carlile (The Old 'Un), and Lee Gilbert (Tinker). The following artists also contribute to the programme: Clara Reed and John Power, successful and enjoyable comedy entertainers; J. J. Mannix, coffee coloured coon, in good songs and clever dancing; the Musical Keiths, in an entertaining musical and dancing act; Harry Keeble, an excellent ventriloquist; and Roberta Svendsen, a capital vocalist. The bioscope has entertaining pictures.

EMPIRE.—Lessees, The New Bioscope Trading Company; Resident-Manager, Mr. Chas. R. Craig.—A second series of the late King Edward's Funeral is presented, and two other prominent pictures are Good for Evil and A Tragedy in Belgrade. Ada Victor, vocalist, is remaining over another week.

EMPRESS PICTURE PALACES, LTD.—Resident-Manager, Mr. H. V. Horton.—A more than particularly good programme of films is submitted, the two leading ones being Little Blind Girl and Grandeur and Decadence.

LEIGH.—GRAND THEATRE AND HIPPODROME, LTD.—Secretary and Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Woolstencroft.—The Six Brothers Luck are appearing with success in The Demon of the Cellar; Mlle. Haydee's miniature theatre is a neat and clever show; Delafiore proves himself a xylophone expert; Harry Levaine, comedian, is quaintly amusing; Lift-'Em's, Ltd., in a comedy sketch, are the cause of hearty laughter; Beattie Bloom is a charming comedienne. Wisper (juggler), Bert Davis (male soprano), and the Hipposcope are meeting with great success.

LEITH.—NEW GAIETY THEATRE.—Licensee and Director, Mr. R. C. Buchanan; Resident-Manager, Mr. John Darlison.—In the romantic Russian play Siberia the leading rôles of Nicholai and Sara are interpreted with much feeling and sympathy by Mr. Richard Ferriss and Miss Doris Brookes; while the Count and Countess Stanislaus, with Ivan and Marie, find suitable characterisation at the hands of Mr. Addison Thomas, Miss Paulina Gear, Mr. Mark Hannam, and Miss Eleanor M'Hardy. The spy Sparta and the merciless Jaracoff are capably handled by Mr. A. W. B. Kingston and Mr. Ernest Regent; Mr. John Darlison finds a congenial part in the benevolent Governor-General; native humour is exploited on popular lines in the Trolsky and Vera of Mr. J. T. Dale and Miss Kitty Thomas, and in the waiter of Mr. Paul Dysart, and some half-dozen minor parts are capably sustained.

LIVERPOOL.—SHAKESPEARE THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wentworth Croke; Manager and Secretary, Mr. John Gaffney.—Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree is here this week with his talented London company, and business is excellent. Opening on Monday evening with The Merchant of Venice, the celebrated actor repeated his notable assumption of Shylock, assisted by Miss Evelyn D'Alroy as Portia, and Mr. Arthur Wonter as Bassanio. Other supporters were Messrs. Henry Morrel (a dignified Antonio), Edward Sass (the Duke), Henry C. Hewitt (Gratiano), Miss Helda Moore (Jessica), and Miss Gladys Harvey (Nerissa). Needless to report, the reception accorded to the whole of the company was enthusiastic. On Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday The O'Flynn, for the first time in Liverpool, was given, the three principal rôles being undertaken by Sir Herbert (O'Flynn), Mr. Arthur Wonter (Lord Sedgemouth), and Miss D'Alroy (Lady Benedetta); and on Friday Trilby (Miss Gladys Harvey), and The Man Who Was were staged.

ROTUNDA THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery. The Eyes of the World pays a first visit here, the company presenting it belonging to Miss Ethel Van Praagh and Mr. J. Edward Whitty. Miss Praagh handles her original part of Helene de l'Orme with considerable power; as Fanfarade Mr. Whitty plays with distinction; Mr. Alex. Wilson Wynne undertakes Octave de Carnac to everyone's satisfaction; Mr. Charles O'Connor is an excellent Hector de l'Orme; Mr. Fred Bentley does justice to Gaston Carnac; some excellent comedy comes from Mr. Harold Ford (Brigard) and Miss Beatrice Hulment (Antoinette); and other worthy supporters are Miss Nellie Garside (Susanne), Miss Flora Hastings (Madame Carnac), and Miss Elsie Capell (Avice).

STAR THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Harris Fineberg.—The great attraction here this week is Mr. H. Armitage's excellent company with The Greater Love. Mr. Campbell Goldsmid is again seen to much advantage as Paul Penfold, a telling part; Miss Marion Fawcett gives an acceptable rendering of Mrs. May; Mr. William Clayton handles the character of Jack May with rare tact; Miss Violet Thorold looks pretty and acts feelingly as Mary May; Mr. Algernon J. Hicks proves a jovial Andrew Isted; and Messrs. Harry Wrenn (Constable Drayton), Henry Nunn (Rev. Arthur Warren), Miss Ethel Russell (Sarah Higgs), and Mr. Arles Conway (Ned Stubbs) lend valuable assistance.

KELLY'S THEATRE.—Lessee, Mr. W. W. Kelly; Acting-Manager, Mr. Reginald Grant.—Here this week we are having Mr. H. Hamilton Stewart's company with The Mummy and the Humming Bird, which is being received with great favour. As Lord Lumley Mr. Stewart acts with much naturalness and finish; Miss A. Bruce-Joy is a charming Lady Lumley, showing high histrionic powers; Mr. Lewin Mannering as Signor d'Orelli affords general satisfaction; Mr. Charles Groves gains honours as the revengeful Giuseppe; Miss Constance Barton pleases greatly with her neat portrait of Ruth Thornton; and Mr. Percy Marmont presents a manly Lord Ronalds.

EMPIRE.—Proprietors, Moss' Empires, Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Manners.—Needless to say, big business is being done here this week on account of the welcome visit of Miss Vesta Tilley, who includes among her latest "Sidney's holidays" and "Give it to father." This delightful little artist has rousing receptions. Tom and Marie Motramo keep their audience in a merry mood with their admirable musical comedy turn; Billy Merson, who has come to the front, is richly enjoyed; Ben Albert, a smart topical vocalist, finds great favour; the remarkably clever and daring equilibristic act by Yamamoto and Miss Koyoshi wins rounds of applause; Bertha Winder shows wonderful dancing powers; a refined and clever musical act comes from the Channings; Beaty and Blanche are a couple of excellent comediennes and dancers; and Frank Cass, character comedian, is as amusing as ever.

LYRIC.—Lessees, Liverpool Lyric Theatre Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Henry C. Arnold.—The attraction here this week is Mr. W. V. Garrod and company with A Country Girl in London, which, under the new arrangement at this theatre, is being played twice nightly. Business is very satisfactory. In the part of Frank Gordon Mr. Garrod plays with much dramatic strength; Mr. William Bradford distinguishes himself as Godfrey Clinton; and good work comes from Miss May Grayer, her Marjorie Hamilton being received with much favour. Included among other supporters are Messrs. Owen Remonde (Job Smithers), Charles Halling (John Hamilton), Frank Dallas (Henrick), Seymour Perry (Wilberforce), Miss A. Clarke (Adelaide).

ROYAL HIPPODROME. — Resident-Manager, Mr. Walter Hassan.—Top of the bill this week is that excellent ventriloquist, Arthur Prince, whose entertainment provokes loud applause; Regan and Ryan, eccentric comedians, are as enjoyable as ever, their knockabout business causing roars of laughter; little Jack Marks proves a smart imitator of Hebrew character; Shirley Liggins and company please greatly with their realty artistic scena, A Twilight Serenade; W. G. Wesley, a particularly funny comedian, gives the best of value, and is received with rounds of applause; as an eccentric comedian and dancer Dan Whitley gains much favour; S. W. Wyndham amuses with his new songs; the Three Orleans submit a neat dancing and singing turn; and good work is also done by Addie Adell, actress-vocalist, and Patty Yole, comedienne and dancer.

ROYAL PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. M. Montgomery; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank O'Toole.—The stock company here this week is presenting A Woman Adrift. Mr. Henry Tresham makes an excellent Sir John Ingleby; the heavy parts of Don Castro and Captain Muscardo are handled in creditable style by Mr. Sydney Grant; Mr. Cecil Ravenswood ably undertakes Pentecost Mackey; Mr. Leo Montgomery looks the character of Carlos; Miss Lina Nazeby plays strongly as Stella; and Miss Gertrude Entwistle presents an efficient Cora Leigh. Worthy support also comes from Messrs. E. D. Allen (Jibbs), R. Seath Innes (Roderick), Tom H. Solly (Dennis), and Miss Gertrude Gilman (Molly). Brown's Bioscope shows By the Mill Stream.

OLYMPIA. — District-Manager, Mr. Horace Cole; Acting-Manager, Mr. Ernest Wighton.—Foremost here this week is Jack Pleasants, whose remarks cause his hearers to rock with laughter; Dan Lipton's company enjoy a rousing reception for their admirable vocal scena, Songland, which is put on in most picturesque style; Walter King is particularly quaint, his patter provoking much laughter; Florence Yaymen's coon characters prove immensely enjoyable; the Two St. Johns (Gale and Frank) show themselves to be a couple of accomplished musical comedians and dancers; the performing dogs belonging to Lux go through a remarkable act; little Dot Stephens pleases generally with her dainty songs; Livesey and Rosebery repeat, with success, their funny Would-be Actors; and Johnny Fuller executes some daring feats on the wire.

PAVILION.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Manager, Mr. George F. Slatter.—Foremost this week is the stirring military episode Flood Tide, presented in finished style by Harry P. Selwyn's company; Henry Cazman, with his one-man music-hall turns and clever illusions, is greeted with loud applause; Miss Millie Engler and company have a merry farce, Beauty and the Burglar, which is greatly enjoyed; Baby Wolff is a talented child artist; as xylophone players Baker and Balfe show much expertness; the Eight Tennessee Coloured Guards have a pleasing scena, Camp Life Down South; and contributions also come from Larry Lewis, comedian; Harry Conlin, comedian; the Four Regals, with a clever exhibition of strength; and Fred Evans in the absurdity Dreaming.

REYNOLDS' EXHIBITION.—This old-established exhibition in Lime Street is now doing excellent business, the enterprising proprietor, Mr. Charles Reynolds, having added to his valuable collection a beautiful and impressive tableau of the lying-in-state of the late King. There is also a strikingly pathetic scene, The Peacemaker Himself at Peace.

LLANDUDNO.—PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arnold Macara.—August, September, and May top the bill and are highly amusing; Ike Bradley exhibits great skill as a knockabout cyclist; Hilder and Hilder are smart duettists and dancers; Mint and Mart are comical and clever; and Bert Langdon and Molly Bee contribute some funny burlesque. The Bioscope includes Grahame White's Flight.

PIER HEAD PAVILION.—Messrs. Adeler, Sutton, and Allandale's pierrots continue to do good business here; Kit Keen, coloured comedian, is well received; Bernard Davies has a pleasing baritone voice; Wilfred Burnand shows cleverness in his character studies of well-known artists; A. R. Sutcliffe is as popular as ever; and J. A. Tunbridge, at the piano, is excellent.

LOUGHBOROUGH.—VINT'S ELECTRIC HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. Leon Vint; General-Manager, Mr. Arthur Brogden; Resident-Manager, Mr. Lindsey Edwards.—Another well-selected lot of pictures are shown this week, and Miss Lydia Neilson, with her boys and girls, are responsible for some excellent dancing.

TEMPERANCE HALL. — Lessees, Messrs. Weisker Bros.; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur S. Evanson.—The "World in Motion" pictures here maintain their high standard, and a full house at each performance is still the order of the day. Martin Angle, comedian, and Lily le Main contribute smart variety turns.

LOWESTOFT.—MARINA.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. B. Pareezer.—Mr. J. W. Cordiner's company are paying a welcome return visit with the musical play Dare-Devil Dorothy, the name-part being cleverly enacted by Miss Gertrude de Lacy, who, together with the Misses Nellie Harcourt, Kathleen Stewart, Lillie and Iris Elvida, and Mr. James Salter, are responsible for several smart specialities in the third act.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. Geo. Gilbert; Manager, Mr. W. Alvar.—A very entertaining programme is presented by the Frohmans, in a clever musical act; Bella Leaburn, vocalist; and Lily and Antly, sketch artists. The pictures are, as usual, bright and thoroughly entertaining. A children's pageant is being presented during the latter part of the week.

MAIDSTONE.—PALACE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Ewart C. Potter.—Miss Rosie Lloyd heads the bill here, scoring with her songs and charming all with her inimitable style; Farr and Farland, cross-talk artists and banjo players, are more popular than ever; Briff, Braff, and Broff do some very amusing acrobatic business, causing roars of laughter; La-Vie is much appreciated in a series of electrical art panel poses; a popular vocal turn is provided by Woolmer Young; and Forde and Forde prove artists of merit in their variety musical répertoire; Mabella May is good in song and dance; and an exhibition of electric pictures shows the Funeral Procession of his late Majesty King Edward VII.

MANCHESTER.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessees, The United Theatres Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Edmondstone Shirra.—Mr. H. G Pelissier and The Follies are here in their latest songs and burlesques, including potted versions of The Fires of Fate, Henry of Navarre, and The King of Cadonia, in addition to which is given the burlesque of a music hall. Decidedly clever, comic, and attractive, the performances are greatly enjoyed, and nothing more smart and unhackneyed need be wished for by those in search of an exhilarating entertainment.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietors, The United Theatres Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Lee.—The old favourite Florodora is presented here this week by Mr. Charles Constant's company. The outstanding feature is the Tweedlepunch of Mr. Johnnie Schofield, who fills the part like a real comedian, and is one of the best who have been seen in it. Miss Daisy Lake as Dolores looks and sings well, and Mr. Stanley White plays with sufficient humour and smartness as Cyrus Gilfain. Miss Florence Hersee as Angela is also pleasing, and a commendable impersonation of Lady Holyrood is to the credit of Miss Kate Leicester. Mr. Martin D. Pitts as Frank Aberoed and Mr. Johnnie Junior as Captain Arthur Donegal fill their parts well, and minor rôles are all in capable hands. A feature worthy of high praise is the Apache dance of Miss Florence Hersee and Mr. Johnnie Junior in Act 2.

GAIETY THEATRE.—Proprietor, Miss A. E. F. Horniman; Acting-Manager, Mr. Edwin T. Heys.—Miss Cora Anson's company are giving here an attractive performance of Caste. Mr. G. W. Anson as Eccles is remarkably fine; as Captain Hawtree, the military aristocrat, Mr Frank Lacy is also specially good; and an admirable impersonation of Polly Eccles is added by Miss Cora Anson, who has a clever supporter in Mr. Wyn Weaver as Sam Gerridge. Mr. T. A. Shannon as the Hon. George D'Alroy is well placed, and Miss Lydia Busch makes a very satisfactory Esther; while Miss Helen Vicary as the Marquise de St. Maur completes the cast in pleasing style. A better all-round performance could not be desired.

ROYAL OSBORNE THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Mason.—A new play The Female Detective, was produced here on Monday, and is fully noticed elsewhere.

QUEEN'S PARK HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. W. Meek.—A fine attraction here is Herbert Darnley and his company in John Jay, Junior, which is a big success. Louis Taylor's company in The Adder's Tooth are also a marked feature of the programme; while other smart items are Harry Marlow, a catchy light comedian; the Two Brilliants, xylophonists; the Hendersons, speciality artists; Jock McNeil, Scotch comedian and dancer; Flo Chevalier, refined vocal comedienne; the Vaudeville Trio of acrobatic step-dancers; and Reed and Cully, in their funny act, The Bill-Stickers.

METROPOLE THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Hearn.—The Elliott-Savonas top the bill here in their brilliant production The Palace of Orpheus; while Harrigan and Holt (the Inspector and Policeman) add a prominent comic turn, and The Days, experts in second sight, are greatly applauded. Baby Myrtle Grove, the pierrot, is good; and other contributions to a capital programme are made by Silvo, gymnast; Archie Glen, raconteur and dancer; the Martons, in a comedy duologue; and Michel Brothers, very smart balancers and society acrobats.

GRAND JUNCTION THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Brearley.—Mr. Lawrence Brough and his company are here in the well-known farcical comedy The Lady of Ostend. Needless to say, the piece is well played and highly appreciated, Mr. Brough being particularly applauded in an all-round excellent cast. The week's programme is varied by a selection of notable curtain-raisers, namely, Love in a Railway Train, At the Risin' of the Moon, and The Little Agitator.

KING'S THEATRE, LONGSIGHT.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. Jas. R. Trippett.—A return visit to Manchester of The Cingalee, after a quite recent successful venture at a local theatre, is paid here this week by Mr. Haldane Crichton's company, who are again securing the appreciation of large audiences. Miss Isa Bowman as Nanoya is the bright particular feature of the cast, which is an accomplished one throughout. The piece is played twice nightly, and has a full chorus and an augmented orchestra under the direction of Mr. W. D. J. Damant; while the scenery and dresses are up to the requisite high standard of beauty and colour.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Hall.—Olga, Elgar, and Eli Hudson top the bill here, and win unstinted applause by their refined and artistic musical and vocal act Bert Coote and Co., who occupy the corresponding place of honour, supply a most amusing contrast in A Lamb on Wall Street, which is hugely enjoyed. Pat Rafferty, the Irish comedian, is well received; Hall and Earle, two acrobatic comedians, are smart and funny; Elton and Edwin play the banjoes in classical style; and other entertaining items are Vesta and Minnie Pine, the Golf Girl and the Caddie; Bob and Jennie Leonard, in a comedy act; Park's Eton Boys, assisted by the Girton Girls, in song scenas; and Speedwell, a painter of novel and humorous moving sketches.

HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr Oswald Stoll; Manager, Mr. Nelson Barry.—The programme here this week is full of good things. Hubert Carter, ably supported, is highly successful as David Garrick; Cyril Clensy, a very clever impersonator, scores in his playlet The Last Chance; Ella Retford, the popular comedienne, charms with her songs and dances; and Harry Lamore makes a big hit as a versatile comedy entertainer. Other smart and enjoyable items are offered by Burt Shepard, a capital comedian, whose Budget song takes well; Lydia and Amelys, clever Parisian dancers; the Manchester Mites in songs and dances; Nellie Farrell, a pleasing singer of Irish songs; and J. H. Milburn, who meets with a good reception as deputy for F. V. St. Clair, the popular topical vocalist.

PALACE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Walter de Frece; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. J. Carter.—A very good programme here is headed by Kitty Gordon, the popular musical comedy artist, whose refined and taking style is highly appreciated. Jake Friedman and Co. are also prominent in the successful burletta Happy Holland; Dale and O'Malley, the "somewhat different" comedians, are popular; Arthur Reece, the well-known vocal comedian, adds a good turn; and other clever people in the bill are Jack Rae, comedy gymnast; Amy Sullivan, comedienne; Pyck, Tholl, and Taylor, in their unique singing and dancing act; Lucy Coventry, comedienne and dancer; and the Four Braggs, equilibrists and head-balancers.

TIVOLI THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Managing-Director, Mr. Chas. A. Wilkes; Manager, Mr. Arthur B. Wilkes.—The Court Cards, a smart vaudeville combination, provide the top star turn here this week with success. The Four Janowskys go through a wonderfully clever acrobatic and ladder act; the Darntons (Cicely and Gladys), harmonising duettists, meet with a deservedly good reception; Rowland Bottomley, musical comedy artist, scores in fine style; Dolly and Madge McCalla, in song, story, and dance, are well received; the Wyffs play well in neat comedy sketch, St. Valentine's Day; and Rose Tilley, burlesque actress, takes well. Up-to-date pictures are also shown.

HULME HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. Broadhead and Son; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Dry.—The Verona Troupe of trick cyclists, who worthily top the bill here this week, go through a remarkably clever performance; Thomas C. Le Gar's company, including Senor Angel Blanco, are highly sucessful in that dramatic playlet Music, the Conqueror; the Monckton cause endless laughter in their sketch A Woman's Curiosity; whilst other smart turns are those of the Sisters Brooklands, comediennes and dancers; A. H. Drinkwater, light comedian; Three Comedy Chanters, in harmonious interludes; Johnson and Hart, hoop-rollers and jugglers; Dan Weldon, singing newsboy; and Mitchell and Stott, clever comedy gymnasts. Pictures complete.

RUSHOLME PAVILION.—Proprietor, Mr. Harry Leslie; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Phillips.—Mr. Walter Dowling's company of entertainers, "The Fantastics," are the attraction here this week, and include those capable artists Jose Leyton, comedienne and siffleuse; Bert Durant, at the piano; Alfred Daniels, humorist and banjoist; Jessie Crone, contralto; Percival Mackenzie, versatile artist; Roland Green, baritone; and last, but not least, Walter Dowling, the popular jester.

BIJOU ELECTRIC THEATRE (Erskine-street, Hulme).—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Thos. Morrison.—Some beautiful new films are shown here this week twice nightly, and include Lieutenant Rose and the Foreign Spy; A Child of the Prairie, An Original Revenge, Frankenstein; Pygmalion and Galatea, Up-to-date Imps, &c., &c.

MARGATE. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Managing-Director, Mr. E. Michael; General-Manager, Mr. F. Weathersby.—There are in Tom Craven's detective melodrama When a Lass Loves all the elements of a popular and exciting play, and since its original production at Margate it has been presented with great success in the provinces and in London. Mr. Reginald Stephens has a good appearance and acts convincingly as Dr. Allan Crass, whilst as Bertram Bridge, card sharper, swell cracksman, and blackguard of the lowest type, Mr. Ramsey Foreman adopts a suitable cynical style, and sustains the character excellently; Mr. Louis Palgrave, in his original rôle of the ubiquitous office boy Slack, is decidedly entertaining; and Mr. George F. Ide is amusing as the stage-struck solicitor's clerk, Reggie Stapleton. Mr. Franc Stoney plays Caleb Crass, the lawyer, appropriately, and Mr. John Clive makes the most of his opportunities as Anthony Greig, a Scotch millionaire. Miss Josephine Middleton displays great ability in the part of the plucky ex-lady detective, Constance Lane, her acting evoking loud applause; Miss Rita Trekelle portrays the callous Cynthia Bridge with commendable restraint; and Miss Ella Dixon as Nina May, an Anglo-American chorus girl, does remarkably well.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, The South of England Hippodromes, Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Walter de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. James Mayall.—John Clempert gives his remarkable performance, escaping from a locked-up tank of water and releasing himself from shackles and

New SHOES for old.
New BAGS for old.
New BELTS for old.

To be fashionable this season's Shoes, Belts, and Satchels should harmonise in colour with the costume. This can be done effectually and economically by using

MIDAS BRONZINE
POLISHES

These polishes can be obtained in a special Dark Grey, peculiarly suitable for mourning; also in Gold, Silver, and all fashionable colours. Easily applied to all kinds of Leather, Satin, or any article with smooth surface, irrespective of original colour. Do not rub off on the hands or dress.

EXCELLENT FOR THEATRICAL PROPERTIES.

Of all Stores, Bootshops, Grocers, and Ironmongers, 1/- per box, which will do several pairs of shoes.

If unable to obtain, write to Sole Manufacturers—

MIDAS, LTD.,
73, Leadenhall Street, London, E.C.

handcuffs in marvellous style; Daisy Stratton, a chic comedienne and dancer; Syd Crossley, comedian; Charles Lilburn, eccentric comedian; Richard Wally, in a juggling act; Ethel May, comedienne and dancer; and the Dick and Dorothy Trio, in a vocal and dancing act, also contribute to an entertaining programme. The pictures include slides of the memorial service in Margate and Sea-Lion Hunting in the Arctic.

MERTHYR TYDFIL.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee, The South Wales Entertainments, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. A. Jackson Withers.—The King of Crime is capitally staged and well produced by Mr. Carthage Caldcleugh's company here this week. Principal rôles are capably undertaken by Miss Dorothy Haigh as Henriette, Mr. Alfred Goddard as Gaston Lemaire, Mr. Vernon Travers as Pierre Gondelu, and Mr. Carthage Caldcleugh as Simon. The remaining characters are in competent hands.

TEMPERANCE HALL.—Manager, Mr. Israel Price.—Cummin and Seaham present a novel comedy act entitled The Ragman and Postman; Arthur Slater's whistling solos are much appreciated; first-rate roller-skate dancing is done by J. H. McCann; Vi Mayiott has some pleasing songs; the Morrellis score as comedy artists; and the biograph provides some excellent pictures.

MEXBOROUGH.—PRINCE OF WALES THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. G. H. Smith.—Variety and pictures form the attraction here. The Digbys, the Transatlantic comedy duo, give a smart exposition of cross-talk songs and gags; the Leonas submit a refined and clever instrumental turn and an expert exhibition of fencing; Chas. Dixon is an entertaining comedian; Kate Lynd is an able exponent of low comedy. Capital pictures complete the programme.

NEW PICTURE HALL.—Proprietor, Mr. W. H. Melton.—The star films are From Smoke and Crime, Abbey of Lerins, and the Cossack's Treasure, supplemented by humorous pictures.

MIDDLESBROUGH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor, Mr. J. Chas. Imeson; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Imeson.—Mr. Frank Lindo and company are appearing with success in the domestic dramas, Home, Sweet Home and Love, the Conqueror, in which the principal characters are ably sustained by Mr. Lindo and Miss Marion Wakeford.

EMPIRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Charles G. Remberger.—Scott and Whaley, comedians and dancers, meet with well deserved approval, as do also Ike and Will Scott, comedians; Tate and Tate, in a bar act; the Sisters Grovini, acrobats; Ralph and Nellie Howard, in a musical act, entitled Military Mad; the Crudons, speciality artists; John Trevellian, tenor; and the Empirescope. Good houses rule.

HIPPODROME.—Manager, Mr. Ingledew.—A capital programme of pictures is again drawing large audiences.

MORECAMBE.—WINTER GARDENS.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; General-Manager, Mr. Percy B. Broadhead.—Stylo has been busy here with a new dancing act which has been received enthusiastically. It is opened by Stylo's charming wife, Bessie Bonnie, with a song, after which she is joined by three step-dancers, who have certainly nothing to learn in their own line of business. The quartet ascend, step by step, to a pedestal, and then descend, dancing the while in unison and producing musical effects through the clever arrangement of the steps of the aptly named "Stairaphone." The idea combines everything which is to be got out of pedestal and slab dancing, and adds an absolute novelty to the dancing acts of the variety stage. The dancers, with the use of the "Stairaphone," efficiently render popular music, including the anvil chorus, and Stylo deserves congratulation upon inventing and arranging a distinctly original act. Other turns here are Florence Kennedy, delightful vocalist; Rex and Ford, smart patter comedians; Stylo, hoop king; and Dix and Dox, tramp comedy.

NEATH.—PALACE.—Proprietor, Mr. Leon Vint; Managing-Director, Mr. Arthur Brogden; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur Noice.—Some of the best pictures are shown to large and appreciative audiences. Excellent variety is provided by Clive and Vera, singers, dancers, and comedy artists, and the Barrington Trio, singers, dancers, and musicians. Mr. Noice, the popular manager, arranged a benefit for the Neath Cricket Club, under the patronage of the Mayor and Corporation, &c. A vote of thanks to Mr. Vint was proposed by the Mayor, and suitably acknowledged by Mr. Noice.

NELSON.—PALACE.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Benson.—An excellent programme is headed by the Marriotts, whose mind-reading entertainment proves completely mystifying. The Krags Trio of Continental gymnasts are wonderfully clever; and good turns are also supplied by Hess and Chivers, roller-skating experts; Elsie Claire, a comedienne who possesses a charming voice and sings with much refinement; Mr. Howell Webb and company in an amusing absurdity, The Professor's Baby; or, Never Send Your Wife to Bacup; Carmen Barrie, comedienne and dancer; and Watson and McQue, comedy couple.

NEW BRIGHTON.—WINTER GARDENS.—Lessees and Managers, Messrs. Jones and Douglas.—A crowded house gave a very warm welcome to Mrs. Ponderbury's Past, presented on Monday by an excellent company organised by Miss Emma and Mr. Percy Hutchison. Every character is well acted, and Mr. George Mudie scored a great success as Mr. Ponderbury, whilst Miss C. Gordon, Miss Florence Wix, and Mr. Percy Bell all came in for enthusiastic applause. The staging was perfect in every detail.

TOWER.—Manager and Secretary, Mr. R. H. Davy.—Excellent animated pictures and variety items constitute the bill of fare in the theatre. The company includes the Northcotes, operatic duettists; the Maddison Bros., comedians and boxers; and a Scotch lady styled Heather Belle, who sings sweetly. The films are varied and very good.

PIER PAVILION.—Lessees, Messrs. Adeler, Sutton, and Allandale.—Variety holds sway here, and Mr. Charley Harvey is, as usual, a favourite with the Pavilion patrons. A success is scored by El Roy, the armless wonder; and Mlle. Marjutti, contortionist. Other items are supplied by Wee Vesta Henry, Miss Fanny Humber, Mr. Dave Laird, and Sisters Belmour.

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.—TYNE THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE.—Lessees, Messrs. Howard and Wyndham; Manager, Mr. Fred C. Sutcliffe.—Mr. Chas. Windermere's excellent company in Where is William? is attracting good audiences. Mr. Windermere himself impersonates Sir William, and his breezy manner and finished acting keep the audience in the very best of humour. He is loyally supported by Mr. Rule Pyott, who makes a very amusing Butler. Mr. Leslie Norman gives a capital portrayal of an irascible old general. The part of Phyllis Patterson is charmingly represented by Miss Clare Manifield, and others who figure prominently are Mr Robert Urquhart as Harry, Miss Belle Donaldson as Lady Gregory, Miss Zoe Davis as Eliza, Miss May Rosine as Emily, Mr. A. Plant as the Policeman, and Mr. Fred Lake as Joe Budge. Clause No. 6, in which Miss Manifield and Mr. Urquhart appear to advantage, precedes.

PALACE THEATRE.—General Manager, Mr. T. W. Rowe; Business Manager, Mr. E. B. Clark.—"Two shows a night" is a new departure here, and on Monday two large audiences assembled to witness Her Secret Lover, by Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kimberley's company. The leading rôles were admirably sustained by Mr. Arthur St. John, Mr. Walter H. Wilson, Mr. Alfred Stretton, Miss Laura Walker, and Miss Flora Leslie.

EMPIRE THEATRE.—Resident-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; Manager, Mr. W. P. Wells; Assistant-Manager, Mr. J. W. Kilgour.—Lew Lake and company are the principal attraction in King Nobbler. Always up to date, Fred Earle and his amusing songs go especially strong. Cull Pitt is responsible for a quite original turn, and Mona Vivian sings and dances charmingly. The Five Vernons present an entertaining xylophone turn. That droll comedian Alf Gibson is as amusing as ever, and Fielding and Hull, in "tabloid musical comedy," are clever. The Belles of the Kitchen, a comedy sketch by Carrie Laurie's Juveniles, proves entertaining, and Maxey and Pete, comedy cyclists, present many new tricks in their line, the bioscope completing a capital programme.

NORTHAMPTON.—TEMPERANCE HALL.—Secretary, Mr G. Skempton; Resident-Manager for Andrews' Pictures, Mr. Frank Lyndon.—Excellent pictures are again shown here, and illustrated songs are rendered by Miss Margaret Payne.

THE COUNTY ELECTRIC PAVILION.—Resident-Manager, Mr. A. Lyle Edwards.—London's Fish Supply is an interesting subject among a number of other entertaining films.

PICTURE PALACE.—Proprietors, Messrs. J. F. Bentley; General-Manager, Mr J. W. Borrowman.—The principal items are To Save Her Soul, Condemned to Death, and the Cowboy Millionaire.

NORTH SHIELDS.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Stanley Rogers; Acting-Manager, Mr. Horace Lee.—Under Two Flags is being produced here this week by Mr. Albert Sember and company, and large audiences have assembled. As the Hon. Bertie Cecil Mr. Albert Sember acquits himself admirably; Mr. Ernest R. Allen cleverly sustains the character of Berkley Cecil; Mr. C. Alan Hineson fills with marked ability the rôle of Ezra Baroni; Mr. William Turnbull scores as Lord Rockinham; and Mr. Edward E. Louis makes a capable Colonel Charteauroy. As Cigarette Miss Fay Garnett Vayne wins general approval; and Beatrice is in the able hands of Miss Kate Froude.

CENTRAL PALACE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. William Mould.—At the head of an attractive programme here are the Wagners in The Boy, the Maid, and the Misfit, which is greatly enjoyed. Polo and Clarence, society equilibrists, perform some very smart feats, which gains them loud applause; Lillie Langdon sings and dances in good style; William Bradshaw, comedian, has made a hit; and the up-to-date pictures are as popular as ever.

NORWICH.—HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. E. H. Bostock and F. W. Fitt; Manager, Mr. Councillor F. W. Fitt.—George Sheldon and company, which includes Messrs. Fred Levison, F. Rawson Buckley, John Hampden, and Reggie Connor, in the dramatic sketch Before the Dawn, excite interest and appreciation; Stewart and Morgan, in their musical turn, are successful; the Five Whiteleys display great ability in their acrobatic wire-walking and musical pot-pourri; the Zanfrellas are clever novelty equilibrists; Phil Percival is well received in his burlesque Sexton Blake; Joe Dale sings amusing songs; the Dancing Paceys are good harmonisers and expert dancers; and Tiny Arnold, a diminutive comedian, amuses; and the Hippo. Bioscope is entertaining.

THE NEST (Rosary-road).—Messrs. Goodman's pierrots excel themselves each week. Mr. Jack Bonny has a pleasing tenor voice and sings good songs; Mr. Eric S. John is well received; Mr. Leslie Sears sings exceedingly droll ditties; Miss Aileen Delmore pleases much; Miss Cissie Scott is warmly approved; and Miss Rosie Effingham sings choice songs. Mr. Fred Capron gives fine violin solos, and makes an able accompanist.

THEATRE DE LUXE, ST. ANDREW'S.—Manager, Mr. T. Hallesey.—The cinematograph continuous performance goes well here. The pictures are good, and there is a frequent change of programme.

NOTTINGHAM.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. Robert Arthur; Acting-Manager, Mr. Howard Finney.—Tom, Dick, and Harry makes amusing fare. Mr. George Unwin as the harassed General keeps the fun moving in capital style; Mr. C. H. Pullen makes a breezy and light-hearted Tom Stanhope; the Twins are amusingly played by Messrs. Leo St. Clair and Percival Jordan; Mr. F. E. Brennan is effective as Ned Moreland; and Mr. Grahame Herington scores as Dr. Wagner. Miss Rose Temple supplies an entertaining portrayal of Daisy Armitage, and a smart actress is seen in Miss Dorothy Payn in the part of Mrs. Winters. Miss Dorothy Lambert (Molly) and Miss Audrey Esmonds (Isabel) also deserve praise. A monologue entertainment by Miss Dorothy Payn, which precedes the farce, is warmly received.

GRAND THEATRE.—Manager, Mr. Harry J. Crane.—Monte Christo is excellently played by the stock company. Mr. Otto Minster's histrionic capabilities are shown to the best advantage in his depiction of Edmund Dantes. As Mercedes Miss Bessie Rignold plays with consummate skill. Miss Lilian Duncker acts naturally as Mlle. Danglars, and Mme. Noirtier is well represented by Miss Violet Agnew. Mr. George Venning strongly impersonates the Comte de Morcerf, and excellent work is done by Messrs. Horace Kenny (Abbé Faria), Herbert Morgan (Baron Danglars), and George Graham (Noirtier).

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Oswald Stoll; Acting-Manager, Mr. Albert C. Duncan.—Harry Roxbury's mirth-provoking sketch On the Track provides this versatile comedian ample opportunities for raising laughter. Harry Weldon's burlesque on Dick Turpin is genuinely funny. An interesting and skilful acrobatic entertainment by the Abdullah Arabs wins favour. The Brothers Egbert submit their smart knockabout business; the Findens present one of their amusing sketches; the electrical devices of the Marconis are well demonstrated; Fred Curran scores with his parodies; Winifred Ward achieves success with her songs; and the dancing of Dan Fraser is appreciated.

HIPPODROME.—Lessee and General-Manager, Mr. T. Allan Edwardes; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. F. Miller.—A strongly dramatic sketch, The Ace of Hearts, is admirably played by James Willard and company. Silbon's Cats are amazingly clever performers, and reflect the greatest credit on their trainer. The Lafaille Troupe of acrobats accomplish some difficult feats with neatness and precision. The Brothers Ethairien add an element of fun to their acrobatic tricks; the Markies produce musical sounds from bottles and glasses; Lillie Soutter sings in animated fashion; Tiny and Mite dance cleverly; Belrose and De Velin vocalise with considerable fervour; and Robb Wilton adds to the merriment.

NUNEATON.—PRINCE OF WALES'S.—Proprietors Theatre and Entertainments Co.; Managing-Director, Mr. A. F. Cross; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Brown.—A Soldier's Honour is being played here by Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kimberley's company. Mr. Will Hee effectively portrays the gallant Captain Deane; Mr. J. Dobson Clyde is well suited as Captain Gerald Temple; Mr. Fallowes Bassett is a powerful Henry Thornton; Mr. J. R. Boque gives a well-studied rendering of General Rochester; Miss Cissie St. Elmo as Cora Lee is a great success; Miss Isa Lyndon as Doreen Illingworth meets with well-merited approval; and Miss Edie Macklin as Jemima helps successfully in relieving the seriousness of the play.

PENTRE.—TIVOLI.—Sole Lessee, Mr. Will Stone; Resident-Manager, Mr. James Gunn.—An entire change of pictures is given here twice weekly, and results in good business. The whole proceeds of Wednesday's performances will be devoted to the funds of the local boy scouts.

WORKMEN'S HALL.—Manager, Mr. H. Salway; Secretary, Mr. Fred J. Jones.—In the Frozen North, A Friend in Need, and London Fish Supply are a few of an attractive picture programme. Ellis Share, refined comedian, pays a return visit, and fully sustains his reputation; Minnie scores a success with her gipsy songs.

(Continued on page 25).

NEIL KENYON
in
"THE ISLANDER,"
AT THE APOLLO THEATRE.

THE "INVASION" OF VAUDEVILLE.

Many causes are combining to give a wider scope, so to speak, to the vaudeville stage, and to rid it of that exotic banality which certainly was not unknown only a few years ago in "halls" of obscure and indifferent repute, and which harmed to no small degree the general reputation of the character of the average variety performance. Public opinion has, of course, acted greatly for the good in this respect; but we think that the migration of artists from the "legitimate" stage has also improved the condition of the music hall. We do not mean that such artists are necessarily successful on the new boards, some, indeed, having failed utterly to acclimatise their methods to their strange surroundings. But the invasion has been of benefit chiefly because it has taken the music hall traditions out of the groove into which they had been content to lie, and because it has forced this class of entertainment to move with the times. This is in itself very excellent. But we would go a step further, and suggest that much would be gained for all concerned if an invasion of the "legitimate" stage was made by our vaudeville artists. We say "all concerned," since in a give-and-take affair of this sort both sides would profit, the one learning from the other's method, and the public would have a higher standard of theatrical art. In Paris Mr. George Grossmith, jun., appears at the Folies Bergères, and in London Mr. Neil Kenyon is now playing the Pasha in The Islander at the Apollo Theatre. Let this system be extended.—Globe, May 24, 1910.

I cannot remember whether is was Marryat, or "Tom Cringle," or Louis Becke, or some other writer about salt water and coral islands who first brought me into touch with the travelling Scot promoted to local Royalty. At all events, one is glad to come across the type again—on the stage if not in home politics—when represented by so amusing an actor as Mr. Neil Kenyon. For though I hate specialising when there is much that is good around, the capital performance of this gentleman certainly gives The Islander that added interest which may make all the difference between hearty success and succès d'estime. But for one song in a kilt, which I should not be sorry to see revised, he carried me with him all the way, and in doing so seemed to brace up the rest like a tonic. . . . It is impossible to speak too appreciatively of the Makh Ali Khan of Mr. Kenyon. His performance is a triumph of humour, comedy, and character, in no single moment showing effort. —The Captious Critic in the Illustrated Sporting and Dramatic.

[Photo by Shankland.

MR. NEIL KENYON.

They do not get that kind of low comedy in The Islander, and one can only hope they will be persuaded to like what they do get, which is mainly Mr. Neil Kenyon in the character of a Scottish adventurer, who purports to be the Pasha of the island "somewhere in the Persian Gulf." Mr. Kenyon is funny in very much the same way in which a Pasha who is really a humorous Scotsman might be funny in real life. In the general musical comedy tradition, his part would be one of the wildest buffoonery. We all have our eccentricities, and one of my own is to prefer Mr. Neil Kenyon's part as it is. His Scottish humour is a very delightful thing—a think of rich quality. —Owen Stair in the Outlook, April 30, 1910.

The member of the cast whose engagement roused the most interest was Mr. Neil Kenyon, the famous Scottish comedian, who plays the part of the Pasha. Mr. Kenyon has a very distinct style of his own, far removed from that of any other musical comedy comedian, and it must be admitted that the entertainment derived from the Pasha was entirely due to Mr. Kenyon.—Musical Standard, April 30, 1910.

"The Islander," whose other name is Pasha Mirza Makh Ali Khan, made his first appearance at the Apollo Theatre on Saturday evening last. In spite of his high-sounding title the Pasha proved to be the most amusing Scot the stage has seen for many years. Mr. Neil Kenyon, who sustained the part, never overacted, or descended to the level of the low comedian; his quiet, if somewhat nervous manner, gives promise of even riper performance of the character.—The Queen, April 30, 1910.

The Pasha is Mr. Neil Kenyon, and although on Saturday evening he was nervous and somewhat ill at ease, his performance showed promise of something very good indeed. He played with a sort of benign sternness which was quite unaffected and quite new.—Morning Post, April 25, 1910.

The leading spirit of the company is Mr. Neil Kenyon, who appears for the most part to have supplied his own humour to the distinct profit of the piece.—The Bystander, May 4, 1910.

In regard to the acting, chief honours are due to Mr. Neil Kenyon, the Scottish Pasha. He does a great deal to make the play go along merrily.—Madame, May 7, 1910.

Mr. Neil Kenyon is a famous music hall entertainer, with an easy manner and a winning smile. He is a fine exponent of true Scots humour.—The Lady, May 5, 1910.

The quaintness of Neil Kenyon ought to ensure something of a run for this well produced show.—London Opinion, May 7, 1910.

There are many good parts, but the best is that of the Pasha. Mr. Neil Kenyon was, as might be expected, particularly amusing.—Court Journal, May 4, 1910.

Mr. Neil Kenyon is a host in himself.—Pelican, June 1, 1910.

ROYAL OPERA, COVENT GARDEN.

On Thursday, May 26, the Opera in Four Acts (in Italian) by Vincenzo Bellini, entitled

'LA SONNAMBULA"

La Sannambula was performed at Covent Garden on Thursday night, May 26, with Mme. Tetrazzini in the part of the sleep-walking heroine. The revival of Bellini's old opera, in which such famous artists as Mme. Patti, Albani, Minnie Hauk, and Gerster have appeared, was only undertaken for the simple reason that the part of Annina affords Mme. Tetrazzini abundant opportunity for the display of her unequalled powers in florid music; therefore the audience, who cared little for the other characters or the feeble libretto, were roused to great enthusiasm by Mme. Tetrazzini's scenas in the Bedroom scene and her wonderful singing of "Ah non giunge." Mr. John McCormack as Elvino was vocally excellent, and Mr. Edmund Burke equally so as the virtuous Il Conte Rodolfo. Mme Bérat played Teresa admirably, and the part of Lisa was cleverly undertaken by Mlle. Symiane, Signor Sampieri and Signor Zucchi appearing as Alessio and Un Notaro. Signor Campanini conducted, and secured a good ensemble of the familiar old work.

In the performance of Madama Butterfly, given on Friday night, May 27, a new tenor appeared as the heartless Pinkerton in Mr. Riccardo Martin, an American artist of repute, who created a most favourable impression by his fine voice and artistic acting Mlle. Destinn is unsurpassed in her pathetic study of Puccini's Japanese heroine, and being in fine voice on Friday night she held the audience enthralled in the sad closing scenes of the opera by her masterly singing and acting. Mlle. Symiane personated Suzuki, Cio-Cio-San's devoted attendant, and Signor Sammarco was, as usual, excellent as the kind-hearted Sharpless. Signor Zucchi proved very amusing as the marriage-broker Goro, while the parts of Il Principe Yamadori, Lo Zio Bonzo, and Il Commissario Imperiale were adequately filled by Signor Gianoli-Galletti, M. Morin, and Signor Sampieri. Mlle. Egener played Kate Pinkerton, Signor Pini the Registrar, and Miss Vito La Madre di Cio-Cio-San. Signor Campanini conducted.

Mr Riccardo Martin, who was so successful in Madama Butterfly on Friday, proved not less so in Faust, given on Saturday night, May 28, at Covent Garden. Mr. Martin, as the rejuvenated hero, sang Gounod's music with refinement and purity of tone. "Salut demeure" was rendered with real grace and expression, and well deserved the hearty applause. As an actor, also, the American artist distinguished himself, but it seemed strange that Mr. Martin, like Mr. Franz, should be so singularly unfortunate in his costume. Mme. Edvina again impersonated Marguerite with considerable charm, and the rest of the cast was the same as on the first night of Faust this season, the conductor again being M. Frigara.

La Bohème was given at Covent Garden on Monday night before a very large and fashionable audience, and Mme. Melba had a warm welcome on her return to Covent Garden after an absence of two years. At the conclusion of the first act the greatest enthusiasm prevailed, and nine recalls of the famous prima donna hardly satisfied her many admirers. It was a pleasure to note that Mme. Melba has returned to us with her pure beautiful voice in perfect condition, and as full and round as ever after twenty years' singing in opera and concerts. The character of Mimi has always been associated with Mme. Melba ever since Puccini's opera was first produced, and she sang with delightful ease and finish in the charming duet with the high C at the close of the first act. Mr. John McCormack as Rodolfo acted gracefully and sang "Che gelida manina" remarkably well and with poetic feeling. Signor Sammarco, Signor Marcoux, and Signor Malatesta as the Bohemians acted and sang with great spirit, and special praise must be awarded to Mlle. Symiane for her excellent singing of Musetta's pretty air, while the orchestra under Signor Campanini did full justice to Puccini's clever score.

ACTORS' ASSOCIATION.

Minutes of the council meeting held on Tuesday, May 31, at 32, Regent-street. Present: Mr. Cyril Cattley (in the chair), Mr. H. W. Mote (hon. solicitor), Messrs. E. Morgan, Chris. Walker, Murri Moncrieff, F. H. De Quincey, Robson Paige, F. Annerley, C. Hayden Coffin, Leonard Shepherd, C. F. Collings, Misses B. Chester, Rose Cazalet, Vita Spencer, Mildred Cottell, and Mr. D. Young (secretary).

The secretary read the minutes of the meeting held on the 24th ult., and the meeting confirmed and the chairman signed same.

The chairman read a letter from a member with reference to the circular lately issued, of which he complained that this was the first intimation he had had that his subscription was overdue. The secretary was instructed to acknowledge receipt of his letter, and to inform him that he had been advised in due course by the same method as other members, but to point out that, in any case, no intimation was legally necessary, as subscriptions were due automatically on Jan. 1 in every year.

Mr. Clarence Derwent tendered the report of his attendance before the organising committee of the Shakespeare Memorial National Theatre, and the council accorded him a vote of thanks.

The Finance Committee's report was read by Miss Chester and adopted.

Mr. Cattley resigned from the Finance Committee owing to his inability to attend until October, and Miss Cazalet was elected in his place.

The House Committee's report was tendered by Mr. Moncrieff, and the various suggestions contained therein were referred back to the committee for completion of estimates.

Mr. Cattley drew attention to a circular referring to the Annual Theatrical Sports, and on the motion of Mr. Coffin, seconded by Mr. Shepherd, the secretary was instructed to place a notice on the board with a view, if possible, to secure entries and further the selling of tickets.

The hon. solicitors reported progress in nine cases, and received further instructions.

Miss Chester suggested the advisability of supplying a "Benevolent Emergency Box," and offered to provide the same. After discussion, the matter was deferred until another meeting, in order that Miss Chester might consider some means of carrying out her suggestion. The secretary reported five engagements through the agency.

Ruhamah Catton and R. Ronald Ashby were elected; Albert Ward was reinstated; and Maud Robertson, Barbara Everest, and Joan Harcourt were nominated.

AT a time when most people are thinking of holidays a little invention by Mr. H. M. Beryl, treasurer of the Newcastle Theatre Royal, is worthy of note. What to do with the dog (says the Newcastle Journal) is a problem which invariably arises on the eve of the annual vacation, and for those who desire the family pet to travel with them, and at the same time obviate objections on the part of landladies, Mr. Beryl has provided a solution. It takes the form of a folding portable one-piece kennel, simple in construction, yet distinctly useful. The various parts are hinged and held together firmly by hooks. When it is desired to fold up the kennel the hooks are unfastened, the back and front fall back upon the floor of the kennel, the two halves of the roof fold downwards on the two sides, and the latter are turned down flat. Thus the kennel occupies a small compass, is easily handled, and, in short, possesses many advantages for travelling purposes.

"FASCINATING PEGGY."

Musical Farcical Comedy, in Two Acts, Produced at the Theatre Royal, Torquay, on Monday, May 23.

Christopher Scrubbs	MR. VICTOR A. CRAWFORD
Harry Ledville	MR. WALTER B. NUGENT
Jacques Berat	MR. BERT LAWSON
Lord Hassendene	MR. JAMES HAWKES
Taps	MISS NELLIE MORRIS
Sipple Kipple	MR. SYD WEST
James	MR. FRANK HARRIS
Billy	MR. CYRIL HOPE
Peggy	MISS MAY NORRIS
Viola Berat	MISS LESLIE WARNER
Tarabintha	MISS MAY LAARHOVEN
Feejee	MISS MADGE ARTHUR
Polly	MISS ZARA JEWELL
Rosie	MISS CLARE NEWTON
Betsy Benson	MISS DAISY STONE
Lady Marie	MISS FLORRIE LYNDON
Lady Betty	MISS LEONORA KAYE

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

The plot in this little play is centred round the life of Peggy, a country lass, who, though she knows it not, is the heiress to a large fortune, the property being fraudulently held by Mr. Ledville. Jacques Berat, an outlaw, discovers his secret, and under his threats Ledville enters into a compact to take charge of Berat's daughter, Viola, and bring her up in his own family as a lady, and thus secure Berat's silence. That worthy steals the documents relating to Peggy's identity, which have been in the care of Betsy Benson, the woman who has brought her up since her parents died; but he is stopped by his daughter, Viola, who obtains the papers and discovers, on reading them, that Peggy is the heiress of the fortune to which Harry Ledville, her foster brother, would otherwise be entitled on his father's death. She discloses this information to Harry, who makes up his mind to marry Peggy, and thus secure the fortune in any event. Peggy's affections are, however, in the keeping of young Mr. Hassendene, and a pretty little love story between these two is interwoven in the piece. Ledville's scheme to drug Hassendene's jockey in a race in which both are interested is moreover thwarted by the young girl. As soon as the loss of the papers relating to Peggy's identity is discovered by Betsy, she immediately reports the matter to P.C. Scrubbs, who then assumes the rôle of detective with a view to discovering the thief, and some amusing comedy, in which Scrubbs appears in numerous disguises, is the result. In the end Scrubbs tracks Ledville and his adopted sister just as their plot to kidnap Peggy seems to have met with success. The plotters are ordered to quit the country, and Peggy is restored to her lover, who by this time has inherited the title of Lord Hassendene.

The piece was presented by Mr. George Kirby's company. The principal part of Scrubbs was to have been taken by Mr. Frank Gala, but that gentleman was taken ill, and the company had to be rearranged at a few hours' notice. However, the artists acquitted themselves well in the difficult situation in which they found themselves. Miss May Norris made a charming study of Peggy; her singing was good and her free and easy manner quite attractive. Mr. James Hawkes as Lord Hassendene acted very well, and the duets sung by the pair were frequently applauded. Mr. Walter B. Nugent as Harry Ledville gave every satisfaction, presenting a very natural portrayal of the villain. Miss Leslie Warner as Viola Berat gave a faithful representation of a scheming, unscrupulous woman; and Mr. Bert Lawson was quite satisfactory as Jacques Berat. Miss Nellie Morris as Taps was well suited to the part, and really did exceedingly well; whilst as Kipple, the stage dude, Mr. Syd West made the most of his opportunities. Miss Daisy Stone was good as Betsy Benson, and sang with considerable power. The fun of the performance was almost entirely due to the amusing antics of Mr. Victor A. Crawford as Scrubbs, who, coming in at a moment's notice, did really well, his style and clever patter combining to make the part irresistibly quaint. The music is good, several of the songs being particularly tuneful and catchy. The orchestra was under the direction of Mr. Frank Corri.

MME. DONALDA'S CONCERT.

At Queen's Hall on Friday afternoon, May 27, a very large audience assembled for the concert given by Mme. Donalda, the esteemed prima donna of the Royal Opera. In the operatic music included in the programme Mme. Donalda had the support of the fine London Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Herr Arthur Nikisch. Gluck's aria from Iphigenia in Tauride and an aria from Nouguès' new opera Quo Vadis were beautifully sung, and, after a charming rendering of "Mi chiamano Mimi" from Puccini's La Bohème, Mme. Donalda was recalled four times to the platform. In a group of seven songs admirably accompanied on the piano by Mr. W. D. Murdosh, Carl Weber's "Das alte Lied" and "Im walde" were given, and Tosti's pretty song, "Love's way," while the audience were greatly pleased with "Chanson triste" (Duparc), and two attractive songs of Baron F. d'Erlanger, "L'Abesse" and "Chanson légère," the latter being so delightfully sung by Mme. Donalda that an encore was inevitable. Schubert's "Der Erlkonig," the last of the seven songs, did not suit the vocalist so well. During the afternoon Mme. Donalda received frequent applause, and was the recipient of many floral tributes from her admirers. The London Symphony Orchestra gave magnificent performances of the prelude and Liebestod from Wagner's Tristan and Isolda, Tschaikowsky's Fifth Symphony, and Weber's Euryanthe overture.

MR. PERCY FRENCH and Dr. Houston Collisson gave a "farewell" recital at Steinway Hall on Friday evening. As the services of the two Irish artists have been retained by Mr. Duff, of Daly's Theatre, New York, for a lengthy tour in the United States and Canada, they will not appear again in London for a considerable time.

THE first production in England of Richard Strauss's comic opera Feuersnot will take place at His Majesty's Theatre on the evening of Saturday, July 9.

There is no simpler, safer, or more agreeable preparation than

ENO'S

'FRUIT SALT'

THE OLD TIME, EVER-POPULAR HOUSEHOLD REMEDY FOR

Biliousness, Sick Headache, Errors in Diet (Eating or Drinking), Giddiness, Constipation, Thirst, Rheumatic or Gouty Poison, Feverish Cold with High Temperature and Quick Pulse, and Feverish Conditions generally. It proves beneficial in the early stages of Diarrhœa. Most valuable to Travellers, especially in hot countries.

CAUTION.—Examine the Capsule, and see that it is marked ENO'S 'FRUIT SALT,' otherwise you have the sincerest form of flattery—IMITATION.

Prepared only by J. C. ENO, Ltd., 'FRUIT SALT' WORKS, LONDON, S.E.

ACTORS' CHURCH UNION.

BISHOP OF SOUTHWARK AT THE QUEEN'S.

ELEVENTH ANNUAL REPORT.

The Lord Bishop of Southwark presided at the eleventh annual meeting of the Actors' Church Union, held by permission of Mr. H. B. Irving at the Queen's Theatre on Monday afternoon last.

In reviewing the past year's work of the Union his lordship said that they had completed the first decade of their Union. He had brought back from India the memory of a performance of The Dollar Princess at Calcutta. He had come away from the performance at the stroke of midnight, when the second act had not yet been begun. The Church and the stage had now more confidence in one another. All clerics were not of the type of the simple young man with the eyeglass and the lisp, nor yet of the type shown by the poster, with his sleeves rolled up his pugilistic arms—(laughter)—and they, the clergy, on their side, were not prepared to think actors were all "rips" and black sheep. The work of the Union was going forward slowly but satisfactorily, and it might in time be possible to arrange local conferences, in different parts of the country, to confer as to how the work of the Union might be improved. As the Union developed, according to its first simple and single intention—that of providing sympathetic chaplains in every place visited by members of the dramatic profession—it would almost inevitably happen that other things would come within its reach that it would be invited or tempted to do. But they must be careful how they extended their work, so as not to mar the usefulness of what had been done. Matters of a doubtful nature should be referred to the Committee.

His Lordship then read a letter from Mr. H. B. Irving, who regretted he was unable to be present.

Mr. Edward Compton moved the adoption of the report in a felicitous and amusing speech. He said his task resembled a game of billiards, where the manipulator knocked the various items or balls about as skilfully as he could, made great play with his "cannons" and Bishops, was always getting one in "off the red," or the "taken as read," accomplished sensational "breaks" in the mounting up of astounding figures, played great havoc, incidentally, in diving into the "pockets" of his audience, and, finally, after "cutting up the cloth," and the "sock and buskin" too, retired, much to his hearers' relief and his own, to what they had both so well deserved—"the long rest." With this reassuring report in his hands, however, billiards went by the board, and his task was "a mere bagatelle." It was a case of "roses, roses, roses all the way." The increased membership was so marked and so exceptional that there could be "no possible doubt whatever" of the existence of a firmly established and true union between the Church and the Stage. Whatever their political leanings, they were all Unionists, and so he christened this item the "Red Rose of England." The grand total of centres of work, flying their flag bravely all over London and the provinces, inevitably prompted him to allude to them as "Standard Roses." The kindly hospitality of prominent citizens and citizenesses here, there, and everywhere, taking the form of "At Homes," with the tea as the great draw, might not inaptly be described as tea-scented roses. Those "At Homes" where the juice of the grape and whiskies-and-sodas were intermixed with the Bohea—well, he had to sorrowfully characterise these as hybrid tea-scented roses, and regretted to say that of the two they were the more popular. Miss Clarke's promotion to a title irresistibly suggested a rose called "Her Majesty," especially as this was always described as being "clear, and bright, and very large." The ubiquitous secretary and treasurer, the Rev. Donald Hole, had done so much touring in the road, that he could not help alluding to him as that rare and energetic rose known to connoisseurs by the title of "The Rambling Rector." Lastly, the allusions to the kindness in addressing meetings of Mr. Edward Terry, Mr. Charles Manners, his wife, and his unworthy self were so flattering that they found themselves appearing "for the first time on any stage" as Blush Roses. After this horticultural effort, they would not be surprised if, in echoing the prayer contained in the last paragraph of the report, which trusts that the ordinary income will soon be sufficient to cover the ordinary expenses, he expressed a hope that they might continue to "flourish like the green bay tree," and that he might confidently look forward to the yearly adequate report as a "hardy annual."

The Bishop of Glasgow and Galloway seconded the adoption of the report, and said that he was in good company with Mr. Compton. He recalled a former good time he had had on a voyage to the Cape in Mr. Campton's company. Since the Union had been formed the actors and clergy in Glasgow had had the best of good times together. He thought that Mr. Edward Terry should be made Churchwarden of the Union. It was the duty of every member of the Church Union to do everything that Mr. Hole suggested. It was very easy to arrange services to suit the needs of the profession, and the results of the labours in his district were most gratifying. Members of the profession were in larger and larger numbers joining the Union. He had much pleasure in seconding the report.

REPORT FOR 1909-10.

By the Rev. DONALD HOLE.

I am pleased to be able to report that the membership of the Union continues to increase in a most satisfactory manner. At the last Annual Conference the numbers stood as follows:—Members, 430; Associates, 293; Chaplains, 236. Total, 956. At the present time we have:—Members, 578; Associates, 452; Chaplains, 260. Total, 1,290. The sustained increase in professional members is particularly encouraging. We first published a list of professional members in 1902, and we then congratulated ourselves that they had reached the grand total of 67! In the succeeding years they increased to 88, 125, 190, 243, 353, 430. The increase during the year which has just closed is the largest which has yet taken place, being 148, which means that on an average twelve new members have joined every month. These figures prove conclusively that our work is commending itself to the profession which we seek to serve. Equally gratifying is the steady increase in the number of centres in which the Union is at work. We started in 1899 with twelve centres. In 1900 we had 23, and the number increased successively to 68, 71, 89, 120, 142, 156. Last year we had 176 centres, and at the present time 223.

WORK IN LONDON.

During the past year special attention has been given to the organisation of the work in London. We have in the Metropolitan area fifty-four centres, but it was felt that for administrative purposes it would be better to group these centres into districts, each with its own president, committee, and hon. secretary. A scheme has been formed for twelve such districts, seven north of the river and five on the south. Eight of these are already in working order, namely—Central London, S.W. London, West London, N.W. London, North London, Lambeth, Wandsworth, and S.E. London.

These districts are all of about equal area, but they differ very considerably in other respects. The S.W. London district, comprising, as it does, Chelsea, Fulham, Kensington, Hammersmith, and part of Westminster, contains some 200 members and associates, and offers very considerable scope for the work of the Union.

In other districts the resident members and associates do not exceed fifty; while in four districts the membership is at present so small that it has been impossible to start any local organisation whatever.

The various local committees have arranged series of "At Homes," by which members and associates, living in the neighbourhood, have been brought into friendly social intercourse, and many who had not previously joined the Union have been brought into touch with us.

A very successful conversazione was held in the Royal Victoria Hall, Waterloo-road, on Oct. 14, 1909, at the invitation of Miss Cons and Miss Baylis, when the Bishop of Southwark was present.

An attempt is being made to arrange Corporate Communions in each district for those members who are Churchmen, and Special Services in connection with the Union were held during Lent and Advent at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, the preacher being the Rev. Stephen Barrass, A.C.U. Chaplain for West Central London.

Miss Clarke has ceased to be hon. assistant secretary, and has been given the title of hon. lady visitor and correspondent—a title which it was felt better described the special work in which she is engaged. She continues her monthly "At Homes" with the same success which has attended them in former years, and the Union owes much to her untiring energy and enthusiasm.

WORK IN THE PROVINCES.

The Union was founded for the purpose of bringing Churchmen and Churchwomen while on tour into closer touch with the life of the Church, and it is therefore in the provinces that we must look for the carrying-out of the Union's special work. During the past year I have been rendered free to devote my time exclusively to the organisation of the A.C.U. I have held meetings in the following towns:—Darlington, Barrow-in-Furness, Harrogate, Douglas, I.O.M., Hull, Manchester, Edinburgh, Bristol, Bath, Cardiff, Worcester, Sunderland, and Burnley. The results following from these meetings have been most encouraging; interest has been stimulated, and numbers of new associates have joined the Union. The formation of local branches is a very important feature of our work. The associates who join not only subscribe to the funds, but take an active part in promoting the objects of the Union by offering hospitality and giving a friendly welcome to the theatrical companies visiting the various towns.

In this connection I must mention that the Union is greatly indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Compton, Mr. Edward Terry, and Mr. Charles Manners for their kindness in addressing meetings in various towns which they visited while they were on tour, and I should like to express a hope that their example may be followed by other actor-managers who are members of the Union.

I have preached for the A.C.U. in St. Mary's Cathedral, Glasgow; St. Mark's, Leicester; St. Augustine's, Bristol; and St. Barnabas, Tunbridge Wells; and I have visited a good many centres even where I have been unable to arrange for a meeting or sermon.

As I have gone about in the provinces I have been struck by how much the Union is already doing, and by how much yet remains to be done. The mere fact that we have in all the chief theatrical centres of Great Britain and Ireland a broad-minded and sympathetic priest to whom travelling members of the Union can be commended, and to whom application can be made in special cases of spiritual need, is surely something.

In some centres the work which the chaplains are carrying on is beyond all praise, and I frequently have letters from members of the profession expressing their warmest appreciation. A practical proof of this appreciation is afforded by the numbers who join the Union while on tour, through being brought in touch with the chaplains. One man, in applying for membership, says that he thinks the A.C.U. the "grandest thing connected with the profession." Another writes of the loneliness of the theatrical life and of the enjoyment he has derived from the chaplain's visits. Another writes a warm letter telling me of the kindness his wife had received when left behind sick in a great city where she was an entire stranger.

A young lady, who was already a member of the Union, writes to tell me how she and two other members of her company had been invited to tea at the house of the Bishop of Glasgow, and how in the course of conversation they happened to mention that they had never been confirmed. The chaplain at once made arrangements that they should be prepared at the next town to which they went, and the Bishop of St. Andrew's travelled from Perth for the special purpose of administering the sacred rite. These are merely examples of a large number of cases in which the Union has been of practical use.

But in other instances I fear we must confess that very little is being done beyond visits by the chaplains to the members whose visits I notify. This is partly owing to pressure of other duties, but I think that it also arises, in many instances, from not knowing exactly how to set about the work. Chaplains have often expressed to me a desire to be useful in any way they can to their temporary parishioners, but they tell me that they really do not know how to set about it. This impresses upon me the necessity for holding periodically, in various local centres, conferences of chaplains, in which they may exchange ideas and give the results of their experience. This proposal is not a new one, but time has only shown the increased necessity for its realisation, and I should like to ask all the chaplains to do their utmost to co-operate when I am able to lay a definite scheme before them, as I hope to do in the coming autumn.

Two things have struck me very favourably. One is the extremely cordial and friendly terms which almost universally exist between the chaplains and the local theatrical managers.

The other is the help which is rendered to the Union, in a quiet and unostentatious way, by many of the rank and file of our members. I desire to speak of this with the highest appreciation. Not only do they bring other members of their companies into touch with the chaplains, and induce them to join the Union, but, in places where there are at present no chaplains, they render the most valuable assistance by calling on the local clergy, interesting them in the work, and putting me in touch with suitable priests. It would be invidious to mention names, and these quiet workers would be the last to wish it, but I cannot miss this opportunity of saying how much the A.C.U. owes to their energy and enthusiasm as they travel up and down the country.

REPORTS FROM THE CENTRES.

Amble (Rev. E. R. Dawe).—"I am glad to say that, after an afternoon in my study, one member of the profession has been put into touch with the A.C.U. with a view to the possibility of taking Holy Orders."

Belfast (Rev. Dr. Murphy).—"I have given more time to the work this year than I ever did in any year before, and yet sometimes two or three weeks pass without my getting into touch with members of the 'company.' Two ladies very kindly came forward to assist me in the work at the time of the Christmas pantomime, by asking the girls of the ballet and chorus out to tea. These ladies have now a scheme in their minds of having an 'At Home' once a week for members of any company sojourning in Belfast. There was a good deal of illness during the year, and here the work of the Union is very valuable. I have never received a single rebuff since I began the work, and I have made friends in the profession who are very dear to me."

Bristol (Rev. W. H. McK. Caldwell).—"A drawing-room meeting was held at the vicarage in October last. Three of the theatrical managers out of four (the fourth was away from Bristol) attended and spoke most favourably on behalf of the A.C.U. About forty-five attended. It was suggested by one of the managers and supported by the other managers, that a local committee should be formed in Bristol for furthering the aims of the A.C.U."

Burnley (Rev. B. Winfield).—"Theatrical managers and members of the companies on tour welcome the visits of the hon. chaplain, but there is only very rarely an opportunity offered him for providing special religious services which would be gladly supplied. . . . The principal event of the year was the visit of the organising secretary to a drawing-room meeting which I was able to provide, and which the Lord Bishop of Burnley kindly held at Reedly Lodge. The Bishop, Dr. Henn, presided. There was a representative attendance, including members of Mr. Cecil H. Woodhouse's theatrical company, then in Burnley, and an influential local committee was formed after addresses by the Bishop, the Rev. Donald Hole, and myself. . . . The members of the local committee are prepared to show social courtesy, as opportunity arises, and Dr. Smirthwaite-Black and Dr. Stephens to act as hon. medical officers to members of the A.C.U. requiring treatment in Burnley."

Cardiff (Rev. H. A. Cox).—"The event of the year was the meeting held in October, in St. Dyfrig's Hall, which was addressed by Rev. Donald Hole, organising secretary of the A.C.U. About seventy persons were present, mostly Cardiff residents, but some from the Veronique company, which was playing at the New Theatre. Invitations were sent to all the theatres, to companies, and local managers. Great interest was aroused in the work of the A.C.U. and a local committee was formed. Many members of the companies have been visited and entertained in friendly fashion. Many have attended St. Dyfrig's Church. Some have been helped in circumstances of poverty and distress."

Darlington (Rev. T. C. Gobat).—"Baptised two children of actors passing through Darlington. Two At Homes held each week at houses of ladies who are members of local committee. . . . Two ladies attend the theatre each Monday or Tuesday, and generally invite members of the profession to the weekly At Homes. A successful meeting was held in July at Mrs. Amos' house, which was addressed by the Rev. D. Hole, and aroused much interest in the work of the Union."

Glasgow (Rev. A. C. Laughlin).—"During the year under review, over and beyond the routine chaplain's work of visiting and, where possible, entertaining the members of the profession during their brief stay in Glasgow in which connection I most gratefully received the assistance rendered by the Bishop of Glasgow and the Hon. Mrs. Campbell, two very well attended public meeting were arranged for. These were addressed respectively by Mr. Edward Terry and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Compton. Each speaker made a powerful appeal for the interest of the public in the life of the actors. Mr. Edward Terry's meeting secured a large number of associates, and Mrs. Compton's special address invited the local branch to undertake regular weekly At Homes, which have been held since the beginning of March. Cards inviting members have been hung in the theatres, &c., and each week a personal visit is made in order to invite those acting to attend. Considerable success has attended this new departure.

Ledbury (Rev. F. W. Parkinson).—"The work, although in a very small way, is very encouraging. In two cases of great trouble, by the death of a wife, the chaplain has been told how much a friend has been appreciated at such a time. I would suggest that the Union have branches in such small towns as ours, i.e., 5,000 inhabitants, as the lodgings scheme is most useful in such cases, and it is the smaller companies, playing one night, that need often a friend."

Newcastle-on-Tyne (Rev. C. G. Hall).—"I am intending . . . to circulate a card in the lodgings saying that I am at home to members of the A.C.U. on Sunday evening at nine o'clock. I generally have some fairly decent music at that time, and two or three actors have told me that they think the suggestion a good one."

Salisbury (Rev. Canon Bush).—"All the theatrical managers I have met responded most cordially to any civility or hospitality shown to members of the profession. I would suggest that lists of lodging houses be placed in the hands of local stationmasters, for companies often arrive in the town on a Sunday, when the hall is closed and members cannot see the list hung up in the dressing-rooms; and that members be told in this case to apply to the station-master. This is done here. . . . Since the beginning of this season, September, 1909, we have entertained at afternoon tea 108 members of the profession, and if they are here for a Sunday, seats are provided for them in the Cathedral. I always make a point of taking parties round the Cathedral, and often they come to the daily offices there."

Southampton (Rev. J. W. Danbury).—"I endeavour to see something of each company each week. . . . I have not visited the lodgings of so many, partly from a feeling that the members do not like me to do this. . . . What seems most acceptable to them is to speak to them at the theatre and invite them to call on me."

Warrington (Rev. E. C. Carleton).—"The managers all very courteous, and give me every facility to meet actors. I have visited fifty companies, and have had very hearty receptions from them. They did not appear to know the A.C.U. and were very pleased to hear of it; several joined. I find it very useful, and so do members of the profession, to send a list of the lodgings to the company in advance. The manager of the theatre gives me a private list of engagements, and I then send to each of the artists the list a fortnight before they come. This they are grateful for."

Wigan (Rev. W. E. Kingsbury).—"Theatrical managers continue friendly and send theatre and music-hall bills regularly to me for the coming week, and furnish the name of town to write to the previous week to the incoming company. Visited thirty-three theatrical companies (besides music-hall artists), and met 315 members of the profession, of whom 293 were new acquaintances. . . . . A.C.U. members coming to Wigan still only occasional, but increasing, and an increasing number of the profession have asked about membership, and not a few have joined. Have had inquiries from members of the Jewish and other faiths about membership if their religious convictions would be respected. . . . Several parties of companies have given afternoon entertainments at the workhouse and Royal Infirmary. I continue to notice a fair number of visitors at Evensong, &c., and a few at the Celebrations. Have been asked to advise and help two men at different times this year, one a Japanese, with a view to Confirmation or instruction in the Faith. Also a newly married couple, married in a registry office (apparently because the rules of Banns are more easily relaxed than at the Church), asked for, and received the Church's blessing. . . . There is undoubtedly great waste of effort and of experience through local chaplains having no means officially of exchanging ideas with other chaplains by means of occasional district conferences. One hears occasionally through chance members of companies of capital methods which might and should be common property. A quarterly news sheet, too, with lists of new members and other information, would do much to consolidate the A.C.U. and its members."

FINANCE.

In an organisation such as the A.C.U. it is unfortunately impossible to ignore financial considerations. If the present rate of expansion is to be maintained a considerable increase in funds will be necessary.

A Finance Committee has been formed to consult as to the best methods of raising money and to control the expenditure, and it is hoped that after the conference the name of an hon. treasurer will be announced.

The secretary's salary is partly met by fees for "Sunday Duty," which go to the general fund; but, even with the strictest economy, the bills for printing, postage, and travelling are bound to be very heavy, and must go on increasing in proportion to the expansion of the work.

The balance-sheet for 1909 shows total receipts of £399 5s. 7d., as against £269 3s. 3d. for 1908. The expenditure was £343 3s. as against £192 16s. 8d.

The subscriptions of members and associates during 1909 amounted to £127 16s., an increase of £23 10s. 1d. on the previous year. But this would not have gone very far towards meeting our liabilities had it not been for the generous outside aid which the Union has received in the form of special matinées.

A matinée was given on Nov. 16 under the direction of Mrs. Edward Compton, at the Coronet Theatre, Notting Hill, kindly lent by Mr. Robert Arthur. Many prominent members of the profession gave their services, and a balance was handed to the treasurer of £106 1s. 8d.

Best thanks are also due to Mr. Norman V. Norman and his company, who kindly gave a matinée performance of Caste at the West Pier, Brighton (lent by the directors of the West Pier Co.), which resulted in a balance of £17 12s. 2d.

The other chief items of income during the year were "Collections in Church," £14 3s. 6d., "Collections at Meetings," £10 12s. 6d.; and "Sunday Duty," £45 19s.

Grateful as we must be for the help so generously accorded to us by way of special entertainments, which has enabled us to begin each year with a substantial balance in hand, the financial position of the Union can hardly be considered as entirely satisfactory until our ordinary income (derived from subscriptions, collections, &c.) is sufficient to cover our ordinary working expenses.

TREASURER'S ACCOUNT.

Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, 1909.

Receipts.

Dr.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
To Balance, Jan. 1, 1909		76 6 7
,, Subscriptions and Donations		127 16 0
,, Church Offertories—
Leeds Parish Church	0 4 5
St. Lawrence's, Reading	0 2 6
St. Augustine's, Bristol	2 12 4
St. Mary Abbot's, Kensington	8 4 4
St. John's, Sunderland	0 2 3
St. Barnabas, Tunbridge Wells	2 17 7
		14 3 5
,, Collections at Meetings—
Annual Conference	8 1 5
Hull	0 15 0
Sydenham	1 16 1
		10 12 6
,, Matinées—
Coronet Theatre	106 1 8
West Pier, Brighton	17 12 2
		123 13 10
,, Sunday Duty		45 19 0
,, Sale of Literature		0 14 3
		£399 5 7

Expenditure.

Cr.	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
By Printing and Stationery		82 17 8
,, Travelling Expenses		37 8 8
,, Postage and Telegrams		34 16 11
,, Clerical Assistance		16 13 4
,, Secretary's Salary		133 6 8
,, Miss Clarke—
Travelling	9 0 0
Postage and Telegrams	6 11 10
		15 11 10
,, Telephone		1 18 8
,, Reporting and Typewriting		5 1 4
,, Expenses of Meetings		1 7 0
,, Sundries		5 8 1
,, Directories and Time Tables		1 9 10
,, Press Cutting Agency		1 1 0
,, Emergency		4 0 0
,, Advertisements		2 2 0
,, Cash in hand		56 2 7
		£399 5 7
1910. Jan. 1.—To Balance, Cash in hand		56 2 7

Examined with vouchers and found correct,
DOUGLAS STEWART.

Jan. 20, 1910.

MATINEE AT CORONET THEATRE, NOTTING HILL.

Nov. 16, 1909.

Receipts.

Dr.	£ s. d.
To Theatre takings	78 8 3
,, Seats sold by Mrs. Compton	40 13 9
,, Tea and Programmes	14 7 2
,, Donation from Mrs. Compton towards expenses	8 0 0
	£141 9 2

Expenditure.

	Cr. £ s. d.
By Allen and Son for Printing	10 0 0
,, Theatre Expenses (Staff, Gas, and Advertising)	10 10 0
,, Gratuities	2 7 6
,, Mrs. Compton's Expenses (Stamps, &c.)	13 0 3
,, Balance handed to Treasurer	106 1 8
	£141 9 2

MATINEE AT WEST PIER, BRIGHTON.

Oct. 12, 1909.

Receipts.

Dr.	£ s. d.
To Theatre takings	23 8 6
,, Programmes	1 11 0
	£24 19 6

Expenditure.

	Cr. £ s. d.
By Disbursements, viz.:—
West Pier Co. (Tickets, Postage, and Orchestra)	2 7 10
,, Mr. Norman V. Norman for Printing	1 10 0
,, Brighton Herald for Programmes and Circulars	2 13 6
,, Advertisements	0 16 0
,, Balance handed to Treasurer	17 12 2
	£24 19 6

Mr. Cyril Maude said that he never liked Glasgow, but after having listened to the remarks of the Bishop of Glasgow he wished he was there that minute. He proposed the re-election as president of the Bishop of Southwark. He was only an actor and the Bishop was only a Bishop, but they were old Carthusians, and he was delighted that the Bishop had done so much for the Union. The actors were in the position of the naughty boy, who had been slapped and put in the corner, and had then been offered a piece of cake to be good, and that possibly was why the rapprochement between clergy and actors had been so slow, but there was no doubt that there was now a feeling of gratitude for the endeavour to remove the old-time estrangement that existed between the Church and Stage.

Mr. Charles J. Cameron said that but for Bishop Talbot there would be no Actors' Union at the present day. At one time the Union was very much on the wobble. The Church were afraid of it, and the Stage looked askance at it. It was Bishop Talbot's encouragement that gave the Union the support it needed.

The Bishop of Southwark was unanimously elected president for the ensuing year.

Next the Rev. Prebendary Pennefather was re-elected as vice-president and chairman of committee for the coming year.

The following vice-presidents were re-elected: Rt. Rev. the Lord Bishop of London, Rt. Rev. the Lord Bishop of Birmingham, Rt. Rev. the Lord Bishop of Ripon, Rt. Rev. the Lord Bishop of Glasgow and Galloway, Rt. Rev. the Lord Bishop of Argyll and the Isles, Rt. Rev. the Lord Bishop of Southampton, Rt. Rev. Lord Bishop of Burnley and Hull, Sir Charles Wyndham, Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree, Mr. Robert Arthur, Mr. Edward Compton, Mr. Ben Greet, Mr. Martin Harvey, Mr. H. B. Irving, Mr. Charles Manners, Mr. Cyril Maude, Mr. Edward Terry.

The committee for the ensuing year will be as follows: Rev. C. W. Alington, Rev. J. Stephen Barrass, Miss C. Chambers, Miss Clarke, Rev. William Cree (President of the Earl's Court Branch, A.C.U.), Rev. H. F. Davidson, Mrs. H. R. Gamble, Rev. Wynn Healey, Mrs. Donald Hole, Miss Louise Stopford (founder of the Stage Needlework Guild), Mr. Chas. Coborn, Miss Lilian Baylis, Miss Lilian Braithwaite, Miss Phyllis Broughton, Mr. Charles J. Cameron, Mrs. Carson (founder of the Theatrical Ladies' Guild and Actors' Orphanage Fund), Mrs. Edward Compton, Miss Winifred Emery, Miss Harriet Greet, Mr. Fewlass Llewellyn, Miss Eva Moore, Mr. Chris. Walker.

The Rev. Donald Hole was re-elected organising secretary and treasurer. He is to be assisted in subscription-getting and the keeping of accounts by Mr. G. Munroe Miller. As before, the hon. lady correspondent and visitor is Miss E. G Clarke.

The Rev. A. C. Laughlin said they had compiled a list of lodgings for actors and actresses, personally guaranteed and ones which none would be ashamed to stay at. When he came across fresh members of the profession he asked them to recommend good lodgings, and the recommendation being verified, the address was added to the list. Members of the profession were sent regularly printed lists of the whereabouts of the established churches in Glasgow. They once had a dance at the Bishop's house with members of the profession. There was no piano, but there was a melodeon, and he had turned it himself. He advocated the establishment of weekly At Homes to bring clergy and stage together.

NEW PLAYS AT ALBERT HALL.

"UNCLE ROBERT'S AIRSHIP."

Farcical Comedy in Three Acts, by G. E. Jennings, Produced on Tuesday, May 31.

Robert Horatio Bumpus	Mr. Whitford Kane
Muriel	Miss Muriel Dole
Trixie	Mrs. Adrian Ross
Miss Pringle	Miss Margaret Murray
Arnold Bird	Mr. Ernest Young
Alfred Tucker	Mr. Harold Chapin
Norwood	Miss Muriel Vox

Two plays from the same pen were presented for the first time at the West Theatre of the Royal Albert Hall on Tuesday afternoon. The writer is Miss G. E. Jennings, who may be remembered as the authoress of What Free Trade Did for Bill, a comedy which has long travelled the country in the interests of Tariff Reform. The more important piece was a farcical comedy called Uncle Robert's Airship, which dealt in amusing fashion with the rage of the hour—and, be it said, of the future. Much of the humour of the piece, it must be confessed, escaped us, but it kept a full house in hearty laughter throughout and the authoress at the close received an enthusiastic call and a perfect deluge of bouquets. The farce has several well-conceived situations and comic curtains, to obtain which, however, three acts have to be filled out with incidents often wearisome and undistinguished by originality—as, for instance, when a miserly old man reckons up his household expenses, and when a sprightly young girl plays the ghost on a usurping relative. Properly condensed, the piece might make a serviceable one-act farce. Its three acts are at present concerned with the misadventures of Robert Horatio Bumpus, who believes in Spiritualism and takes himself seriously as an aviator. In order to gain money to build an airship he has appropriated the legacy which he held in trust for his nieces Trixie, a volatile young lady scarcely out of her teens, and Muriel, who is engaged to her uncle's assistant, Arnold Bird. Trixie is herself in love with Arnold, and takes the privilege of youth to propose to him, but on being rejected determines to forward the lovers' marriage, which is delayed because Bumpus will not increase his niece's allowance. To force him to consent, Trixie manages to get him suspended in mid-air in his airship on Wimbledon Common, a position from which he is rescued with the machine encircling his neck, without, however, having made the concession required. Trixie's next plan is to organise a table-turning séance, in which Bumpus is made to believe that the spirit Yashmak orders him to allow his niece to marry; but here again Trixie fails, for the message is taken to apply to Bumpus himself, who immediately offers his hand to his niece's elderly companion. Meanwhile Muriel's affections have turned towards Alfred Tucker, a very "proper" young man who has long languished for her, so that when Trixie impersonates the ghostly "Yashmak," and thus compels Bumpus to yield up his ill-gotten gains and consent to Muriel's wedding, the young girl is once again at fault. The rejected Arnold, however, finds consolation in Trixie herself, and before the assembled household, who are brought from their beds, Bumpus is made to promise a thousand a year to his nieces.

The embarrassments of Bumpus were amusingly borne by Mr. Whitford Kane, who caused repeated laughter. Mrs. Adrian Ross, young and prepossessing, was admirably suited to the part of Trixie, and kept the piece alive by her vivacity and high spirits Miss Margaret Murray was conspicuously successful as a prim old maid, enhancing the part by many artistic touches of comedy. Mr. Harold Chapin gave his own droll individuality to the rôle of Alfred Tucker, and took part in the neatest bit of comedy in the piece. Miss Muriel Dole was a handsome and stately Muriel; and Mr. Ernest Young looked and played the lover to perfection.

Earlier in the afternoon was produced a sketch by the same author entitled,

"BETWEEN THE SOUP AND THE SAVOURY."

The Cook	Miss Margaret Murray
The Parlourmaid	Miss Maude Buchanan
The Kitchenmaid	Mrs. Adrian Ross

There is something pathetic in the story of a homely but romantic kitchenmaid who, tired of the taunts of her fellow-servants, purloins a couple of her young mistress's love-letters and reads them to the cook as her own, in order to prove that she has a sweetheart. There is a good deal, too, that is funny, chiefly in the remarks of a chic parlourmaid with decided views on the character of master and mistress. In that part Miss Maude Buchanan scored brilliantly, making a smart appearance and delivering her lines with such point as to make them doubly effective. Mrs. Adrian Ross played sympathetically, but partly defeated the author's intention by making her "slavey" by no means uncomely; and Miss Margaret Murray gave every satisfaction as the cook.

ACTORS' ORPHANAGE FUND.

FOURTEENTH ANNUAL MEETING.

The satisfactory condition of the Actors' Orphanage Fund was reflected in a number of appreciative speeches at the fourteenth annual meeting held at the Playhouse on Friday, the 27th ult. There was a crowded attendance. The Right Hon. Lord Alverstone, K.B., G.C.M.G., presided, and among those present on the stage were Lady Tree, Mr Cyril Maude (the president of the fund), Mr. George Alexander, Mr. Harry Nicholls, Mr. Fred Wright, sen., Miss Irene Vanbrugh, Miss Lena Ashwell, Miss Phyllis Broughton, Mr. Alfred Lester, Miss Lilian Braithwaite, Miss Gertrude Warden, Miss Carlotta Addison, Miss Marie Lohr, Mr. Fred Terry, Mr. Sydney Valentine, Mr. J. Fisher White, Mr. Henry Ainley, Mr. Aubrey Smith, Mr. Lyn Harding, and Mr. A. J. Austin, hon. sec.; Miss Vane Featherston, Miss Sydney, Miss Ada Blanche, Miss Fairbrother, Miss Helen Ferrers, Miss Constance Hyem, Miss Cicely Richards, Mr. Charles Cruickshanks, Miss Mabel Hewitt, and Mr. J. H. Thorburn.

The report and balance-sheet following were taken as read:—

BALANCE-SHEET FOR THE YEAR ENDED DEC. 31, 1909.

INCOME AND EXPENDITURE ACCOUNT.

	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
To Receipts—
Subscriptions and Donations	546 10 10
Collecting Boxes, less Commission	103 10 3
Tax on Free Admissions..	73 18 6
Benefit Performances (including Botanic Gardens Fête, £2044 2s. 10d.)	2115 3 6
Sundry Interests	0 7 0
Sale of Autographs, &c...	28 18 5
		2868 8 6
,, Bank Deposit Interest ...		23 13 2
,, Interest on Investments:—
2½% Annuities	23 17 0
2½% Metropolitan Consolidated	118 11 0
3% Metropolitan Consolidated	6 2 0
India 3% Stock	63 0 0
Transvaal 3% Stock	82 16 6
	294 6 6
Less—Shone Trust amount returned	7 5 2
		287 1 4
		£3179 3 0
By Maintenance, &c., of Children—	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
Clothing at Croydon	175 1 2
Education Fees	18 6 0
Laundry	40 6 4
Contract for Maintenance	1000 0 0
B. Sidebotham	16 12 2
Alice Buss	26 17 0
Special Grants and Outfits: Grace Byrne, Cazaley Moore Cowland, less repaid	24 6 8
		1301 9 4
,, Secretary's Postage and Travelling	11 5 11
,, Printing and Stationery ..	13 0 3
,, Advertising	9 11 6
,, Sundry Expenses (including Croydon Sundries)..	9 2 4
,, Office Rent, Lighting, &c.	12 10 0
,, Assistance for Hon. Secretary	40 0 0
,, Doctor's Fee	10 10 0
		106 0 0
,, Balance, being Excess of Income over Expenditure for the Year		1771 13 8
		£3179 3 0

LIABILITIES.

	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
To Sundry Creditors—
Stamps	1 5 11
Stationery	3 6 3
Re A. Buss	13 10 6
Clothing	20 3 4
Laundry	4 0 0
Petty Cash	1 16 10
		44 2 10
,, Capital Account—
Balance as at Jan. 1, 1909	11043 0 7
Add—Excess of Income over Expenditure, for the year ended Dec. 31, 1908	1771 13 8
		12814 14 3
		£12858 17 1

ASSETS.

	£ s. d.	£ s. d.
By Investments (at cost)—....
Met. Con. Stock (2½%)	4487 2 0
Met. Con. Stock (3%).....	180 0 0
Annuities 2½%....1000 0 0
Less—Reserve for Redemption 45 7 11
	954 12 1
India 3% Stock	2037 1 0
Transvaal 3% Stock	3999 3 0
		11657 18 1
,, Cash in Hand—
On Deposit	£50 0 0
On Garden Party Account	55 7 6
On Current Account	240 11 4
Clothing Account	2 6 4
		1148 5 2
,, Interest on Investments (accrued)—
Met. Con. Stock 2½%	9 8 4
Annuities 2½%	5 7 8
Met. Con. Stock 3%	1 5 9
India 3%	15 15 0
Transvaal 3%	20 6 6
		52 3 3
,, Income Tax Recoverable		0 10 7
		£12858 17 1

We have compared the above balance-sheet with the books and vouchers of the fund, and certify the same to be in accordance therewith. We have also verified the securities.

CLARK, BATTAMS, LANHAM, and CO.,
Hon. Auditors, Chartered Accountants.
7, St. Mildred-court, Bank, London, E.C.
March 17, 1910.

REPORT FOR THE YEAR ENDING DEC. 31, 1909.

Your Committee have the pleasure of submitting the annual statement for 1909.

The total receipts amount to £3,179 3s., the expenditure to £1,407 9s. 4d., leaving a credit balance of £1,771 13s. 8d.

This very satisfactory state of affairs is due largely to the unprecedented success of the garden party held at the Botanical Gardens, and the Committee avail themselves of this opportunity of tendering their grateful thanks to the hon. secretary, Mr. Anslow J. Austin, and his fellow-workers for their unwearied efforts on behalf of the fund.

Carrying out the scheme, approved by the Annual General Meeting in May, further progress has been made with the housing of the children under the Committee's care. They are now living at 32 and 34, Morland-road, East Croydon, under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ansell. The children have access to the excellent elementary and secondary education provided by the authorities of Croydon, the cost to the fund being only trifling, and this enables them to mix with other children—an inestimable advantage. They are thus living the usual home and school life of ordinary children. A playing field—at a merely nominal rent—has also been procured.

This arrangement has the advantage of keeping the children more directly under the personal control and supervision of the members of the committee. They have paid frequent visits to the home and schools, and are convinced that everything is in a highly satisfactory condition.

Many members of the profession, not on the Committee, have shown great interest in and practical sympathy with our work by visits of inspection, by subscriptions, and by many valuable presents to the homes. The Executive feel satisfied that a great work has been accomplished in giving these orphan children as far as possible the advantages of a home life where they will feel as little as possible that their lot is different from that of other children.

The grateful thanks of the Committee are due to all subscribers, and in particular to Mr. George Gray, the Rev. Arthur Brinckman, Lord Burnham, Mrs. D'Oyly Carte, and Mr. Eric Lewis. The Committee, while thanking all past subscribers, urgently begs for increased efforts in this direction.

The scheme of collecting a penny per week from every actor and actress in the country is steadily spreading, and has resulted this year in the substantial amount of £100. This will, your Committee hope, eventually become a permanent source of income to the fund.

The sale of autographs continues to add to our funds, and in this connection the Committee offer the warmest thanks to Miss Julia Neilson, Mr. Fred Terry, Mr. Cyril Maude, &c.

In conclusion, the Committee's most grateful thanks are due to the Right Hon. the Right Rev. Lord Bishop of London, who presided at the last general meeting held at the Playhouse, by kind permission of Cyril Maude; to Messrs. Clark, Battams, Lanham, and Co., for auditing the books and preparing the balance-sheet; to the acting hon. treasurer, the Rev. Arthur Brinckman; and to Mr. Anslow J. Austin, hon. secretary.

The RIGHT HON. CHAIRMAN, in moving the adoption of the report, said it was an extremely satisfactory one. The fact that it was of such a favourable character was due largely to the great efforts of those who had assisted this excellent charity during past years, and he hoped it would be an inducement to supporters to continue their efforts. That was not by any means his first appearance on the stage, but he absolutely declined to state the part he played when he appeared on previous occasions. (Laughter.) He was glad to be able to speak a word or two on behalf of the children. How dull this life would be without children! How poor would literature be if the history of Tiny Tim had never been written, if there had never been a Jackanapes or a Little Lord Fauntleroy, or if there had never been such a book as "Misunderstood." They knew how the presence of a little child seemed to refine and elevate the atmosphere, to check the evil word and often the evil thought. Therefore, the cause of little children who were in want ought to appeal to everyone who was prosperous. There was no profession to which the beauty of home life more appealed, in his judgment, than to the theatrical profession. They knew how difficult it was for actors and actresses to arrange their domestic matters in the same way as other people who had not the call of the public constantly on them, and they knew, too, how often it occurred to them, as to others, that the terrible sorrow of death came before provision could be made for the children. It was for those children that this fund provided, and it provided for them in such a way that they were really looked after as little children, and had their joys and happiness. What an intense relief it must be to a father who found himself stricken down, with no prospect of recovery, that his children would not be left to want and suffering. This charity provided, in cases of necessity, a home where children enjoyed the free and happy life of childhood. If there was any cause that should appeal to members of that great profession and its admirers, it was such a charity as this. We were told that angels were always in the presence of their Father, and consequently that those angels were watching over us. In making those efforts for the good of the children they were doing their Master's work. (Cheers.)

The report and accounts were passed.

LADY TREE, proposing a vote of thanks to the outgoing committee, said:

My Lord Alverstone, ladies and gentlemen,—I am asked to propose a vote of thanks to the outgoing executive committee. I obey with feelings of mingled delight and sadness—delight in offering them our cordial, heartfelt gratitude for their splendid work in the past year; sadness that in thanking them. I have also to utter a leave-taking to some of their number. The very word 'outgoing" is fraught with gloom and foreboding; one can hardly pronounce it without a catch in the breath. I conjure up melancholy visions of a forlorn figure standing on the platform at Euston, while the gracious, graceful hands of Phyllis Broughton, Lilian Braithwaite, Irene Vanbrugh, and May Warley wave to us from its vanishing carriages. How well we know the shiver of loneliness with which we see the gathering speed of that long line of separating machinery, till it slowly grows a glimmering speck in the gloom of the tunnel. Or I am standing on a wind-swept quay, watching that saddest of all spectacles a great ship outward bound. Through tear-dimmed eyes I behold, stretching out his mournful arms to me in mute farewell, the blurred figure of Arthur Bourchier. (Laughter.)

Again, in my mind's eye I see—what do I see? I see a majestic and prophetic entity standing in the bows, like Napoleon at St. Helena. He can be no other than Lyn Harding. I see Mr. Harry Nicholls in a tearful, vain endeavour to catch the ear of the man at the wheel. (Laughter.) I see Mr. Martin Harvey innocently walking the plank for a friend. (Laughter.) And who is that wildly waving from the giddy summit of the maintop gallant? It can only be Ainley. As regards Aubrey Smith, I can only see him flying away from an arid plain in an aeroplane, leaving me desolate. (Laughter.) All these sombre seemings are but the reflection of the dread word "outgoing." But I am happy to say that even as the outgoing tide in the sunset is but the herald of the incoming tide at to-morrow's dawn, so most of our retreating committee are retiring, but retiring only for a spring—a backward spring into the active work and help and usefulness—with only renewed zest and excellence. I am sorry to say that our dear Miss Carlotta Addison, the beneficent fairy, and Saba Raleigh, the beauteous Night of The Blue Bird, are not able to resume their duties. To them we bid adieu with infinite regret, though we are not at all sure that they themselves will not, like us, miss their own good work so sorely that another year will see them reinstated. Meanwhile, we tender them our warmest thanks, and, with Letitia Barbould, we bid them "Say not good-night, but in some brighter clime bid us "good morning." Farewell and hail to them! We tender them our heartfelt thanks for the skill and devotion with which they have aided our efforts in the past year. We thank every member of the executive committee for unselfish and untiring work. The individual element has been as nothing; they have not thought of themselves; they have thought of the work to which they have been unsparingly devoted. I am reminded of a young man, an official, who was dying at his post, far away in Rhodesia, under a tropical sun. Just before the end, he called for a cigarette, and, as he smoked it, said, "It's rough to be going away; but never mind, the work goes on." It is in that spirit that our helpers have taken, do take, and will take their duties. It is in that spirit that we welcome the incoming committee. One ship lies at anchor under the lea, its good voyage accomplished; we launch our new vessel in its white-winged flight over unadventured seas. "Let the great world spin for ever down the ringing grooves of change." (Cheers.)

The vote of thanks, seconded by Miss GERTRUDE WARDEN, was unanimously carried, and acknowledged by the Rev. ARTHUR BRINCKMAN.

Mr. ALFRED LESTER, who was cordially received, thanked his audience for the applause conferred on him. He was making his first speech, and it was better that he should get the applause first, as he might not get it afterwards. (Laughter.) He was himself an orphan; he did not mean a fair-haired, beautiful, blue-eyed boy, because his hair happened to be dark. He was very early left an orphan. Both his parents were in the theatrical profession, but there was no Actors' Orphanage in those days, and he knew something of hardships. All members of the profession should help their charity. It was not a case of assisting a man who was down in the world, but of giving a child a start in life. Some people had money; most of them had only heard about it. (Laughter.) They could not all afford to build public libraries for people to go into when it was raining; but in supporting the Orphanage they were building up living monuments to kind hearts. They were not his own words; he had got them out of a book. (Laughter.) He was hoping Mr. Maude would have put on limelight and slow music at that point. (Laughter.) They should assist the young lives in order that they might become noble men and women. He ought to have said that before, but it would do now. (Laughter.) He was happy to push forward so deserving a charity. (Cheers.) He would propose a vote of thanks to himself and to Mr. Cyril Maude for having the audacity to allow him to appear. (Laughter.)

Miss LILIAN BRAITHWAITE proposed the re-election of Messrs. Clark, Battams, Lanham, and Co. as hon. auditors; Mr. Eugene Judge as hon. solicitor; Mr. Cox-Sinclair as hon. standing counsel; Mr. Aubrey C. Smith as hon. treasurer; Mr. A. J. Austin as hon. secretary; and the trustees, Mr. Arthur Bourchier, Mr. Chas. Cruikshanks, and Mr. Harry Nicholls.

Miss BRAITHWAITE said they were to be congratulated in having such a band of volunteers to carry on their work. In her youth she used to think that the word "hon." meant "honourable" when applied to secretaries and other officers of institutions such as theirs. That seemed to be very sensible and appropriate to their work. But since she had come to years of enlightenment she had learned that "hon." referred either to one who received no emolument or one who took no part in the work itself. In the case of their honorary officers there could be no doubt in anyone's mind what the word "hon." meant. She felt they could not fully estimate the gratitude they owed to those busy men, who gave ungrudgingly of their spare time in order that their charity might flourish exceedingly, and continue to benefit the children. They acknowledged their special indebtedness to Mr. Austin, their indefatigable secretary. (Cheers.) The amount of work involved in the organisation of the garden-party alone was colossal, and she fully believed that arrangements for next year's function began as soon as the sun set on this year's. The council felt that such exactions on his time were so great that they voted him an honorarium of 100 guineas, but Mr. Austen absolutely refused to take it. He said that the Orphanage was his hobby, and he would be better able to plead for it in his honorary capacity. (Cheers.) They thanked their honourable secretary from the bottom of their hearts, and she begged them to offer to their honorary, honourable officers a hearty vote of thanks.

The resolution was seconded by Miss CARLOTTA ADDISON, and heartily adopted.

Mr. HARRY NICHOLLS, in reply, asked to be allowed, in the name of those elected to the various offices, to return heartfelt thanks for once again giving them the opportunity of being associated in the work of that excellent institution. He had debated in his mind whether he should approach his task from a sentimental or a humorous point of view, because whoever heard of a sentimental auditor? (laughter) or a comic trustee? (laughter). His difficulties increased as he went on. There was another curious contradiction with which they came into contact in the work associated with their fund, and of the two opposite feelings by which they were swayed. One was that they must necessarily feel sad at the fact that there were any orphans at all for them to look after, and at the same time the more orphans they had to look after the more they enjoyed themselves. "It is in that spirit," said Mr. Nicholls, "that we go searching around for orphans—go out on the prowl for orphans. We have a keen eye for orphans and can scent them from afar. Bring us orphans, still more and more orphans. The more "often" you bring us the better we shall be pleased." (Cheers.)

Miss IRENE VANBRUGH said she had the pleasurable duty of saying "Thank you!" to Mr. Cyril Maude for having lent his charming theatre that day. If any name was justified in being "starred" in the cause of charity, that name was Cyril Maude. Not only was he one of the largest individual subscribers, but he augmented the income of the Actors' Orphanage by a series of what she could only describe as "dodges." One "dodge" was to ask for a subscription from those to whom he lent his theatre, which he devoted to the fund, and another "dodge" was a tax on free admissions, and at the end of the year he added by this means over £50 to the fund, to which he also devoted the proceeds of the sale of his autograph. Then there was his organisation of the garden party, which he and Mr. Austin undertook together. Added to that he allowed himself to pass seven times during a hot afternoon through seas of blood. (Laughter and Cheers.) He hoped in his heart that one day a great philanthropist would build a home for the Actors' Orphanage. If anyone knew a great philanthropist who would undertake the scheme, they all hoped that the foundation-stone would be laid during the presidency of Mr. Cyril Maude. (Hear, hear.)

Miss VANE FEATHERSTONE seconded the resolution, which was passed by acclamation.

Mr. CYRIL MAUDE, who was heartily cheered, confessed that it was with a feeling of trepidation that he sat there waiting for Miss Vanbrugh to speak, not because he thought the speech would not be genial, for a more charming speaker he had never heard. But his wife happened to meet Miss Vanbrugh at a party, and on her return home informed him that they had had a conversation, in the course of which Mrs. Maude had criticised the play in which Miss Vanbrugh was appearing. They knew how much an actor disliked being criticised, so he inquired "How did she take it?" "Oh, charmingly," was the reply; "but at the end she said, 'Well, I am just going off to speak about your husband, and I'm going to make it hot for him!'" (Laughter.) They might imagine his feelings ever since. The kind words that had been said about him had made him feel an absolute worm, but the Lord Chief Justice had listened to such splendid testimony on his behalf that he hoped he would let him off with a very light sentence. He (the speaker) suffered from nervousness. Even amateur actors suffered from nervousness. He recalled an instance in which a couple of amateurs were playing in School for Scandal. The play opened with Lady Sneerwell saying "Have you inserted the paragraphs, Mr. Snake?" and Snake replied, "Yes, your ladyship." But just before the curtain went up the representatives of the parts got very nervous, and the play opened by Lady Sneerwell saying, "Have you inserted the Snake paragraphs?" (laughter), to which Snake replied, "Yes, your Majesty." (Laughter.) Mr. Maude said he was always delighted to see crowds there in the cause of charity. The only thing he disliked was to see it empty either day or night. Sometimes one could not hit on the right attraction, but it was a little trying one day when a lady walked in, and planking down sixpence, said, "Two to Shepherd's Bush!" (Laughter.) They put on a wordless play after the fashion of L'Enfant Prodigue, said Mr. Maude, and a gentleman came down and said he must have a closer seat as he couldn't catch a syllable! (Laughter.) That had its advantage and its disadvantages, because while it caused the gentleman to pay more for his seat, it also argued that the acoustics of the theatre were wrong. (Laughter.) He was very proud to welcome to the Playhouse Lord Alverstone and Mr. George Alexander, one of the most charming and delightful of managers, and a great credit to their profession. The position of the Orphanage was very flourishing. The capital of the fund now amounted to £13,000, and before he relinquished the presidency he hoped to see that sum augmented by many thousands. There was not an actor or actress who could help feeling a sense of relief that in case of all going wrong their little children would be looked after. Let them, however, not be content. Let them go on striving to get as much as they could for the cause, so that in the near future they might have a home in a sunny spot by the sea or by some bright, beautiful common in Surrey, where the children could be maintained and educated, and where the actor or actress might go down and enjoy themselves for a day. Mr. Maude concluded with an earnest appeal to swell the subscription list, so that the fund might not be dependent on one fine day for its support.

Mr. GEORGE ALEXANDER, in proposing a vote of thanks to Lord Alverstone, said the Actors' Orphanage seemed to inspire both sympathy and interest in the minds of those who represented what was best and highest in the land. That fact was proved by the presence in the chair at their meeting each year of some very distinguished man outside their own profession. Last year they had the Bishop of London and this year they had the Lord Chief Justice of England. They might thank Lord Alverstone's capacity for work that he was able to be present that day. In his own household, his partner complained that he worked too hard, but he believed that in his early days their chairman used to be content with about four hours' sleep. They were, therefore, especially grateful to him for his kindness in coming to play the good angel by presiding at their most deserving charity. Players were very grateful that distinguished men in other professions should take a peep behind the curtain at their private sorrows. He could assure his lordship that the executive committee of the Orphanage Fund were more than grateful to him for coming there that day, and for the many graceful words said in relation to the Orphanage. He would also like to thank his dear friend, Mr. Cyril Maude, for whom he had the utmost affection and admiration, and who approached his work of charity with due modesty and very little beating of drums. They had a very satisfactory balance sheet, a position that was not always the case in the matter of charities. He could say for their own charities that actors did all they could to make them independent of outside help. (Cheers.)

Miss LENA ASHWELL seconded the vote of thanks, and said that she had discovered the part that Lord Alverstone played fifty years ago. She was sure he was a fairy—a good fairy. He had touched all their hearts, and she hoped all would answer the good fairy's message.

In the voting for the executive committee for the ensuing year, the following were elected: Mr. Henry Ainley, Miss Lena Ashwell, Mr. Aubrey Smith, Miss Ada Blanche, Miss Lilian Braithwaite, the Rev. Arthur Brinckman, Miss Phyllis Broughton, Miss Sydney Fairbrother, Miss Vane Featherston, Miss Helen Ferrers, Mr. Lyn Harding, Miss Constance Hyem, Mrs. Mangles, Miss Cicely Richards, Mr. Fred Terry, Mr. Sydney Valentine, Miss Irene Vanbrugh, Miss May Warley, Mr. J. Fisher-White, and Mrs. Fred Wright.

STEDMAN'S STUDENTS.

A short variety concert and two dramatic performances by pupils of Stedman's Theatrical Academy were given in the little theatre at Windmill House, Great Windmill-street, W., on Saturday evening, May 28. The programme commenced with the chorus "Welcome," from Florodora, sung by ladies and gentlemen of the Florodora rehearsal class. In a recitation, "The Lady from the West," by Robert Meyers, Miss Gertrude Dumville was successful, and Miss Nannie Pritchard greatly pleased the audience in one of Miss Vesta Tilley's songs, "Jolly good luck to the girl." Miss Pritchard being in soldier's costume. Miss Violette Stanning sang "Queen of the Philippine Islands" (Leslie Stuart), and Miss Nina Hope, in a handsome costume, ably recited "A Venetian Revenge." An operatic solo dance by Miss Lesley St. Claire was much applauded, and the audience gave a hearty reception to Miss Caro Courday and Mr. Geoffrey Startin in their duet, "Gallopin'," from Florodora. Other effective items were a recitation, "Private Theatricals," by Miss Bee Davis, and "Lord Dundreary's Joke," by Mr. C. F. Deane. In three scenes from The School for Scandal, given by students of the dramatic class Mr. J. O. Crombie and Miss Dora Keith as Sir Peter and Lady Teazle cleverly acted the Quarrel scene. Mr. Horace Braham in the Auction scene played Charles Surface with much ability, and Mr. Geoffrey Startin as Sir Harry Bumper sang "Here's to the maiden" with spirit. Sir Oliver Surface was intelligently acted by Mr. Gerald Erminne, and Mr. C. F. Deane made an excellent Moses, while Mr. Stanley Hughes displayed considerable talent as Joseph Surface in the Screen scene. All the other students in the cast acted with intelligence, but the tiny stage sadly cramped their action, and it is a pity these performances could not be given in a larger theatre. Lad broke Hall or the Bijou Theatre, Bayswater, would be suitable, and greater justice done to the clever young performers. The last dramatic performance in the programme on Saturday was Forest Scenes from As You Like It, in which Mr. Horace Braham appeared with success as Orlando, being ably supported by the graceful Rosalind of Miss May Wyndham. Mr. J. O. Crombie as Jaques delivered the immortal soliloquy with good expression, while Miss Clara Cooper, although the smallest Touchstone ever seen, spoke her lines admirably. Miss Lucy Fanshawe was an attractive Celia, and Mr. Stanley Hughes acted well as the banished Duke. A note in the programme states that "these performances are given to enable students to acquire confidence and practice in front of an audience, and are not submitted as finished work."

The performance on Saturday was given under the direction of Mr. Marshall Moore, Mr. Kenneth Wynne, Miss Lilian Leoffeler, and Mr. Charles Sutton, Professors of the Academy. In the vocal items Miss Gwladys Hull presided at the piano.

MR. THOMAS BEECHAM has decided to withdraw Werther for the present from the répertoire of his opera comique season at His Majesty's Theatre, but will revive the work later, with important changes in the cast and on the stage. Tales of Hoffmann was played in its place on Thursday.

SUFFRAGE ATELIER MATINEE.

A matinée performance in aid of a Suffrage Atelier was given at the Court Theatre on Friday, the 27th ult., when three new one-act plays were produced. The audience consisted largely of ladies interested in the Suffrage movement.

The first of the new plays was by Miss Rose Mathews, and was entitled

"THE SMACK."

Captain Ridgley .....MR. H. LAWRENCE LEYTON
Edith Ridgley .....MISS AIMEE DE BURGH
Captain Beaton, R.N. .....MR. JAMES GELDERD
Clara Cavanier .....MISS CHRISTINE RAYNER

Captain Ridgley and his wife are residing at Valetta, Malta, and as their income is insufficient for the rather gay life they are leading, a young girl, Clara Cavanier, lives with them as a paying guest. This fact, however, is kept a secret from their friends, and the girl, who has recently come from England, passes as the niece of Mrs. Ridgley. This lady has, moreover, entered into a bargain with Clara's mother to bring about an engagement if possible, the matchmaker's reward to be the sum of £100. It would seem that the island is quite a favourite resort of damsels in search of husbands, and they are popularly known as the "Fishing Fleet." When Clara, who is quite innocent of any intention to capture a husband, overhears herself referred to as "a smack," she is naturally curious as to the meaning of the term, and when she learns its real significance her indignation is aroused in no small degree. Mrs. Ridgley asks her to accompany her and a young naval officer, Captain Beaton, to a fancy-dress ball. She refuses, and being a girl of high character, speaks her mind very plainly to the lady who has placed her in a false position, and insists upon returning home at the earliest opportunity. Eventually Clara agrees to go to the ball, and retires to dress for it; while Mrs. Ridgley has an interview with Captain Beaton, who is evidently rather "gone" on her supposed niece. Their conversation is interrupted by the return of Clara, who has conformed to the fancy-dress idea by wearing a large card inscribed in large letters, "This smack to be sold. No reasonable offer refused." This bold defiance on the part of the girl upsets Mr. Ridgley's plans, and her chances of securing the promised reward are decidedly remote when the curtain falls. The piece would serve very well the purpose of a curtain-raiser, though the end is not quite satisfactory.

Mr. H. Lawrence Leyton was good as Captain Ridgley, who is not at all in sympathy with his wife's matrimonial scheme. Miss Aimee de Burgh played exceedingly well as Mrs. Ridgley; Mr. James Gelderd acted naturally as Captain Beaton (in fancy-dress costume); and Miss Christine Rayner played with appropriate spirit the part of the indignant young girl.

The second play, by Laurence Housman, was entitled

'THE LORD OF THE HARVEST" (A Morality).

Grinder .....MR. LEON M. LION
Drudge .....MR. ROBERT FARQUHARSON
Dole .....MISS BESSIE HATTON
Bit .....MR. JAMES HORNE
Sup .....MISS IRIS ROWE
Dotty Daft .....MR. MAURICE ELVEY
Strike .....MR. A. V. BRAMBLE

Famine is in the land. In the ground floor interior of a mill are a wretched family—Drudge, a journeyman miller; Dole, his wife; and his little son and daughter, Bit and Sup. They are starving in the midst of plenty, for in one corner of the room are stacked sacks filled with corn. There they are to remain until the price has reached the level that will satisfy the avaricious corn merchant, Grinder, the owner of the mill. At the suggestion of the woman they seat themselves at the table, and the hungry boy pretends to partake of bread and butter and cake. The man fetches some goat's milk, but it is poor, weak stuff. The little girl, who has lain dormant in her mother's arms, suddenly makes a convulsive movement, and falls back. Her sufferings are over; and the bereft mother gently places the dead body on the bed. Then enters hurriedly and in deadly fear Grinder, the corn merchant, who has been pursued by a mob of rioters, who mean murder. He begs Drudge to conceal him from the infuriated men in pursuit of him. Their menacing voices can be heard in the distance. To save his life he is willing to grant the miller anything he may ask. Drudge, moved to pity, hides the terrified corn merchant in the bed, the body of the child being placed on top of him. Strike and his followers enter; they, however, fail to discover the man whose blood they seek; but when they have disappeared it is found that Grinder has died of terror.

Mr. Robert Farquharson powerfully impersonated the gaunt-looking miller, who, after the death of the child, makes a fierce onslaught on the sacks of corn with a knife. Miss Bessie Hatton played the rôle of the wife with real feeling; Master James Horne was excellent as the starving boy; and Mr. Leon M. Lion admirably depicted the terror of the corn merchant. Mr. Maurice Elvey as Dotty Daft and Mr. A. V. Bramble as Strike were efficient; and little Miss Iris Rowe as the dying child completed the cast of this doleful little play, which, however, met with a decidedly favourable reception.

The third play—"a roadside comedy"—was also by Mr. Laurence Housman, and was entitled

"A LIKELY STORY."

Grumble .....MR. LEON M. LION
Bumble .....MR. MAURICE ELVEY
Thimble .....MISS MARGARET BUSSE
Nimble .....MISS DECIMA MOORE

This proved to be a fantastic little play, more acceptable perhaps to children than to grown-ups. Grumble, an old miserly man, has a pretty niece named Thimble. Nimble, a young wandering minstrel, comes along the road which skirts the old man's garden. He has a companion in the form of a bear, named Tiny, no doubt because he is of quite huge dimensions. His intelligence, however, is quite marvellous. Nimble steals old Grumble's apples, and being caught in the act is placed in the village stocks. While Grumble is gone for the beadle, the artful Nimble, by inducing Thimble to take off his boots, regains his liberty. And when the old man returns with the beadle the wanderer induces him to believe that he is no other than his long-lost son, who was stolen when a baby by the gipsies. There seems every probability that Nimble will marry Grumble's pretty niece, and that they will live happy ever after.

Miss Decima Moore was very vivacious as Nimble; and Miss Margaret Busse made an arch and attractive Thimble. Mr. Leon M. Lion was praiseworthy as Grumble; Mr. Maurice Elvey was the beadle; and the bear, trained by Mr. T. Daycell Reed, was quite an important character, and added considerably to the amusement of the audience. At the fall of the curtain, after the actors had been called, there was a persistent cry of "Author," but Mr. Housman did not appear. Miss Decima Moore, again returning to the stage, caused merriment by pointing to a private box, in which the author was presumably seated.

In addition to the three new plays, three songs were sung by Miss Irene Spong, and expressed in natural movement by Miss Annie Spong. The performance concluded with a series of charming Morris dances, arranged by Mildred Statham and Olive Leit, in which the Misses Violet [illegible], Nancy Denvers, Gladys Elliott, Anne [illegible], Stella Swift, and Gladys Burgois took part. Mme. Jeanette Van Raalte was the accompanist.

A NEW French operetta Hans le Joueur de Flute, composed by M. Louis Gaune, the libretto being written by MM. Maurice Vaucaire and Georges Mitchell, has scored a notable success at the Apollo Theatre in Paris.

LONDON AND SUBURBAN THEATRES.

THE MARLBOROUGH.

The return visit of the principal D'Oyly Carte Opera Company this week constitutes an engagement of the first importance in the spring season here, and affords local playgoers the opportunity of renewing acquaintance with some of the most famous of the Gilbert and Sullivan operas. Without exception, the D'Oyly Carte Company, which is under the management of Mr. H. E. Bellamy, is an excellent one, and includes Mr. Fred Billington, Mr. Henry Herbert, Mr. Strafford Moss, Mr. Leicester Tunks, Mr. Sydney Granville, Mr. Allen Morris, Mr. Fredk. Hewett, and Mr. Henry A Lytton, and Mrs. Arthur Rousbey, Miss Mabel Graham, Miss Beatrice Boarer, Miss Marjorie Stone, and Miss Louie Rene, and they are one and all meeting with enthusiasm from large audiences. The operas are sumptuously staged and dressed, and the company give a clever and exhilarating interpretation. All the musical numbers are well rendered, and special mention must be made of the chorus, which is of high excellence. Praise is also due to the Marlborough orchestra and to the musical-director, Mr. François Cellier, travelling with the company, for the commendable manner in which they carry out their part of the programme. During the week the following operas have been performed:—The Mikado, The Yeomen of the Guard, H.M.S. Pinafore, Trial by Jury, and to-night, Saturday, The Gondoliers is to be presented. A final word of praise is due to Mr. J. M. Gordon for the excellent manner in which he stage-manages the various operas, the result being most satisfactory and reflecting great credit. Under the exemplary management of Mr. J. Murray Herriott this high-class theatre continues on its prosperous career.

KENNINGTON THEATRE.

On Monday, May 30, the Drama, by G. R. Sims, entitled "ROMANY RYE."

In pursuance of his plan of presenting a series of dramas during the summer season at Kennington, Mr. Robert Arthur revived on Monday that successful work from the pen of Mr. G. R. Sims, entitled Romany Rye. It is sixteen years since this drama has been seen on a London stage, and its production at Kennington was a stupendous undertaking, as may well be gathered from the fact that the five acts include some fifteen scenes, and that there are forty-four speaking parts in the play, whilst altogether over a hundred people are concerned in its representation. But great as was the task which Mr. Robert Arthur set himself, it was successfully accomplished, and on Monday night Mr. H. B. Brandreth, who has personally superintended the production, had the satisfaction of witnessing the enthusiasm of a crowded house, which found vent in repeated curtain calls for the principals The company is an excellent one, and has been well rehearsed, so that the minor parts are as adequately filled as the leading rôles. Everyone worked with a will on Monday, and full advantage was taken of the many strikingly dramatic situations with which Mr. Sims has studded his play. There are few dramas in which the setting counts for so much, and Mr. Brandreth has seen that nothing is lacking. The Gipsy Camp in the first act is a fine scene, and Epsom racecourse is graphically reproduced, but undoubtedly the greatest achievement of Mr. E. W. Martin, who is responsible for much of the scenery, is the interior of Joe Heckett's shop in the second act. This is a very faithful representation of a bird fancier's establishment in the Seven Dials. Mr. Walter Gay is an actor of great power, and as Jack Hearne made an ideal hero, looking the gipsy gentleman to the life. Miss Jessie Winter was a sweet and lovable Gertie Heckett, interpreting the rôle with much girlish grace and charm She won all hearts by her wistful look and simple and gentle ways; Mr. Fred Morgan was an excellent heavy lead as Philip Royston, playing that somewhat unpleasing character with great vividness. Mr. Frank H. Crimp was responsible for a graphic piece of stage portraiture as Goliath Lee, the sturdy gipsy, bent on seeking vengeance for the injury which he thought had been inflicted on one of his family. Mr. G. P. Polson was well placed as Edward Marsden, Royston's accomplice, and Mr. Herbert Lloyd, who also acted as stage manager, gave a really clever sketch of the part of Joe Heckett, the bird fancier. The lighter side of the play was well looked after by Mr. Maitland Marler as Boss Knivett. There were many calls upon Mr. Marler's gifts of comedy, and he was equal to them all. Mr. Frank H. Robertson and Mr. Leslie Fergusson were a couple of picturesque ruffians as Jubey Duck and Bill Blossom respectively, who were engaged with Miss Mary Kilpack as Mother Shipton in the congenial task of dumping people in the Thames from the neighbourhood of the Ratcliff Highway. Miss Kilpack's make-up as the old hag was wonderfully realistic, and she acted the part with considerable skill. As Lura Lee Miss Winifred Whyte deserves warm praise, and Naomi Lee, her mother, was a character ably doubled by Miss Kilpack. Miss Marie Clayton was well placed as Mrs. Knivett, and Miss Winnie Booth deserves a passing word for her representation of Ruth Adrian. The gipsy boys, Dimity and Sol Lee, were amusingly enacted by Miss Elsie Videau and Miss Maggie Hogan respectively. Mr. J. F. Slade as Curly, Mr. A. H. Goddard as McCarthy, and Mr. Redmond Harlow as the Eton Boy, caused a good deal of amusement; and Mr. Charles Hetherington made a useful policeman. Smaller parts were taken by Mr. Alexander St. John (Black Nathan), Mr. Leslie Clifton (Pluto), Miss Violet Tremayne (Philadelphia), and Miss Ethel Palmer (Landlady). The tuneful incidental music was furnished by the Kennington orchestra, under the skilful bâton of Mr. Julien Wilson.

THE ELEPHANT AND CASTLE.

On Monday, May 30, the Drama, entitled
"THE IDOL OF PARIS."

Described as the story of a woman of passion, this drama, as presented by Mr. James Bell's company, sheds a vivid light on the lives of the demi-monde and aristocracy in the gay city. There we see the woman who was formerly the idol of the gay Bohemian world trying to live down the past as the wife of a French nobleman, but becomes a prey to the blackmailing of her past associates. As Flare-Flare, the Idol of Paris, Miss Annie Bell plays realistically, yet never failing to gain sympathy. That scene in which she tries to shock her friends in order to save her husband's life is a specially powerful piece of acting, and was rewarded by a floral tribute. Mr. Cyril Austin-Lee portrays the sensual but cowardly roué Phillipe D'Esterre. Mr. Alfred Grenville plays well, and makes a polished gentleman as Victor Cashelle. Mr. G. Robey is an impressive Prince Sergius Zoresky; Mr. C. St. John Medley is a typical lawyer as Gustave Langlois; Mr. Vyvian Thomas acts well as the precocious youngster Tatave; Mr. Alf. Harvey makes a satisfactory servant; and Miss Frances Bruce as Mme. Sancterre brings out all the malice and uncharitableness of the rôle. Miss Ida Thompson makes quite a study of the part of the bright little Ann Sancterre.

NEW LYRIC, HAMMERSMITH.

On Monday, May 30, the Drama, entitled
"THE GIRL OF MY HEART."

The naval and military drama presented by Mr. Wentworth Croke's company in his own theatre at Hammersmith is arousing the enthusiasm of his very responsive patrons, and vigorous manifestations are nightly given of their approval of the entertainment provided. Will Stewart, an A.B., a characteristic lead, is efficiently played by Mr. Ernest Owtrim, who goes through the vicissitudes of the sailor after the girl of his heart in a gallant style; Ben Lanky, the bo'sun's mate, is played by Mr. Philip Renouf satisfactorily; Mr. Henry Hare takes the heavy lead effectively; Mr. Ernest Rivarz ably plays Captain Bridge; praise is due to Mr. Charles Herrick for his rendering of Gunner Phillips; Mr. William P. Sheen is decidedly clever as Joshua Bradley; and Sarah Bradley is effectively portrayed by Miss Florence Harcourt, their humorous scenes keeping the house in a state of uproarious merriment; Private Tim Hooley, played by Mr. Morgan Rickards, also supplies excellent light comedy; Mr. F. G. Humphreys as Peter Scragg is realistic; Mr. David Allen is good as Admiral Rawlins; and Mr. Arthur Haycock sympathetic as Colonel Dickson. Mrs. Stewart is adequately played by Miss Marie Harcourt; Miss Marie Auckland gets approval as Jenny Warden, and deserves every bit of it, her rendering of an exacting part revealing talent of a high order; Mary Graham, the lead, is excellently presented by Miss Gladys Purnell, who is well equipped by nature and training for the part, her acting being natural and sincere. The minor parts are adequately sustained.

BRIXTON THEATRE.

On Monday, May 30, the Drama entitled
"SIBERIA."

This old Princess's Theatre success has this week constituted the programme for the third week of the stock company, and has proved highly popular. The stock company has, for this occasion, had an accession of strength in the engagement of Mr. Bonhote Wilson and Miss Mary Pemberton, who are respectively cast for the important parts of Nicholai Neigoff, and Sara, the Tiger Lily. Both these clever artists are to be congratulated on their effective acting. Mr. Newman Maurice essays the rôle of Trolsky, and scores heavily. Mr. W. H. Porter does justice to the part of Lieut.-Governor Jaracoff; Mr. Will Smith is well cast as the spy Sparta; Mr. Hubert Austin is very forcible as the father of Sara; Mr. Marius St. John capitally enacts Ivan Nordoff; and Mr. Herbert Godard is an effective Governor-General. Mr. Victor Loraine is very good as Lieut. Smailoff; Mr. Walter Graham is capital as Count Stanislaus; Miss May Day is admirable as the flower girl Vera; Miss Marie Duncan does herself justice as Marie; Miss Violet O'Neal realises well the part of Drovna. The other parts are all well sustained. Siberia is very nicely mounted, and the uniforms and scenery deserve especial praise.

DALSTON THEATRE.

On Monday, May 30, the Drama, entitled
"SEND HIM VICTORIOUS."

Mr. Montague Beaudyn is presenting at the Dalston Theatre the romantic drama, by Herbert Skardon, entitled Send Him Victorious, the cumulative interest of which keeps the audience intent from start to finish. Mr. Howard Hardy does all that is required of him as the King of Ravonia, and has the full sympathy of the audience. In the part of Colonel Henrich Kaufman Mr. G. M. Montanini is fully equal to the task. Mr. Herbert Skardon has a popular part in that of Captain Frank Allison, military attaché to the British Legation; Miss Sidney Crowe acts remarkably well as Countess Kara Von Mechlinberg, powerfully representing a designing woman; and Miss Netta Mitchell as Ethel Harding proves herself an effective actress. Mr. Charles Higgins gives a smart representation of Major Carl Strauss; and Mr. Charles Russell effectively portrays Sergeant Max.

THE PAVILION, E.

On Monday, May 30, the Drama, entitled
"HARBOUR LIGHTS."

The Adelphi drama Harbour Lights, from the pen of Mr. George R. Sims, is presented by the stock company, the chief members of which are old favourites in East London. The excellent lines Mr. Sims has written are delivered by the actors with much conviction and dramatic force, and the scenes he has depicted are vividly represented. Mr. Ashby Page plays the hero Lieutenant David Kingsley, R.N., in a very creditable manner; Mr. Alexander Bradley as Frank Moreland makes an excellent villain, and is ably assisted by Mr. Fred Rivers, who portrays Nicholas Moreland; Mr. Allen Carruthers' Captain Hardy, R.N., is a distinguished representative of the Navy, as also is Mr. Arthur Estcourt as Captain Nelson. Mr. Oswald Lingard plays Mark Helston with much conviction, and his articulation is commendable; Mr. J. E. Manning as Solomon is good. Miss Marion Denvil plays Dora Vane in fine style, and wins much applause; Miss Phyllis Orme makes good use of the opportunities for dramatic acting offered her in the character of Lina Nelson. The humour of the play is provided by Miss May Clarke and Mr. Will Harman, who have established themselves great favourites.

THE WEST LONDON.

On Monday, May 30, the One-Act Drama, in Five Scenes, entitled
"A CREDIT TO HIS NATION."

Excellent business is the order of the day at this old-established Marylebone playhouse, and every credit is due to Mr. W. H. Nugent, who so ably manages the theatre for Mr. F. R. Griffiths. The short playlet, A Credit to His Nation, is full of life and "go," and receives painstaking interpretation at the hands of Mr. Harry Calden's smart company. As Ike de Costa, Mr. Harry Calden gave one of his delightful Hebrew studies, and is most successful; Mr. Villiers Stanley sustained the rôle of Frank Varney in a bright and manly fashion; Mr. Tom Calden made the most of his opportunities as Harold Varney; Mr. W. Ashton did well as Richard Varney; Miss N. Calden was light and easy as pert Polly Dobbins; and Miss Lowther portrayed Mary Danvers in a sympathetic and convincing way. Several pictures were screened during the evening, and certainly some of the clearest films in London are to be seen here, amongst the best being The House of Cards, The Lamplighter, Delight of the Shoot, Heroine of Mafeking, and The Tenor's Conquest. The band, under Mr. Ward Bailey's skilful direction, performed appropriate music at intervals.

ARTILLERY THEATRE, WOOLWICH.

On Monday, May 30, the Comedy entitled
"THE BEST PEOPLE."

Mr Frank Weathersby is presenting for the current week the interesting and amusing comedy The Best People, written by Frederick Lonsdale, who, it may be remembered, is also the author of those successful musical comedies The King of Cadonia and The Balkan Princess. The comedy under notice, which was originally produced at Wyndham's Theatre, deals with domestic incidents in high-class circles and the way connubial felicity may be seriously jeopardised by the indiscretions of the members of the families concerned is cleverly plotted and ably interpreted. Mr. Robert Noble essays the rôle of Lord Emsworth in a thoroughly diverting fashion, and his cool and non slant manner of delivery makes his points "telling," and he affords much pleasure and hearty laughter by his carefully submitted characterisation. The Hon. Gerald Boyle is suitably undertaken by Mr. Dudley Stuart, who, although evidently suffering from a severe cold, made the most of his opportunities under the adverse circumstances. Mr. Tom Taylor-Vinson evokes much laughter as Lord Wynus, and he submits a highly humorous delineation and is completely successful. Miss Enid Ross deserves praise for a capital portrayal of the part of the Hon. Mrs. Boyle, and she maintains a strong hold. Lady Emsworth is charmingly and daintily rendered by Miss Beatrice Marsdene, who does ample justice to the character and is flatteringly received. Assistance is also afforded in minor parts by Mr. Escott Robson and Mr. Clifford Hick as James Spofforth and Jackson respectively. The comedy is preceded by Make-Believe, a comedietta by E. C. Rackstraw and W. Muskerry, in which appear Mr. Dudley Stuart, Miss Beatrice Marsdene, Mr. Escott Robson, and Miss Enid Ross.

THEATRE ROYAL, WOOLWICH.

On Monday, May 30, the Drama entitled
"THE SINS OF A CITY."

The Sins of a City, written by Nita Rae and presented this week by Miss Winifred Maude, is well supplied with stirring incidents and sensational episodes, so dear to the heart of patrons of this theatre. The cast being a well-selected one, the interest in the unfolding of the plot is well maintained throughout, and at the final fall of the curtain hearty applause is vouchsafed to the various favourites. Mr. William Vane offers a manly and spirited interpretation of the hero, Sandy McDonald, a rising barrister, which is greatly approved, and a warm welcome is the result of his efforts. Miss Minifred Maude essays the rôle of Seaweed, afterwards known as Norah Gillmore, in a pathetic manner, and gives a successful rendering of the part. Mr. Maurice Jones submits a clever study of the old miser, Jasper Woodleigh, a character in which he is seen to capital advantage. Mr. Harold Heath does ample justice to the part of Donald McIvor. Ralph Blackwater, K.C., is dramatically represented by Mr. Morris Maud, and Mr Victor Du Cane as Isaac Levi also scores well. Miss Minnie Millwarde makes a most vivacious Midge and is the source of considerable merriment, and is warmly received. Miss L. Carlton is excellent as Jenny, and is well rewarded. Miss Wingold Lawrence also sustains the part of Lesbia l'Estrange in good style. Mrs. Miggs is suitably undertaken by Miss Mabel Lane.

THE BROADWAY.

On Monday, the Drama, in Three Acts, by Sydney Grundy and Henry Petitt, entitled
"THE BELLS OF HASLEMERE."

The summer stock season here was inaugurated on Monday with the production of this celebrated Adelphi play, which was capitally acted by the excellent company engaged. Mr. Vassall-Vaughan was a capable and pleasing Frank Beresford; Mr. Fred Terris gave a powerful and incisive rendering of John Silkstone; Captain Vere had a clever representation in Mr. Wallace Bosco; Mr. Edward McLean contributed a fine performance as Matthew Brookfield; Mr. Ellis J. Preston was very good indeed as Joseph Thorndyke; Mr. F. Hunter was a capital Patrick Desmond; Mr. E. Emery as Able Jeff, Mr. Sinclair as Benjamin Tremble, Mr. H. Hersee as Toby, and Mr. H. Allen as Inspector Quick were all of the greatest value to the production. Mr. Will Clement was a great favourite as Reuben Armstrong, and Miss Sadie Neville was a bright and clever Dorothy Tremble; Miss Alice Defoe gave a womanly and sympathetic rendering of the part of Evelyn Brookfield; Miss Douglas Frecar was a clever and attractive Mary Northcote; and Miss Clare Milvane was a charming Nora Desmond. Mr. Ellis J. Preston is the stage-manager and producer, and Mr. Iles ably fills his accustomed place in front of the house.

COUNTY THEATRE, KINGSTON.

On Monday, May 30, Robertson's Comedy,
"CASTE."

Particular interest centred in the revival of Robertson's popular comedy at the Kingston playhouse this week from the fact that Mr. Peter Davey, the managing-director of the theatre, appeared at Eccles. Patrons of the theatre who had seen Mr. Davey on the boards before were prepared for a fine character sketch of the drunken father, and they were not disappointed. They showed their appreciation in unmistakable terms at the fall of each curtain. Mrs. Davey also took part in the play, and acquitted herself well as the Marquise de St. Maur. Miss Phyllis Relph, who appeared as Esther Eccles, displayed histrionic ability of a high order; a clever impersonation of Polly Eccles was given by Miss Edith Vognes. Other parts were ably sustained by Mr. Douglas Gordon as the Hon. George D'Alroy, Mr. George Silver as Captain Hawtree, and by Mr. W. F. K. Lancy as Sam Gerridge. The play, which was produced twice nightly, was admirably mounted.

THEATRE ROYAL, STRATFORD.

On Monday, May 30, the Drama entitled
"HIS LIFE FOR HERS."

Messrs. J. C. Lodge-Percy and James Martin's company, in His Life for Hers, is attracting excellent audiences at the Stratford Theatre Royal this week. The piece is adapted from Ouida's novel "Moths," and it proves highly interesting. The scenic effects are excellent, and a very capable cast has been engaged. Miss Henrietta Schrier as the easy-going, good-hearted American Fuchsia Leach, with a twang you could cut with a knife, is prominent and popular throughout the piece. Miss Marie Rumuz is fairly satisfactory in the important rôle of the sinister Duchesse de Sonnaz; Miss Nellie Statham plays the scheming Lady Dolly Vanderdecken on sound lines; and Miss Veronica Clinton charmingly impersonates Vere Herbert. Mr. Andrew Money is scarcely autocratic enough for the designing Prince Sergius Gouroff; Mr. J. C. Lodge-Percy plays Lord Jura with a suitable sangfroid, and is very successful in the part; Mr. Roland Bridge as the much-married Duke of Mull acts appropriately; and Mr. F. Douglas Howard is an earnest and painstaking Raphael de Corrèze. Friday night was a complimentary benefit to Miss Henrietta Schrier, and Mr. Barnes of New York was played, with Miss Schrier as Marina Paoli and Mr. J. C. Lodge-Percy in the title-rôle.

BOROUGH THEATRE, STRATFORD.

On Monday, May 30, the Farcical Play, by F. Anstey,
"THE BRASS BOTTLE."

Laughter reigns supreme at the Borough Theatre this week during the progress of this ludicrously funny piece. Much of its success, however, is due to the very excellent interpretation the play received and to the highly effective staging. Mr. Lawrence Grossmith is a genial, polished representative of Horace Ventimore, and Mr. Holman Clark is a model of imperturbability as the weird visitant from the brass bottle. Mr. Percy Marshall exactly hits off the idiosyncrasies of the Professor; and Mr. Rudge Harding as Spencer Pringle is admirable. The portly Samuel Wackerbath is safely entrusted to Mr. Luigi Lablache; and Mr. Harry Paulton makes a very droll Rapkin. Miss Lena Halliday plays in natural style as Mrs. Futvoye; Miss Viva Birkett makes a very charming Sylvia Futvoye; and Miss Mary Brough is decidedly good as Mrs. Rapkin. Others who do well include Mr. A. Spencer as Chief of Caravan; Mr. Vincent Holman as a Waiter; Miss Armine Grace as Mrs. Wackerbath; Miss Gladys Story as Jessie; and Miss Meda de Brugh as Gobeida.

THE FULHAM.

The picture season at the Fulham Theatre continues this week, with a change of pragramme. There are a couple of very fine new films, of great length, of the King's Funeral. The dramatic element is supplied by a bright little comedietta, in which Miss East Robertson and Mr. George Delaforce represent a would-be New Woman and her imperturbable husband, who cures her of her undesirable ambition. Mr. Delaforce fills up a wait with a good song on the virtues of the Bobby There are one or two melodramatic subjects and two or three comic ones, including a very clever Pathé film, The Scientist's Nightmare. This is one of the type of living pictures that are obviously "faked," but the faking is remarkably clever and well carried out, so as to give the appearance of the supernatural. This incidental and occasional music is now supplied by Miss Hillard, A.L.C.M., who presides at the piano.

"DRIVING A GIRL TO DESTRUCTION."

Play, in Four Acts, by Mrs. Morton Powell, Produced for the First Time in London at the Shakespeare Theatre, Clapham Junction, on Monday, May 30.

Ruth Wright	Miss Kate Sydney
Ruby Wright	Miss M. Powell
Mme. De Meral	Miss Anna Corri
Bessie Betts	Miss Lucy Fitzroy
Ned Chipples	Miss Eva Norman
Robert Ray	Mr. Leslie Austin
Lucas List	Mr. Walter Clarke
Octavius Screwe	Mr. Henry Scratchard
Billy Broad	Mr. Edward Swinton
Bobby Broad	Mr. Macintosh Clyde
Freddy Feather	Mr. Edwin Helm
Rev. Christopher Lovett	Mr. William Berson
William Wadd	Mr. William Whitty
P.C. Clearing	Mr. George S. Darling
Mary Mellett	Miss Mabel Kelling
Emily Rough	Miss Rachel Rhodes
Florence Slade	Miss Edith Taylor
Lilly Chub	Miss Doris Drude

Mrs. Morton Powell has brought yet another fine and well-acted drama to London in Driving a Girl to Destruction. The piece is attracting good business to Mr. Dudley Bennett's comfortable house, and the keenest interest is taken in the many stirring and dramatic situations with which the piece abounds. Lucas List is a member of the firm of Law, List, and Co., and distributes prizes to the scholars at Myrtledale. List has betrayed Ruth Wright, a clerk and typist in his employ, and now seeks to win her cousin Ruby, a school teacher, who is engaged to Robert Ray, a mate in the Merchant Service. Robert returns from sea, and announces his intention of marrying Ruby the next day. Lucas List determines to prevent the marriage, and induces the young sailor, in a moment of frenzy, to break off the engagement. Incensed at the thought that her cousin Ruby is about to win the love of Lucas from her, Ruth accepts the offer of Robert to marry her. Robert and Ruth are hurried off to the Registrar's, and Ruby, learning of the plot to marry the man she loves to the mistress of Lucas, follows, but arrives in time to find Robert and Ruth man and wife. Ruth determines to see Lucas List that night in the bedroom of his cottage at midnight. Robert also goes to the cottage, determined, if he finds his wife unfaithful, to kill her, List, and himself. Entering the room he finds Ruth, Ruby, and Lucas, and accuses his wife of being unfaithful. She denies the charge, and, in terror, says she came to save Ruby from the arms of Lucas. Ruby, dreading the consequences, accepts the situation, and takes upon her own shoulders the guilt of Ruth. At a school fête Ruby is accused of being the mistress of Lucas List, and being unable to deny the accusation, is dismissed by the School Board. She leaves the village accompanied by a crippled boy named Ned Chipples, an orphan, whom Ruby has adopted, and accepts shelter in the house of Mme. de Meral in London. The action of the play is now removed to Mme. De Meral's Bath and Massage establishment, where Robert arrives in search of Ruby, but is knocked down and stunned. Ruby and Ned seek refuge in a cellar, and Ruby determined to end their misery by death, tears down the gas bracket from the wall, places the boy's mouth to the pipe, wraps his head in her blouse. She is herself about to commit suicide when Lucas List arrives with food, and offers to save the boy's life if Ruby will consent to go with him. Ruby, driven to despair, consents. In List's flat Ruth murders her lover and contrives that Ruby is accused of the crime and is arrested. Learning that Ruby was not the mistress of Lucas List, Ruth determines to aid her. She, however, is met by Mme. De Meral, and a furious fight occurs, in the course of which the room is entirely wrecked, and both women receive their death blow. Before expiring, however, Ruth writes on the back of a picture in her own blood: "I killed Lucas List.—Ruth Wright."

Miss Kate Sydney plays cleverly in the rôle of the degraded Ruth Wright, and acquits herself with success. The part is an exacting one, but Miss Sydney never loses her grip of the character and is convincing throughout. Miss M. Powell, as Ruby Wright, displays considerable histrionic ability, and whether as the happy and charming girl or the distraught and desperate woman, her acting is natural and unforced. Miss Anna Corri capably sustains the part of Mme. De Meral, and Miss Lucy Fitzroy is an amusing Bessie Betts. Miss Eva Norman's impersonation of the crippled boy Ned Chipples, which created a favourable impression, was excellently conceived. Mr. Leslie Austin contributes a manly and robust delineation of Robert Ray, and delivers his lines with powerful effect. The dissolute rake, Lucas List, is cleverly enacted by Mr. Walter Clarke, and Mr. Henry Scratchard as Octavius Screwe, fully emphasises the despicable nature of the character. Mr. Edward Swinton as Billy Broad, Mr. Macintosh Clyde as Bobby Broad, and Mr. Edwin Helm as Freddy Feather contribute jointly and severally to the humour of the piece, and Mr. William Berson gives a capable rendering of the Rev. Christopher Lovett.

RICHMOND HIPPODROME.

On Monday, May 30, the Drama entitled
"THE BAD GIRL OF THE FAMILY."

The erring but none the less welcome Bess Moore made her début at Richmond on Monday, and drew an immense audience. After all, Bess is not half a bad sort, and as a stage favourite her popularity is tremendous. She was cheered to the echo again and again. The Bad Girl of the Family is mounted with conspicuous care and admirably played by an exceedingly competent company. In the title-rôle Miss Violet Crossley was altogether excellent; bright, vivacious, with a pretty vein of sentiment. Miss Margaret Tueskie was sufficiently vixenish as the aggrieved sister: and excellent work was done by Miss Daisy Cork, who delivers her lines with charming distinctness, and demonstrated her ability as an artist of more than average talent. Miss Shilton was capable as Bess's fond parent; and Sallie Smithers found a vivacious and distinctly clever exponent in Miss Amy Randolph. Roars of merriment greeted the antics of Mr. Tom May as Sammy Snozzle, whose humour is fresh and to the point. Mr. Wynton is capable as Lieut. Marsh, R.N., and acted with carnestness; and Mr. F. W. Freeman is dignified and inobtrusively impressive as the Earl. Probably no one works harder in the drama than Mr. Luke Forster, who as the Semitic Jack-of-all-trades is the life and soul of the show. Barney proves himself a huge favourite; Mr. C. A. Collins is "the villain of the play"; it is a clever bit of acting, forcible and meritorious; his Harry Gordon should rank as one of his successes. Mr. George Belmore avails himself of his few opportunities as Jerry; and excellent work generally pervades the entire representation. Mr. Fredk. Carr is stage-manager and Mr. Chris Mason general-manager. The Bad Girl of the Family has played to a record week.

For her final three performances of Orpheus at the Savoy this week Miss Marie Brema had an all-British orchestra. It is interesting to note that several of the musicians owe their skill to British teachers and to a British school, namely, the Guildhall School of Music.

At St. Albans Parish Hall, Acton Green, on Monday, was produced, for copyright purposes, a comedietta entitled For the Sake of Charity, by Alice Clayton Greene.

"THE MAN OF FATE."

A Napoleonic Drama, in Four Acts, by Richard Greene; Produced at the Queen's Theatre, Manchester, on Monday, May 30.

Napoleon I.	Mr. Juan Bonaparte
General Renaudot	Mr. W. R. Winning
Colonel Bernaise	Mr. W. H. Perrette
Captain Lemesnil	Mr. J. R. Darnley
Nicolas Bompasse	Mr. Alfred Harding
Paul Brandt	Mr. Ernest E. Imeson
Sebastian Lepine	Mr. A. Horace
Herr Kolsch	Mr. Julian J. Gallier
Herr Grondwetter	Mr. H. Lewis
Hugle	Mr. J. James
Lisette	Miss Lilian Christine
Julie Lepine	Miss Ella Erskine

An interesting addition to Napoleonic drama, Mr. Richard Greene's The Man of Fate, was successfully launched at the Queen's Theatre, Manchester, on Monday. It is a drama of events that take place on the skirts of Napoleon's march upon Moscow, the burning of the city, and the disastrous and memorable retreat. The story does not touch the inner life of Bonaparte; it depicts him moving inexorably along his fatal course, an impressive and realistic figure, drawing with him, by virtue of his personality and his great deeds, the threads of a score—nay, a thousand—of seen and unseen dramas, of which this is one. The influence is felt at the opening, when we are introduced to the family of Lepine in Dantzic.

Sebastian Lepine is the chief of a group of three, members of a secret and farspreading league, who are plotting the downfall of Napoleon. Lepine's confrères are Herrn Kolsch and Grondwetter, the former a very acrid and sinister personage, the latter timid and compunctious; while a fourth is his nephew, Paul Brandt, who is something of a heroic wanderer, drawn to the same interests chiefly by his love for Lepine's daughter, Julie. Brandt, as the hero of the story, has his first taste of sorrow in the fact that Julie is deeply in love with, and almost immediately marries, Captain Lemesnil, of the Imperial army, who, it is presently discovered, has all along been spying upon her father with the object of accomplishing his arrest and execution. This specious rascal, moreover, is not alone in his purpose. He is backed by Colonel Bernaise, a greater rascal still, who quarrels with Lemesnil upon the latter's success with Julie, whom he desired for himself. In the thick of these circumstances, while the wedding breakfast is going forward, Brandt brings news of the Emperor's approach, and to save themselves the plotters hastily depart, leaving Julie apparently in the safe keeping of her husband.

It is for immediate dramatic purposes that the husband denies his wife; it averts the suspicion of treachery from the searching mind of Napoleon, and afterwards gives Colonel Bernaise an opportunity to take Julie away on the pretext of conducting her to her husband, who has been abruptly ordered away by the Emperor. The action at an inn near the Borodino furthers the distress of Julie, who finds herself in the Colonel's power. Considerable dramatic interest is infused by the appearance of Brandt on the scene, though he is unharmed; for he finds himself opposed by both the Colonel and Lemesnil, who desire his death or capture for the sake of the Emperor's favour and the furtherance of their personal schemes. In spite of his bravery and good intentions, Brandt gets here a second taste of sorrow in that he is blamed by Julie, who enters at a critical moment, for the death of Lemesnil, whom she thus finds at last, run through by the friendly bayonet of Bompasse (of the Guards), who has left his erect attitude of sentry for just one business-like moment to make the deadly thrust, unseen by Julie, and who now stands silent and immovable as before. Once again affairs are disposed by the interposition of Napoleon, and we next find the unfortunate Julie under the protection of Napoleon in a palace on the Petrovka in Moscow. Napoleon is sympathetic, yet all the while anxious to extort from her the whereabouts of her father, whose influence he fears and would punish. Now, however, he has a tale, concocted by Colonel Bernaise, and supported by the frightened evidence of the masquerading Grondwetter, that her father is dead, drowned by the treachery of Paul Brandt.

This Julie is for the time forced to believe; but at a midnight meeting with Brandt—a risky venture in the palace, from which both Brandt and Bompasse have much ado to escape with their lives—the young adventurer produces epistolary proof that her father is alive and safe in St. Petersburg. A lurid picture of Moscow in flames, seen by Napoleon as he throws the curtains wide, intending that Paul shall be hanged from the window, precipitates the action. We see next the retreat from Moscow, a wild and tragic picture of that historical event, which shadows impressively the final adjustment of the story. These are but broad outlines of a plot which well serves to bring out the Napoleonic atmosphere of the play. It is lightened by the timid comicalities of Grondwetter, who is very naturally impersonated by Mr. H. Lewis, and by the strong character-acting of Mr. Alfred Harding as Bompasse, who finds in Brandt a friend who once helped him out of a tight corner, and who moves through the story like the gruff soldier and man of the world that he is, with a soft corner in his heart for Julie and for her maid Lisette. The central figure, however, is Napoleon, and the astonishing thing is that so close a counterpart should be seen in the revival of these events as Mr. Juan Bonaparte, who is not only the great-grandson (not the great-great-grandson, as previously stated), but has in his own person the physical endowments of his famous ancestor. Style, movement, face, probably the tone of voice—all are there. Born in Utrecht, in Holland, about thirty-six years ago, Mr. Bonaparte has steeped himself in the associations of Napoleon, has spent a year on St. Helena, and certainly has the right to take seriously his object of reviving as nearly as is humanely possible the personality he undertakes in drama. The Cross of the Legion of Honour he wears is a relic, and he carries also the sword that was worn by Napoleon at Austerlitz. For all these reasons, apart from other considerations, the play in which he appears this week achieves a degree of realism never before attained by any Napoleonic drama that has been put on the stage. Of the other members of the cast, great praise is due to Miss Ella Erskine (who, by the way, also represents military interest, in that she is the daughter of an English general) for her sympathetic rendering of the trying rôle of Julie Lepine. Miss Erskine queens it in some beautiful dresses, and plays with a nervous force and intensity that cannot fail to be convincing. A very creditable impersonation of Paul Brandt was given by Mr. Ernest E. Imeson. Mr. W. H. Perretto acted with convincing energy as Colonel Bernaise; an equally virile and soldierly depiction of Lemesnil was supplied by Mr. J. R. Darnley, and Mr. A. Horace was dignified and effective as Sebastian Lepine. In conjunction with Bompasse, Miss Lilian Christine played in a light and taking style the rôle of Lisette; and other parts were capably handled by Mr. W. R. Winning, Mr. Julian J. Gallier, and Mr. J. James. The author of the play, it may be mentioned, is a brother of Miss Evie Greene, while another brother is responsible for some very effective incidental music. The music is by Ernest F. Greene. The scenery is elaborate, and the play should have a successful career.

At Taylor's Depository, 1, St. George's-road, Southwark, S.E., near the Elephant and Castle, Messrs. Charles Taylor and Son will sell by auction on Thursday next, at twelve o'clock, household furniture and effects, comprising a collection of automatic machines, soda fountains, Harper's electric piano. Catalogues on application to the auctioneers.

IRISH NATIONAL THEATRE.

On Monday, May 30, at the Court Theatre, for the First Time in London, a Tragedy in Three Acts, by the late J. M. Synge, entitled

"DEIRDRE OF THE SORROWS."

Lavarcham ..... MISS SARA ALLGOOD
Old Woman ..... MISS EILEEN O'DOHERTY
Owen ..... MR. J. A. O'ROURKE
Conchubar ..... MR. ARTHUR SINCLAIR
Fergus ..... MR. SYDNEY J. MORGAN
Deirdre ..... MISS MAIRE O'NEILL
Naisi ..... MR. FRED O'DONOVAN
Ainnle ..... MR. J. M. KERRIGAN
Arcan ..... MR. JOHN CARRICK
Soldiers ..... MR. AMBROSE POWER, MR. HARRY YOUNG

Encouraging support is being given to the Irish National Theatre Society at the Court Theatre, where the company from the Abbey Theatre, Dublin, began a season on Monday before a well-filled house. The productions of the society are invaluable as furnishing a striking contrast to the elaborate performances of the regular stage, and their simplicity and picturesqueness, their primitive yet artistic scenes, proves refreshing to the eye and ear. For the opening attraction was selected the late J. M. Synge's last play Deirdre of the Sorrows, which was originally given at the Abbey Theatre on Jan. 13 last. The play naturally lacks Mr. Synge's finishing touches, and has hardly sufficient movement to carry it successfully through three acts, but the attention is arrested by the simple beauty of the language which, despite some repetition of phrases, sounds melodiously on the ear. The subject was treated by Mr. W. B. Yeats, another of the society's poets, in his play produced in London some eighteen months ago, but only extended to one act, wherein the final tragedy was consummated. On that occasion distinction was given to the principal rôle by the fact that it was played by Mrs. Patrick Campbell. The first scene of the present play sees the coming of the High King of Ulster to claim Deirdre for his bride, after keeping her closely guarded for years. The maiden, however, prefers youth to age, and when the King has departed, puts on the rich raiment he has brought for her, knowing full well that Prince Naisi and his brothers will be driven by the storm to seek shelter in the cabin where Deirdre has long dwelt with her foster mother Lavarcham. Naisi duly appears, and after an exquisite love scene, determines to carry Deirdre off to the mountains. Here seven years go happily by, until Conchubar finds out their retreat and sends messengers to invite them to his Court. Deirdre fears for the time when she will grow old and will lose Naisi's love, and, despite the warning of Lavarcham and Naisi's protestations of constancy, urges him to accept the King's proposals. The foster mother's forebodings prove all too true, for Naisi and his brothers are entrapped by the King and killed, and Deirdre stabs herself over the grave in which her husband's body lies.

The pathos of the play was admirably preserved by the company, who conveyed the author's meaning clearly to the audience. Mr. Fred O'Donovan gave distinct character to the part of Naisi, playing the lover gallantly, and making Naisi's devotion to his wife pleasingly prominent. Miss Maire O'Neill used her musical voice agreeably in the title-rôle, but her appearance was singularly suggestive of the present rather than of a legendary age. Mr. Arthur Sinclair hardly caught the kingly air as Conchubar. Miss Sara Allgood, who played with Mrs. Campbell in the former production effectively maintained the morbid melancholy of the foster-mother Lavarcham, and Miss Eileen O'Doherty quite failed to look the age of an Old Woman, but displayed the possession of a sweet voice that could be used to better advantage. A serio-comic part had found its way into the piece, that of Owen, a half-witted retainer who goes wholly out of his mind, in which Mr. J. A. O'Rourke secured some curious effects. Mr. J. M. Kerrigan and Mr. John Carrick characteristically completed the trio of brothers.

The woes of the first piece were admirably contrasted with the humours of Hyacinth Halvey, a comedy in one act by Lady Gregory, which has before been seen in London. Mr. Fred O'Donovan again scored, proving himself a comedian of distinct originality as a gossoon who comes to a country village armed with so many fraudulent testimonials that he is held up, quite against his inclination, as an example of self-culture. Mr. J. A. O'Rourke again distinguished himself in a comic part, playing a post-office messenger with much drollery. Mr. Sydney J. Morgan acted well as a police sergeant, and Mr. Arthur Sinclair spoke his lines too rapidly to gain the utmost effect, though he caused no lack of laughter as a local dealer. Miss Sara Allgood as a post-mistress and Miss Eileen O'Doherty as a "gossip" realised the characters completely.

On Wednesday, June 1, for the First Time in London, a Comedy, in Three Acts, by Lady Gregory entitled

"THE IMAGE."

Thomas Coppinger ..... MR. ARTHUR SINCLAIR
Mary Coppinger ..... MISS SARA ALLGOOD
Malachi Naughton ..... MR. FRED O'DONOVAN
Brian Hosty ..... MR. SIDNEY J. MORGAN
Darby Costello ..... MR. J. M. KERRIGAN
Peggy Mahon ..... MISS MAIRE O'NEILL
Peter Mannion ..... MR. J. A. O'ROURKE

The Image was originally produced at the Abbey Theatre, Dublin, and there can be no doubt that the degree of success it achieved is easily accounted for by the wonderfully clever sketches of Irish character which we owe to the ability of the author. There can be no difference of opinion as to the truthfulness of this picture of life in a remote Irish village; every character is distinct and carefully drawn by one who possesses the quality of close observation. The unconscious humour, the quaint turns of thought, and the characteristic method of clothing that thought in language, are the features that give interest to Lady Gregory's play. It cannot be compared to the ordinary everyday comedy—the plot is of the slightest; and it is a play of words rather than of action. A village on a headland is the scene. Much local excitement is caused by the news that two whales have been washed ashore. The oil to be obtained from them is worth a considerable sum of money; and the question is debated as to how it shall be spent. Three of the villagers—Thomas Coppinger, a stone cutter; Brian Hosty, a small farmer; and Darby Costello, a seaweed gatherer—take counsel together on the momentous question, with a view to making a recommendation to the district Board of Guardians, who have convened a special meeting. A wordy dispute having already arisen as to best material for a statue, it is suggested, and finally agreed, to recommend that the money shall be expended in providing a statue, the work to be undertaken by Coppinger, the stonecutter, eager to win fame as a sculptor. Then a serious difficulty arises—whom is the statue to represent? There are, it seems, no local celebrities. O'Connor, the Irish patriot, and Parnell are mentioned; and there is a general agreement in favour of the first-mentioned, until Brian Hosty, a native of Connaught, learns that he was a Munster man. Malachi Naughton, described as a "mountainy man," a thin, miserable-looking creature, who sees visions in the night, is strongly in favour of the proposed statue being erected to a certain Hugh O'Laurie, whose history, however, is veiled in mystery. Peggy Mahon, the oldest dame in the village, is consulted on the matter, but no information can be got from her. Malachi, when appealed to, only produces a small board, which has been washed ashore, and on which the mysterious name is inscribed. And so the parish register is searched, and when the name of Hugh O'Laurie is discovered the bearer thereof is found to be an infant. However, the Gordian knot is cut by the news brought by Peter Mannion, the carrier, that one of the whales has been washed away, and that the oil from the other has already been abstracted by the inhabitants of a neighbouring village. This bare outline of the story, of course, gives no idea of the quaint humour introduced, and the amusing mixture of simplicity and greed displayed by the villagers.

The performance of the comedy created a highly favourable impression. Mr. Arthur Sinclair very ably depicted the stonecutter, Thomas Coppinger, who, although very anxious to win distinction as a sculptor, is rather doubtful of his ability to tackle the statue. Miss Sara Allgood was quite at home in the part of Mary Coppinger, the stonecutter's comely wife, whose hope it is to find a new home in America. Mr. Fred O'Donovan deserves to be congratulated on his clever sketch of Malachi Naughton, a crazy visionary, subject to sudden outbursts of passion. Mr. Sidney J. Morgan gave an excellent portrayal of Brian Hosty, who comes from Connaught, and has an undisguised contempt for the men of Munster. Mr. J. M. Kerrigan was good in the part of Darby Costello. Miss Maire O'Neill proved to be quietly effective in her embodiment of Peggy Mahon, whose pathetic devotion to the memory of her husband, dead and gone for many years, is so touching. It may be added that the tabby cat, which the old dame nursed throughout one scene, played her part to perfection. Mr. J. A. O'Rourke as the carrier, Peter Mannion, completed an admirable cast.

In place of The Green Helmet, a play in ballad metre, by W. B. Yeats, which had been announced for production, Lady Gregory's one-act play, entitled The Rising of the Moon, was successfully revived.

Sergeant ..... MR. ARTHUR SINCLAIR
Policeman X. ..... MR. J. A. O'ROURKE
Policeman B. ..... MR. FRED O'DONOVAN
Ballad Singer ..... MR. J. M. KERRIGAN

The plot turns upon the escape of an Irish political offender, for whose arrest a reward of £100 is offered by the Government. The man for whom the police are in search disguises himself as a ballad singer, and meeting by the quayside a police-sergeant, so artfully plays upon his feelings by reminding him of the days when they were young men, and bound by the tie of comradeship and political sympathies, that he allows the fugitive to escape and forfeits the tempting reward.

Mr. Arthur Sinclair was a capital representative of the Sergeant, who allows sentiment to overcome his sense of duty and love of lucre. Mr. J. M. Kerrigan played admirably as the man who succeeds in escaping. He sang a couple of ballads with excellent effect. Mr. J. A. O'Rourke and Mr. Fred Donovan did well as the two policemen.

SHAKESPEARE MEMORIAL THEATRE.

A public meeting to inaugurate the work of the Croydon and District Committee of the Shakespeare Memorial National Theatre was held at the Town Hall, Croydon (by kind permission of the Mayor and Corporation) on Thursday evening, May 26. The Mayor of Croydon (Alderman Major J. E. Fox, J.P.) presided, and was supported by Alderman H. Keatley Moore, J.P., Rev. Dr. Thomas Carter, and other leading residents, the committee being represented by Mr. H. Granville Barker and Mr. H. S. Perris, organising secretary.

The proceedings were opened by Mr. H. Granville Barker, who, in a telling and convincing speech, set out the national importance of the scheme, and how desirable it was to commemorate in a lasting and substantial manner the name of the greatest poet and playwright the world had known by erecting a home for his drama.

Mr. H. S. Perris responded by expressing a hope that the committee would carry through to a success this great memorial, and reminded those present that although an anonymous donor had kindly given £70,000 to the fund, still there was much more to be collected before the object could be attained and something done which would be worthy of the name of Shakespeare. Further, that nearly every foreign country had its national theatre, and it was time England gave the idea definite shape. He hoped that the name of Croydon would be well to the front when the ultimate result has been carried out. It was of an educational moment, and the committee should make it their duty to bring the matter under the notice of the schools; and that every resident in Croydon should be made to fully understand the object of the movement, with a view to obtaining a support which should be worthy of the town. Local amateur dramatic clubs might support the fund by arranging performances for its benefit, and they would all know and appreciate that the actor's profession would be honoured and uplifted when the object had been attained.

The Deputy-Mayor, Ald. H. Keatley-Moore, gave a pleasing and entertaining speech, in his usual gifted manner, and reminded his listeners that not only should Shakespeare be honoured as the foremost dramatist and poet, but that it should not be overlooked that his writings were a steading point in our language, and for that reason alone he would urge Croydon to take its due part in furthering the object of the meeting.

Speeches were also given by the Rev. Dr. Thomas Carter and others present, and resolutions were carried in support of the movement and an executive committee appointed. The meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to the chairman and to the Corporation for the use of the hall.

GUILDHALL SCHOOL OF MUSIC.

Although the students' concert on Wednesday evening was far too long, several of the vocal items were above the average, and this was particularly the case with Miss Eveline London, who, aided by a voice of fine quality, sang "The Promise of Life" with real artistic feeling, and received no less than three recalls. An organ solo of Bach's prelude and fugue in B minor was well played by Mr. Walter Webber, and Miss Constance Pélissier in her piano solo, Allemande, Gavotte and Musette (D'Albert), proved a clever executant. The second organ solo in this concert, Mendelssohn's Second Sonata, was given by Mr. J. Eric Salter, and Mr. Arthur Hardy may be commended for his singing in the aria "O Lisbona," from Donizetti's Don Sebastiano. Mr. Charles Sinden's pleasing voice and good singing were effectively employed in "When shadows gather," while other able vocalists were Miss Bessie Howlett, heard in two songs of Coleridge Taylor, "Oh! what comes over the sea" and "When I am dead, my dearest," and Miss Winifred Miller, in "Softly awakes my heart," from Samson and Delilah, an air which certainly deserves a rest from students' concerts, though Miss Miller sang the familiar music artistically. Miss Marjorie Weston (a pupil of Mr. Cairns James) recited "He fell among thieves," "Curly Locks," and "Nini Ninette Ninon" cleverly, and a pupil of Mr. Paul Berton, Mrs. Liddall, gave "The birth of the opal," "Butterflies," and "Seeing things at night." Besides the two recitations, relief was afforded to the many songs by a well-played mandoline solo, "The mocking bird," by Miss Beryl Cremer, and a piano solo of Reinhold's impromptu, in which Mrs. Nellie Polybiank was much applauded.

A PROFESSIONAL matinée will be given of Miss Elizabeth Baker's play, Chains, at the Duke of York's Theatre on Tuesday next.

THE matinée to Mr. Edward Russell, which was to have taken place at the Queen's Theatre yesterday afternoon, has been postponed indefinitely.

"A MISSED ENTRANCE."

Unusual questions were raised in an action for wrongful dismissal heard at Salford County Court on Tuesday. The plaintiff was James Durford Geddes, of Billericay, Essex, who sued Harry Armitage and Arthur Leigh, as Armitage and Leigh, touring the drama With Edged Tools, for £9, made up of £3 salary due on March 19 last, when he was dismissed at Victoria Theatre, Broughton, and £6 as two weeks' salary in lieu of notice. Alternatively £6 was claimed as damages for wrongful dismissal.

The defence was that plaintiff was justifiably dismissed, the reasons being that he had "missed entrance" twice, that he had failed to travel with the company, and that on one occasion he had a friend in his dressing-room without asking permission, according to an "unwritten rule" of the stage.

Solicitor for the plaintiff said the latter missed one particular "entrance" in which he merely had to open a door and show somebody in. He went through the rest of the performance, and on going to his dressing-room the stage-manager came and complained to him about his not being ready. Then Mr. Armitage came in and abused him, refused to listen to what he had to say, and finished up by saying "You can finish with me to-morrow night for ever."

The defence alleged that the "entrance" missed by plaintiff occurred at a most critical juncture in the play.

The defendant, Mr. Armitage, manager of the company and author of the play, said the situation was that a young lady was playing fast and loose with the affections of two men, and the father of one of them was not satisfied that his son should marry the woman. He discovers that she is pledged to another, and brings two other men from Africa. At the hour when his own son is about to make up his mind about the young lady, the father pushes the man from Africa into the drawing-room into the presence of the young lady and his son. Plaintiff was playing the old man, and it was essential that he should be seen by the audience pushing the man from Africa into the room. It was this "entrance"—the pushing of the man from Africa into the room—that was missed by the plaintiff. He had previously missed the same "entrance" during the tour.

For the plaintiff, Mr. Hamilton Deane said that though it was decidedly a custom for the permission of the stage-manager to be obtained for a friend to visit an actor in the theatre, it was a custom more honoured in the breach than the observance.

The defendant Armitage said that it was the custom that no artist must introduce a stranger behind the scenes without the stage-manager's permission. Even he himself asked this permission from his own stage-manager. On the occasion when plaintiff was dismissed he (Armitage) left his dressing-room open to give plaintiff an opportunity of coming in and offering an apology for "missing entrance." But Geddes walked insolently past, singing and whistling. He (Armitage) then rushed upstairs and abused him.

Mr. Goldsmith, the stage-manager of the company, said that when he spoke to plaintiff about missing his entrance Geddes smiled a cynical smile, which annoyed him.

Deputy-Judge Strachan held that the importance of the occasion in the drama when plaintiff missed entrance, and the fact that he had done so before, justified dismissal, though the other complaints against him would not have done so.

Plaintiff was allowed the week's salary of £3 due to him when dismissed—which had been paid into court—but on the claim for wrongful dismissal judgment was for the defendants with costs.

Before leaving court plaintiff shook hands with Mr. Armitage and the witnesses for the defence.

The solicitor for the plaintiff was Mr. Cobbett, and for the defendants Mr. Walter Chatterton.

[Photo by U.S.A. Studios.

Above is the portrait of Mr. Lawrence Derrick, who cleverly doubled two principal parts in the production of The Master of the Mill at the Shakespeare Theatre, Clapham Junction, last week. The above sketch represents him as Philip Darton, the broken-down swell, in which he made a conspicuous success.

MR. JOHN GAFFNEY, secretary and manager of the Liverpool Shakespeare Theatre, with which he has been connected since it was erected twenty-two years ago, will on Thursday evening next, take his annual benefit. The event is looked upon as a red-letter night.

THE dramatic season at the Empire Theatre, Swindon, closed last week, after a comprehensive series of attractions, which included such brilliant successes as A Chinese Honeymoon, Prince and Beggar-maid, Lucky Durham, King of Cadonia, Walls of Jericho, Raffles, The Flag Lieutenant, A White Man, The Arcadians, Gay Gordons, and The Merry Widow. This week an excellent programme has been secured for the opening of the variety season, a reversion to the two-houses-a-night practice being made.

IN connection with the Royal Academy of Music, the Sterndale Bennett Scholarship (for any branch of music) has been awarded to Arthur Alexander, a native of Dunedin, New Zealand (Pianoforte and Composition). The adjudicators were Messrs. T. B. Knott, Joseph Blaha, and F. Corder (chairman). The Thalberg Scholarship (pianoforte) has been awarded to Catherine Muriel Mann, a native of Sheffield. The adjudicators were Messrs. Felix Swinstead, Claude Pollard, and Herbert Lake (chairman). The Charles Rube Prize (ensemble playing) has been awarded to Edwin Quaife, Willie Davies, Phyllis I. Mitchell, and Benno I. Pitt. The adjudicator was Mr. Gerald Walenn.

"THE ROMANCE OF A KING."

A Comedy-Drama, in Three Acts, by John O. Monk, Produced for the First Time on any stage at the Queen's Theatre, Manchester, on Monday, May 23.

Jack Montague ..... MR. A. B. IMESON
Ludvig ..... MR. ERNEST B. IMESON
Count von Borensdorf ..... MR. W. H. PERETTE
Baron von Wollenstein ..... MR. W. R. WINNING
Captain Brunstadt ..... MR. HARRY J. WOOD
The Raven ..... MR. J. R. DARNLEY
Karl ..... MR. J. D. FOX
Officer ..... MR. JULIAN GALLIER
Baroness von Woollenstein ..... MISS MOIRA CREEGAN
Mlle. Natalie D'Orsay ..... MISS ETHEL MAGUIRE
Princess Sylvia of Moretania ..... MISS LILIAN CHRISTINE

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

Mr. Monk's play, The Romance of a King, though in many of its details fresh and entertaining, deals with scenes and circumstances with which we have been familiar for some time. The little German state which has no place on the map, with its Court and its intrigues and picturesque love affairs, has been frequently employed for the romantic value of its setting, and the piece under notice is well up to the average achievement of its kind. The action opens at King Ludvig's hunting lodge in Waldburg, where we learn that the Baroness von Wollenstein has fallen in love with Ludvig, much to the distress and indignation of her husband, who cannot persuade her to give up her infatuation. Ludvig is not an estimable character—he is described by Count von Borensdorf as a tyrant and a scoundrel—and this is all the more reason why the Baron has no compunction in entering into a plot to depose the King. By an odd coincidence, one Jack Montague, a journalist, found prowling round the grounds and arrested as a spy, bears a striking resemblance to Ludvig, and it is proposed to substitute this light-hearted adventurer for the offender, who shall be secretly incarcerated in a lunatic asylum. Montague, seeing entertainment in the idea, though naturally protesting, yields to pressure, and dons the king's raiment after the latter has been cracked on the head by the Baron, who has found him in the act of embracing the Baroness, and so, prompted by the Prime Minister, Von Borensdorf, Montague makes quite an acceptable substitute. He is, in fact, a surprise to his subjects, for he is not the tyrant Ludvig was; his manners at Court are charming, and the people are freed of many oppressive taxes, all of which changes are ascribed to the blow he received upon the head. Still, the state is heavily in debt, and, to change this also, a marriage is arranged between the King and Princess Sylvia of Moretania, whose wealth is great. The latter, however, masquerades as Fraulein Dorothea Romada, visiting Waldburg thus in order to acquaint herself with the real character of Ludvig, about whom she has heard evil reports. When she meets the King, of course, she finds him charming, while on his part he falls in love with her headlong. He determines to marry her at any cost, in spite of the mandate in favour of Princess Sylvia, whose identity he does not for a moment suspect. Enter now the Raven, otherwise known as the Prophet, who finds Montague alone in the Palace grounds, and informs him that the real King of Waldburg is not he who has so long occupied the throne, but one who was kidnapped when a child. The resemblance between the two was great, but the true King may be known by the mark of a cross on his right forearm. One is not surprised to hear that Montague has such a mark upon him, and when the Raven offers to give up some written proofs of his statement in return for certain privileges, the former, with no more ado, shoots the fellow in the hand and takes the papers from him. The Raven, who is a revolutionary, goes away threatening death to the King. Montague, assured that he is the King indeed, still clings to the idea of marrying Dorothea, though he sacrifice his kingdom for her, and there is a scene when he refuses to sign the marriage contract that should bind him to the Princess Sylvia. Afterwards, while on parade, a bomb is thrown, presumably by the revolutionists, but he is unharmed. Now, also, it is found that Ludvig has escaped from the asylum, and while on the scene he is recognised by the Baroness von Wollenstein; but complications are averted by further bomb-throwing, by which the guilty couple are killed. Montague's disclosure of his secret serves to reconcile him to the Prime Minster; but now Fraulein Dorothea is in trouble, for she is thought to be implicated in the bomb outrage, and is in imminent danger of the people. She clears herself, however, by confessing her identity, and so the whole matter comes to a happy end.

There is little or no fault to be found with the writing and construction of the play. The characters are distinct and well varied, and the dialogue is interspersed with light and relevant humour, while the staging generally was excellent. Jack Montague was capitally impersonated by Mr. A. B. Imeson, who made the most of his opportunities in the way of humorous relief, as well as in the serious passages; and a charming depiction of the dual rôle of Dorothea and the Princess was given by Miss Lilian Christine. As the Count von Borensdorf, the Prime Minister, Mr. W. H. Perette was light, strong, and in every way effective; Mr. W. R. Winning well brought out the passionate and jealous nature of the Baron; Mr. Ernest E. Imeson portrayed the deposed King of Warzburg in equally excellent fashion; and all requirements of the part of the Baroness were ably supplied by Miss Moira Creegan; while other commendable impersonations were added by Mr. J. R. Darnley as the Raven, Mr. Harry J. Wood as Captain Brunstadt, Mr. J. D. Fox as Karl (the servant at the hunting lodge), Mr. Julian Gallier as an officer, and Miss Ethel Maguire as Mlle. Natalie D'Orsay. There was not a dull moment from first to last, and Mr. Monk's play should enjoy a lengthy career.

A NEW DEPARTURE.

HASTINGS INDOOR PAGEANT.

The distinction of being the first town in England to produce a pageant within the walls of its local theatre belongs to Hastings. Hitherto one of the principal objections to be taken to pageants has been that the cost of production in many instances has been so far in excess of all possible receipts that at the end the town his found itself saddled with a heavy debt instead of a surplus, with the additional disadvantage that all available charitable resources have been exhausted for some time to come. But this fault cannot be found with the Hastings Historical Pageant, produced at the Gaiety Theatre on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of last week.

Not only has it widened the sphere of the theatre's operations by attracting to it hundreds of people who have never entered a theatre before, but it has given employment to musicians, scenic artists, printers, costumiers, wig-makers, &c. It has brought large numbers of visitors into the town, and last, but not least, has been the means of handing over to the cause for which it was organised close on £150. The organisers of this most recent and successful of pageants are to be congratulated on their stage-manager, Mr. Orlando Barnett, whose selection was justified by his former successes in the neighbourhood, as we may safely attribute the maximum of artistic success, combined with the minimum of expenditure in the case entirely to his energy and experience.

He and his capable band of fellow-workers may be credited with having brought the Hastings Pageant to a most successful issue, and let us hope that other towns with historical associations of their own will not be long in following the example of the "Premier Cinque Port."

"A FEMALE DETECTIVE."

A Melodrama in Four Acts, Produced for the First Time on any Stage at the Royal Osborne Theatre, Manchester, on Monday, May 30.

Colonel Heathcote ..... MR. T. B. BRISBOUR
Tom Heathcote, V.C. ..... MR. FRED T. SEYMOUR
Basil Vane ..... MR. GEORGE ARTHUR
Tubby Philpotts ..... MR. H. STANLEY
Reggie Lamb ..... MR. EDWIN CLARKE
John Good ..... MR. FRED WILBERFORCE
Nathaniel Leech ..... MR. T. ARTHUR PLUMMER
Silas Blott ..... MR. EVAN ROLAND
Ned Jolliboy ..... MR. HARRY LOATES
Amos Gadfly ..... MR. STANLEY ALDERSON
"Daddy" Dodman ..... MR. GEORGE JACQUES
Inspector Jarvis ..... MR. ERNEST GRIFFITHS
P.C. Doyle ..... MR. FRED STEPHENS
Simon Lobb ..... MR. HENRY McSHAVY
Felix Hogg ..... MR. MIKE LINE
Dick ..... LITTLE DORA OLGA
Emma Toogood ..... MISS KATE KILPACK
Anastasia Honeybun ..... MISS IDA FANE
Molly Bibbs ..... MISS HILDA MILLER
Peggy Green ..... MISS MAY ALDERSON
Nellie Danvers ..... MISS C. LINDA
Myra Mayne ..... MISS VIOLET CRAUFURD

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

Mr. Horace Stanley's latest venture has at least an attractive title, though one may be disappointed in expecting anything startling in the way of criminal elucidation after the manner of certain well-known models. It is rather a story of pure melodrama, in which the detective element plays a secondary part. Unfortunately one cannot say that the element in question quite justifies its title; but, apart from this objection, it may freely be said that the play has all the elements of success along the usual lines, which are exploited with skill and interest.

At "The Hawthorns," Colonel Heathcote's home, the Colonel's son Tom, a V.C. hero, is momentarily expected to arrive. Here are Nellie Danvers, the Colonel's ward, and Basil Vane, his stepson, who desires Nellie for himself, is heavily in debt, and designs to ruin Tom, if possible, in the eyes of his father, so that he may secure the Colonel's confidence and fortune for himself. Basil, in fact, is the villain of the piece, and it is not surprising to learn that the Colonel's housekeeper, Myra Mayne, is his cast-off mistress, who has had a child by him; from which circumstance much of the initial incident is evolved. It is the Colonel's intention to give to Nellie the family diamonds as a wedding presnt; but Basil persuades Myra to get possession of the keys of the safe for him, promising in return that he will give her the privilege of seeing her child again. His need of money does not, however, prevent him from carrying out a plan to get his half-brother Tom into disgrace; for, on the latter's return, he slips the stolen jewels into the pocket of the young soldier's overcoat, so that when the search comes to be made for them, Tom, who undertakes to find the thief, is apparently the delinquent. It is somewhat of a weakness that the Colonel too easily believes in the guilt of his son, especially as jewels are found also on Basil, the chief accuser; but for the purpose of the play it is enough that the father repudiates Tom and casts him out, avowing that henceforth he has no son. Basil thereafter develops into a forger, coiner, and thief, unknown to the Heathcote society, in which he thinks he may prosecute his suit for Nellie quite freely, because Myra Mayne has been rumoured drowned. On this latter point, however, he is mistaken; for Myra now is the female detective known as Leslie Dare, and is bent upon accomplishing the downfall of Basil Vane, for whom her love has turned to hate.

The Colonel meanwhile has repented of his harsh treatment of Tom, and desires to be reconciled. Basil affects to sympathise with this object, but, being in touch with Tom, assures the latter that his father is more embittered than ever against him, and so tends to keep them apart. Tom, in fact, is in Basil's power, and has yielded to the influence of drink. At this time also the Colonel, whose will is in favour of his stepson, is minded to revert it to the advantage of his son. This Basil determines to prevent, and so he murders the Colonel. Myra and Nellie are witnesses of the act, but Basil strikes Nellie down, with the result that she loses her memory of the event, and only Myra is left, by what means she may, to bring the crime home to her rascally betrayer. To this end she gets Nathaniel Leech, a mad doctor, to photograph the pupil of the dead man's eye, on the assumption that this will have retained the vision of the man who did the deed. That the face of Basil Vane is there is something gained, corroborating the popular fancy on this mysterious point.

At the inquest Basil throws the crime upon Tom, who was about the place at the time of the murder, and on circumstantial evidence Tom is handcuffed in custody. The sight of him thus, however, brings back to Nellie Danvers her memory, and she at once denounces Vane. Myra and the doctor now produce the photographic plate, and, seeing that he is cornered, Basil draws a revolver and fires at Myra. Myra's son, Dick, befriended from the gutter, is present, and it is he who receives the bullet, his identity being recognised on Vane crying out in his excitement, "I have shot my own child!" A pathetic death scene ensues, which encourages Myra, thus losing her long-lost child, more than ever to encompass the destruction of her faithless lover. Through her efforts Basil Vane is at last taken in a coiner's den, and the usual adjustments of virtue triumphant over vice bring about a happy ending.

An appealing depiction of Tom Heathcote was given by Mr. Fred T. Seymour, who realised all the heroic possibilities of the part, and his efforts in this direction were well matched by Miss C. Linda as Nellie Danvers. As Myra Mayne, the title-part, considerable skill was shown by Miss Violet Craufurd; and Mr. George Arthur's delineation of the villainous Basil Vane was full of vigour. A nice piece of work was the impersonation of Dick by little Dora Olga; while in lighter rôles Mr. Horace Stanley was capital as Tubby Philpotts, and Miss Kate Kilpack made an amusing Emma Toogood; these being supplemented by Mr. Edwin Clark as Reggie Lamb and Miss Ida Fane as Anastasia Honeybun, both agreeable character parts. All the remaining parts were correspondingly well handled, and the play gave satisfaction to a large audience.

A VERY large and fashionable audience at Covent Garden on Monday night welcomed Mme. Melba back to London, and well-known people were to be seen on all sides. Louise Duchess of Devonshire was in a box on the front tier with Lady Mary Ward. Just below, in the stalls, sat the Duchess of Beaufort and Lady Edith Villiers. The Duchess of Rutland and one of her daughters also occupied stalls, as did the Marchioness of Cholmondeley with friends. Lady Blanche Conyngham was accompanied by Mr. and Mme. Vagliano, and the Countess of Kilmorey was with Mrs. Hall Walker in a stage box. Mr. and Lady Gwendoline Spencer-Churchill were present; Sir Philip and Lady Grey-Egerton were in the first tier of boxes; and Lady Maud Warrender and Lady Speyer were together. Others of interest in a crowded house were Lord and Lady Brassey, the Countess of Craven with her father, Mr. Bradley Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Maldwyn Drummond, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oppenheim, Baron Max de Tuyll, the Earl and Countess of Ilchester, Mrs. Charles van Raalte and her daughter, Colonel and Mrs. William Naper with Miss Trefusis, Lady Sarah Wilson, Lady Alington, Lady Newborough, Lord Cecil Manners, the Right Hon. Arnold Morley, Mr. Frank Muriella, the Hon. Bernard Yorke, and Colonel John Leslie.

THEATRICAL GOSSIP.

SIR CHARLES WYNDHAM, who appeared with so much success at the Criterion Theatre on Wednesday in The Case of Rebellious Susan, will return to America at Christmas, previously appearing at the New Theatre in a new play adapted from M. Favre's Les Vainqueurs. The leading part, that of an ambitious young parliamentary barrister, who rises in political life till he has won the position of Chancellor of the Exchequer, and who falls from his high estate through his son, will be sustained by Sir Charles, who has also secured a comedy by Mr. Walter Ellis called The Duke and the Demi-God, the deity in question being an American millionaire. Sir Charles, when he returns to America, will take over a company entirely English, and will appear in a round of his most successful plays. After The Case of Rebellious Susan at the Criterion, he will give himself a rest before presenting the version of Les Vainqueurs at the New.

MR. EDWARD TERRY'S annual autumn tour will commence on July 28 at the Theatre Royal, Margate. The Toymaker of Nuremberg (by arrangement with Mr. Charles Frohman) has been added to Mr. Terry's already extensive repertoire, and amongst the artists engaged is Mr. Robert Pateman.

MR. CYRIL MAUDE has commissioned Mr. Austin Strong to prepare, under the title of Rip, a new version of Washington Irving's "Rip Van Winkle," and will put it on at the Playhouse at the conclusion of the run of Tantalising Tommy, which we are glad to see has already exceeded its hundredth performance. Amongst previous adaptations of the novel is the version in which Joseph Jefferson appeared at the Adelphi, under the management of Benjamin Webster, in 1865, and those used by Sir Herbert Tree, the late Fred Leslie, and Mr. Fred Storey. Mr. Cyril Maude's reading of the rôle of Rip will be a most interesting one, and, like all Mr. Maude does, thoroughly artistic.

MISS WINIFRED EMERY will go on tour in the autumn with Mr. William Devereux's successful play Sir Walter Ralegh. Miss Emery will repeat her immensely successful representation of Queen Elizabeth, and Mr. Lyn Harding will enact Sir Walter Ralegh. Scenery and dresses will be new, and the dramatic and patriotic piece will surely be received with delight in the provinces.

MISS ELLEN TERRY, Miss Gertrude Elliott (Mrs. Forbes Robertson), and Miss Irene Vanbrugh (Mrs. Dion Boucicault) have joined the Women's Aerial League. Mrs. Watt Smyth is the hon. secretary of the League, and the offices are at 227, Strand.

THE first Mozart Festival to be given in any country outside Germany will open at His Majesty's on June 20. The opening night will be devoted to the Eastern opera Il Seraglio, in which the principal soprano part will be taken by a famous soprano from the Grand Opera, Paris. A specially designed new mise-en-scène and entirely new costumes will make the performance among the most brilliant ever given. Le Nozze di Figaro, with "Cosi fan tutte," the nearest approach to comic opera that Mozart has written, will be included in the répertoire.

IT is now generally conceded that Mozart did not write his operas with a view to their being presented upon immense stages and before vast multitudes. He knew the conditions under which his works were to be produced, and he fitted his conceptions in proportion to his surroundings. At His Majesty's the Mozartian conditions are about to be realised as far as is humanly possible. The intimacy which Mozart's music conveys to us is not in future to be obliterated by great gulfs fixed between the stage and the auditorium—only the orchestra will intervene.

MR. CHARLES FROHMAN and Mr. Arthur Bourchier have decided to call Mr. Kenneth Barnes's adaptation of Paul Hervieu's Connais-Toi, which will be played at the Globe on Monday, Glass Houses, and to put on in front of it a one-act piece dealing with life in "mean streets," by Arthur Eckersley and Arthur Curtis, entitled The Trap. Mr. James Lindsay, Mr. William Burchill, Miss Daisy Markham, and Miss May Holland will be in the cast of the "curtain-raiser."

The Girl in the Train, the new musical play adapted by Victor Leon from the Viennese success Die Geschiedene Frau, which Mr. George Edwardes will produce at the Vaudeville Theatre this evening, is described as a merry farce set to music. The score, by Leo Fall, is full of vivacity, and the story, which turns on the loan of a reserved compartment in a sleeping carriage to a young lady by a respectable married man, and the resulting jealousy of his wife, is of the most diverting description. The cast includes Miss Clara Evelyn, Miss Katie Welsh, Miss Madeline Seymour, Miss Phyllis Dare, Mr. Robert Evett, Mr. Rutland Barrington, Mr. Fred Emney, Mr. Percy Davison, Mr. Alec. Fraser, Mr. Paul Plunket, and Mr. Huntley Wright.

IN another column will be found the report of a case concerning stage plays at the Albert Hall, in the course of which the magistrate put the following question to Mr. T. A. D'Arcy Chilvers, the London County Council solicitor: "What is an operetta? Is not that a theatrical form?" and received the answer, "I think not, sir." We beg most distinctly to differ. On a reference to the dictionary Mr. Chilvers will find that an operetta is "a short opera or musical drama of light character."

AT the Gaiety Theatre, Hastings, on Monday, where the F. R. Benson Shakespearean company is performing, a good laugh was raised at the expense of Halley's comet by Mr. Henry Herbert, who was playing Petruchio to Miss Gladys Vanderzee's Katherine. Pet.: I say it is the moon. Kath.: I know it is. Pet.: Nay, then, you lie; it is the comet.

A SUMMER festival will be held at Stratford-on-Avon from July 25 to August 13. Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Benson and their Shakspearean Company will present several plays of Shakespeare, several being given in the open air. The postponed production of the prize play The Piper, by Josephine Preston Peabody, will take place on July 28. Miss Marion Terry has been engaged for the part of Veronika. The festival programme will also include concerts arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mallinson, of Dresden, morris dances, country dances, folk songs, and old English games.

AFTER several years of endeavour, Mr. Klaw, of Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger, has at last succeeded, by a very tempting offer, in inducing Miss Julia Neilson, Mr. Fred Terry, and their company, with the entire productions of The Scarlet Pimpernel and Henry of Navarre, to pay a flying visit to America for eight weeks. They will sail on Oct. 8 from Tilbury, opening at the New Amsterdam Theatre on Oct. 24, where they will play The Scarlet Pimpernel and Henry of Navarre for six weeks, and then visit Philadelphia and Boston for one week each, returning to London in time to open their usual spring season at the New Theatre.

SIR HERBERT TREE, whose appearance in The O'Flynn in Dublin has been a great success, will, Henry VIII. at His Majesty's. Mr. Arthur Bourchier will appear as the King, Miss Violet Vanbrugh will play Queen Katharine, Mr. A. E. George will be the Cranmer, and Mr. Henry Ainley will enact the Duke of Buckingham. Sir Herbert Tree will play Wolsey, a part in which Macready appeared at Covent Garden on Jan. 15, 1823, the character of the Cardinal being undertaken by the late Sir Henry Irving at the Lyceum on Jan. 5, 1892. It ran for two hundred and three performances, the receipts being over sixty-six thousand pounds. Sir Henry's production was elaborate, but Sir Herbert's at His Majesty's is pretty certain to exceed it in the matter of spectacle. As a contrast to these heavy responsibilities, Sir Herbert is collaborating with Mr. Alfred Noyes in a children's play for Christmas, to be called The Forest of Wild Thyme.

To an interviewer of the Southport Chronicle Sir Herbert Tree has confided the fact that he is an enthusiastic convert to the idea of a cheap theatre. "There is too much that is dull, drab, and unattractive in the theatres themselves," said the eminent actor. "The lights are too low, and the prices are too high. The variety theatre managements have come along with their big, splendid theatre, their comfortable seats, their richly carpeted floors, their wonderfully cheap admission, and their quick entertainment, to say nothing of their smoking. Is it any wonder that the theatre proper has felt the competition?. It would have been a wonder had they not done so."

MR. LEWIS WALLER, when his season at the Lyric is concluded, will go to New York, where he will make his first appearance in September at the New Amsterdam Theatre in Henry V. Mr. Waller will also take with him a selection of plays from his repertory.

MR. OSCAR ASCHE and Miss Lily Brayton, who have been achieving social and artistic triumph in Australia, commence their season at the New Theatre in October.

MR. E. HARCOURT WILLIAMS is anxious to give in Manchester during the week of July 4 a series of plays out of doors. The great difficulty, however, is to find a suitable place in a sufficiently central position. Should any of our readers be generous enough to place their grounds at his disposal for this purpose, he would be happy to pay a percentage of the gross receipts to any charity that might be named, without involving the owner in any monetary risk.

THE Stage Society's latest selection is a comedy, in four acts, by Ashley Dukes, entitled Civil War, which will be produced at the Aldwych to-morrow (Sunday) evening and on Monday afternoon. The cast will comprise Miss Annie Hill, Mr. Frederic Sargent, Mr. James Hearn, Mr. E. Cresfan, Mr. J. Fisher White, Mr. Lewis Casson, Mr. Philip Knox, Mr. Athol Stewart, Miss Frances Wetherall, Miss Penelope Wheeler, and Miss Mabel Knowles. The play introduces a Communist Colony, and the action is laid at the present day. Mr. Dukes, it may be added, is the critic of the New Age.

MANY is the good yarn told of Karl Goldmark by himself as well as by his friends. For example, a lady whom he met in society was unable to make up her mind exactly as to who Goldmark was. On being told that he was "the composer of 'The Queen of Sheba,'" she promptly retorted that that must be a very lucrative post!

MR. JUAN BUONAPARTE, who traces his ancestry to the great Napoleon, is this week at the Queen's Theatre, Manchester, in the title-rôle of The Man of Fate. Mr. Buonaparte shows that he is the great grandson from Napoleon the First and the Countess Olga Strelewski. He was brought up and educated in Belgium, and gained honours in the art of music. Later he went on to the operatic stage. Curiously enough, Mr. Buonaparte's leading lady in the production is Miss Ella Erskine, daughter of a British general, and descendant of Lord Erskine.

MR. CHARLES FROHMAN'S plans, when he made his original announcement of his Repertory Theatre scheme a year ago, were to give a season at the Duke of York's Theatre and to run it on into the summer. He will keep that promise, and resume the season, after an interval, next February. The receipts of the Repertory Theatre so far have been fully equal to Mr. Frohman's expectations.

THE long-expected Irving Memorial, which is to be erected in Charing Cross-road, on a site almost facing the Garrick Theatre, is to be unveiled this month by Sir John Hare. Mr. Thomas Brock, R.A., was to have finished the work by December, 1909, but commissions for statues are rarely carried out "to time."

SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE'S new play, in three acts, entitled The Speckled Band: An Adventure of Sherlock Holmes, which will be produced at the Adelphi this evening, has a cast including Mr. Lyn Harding, Miss Christine Silver, Miss Agnes Thomas, Mr. A. S. Homewood, Mr. Wilton Ross, Mr. Arthur Burne, Mr. C. Later, Mr. Spencer Trevor, Mr. J. J. Bartlett, Mr. Frank Ridley, Mr. Geoffrey Hill, Mr. George Laundy, Mr. H. A. Saintsbury, Mr. Claude King, Master Cecil F. Lowrie, Mr. A. G. Craig, Miss Gwendoline Floyd, Mr. A. Corney Grain, and Mr. Frank Ridley. Much interest will attach to the means by which the reptile will be represented, whether by a trained dive snake or by a mechanical imitation. In the latter case we are sure that the result will not resemble that created by the elaborately-contrived asp once used by a certain very inferior French actress as Cleopatra. The snake was made to hiss loudly, and a witty spectator remarked, "I agree with the asp."

MR. LEO TREVOR'S "new and entrancing melodrama of real life," The Pick of Oakham; or, The Girl with the Bad Habit, which is to be produced at "The National Memorial Theatre" in the Botanic Gardens at the Theatrical Garden Party, on behalf of the Actors' Orphanage Fund, is subtitled "a tale of the Shiers." In a cricket match on the same occasion Mr. Charles Hawtrey, at the head of one eleven, will play another led by Miss Vane Featherston. Other artists who will join in the game are Mr. Arthur Bourchier, who is an excellent bat, Mr. James Welch, who will be long-stop, and Mr. Lyn Harding, who will keep wicket.

IT will be again a great day at the Botanic Gardens, and the co-operation of all branches of the profession having been secured, "the Grand Order of Water-Rats" will run a music-hall. Thirty actresses will distribute ice-creams in a crowded tent, under the hospitable supervision of Miss Winifred Emery, Miss Evelyn Millard, and Mrs. A. E. Mangles. In the shooting-gallery Miss Gabrielle Ray will challenge anybody—who happens to be there at the time. One pretty item of the programme will be the sale (by auction) of a beautiful doll which Miss Irene Vanbrugh has dressed in exact imitation of her own costume in Trelawny of the Wells.

"HONOUR IS SATISFIED," a play in one act, by Charles Eddy, was produced for copyright purposes at the Shaftesbury on June 2.

MR. MARTIN HARVEY, who has received such a hearty welcome back to his old home, announces that a second matinée will be given at the Lyceum Theatre each week, commencing Saturday next, June 11. Richard III. has been remarkably well received by Lyceum audiences throughout the week, and the length of the queues and the state of the advance booking indicate that a long run awaits the revival. It is interesting to learn that the red gloves worn by Mr. Harvey as Richard belonged to the late Sir Henry Irving, who used them as Richelieu.

MR. MARTIN HARVEY'S speech at his revival of Richard III. at the Lyceum on Saturday was as follows:—"Ladies and gentlemen,—You will believe that at this moment I do not know how to thank you, even with the small amount of breath I have left, for the magnificent welcome you have given to us. Miss De Silva and all my fellow-workers here to-night would like to thank you, but they cannot all talk at once, so I will do my best to thank you for them. We owe you a debt of gratitude for the splendid encouragement you have given us. Our production to-night would have been impossible had it not been for the loyal co-operation of everyone in this theatre, particularly amongst so many who have endeared themselves to their audiences here in past productions. I thank you again for the affectionate way in which you have greeted us. For myself, my heart is too full to speak—full of gratitude for your cheers and encouragement, and full of remembrances of many years that I passed within these walls, learning what little I know of my work under the splendid spur of the greatest personality which our stage history knows. I cannot say more than to express again my very deep gratitude for the way in which you have received us, and wish you all an affectionate good-night."

MR. H. B. IRVING, at the end of the performance of Robert Macaire on Saturday last, in answer to demands for a speech, said:—"Ladies and gentlemen, I can only thank you most heartily for the way in which you have received the two plays to-night. I am sure you are grateful as I am to my friend, Mr. Alexander, for having enabled me to introduce to you Judge Not, which I hope you found the interesting part of the play. I also thank you for the way you received Robert Macaire. I assure you such a piece is entirely dependent upon how you receive it. Both Mr. Reynolds and myself are very grateful to you."

SLANDEROUS statements against the stage took a new form at the recent purity meeting at the Church Institute, Newcastle, when Canon Southwell is reported to have made some very serious allegations against the theatres and music halls of the city, alleging that many acts of impropriety took place in theatres, &c., during the semi-darkness incidental to the performances. This speech has raised a great outcry amongst the Newcastle public, many letters of protest being published in the local Press.

THE managers of the local theatres held a meeting at the Tyne Theatre, Newcastle, to consider the position. Amongst those present were Mr. Fred Sutcliffe, of the Tyne Theatre; Mr. F. Teale Lingham, Theatre Royal; Mr. F. W. Bolam, Grand, Metropole, and Queen's Theatres; Mr. R. C. Elder, Grand Theatre; Mr. Todd, Pavilion Theatre; Mr. J. Clark, Palace Theatre; and Mr. Lindon Travers, Olympia. The position of the theatres and their managers, as affected by Canon Southwell's statements, was discussed at some length by the meeting, and it was decided finally to postpone any further action until Canon Southwell made his reply public. The matter was also discussed at the meeting of the Theatrical Managers' Association on Thursday, a report of which appears in another column.

DR. W. H. CUMMINGS, the principal of the Guildhall School of Music, who will soon be seventy-nine, has, we are sorry to hear, been unwell for some time past, and has been granted a leave of absence of three months by the City Corporation.

MR. CLAUDE VERNON and Miss Sinna St. Clair sailed on Friday last per s.s. Orsova for Australia, to fulfil their engagement with Mr. Gaston Mayer. Mr. Vernon will produce and manage The Brass Bottle, in Australia, and Miss St. Clair will personify the rôle of Mrs. Rapkin. Mr. Vernon and Miss St. Clair desire us to thank all friends for their many letters and good wishes.

THE cast of The Winter's Tale, which will be read by the British Empire Shakespeare Society on Monday afternoon next at the Imperial Institute, will include Mr. William Devereux as Leontes, Mr. Acton Bond as Autolycus, Mr. Franklin Dyall as Polixenes, Mr. Fewlass Llewellyn as Antigonus, Mr. George Silver as Camillo, Mr. Maurice Elvey as Florizel, Mr. J. Edwyn Holloway as Shepherd, Mr. J. Henry Twyford as Clown, Mr. Walter Armstrong as Archidamus, Miss Gertrude Scott as Paulina, Miss Rita Tomkins as Mopsa, Miss Marjorie Hopcraft as Dorcas, Miss Gwladys Morris as Emilia, Miss Eve Tame as Time, Miss Dorothy Lemarchand as Mamillius, and Miss Frances Dillon as Hermione and Perdita.

ARRANGEMENTS have been made by Mr. Edwin T. Heys, business-manager of the Gaiety Theatre, Manchester, for a summer tour of Bernard Shaw's play Candida, opening at the Opera House, Buxton, on June 30. The company includes the young Irish actress, Miss Maire O'Neill, who is appearing with the Abbey Theatre, Dublin, company at the Court this week; Miss Muriel Pratt, Messrs. Ian Maclaren, Frank Darch, Francis Hope, Leonard Mudie, and Esme Percy, all members of Miss Horniman's company.

MISS GWLADYS WYNNE was married to Mr. Milton Sills, an American actor, on May 26, at the Royal Chapel of the Savoy. Miss Wynne was recently seen in London at the Adelphi as Mary in The Servant in the House, her success in which earned her well-deserved recognition. Mr. Sills has just ended a season under David Belasco as leading man for Miss Blanche Bates. During the coming season he will occupy a similar position with Miss Grace George in the United States.

MR. WILLIAM ROSE, F.R.C.S., who has just died in his sixty-third year, was a consulting surgeon to King's College Hospital, the Royal Free Hospital, the London, Brighton, and Great Eastern Railway Companies, and senior surgeon to the Actors' Association. He wrote largely on various surgical subjects.

MR. HERBERT TRENCH'S Blue Bird tour will commence at Leeds on Sept. 7. The company and the mounting down to the smallest details will be the same as those used at the Haymarket, so that the provinces will enjoy a great artistic treat.

MR. EADE MONTEFIORE, the director and producer for the répertoire season of Robertson comedies, which starts at the Coronet Theatre on Monday, has engaged Mr. Thomas Sidney and Mr. Montague Wigan for the stage-management of these productions. The engagement of Mr. Wigan is particularly interesting, as he is a descendant of the well-known actors Alfred and Horace Wigan, the former of whom appeared in many of Robertson's plays, notably as Rudolf Harthal in Dreams. At one time Alfred was lessee and manager of the St. James's Theatre, where he produced A Scrap of Paper in 1860. Mr. Montague Wigan, who was for some time assistant stage-manager to Mr. George Alexander at the St. James', graduated with Mr. F. R. Benson, and as recently as April last stage-managed Mr. Martin Harvey's production of Richard III. at Dublin.

MR. NORMAN V. NORMAN is making arrangements to run another season of pastoral plays in July. Mr. Norman has made a speciality of this class of production, and gives plays that are not generally seen in pastoral productions.

MR. NORMAN V. NORMAN, who on Monday, with Miss Beatrice Wilson, started a repertory season at the Theatre Royal, Plymouth, says: "The greatest difficulty in the way of the successful carrying through of projects of this kind is the authors. They discourse at length on the decline of British drama. In after-dinner speeches they utter jeremiads against the people whose palate is only for musical comedy. When, however, we wish to present some of those masterpieces to the public we find the greatest difficulty in doing so, because those authors are the very people who stand out for their pound of flesh.

"They say," Mr. Norman continued, "that the public are not appreciative, and yet they demand exorbitant and heavy royalties. My candid opinion is that they do not care what plays are produced as long as they receive their royalties. It is easy enough when one takes one play on tour, but if one establishes a 'season,' and desires to produce half a dozen or so plays, the expense very often borders on the prohibitive."

Mr. Norman is a West of England man, and well known to an earlier generation of sportsmen. He has played both Rugby football and cricket for Gloucester, his native country. He is at present one of the very few actors entitled to wear both the M.C.C. and I Zingari colours. He is an official of the Southern Counties Hockey Association, has umpired in international hockey matches, and is at present vice-president to nine hockey clubs and eight cricket clubs.

MR. MARCUS D. DRAPER, who for the past year has been playing Mr George Alexander's part of Oscar Stephensson in The Prodigal Son, under Mr. Wentworth Croke's management, has secured from that gentleman a lease of Mr. Hall Caine's popular play The Christian, and will take it on a long tour, commencing in July. The bookings already extend well into next spring, and he is rapidly filling up his autumn dates.

As Mr. Draper is drawing on Mr. Croke's artists for his cast wherever possible, and Mr. Croke has kindly consented to set the seal of his approval upon the company, there should be no doubt as to the qualifications of the artists. For the part of Glory Quayle the services of Miss Gladys Purnell, who played the part with conspicuous success in Mr. Croke's principal company last year, have been secured. Mr. Draper will, of course, himself play John Storm. Mr. William Collard will be the business manager. An entirely new and elaborate scenic production is being painted for the tour.

We regret to hear that Mr. G. P. Huntley, who has made such a hit in New York as Eccles in Caste, is suffering from a serious attack of typhoid fever.

MISS LOUIE ADAIR will create the leading part in the production of the new play, It's Always the Woman, by Riada, at the Shakespeare Theatre, Clapham, on June 20.

MISS LILA FIELD will give at the Queen's Theatre on Tuesday a matinée of The Lily Queen, a new fairy play in two scenes, written by herself, and performed by Miss Field's "wonder-children."

THE Music Committee of the Corporation of London have kindly lent the Guildhall School of Music theatre on the 27th, 28th, and 29th inst. for three performances for charitable objects of Give Heed, a modern morality play by Miss Blanche Vulliamy, which has been previously seen at the school and at the Court Theatre. The piece will be performed by pupils of Miss Kate Rorke and Mr. Bassett Roe.

MISS A. E. F. HORNIMAN, who has done so much for the "advance" drama at the Gaiety Theatre, Manchester, has had the degree of M.A. conferred upon her by Manchester University, an honour which was thoroughly well deserved.

MISS MARGARET MORRIS, a new and clever dancer, now takes the part of Water in The Blue Bird at the Haymarket, and greatly distinguishes herself in the mimic combat between that element and Fire in the first act of the artistic play.

A SILVER match-box will be given by Mr. Wentworth Croke for the best bulldog exhibited by an actor in the theatrical class at the annual Championship Show of the Ladies' Kennel Association, to be held at the Royal Botanical Gardens on Thursday and Friday next.

THE Theatre Royal, Torquay, closed last week for a short vacation. It will be reopened on June 13 for a stock season, which is being arranged by Mr. Frank Weathersby. This is the first time the theatre company have opened during the summer months, and the result of the venture will be watched with interest.

BY kind permission of Mrs. Godfrey Baring a meeting to inaugurate the work of the Kensington Committee of the Shakespeare National Memorial Theatre will be held at 195, Queen's-gate, on Tuesday afternoon next at 3.30. Sir John Hare will preside, and an address will be given by Mr. J. Forbes Robertson. Invitation cards can be had on application to the secretary, Whitehall House, Charing Cross, S.W.

MISS ALMA GRIFFITHS, who has been so successful on the musical comedy stage in this country and in South Africa, has sailed for Cape Town, where she will be married on June 16 to Mr. Douglas Christopherson, joint manager of the Consolidated Gold Fields of South Africa (Limited) and one of the leading residents in Johannesburg. Miss Griffiths will be married from Groote Schuur, the beautiful house built by the late Mr. Cecil Rhodes, and now occupied by Dr. Jameson, ex-Premier of Cape Colony.

THE Misquith Hall, Madras, is being entirely rebuilt. The site upon which stand the premises of Misquith and Co., Ltd., whose name in the East is as well known as that of Collard and Collard or Broadwood in the West, will soon be occupied by one of the finest, best-equipped, and most up-to-date theatres in Southern India, and with stage accommodation for first-class dramatic, vaudeville, and concert touring companies. The entire building, stage, and auditorium will be lit by electricity throughout and cooled by large electric fans. The installation is being carried out by Messrs. Osler and Co., of Calcutta and Madras, who are responsible for the lighting of the Grand Opera House, Calcutta. The seating, consisting principally of superior tip-up chairs, is contracted for by Messrs. Lazarus and Son, E.C. The building and stage construction are in capable hands, and are being carried out under the personal supervision of Mr. Harry Shewan, who, when everything is completed, will assume the management of the New Lyric Theatre, as it has been proposed to call this new temple of the drama in the East. En passant, it may be mentioned that the platform of the old Misquith Hall has been graced by Mme. Albani, Mme. Alice Gomez, the Westminster Glee Singers, and others.

MR. WENTWORTH CROKE, Mr. Milton Bode, and Mr. Edward Compton, who have secured the Garrick Theatre from Mr. Arthur Bourchier and Mr. Herbert Sleath from June 22 till next Christmas, have arranged with Mr. Weedon Grossmith to present on the 22nd inst. the new farce in three acts called Billy's Bargain, written by a well-known actor-manager, who veils his identity under the name of "Robert Lascelles." The part of the plucky little hero of the play will be sustained by Mr. Weedon Grossmith; and Miss Fortescue, whose rare appearances in London are always looked forward to with pleasure, has been engaged for the leading female part.

MR. WENTWORTH CROKE has bought the provincial rights in Mrs. Hodgson Burnett's play, The Dawn of a To-Morrow, which was recently produced with such excellent results at the Garrick, subsequent to a very successful trial at Liverpool, whose verdict is certain to be endorsed by other leading provincial towns, Mr. Croke has also secured from Mr. Hall Caine the entire rights for South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, and Tasmania of his new and powerful drama The Bishop's Son, which Mr. Croke, in association with Messrs. Milton Bode and Edward Compton will produce this autumn at the Garrick Theatre.

THE Scottish Playgoers will produce at the Royalty Theatre, Glasgow, on Monday a new play by J. J. Bell, entitled Oh, Christina! The cast will include Miss Elspeth Dudgeon, Miss Lola Duncan, Miss Margaret Nybloc, Miss Agnes Bartholomew, Miss Blanche Pearl, Mr. Campbell Gullan, Mr. George Tawde, Mr. Walter Roy, and Mr. Norman McKeown.

THE rest of the late Sir Thomas Phillips's library, which will be sold by auction on June 6 and four following days, at Sotheby's, includes an original deed on vellum, with the autograph signature of David Garrick, Charles II.'s Original Book of Exchequer Accounts for the years 1662-70, containing notes of various payments to Mr. Thomas Killigrew for "buildinge in the Bowlinge Green" at Whitehall, and the original MSS. of two burlesque satirical plays written by Girolama Barnfaldi, a humorist of the eighteenth century.

EXCELLENT business is being done this week at the New Theatre, Cardiff, with Mr. C. W. Standing's Marriage of Kitty company, and the charming comedy has met with a flattering reception. The cast includes Miss Winifred Pearson in her old part of Helen de Semiano and Mr. C. W. Standing as Sir Reginald Belsize.

MR. ALFRED MALLIN, who recently concluded his engagement with Messrs. Bode and Hart's Les Cloches de Corneville company, has been engaged by Mr. Alex Maclean as his business manager, ahead of the tour of My Lady Bellamy.

THE Grand Theatre, West Hartlepool, will reopen August Bank Holiday, under the management of Mr. Stanley Rogers. During the recess the theatre will be entirely redecorated and partially re-seated. It is Mr. Rogers's intention to run the theatre on high-class lines.

MISS CLAIRE TOWNSHEND, who played Jane with success in Messrs. Lestocq and Nicholls' farce of that name, for General Productions, Ltd., at Morecambe last week, has been retained to sustain the same part at New Brighton, and other leading parts in their further productions, including Are You a Mason? Miss Townshend will also give, as a prelude to the piece of the evening, her charming musical entertainment, entitled "Satires on To-day," which was so favourably received at Mr. William Peacock's theatres in Harrogate and Scarborough.

MR. WENTWORTH CROKE has arranged with Mr. Fred Terry to play The Scarlet Pimpernel at the Shakespeare Theatre, Liverpool, on Sept. 12, before leaving for America.

MR. THOMAS HARDY, several of whose novels have been dramatised, and who is the author of the colossal drama The Dynasts, reached his 70th birthday on Thursday. Mr. Hardy, we are glad to hear, is in pretty good health.

MR. ARTHUR RODNEY concludes to-night a most successful and pleasant engagement with Mr. Leigh Lovel's Ibsen répertoire company, and he is much gratified to find that the favourable criticism on his original performance of Ulfheim in Ibsen's last, When We Dead Awaken, in Brighton last autumn, has been endorsed by the leading critics in Manchester, Birmingham, Sheffield, and many other important towns besides.

AT the annual meeting of the Theatre Royal, Birmingham, held at the Grand Hotel on the 26th ult., the report, to which we have already referred in this column, was passed. In moving its adoption, Mr. Harry Lewis, who presided, said that the financial position of the company was some £4,000 better than last year. Mr. Tom B. Davis, who seconded, said the company was beginning to feel the advantage of having secured contracts ahead for various well-known artists. "Aladdin" would be the attraction at the Theatre Royal next year. The results of the spring and autumn tours had been practically the same as before, and that was the case also with the other incidental sources of revenue. This was satisfactory, in view of the fact that in Birmingham proper the places of entertainment had increased by something like seventeen picture-houses and skating-rinks.

MR. W. K. CHATTO, the acting manager of the Grand Opera House, Middlesbrough, was given a complimentary matinée on the 25th ult., to the programme of which several variety artists from the halls in the district contributed. At the conclusion of the performance, Mr. J. Charles Imeson, the lessee, on behalf of the working staff of the theatre, presented Mr. Chatto with a gold signet ring, and Mrs. Chatto with a handsome gold crescent brooch set with pearls, accompanying the presentation with a neat speech.

MR. HARRY TUNBRIDGE, who has so successfully managed the New Spa at Bridlington for the last two and a half years, and has been appointed manager of the Wellington Pier, Great Yarmouth, had a successful farewell benefit on the 26th ult., when a crowded audience assembled. Mr. Wilson James's company, the Gaieties, gave some of their choicest items. The programme also included a musical scena by Arthur Chenery, entitled Old Heidelberg, in which Mr. Tunbridge gave a most amusing rendering of the part of Limburger. The concluding item was a capital burlesque of the play Chantecler, also by Mr. Chenery. Miss Ruby Wilson was a charming Guinea Fowl, Mr. Wilson James a fine representative of Chantecler, and Mr. Fred Gregory a gay Golden Pheasant.

JUST before the last item Mr. Whitaker, the chairman of the New Spa Company, came on the stage accompanied by Mr. Tunbridge, Mr. R. C. Luxton (the new manager), and other gentlemen. Mr. Whitaker expressed regret at the loss they were sustaining by the departure of Mr. Tunbridge, and wished him success in his new venture. Councillor R. Turner then presented Mr. Tunbridge with a timepiece and pair of bronzes, which had been subscribed for by the many friends he has made in Bridlington; and the recipient in a few well chosen words expressed his thanks. Mr. Whitaker then introduced Mr. Luxton to the audience.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Frame and All.

MRS. ALEC TWEEDIE, in a sympathetic appreciation of the late Sir William Orchardson, has much that is interesting to tell, and we quote the following personal reminiscence: "'Funny things happen sometimes,' once said the painter. 'This morning I received a letter from America, many pages long, from a man who is writing a play, and he says, "I want your gracious permission to use your picture of 'Napoleon on the Deck of the Bellerophon.' I will have it copied in the best possible style, frame and all, and use it on the hoardings with your name in full underneath." Frame and all, and my name underneath. What an offer! Evidently he thinks no higher compliment could be paid me.'"

Gilbert Up to Date.

IN spite of the apparent general exodus to Europe, The Mikado has renewed its youth and charm in New York so completely that nobody would have guessed it was a day older than when the three little maids first came home from school more than a quarter of a century ago. But with the renewal have come topical additions to Sir William Gilbert's unapproachable libretto. Jefferson de Angelis, as Lord High Executioner, takes liberties with the Gilbertian text by amplifying the little list of people who never would be missed. Says the Morning Leader correspondent: "He made Gilbert include the Salome dancers, the female suffragists, and ticket speculators. It certainly was an outrage, and had W. S. Gilbert been in the house he could hardly have conceived a punishment sufficiently calculated to fit the crime."

"The Elephant."

ONE of the great merits of Shakespeare, says Mr. McDonald Rendle in London Opinion, was that he remained both practical and poetical. After playing the Ghost in Hamlet, he had plenty of time to run round to the front of the house, inspect the box-sheet, and take the "half-price"—I presume in those days it came in about six o'clock. How many, I wonder, are aware that the Elephant and Castle appears in the works of England's greatest possession? The next time you pass the famous public-house on a London County Council tramcar, just remember the question asked by Sebastian in Olivia's Garden: "Where's Antonio, then? I could not find him at the Elephant." And in the same play of Twelfth Night the brother of Viola remarks to Antonio, "I'll be your purse-bearer." "To the Elephant!" answers the sea-captain. Doubtless they were off to see the local pantomime—an annual joy whereto I invariably regale myself."

"Silly Ass" Parts.

MR. G. P. HUNTLEY, whose Eccles has been one of the most striking features of Mr. Charles Frohman's revival of Caste in New York, was asked the other day by a New York Herald interviewer if he had done with "silly ass" parts. "I fancy so," he replied, "but I am not entirely certain. To my mind the theatre going public on both sides of the Atlantic has been surfeited with him." "Did you originate the type?" "I believe that I have been credited with doing so, but there were so-called English dude types over here many years before I embraced musical comedy." We may add that the Gerald Moore type of dude was popular long before we had the Huntley type on the London stage.

Oberammergau Players.

THE true Oberammergauer never cuts his hair. When the Passion Play was interrupted in 1870 by the Franco-Prussian war, writes Mr. Archibald Marshall in the Daily Mail, those who were liable for military service had to go, but they were allowed to keep their hair long. Nineteen of those who were to have taken part in the Passion Play never came back. I was taken to the house of Johann Zwink, and we were shown into a brightly-painted room with an old porcelain stove in the corner, prepared for the accommodation of expected visitors. A sweet-faced young girl who had opened the door to us talked with us for a little and then said she would go and fetch her father. She was Ottilie Zwink, who takes the part of Mary, the Mother of Jesus. She is not yet twenty, but she is already spoken of as one of the best representatives of her difficult part that the play has ever had. She is the Mater Dolorosa, her voice full of sorrow and her eyes full of tears.

An Octogenarian Composer.

KARL GOLDMARK'S earthly career was almost brought to an untimely close. For on the capitulation of Raab to the Government forces, he was among the prisoners who were marched out in the early grey dawn to be shot as rebels. Happily for him and for all of us who are musical, an old friend—a veritable deus ex machina—appeared in the nick of time, and Goldmark's life was spared. "He is a pathetic little personage so far as my own recollection of him goes," writes "Musicus" in the Daily Telegraph. "I had the privilege of meeting him some twenty-two years or so ago what time he was living in Dresden, for the rehearsals of his fine, but unequal, opera Merlin, and in my mind's eye I still can see, I think, a little man built somewhat on the lines of Edvard Grieg, with a fine head, very broad forehead, and immense shocks of iron-grey hair and moustache, 'flowing locks powdered with silver dust.'"

Exquisite Opportunities.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Westminster Gazette having expressed, with indignant warmth, condemnation of the policy pursued by Mr. Charles Frohman's Repertory Theatre, Mr. Herbert Trench contributes to that journal a trenchant defence. Says he: "We have in your correspondent an example of the grossness of popular ingratitude. Is he unaware that any repertory theatre, like a fountain or a cathedral, is of the nature of a public gift? It involves a very wide-minded and generous natured capitalist. It can scarcely hope ever to be remunerative. It entails colossal additional labour on the part of all concerned. It requires the finest organising staff and skill. If Mr. Charles Frohman and Mr. J. M. Barrie are public spirited enough to confer these gifts, even for a time, on London, and, with the co-operation of Mr. Bouicault and Mr. Barker and Mr. Shaw, thereby to endow us with opportunities so exquisite as, say, the revival of Mr. Pinero's Trelawny of the 'Wells,' the production of Barrie's Twelve-Pound Look, of the new comedy Chains, and of George Meredith's Sentimentalists fragment (where in Europe can finer acting be seen than by this repertory company?), surely your querulous correspondent and his kind might have the common decency to refrain from carping at faults where so much excellent beauty and nobleness and labour have been bestowed?"

The Woman of Intellect.

THE authors of Le Bois Sacré, the comedy in three acts, by MM. Gaston de Caillavet and Robert de Flers, versed in the psychological art of charming, have been the first to bring on to the stage the new type of woman, who is at least an individual in comparison with her husband, a mere cypher. She is the intellectual woman, the romance writer, the artist. It is the first time (says the Paris correspondent in The Ladies' Field) that she has been presented to us on the Paris stage. Naturally all her sex are enjoying the situation. But how Fortune's wheel has turned! Ten years ago the only women we saw on the stage were the heroines of love stories, for the sake of whom men fought and died. To-day the intellectual heroine has appeared, and she it is who leads the men.

MISS EVIE GREENE'S WEDDING.

Radiant as the roses that decorated the church, that clustered in the hat of the "best girl," that, in fact, were showered right and left in her old home, Miss Evie Greene, the famous musical comedy actress, on Wednesday afternoon last, became the wife of Lieut. Ernest Kennaway Arbuthnot, of H.M.S. Excellent. If ever the history of Platt's-lane, Hampstead, an old-world turning that winds in and out from the Heath, comes to be written for a local guide-book, it will have to be recorded that on June 1, 1910, excitement ran high, and crowds of enthusiastic admirers journeyed from near and far to get a glimpse of Miss Greene and her sailor bridegroom, and thronged the narrow thoroughfare for hours before and after the ceremony, as it had never been thronged before.

Long before two o'clock, the hour appointed for the ceremony, St. Luke's Church, just a good stone's throw from Miss Greene's residence, was crowded with sightseers—mostly of the tender sex. The church seats over 700 people, and the pews were filled very quickly, and, if we may be permitted in this case to use a term understood of the profession, in a very short time even "standing-room only" was at a premium.

Outside had assembled a great throng of people that the solitary, perspiring village constable endeavoured in vain to move on. The rose—Miss Evie Greene's favourite flower—and giant palms were used to decorate the church, and very pretty and bright everything seemed. The Clerk of the Weather even was in a good mood, and when the gallant lieutenant and his best man, Lieut.-Commander Duncan Carmichael, arrived, a burst of sunshine flooded the church that made one's heart glad to see.

"We were supposed to have a quiet wedding," observed the bridegroom with a nervous laugh to The Era representative. Lieutenant Arbuthnot's mother was in the church to welcome her son, and the bride, dressed in a blue chiffon dress, with two red roses in her hat, arrived at the altar leaning on the arm of her father, who gave her away. The ceremony was quite a picturesque one, and the officiating clergyman was the Rev.

[Photo by London News Agency.

THE BRIDE AND BRIDEGROOM.

F. B. Heiser. Miss Phyllis Barker, of the Gaiety Theatre, the bride's "best girl," with a spray of roses in her hand as wand of office, and looking extremely pretty in a grey and black dress, skilfully managed the marshalling of the wedding party. There was no music except when the bride entered, and when the newly married couple left the church. Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was played by the organist after the ceremony, and a reception was subsequently held at the bride's house.

There is a pretty romance surrounding Miss Greene's marriage; such a one, indeed, as might have been lifted from a novel. Miss Evie Greene's father was a naval officer, and she was born at Portsmouth. The man she is to marry is a lieutenant attached to H.M.S. Excellent, stationed at Whale Island. They knew each other as children, and as they grew up they frequently met. When Miss Greene went on the stage she forgot her boy friend, and, later, became the wife of Richard Temple, jun. This was not a happy union, and since its dissolution the young naval officer has wooed the actress. Some time ago Miss Greene accepted Lieutenant Arbuthnot's proposal, and the wedding day was fixed.

Miss Greene has assured us that she does not mean to leave the stage, although her husband does not now wish her to go on tour. Her engagements, as a matter of fact, will for some considerable time keep her to London, Manchester, Birmingham, and Glasgow. Late in the afternoon the bride and bridegroom left London for a short honeymoon at Southend, for in a week Lieutenant Arbuthnot returns to the war course he is taking at Portsmouth, and Miss Evie Greene to the stage.

MR. ALFRED SUTRO, the author of The Walls of Jericho, The Builder of Bridges, and so many other successful plays, was one of the old boys of the City of London School, who recently were present at the Holborn Restaurant at a banquet given to Mr. Henry Durham, F.C.S., who is retiring, after having occupied the post of science master for fifty years. Sir Robert Chalmers, an old boy, and chairman of the Board of Inland Revenue, presided.

A COPY of "THE ERA" will be forwarded to any address in the United Kingdom for six stamps.

"DON CESAR DE BAZAN."

On Tuesday, May 31, the Play, in Three Acts, adapted from Dumanoir and D'Ennery's Play of the same name by Gerald du Maurier, Originally Produced at the Coronet and Duke of York's Theatres as A Royal Rival in 1901.

Don César de Bazan.....MR. LEWIS WALLER
The King of Spain....MR. LEON QUARTERMAINE
Don José de Santarem..MR. WILLIAM HAVILAND
Marquis de Montefiore ..MR. A. F. THOMPSON
Captain of the Guard ....MR. FRANK WOOLFE
Governor of the Prison ....MR. H. B. TABBERER
A Waterman .....MR. A. BAXENDELL
An Old Man .....MR. HENRY STEVENS
Perez .....MR. CATON WOODVILLE
First Exquisite .....MR. CRONIN WILSON
Second Exquisite .....MR. LEWIS BROUGHTON
Third Exquisite .....MR. REGINALD DANE
Gaoler .....MR. PATRICK DIGAN
An Officer .....MR. ARTHUR ANSELL
Pedro .....MISS BERYL MERCER
Marchioness de Montefiore.MISS MINNIE GRIFFEN
Marita .....MISS MADGE TITHERADGE

Don César de Bazan is quite an old stage favourite, and the story will ever be associated with the melodious strains of W. Vincent Wallace in the still popular Maritana. The original French piece was produced at the Porte St. Martin, with Lemaître in the title-rôle, on July 30, 1844; and in the first anglicised version, by Gilbert Abbott à Beckett and Mark Lemon, which was produced at the Princess's on Oct. 8, 1844, Mr. James Wallack was the Don César and Mrs. Stirling the Maritana. On the 14th of the same month in the same year Ben Webster brought out another version, by himself and Dion Boucicault, at the Adelphi, and other adaptations were to be seen in the same week at the Haymarket and Surrey. There were thus no fewer than four versions of the play running at the same time in London.

Mr. Lewis Waller is well served by Mr. Gerald Du Maurier's adaptation, which was produced at the Duke of York's in August, 1901, under the title of A Royal Rival. He shows in the opening—a beautifully-staged street scene—a strong sense of the romantic that pervades the character: dissolute and daring, perhaps, but decidedly debonair nevertheless. It will be remembered that in defence of the poor boy Pedro (Lazarillo) Don César sends to his last account the brutal Captain of the Guard. For this homicide he is imprisoned, and sentenced to be hanged. He has reached the last half-hour of life in the prison, and asks Pedro, his companion, what he shall do to pass the time. "Confess your sins," is the boy's reply. "What! in half an hour!" is the rejoinder. In these lighter touches in the play Mr. Waller once more afforded his admirers the opportunity of realising that their favourite actor can be as exhilarating as he is tender and romantic in love-making. Don César, like D'Artagnan, does not "set his life at a pin's fee," and we know all of us how admirable Mr. Waller is in such "panache" parts. Gay recklessness is the note sounded from the start; the play pulses with life through his magnetism and unchecked ardour, and he brings before us a vigorous, a fascinating, and yet a truthful portraiture.

The pretty young actress Miss Madge Titheradge makes an engaging gitana, and her Marita is worthy to rank with the gallant down-at-heel Count. Miss Beryl Mercer quietly and forcefully delineates the grief of the boy Pedro at the approaching loss of his benefactor; and the Machiavellian schemer Don José is presented in unexaggerated style by that fine actor Mr. W. Haviland. Mr. Leon Quartermaine does effective work in the colourless part of the King of Spain, and the comedy of the Marquis and Marchioness de Montefiore—generally so preposterous in the opera—is not only quite within the limits of sanity, but often really funny, and for this much of the credit may be given to Mr. Alec F. Thompson and Miss Minnie Griffen. Mr. Frank Woolfe's sinister rendering of the Captain of the Guard is much to the purpose; and the neatness of finish of the impersonations of the three Exquisites by Mr. Cronin Wilson, Mr. Lewis Broughton, and Mr. Reginald Dane are to be highly praised. Smaller parts were most efficiently handled by Messrs. H. B. Tabberer, A. Baxendell, Henry Stevens, Caton Woodville, Patrick Digan, and Arthur Ansell. The audience on Tuesday gave a most enthusiastic reception to the play, and Mr. Waller, as is customary, was the recipient of the heartiest compliments. It was a most cheery evening.

MARTIN HARVEY AS RICHARD III.

On Saturday, May 28, at the Lyceum Theatre, Shakespeare's Tragedy, "RICHARD III."

King Edward IV. .....MR. ERIC MAYNE
Edward, Prince of Wales ..MISS BRENDA GIBSON
Richard, Duke of York ....MISS ETHEL PATRICK
George, Duke of Clarence
MR. OWEN ROUGHWOOD
Richard, Duke of Gloucester
MR. MARTIN HARVEY
Duke of Buckingham ....MR. CHARLES GLENNEY
Duke of Norfolk .....MR. C. GEORGE
Earl Rivers .....MR. E. J. FRASER
Lord Stanley .....MR. S. MAJOR JONES
Henry, Earl of Richmond..MR. PHILIP NEWLAND
Lord Hastings .....MR. FREDERICK ROSS
Marquis of Dorset .....MR. LEONARD CRASKE
Lord Grey .....MR. DAVID BAIN
Lord Lovel .....MR. S. MCCARTHY
Sir William Brandon .....MR. D. HOLM
Sir William Catesby ....MR. ALFRED MANSFIELD
Sir Richard Ratcliffe..MR. EDWARD COMBERMERE
Lord Mayor of London ....MR. DENHOLM MUIR
Sir James Tyrrel .....MR. B. A. PITTAR
The Bishop of Ely .....MR. A. WILSON
Sir James Blount .....MR. F. PERCY
Sir Robert Brackenbury .....MR. H. GRAVES
First Murderer .....MR. GEORGE COOKE
Second Murderer .....MR. PERCY FOSTER
First Messenger .....MR. PAUL BARRY
Second Messenger .....MR. A. B. MCKAY
Third Messenger .....MR. C. LEONARD
Queen Margaret .....MISS MARY RORKE
Queen Elizabeth .....MISS SYBIL WALSH
Duchess of York .....MRS. A. B. CROSS
Page to Richard .....MISS BESSIE ELDER
Lady Anne .....MISS N. DE SILVA

The hearts of the audience went out to Mr. Martin Harvey on Saturday evening last, and the inspiring cheers of a house crowded to its fullest capacity must have convinced the popular actor that his season at the Lyceum would not lack support. The occasion was memorable from the fact that Mr. Harvey was returning to a theatre which has many treasured associations for him, and that he was essaying a character in which London playgoers had not hitherto seen him. Reports of Mr. Harvey's recent appearances in Dublin assured us that his reading of Richard III. differed materially from all others, and that he made the Crookback, if not entirely a prepossessing personage, still one that was not repellent. That view was borne out on Saturday, when the curtain rose on a Richard with a face wreathed in smiles and an air of decided geniality. With only an indication of a hump and the merest suggestion of a limp, Richard, Duke of Gloucester, is made quite a comely individual, whose evil-doing is minimised by the frank and engaging manner in which it is accomplished. Mr. Harvey's Richard, indeed, is an intellectual freak, with a mania for murder rather than an ambition that stops at nothing, and the virtue-loving audience at the Lyceum, who should have execrated, could only applaud. Richard, however, is bound by the text to urge upon his bloodthirsty career, and Mr. Harvey accomplishes his task with subtlety and a sense of humour. It is with such embellishments that the actor's performance excels. His wooing of Anne is carried out in such irresistible style that the wonder is that the lady holds out so long. When he fawns upon those he means to slay one is reminded of the snake which fascinates and then strikes, while his affected indignation thrills with its intensity. His piety is too pretentious, perhaps, in the scene where Richard returns from his mock devotions, and few could be deceived by it; but when the King-elect, having attained the summit of his ambition, indulges in an outburst of laughter which ends in a wolfish snarl, a great effect is gained. Towards the end Richard's high spirits naturally desert him, and it is then that the full strength of the actor's impersonation is realised. His mental anguish in the dream scene when the phantoms of the night surround him is vividly suggested, and both voice and action give evidence of the terror and drear despair which seizes upon him. The death scene, too, is a masterpiece, and Richard, when he rises convulsively from the ground and faces the audience, seems to have distorted his features out of all recognition. Vaunting, servile, arrogant, and ferocious, as it serves his turn, Mr. Harvey's Richard cannot fail to appeal to the popular mind, and as an artistic assumption may well rank with his triumphs of the past.

A hearty welcome awaited the members of Mr. Harvey's company, as well as those who were in that of the Lyceum in recent days. Miss N. De Silva was chiefly effective in Lady Anne's expression of scorn and contempt for Richard in the opening scene, but throughout she made a pathetic figure and won complete sympathy. Miss Mary Rorke upheld her reputation in the rôle of Queen Margaret. Her denunciation of Richard was marked by elocutionary skill of the highest order, and her delivery of the trying passage held the audience absorbed. Mr. Eric Mayne, who was cordially received, made quite a benign figure of the stricken King Edward IV., and was deeply impressive in his rôle of Peacemaker, which the later Edward so fitly graced; and another Lyceum favourite, Mr. Frederick Ross, played Lord Hastings with dignity, and used his resonant voice with every advantage in the lines that fall to the ill-fated nobleman. As the Duke of Buckingham Mr. Charles Glenney, who has served Mr. Harvey so long and effectively, played the scheming courtier with power and rare expression; and Mr. Owen Roughwood, another member of Mr. Harvey's original cast, won admiration for his sincerity, his dramatic skill, and his elocutionary abilities as the doomed Clarence. A performance of singular power was also the Duchess of York of Mrs. A. B. Cross, whose tragic gifts enabled her to present the part in all its grimness and austerity. Miss Sybil Walsh made a regal Elizabeth, being particularly effective in portraying the anguish of the bereaved Queen. Miss Brenda Gibson and Miss Ethel Patrick thoroughly realised the familiar pictures of the two young princes, the little Duke of York's defiance of Richard being natural and spirited. Realistic, too, were the Murderers, played with due ferocity by Mr. George Cooke and Mr. Percy Foster. The Sir James Tyrrell of Mr. B. A. Pittar was a finished portrayal; Mr. Philip Newland was a chivalrous Richmond; Catesby was intelligently interpreted by Mr. Alfred Mansfield; and among the minor characters who merit praise are the Bishop of Ely of Mr. A. Wilson, the Page of Miss Bessie Elder, and the Lord Mayor of Mr. Denholm Muir.

A dozen different scenes were utilised to illustrate the five acts into which the tragedy was divided, Mr. William Telbin being responsible for two scenes, and the others being from the brush of Mr. George Dodson. The triumph of the setting was that depicting Bosworth Field, in which a magnificent effect of distance was secured. All the appointments were perfect, and the pomp of mediæval splendour, amid the clash of arms and martial strains, was in the nature of a pageant. The overture and incidental music were by Mr. William Hudson, who conducted on the first night, and the fighting, arranged by Mr. Alfred Mansfield, was thrilling, the combat between Richard and Richmond being quite exhilarating. Under the direction of Mr. H. Sullivan Brooke, the resident conductor, the orchestra played selections.

Numerous curtains marked the end of each act, and at the close, after being recalled several times, Mr. Harvey thanked the audience in an appreciative speech. The principals of the company, including Miss De Silva and Mr. Eric Mayne, had also to bow their acknowledgments. Messrs. Walter and Frederick Melville, the new managing-directors of the Lyceum, have entered upon their new venture under the most promising auspices.

DUAL BILL AT QUEEN'S.

"JUDGE NOT —"

A Version, in Two Acts, by Mr. P. G. Duchesne, of Georges Henriot's play, L'Enquête, Produced at the Queen's Theatre, on Saturday, May 28.

The Examining Magistrate..MR. H. B. IRVING
Counsel for Defence .....MR. HENRY VIBART
The Doctor .....MR. FRANK TYARS
The Attorney-General.....MR. CHARLES ALLAN
The Prisoner .....MR. EILLS NORWOOD
The Magistrate's Clerk..MR. J. PATRIC CURWEN
The Prisoner's Wife .....MISS EDYTH OLIVE

Playwrights across the Channel have before dealt very effectively with French methods of administering justice, and one remembers the strong little tragedy taken from La Robe Rouge, and presented by Mr. Arthur Bourchier and Miss Violet Vanbrugh at the Garrick a few years since. Even more powerful in its thrilling dénouement is the version by Mr. Duchesne of Georges Henriot's piece L'Enquête, entitled Judge Not —, which was produced by Mr. Henry B. Irving at the Queen's on Saturday evening, before a deeply interested audience. The scene of the play is the room of an examining magistrate. A particularly brutal murder has been committed. A highly respected and popular judge has been done to death, and the ferocity of the attack has been such that the body is covered with bruises caused by some blunt instrument, such as a loaded stick or a life-preserver. It cannot have been the work of a prowling Apache, for the watch and chain of the victim have been found upon him. The judge and examining magistrate had been both guests at a dinner party on that fatal evening, and strange to relate, the victim's companion on the walk home was the very man now conducting the criminal investigation. He had left the judge at the corner of the Rue Victor Hugo, and was horror-struck to read the announcement of his violent death in the next morning's papers. In the search of the murdered man's house, among the contents of a bureau is discovered a bundle of letters from a Madame Moreau—letters clearly establishing a liaison between her and the deceased. The examining magistrate, on this documentary evidence, comes to the conclusion that revenge has been the motive of the crime, and obsessed with this idea, he conducts a ruthless cross-examination of the unhappy Moreau, a passionately jealous man, solely with the view of forcing him to confess. Madame Moreau is then persecuted with questions; but she does not help the theory of the judge when she indignantly asserts that her husband never knew anything of her guilt, and, therefore, had no motive whatever for the crime which the torturing questioner is only too anxious to bring home to him.

In the second act a different complexion is put upon the whole matter by a skilful counsel for the defence of Moreau, who is now a prisoner. He makes it pretty clear that the judge was murdered before his companion on that fatal night—i.e., the examining magistrate—had left him, and the tables are turned when the magistrate's stick, with its formidable silver knob, is examined, and found to be dented. A doctor then takes up the examination, and, by a series of questions, elicits the awful truth that the magistrate is subject to fits of epilepsy. He cannot recall the actual parting from the murdered man, nor the words he addressed to him at their leave-taking. His distress and anxiety are growing every moment more painful, and all of a sudden he utters a terrible cry and falls in a fit. As the doctor kneels down and loosens the collar of the convulsively twitching form, the curtain falls. The magistrate is the murderer, and Moreau is innocent; but he is a broken man, for during his terrible ordeal he has had to listen to his wife's confession of her guilt.

The play by its power completely held the audience, and the interest and fascination of the magistrate were made paramount by Mr. Irving's remarkable personality. In his "business" one noted many touches betraying the fact that he has studied the pathology of epilepsy, and yet, like the artist he is, he does nothing repellant. Even in the first act he makes it clear to those in front that the magistrate is suffering from nerve tension, and one recognised in the final catastrophe a sufficiently realistic study of the symptoms of epilepsy. The play was a triumph for the actor, who was very finely supported by Mr. Charles Allan as the Attorney-General, a capital sketch; by Mr. Henry Vibart, a trenchant and lucid counsel for the defence; by Mr. Frank Tyars, a model of professional coolness and discretion; by Mr. Eille Norwood, who evoked profound sympathy for the much-tortured Moreau; and by Miss Edyth Olive, who played the part of the distraught wife with considerable emotional force. The part of the clerk was effectively handled by Mr. J. Patric Curwen.

In deep contrast to modern French tragedy was presented the oft-adapted L'Auberge des Adrets, under the title of

"ROBERT MACAIRE,"

Robert Macaire .....MR. H. B. IRVING
Jacques Strop .....MR. TOM REYNOLDS
Germeuil .....MR. CHARLES ALLAN
Dumont .....MR. HENRY VIBART
Charles .....MR. ALEX. SCOTT-GATTY
Pierre .....MR. ARTHUR CURTIS
Sergeant Loupy .....MR. FRANK TYARS
Louis .....MR. J. PATRIC CURWEN
François .....MR. ROLAND PERTUIS
Marie .....MISS ESME BERINGER
Clementine .....MISS GLADYS BAIRD

The particular version chosen was the one used by Fechter, who played it as The Roadside Inn at the Lyceum on Jan. 21, 1865, with Widdicombe as Jacques Strop. In the art of depicting picturesque roguery Mr. Irving once more triumphed. The affectation of the manners of the fastidious gentleman in the tatters of the tramp was always amusing, and there was care taken that every attitude ministered to the general effect of the impersonation. The final fall down the staircase, and the pathetic recognition of wife and son, rounded off a great success. Mr. Tom Reynolds again showed himself to be a sound comedian by his excellent rendering of Jacques Strop; and a powerful and pathetic Marie was found in Miss Esme Beringer. Mr. Charles Allan and Mr. Henry Vibart realised exactly the kindly, genial natures of the two affectionate fathers, Germeuil and Dumont; Mr. Frank Tyars played Sergeant Loupy with keen alertness and authority; and Miss Gladys Baird made a sweet Clementine. In the parts of Charles, Pierre, Louis, François, Messrs. Alex. Scott-Gatty, Arthur Curtis, J. Patrick Curwen, and Roland Pertuis were quite adequate. At the conclusion of the play Mr. Irving spoke a few words of thanks.

MR. JAMES MORTIMER, the well-known dramatist and journalist, writes to the Daily Mail of Judge Not:—"'Il n'y a rien de nouveau sous le soleil.' Although I have not seen the English version of L'Enquête, produced on Saturday by Mr. H. B. Irving, it is evident from the plot of this play, as described in the newspapers, that the 'idée mère' of L'Enquête is taken from an old French melodrama by Charles Duveyrier, entitled Le Monomane. I have before me a copy of Le Monomane, printed in 1835. The story relates to the prosecution of an innocent man for murder and his conviction through the efforts of a judge who himself committed the murder in his sleep. The scene of this drama is laid in Alsace, circa 1830, and in some respects it resembles Le Juif Polonais, the sombre features of the piece being relieved by comedy scenes. Several years ago I wrote an adaptation of Le Monomaine, under the title of Justice! recently used by Mr. Galsworthy."

"The Lady Bandits" is one of those refined and funny productions that gives a cachet to a programme.—"The Era," May 28.

EDWARD LAURI, MAY BEATTY

AND COMPANY, IN

THE LADY BANDITS.

The Quintessence of Refinement and Good Taste.

"REFEREE," May 22, 1910.

An extra special new turn in the Oxford's fine bill last week took the form of a variety burlesque; but—don't be alarmed—the whole thing, with its divinely tall and most divinely fair lady choristers and its songs and dances and wheezes, was negotiated well within "Compromise" time. Its title is "The Lady Bandits," and it is a revised version of a sketch which was tried in the suburbs some time back. The principal characters, an unwary traveller and a fashionable damsel who has formed and directs a band of pretended brigandettes, are respectively enacted by Mr. Edward Lauri and Miss May Beatty. Mr. Lauri again proves himself a resourceful and rollicking low comedian, a capital knockabout, and a remarkable dancer. Miss Beatty is a handsome specimen of "principal boyhood" and a melodious singer. "The Lady Bandits," being thus capitally acted and sung, and staged with beauty and picturesqueness, fully deserved the hearty applause bestowed upon it. "The Lady Bandits" will also be at the Metropolitan this week.

"TIMES AND ECHO," May 22, 1910.

The first, "The Lady Bandits," by Mr. Edward Lauri, Miss May Beatty, and a dozen dashing girls, is full of pretty songs and choruses, and has some sly digs at suffragettes. In it Miss Beatty played with melodramatic skill, and Mr. Lauri, by his comic acting, kept the audience screaming with laughter.

"Bayard," "SUNDAY CHRONICLE," May 15, 1910.

And there is a general briskness and melodiousness about the thing which ought to assure its success. It is clean, well staged, and beautifully dressed.

"SPORTSMAN," May 2, 1910.

Most laughter was, however, extracted by the farcical operetta "The Lady Bandits," which from rise to fall of the curtain kept the audience in a continual roar . . . . and thus the curtain falls on as lively and laughable a "trifle" as could possibly be desired.

"THE PELICAN," May 25, 1910.

A very admirable show is the compressed musical comedy which is being played at the Oxford just now by Mr. Edward Lauri, Miss May Beatty and others, called "The Lady Bandits." The musical-comedylet is as full as possible of good looks, fine figures, real fun, and remarkably clever dancing as it can be. Mr. Lauri shows what an excellent all-round comedian he is, and Miss Beatty is uncommonly good to look at and listen to.

"THE PINK 'UN," May 28, 1910.

And a special feature is "The Lady Bandits," a bright burlesque sketch well provided with songs, dances, comic business, and a comely chorus. Miss May Beatty is Lady Diana, the leader of the bandits, who have suffragette leanings; and Mr. Edward Lauri is the mere man who is their prisoner. Needless to say, these popular players are more than equal to the requirements of their respective parts, and carry the thing through with abundant spirit. "The Lady Bandits" has also a prominent place in the programme at the Metropolitan.

TIVOLI and CANTERBURY.

"CONFIRMATIONS" already to hand: LONDON SYNDICATE HALLS, 1910; DE FRECE CIRCUIT, 1910; ENTIRE MOSS-STOLL TOURS, 1911-12; and various independent Halls.

NOTE.—Vacancies through the closing of Lyric, Liverpool, Blackburn, Oldham, and Birkenhead.

July 4th, between Boscombe and Birmingham.
Aug. 8th, North.

Aug. 22nd, between Glasgow and Belfast.
Sept. 5th, ,, Belfast and Wolverhampton.

Direction:—Peels, Ltd., Hartley Milburn, or direct.

Chorus of English and Colonial Ladies.

THE SUCCESS OF THE SEASON. WHY? BECAUSE IT'S SO DIFFERENT.

THE LADY BANDITS.

The Quintessence of Refinement and Good Taste.

EDWARD LAURI and MAY BEATTY at their BEST.

ON THE ROAD, JUNE 6.

ALMOST HIS BRIDE.—T. R., Halifax.
ANGEL OF HIS DREAMS.—Grand T., Stockton.
ARRAH-NA-POGUE.—Elephant and Castle Theatre.
AS YOUR HAIR GROWS WHITER.—Osborne T., Manchester.
AT THE WORLD'S MERCY.—P. O. W., Mexborough.
BATEMAN, MRS. FRANK.—P. O. W., Grimsby.
BENSON, F. R. (N.).—D. P. T., Eastbourne.
BROUGHT TO RUIN.—Lyric T., Hammersmith.
CASTELLANO'S OPERA CO.—Lyceum T., Sheffield.
CINGALEE, THE (A.).—Hippodrome, Keighley.
COUNTRY GIRL IN LONDON.—Met. T., Manchester.
CRUISE OF THE CONSTANCE.—T. R., Bournemouth.
DARE-DEVIL DOROTHY.—Alhambra, Openshaw.
DESTROYER OF MEN.—Queen's T., Longton.
DIANA OF DOBSON'S.—T. R., Stockport.
DIVER'S LUCK.—T. R., Leicester.
D'OYLY CARTE OPERA CO.—Woolwich.
DRAYCOTT, MR. CHAS.—Prince's T., Accrington.
DROLLS, THE.—Hippodrome, Peterborough.
EAST LYNNE (WATT).—T. R., Shrewsbury.
EGYPTIAN, THE.—P. O. W., Nuneaton.
EVE OF HER WEDDING.—T. R., Bury.
EYES OF THE WORLD.—King's T., Longsight.
FANNY AND THE SERVANT PROBLEM.—Marina T., Lowestoft.
FAST LIFE, A.—Palace T., Newcastle.
FEMALE SWINDLER.—Shakespeare T., Clapham.
FLORODORA (CONSTANT).—Gaiety T., Dublin.
FOR OLD TIME'S SAKE.—P. O. W., Grimsby.
FOR WIFE AND KINGDOM.—T. R., Belfast.
GARROD, MR. W. V.—Metropole T., Manchester.
GIRL OF MY HEART.—Dalston Theatre, N.E.
GLOSSOP-HARRIS, MISS F.—Empire T., Southend.
HER FATAL PAST.—Star T., Liverpool.
HER LIFE IN LONDON.—T. R., Sunderland.
HER SECRET LOVER.—T. R., Rochdale.
HOME, SWEET HOME.—T. R., Birkenhead.
LA COMEDIE ANGLAIS.—P. H., Tralee.
LIGHTHOUSE ROBBERY.—Gaiety T., Burnley.
LODGE-PERCY, MR. J. C.—Court T., Warrington.
LOVE OF THE PRINCESS.—Empire T., Swindon.
LUCKY DURHAM.—West Pier, Brighton.
MIDNIGHT MAIL.—O. H., St. Helens.
MISS LANCASHIRE, LTD.—Grand T., Hull.
MUMMY AND THE HUMMING BIRD.—Blackpool.
NEW BOY, THE.—O. H., Cork.
NIHILIST, THE.—T. R., Dewsbury.
NO MOTHER TO GUIDE HER.—Lyric T., Liverpool.
PASSION OF LIFE.—Empire T., Oldham.
PRIVATE SECRETARY.—Pier Pavilion, Southsea.
RAYNAR'S REPERTOIRE CO.—Crown T., Eccles.
ROYAL DIVORCE.—New P., Eastbourne.
SHADOW OF A CRIME.—King's T., Sutton.
SIN OF HER CHILDHOOD.—Colosseum, Oldham.
THEODOR'S FLUTTER.—Prince's T., Manchester.
TREE, HERBERT BEERBOHM.—New T., Cardiff.
UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.—Queen's T., Farnworth.
UP THE POLE.—T. R., Darlington.
WAS SHE TO BLAME?—Alexandra T., Hull.
WILKIE, ALLAN, AND CO.—T. R., York.
WOMAN'S PAST.—T. R., Wolverhampton.
WRECKER OF MEN.—T. R. Barnsley.
YOU NEVER CAN TELL.—Grand T., Leeds.
10.30 DOWN EXPRESS.—T. R., Aston.

MLLE. LINA CAVALIERI, the French prima donna, who was about to leave Paris for Buenos Ayres to fulfil an engagement at the Opera Theatre there, is suffering from an attack of appendicitis, and is unable to make the journey. An operation has been performed.

MR. J. F. GRAHAM is arranging a special performance for the Prince of Wales' Theatre, Birmingham, next Tuesday, in aid of the Birmingham Football Club. Mr. Graham and a selected company will appear in His Last Legs, and performers at the local houses will contribute items. Mr. Lester Collingwood, the popular proprietor of the Alexandra Theatre, has generously contributed £25 to the venture.

UNDER the patronage of Princess Christian, a matinée is to be held at the St. James's Theatre (by kind permission of Mr. George Alexander) on Friday, July 1, in aid of the National League for Physical Education and Improvement. The following artists have already kindly promised their assistance: Miss Ellen Terry, Miss Phyllis Terry, Miss Irene Vanbrugh, Miss Violet Vanbrugh, Mr. George Alexander, Mr. Arthur Bourchier, Mr. Gerald Du Maurier, Mr. H. B. Irving, Mr. Cyril Maude, and Mr. Lewis Waller.

SHOULD the critics write plays, or, rather, should they ever submit plays to those managers upon whose productions they are constantly sitting in judgment? is the question asked by London Opinion. For instance, a manager is on the point of producing a new play, when in comes a letter from a critic enclosing a play which the critic offers for sale. The manager looks through the 'script and finds, it may be, utter tosh—for people who criticise other people's plays need not be capable of writing fine plays themselves. His first impulse, if he be a nice, pure-minded young manager, is to return the 'script forthwith; but if he be more experienced or cynical, or full of guile, he gathers that the offer of the play is not a genuine offer at all, but is a discreet and perfectly safe way of saying "I want to be settled with, or else you will want more than an asbestos curtain to prevent your show from being roasted."

THE latest quotations for music hall shares are as follow:—Alhambra, 1 9-16; Empire (16s. paid), 1⅞; Empire (10s. paid), 1⅛; London Pavilion (5), 3⅛; London Pavilion Pref. (5), 5⅛; Metropolitan, 4; Moss Empires (5), 4⅛; Oxford (5), 7; Palace Theatre (9s. paid), 1 1-32; Tivoli, New (5), 6¼.

"THE ERA" NEWSPAPER.

Notice to Contributors.

All communications intended for publication should be sent to "THE EDITOR," and be accompanied by the Writer's Name and Address, not necessarily for insertion, but as a guarantee of good faith.

The Editor will not undertake to be responsible for any rejected MSS., nor to return any Contribution unaccompanied by a stamped and directed envelope.

Notice to Subscribers.

"The Era" is sold by all Newsagents in all the leading English, Irish, and Scotch towns, every Saturday Morning. Price Sixpence.

TERMS, POSTAGE FREE.

Home Subscriptions.			Foreign Subscriptions.
One Year	£1	6 0	One Year	£1	12 0
Six Months	0	13 0	Six Months	0	16 0
Three Months	0	6 6	Three Months	0	8 0

Cash must accompany order.

Notice to Advertisers.

Advertisements should reach the Office early in the week and not later than Thursday, 7 p.m. Remittances payable to "THE ERA," LTD., and crossed Lloyd's Bank.

Communications.

Business Communications should be addressed to The MANAGER,
"THE ERA" BUILDINGS.
5, TAVISTOCK-STREET, STRAND, LONDON, W.C.
(two doors off Wellington-street).
Telegrams, "The Era, London." Telephones, 4747 and 1433, Central.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

[We do not answer inquiries by post. In all letters the names and addresses of inquirers must be given as a guarantee of good faith. Initials only or pseudonyms will be used in the answers if so desired.]

J. WELLING.—She was born on Feb. 12, 1870, and is therefore a little over forty.

COLIN CARLISLE.—Mr. Joseph Knight is correct undoubtedly. The mistake arose through the misreading of a passage in Murphy's "Life." Humanum est errare.

GEORGE AUSTIN.—We will make inquiries concerning the song you mention. Meanwhile, you could write to Tate's, music sellers, Aldwych. They might be able to get you a copy.

ENQUIRER (Bradford).—The opera "La Bohème" is by Giacomo Puccini (born 1858), the libretta by Giuseppe Giacosa and Luigi Illica, founded on Henry Murger's "La Vie de Bohème" (1845). The work was produced at Turin, Feb. 1, 1896. First production in England at Manchester, April, 1897; at Covent Garden (in English), Oct. 2, 1897, and in Italian, July 1, 1899.

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES, & DEATHS.

The charge for inserting in "The Era" an announcement of a Birth, a Marriage, or a Death, or an "In Memoriam" notice, not exceeding twenty-four words, is One Shilling and Sixpence.

As a guarantee of good faith, the name and address of the sender must accompany each notice.

BIRTHS.

PRYME.—May 29, at 6, Blomfield-mansion, Shepherd's Bush, W., the wife of Mr. Harry Pryme, London Coliseum, of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

ARBUTHNOT—GREENE.—June 1, at St. Luke's, Hampstead, Lieut. Ernest Kennaway Arbuthnot, of His Majesty's Navy, to Evie Greene, musical comedy actress.

DEATHS.

BECKETT.—Edwin Charles Beckett, the beloved son of Charles and Emma Beckett, on May 26, 1910, at Ballygar, Ireland, age 4 months. Deeply mourned.

FREELAND.—May 4, suddenly, at Brighton, Louie Freeland (Mulligan), of heart failure.

GERALD.—June 1, at 25, Litchfield-street, London, W.C., Marie Gerald, aged 52, beloved wife of G. W. Gerald, and sister-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coyle. R.I.P.

HANSARD BLAIR.—On May 13, 1910, Thea Symnes (Mrs. Hansard Blair). "The night is come."

IN MEMORIAM.

CROSSLAND.—In loving memory of my dear wife Maggie, who died June 8, 1904. Never forgotten by her loving husband, VICTOR.

GOURIET.—In ever-loving remembrance of our darling sister, Margaret Crossland Gouriet, who passed away June 8, 1904. Never forgotten by her devoted sisters, LILLIE, LOTTIE, and MAUD CROSSLAND.

HAZLEWOOD.—In loving memory of Henry Colin Hazlewood, theatrical manager and author, who died June 1, 1897. Never forgotten by his loving daughter BESSIE.

WALTON.—In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. William Walton, who died June 4, 1908. R.I.P.

WALTON.—In loving memory of Lottie Walton, who departed this life June 4, '03. Never forgotten by mother and father, brothers and sisters, and little son Sid.

BIRTHDAYS OF THE WEEK.

We wish Many Happy Returns of the Day to the following ladies and gentlemen:—

James Fawn—Saturday, June 4.
Adeline Lester—Saturday, June 4.
Leo Dryden—Monday, June 6.
Harry Freeman—Wednesday, June 8.
Frank Liston—Wednesday, June 8.
Jerrold Heather—Thursday, June 9.
Amy Savile—Thursday, June 9.
Emma Rainbow—Thursday, June 9.
Ella Erskine—Friday, June 10.
Mrs. Walford Bodie—Friday, June 10.
Alf Gibson—Friday, June 10.
J. J. Webb, sen.—Friday, June 10.

"THE ERA" LETTER-BOX.

A Stamped Envelope, plainly addressed, must be enclosed with application for each Letter. Letters, after lying at this Office for One Month, are forwarded to the Postal Authorities, to be returned to the Senders.

No Circulars, Post Cards, or Parcels admitted to this list.

Albert, Mr. Ben
Allen, Dr. F. J.
Armadale, Miss Sybil
Baker's Hippodrome
Bannister, Prof.
Barraclough, Mr. Sidney
Beecner, Mr. Ed.
Bell, Mr. W. G. B.
Bellman, Miss Lottie
Bentley, Mrs. W.
Bergeron, Mr. T. C.
Beringer, Miss Esme
Bogannys, The
Bollinger, Les
Braide, Mr. Stewart
Brett, Mr. Edwin
Brougham, Mr. and Mrs W. H.
Browns, The
Buonaparte, Mons. J.
Burley, Mr. W.
Cady, Mr. F. W.
Caline, Mrs. Jack
Cartwright, Mr. A.
Charcout, Mr. G.
Chippendale, Mr. A. A.
Chirgwin, Miss Clara
Clensey, Mr. Cyril
Clifford, Mr. N.
Cook, Mr. Albert
Costello, Mr. Tom
Court, Miss D. D.
Crawford and Johnson
Dandy, George
Dellar, Mr. Kyburn
Denton, Miss Dolly
Desormes, Mr. J.
Digby, Mr. Chas.
Dockwray, Mr. Chas. W
Donovan, Miss Ruby
Douglas, Mr. Geo.
Duncan, Mr. O.
Englefield, Mr.
English, Mr. James
Escourt, Mr.
Finucane, Miss M.
Fisher, Mr. Chas.
Fordwych, Mr. Herbert
Forrester, Mr. Tom
Francis, Mrs. Joseph
Fraser, Mr. Dan
Gobbett, Mr. T. J.
Gordon, Mr. Ben D.
Graham Bros.
Gray, Mr. Heaton
Hare, Miss W.
Heale, Mr. Jack
Heathcote, Mr. Robt.
Hemming, Mr. J. W.
Hertz, Mr. Carl
Holding, Mr. Thomas
Hope, Mr. Jones
Houpla, Mr. Richard
Hunt, Mrs. J.
Irving, Mr. Lawrence
James, Mr. David
John, Mr. Arthur
Joyce, Mr. L. P.
Kearns, Mr. Sid
King, Miss Edith
Kingsley, Mr. Cecil
Kingston, Miss Gertrude
Landon, Mr. J.
Lang, Mr. J. P.
Lawton, Mr. E.
Legleres, The
Leigh, Mr. A. A.
Leon, Mr. Chas.
Leslie, Mr. A.
Lilly, Mr. E. C.
Lisbon and Lester
Lloyd, Miss Rosie
Loftus, Miss Kitty
Lorimer, Mr. J.
Maclaren, Mr. Ian
Mansfield, Miss
Mars, Mr. Harry
Marsh, Mr. Alec
Martens, Capt.
McCamm, Prof.
Meynall, Mr. Clive
Mignon, Miss Mabel
Millian, Mrs. Max
Missouri, Mr. Ted
Mozart, Mr. George
Nanakusa, Mrs.
Neale, Mr. V.
O'Connell, Mr. J.
Osborne, Mr. J.
Pattison, Mr. Bert
Pelham, Mr. Paul
Phillott, Mr. Gordon
Pitt, Mr. F. W.
Poel, Mr. William
Re Vell, Miss Rosa
Roberts, Mr. R. A.
Robinson, Mr. Harry
Rogers, Mr. Harry
Rosse, Mr. Russell
Russell, Miss Violet
Sarron, Miss Celia
Schofield, Mr. G. W.
Schonberg, Mr. W. L.
Scott, Mr. Malcolm
Shine, Mr. W. E.
Squire, Mr. Reginald
Smith, Miss Maisie
Soldene, Miss Emily
St. Audris, Miss Estella
St. John, Mr. Herbert
Stratton, Mr. E.
Stuart, Mr. Barney
Temple, Mr. Richard
Terris, Mr. T.
Tregonwell, Mr. A.
Val, Mr. John R.
Valentine, Mr. Paul
Varley, Miss Pattie
Vasco, Mr. W.
Victas, The
Vine, Mr. Tom
Von Leer, Miss Sara B.
Walton, Mr. W. W.
Ward, Mr. David
Ware, Miss N.
Waterfield, Mr. Chas.
Watts, Mr. Clive
Webb, Miss Ada
Wells, Miss Pattie
Whitney, Mr. W.
Whyte, Mr. C.
Wilbert, Mr. William
Willard, Mr. E. S.
Willard, Mr. J.
Williams, Miss L.
Wilton, Miss F.
Wun Hi Ching Soo
Wyndham, Miss Pattie

BLACKMORE'S THEATRICAL AGENCY, 11, GARRICK-STREET, W.C.
Under the present management since 1869.
Office hours, 10 to 8. Interviews between 11 and 4.
'Phone 1785 Gerr. Wires, "Dramatique, London."
All descriptions of Theatrical Business negotiated.
Also First-class Music Hall Business.

The Great Raymond
BREAKING RECORDS FOR BIG BUSINESS EVERYWHERE.

"THE ERA" IN SOUTH AFRICA.
THE CENTRAL NEWS AGENCY, LTD.
Apply or Address,
The CENTRAL NEWS AGENCY, Ltd.,
Cape Town, Johannesburg, Pretoria, Durban, Bloemfontein, &c., &c.

BIRKBECK BANK
ESTABLISHED 1851.
SOUTHAMPTON-BUILDINGS, HIGH HOLBORN, W.C.
2½ PER CENT. INTEREST allowed on Deposits repayable on demand.
2 PER CENT. INTEREST on Drawing Accounts with Cheque Book.
All general Banking Business transacted.
ALMANACK, with full particulars, POST FREE.
C. F. RAVENSCROFT, Secretary.

ACCIDENTS OF ALL KINDS,
SICKNESS,
EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY,
BURGLARY AND FIDELITY GUARANTEE RISKS
Insured Against by the
RAILWAY PASSENGERS' ASSURANCE CO.
Capital (fully subscribed), £1,000,000.
Claims paid £5,700,000.
64, CORNHILL, LONDON.
A. VIAN, Secretary.

MONEY
£5 TO £5000
DON'T BE WITHOUT READY MONEY. I will advance any sum you may require AT ONCE without fuss or formalities, and you can repay by easy instalments to suit your own convenience. Courteous personal attention. Call, write, or 'phone.
Mr. ROSSLYN STUART,
Burton House,
253, Brixton Rd., Brixton, S.W.
Telephone 1235 Brixton.

BUREAU DE CHANGE
SPECIALLY RECOMMENDED.
HANDS and CO.,
16, STRAND,
CHARING CROSS RAILWAY STATION,
LONDON, W.C.

"I'll swear upon that bottle."—TEMPEST, Act ii., Scene ii.

WHITBREAD'S
BOTTLED BEERS
maintain their popularity because they are brought into condition by MATURING IN BOTTLE,
the Natural method,
without the aid of carbonating or other artificial process.
The Largest Beer Bottlers in the World.
APPLY TO CHIEF OFFICES,
BRITANNIA ST., KING'S CROSS, LONDON, W.C.
(Telephones: Nos. 2510 and 2511 North. Telegraphic Address, "Beerseller, London.")
FOR NAME OF NEAREST AGENT.

BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES.
For Sustaining the Voice.
Invaluable for ACTORS and SINGERS.
Indispensable for PUBLIC SPEAKERS
GENTLEMEN,—For sudden affections of the Bronchial Organs I use and most cheerfully recommend "Brown's Troches." They are regarded as most eligible, convenient, and indispensable by numerous artists of my acquaintance, BOTH IN EUROPE AND AMERICA. They seem to act specially on the organs of the voice, and produce a clear enunciation.—Yours truly (Signed), MARIE ROZE MAPLESON.
SOLD EVERYWHERE AT 1/1½ PER BOX.

DINNEFORD'S MAGNESIA.
The Best Remedy for Acidity of the Stomach, Heartburn, Headache, Gout, and Indigestion.
The Safest and most effective Aperient for regular use.

TYPEWRITING.
MRS. MARSHALL, 126, STRAND, W.C.
PROMPT BOOKS and ACTORS' PARTS.
TRANSLATIONS FROM and INTO ALL LANGUAGES.
ADAPTATIONS of FRENCH and GERMAN PLAYS UNDERTAKEN.
SHORTHAND DICTATION in FRENCH or ENGLISH. REFERENCES to MANY LEADING AUTHORS and MANAGERS

Admitted by the Profession to be the most Valuable Remedy ever discovered.
DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S
CHLORODYNE
The Original and Only Genuine, is the best-known remedy for COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS.
IT ACTS LIKE A CHARM IN DIARRHŒA, CHOLERA, AND DYSENTERY, and
Effectually cuts short all attacks of Spasms.
The only palliative in NEURALGIA, RHEUMATISM, TOOTHACHE.
None genuine without the words "Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE" on the stamp.
Convincing Medical Testimony accompanies each bottle.
Of all Chemists, 1/1½, 2/9, and 4/6.

DELICIOUS COFFEE,
RED WHITE & BLUE
For Breakfast & after Dinner.

'PHONE, 7607 GERRARD. 梭 花 探 THE PHONE, 7607 GERRARD.
'CATHAY' RESTAURANT
Open 11 a.m. till 11.30 p.m. Open on Sundays.
A PIONEER FIRST-CLASS CHINESE RESTAURANT, RUN ON UP-TO-DATE EUROPEAN METHODS.
.. CHINESE DISHES in great variety, .. and pure CHINA TEA (specially imported).
AMERICAN AND OTHER ARTISTES who have been accustomed to occasional Chinese Meals will find the menu at the "Cathay Restaurant" almost identical with that of the best Chinese restaurants in New York and other American cities.
SPECIAL NOTICE. The management gives special attention to little Dinner and After-Theatre Parties which may be arranged over the telephone or by correspondence.
22, DENMAN STREET, PICCADILLY CIRCUS, W.

TRADE MARK. H.W. No. 514,135.
Velvet Grip
Registered Trade Mark No. 304004.
Compress
Abdominal Hose Supporter with BELT.
Made in England.
(Patent No. 16888/08 and under Licence of Patent 24215/99.)
Original Velvet Grip Hose Supporter Rubber Button.
These Hose Supporters fit the form like a glove; they gently but firmly depress the abdomen, they are healthful and hygienic. The Support and Compress are always light, graceful, easy, natural, and comfortable. The latest and best form reducer and belt supporter.
They hold UP without dragging the figure DOWN.
Fitted with adjustment for keeping suspender in correct position. Entirely supported from the back of the wearer. Supersedes all others. Easy to take off.
C5—1/6½ each. C15.—1/11½ each. C30.—2/6 each. Postage, 1d. extra.
If unable to obtain from your Draper, apply to the Manufactory, HACKNEY-RD. WORKS, LONDON, N.E.

LONDON THEATRES.

GAIETY THEATRE.
Manager, Mr. GEORGE EDWARDES.
EVERY EVENING at 8.
A Musical Play,
"OUR MISS GIBBS."
Box-Office open daily 10 till 10.

ST. JAMES'S.
MR. GEORGE ALEXANDER.
Every Evening at 9.
"THE IMPORTANCE OF BEING EARNEST."
By Oscar Wilde.
MR. GEORGE ALEXANDER
and Mr. Allan Aynesworth in their original parts.
At 8.30, "A MAKER OF MEN" by Alfred Sutro.
MATINEE (both Plays), EVERY WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY, at 2.30.

DALY'S THEATRE.
EVERY EVENING at 8.
Mr. GEORGE EDWARDES'
New Production,
"THE DOLLAR PRINCESS."
A Musical Play, in Three Acts.
Matinée Every Saturday at 2.
Box-office (Mr. H. W. Anderson) open 10 till 10.

COMEDY THEATRE.
Sole Lessee and Manager, ARTHUR CHUDLEIGH
Every Evening at 9.
CHARLES FROHMAN presents
"Alias JIMMY VALENTINE."
a New Play in Three Acts by Paul Armstrong
The cast includes
GERALD DU MAURIER.
At 8.30, NINA GORDON at a Piano.
MATINEE EVERY WED. and SAT. at 2.30.

ROYAL COUNTY THEATRE,
KINGSTON-ON-THAMES.
Summer Variety Season.
Twice nightly, at 7 and 9.
Mr. PETER DAVEY, Managing-Director.
Telephone, No. 58, Kingston-on-Thames.
Telegrams, "Theatre, Kingston-on-Thames."

MASKELYNE and DEVANT'S
MYSTERIES, St. George's Hall, W.
Daily, at 3 and 8.
New and Startling Mysteries. Pictures of the Royal Funeral, "The Scarab," a New Magica Farce, by Nevil Maskelyne and David Devant, introducing a series of Novel and Startling Illusions &c., &c.
Seats 1s. to 5s.
'Phone, 1545 Mayfair.

LONDON MUSIC HALLS.

ALHAMBRA.
"FEMINA."
New Grand Spectacular Ballet.
MLLE. LEONORA. MLLE. BRITTA.
Three Sisters Athletas, Franco Piper, Lalla Selbini, Baron's Burlesque Menagerie, Rothig, Signorina Corona, Jury's Pictures.
Evening at 8.
Managing-Director, ALFRED MOUL.

EMPIRE (Leicester-square)
LYDIA KYASHT and ADOLF BOLM,
in New Series of DANCE IDYLLS.
"HULLO! LONDON."
MILLIE LEGARDE, J. F. McARDLE, &c.
"EAST AND WEST," FRED FARREN, &c.,
Royal Funeral and The Derby on the Bioscope.
Petit Roberto, Signor Barbalonga,
Mazuz and Mazetto, Elsie Wulff, and Waldoff, &c.
Evenings at 8.
Manager, Mr. H. J. HITCHINS.

PALACE
Anna Pavlova, Michael Mordkin, Russia's Greatest Dancers, and Co., Margaret Cooper, Clarice Vance, Arthur Prince, Barclay Gammon Funeral Procession in Actual Natural Colours of His Late Majesty King Edward VII. on Kinemacolor, &c.
Evenings at 8.
Matinée full programme, Saturdays at 2.
Special Matinée Wednesdays at 3.
Managing-Director, Mr. ALFRED BUTT.

OXFORD
Little Tich, Wilkie Bard, T. E. Dunville, Harry Tate in "Veri 'ot Taterplane," Chas. Whittle Morny Cash, Harry Randall, John Lawson, "Bo'sun's Mate," Radie Furman, Kitty Colyer, Geoffreys and Benson, Geo. Newburn, Daunton Shaw Troupe, Beattie and Babs, Josie Delaine Minnie Mace, Larola, José Collins, Harry Thurston Dan Crawley, Ruffell's Bioscope, Darracq Whizzing the Wheel in a Motor-car. Open 7.15. Saturday Matinées, 2.15.

TIVOLI.—
WILKIE BARD—LILIAN HERLEIN,
Lauri and Beatty, Alec Chentrens, Frances Letty Cinquevalli, T. E. Dunville, Millie Payne, Morny Cash, Madge Osmond, Tom Woottwell, The Schmettans, Daisy Dormer, and others.
Open 7.40, Saturday Matinées, 2.15.

METROPOLITAN
Twice Nightly, at 6.40 and 9.10.
Vera Saunders, King's College Boys,
Sam Mayo, Renee,
Daisy Dormer,
The Alaskas, Beatrice English,
Dent and Harris, J. P. Ling,
Sybil Arundale and Co., Bioscope.

EMPIRE, Camberwell.
Proprietor (Debenture Holder),
FRANK POSTLETHWAITE.
6.30 Twice Nightly. 9 o'clock.
Mrs. Bennett and Co., Tennis and Laune, Hal Bert, Allsopp and Beckwith, Ernest Rees, La Wie Pictures, Della Ray, The Langburnes, Keen and Waller, Dorothy Denton.

CHELSEA PALACE,
KING'S-ROAD, CHELSEA.
Twice Nightly, at 6.30 and 9.10.
Peter Davey's Co. in a Skit on the Chantecler craze, entitled "Cock-a-Doodle-Do," Ray and Calden, King's College Boys, Lloyd Morgan, José Collins, Geoffreys and Benson in Duologue "Lucy Whitelegs," Jack Straw, Mabel Fairchild, Katie Marsh, Ruffell's Bioscope, Queenie Leighton.

QUEEN'S PALACE OF VARIETIES,
HIGH-STREET, POPLAR. Tel. 714 East.
Proprietors, F. and M. ABRAHAMS.
General-Manager, Mr. MORRIS ABRAHAMS. Twice nightly, 6.30 and 9.10. Matinée Thursday, 2.30
Rehearsal 1 o'clock Monday. Geo. M. Marriott's Co. in "Cigarette," Daisy Taylor, Johnny Hurley Maidie Burker, Bio, Dave Carter, Walker and May, Doon and Dixey, Russell and Held, Ada Tilleys and Co. present "A Call to Arms." Artists must forward bill matter to above, according to Clause 18.

THE NEW BEDFORD
PALACE OF VARIETIES, LTD.
Twice Nightly 6.10 and 9.
Monday, June 6.
Esther Phillips and Co., Victor's Juveniles, Maisie Dene, Joe Hayman, Irene May, Dunning, Herbert Rule, Wilton Heriot and Co., Mike Maddin, The Luzellas, Marie Lea, Bioscope, The Woodwards, Four Kahns, Rose Monarch.
Artists are notified that they must send their full Bill Matter in two clear weeks before opening Rehearsal, 1 o'clock Mondays. All must attend. Artists not complying with the above rules are subject to having their Contracts cancelled at option of Management.

ROYAL STANDARD MUSIC HALL
(facing Victoria Station).—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. T. S. DICKIE.—One House Nightly. Monday, June 6. Sam Mayo, H. Doughty and Co. Lee and Kingston, Lupino Lane, Arnold Bell and Co., Tess Lilley, Probyn and Bates, Gwen Zalska, Fred Arthur, Con Colyer, Daisy Hurdle Royston and Bradfield, Edisonograph. Rehearsal Monday 1 o'clock. Open 7.30. Saturday, 7 o'clock, with augmented programme. Tele., 503 West minster. Assistant-Man., Mr. MAURICE VOLNY.

FUNDS, &c.

ROYAL GENERAL THEATRICAL FUND.
FOR MEMBERS BECOMING INCAPACITATED EITHER BY OLD AGE OR INFIRMITY.
Hon. Treasurer, EDWARD TERRY, Esq., J.P.
Subscribers are requested to send notices of alteration of addresses.
CHARLES CRUIKSHANKS, Secretary,
Savoy House, 115-116, Strand.

ROYAL GENERAL THEATRICAL FUND.
THE SIXTY-FIFTH ANNUAL DINNER
will take place at the WHITEHALL ROOMS, HOTEL METROPOLE,
on
SUNDAY, June 12, 1910,
at 7.30 p.m.,
MARTIN HARVEY, Esq.,
in the Chair.
Contributions, to be placed on the Chairman's List, will be gratefully acknowledged.
Musical arrangements under the direction of Wilhelm Ganz, Esq.
Tickets (inclusive of wine), £1 1s.
CHARLES CRUIKSHANKS,
Secretary.
Savoy House, 115-116, Strand, W.C.

ACTORS' BENEVOLENT FUND.
8, ADAM-STREET, STRAND.
C. I. COLSTON, Secretary.

ACTORS' ASSOCIATION.
32 REGENT-STREET, PICCADILLY-CIRCUS, W.
Free Medical Advice.
Free Legal Advice.
Agency. Tours Booked.
Telegrams, "Actoris, London."
Telephone, 1753 Gerrard.

THE MANAGERS' CLUB
and
TOURING MANAGERS' ASSOCIATION, LTD.
For particulars of Membership, apply to THE SECRETARY, 5, Wardour-street, W. Telegraphic address, "Playwright, London." Telephone 8458 Gerrard.

MUSIC HALL SICK FUND.
Founded in 1867.
Committee Meetings second Wednesday in the month at 4 p.m.
Sick Payments—£1 for 6d. per week, £1 10s. for 9d. per week. £10 paid to nearest relative on death of member. President, Mr. FRED KARNO (Con. Auditors, Messrs. W. Brisco and T. Carney. Trustees, Messrs. H. Jennings, Jesse Sparrow, and Douglas White; Vice-President, Mr. W. J. Wainwatta; Treasurer, Mr. Pat Carey; Secretary, Mr. E. T. Baines. Address all communications, the Crown Hotel, Charing Cross-road, W.C.

ACADEMIES AND SCHOOLS.

ROYAL ACADEMY OF MUSIC,
TENTERDEN-STREET, W.
Instituted 1822. Incorporated by Royal Charter, 1830.
The Academy offers to Pupils of both sexes an opportunity of receiving a thorough education in Music in all its branches, the Drama, and Dramatic Elocution under the most eminent Professors.
For terms and all other information, apply to
F. W. RENAUT, Secretary.

THE ROYAL COLLEGE OF MUSIC
(Incorporated by Royal Charter, 1883).
PRINCE CONSORT-ROAD, SOUTH KENSINGTON, S.W
Director, Sir C. HUBERT H. PARRY, Bart., C.V.O., D.C.L., M.A., Mus. Doc.
Hon. Sec., CHARLES MORLEY, Esq.
Syllabus and Official Entry Forms may be obtained from FRANK POWNALL, Registrar.

GUILDHALL SCHOOL OF MUSIC.
Established and Managed by the Corporation of London.
The only School in London for
OPERATIC and THEATRICAL TRAINING which possesses a completely equipped Theatre. Public Performances periodically given. Stagecraft, Elocution, Fencing, Gesture, Stage Dancing, and Deportment Taught by Eminent Professors. Half-term commences Mon., June 6. New Pupils can enter at any time.
FEES MODERATE. Prospectus on application to H. SAXE-WYNDHAM, Sec., Victoria-embankment, E.C. Tel. No. 1943 Holborn.

TRINITY COLLEGE OF MUSIC
(Inst. 1872). Chairman of Board:
Sir FREDERICK BRIDGE, M.V.O., Mus.D., M.A.
Director of Studies:
G. E. BAMBRIDGE, F.T.C.L., F.R.A.M.
Director of Examinations: C. W. PEARCE, Mus.D.
Students may join at any time and are received for a single subject or the course. June 6, at 5 p.m., Students' Concert. Prospectus and Concert Tickets post free on application.
SHELLEY FISHER, Secretary.
Mandeville-place, Manchester-square, London, W.

COLONIAL THEATRES.

AUSTRALIA.
MELBOURNE, SYDNEY, BRISBANE, WELLINGTON, N.Z.
Mr. J. C. WILLIAMSON,
Manager of the Leading Australasian Theatres,
HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE, MELBOURNE;
HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE, SYDNEY;
THEATRE ROYAL, SYDNEY;
HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE, BRISBANE.
London Representative,
J. A. E. MALONE, Adelphi Theatre

AUSTRALIA.
MR. HARRY RICKARDS,
Sole Proprietor and Manager,
GRAND OPERA HOUSE MELBOURNE;
PRINCE OF WALES' HOTEL, MELBOURNE;
TIVOLI THEATRE, SYDNEY;
TIVOLI HOTEL, SYDNEY;
TIVOLI THEATRE, ADELAIDE;
PALACE THEATRE AND GARDENS, PERTH.
Address all communications, Head Office, Tivoli Theatre, Sydney. Cable Address, "Tivolian, Sydney." General-Manager, JOHN C. LEITE.

AUSTRALIA and NEW ZEALAND.
GEORGE MARLOW'S ENTERPRISES.
London Agent,
EDWARD THANE.
19, Mount Pleasant-lane, Upper Clapton, N.E.

NEW ZEALAND.
FULLER'S AMUSEMENT ENTERPRISES.
Props., JOHN FULLER AND SONS.
AUCKLAND OPERA HOUSE, SKATING RINK (shortly building).
WELLINGTON THEATRE R. (shortly re-building) HIS MAJESTY'S OLYMPIA RINK.
CHRISTCHURCH OPERA H., COLOSSEUM.
DUNEDIN, HIS MAJESTY'S, ALHAMBRA, and PRINCESS THEATRES.
INVERCARGILL, ZEALANDIA HALL.
Head Office, Wellington.

BOMBAY. — CALCUTTA.
BOMBAY.—CALCUTTA.
EMPIRE AND NOVELTY THEATRES, BOMBAY.
GRAND OPERA HOUSE, CALCUTTA.
Cables:
"Soundy, Bombay."
"Operahouse, Calcutta."
The Finest and Most Up-to-date Theatres in the East.
Apply,
SOUNDY and Co., LTD., Bombay;
or,
Manager,
Grand Opera House, Calcutta.

COLONIAL THEATRES.

INDIA AND THE FAR EAST.
BANDMANN'S EASTERN CIRCUIT.
MAURICE E. BANDMANN controls
the only Circuit of Theatres in the East, and can offer attractions a Twelve to Eighteen Months' Consecutive Tour.
Rent! Share! or Certainty!
ROYAL OPERA HOUSE, BOMBAY.
Joint Owners, MAURICE E. BANDMANN and J. F. KARAKA. District Manager, F. MITCHELL.
The Premier Theatre of Bombay!
This new and magnificent three-tier theatre, now under course of erection, built on the cantilever principle, will be opened in October next. Holding capacity at ordinary prices £300. Every modern improvement. Stage capable of any production.
EMPIRE THEATRE, CALCUTTA.
Joint Owners, MAURICE E. BANDMANN and A. STEPHEN. District Manager, J. BURY.
Acknowledged by Press and Public as the Premier Theatre of the East!
Now in its second year of unprecedented success. Holding capacity at ordinary prices £350. A magnificent four-tier playhouse, built on the cantilever principle, with modern mechanical stage capable of any production.
A play palace.—Vide Press.
At last Calcutta has a theatre where one can both see and hear in.—Vide Press.
A Manager writes:—I have taken more money at the Empire, Calcutta, in one night than in another theatre in Calcutta in one week.
THEATRE ROYAL, CALCUTTA.
Sole Owner, A. STEPHEN. Joint Lessees, MAURICE E. BANDMANN and A. STEPHEN.
Holding capacity at ordinary prices £250.
THE FAR EAST.
District Manager, ROY H. SMITH.
Address all communications to District Managers or to London Representative, 44, Cranbourn-street, W.C. Cables, "Svengali." London. "Svengali," Calcutta. "Svengali," Bombay.

PROVINCIAL THEATRES.

ALDERSHOT.—THEATRE ROYAL
VARIETY SEASON TWICE NIGHTLY.
NEW EMPIRE, KINGSTON (now building).
Address, MR. CLARENCE SOUNES, 18, Walpole-road Surbiton, Surrey. Telephone, 1200 P.O., Kingston.

BIRMINGHAM.
CURZON HALL.
Holding capacity about 3000.
To Let
for various dates
during 1910 and 1911.
Suitable for Circus, Diorama, &c.
For particulars apply to
EDMUND W. BERCH,
Chartered Accountant,
37, Temple-street,
Birmingham.

BLACKPOOL
HER MAJESTY'S OPERA HOUSE,
WINTER GARDENS,
The PRINCIPAL THEATRE.
Holds MORE MONEY at ORDINARY PRICES and has better average business throughout the Year than any Theatre in the Town.
The Most Comfortable, Elegant, and Best equipped Theatre, Large and Well Electric Lighted Stage, and First-class Orchestra.
All visitors to the Theatre have Free Admission to the Winter Gardens, Floral Hall, Empress Ballroom, and Pavilion Entertainments; thus Companies visiting Her Majesty's Opera House have this additional attraction, which no other Theatre can offer. Only best No. 1 Companies Booked. For Dates address, JNO. R. HUDDLESTONE, Manager, Winter Gardens, Blackpool.

BLACKPOOL.
GRAND THEATRE, BLACKPOOL,
under the entirely new Proprietorship and Management of the Blackpool Tower Co., Ltd.
General-Manager, GEO. H. HARROP.
Acting-Manager, PERCY HARROP.
The Finest, most Popular, and High Record Money-holding Theatre at ordinary prices in the town. Charmingly re-decorated and re-appointed throughout. A beautiful, luxurious, and perfectly appointed playhouse. Spacious and brilliantly-lighted stage. Superior dressing-rooms. Magnificent Orchestra.
Only Vacancy this year, July 4, and Oct. 24, No. 1 Companies only.
All communications, which should be made at once, to GEO. H. HARROP, General-Manager, as above; or, Mr. E. LOCKWOOD, 5, Winterbrook-road, Herne Hill, London, S.E. Teles., "Tower, Blackpool."

BRIGHTON.
MARINE PALACE AND PIER.
Manager, F. W. WALKINGTON. Tele. 341.
The Finest Pier in the Kingdom.
Brilliantly illuminated with 6,000 incandescent and 32 powerful arc lamps. First-class Military Bands during Season. Handsome and luxuriously furnished Theatre, stage seen from every seat, wind and rain covered way from Pier entrance. Chief tram terminus opposite.
Theatre Vacant after Sept. 30; tenant required.

CAMBRIDGE.—NEW THEATRE (Ltd.)
Man.-Directors, Mr. W. B. REDFERN, J.P., D.L.
A theatre among the most beautiful in England.—Sunday Times.
Now booking Autumn Dates for this year and Spring of 1911.
Silence a polite negative.

CHESTERFIELD.—Correspondent Required to supply Theatrical Reports Weekly. Address, Dramaticus, c/o "The Era," 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

CORK. — OPERA HOUSE.
Wanted Companies.
Autumn Dates rapidly filling.
Apply to R. J. BELL, Manager.

GRIMSBY.—PRINCE OF WALES'S THEATRE, LTD.
Established 1884.
Managing-Director, JOSEPH H. CURRY.
Open all the Year Round.
Telegraphic add., "Curry, Grimsby." Tel. No. 240.

HANLEY.—THEATRE ROYAL, LTD.
The Staffordshire Potteries for all
Dramatic Purposes
must be considered as one large town.
Accommodation for 3,000 People.
Electric Trams and Trains after Performance to all ends of the District.
Vacant Spring Dates.
Sept. 5, 12, 19, and onwards.
First-class attractions only.
CHAS. E. ELPHINSTONE, Managing-Director.

HERNE BAY
URBAN DISTRICT COUNCIL.
All applications for Shares or Rental of the TOWN HALL THEATRE,
PIER PAVILION THEATRE, and various Al-fresco Sites, &c., to be made to the Entertainment-Manager, ARTHUR J. BARCLAY, Town Hall Herne Bay.

LEAMINGTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.
Vacant Dates, Sept. 12, onwards, with exceptions.
Address, E. DOTTRIDGE, Empire, Oldham.

LONDON, S.E.—Correspondent Required to supply occasional reports of the Rotherhithe Hippodrome. Apply, DRAMATICUS, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

PROVINCIAL THEATRES.

MERTHYR. — THEATRE ROYAL.
MERTHYR.—THEATRE ROYAL.
MERTHYR.—THEATRE ROYAL.
MERTHYR.—THEATRE ROYAL.
MERTHYR.—THEATRE ROYAL.
MERTHYR.—THEATRE ROYAL.
MERTHYR.—THEATRE ROYAL.
MERTHYR.—THEATRE ROYAL.
MERTHYR.—THEATRE ROYAL.
MERTHYR.—THEATRE ROYAL.
MERTHYR.—THEATRE ROYAL.
MERTHYR.—THEATRE ROYAL.
Lessees, The South Wales Entertainments, Ltd.
Visited by all high-class Companies, including "Arcadians," "Merry Widow," "Gay Gordons," "When Knights Were Bold," Moody-Manners, &c.
Managers are requested to apply now for dates, Oct. 3, 10, 17, Nov. 28, Dec. 5, onwards, to A. JACKSON WITHERS, at above.

NORWICH. — THEATRE ROYAL.
Now booking Autumn.
Weekly Matinées for Country Visitors.
Silence a polite negative.
FRED MORGAN, Manager.

OLDHAM. — GRAND THEATRE.
One of the Finest Theatres in England.
Vacant for High-class Attractions,
Sept. 5, onwards, with exceptions.
Can entertain Big Panto., Xmas, four weeks.
Visited by Mr. Oscar Asche, Miss Lily Brayton, Mr. Martin Harvey, Moody-Manners Opera Co., Mr. Geo. Edwardes's Co's., Mr. Robert Courtneidge' Co's., "The Arcadians," &c., "Brewster's Millions," Mr. Jas. Welch, Mr. Geo. Dance's Co's., Mr. Frank Curzon's Co's., The D'Oyly Carte Opera Co., Mr. Richard Flanagan's Productions.
Address, ERNEST DOTTRIDGE.

OXFORD. — NEW THEATRE.
Managers of First-class Companies are invited to apply for Dates to
Mr. C. C. DORRILL,
Managing-Director,
Silence a polite negative.

PLYMOUTH.—THEATRE ROYAL
Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. LANGDON LEE.
Vacant dates, July 25, Oct. 17 (Musical Comedy).
Vacant next Spring, Feb. 27, March 6, 27, April 3, 10, and 24.

PORTSMOUTH. — NEW THEATRE ROYAL.
Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. BOUGHTON.
Open throughout the year.
First-class Companies.
Weekly Matinées.

ROCHDALE.—Correspondent Required to supply Theatrical Reports Weekly. Address, Dramaticus, c/o "The Era," 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

SOUTHPORT. — OPERA HOUSE.
Lessee and Manager, PERCY HUTCHISON.
Vacant.
Sept. 12 (?), Oct. 17, 24, Nov. 14, 21.

SOUTH SHIELDS. — THEATRE ROYAL.
Lessee and Manager, John Coulson.
Vacant Aug. 15, Sept. 12, 26, Oct. 10, Nov. 14, for first-class attractions only.
Silence a polite negative.

SUNDERLAND.—KING'S THEATRE.
Lessee and Manager, S. F. DAVIDSON.
Business Manager, LLOYD TOWNROW.
Visited by all the best companies, including Geo. Alexander, Lewis Waller, Oscar Asche, Martin Harvey, Geo Graves, Moody-Manners, D'Oyly Carte, "Arcadians," "Merry Widow," &c., &c.
A few vacant dates in the Autumn.

WALSALL.—Correspondent Required to supply weekly reports of the theatres and music halls.—Apply, "Dramaticus," 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

WORKSOP.—Correspondent Required to supply Theatrical Reports Weekly. Address, DRAMATICUS, c/o "The Era," 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

A FEW VACANT DATES
for the following
First-class Theatre Circuit:—
OPERA HOUSE, TUNBRIDGE WELLS;
GRAND THEATRE, SOUTHAMPTON;
THEATRE ROYAL, BOURNEMOUTH;
OPERA HOUSE, CORK;
THE GRAND THEATRE, SWANSEA, can be booked in conjunction with the OPERA H., CORK.
Journey via the popular Fishguard-Rosslare route.
GAIETY THEATRE, DUBLIN;
THEATRE ROYAL, DUBLIN;
OPERA HOUSE, BELFAST.
Apply, FREDK. MOUILLOT,
1 and 2, King-street, Covent Garden.

SCALE OF CHARGES FOR PROVINCIAL THEATRES AND PROVINCIAL MUSIC HALLS.
Five Lines, TWO and SIXPENCE.
Thirteen Insertions (Including a Copy of "The Era" Weekly), THIRTY SHILLINGS.
For Each Additional Line, Sixpence.
Address, the PUBLISHER,
5 Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.
"Wire," "The Era," London.
"Ring-up," 4747 or 1433 Central.

Warning to Concert Parties and all others whom it may concern.
Re "THE ARCADIANS."
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the rights of public representation or performance of the music and words of "The Arcadians" are the property of Mr. Robert Courtneidge, of the Shaftesbury Theatre, London, and are reserved; further, that legal proceedings will forthwith be instituted without any further notice against all persons giving or assisting in giving any such performance or representation of the words or music of the said play or any part thereof.
Dated the 24th May, 1910.
J. MOVERLEY SHARP,
Criterion Chambers, Jermyn-street, S.W.
Solicitor for Mr. Robert Courtneidge.

Price 3s. 6d Post free 3s. 10d.
THE LAW OF COPYRIGHT
FOR ACTOR AND COMPOSER,
By ALBERT A. STRONG, LL.B. (Lond.).
Chapter I.
COPYRIGHT AS OPPOSED TO PERFORMING RIGHT.
Chapter II.
PERFORMING RIGHT.
Chapter III.
INFRINGEMENT AND REMEDIES.
CHAPTER IV.
MUSICAL COPYRIGHT.
Chapter V.
INTERNATIONAL AND COLONIAL COPYRIGHT.
Mr. A. A. Strong has published a book on "The Law of Copyright for Actor and Composer," which should be in the hands of everyone who is obliged to know about this perplexing subject. Dramatic copyright in England is in a particularly unsatisfactory state, and it is much to be hoped that ere long some more rational method of securing protection for a play may be devised than the slovenly and sometimes costly "production for copyright purposes" which is at present required. — St. James's Gazette.
Published at "The Era" Offices, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

PLAYERS OF THE PERIOD.

ALPHABETICAL LIST
OF
ILLUSTRATED BIOGRAPHIES.

Albury, Mr. Eric H. ....Feb. 5, 1910
Allan, Mr. Charles ....Jan. 8, 1910
Anderson, Mr. William ....May 29, 1909
Anthony, Mr. Mark ....Jan. 1, 1910
Arnold, Mr. Harold ....Nov. 6, 1909
Austin and Cowan ....Feb. 5, 1910
Barbour, Late Mr. William ....Feb. 19, 1910
Barclay, Miss Lila ....July 24, 1909
Barrasford, late Mr. Thomas ....Feb. 5, 1910
Barratt, Mr. Lester ....Oct. 23, 1909
Bassett, Mr. Leon Alfred ....July 3, 1909
Beltram, Miss Josie ....Jan. 22, 1910
Black, Mr. Kenneth ....Nov. 20, 1909
Blackwood, Miss Nancy ....March 12, 1910
Blanchard, Miss Mildred ....Nov. 27, 1909
Box, Mr. Ted E. ....Nov. 6, 1909
Boyde, late Mr. Edwin ....Nov. 6, 1909
Braithwaite, Mrs. J. W. ....April 30, 1910
Brand, Late Mr. Oswald ....Aug. 28, 1909
Brough, late Mr. Lionel ....Nov. 13, 1909
Broughton, Mr. W. H. ....Jan. 22, 1910
Buonaparte, Mr. Juan ....July 31, 1909
Bushell, Mr. Albert ....Nov. 20, 1909
Calvert, Mr. Cayley ....Feb. 12, 1910
Carpenter, Late Mr. Ernest ....Jan. 1, 1910
Carpenter, Mr. F. W. ....March 5, 1910
Carr, Mr. James ....March 5, 1910
Caselli, Sisters ....Nov. 13, 1909
Cecil, Mr. Douglas ....Aug. 21, 1909
Chapman, Miss Ida Assheton ....Dec. 18, 1909
Clarkson, Mr. Willie ....Jan. 29, 1910
Clifton, Miss Dorothy ....Feb. 12, 1910
Clyffe, Miss Dolly ....Jan. 22, 1910
Colley, Mr. Herbert ....March 26, 1910
Collingwood, Mr. Lester ....May 7, 1910
Collins, Late Miss Lottie ....Feb. 26, 1910
Collins, Mr. Arthur ....June 19, 1909
Colyer, Miss Kitty ....Aug. 21, 1909
Conway, Late Mr. H. B. ....April 23, 1910
Corri, Mlle. Ghita ....June 26, 1909
Cranston, Mr. Edward ....Jan. 1, 1910
Craven, Miss Elise ....Jan. 8, 1910
Cross, Late Mr. A. B. ....Oct. 23, 1909
Curlette, Miss Cissie ....Sept. 4, 1909
Dallas, Mr. J. J. ....July 31, 1909
Dalton, Miss Florence ....Aug. 28, 1909
D'Arc, Mr. W. J. ....Sept. 11, 1909
Dare, Mr. Charles ....Feb. 5, 1910
Darien, Mr. Philip ....Oct. 2, 1909
Darling, Jessie ....Aug. 7, 1909
Davidson and Mitchell ....Jan. 29, 1910
Davies, Late Mr. Chas. J. ....March 26, 1910
Day, Mr. Harry W. ....Feb. 12, 1910
Delaine, Miss Josie ....Oct. 23, 1909
Diamond, Master Cliff ....Feb. 5, 1910
Earle, Miss Amy Lloyd ....Aug. 28, 1909
Edgar, Late Mr. J. W. ....Sept. 18, 1909
Erskine, Miss Ella ....Nov. 6, 1909
Evans, late Mr. Evans ....Feb. 12, 1910
Feldman, Mr. Bert ....Jan. 22, 1910
Fern, Miss Sable ....March 26, 1910
Ferris, Mr. Edward ....Jan. 22, 1910
Ford-Howitt Miss Gladys ....May 7, 1910
Ford, Mr. Herbert ....Sept. 18, 1909
Ford, Late Mr. T. W. ....Aug. 28, 1909
Foster, Mr. Edward ....Aug. 14, 1909
Franklin, Miss Irene ....Feb. 5, 1910
Gibbons, Mr. Walter ....Feb. 5, 1910
Gittins, Mr. Ernest Ch. ....Jan. 15, 1910
Graydon, Mr. J. L. ....Jan. 15, 1910
Gregory, Mr. Walner ....May 28, 1910
Griffiths, Mr. F. R. ....June 6, 1909
Grossmith, sen., Mr. George ....Oct. 2, 1909
Hales, Late Mrs. Martha ....Feb. 5, 1910
Hampton, Miss Louise ....May 28, 1910
Hardacre, Mr. J. Pitt ....Oct. 23, 1909
Hargreaves, Mr. W. H. ....April 23, 1910
Harwood, Late Mr. Robb ....Feb. 26, 1910
Hastings-Batson, Mr. J. ....March 5, 1910
Heath, Late Mr. Frank ....Dec. 18, 1909
Herbert, Miss Katharine ....June 26, 1909
Herries, Miss Lillian ....July 3, 1909
Hickman, Mr. Charles D. ....April 23, 1910
Hill, Mr. Rowland ....May 28, 1910
Housley, Miss Edith ....Aug. 7, 1909
Hudson, late Mr. T. P. ....July 3, 1909
Illing, Late Mme. Meta ....Jan. 1, 1910
Jenoure, Miss Aida ....July 17, 1909
Jerome, Miss Daisy ....Nov. 13, 1909
Jerrarde, Miss Maisie ....April 10, 1909
Kenney, Late Mr. Chas. H. ....Sept. 25, 1909
Kitts, Mr. Charles S. ....Feb. 12, 1910
Knight, Miss Agnes ....July 10, 1909
Law, Master Cecil Howard ....April 24, 1909
Leon, late Mr. Frank ....Nov. 6, 1909
Lilburn Mr. Charles ....Sept. 4, 1909
Lloyd, Mr. Tom ....May 7, 1910
Lockhart, Mr. William ....Nov. 27, 1909
Lomath, Mr. Stuart ....May 22, 1909
Loveday, Late Mr. H. J. ....April 2, 1910
Mack, Miss Bertha Doud ....Dec. 25, 1909
Mackay, Miss Ida ....Feb. 12, 1910
Mackay, Mr. A. B. ....Feb. 12, 1910
Mapleson, Colonel ....April 23, 1910
May, Miss Daisy ....April 2, 1910
Mellon, Late Mrs. Alfred ....Sept. 11, 1909
Melville, Mr. Andrew ....Oct. 2, 1909
Montague, Little Constance ....April 30, 1910
Moore, Late Mr. G. W. ....Oct. 2, 1909
Morell, Miss Daisy ....July 17, 1909
Morgan, Miss Dorma ....Dec. 25, 1909
Morgan, Miss Mabelle ....Oct. 30, 1909
Moss, Mr. Hugh ....June 12, 1909
Newall, late Mr. Richard ....Oct. 30, 1909
Nolan, Late Mr. Michael ....Jan. 15, 1910
Payne-Seddon, Mr. W. ....April 16, 1910
Pembroke, Mr. Clifford ....Sept. 4, 1909
Penso, Mr. R. ....Nov. 27, 1909
Perrette, Mr. W. H. ....Jan. 22, 1910
Phillipini, Madame Jeannette ....Feb. 5, 1910
Power, Mr. Oscar ....March 12, 1910
Pringle, Mr. William ....April 23, 1910
Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. ....Dec. 18, 1909
Reeves, Fred and Horace ....Jan. 1, 1910
Rexos, The ....Aug. 28, 1909
Reynolds, Mr. Walter, L.C.C. ....Jan. 1, 1910
Reynolds, Mr. Walter ....Nov. 6, 1909
Richardson, Miss Dorothy ....Feb. 5, 1910
Robins, Miss Fanny ....July 31, 1909
Russon, Mr. Harry ....March 5, 1910
Salambos, The ....Jan. 8, 1910
Sargent, Mr. Frederic ....Feb. 5, 1910
Schalkenbach, Late Herr ....April 16, 1910
Schonberg, Mr. W. Lake ....May 28, 1910
Scott, Mr. Bennett ....Oct. 16, 1909
Selwynne, Miss Clarissa ....Feb. 5, 1910
Shaw, Late Mr. Sydney ....April 23, 1910
Simms, Rosa and Kitty ....Nov. 20, 1909
Smith, Late Mr. Vere ....Jan. 29, 1910
Somerfield, Late Mr Fred C. ....Feb. 26, 1910
Stanmore, Mr. Frank ....May 29, 1909
St. John, Mr. Herbert ....May 28, 1910
Stretton, Mr. Alfred ....March 26, 1910
Stuart, Miss Eva ....Dec. 25, 1909
Stuart, Mr. Dudley ....April 2, 1910
Studt, Mr. Henry ....Oct. 2, 1909
Swinerd, Late Mr Henry ....Jan. 8, 1910
Taylor, Late Mr. Henry ....May 28, 1910
Thorne, Miss Ellaline ....May 29, 1909
Tracy, Miss Louie ....March 12, 1910
Tracy, Mr. Howard L. ....April 30, 1910
Trevosper, Miss Marguerite ....July 3, 1909
Victor, Mr. Frederick ....Dec. 18, 1909
Vine, Miss Lily ....March 26, 1910
Vint, Mr. Leon ....Jan. 8, 1910
Wagner, Mr. Harold ....May 22, 1909
Wakeford, Miss Marion ....Feb. 26, 1910
Ward, Miss Maud E. ....Jan. 8, 1910
Warren, Mr. Charles ....Oct. 30, 1909
Watson, Mr. John E. ....July 10, 1909
Weaver, Mr. Wyn ....May 28, 1910
Wellesley, Mr. Alfred ....Feb. 5, 1910
Wentworth, Miss Fanny ....Feb. 5, 1910
White, Mr. Will ....Feb. 12, 1910
Whitling, Mr. Townsend ....Feb. 12, 1910
Wilson, Late Mr. Charles ....July 31, 1909
Winslow, Mr. Samuel E. ....Dec. 11, 1909
Woottwell, Mr. Tom ....Aug. 7, 1909
Workman, Mr. C. H. ....Sept. 11, 1909
Wynne, Miss Molly ....July 10, 1909
Wynne, Mr. Edwin H. ....Feb. 12, 1910

Copies of "The Era" containing the above can be obtained, price 6d. each for any issue 1910; other dates double price.
Address, THE PUBLISHER, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

THEATRICAL SHOE AND HOSIERY MANUFACTURERS,
MAKERS TO THE PRINCIPAL LONDON THEATRES.

Louis Heel Dancing Shoes a Speciality.
Sixty Art Shades of Linen Back Satin,
Specially Woven for the Manufacture of Dancing Shoes,
kept in stock.
This Satin has a Fine Lustre, and is almost as Strong as Leather.

Large Stock of Pure and Spun Silk Tights,
Worsted and Cotton Tights, Opera Hose,
Stockings, &c.
A Special Study made of Symmetrical Paddings.
The Most Up-to-Date Stock of
Stage Requisites and Sundries.
Everything of the Best and at Store Prices.
H. and M. RAYNE,
115, 117, and 119, WATERLOO-ROAD,
LONDON, S.E.
(Opposite Electric Tram Terminus).
Tel. 7978 Central. Telegrams, Raynaloo, London.
And at 49, Charing Cross-road, W.C. (near Hippo).

TO OUR READERS.
A SINGLE COPY OF "THE ERA."
Post Free to any Address in the United Kingdom for SIX STAMPS.
Telegraphic Address, "The Era, London."
Address, THE PUBLISHER,
"The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-st., Strand, W.C.

THE ERA

SATURDAY, JUNE 4, 1910.

THE NATIONAL THEATRE.

In the course of the last few weeks we have published the opinions of some of our leading managers on the subject of the National Theatre; but there are some who have not written, possibly because they consider that their opinions, already expressed, should be well known to us and to our readers. As far back as 1904 a "symposium" was started by a monthly magazine, to which many leading lights in the profession contributed, so that we are enabled to complete our collection from this convenient source. It is true that the discussion related to a State-aided theatre, but the principle involved is exactly the same.

Mr. F. R. BENSON'S opinion was admirably expressed. He said: "I do not think the amelioration of the drama can result from the drawing-up of any one cut-and-dried scheme. The problems have to be worked out rather than solved by 'words, words, words.' The amelioration of the drama will come, and is coming, alongside with many other growths and developments, such as the reorganisation and beautifying of our large cities, the provision of opportunity for a happy and independent life for the poorest member of the community, of a sane and just imperialism, the liberalising of religion independent of sect or creed, the revival of agriculture, and a more enlightened cultivation of art and science. I rather look to drama to help to reform the State; I don't think the State is capable of reforming drama. In England we are not in the habit of doing things by State machinery. Still, I think a few endowed theatres in our midst (either endowed by the State or the individual, with the avowed purpose of fostering drama rather than dividends) might be helpful. The well-being of the drama will, therefore, be the complex result of many forces working in different directions and with different ideas, not the outcome of any one formalised plan or any one subsidised theatre. In art there are many methods, but one spirit."

Mr. ARTHUR BOURCHIER'S opinion of a subsidised theatre was as follows: "If properly managed by the right man it would be most beneficial, but not if managed by anything in the nature of a committee or more than one man, who should have full power."

Sir FRANCIS BURNAND, the author of so many successful plays, was warmly in favour of a subsidised theatre with the accessories of fellowships, scholarships, and studentships, and a teaching professional staff chosen from the leading actors and actresses of the day. Mr. HALL CAINE, on the contrary, was opposed to a subsidised theatre. "Dramatic art," he said, "like all other forms of art, can only be exercised in a spirit of compromise—the result being something that lies midway between what the artist could wish to do and what he may do. This natural (perhaps commercial) condition is one that has applied to art in all the ages and in the hands of all the masters. It is not an ideal condition; but I think it is immeasurably safer, sounder, and more likely to produce good results than any artificial conditions whatsoever."

A pathetic contribution to the discussion was that of the late JOHN DAVIDSON, who said: "I am not certain. Any attempt to give a new impetus from without would be ineffective. If I had a theatre of my own I could give a new impetus to the drama."

Mr. THOMAS HARDY, the celebrated novelist, wrote: "I regret to say, in answer to your enquiries, that my knowledge of the practicable drama is too limited for me to express an opinion on the subject beyond the very general one that a State-aided theatre would probably be beneficial to dramatic art."

Mr. MARTIN HARVEY then, as now, was in favour of a subsidised theatre, which he thought "would be beneficial to the drama, if properly conducted."

Mr. SEYMOUR HICKS, whose present opinion we have been unable to ascertain, thought that a subsidised theatre would not be detrimental to dramatic art. He failed, however, to see how it would be beneficial, as actors with big positions would not appear in it for any length of time, seeing that the compensation given them could never be as large as they could make as stars under individual management, or their own if successful.

Mr. HENRY ARTHUR JONES said: "If we are to rescue the fine and human art of English drama from its present decline and degradation"—this, it should be remembered, was in 1904—"it is necessary to found a national or repertory theatre where high and severe literary and artistic standards may be set; where great traditions may be gradually established and maintained amongst authors, actors, critics, and audiences."

Mr. LOUIS N. PARKER thought that a State-aided theatre would be an admirable thing. He said: "It would encourage experiments; it would enable those who now shout for a 'new' drama to crystallise their ideas; it would keep old plays alive. There would always be room in the auditorium. But—ah, there are so many Buts! Who is to be at the head of it? An actor? Then how would it ultimately differ from any other theatre over which an actor presides? A dramatic author? I hear shouts of derision, in which I am inclined to join. A 'liter'y gent.'? It is difficult not to become personal that I will leave this point unlaboured. A committee? What play would ever pass a committee, and what would be left of it if it did pass?"

Sir ARTHUR PINERO, though heartily in favour of a National Theatre, and considering such an institution necessary to the thorough well-being of the stage, did not share "the extremely pessimistic views held by many on the subject of the condition of drama in England."

From this list of the really influential and experienced persons who are in favour of a National Theatre, it is obvious that many of the leading actors are now on the side of the movement. But the mere inclusion of their names as supporters of the National Theatre and as sympathisers with its objects is insufficient if the real power and authority be left in the hands of persons who are practically amateurs at theatre management. The National Theatre has to be evolved; it cannot be established at once and immediately, even after the necessary capital has been subscribed. Exactly what form and shape it will assume, how it will be organised, arranged, and, so to speak, invented, it is impossible to say. As Mr. MARTIN HARVEY has said, we should not exact too clear and definite a description of the details of the scheme. Many things will be found to be inexpedient; others discovered to be impossible. There will have to be discussions and deliberations, additions, and alterations. The great points which we have before us are: first, the preponderating feeling in favour of a National Theatre amongst the prominent members of the acting and playwriting profession; and, second, the important share which actors are now being allowed to take in the propaganda of National Theatre doctrine.

As usual, when actor-managers take up anything it immediately begins to "move." Mr. FORBES-ROBERTSON has not been content with a passive or merely verbal support of the National Theatre. On April 22, at a great public dinner in Hamilton, Canada, Lord GREY called upon the city to start a subscription for the English National Theatre, which was then and there done, and in less than an hour £500 had been collected. This was entirely owing to the advocacy of Mr. FORBES-ROBERTSON, to whose merits Mr. J. H. BARNES has paid eloquent tribute in our columns. We have never opposed the establishment of a National Theatre on a basis of abstract reasoning; but we have realised that the enterprise was certain to be a fiasco unless the co-operation of our leading actors and the profession generally were obtained. That objection is now being removed; and we hope to see the practical element entirely overpowering the somewhat amateur and literary body into whose hands the movement at one time seemed likely to fall.

THE benefit of Mr. James Boothman, the acting-manager of the Grand Opera House, Radcliffe (near Manchester), was a great success on Monday. Mr. Boothman was made the recipient of a beautiful clock and pair of marble horses from the employees and friends, showing the esteem and goodwill in which he is held after his stay of twelve years. A varied programme included My Sweetheart, Miss Lizzie Hall being a captivating Tina, Mr. Edward Rawlinson an agreeable Tony, and Mr. Sidney Spenser a typical Joe Shotwell. Miss Gipsey Alexander was good as Mrs. Fleeter, Mr. Arthur L. Read took the part of Harold Bartlett to perfection, and Mr. A. W. Thompson was a satisfactory Dr. Oliver. The theatre will be closed until August for decorating, &c.

ON the occasion of Mr. John Darlison's complimentary benefit at the New Gaiety Theatre, Leith, last week—when the popular resident-manager had the assistance of numerous friends in carrying through an attractive and excellent programme—one of the most successful items was the recitation of Christina Rossetti's "A Royal Princess," by Miss Eleanor McHardy. Mr. Graeme Goring also recited with great effect and power, his selection being The Highwayman, by Alfred Noyes; and Miss Nan Wilkinson was exceedingly happy in her contribution, assisted by Mr. T. L. Dallas, of Daisy M'Geoch's duologue The Collaborators. Mr. and Mrs. John Darlison were eminently successful as the Bishop and Nicolette respectively in a one-act playlet entitled A Brother of Men, adapted by the beneficiaire from Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables"; and Compromising Martha was very well played by Miss Boswell, Miss Rose Puckering, Miss Daisy Ritchie, and Mr. J. Finlayson Gauld. Musical items included a pleasing rendering of The Waterman by the Bohemian Lyric Opera Co.; Tosti's "Good-bye," admirably sung by Miss Bessie Simpson; an enjoyable Pierrot entertainment by the Leith Amateur Opera Co.; and several numbers most acceptably rendered by the Celtic Glee Singers.

SIR CHARLES WYNDHAM AT HOME.

It was good to welcome once again at the Criterion, his theatrical home of many years, Sir Charles Wyndham, who on Wednesday evening was the recipient of one of those warm, affectionate greetings from his very good friends the public that must have touched his heart. He comes, too, as an old acquaintance, whose grip of worldly wisdom and whose kindliness of heart first appealed to playgoers and won their complete approval when Sir Richard Kato faced the footlights for the first time on Oct. 3, 1894, and scored a Criterion triumph. To Miss Mary Moore, too, was given an equally affectionate welcome. It seemed to be remembered that this charming actress has recovered from a serious illness, and the unmistakable sincerity that marked the ovation given to her will make the home-coming one to be remembered. Miss Moore, too, appeared in a character which she may be said to have made her own—that of Lady Susan Harabin. The play, as our readers may have guessed, was Mr. H. A. Jones's

"THE CASE OF REBELLIOUS SUSAN."

Sir Richard Kato, K.C. SIR CHARLES WYNDHAM
Admiral the Hon. Sir Joseph Darby MR. ALFRED BISHOP
James Harabin ..... MR. SAM SOTHERN
Fergueson Pybus ..... MR. LESLIE HAMER
Lucien Edensor .... MR. CHARLES QUARTERMAINE
Mr. Jacomb ..... MR. REGINALD WALTER
Kirby ..... MR. KING FORDHAM
Footman ..... MR. LAWRENCE WHITE
Hotel Waiter ..... MR. S. BOND
Mrs. Quesnel ..... MISS ELLIS JEFFREYS
Lady Darby ..... MISS MARIE ILLINGTON
Elaine Shrimpton ..... MISS ATHENE SEYLER
Lady Susan Harabin ..... MISS MARY MOORE

Lady Susan Harabin, it will be remembered, has discovered her husband's infidelity, and is determined to leave him, and import a little romance into her life. This project she carries out in Cairo, where she meets an impressionable youngster named Lucien Edensor, who takes her to church, and in the second act proposes an elopement. The very good friend of everybody in the comedy prevents any such catastrophe, and as guardian of Lady Susan takes her under his immediate care. Her young lover becomes disillusioned on his voyage out to New Zealand, falls in love with somebody else; and when Lady Susan receives back in a piece of wedding cake the ring which she has given him as a token, she decides to take her husband back.

Sir Charles Wyndham plays with the same charm of manner and delightful ease that have always marked his rendering of the slightly cynical and tender-hearted man of the world. Sir Richard does the right thing all the time, and appeals to us both in his humour and his seriousness. Miss Mary Moore is just the froward, wilful, perverse, and winning Lady Susan that we have admired on previous occasions, and we are ready to believe the best of rebellious Susan as presented by her.

A performance of sweetness and distinction may be credited to Miss Ellis Jeffreys, and the passages between Mrs. Quesnel and Sir Richard were among the brightest and most interesting in the comedy. Mr. Alfred Bishop is one of our best eccentric old men, and his delineation of the gay old sea-dog Admiral Darby was a particularly refreshing reminder of the value of the old school of comedy. Mr. Leslie Hamer as Fergueson Pybus—a sort of Archibald Grosvenor—was distinctly precious in his expression of the yearnings after an æsthetic cult—unduly crushed in a suburban residence in Gladstone-road, Clapham; and Miss Athene Seyler, a young actress who is rapidly working her way to the front, gave amusing emphasis to the decidedly "advanced" views of that inexperienced young person Mrs. Pybus, who regards man as a simple muddle-headed exponent of the doctrine of brute force. Mr. Charles Quartermaine made a warm and impulsive Lucien Edensor, being especially good in the love scene with Lady Susan in the second act; Mr. Sam Sothern presented an unexaggerated portrait of James Harabin; and Miss Mary Illington was an irreproachable Lady Darby.

BEECHAM OPERA SEASON.

Massenet's Werther was revived by Mr. Thomas Beecham at His Majesty's Theatre on Friday night, May 27. When first produced at the Imperial Opera House, Vienna, in 1892, Van Dyck appeared as the hero. Some years ago Werther was performed at Covent Garden, but the great size of our fine opera house did not suit such a delicate subject, and as the music has not the charm of the same composer's opera Manon, and the story is extremely sad, not to say morbid, Werther never became popular. On the smaller stage of His Majesty's Theatre, however, Massenet's music is heard to far greater advantage, while by the revival Mr. Thomas Beecham, for the third time in one week, deserves the hearty thanks of all music-lovers. Messrs. Edouard Blau, Paul Milliet, and Georges Hartman are the librettists, and the first scene is the garden of Steward's house, where he is teaching the children to sing a carol. Werther enters, and when Charlotte arrives he is greatly impressed by her charms. Together they go off to a ball, and on returning Werther makes ardent love to his fair companion. Charlotte, although responding, tells him she must wed a certain Albert, owing to a vow to her mother, and Werther in despair says if she does he will destroy himself. A square in the town of Wetzlar is seen in the next act, and into a church on the right Charlotte and Albert, who are now married, enter. Werther arrives, and Albert, coming out of the church, gives him good advice. Werther seems convinced, but when Charlotte comes in forgets all but his love for her. In the next act (Albert's house) Charlotte is seen reading Werther's many letters, and, after a short scene with her sister, Sophie, Charlotte is again troubled by the sudden return of Werther, more infatuated than ever. A passionate duet follows, Werther departs, and the opera ends by the hero sending to Albert for a pistol, and Charlotte seeking her lover's house, only in time to find him on the floor mortally wounded. The music of Massenet is graceful and at times pathetic, as in the scene where Charlotte reads her lover's letters, while the love duets are not without a certain charm, but it is in the last act that the composer is most successful, with a beautiful duet between Charlotte and Werther. The orchestra, under Mr. Beecham's skilful direction, played admirably and with the utmost refinement, and the scenery was effective and picturesque. Mme. Zélie de Lussan, an experienced artist, appeared as Charlotte, and Mr. Ellison Van Hoose sang well as Werther, but had no easy task in arousing sympathy for so weak and sentimental a hero. Mr. Lewys James also was vocally excellent as Albert; while Miss Beatrice La Palme played Charlotte's sister, Sophie, in quite the right spirit. The small part of Steward was ably undertaken by Mr. Alfred Kaufmann, and the other characters by Messrs. John Bardsley and Frederick Ranalow.

MR. F. W. BOLAM'S first annual stock season is proving a great success at the Metropole, Gateshead. The fare this week is Mr. Geo. R. Sims's drama Harbour Lights. The principal artists are Mr. John B. Shinton and Miss Ada M. Ryder, who are seen to advantage in the rôles of David Kingsley and Dora Vane respectively; Mr. Stanley Bedwell and Mr. Arthur R. Holland, who share the honours as the scheming relatives, Nicholas and Frank Morland; the comedy is in the capable hands of Mr. Bert Atherton, who is assisted by Miss Gertrude Morella and Miss Annie Brunnette. The production, under the direction of Mr. Sidney Rennef, is worthy of praise, the scenic effects being excellently devised.

MR. H. A. JONES ON A NATIONAL THEATRE.

At the debate of the Oxford Union on Thursday Mr. Henry Arthur Jones made the following speech in support of the resolution "That this House would welcome the establishment of a National Theatre":—

I must own I am a little surprised to find that in Oxford University there is any difference of opinion as to the advisability of founding a National Theatre in England.

I am inclined to think that the most powerful arguments for a National Theatre are to be found in the present condition of the drama in England. In the month of February I had occasion to look up how many Shakespearean performances were taking place in Great Britain on a certain night. Throughout the length and breadth of the land there was only one—a performance of Twelfth Night at the Queen's Theatre at Manchester. During the month of May, when the London season is at its height, after the Shakespearean Festival, there was not a single Shakespearean performance in London. At the present moment there is only one, and that at a cheap-price theatre. Speaking generally, I think we may say there has been a very marked slump in Shakespeare for some years past. We do indeed get occasional revivals, but the length of their run is noticeably shorter than was the corresponding run of the same plays under Irving's management twenty-five years ago. Shakespeare then ran for two or three hundred nights. Our present managers have a difficulty in getting him up to a hundred. Thanks to the devotion and energy of Sir Herbert Tree, we have a Shakespearean Festival every year, and there are many good and some notable performances in it. But for all-round acting I don't think our present representations of Shakespeare will compare with those of twenty-five years ago, when they were stiffened and broadened by the acting of many actors trained in the old school. There is indeed a very noticeable decline in the art of speaking blank verse on the English stage. But surely a high proficiency in the art of speaking verse is the very foundation of any tolerable school of Shakespearean acting.

In reviewing Shakespearean performances during the last thirty years, how few of the great Shakespearean passages can we remember that have been adequately rendered. How rare is it to listen to one of these passages on the English stage and get the proper pleasure from its delivery. How often, indeed, do we find these great passages merely mangled and mumbled in such a way that we should never suspect them to be verse unless we knew it. I do not say that we do not get other delights from our Shakespearean performances—delights from the scenery, from pieces of notable characterisation, from the management of crowds; but this first and most essential delight of a Shakespearean performance, the delight of hearing blank verse musically spoken, we scarcely ever get upon our London stage.

When we turn to the modern drama we may find certain very hopeful and encouraging signs. Our reproduction of modern drawing-room comedy is at a very high level. But when we come to serious drama, dealing in an honest and searching way with our modern life, we are forced to own that scarcely three pieces have met with any success during the last six years. Serious drama in London has no hold whatever upon the public. This may be the fault of dramatic authors who cannot write serious plays sufficiently interesting; or it may be the fault of the actors who cannot interpret great passions in such a way as to make them credible; or it may be the fault of the public who demand mere frivolous entertainment of the theatre; but there is the fact that while dozens of serious plays are being successfully produced in France and Germany, the English stage only produces them to run a few nights to empty houses.

If we turn to the provinces, we may almost say that the drama is dead. The theatres are empty except when musical comedies are being played, or when a London star brings down his company to play the latest London success. Meanwhile, the large music halls are crammed, and are everywhere squeezing the drama out of existence. These music halls do indeed give certain sketches and dramatic scenes, but they are for the most part very crude and on a very low intellectual level.

To sum up, we may say that to-day in England the drama does not exist as a form of art at all; it is merely tolerated by the great public as a mere hanger-on of popular amusement.

Now I will ask you to say whether you think that state of things is a desirable one? I will grant that the drama in all ages has been more or less connected with popular amusement. The first thing that an author or an actor learns is that he must amuse or interest his public. I am always affirming that the end of the drama is to interest and amuse. There is no question about this; the question is really on what level and by what means the public shall be interested and amused in the theatre. For many years I have been begging English theatre-goers to separate their drama from popular amusement. As a matter of fact, the drama and popular amusement will never be separated on the stage. The separation must be made in the mind of the theatre-goer. It is really a question of how far theatre-goers can be persuaded to take a delight in the drama as a study and an interpretation of life, or even as an exhibition of manners. It is a question whether the drama shall be a branch of popular amusement and muddled up with popular amusement, or whether it shall again become a branch of English literature, and judged on that level.

You will say that of course it is desirable that theatre-goers should be amused by the drama as a study of life rather than as a mere exhibition of legs and tomfoolery. But will the establishment and endowment of a National Theatre bring this about? Undoubtedly the national recognition of the drama would tend to bring about this result, inasmuch as it would bring the theatre into relation with the intellectual and artistic life of the nation. At the present moment literature stands largely aloof from the stage. Literary men will not take the trouble to learn the very hard and tedious craft of play-writing. They write unactable plays which do no go home to the public, and when these fail they become contemptuous of the drama. Most of you will remember George Meredith's fine Essay on Comedy and his splendid tribute to Molière. Well, lately we have seen a comedy by George Meredith, which was indeed finely written so far as one's wits were nimble enough to follow the language, but which had no definite or connected scheme of action. It was written in language not understanded of the people, and so one was forced to ask why George Meredith did not follow Molière's habit of reading his comedy to his housekeeper.

Now, a National Theatre would tend to draw the best literary men of the day to write for it, and amongst them some would be found teachable enough to grasp the fact that play writing is a very skilled art, altogether apart from literature in itself. Then, again, a National Theatre, would most likely attract many of those fine actors who are now wandering about because they have not the business instinct sufficiently developed to take and manage a theatre, with all its attendant anxieties and vexations. There are many fine actors who are rarely seen on the London stage, because they have not influence enough, or money enough, to secure a theatre to act parts to display their abilities. In a National Theatre I hope we should have a very fine all-round company, so that all the parts would be played at an equal level. This should not interfere with the present star actors who wish to surround themselves with a company of their own. Rather a healthy competition would be developed between the National Theatre and the other managements, with the result of raising the standards all round.

What would be the result of a Shakespeare National Theatre upon the public?

Now, it is useless to write plays that are wide away from or ahead of the tastes and habits of the general body of the theatre-going public. Plays are meant to be popular and to draw the great crowd. Shakespeare was the most popular playwright of his day. He gave the public what they wanted, as every successful playwright must do. But what do the public want? I believe that gradually the public can be led to take an interest and delight in the drama as an intellectual entertainment. I believe that the public is indifferent enough and good-natured enough to be led to take an interest in drama that can worthily be called a national art. The truth is that the public are always being educated, whether they know it and whether they like it or no. Consider the enormous education of the public during the last twenty years in the popular form of musical comedy. They have been persuaded and told that the serious drama is dull, that it is immoral, that it will bore them, that they ought to go to the theatre to be amused; and these doctrines have been preached to them with such insistency that we may say the English play-going public has been deliberately educated down to their present low standard. It is almost certain that the leading newspapers in the country could in a few years work a great change in the standard of the English drama. We are all creatures of habit to an extent that we never sufficiently recognise. The English public is not so dull, so stupid, so intellectually degraded, as it is often believed to be. I believe that if one National Theatre, with high standards of authorship and acting, were established amongst us that there is not only a public sufficient to fill that theatre and make it pay, but I believe there is a larger public growing up who would be drawn to the numerous theatres that we might expect to follow and copy the example thus set before them. I believe that we should see, not only in London, but in our great provincial cities, theatres starting up with high artistic aims, and by citizens in those cities as a local institution. Thus gradually great traditions would be established amongst us, not only in London, but all over the country. I have the greatest faith in the possibility of educating the English play-going public to a very high level indeed.

But you say: Ought a National Theatre to be subsidised for this purpose? For my own part, seeing what an enormous influence the drama might have, I think it would be the wisest economy of the Government to start theatres in every large centre. I believe the national money could not be spent in a better way.

But the scheme which I am here to support to-night is not calling for Government aid. It is hoped that the English-speaking people themselves throughout the Empire will themselves recognise the necessity of establishing the drama as a national art, and will support the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre to the extent of giving it a handsome building and a secure endowment.

I cannot understand any objection that has been raised to this scheme except those that come from interested people, which are indeed easily to be understood. When Paul and Silas visited Thyatira their doctrines met with much opposition from the proprietors of a soothsaying girl. Paul had cast a devil out of the soothsaying girl, and had thus taken away her vocation, and her proprietors took great objection to Paul's doctrines and clapped Paul and Silas into prison. I quite understand that opposition to a National Theatre which comes from the proprietors of the soothsaying girl, and from all whose position and occupation would be endangered by its establishment, with high standards in acting and authorship. Indeed, although there has been much opposition to the endowment of a National Theatre, it is a curious fact that at the present moment many existing forms or perversions of English drama are largely endowed by private persons. I believe if we could turn over the books of all the London theatres in the last thirty years, and discover their exact balances, we should find that enough money had been wasted and thrown away in London theatres to establish and endow three or four such institutions as the present proposed National Theatre. I cannot, of course, have access to the books and give you the exact figures, but as a matter of fact those who are best qualified to estimate will tell you that an enormous sum of money is being continually poured into the London theatres to support their different entertainments. Of course, this money is often not given for the sake of the drama, but to support a certain manager, or at times, perhaps, for less worthy motives. Is it not an extraordinary fact that rich men can be found in abundance to support quite frivolous and unintellectual forms of entertainment, and yet cannot be found to put their hands in their pockets and unite in a scheme for establishing and endowing this fine art of Shakespeare? But I believe that the English people will come forward and raise a National Theatre as a worthy monument to our great poet. I may point out here that there is no other scheme in contemplation to do honour to him on the third centenary of his death. Again, it is not proposed to devote the National Theatre exclusively to Shakespearean performances. The modern and really vital drama of our time will also have its due share of representation.

The standing argument for a National Theatre is, of course, the Théâtre Français in Paris. With that great theatre constantly before us, it seems absurd to argue against the establishment of a National Theatre in London.

In England for generations past the drama and literature have been virtually separated. We had a great Victorian literature, but its great names are not on our roll of playwrights except as failures. It is generations since a great name, great in English literature, was also great on the English stage. But if we look across the Channel we find that the greatest names in French literature have also been those of the greatest dramatists. In the eighteenth century Voltaire was the highest name in French literature; he was also at the head of French playwrights. In the nineteenth century Victor Hugo was the greatest name in French literature; he was also at the head of French playwrights. There is scarcely a name in French literature for two centuries that has not appeared on play-bills as the name of a successful dramatist. It is because a National Theatre would afford a meeting-place for English literature and English drama that I appeal to you to support this movement. Surely Oxford is the last place where the necessity for a union between English literature and the English drama will be denied. Surely Oxford is the last place where such a movement will be refused an overwhelming support.

IT has now been decided that the Beecham opera tour in the provinces in the autumn shall begin at Blackpool on September 5. A week will be spent there, also at Belfast, Dublin, Coronet (London), Kennington (London), Manchester, Edinburgh, Liverpool, Newcastle, Leeds, Nottingham, Birmingham, Brighton, and two weeks at Glasgow. The company will be one hundred strong, with an orchestra of fifty, and Mr. Beecham will conduct on the opening night in each town and Mr. McCunn and Mr. Bath the remaining performances. Miss Edith Evans, Miss Caroline Hatchard, Mr. O'Mara, Mr. John Bardsley, Mr. F. Ranalow, Mr. Alfred Heather, and Mr. Charles McGrath will be the principal artists.

VARIETY GOSSIP.

In consequence of the death of the late King, and subsequent funeral, which disorganized many functions that were to have taken place, the committee think it desirable to postpone the Graydon testimonial dinner to a date which will be announced in due course.

We are informed that Mr. C. H. Workman will presently make his appearance on the variety stage in a specially-prepared sketch, a particularly strong piece of work, the central figure of which is a hunchback jester to be played by the Savoy comedian, whose fine Jack Point we all remember so well.

A feature of that fine sketch Napoleon's Washerwoman is the beautiful mounting. Such an interior as is set for Napoleon's apartment at St. Cloud is rarely seen on the variety stage, even in these days of luxury. The taste shown, too, in the selection of the furniture is conspicuous; and it is evident that Miss Annie Hughes, the latest and best Sans Gêne the music hall stage has seen, is determined to have a mise-en-scène worthy of her and of the play she so admirably presents.

Mlle. Adeline Genée, the world-famous dancer, on June 11 marries Mr. Frank Isitt, manager of the Duke of Newcastle's estates. He is an enthusiastic musician and a composer. The marriage will take place at All Saints' Church, Margaret-street.

The service will be fully choral. The services of a fine string orchestra have been retained, under the direction of the organist, Mr. Walter Vale. The Rev. M. R. Carpenter Garnier will officiate, and will be assisted by the Vicar and the Duke of Newcastle's chaplain. The Duke will escort the bride to the church, and will subsequently give her away.

Mlle. Genée's thick white satin dress will be a shimmer of pearls, with cascades of exquisite Brussels lace edging the netted pearl tunic. The yoke of finely tucked tulle will have a wide collar of lace outlining the décolletage, and the over-sleeves will also be made of fine Brussels point. The satin train will be of orthodox length.

The whole scheme of the wedding is white. The page, little Norman Courage, will wear a courtier's suit, and the little girl, Audrey Temperley, a simple frock of white ninon. Miss Ethel Temperley will be the principal bridesmaid and the best man Mr. Fred H. Isitt.

Miss Evie Greene, the fascinating Dolores in the original cast of Florodora, was married on Wednesday (Derby Day). After many brilliant triumphs on the musical comedy stage in England and America—the chief being, perhaps, her Duchess of Dantzic in the comic opera of that name—she made her first appearance in variety at the Palace Theatre. She was soon after secured by Mr. Oswald Stoll, and is an immense favourite at the Coliseum. She is not leaving the stage—in fact, her engagements for some time will keep her to London, Manchester, Birmingham, and Glasgow. Evie is now the wife of a merry-hearted sailor; and as the song says, "A sailor's wife a sailor's star shall be!" Heartiest congratulations.

Collins' came under the hammer on the Mart, Tokenhouse Yard, on Tuesday. One of the best-known music-halls in London, this establishment was formerly known as the Lansdowne Arms. In 1863 Samuel Vagg, proprietor of the old Marylebone Music Hall, better known by his stage name of Sam Collins, Irish character comedian, acquired the premises and rebuilt them. He died two years later, and his widow married Henry Watts, under whose management Collins's Music-hall, as he named it, remained until his death in May, 1881.

At that time the L.C.C. as an authority for the control of entertainments was non-existent, and Mr. Watts, on his own initiative, instituted strict rules and regulations which he so strongly enforced that in some cases the professionals resented having to leave out "gags" which they considered necessary to make their songs popular, and retaliated by calling Collins' "The Chapel." Many interesting associations are bound up with the place, and many will remember the chairman, Mr. John Read (who is still living), with his "'ammer in 'is 'and," sitting at the table, and announcing quite unostentatiously the names of the performers. Mr. Watts was succeeded by Mr. Herbert Sprake.

Mr. Sprake acquired the freehold of the adjoining house on Islington-green, of the cottages close by, and part of the vacant land in the rear, and most of this extensive site was used for the erection of the handsome theatre which was built in 1897. It is a large hall, capable of accommodating 1,114 people, besides having eight private boxes.

All the valuable fittings and accessories were comprised in the sale, together with the "Lansdowne Arms." Bidding opened at £10,000, although the auctioneer suggested £30,000, mentioning that thirteen years ago the property cost the purchasers something approaching £20,000. The bidding slowly rose to £16,000, and at this figure the property was withdrawn.

A change will be made in the programme of the Russian Dancers at the Coliseum on Monday, when they will introduce the stirring "Warrior Dance" from the ballet Salambo. This gives an opportunity of seeing Theodore Kosloff and Mlle. Baldina in new characters. Mlle. Karsavina being required to "star" at the Royal Opera House, Paris, the ballet Gisella at the Coliseum will be omitted until her return.

We regret to announce the sudden death of Mrs. Marie Gerald, wife of the well-known Continental impresario G. W. Gerald, and sister-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coyle, of Leeds. Many Continental artists will miss this lady's kindness, she ever being ready and willing to secure the rates when travelling abroad, and which were specially granted to her husband, G. W. Gerald, for artists travelling abroad.

A big fête and gala will be held in aid of the Music Hall Benevolent Institution at Rosherville Gardens, Gravesend, on Wednesday, July 6. Among the special attractions already settled on are: Two variety performances in the open air, with London all star companies, headed by ever-popular Joe Elvin, in the afternoon and evening, a classical concert, cinematograph shows dancing in the ball-room all day long, a representation of the old Richardson show, all the fun of the fair in the large fair ground, numerous side-shows, entertainments of all kinds, morning, noon, and night, and in the evening special electrical illumination of the picturesque grounds.

The gardens, which will be at their best, can be easily reached either by the Belle steamers to Gravesend, or by the South Eastern Railway to Gravesend, or the Great Eastern to Tilbury and then ferry across the river. Special cheap tickets, including admission, will be issued by every route. The Hon. Secs. of the Institution, in whose hands is entrusted the management of the fête, Messrs. H. Cory Woodrow and C. Douglas Stuart, would be glad to hear from anyone who would be willing to assist in any way. Their address is 13, Charing Cross-road, W.C.

Mr. Walter Wright resigns the managership of the Ton-y-Pandy Empire in order to devote the summer to his concert party at the Exmouth Pier Pavilion. This is his eighth season.

Captain Permane, in his really interesting show with his Teddy Bears, headed the bill last week at the Grand Theatre and Empire, Doncaster, when his pets became extremely popular.

We regret to learn that Mr. Herbert Willson, aged thirty-seven, youngest son of Mr. W. Willson, of the New Walk Printing Works, Leicester, passed away on June 1. We extend our sincere sympathy to the bereaved parents in their great sorrow.

The Swiss Gardens, Shoreham, with the licensed freehold premises known as the Cottage Inn, not having been sold at the recent auction, Messrs. Jenner and Dell are instructed to offer it, with possession, at the upset price of £2,000. The property is freehold.

The popular manager of the Hippodrome, Bolton, was accorded his first benefit on Thursday evening, May 26, when the hall presented a fine appearance. Since the place was first opened some two years ago Mr. Harrison has occupied the position of manager in a very able manner.

The large and influential company present on Thursday night included his Worship the Mayor and Mayoress (Councillor and Mrs. J. T. Cooper). During an interval in the programme, the Mayor said it gave him great pleasure to hand to Mr. Harrison various presents, which showed the genuine good will of his (Mr. Harrison's) friends. He concluded by wishing Mr. and Mrs. Harrison very good health and long life. Mr Harrison said he thanked the committee and patrons from his heart for their kindness. To the staff and artists also he tendered his best thanks.

The presents consisted of an illuminated address and a cheque for a substantial amount; a solid silver cigarette case, match-box, and card case combined, bearing the inscription, "With best wishes, from a few pals, May 26th, 1910"; a gold mounted umbrella, and a solid silver breakfast set, comprising cruet, egg-cups, spoons, toast-rack and jam dishes. The latter was subscribed for by the orchestra and staff, and bore the following inscription: "Presented to A. R. Harrison, Esq., on his first benefit, by the orchestra and staff of the Hippodrome, Bolton, 26/5/10."

Mr. Oswald Stoll has once again earned and received the thanks of the public of Leicester for his kindness in placing the Palace Theatre at the disposal of a committee to raise funds for the Children's Hospital and Infirmary. The performance which took place on Thursday, May 26, was a great success, and a large sum will be handed over, as the whole "show" was given without a penny being deducted for expenses. It was under most distinguished patronage, and a large number of the leading people of the town and county were present.

The artists who kindly gave their services were Gertie Gitana, Maidie Scott, Marie Kendall, Alicia Ramsay and Rudolph de Cordova's company in The Organ Grinder, the Smythsons in The Lie Alarm, Annie Fielding and Bert Hull in Mixed Bathing, the Tom Davis Trio, Rich Taylor, Ross Ashton (who also supplied the title-page of the programme), Steve McCarthy, Siems, Maud Mac and Paul Grant in A Nice Little Supper, Takio, Wee Cissie (a popular and clever youngster from Rhyl, who again made a successful appearance), Bert Weston, and Mr. C. Finch-Hatton, who displayed fine elocutionary powers in studies from The Merchant of Venice and Ruy Blas. Vesta Tilley sent her best wishes for its success and some picture postcards.

During an interval in the programme the Mayor, who was accompanied by Judge Wightman Wood, Sir Edward Wood, and a number of other influential gentlemen, took the opportunity of thanking Mr. Oswald Stoll for the free use of the Palace, the artists for their services, and the Palace staff and orchestra, who had all generously given their time and talent on behalf of the good cause.

Mr. C. Finch-Hatton, the acting-manager, who had acted as one of the hon. secretaries to the movement, said that they would be pleased to make any effort they could to help along the good work of the Infirmary, the Children's Hospital, or any other charitable institution.

The directors of the New Alhambra Theatre, Belfast (Entertainments, Ltd.), and Mr. Will White, the popular general-manager, have presented the Belfast Royal Irish Constabulary Sports with a lovely shield for a tug-of-war to be won any three times. It is of oxidised silver with solid silver winners' name-plates. In addition, gold-centred silver medals for the holders have been presented by the above. The gift has caused much enthusiasm, and there is sure to be a big struggle to win it for the first time. The sports take place to-day (Saturday) at Ulster Grounds, Belfast.

On Sunday evening, May 29, a grand sacred concert was held in the Empire Theatre, South Shields (by kind permission of Mr. Richard Thornton), in aid of the sufferers from the terrible mining disaster at Whitehaven, under the distinguished patronage of his Worship the Mayor, Alderman G. T. Grey, Alderman R. Readhead, J.P., James Kirkley, Esq., Chief Constable (W. Scott), and others. The concert was of a most enjoyable description, and a good sum of money was realised. Mr. Ernest Bridgen was the recipient of a most highly complimentary letter from his Worship the Mayor, thanking him for his assiduity, and expressing delight at being a co-partner in such a good cause.

Saturday afternoon last was a notable day at Scott-Barrie's Pavilion, Harehills Corner, Leeds, when Arthur Roberts, Sam Mayo, Tubby Edlin, Ben Albert, Tom Stuart, Charlie Coverdale, Henri Doré, and several other prominent members of the Profession were present. In accordance with the general rule at Saturday matinées, a Children's Singing and Pianoforte Competition was held, and so very amusing and clever were some of the youngsters that they were literally showered with chocolates by the party. The whole company were unanimous in their praises of the Pavilion, the Chantecleres, and the general procedure.

Since his first appearance in England at the end of last year, the Great Raymond, supported by his own vaudeville company, has played to capacity business at every theatre visited, and again this week at the spacious Salford Hippodrome, so enormous have proved his drawing powers, that hundreds have been turned away. His audiences everywhere have fully appreciated the fact that this globe-trotting funmaker and illusionist is giving to this country what is, in all probability, the biggest, brightest, most elaborate and costly performance of its class that England has ever seen. He is now "doing" his first British tour and his third tour of the world, during which he will embrace a prolonged season in London, presenting an altogether novel entertainment.

A special general meeting of the Terriers' Association will be held on Sunday next at 6.30 p.m., for the purpose of considering the rules.

On making inquiries at the Alhambra, we learnt with much satisfaction of a considerable improvement in the condition of Mr. Harry Woodford, who is now able to leave his bed.

After a run of forty-two weeks in London, working principal halls, Miss Aggie Nolan commences a tour of twenty-six weeks, starting at the Pavilion, Glasgow.

The many friends of Mr. Ben Abrahams, the popular assistant-manager of the Queen's, Poplar, will be pleased to learn that he is gradually recovering from the attack of tonsilitis which has lately kept him from his duties.

Mr. Wal Pink, the prolific writer of every form of sketch, is the author of a duologue that will be produced on Monday at the Camberwell Palace. Sitting Up is the title, and it will be played by Mr. Jack Collinson and Miss Freda Vaughan.

So striking is the likeness of Mr. Juan Bonaparte, now playing the leading rôle in The Man of Fate at Manchester, to that of the Emperor Napoleon, that Mr. Tussaud has made arrangements to have a model of him for the Exhibition in the Marylebone-road.

Mr. Henry De Bray and company have been presenting this week at the Bedford with great success a tabloid version by Alice Clayton Greene of Robert Louis Stevenson's story Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. They go next week to the Crouch End Hippodrome.

The Greenwich Palace, situated close to the beautiful park, is now closed. After a brief tenure Major Gordon Hartley discontinued giving entertainments after Saturday, May 21. In the eighties the house belonged to Mr. Charles Crowder, and was renamed the Parthenon when controlled by Mr. Ambrose Hurley. The present proprietors are the Barnards.

Those who have enjoyed the refined act of Harry Leybourne, "the original nervous lady," at the Coliseum and other leading London halls, will not be surprised to hear that this clever mimic and entertainer at the piano has been rebooked for a return on the Stoll tour in consequence of his great success. Mr. Fred Higham, who has Mr. Leybourne's business in hand, is responsible for this booking.

The Chicago papers were unanimous in their praises of Miss Lil Hawthorne's recent performances at the Majestic Theatre there. They spoke highly of her artistic ability and refinement in all her songs. Miss Hawthorne has been offered the Orpheum tour by Mr. Martin Beck for the autumn of the present year. If she can arrange her English bookings she will accept it, which will embrace about thirty weeks.

Mr. Blyth-Pratt is following the best traditions of management at the Oxford by introducing the latest athletic and other sensations. "Whizzing the Wheel" is the latest thrill, and it is accomplished by a motorist named Darracq, who is quite English. On a diminutive 8½ h.p. car he careers round the inner surface of a specially-constructed wheel until he attains a speed which is claimed to exceed eighty miles an hour. Audiences have enthusiastically applauded this intrepid show during the week.

The immensely popular Poluski Bros. are telling a very good story against themselves. When playing recently in the provinces the son of their landlady said unfavourable things about their show. The angry mother, not wanting to lose her business, called the boy to account, and told his father. The father immediately sent the boy to bed; then, putting on a clean collar, he decided to see the act for himself. After the show he crept slowly up the stairs to his son's bedroom, woke him up, and said, "My boy, can you ever forgive me?"

Mr. John E. Brewster informs us that Miss Eva Brewster, who broke her arm while taking part in the acrobatic dance four months ago, has now fully recovered, and can work as well as ever. The Brewsters have recently concluded a highly-successful tour of nine months, visiting Austria, Hungary, Servia, Bulgaria, and Italy, and have just returned to France on a return tour. At its termination they will again, for the fifth time, visit Spain and Portugal. Mr. Brewster is shortly producing a sensational novelty, an aerial cycle ball act, particulars of which will be duly announced.

Mlle. Pavlova and Mr. Mordkin, now appearing at the Palace, are great believers in hard work and practice, and every day the stage of the Palace witnesses these artists either practising separately or carefully rehearsing the members of the corps-de-ballet. As a rule, this particular kind of exercise is undertaken in short skirts, but Mlle. Pavlova scouts any idea of the kind. I could not feel," she declares, "that I was really dancing in a manner befitting such poetical and classical music, or that I could possibly attain to the height of inspiration requisite to do justice to it did I not wear my regular evening stage costume. Anything less than that would obviously be out of keeping with the work I have to do."

The many conflicting reports concerning the immediate future of the Royal Standard Music Hall, Victoria Station, have now been set at rest by the authoritative statement that the site has been secured by Alfred Butt and Walter de Frece. The present building, which stands on the site of one of the oldest variety houses in London will be entirely demolished, and a new and larger building constructed, some adjoining property having been secured for that purpose. Mr. Alfred Butt now controls the bookings of the Alhambra, Paris, through the Variety Theatres' Controlling Co., but Mr. Walter de Frece is superintending the Barrasford Provincial Tour through the same office.

The Executive Committee of the M.H.A.B.A. held their 661st meeting on Wednesday, when the following members were present: Messrs. Fred Herbert (chairman), Chas. Coborn, Lieutenant Albini, T. C. Callaghan, E. W. Edmonds, Jack Straw, Tom J. Norton, J. Miller Northern, Alf. Herald, C. Douglas Stuart, Arthur Gallimore, Jim Obo, and Ben Obo. The agency at Norwich was transferred to the Jenny Lind Hotel, and new agencies opened at Richmond Hotel, Wishaw, and the Rose of Avondale Hotel, Teignmouth. The committee decided to allow the Manchester office to be closed on Monday next on account of the wedding of Mr. Slingsby's daughter.

The Chairman reported the result of the conference held last Thursday between the Ocean Accident Insurance Company and the representatives of the committee, Messrs. Herbert, Blake, Coborn, Straw, Bancroft, and Stuart, on the question of the insurance coupon, which at present stands at the rate of 1s. 6d. per member per annum. A letter was read from the insurance company making an offer of a reduction to 1s. 5d. per member. After a lengthy discussion, it was decided that the Secretary be instructed to arrange another interview, if possible, with the same representatives of the Association.

Miss Maud Allan is on her way back to London from the States. She will feel the heat less than most of us, says London Opinion.

Mr. Ernie Mayne has been going great guns at the Oxford and other syndicate halls for the past month. On Monday he pays yet another visit to the London Coliseum. For Christmas he has been specially engaged by J. M. Chute for Prince's Theatre, Bristol.

Miss Grace Lester has been kindly released from her autumn contract with Mr. Frederick Melville to enable her to continue her engagements on the variety stage with her new sketch A Ruined Life. Miss Lester has made a pronounced success at all the halls she has visited.

Mr. Albert Bruno, Mr. Karno's principal comedian, who so recently stepped into the shoes of Mr. Fred Kitchen, is resting at Blackpool, owing to nervous breakdown through overwork. He, however, is progressing favourably, and hopes to open in London again in about a week's time with Perkins, M.P.

The monthly meeting of the committee of the Music Hall Sick Fund will be held on Wednesday afternoon next at the Crown Hotel, Charing Cross-road.

Miss Joan Derry, the popular and clever boy impersonator, will pay her fifth return visit to the People's Palace, Bristol, next week, and will appear with Mr. Charles Collette in her original character in H. C. Sargent's farce-duologue, Pyjamas.

Judgment was delivered, in the Birmingham County Court, last week, in the action in which Arthur William Cochrane, music hall artist, of 30, Skinner-street, Chatham, claimed £100 damages from the Birmingham Hippodrome Company for personal injuries sustained on Sunday, Dec. 26 last year, by his falling through a trap-door, alleged to have been left open through the negligence of the defendants' servants.

The Judge accepted the evidence regarding the accident, but there was nothing to show how, or by whom, the trap-door was left open; but he did not think it could be held that, in the absence of any servant on the stage to direct persons and prevent such accidents, the defendants were guilty of negligence. Accordingly, there must be judgment for the defendants.

Dr. John Fletcher, of Dawes-road, Walham Green, was sued on Wednesday by Mr. James Pratt, of Burnthwaite-road, Fulham, stage-manager at the Granville Music Hall, Walham Green, whose wife died on Dec. 31 after drinking from a bottle of medicine supplied by the defendant. The plaintiff claimed damages for the loss of his wife through the doctor's negligence.

Mr. Edward Abinger, for the plaintiff, said that Mrs. Pratt had an attack of indigestion, and went to Dr. Fletcher, who gave her a bottle of medicine. She drank some of it and was seized with agonising pains. Dr. Fletcher was sent for and used the stomach pump, but Mrs. Pratt became rapidly worse. The doctor left the house, but before doing so took the bottle into the scullery and filled it up with water.

Dr. Fletcher, giving evidence, said that he admitted at the inquest that the woman died from strychnine poisoning. He could only express his profound regret for what had happened. In cross-examination, he said that the reason he filled up the bottle was to prevent others being poisoned. The jury assessed the damages at £214 11s. 6d., divided as follows:—£50 for the husband, £50 each for three children under age, and £14 11s. 6d. expenses.

The "Welcome Home" Banquet to Terrier Griff (the President of the Terriers' Association) who has recently returned from a tour in America, was held on Sunday last, at the Hotel Boulogne, and was one of the most successful functions on record. Eighty-six Terriers and friends assembled. The chair was taken by Terrier G. P. R. Burgess, P.W.T., supported by Terriers Jesse Sparrow, P.W.T., Harry Barnard, P.W.T. and Ted Karno, P.W.T. The menu, specially designed by Terrier Arthur Were, was reminiscent of Griff's tours, the names of American towns being added to the various items on the menu. American picture post cards and a photograph of a champion fox terrier were attached with purple ribbon.

After the usual loyal toast, Terrier Burgess proposed the health of Terrier Griff in the happiest vein, and presented him with a President's jewel. Terrier Griff, in reply, thanked the Terriers for the great honour they had conferred upon him, and gave a humorous description of his adventures in search of the "West Pole." He had a most enthusiastic reception.

The Secretary, Arthur Were, was called upon to make a few remarks, by general request, and replied in a broad Cockney-American accent, which caused a roar of laughter. He stated that he had acquired this, through touring round Piccadilly on the previous evening with Terrier Griff. His succession of humorous comments upon the trials of a journey through America created considerable merriment.

Terrier Jesse Sparrow proposed the toast of "The Visitors," which was responded to by C. C. Bartram, of The Performer, who congratulated the Association upon having in Terriers Griff and Were, two of the wittiest speakers in the variety profession. The Chairman presented Terrier Martin Henderson with the P.W.T. jewel for fulfilling the office so successfully in May.

The following artists contributed to an enjoyable entertainment: Miss Elsa Joel, Miss Violet Murray, Mrs. Dunkley, Ernest Powell, Charles Coborn, T. C. Callaghan, Bros. Obo, Martin Henderson, Harry Brown, Walter Tilbury, Bert Marsden, Ernest Ball, and Walter Barrett. Terrier T. C. Callaghan was the musical director, and Terrier J. Chas. Moore the efficient accompanist. The proceedings, kept up until a late hour, were voted a huge success.

The Athleta Sisters, who are responsible for a charming performance at the Alhambra, have been talking to a Pelican contributor: "We do about two hours' exercise every morning. We never stick to one class of work, because we consider we would develop one part of the body against the other, and the feminine grace would be lost by such means. Variation is, therefore, the keynote of the exercises. We stop at nothing in athletics. Sometimes we go in for skipping, jumping, or ring work, or tumbling, as the case may be. Swimming is a particular sport of ours. And dancing has been part of our business since early babyhood.

"It is an exploded statement, I think, that physical exercise will make a girl heavy and masculine-looking. Our experience is that the exercises will make a girl light on her feet, graceful in movement, and give her a good carriage. I would not recommend that every girl should go in for the exercise to the same extent that we do, of course, for it is a business with us. But I think every woman should do exercise of some sort."

Alexandra Balachowa, premier ballerina of the Moscow Opera, is expected to open at the Alhambra shortly.

"People who are always angling for introductions to our leading actor-managers will be pleased to learn that Cassell's are publishing a handy book at three-and-sixpence, 'How to Know the Trees,' by Henry Irving," says our merry friend "By the Way" of the Globe.

Mr. Henry Tozer faced a happy audience of shareholders on Derby Day at the Oxford, where he told a tale of prosperity, fat dividends, and prudent finance. After payment of a dividend and bonus equal to 11½ per cent. for the year, the surplus £5,000 has been added to the reserve fund, now reaching the sum of £40,000. The entire debenture debt of £60,000 has now been extinguished. Mr. Walter Payne has been re-elected a director.

In addition to the full bill and announcement this week at Poole's Picture Palace, Aberaman, special bills were posted announcing that Clown Inanda and the canine wonder "Bute" would appear. This dog is claimed to be the only one performing the barrel act. The whole performance is neatly and cleverly done, and is interspersed with comedy. It makes a great hit.

It is a good many years since Mr. Will H. Fox gave a show on the halls with the aid of a piano. Born in Louisville, Conn., U.S.A., he early ran away from home and joined a travelling circus as a song and dance artist, but when the ringmaster tried to teach him bareback riding with the help of a whip he thought he had had enough, and ran away again. Then he toured the halls, later joining Little Baby Benson, the late Marguerite Fish. Subsequently his voice gave way, and he took up the managership of a theatre in the States.

On one occasion an artist failed to turn up, and to fill the gap Will went on in evening dress and "did a few stunts on the piano." The turn took well, and he toured it all over the States. When Paderewski made his sensational success he originated the now famous burlesque Paddywhisky, a piece which rollicked with fun and good-natured satire. He took it to the Palace Theatre, London, where he played for seven months.

A correspondent writes: "We are told that ballet qua ballet was a dying art; that the public had grown tired of it. Then suddenly the best dancing existing at the Imperial Houses of Russia is introduced to London, and already one can perceive public taste swinging back to its original point, as it ought rightly and properly to do. In the circumstances, may we not find a fitting reminder that classical dancing is, after all, no novelty to London, and that Russia is not the only country where the cultivation of this great art has been persevered in on the lines of such famous ballerinas as Taglioni and Cerito?

"The really important question now awaiting solution is whether the public will be educated to a preference for the short turn, introducing the première danseuse and her male companion, and whether, in such an event, it may not be encouraged to regard with impatience all the material surroundings that constitute ballet. Certain it is that the enormous expenditure requisite for the maintenance of permanent ballet does not permit of the engagement of costly Russian stars, unless managers decide to forgo variety altogether. Will the public approve of such a step?"—or, shall we say, so many steps?

On behalf of the committee of the Music Hall Ladies' Guild, Miss Melinda May (Secretary), begs most gratefully to acknowledge the following gifts: Mr. H. H. Griff, £2 2s. (for the model toy butcher's shop, given by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vento); Miss Maggie Bowman (Morton and Bowman), 10s.; Miss Edna Branston (Webb and Branston), 4s. (result of hoop-la); Mrs. George Smythson, 6s. (collected at Nottingham); Anonymous (Brighton Road), useful parcel of gentleman's clothing; Miss Blanche Glave, hats, curtains, &c.; Miss Lottie Albert, two dozen baby's new bibs. Mr. R. G. Knowles' guinea donation, acknowledged last week, was received per Mrs. G. Smythson.

The Music Hall Ladies' Guild are, by kind permission of Mr. Henri Gros, giving their first Sunday Concert at the Metropolitan Music Hall, Edgware Road, at eight o'clock on Sunday, in aid of the funds. Come yourselves and bring along your friends. Tickets can be obtained from the committee ladies in town, and from Miss May at the Guild Offices, 61, New Oxford-street. Subscribers are asked to make cheques and postal orders payable to Music Hall Ladies' Guild.

On Tuesday evening outside Covent Garden Theatre a knot of people were watching the ceaseless arrival of motors and carriages bearing diamond-bedecked ladies and their escorts for setting down at the portals of the opera-house. An inspector of police courteously requested the group of onlookers to "Pass along, please!" whereupon one of the number, a well-known writer of Cockney lyrics, said gravely to the officer: "Inspector, do you know the reason of this 'good business' at the 'Garden'?" "No," was the reply. "Well," said the scribbler, as he departed, "it is because the Middlesex is closed, and the people must have somewhere to go!"

Mr. Henry Arthur Jones says:—"In the provinces the drama was almost dead. The theatres were empty, except when musical comedies were being played or when a London star brought down his company to play the latest London success. Meanwhile, the large music halls were crammed and were everywhere squeezing the drama out of existence. These music halls did, indeed, give certain sketches and dramatic scenes, but they were for the most part very crude and on a very low intellectual level. To sum up, they might say that to-day in England the drama did not exist as a form of art at all; it was merely tolerated by the great public as a mere hanger-on of popular amusement." The drama has always been going to the dogs, Mr. Jones, ever since the days of Garrick.

In an interview in the Daily Sketch Mr. Bransby Williams discusses his migration to the dramatic stage. Says he:—"I suppose it was something of a surprise, though I cannot see why it should be. I have played hundreds of parts in my time in the regular theatres, and the reason I chose the music halls was because they afforded me greater and more immediate opportunities of advancement. Some people have told me that had I stuck to the theatres throughout I would have been in a higher position than I am now, and that it would have been better for me, because I shall have to live down the long connection with the music halls. I don't believe it. The theatres are slower to recognise talent than the music halls, and I do not think I could have gained an international reputation as great as my present one by sticking to the theatres throughout.

"I had made my plans for an invasion of the theatres next March, and had in preparation a romantic play by Beatrice de Burgh and Sydney Valentine, called Kit Carless. Judge of my surprise, then, at learning of Mr. Hall Caine's intentions. Naturally, I felt very flattered and excited at the prospect of a London season, and Kit Carless was put on one side for the nonce I shall produce it, however, in succession to The Bishop's Son, and play it on tour. The production of The Bishop's Son will take place in the autumn at the Garrick Theatre."

SONGS, WRITERS, AND SINGERS.

FROM every coast resort and inland place of open-air entertainment in these islands, from managers of the foremost pierrot and cadet troupes everywhere throughout Great Britain, has come a pæan of praise over the excellences of the new songs available for artists in every line of business through the enterprise of "the world's song providers," Messrs. Francis and Day. Among a few culled from the multitude of good songs that have been, or are being, rehearsed with feverish haste are: "Don't stand there waiting at the gate," a number which has been hailed as a veritable godsend by those who love to have on their programme a strong "featured" item; "Pride of the prairie, Mary," a song to be mentioned only in the same breath as its incomparable forerunner "Cheyenne," and that fine march song, "Betsy."

EAGERLY sought after have also been that rage of two countries, "I've got rings on my fingers" and "Tahiti" (the rubber boom song), "The Corsican maid," "You want a sweetheart," so charmingly rendered by Miss Ellaline Terriss; "The Cubanola glide," a Transatlantic surprise number of quaintest merit; "He's a naughty, naughty boy," Charles R. Whittle's latest laughable song; "In sweet Ceylon," so ably rendered by Miss Marie Santoi and Co.; and the humorous "conversational" number, "And just then he fell out of bed," which has been secured by Miss Ada Reeve for halls and theatres.

AND to crown all, the great army of entertainers have had the privilege of being able to secure such corner-stones to strengthen programmes as Miss Florrie Forde's tremendous winners, "Flanagan" and "'Tis a faded picture," G. H. Elliott's newest lilts, including "Mr. Owl," and the great ballad hit of the time, "If I had the world to give you," which, in the safe hands of Mr. Dave Carter, is a song to hear once and long to possess for good. With such strings to one's bow the success of entertainers the world over is more than assured.

MISS FLORRIE FORDE has at Bath been giving the public a taste of what quality is, and "Flanagan" and "'Tis a faded picture"—sung as only the popular lady can sing them—have been cheered to the echo. Messrs. Francis and Day are already continuously in receipt of orders for copies—orders which grow daily in number and extent.

MR. WILKIE BARD'S newest laughter-getter, the doorkeeper at Frightley's ("I'm standing here!"), is from the pens of the clever writers who have of late kept this foremost comedian in material fully in keeping with his reputation, and George Arthurs and Worton David are to be felicitated on once again hitting the mark. Messrs. Francis and Day are the publishers of the song.

A NEW song that will shortly be issued by Messrs. Francis and Day is a humorous item, entitled "I saw Sandy to his front street door," a laughable idea well worked out, in which George Arthurs, Worton David, and Alf. J. Lawrance are seen at their best.

A DITTY with the taking title of "In a cottage by the Clyde," will before long see the light in published shape, having been accepted by Messrs. Francis and Day. The authors are J. P. Harrington and E. W. Rogers, and John Neat has supplied one of those tuneful melodies for which he is so well known.

MR. MARK SHERIDAN'S favourite saying, "One of the ba-hoys!" has given rise to a merry song, which will take its title from the now famous catch-phrase, and Mr. Sheridan himself will sing the number. J. P. Harrington and John Neat have published it with Messrs. Francis and Day.

MR. HERBERT SHELLEY, who is as much at ease with the pen as he is when on the boards, has just disposed of—to Messrs. Francis and Day—the publishing rights of his new song, "I'll be waiting at the station."

MR. DAVID DAY'S firm will shortly place upon the market a song by J. P. Long and Joseph Harvey. The title by which it will be known is "Bonypart."

HARRY CASTLING and Fred Godfrey, who are in the very first flight of writers for the variety stage, have just placed with Messrs. Francis and Day a number for which a great vogue is anticipated. The title is as picturesque as the song is refined and melodious, the name given it being "In my home at Bantry Bay."

YET another pretty song, shortly to be issued by Messrs. Francis and Day, is one written and composed by J. P. Harrington, Huntley Trevor, and Charles Collins. The title is "You'd better go, Mr. Snow."

THAT scholarly musician, Kennedy Russell, has set to characteristic melody a beautiful song, entitled "Heart's desire." It is published by Messrs. Keith, Prowse, and Co., and is sung by Miss Ruth Vincent, a striking portrait of whom adorns the title-page.

MISS ELLA RETFORD'S song, "I met Mary Ellen at Isle of Man" promises to be yet another feather in the cap of Messrs. Bennett Scott and Arthur J. Mills, being melodious to a degree. It is published by the Star Co.

THAT smart soubrette, Miss Hilda Elen, who is related to the eminent coster-comedian, Mr. Gus Elen, has made a great hit at Teignmouth, where she has been appearing with Oscar Mills's Royal Court Entertainers, in Messrs. Francis and Day's admired number, "Will you sing this little duet with me?" sung in conjunction with Mr. Arthur Vaughan, and also in the firm's "Dear little sunny face." Miss Elen is due with Hickman-Smith's Royal Entertainers shortly.

MR. CHARLES CARDOW'S entertainers commence their season in the grounds of the bathing establishment at Folkestone on Monday. The Blue Viennese Band, under the direction of Herr Moritz Würm, will give Sunday entertainments on the Leas.

RICHARD ELTON and Denham Harrison's melodious song, "A cargo of love," which was sung so successfully by Miss Marie Terry at the London Pavilion, and is now in the press—Francis, Day, and Hunter—promises to be one of the most popular numbers for the coming summer. The American rights have been secured by Mr. J. S. Bentley for the Columbia Amusement Company. "Ma petite Marquise," a dainty number by the same author and composer, dedicated to and sung by the Duchess of Wellington at numerous society functions, is also in great demand, and is published by the same firm.

IT is not often we find a busy agent like Tom Shaw having the time at his disposal to be the author and composer of what seems to us to be a very pretty ballad, and in our opinion likely to become extremely popular, especially during pantomime season. The song in question is entitled "Tell me if you love me," and the singer is that talented artist Miss Lil Hawthorne. It is published in a popular 6d. edition by the National Publishing Co., 132, Charing Cross-road. Pantomime and pierrot artists should note that it is free for the asking from the publishers.

(Continued on page 22.)

LONDON VARIETY THEATRES.

THE EUSTON.

The reputation of Mr. Henri Gros for supplying his patrons with the very best goods obtainable in the music-hall market is fully maintained in the current week's programme at this popular hall. A prominent item in the bill is the musical comedy playlet The Lady Bandits, presented by Edward Lauri and May Beatty and company—a merry and bright little interlude, which is just at present very much in demand at the halls of song and smoke, and in which there is not a dull moment. The scene represents Somewhere near a Golf Course in the Surrey Hills, and it will be remembered that an inoffensive little golfer, Josephus A. Muddifat, M.P., is captured by a bevy of buxom and beauteous damsels, disguised as "bandits," resolved to free women from the yoke. He is sentenced to death, but eventually the stalwart, but seductive Suffragettes, promise to spare his life on condition that he becomes a member of their band. He somewhat reluctantly agrees, and has to submit to the "kiss of membership," an operation that keeps him very busy, and is productive of much funny business. Lady Diana, the captain of the "bandits," quickly votes him a little darling, and wants him for her very own, and on the comically embarrassed Muddifat promising to provide her companions with equally distinguished and lovable husbands, the couple are allowed to continue their "canoodlings."

Mr. Edward Lauri as the bewildered Muddifat has a part in which his resource as a comedian has full play, and his impersonation throughout is a very droll and clever one. He has a well-worked and amusing song in "Louisa, the Seaside Girl," and also shares in the success of a love-making duet with Lady Diana—a part played in Arthur Astill), faithfully reproduces the notes of the skylark, cuckoo, &c., and also imitates with wonderful accuracy the "language" of many of the four-footed denizens of a farmyard. He is also a clever siffleur, his whistling of "The Soldiers' Chorus" from Faust calling forth some of the loudest applause heard during the evening.

The serious sketch of the bill is an effective miniature costume playlet, The House on the Heath, admirably enacted by Mr. Reginald Eyre's company, Mr. Lewis Edgard making a gallant and convincing Claude Duval, the effective manner in which he speedily despatches half-a-dozen or so armed ruffians, and rescues virtue in distress calling forth loud approbation, the playlet throughout evidently being much to the liking of the audience. Ruffell's Bioscope, showing the Funeral Procession of King Edward VII., also figures in the programme, which is carefully overseered by Mr. Fred McAvoy, the experienced and energetic manager here.

HOLBORN EMPIRE.

Little Elise Craven is Mr. Leslie Conroy's headliner at the Holborn Empire this week, retained, the bills inform us, "at enormous expense." Master Bert Clerc is seen in all the dances with this dainty, flaxen-haired little lady, and right well he backs up her efforts. In fact, there is a great future before this lad, as he is not only keeping up family traditions in being a magnificent and agile dancer, but his acting is as natural as possible. With Miss Craven he appears in a scene that savours strongly of the ancient Greek. His dark face and limbs are in fine contrast to the golden tresses and pink-and-white make-up of the little girl. These youthful dancers do some very smart footwork, and altogether their turn is as pretty, graceful, and clever as any foreign-trained dancer can show us. The number, if there is any preference to be shown at all. Signor Francis Boccacio is in greater form than ever, if possible, with his mandoline and his two companion minstrels. We have never heard anyone play the mandoline better than he. Collins' Stella Girls, bright and breezy, and with plenty of pretty smiles, give a clever skipping-rope dancing act. They are followed by Miss Lily Vine and Bonnie Goodwin's Pics, Harry Picon as "The Bad Girl of the Family," Cissie Lupino, Mason and Moore, Marshall and Parr, Russell Brandow, and Madge Allen. Hal Forde and the Carlens Trio are also in the bill.

ISLINGTON EMPIRE.

The advent of summer weather is not affecting the size of the audiences at this very popular hall, a circumstance for which the sustained excellence of the programmes has to be thanked. Harry Tate and Company are one of the great attractions in a humorous act Billiards. This proves to be a very amusing affair, the game of 100 up being a little more exciting than the general run. Mr. Tate is capitally supported by the other members of his company, and the show gained a particularly hearty reception. Jay Laurier, in a couple of songs, made a good impression, and was well received. Daisy Yates, in impersonations, was entertaining in a couple of items, and finished with a good dance, which gained cordial applause. The Spanish Goldinis, in a carpet-spinning and acrobatic turn, were distinctly good; the former item calls for a good deal of skill, and the acrobatic portion of the show is provided by a very young artiste, who performed some exceedingly difficult and dangerous feats with remarkable self-possession, deservedly gaining great applause. The stage setting is very effective and the act proves popular. William's Incidents naturally move along at a great pace, but it is certainly well adapted for a position in a vaudeville programme. Mr. Albert Ward, in the heroic rôle, is of immense service to the production. He is a great favourite locally, and has many times scored great successes on the same stage in the old days of the "Grand." It is sufficient to say that his performance was quite up to the high standard associated with his name. Mr. William Dempsey as Davis Armitage gives a good study of the character. Mr. Harry Barford as Lucas Lyle is commendable in a small part, and Mr. George Claremont is also satisfactory. Miss Katie Neville as Joan was very effective, acting towards the end of the playlet with great intensity. Miss Gladys Barnard as Dora the child is a very clever young lady, who was most natural and pleasing in the part. The sympathetic nature of the plot evoked a speedy response from the house, the fall of the curtain being the signal for much applause, Mr. Ward and Miss Barnard sharing the honours of a call. The Bioscope is showing some effective films of the late King Edward's funeral. The orchestra, under Mr. T. Gray, render excellent service, and Mr. B. Adams, the popular manager, is very attentive in the front of the house.

PECKHAM HIPPODROME.

Large audiences have been enthusiastically applauding the excellent programme which the popular manager, Mr. Cecil Paget, has been providing here this week. The chief attraction in the bill is a miniature musical comedy of American life, entitled Paradise Alley. It is a bright mixture of humour and tuneful melody, and capitally acted by Mr. Wash W. Evans and company. Miss Vera Crackles makes a dainty Kitty Murphy, dancing and singing delightfully; while Mr. Jos. R. Tate as Schultz and Mr. Wash W. Evans as Pat Murphy are most amusing in their respective rôles.

The O'Gorman Brothers prove themselves to be a couple of smart step-dancers. An item billed as "The Selbit Mystery," which is demonstrated very efficiently by a gentleman whose name is not on the programme, shows us how some of the so-called wonders of spiritualism can be effectually imitated upon the music hall stage. Lytton and Bland win much favour in a droll duologue, A Lesson in Love, in which the gentleman appears in succession as a cross-grained old Scotchman, an idiotic swell, and a quaint Dutchman, all of whom are desirous of entering the bonds of Hymen.

Les Atans, a couple of clever and ingenious gymnasts from Australia, arouse the house to a great pitch of enthusiasm by their marvellous feats; Miss Estelle Collette is warmly welcomed in her grave and gay instrumental selections upon the violin. We are shown upon Ruffell's Imperial Bioscope some magnificent films of the Funeral of our late King, depicting the progress of the procession through London, and finally the interment at Windsor. Mr. Alick Lauder, a younger brother of the famous Harry Lauder, wins considerable applause with two comic ditties, "Oh, Jock, tak' me for a walk," and "Have a little bit on me."

Madge Allan is successful in song and dance; and Mr. Alfred Chester causes much laughter in a doleful ditty in which he describes his misfortunes while taking part in a local football match. Miss Haidee Hamilton, comedienne at the piano, and Mr. Harry Cotton complete a most interesting programme. It should be added that the Peckham orchestra, under the able bâton of Mr. Julian Goldsmid, give every satisfaction. Mr. H. E. Sawyer is the courteous and popular acting-manager.

THE EMPRESS.

At the top of the bill here is Mr. Fred Karno's latest production, R.M.S. Wontdetania, which is meeting with a most enthusiastic reception. The scenic effects are wonderfully realistic, the company works loyally, and the result is that everything goes with a swing from start to finish. Another most popular turn is Paul Cinquevalli, the world-renowned and inimitable juggler, who again proves himself to be a past master of his art. His amusing assistant is responsible for roars of laughter. Ernest Rees, rightly described as "the droll one," tells many amusing stories much to the liking of those in front.

That engaging comedienne, Lily Burnand, is seen at her very best in a couple of numbers, entitled "No more I'm going to be a Gibson girl" and "I've had enough of married life." The latter ditty suits her admirably, and she is the recipient of unstinted applause. Capital wooden shoe dancing is contributed by Ford and Maxwell; and Jack Lorimer, one of our leading Scotch comedians, scores heavily with a couple of amusing songs. Clever animal imitations are given by Carl Lynn, who introduces, with considerable success, a comic element into his turn, and the Three Declares prove themselves to be acrobats of more than ordinary ability. Marie Wilton sings prettily, "I love to see the ocean" and "If I could meet you," which earn for her many plaudits, and the Sisters Zongara sing and dance in a manner that calls for nothing but praise.

An amusing little sketch, entitled The Barmaids, is presented by the Hodgson and Lowther's company. A certain married gentleman, as the result of a wager, writes offers of marriage to three different barmaids, who he has been told are all married, but in order to follow their profession have to keep the fact secret. Imagine his surprise when he receives a letter telling him that a mistake has been made, and the girls in question are really unmarried. The young ladies all accept his offer, and he deputes his butler to interview them. His wife returns unexpectedly, but another letter arrives saying that the ladies really are married, and armed with this information he manages to get them off the premises without his wife knowing it.

Miss Louie Tracey, the dapper dandy, who is making a welcome reappearance here, is well suited in a couple of numbers entitled "Where's the girl who doesn't love a soldier?" and "I'm the giddy little Earl of the Esplanade." In the first, dressed as a soldier, and puffing a huge cigar, she makes a typical Tommy, and in the second, immaculately dressed as a swagger seaside Johnnie, she scores a most unmistakable hit, being obliged to take several calls. The programme is completed by the Simms and Cliff and Kean, who both rely to a great extent on their ability in the Terpsichorean art for the success of their turn, though dancing in totally different styles. The pictures shown by Edward's Bioscope are always appreciated.

THE FORESTERS'.

Exceptional business is being done at this capitally conducted East End hall. The genial Mr. Fred Baugh has given us many good sketches, and his latest production, The Curse of Drink, adapted from Zola's L'Assommoir, certainly ranks among the best. Mr. Ellerslie Pyne's Coupeau is an artistic study, and at the finale of the great delirium scene the actor is recalled again and again. Miss Muriel Milton is also decidedly good as Gervais; Mr. Brien McCullough as Dantier gives a finished performance; Mr. Sanderson Moffat plays Gouget well, and the many characters are ably sustained by Miss Phyllis Howe as Nana, Miss Nellie Nelson as Mme. Pom Pom, and Miss Mabel Mannering as Virginie.

Leon and Tee in The Musical Farm give a most entertaining show, which consists of clever selections on several novel instruments. The humour of the comedian is good, and the lady has a charming stage presence, which greatly adds to a most attractive production. Miss Jessie Wilton, a prepossessing comedienne, is the possessor of a tuneful voice, and her songs, "Where's the Lady?" and "Madeira" are well rendered. Mr. Arthur Clifton, a smartly dressed light comedian, has two good numbers in "Seven o'clock till nine" and "The girls," each of which has an effective chorus. Royburn and Dix in "Skits on

FRANCIS, DAY & HUNTER,

THE WORLD'S SONG PROVIDERS.

SONGS YOU WILL HEAR AT THE SEASIDE.

THE CHORUS SONG OF THE YEAR.

FLANAGAN.

SUNG WITH ENORMOUS SUCCESS BY MISS FLORRIE FORDE.

MISTER OWL.
G. H. ELLIOTT'S LATEST & GREATEST SUCCESS.

DOWN IN JUNGLETOWN.
The "CHANTECLER" HIT of "HULLO—LONDON!"

ON THE SILVERY SANDS.
Sung with Enormous Success by MISS MADGE TEMPLE

I'VE GOT RINGS ON MY FINGERS.
THE RAGE OF ENGLAND AND AMERICA.

THERE'S ANOTHER FELLOW LOOKS LIKE ME
GEORGE LASHWOOD'S LATEST HIT.

PUT ON YOUR TATA, LITTLE GIRLIE.
MISS CLARICE MAYNE.

IF I HAD THE WORLD TO GIVE YOU.

THE BALLAD HIT OF THE YEAR.

DAVE CARTER'S GREATEST SUCCESS.

HE'S A NAUGHTY, NAUGHTY BOY.
CHARLES WHITTLE'S LATEST HIT.

HI! HI! MISTER McKIE.
MISS ELLA RETFORD.

YOU WANT A SWEETHEART.
MISS HELEN TRIX.

WE DID ENJOY OURSELVES IN LONDON.
A Great Chorus Song sung by GUS GARRICK and the TWO ARNATOS.

'TIS A FADED PICTURE.
MISS FLORRIE FORDE.

MY SOUTHERN ROSE.
A Novelty Chorus Ballad sung by MISS MAUD COURTNEY and MISS ANNA CHANDLER.

SAM!

SUNG BY MISS HELEN TRIX.

THE Dame Song for the Coming Pantomimes.

FRANCIS, DAY & HUNTER, 142, Charing Cross Rd., London, W.C.

exactly the right spirit by Miss May Beatty, whose fine voice and appearance fit her admirably for the rôle of the dashing and fascinating "bandit." Mention must also be made of the valuable work of the captivating chorus of "bandits," and the thoroughness with which the playlet is produced, and the laughter and applause it evoked throughout should ensure it a long career of prosperity.

Another star turn in the bill is the favourite burlesque actress, Miss Queenie Leighton, who finds admirers in plenty for her first song, "I don't want to linger any longer, Mr. Long." The popular Drury Lane principal boy has greater scope for her ability as an actress, however, in her second song, "Conversations," the wordy warfare between a School Board man and an irate mother being very funny, and the other character studies being cleverly portrayed and provocative of hearty laughter.

Harry and Fanny Dent work well together in a merry little absurdity called The Indian Bottle, their burlesque of the Sicilian players and the Russian dancers, and their funny business throughout, never failing to create mirth; and the Dutch girl impersonation of Miss Radie Farman has admirers in plenty. The Eight College Girls submit a pleasing interlude of song and dance, the "Laughing Song" of one of the young ladies being particularly enjoyable; and Miss Aimée Roberts vocalises charmingly anent a flirtation between a Corsican maid and a stalwart Britisher.

Scotch humour has a droll exponent in Mr. Jack Lorimer, "If girls wore kilts" being an amusing ditty, his other number "Polly" also being in jocular vein, an eccentric dance adding to the enjoyment of his auditors; and Mr. Tom Jones, the popular Welsh comedian, drily tells of the experiences of his pal Morgan and himself during a visit to London. The "whistling ploughboy," numbers given in "When Love is Young" were: (1) Pas de Deux. (a) Adagio, Elise Craven and Bert Clerc. (b) Galop, Bert Clerc. (c) Valse Lente, Elise Craven. (d) Galop, Elise Craven and Bert Clerc. Music by Edward W. Whitehall. (2) Danse Bacchanale, Elise Craven and Bert Clerc. Music by Edward W. Whitehall. (3) Les Caprices d'Amours, Elise Craven and Bert Clerc. Music by Rubinstein. Between dances 1 and 2 and 2 and 3 there were a Danse Russe and Danse des matelots by M. Max Martini.

A very welcome reappearance is made by that fine musical comedy favourite Sybil Arundale. Miss Arundale presents a new comic-opera sketch entitled

"A WARD IN CHANCERY."

Written and composed by Claud Arundale.

Lady D. Marwood .....MISS SYBIL ARUNDALE
Hon. F. Willoughby .....MR. T. SHELFORD
Jack Charlton .....MR. H. DEACON
Horatio Victorious .....MR. D. R. HAIG
Pedro .....MR. T. SQUIRE
Police Inspector .....MR. G. STONE

This is to all intents and purposes, a tabloid version of A Gipsy Girl. In it Miss Arundale gets three very good numbers for herself, and a Russian solo dance, very ably and vigorously done. Handsome and dashing always as the wayward ward in Chancery, Lady Dorothy Marwood, Miss Sybil Arundale has undoubtedly a "winner" in this sketch. She is well supported by a large and powerful company, Mr. T. Shelford as the Hon. F. Willoughby and Mr. H. Deacon as Jack Charlton doing exceptionally able work.

Wish Wynne gives us a series of original character comedy studies. It is always a delight to follow this lady's subtle lines. Her country girl song, "I'm afraid," is perhaps her best. Eight Jubilee Singers submit some good part-singing, the last item being very effective. They were accorded several calls. The Three Diamonds, singers, skaters, and expert dancers, are a talented trio of juveniles. Their show comprises songs, dancing on skates, and in the orthodox manner, everything being accomplished in the same admirable style. The house speedily recognised the merit of their performance, and they secured a great reception.

The Dufors, in a singing and dancing act, quickly made themselves favourites. Dan Thomas is singing a somewhat original "Dame" song, which is concerned with the making of a cinematograph film of a classical dancer. Effecting a quick change, he comes on in the scanty attire which is associated with this style of show, and very amusingly burlesques it, the cinematograph effect being secured by a revolving light. It greatly amused the house, and he had a cordial greeting. Peter Hannan, a baritone singer, displayed a good voice in "The Admiral's Broom," and was well received.

George Carncross and Co. present a dramatic episode entitled A Double Life, founded on Robert Louis Stephenson's well-known noved "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." Mr. Carncross himself, in the dual rôle, has the brunt of the work, and gives a very good performance. He is well supported by a lady and two gentlemen, not billed, and the somewhat gloomy playlet was received with interest and appreciation. Margaret Monks, a lady who bears a strong resemblance to another well-known artiste of the same name, is favourably greeted in "Call round any odd time." the 'Phone," have some smart talk combined with clever whistling and imitations.

Harry Barford and Co., including Albert Ward, are presenting a sketch entitled Cottage or Palace, by Frank Lindo. This is a condensed version of the same author's drama Home, Sweet Home.

The Empire Girls are an attractive set of young and talented ladies, who indulge in a well-arranged act, singing "Little Miss Snow-Shoes" and "The Boys in Scarlet and Gold," and concluding each item with some dricky dancing, which is much enjoyed. Mr. Billy Whitlock, in "The Night Watchman," sings a funny little song, the feature of the scena being a baked potato can, which is made into a musical box, and some tuneful little items played thereon. Miss Florrie Thurston, a sprightly little comedienne, sings well her "Rag-time crazy" song, concluding with a well timed and cleverly executed dance. Willie and Johnny give a clever acrobatic show, and Miss Kitty Corelli sings a little "Honeymoon" trifle.

E. D. Nicholls and company, in a farcical episode, Dare-Devil Dripping, are extremely funny. Mr. Nicholls is well supported by Mr. Harry Garrick as Ambrosia V., Miss Ada Lucelle as Princess Pauline, Mr. Harry Lewis as Sir Brian, and Mr. Arthur Stratton as Duke of Athenia. Interesting films are displayed on the Bioscope. The orchestra is ably conducted by Mr. Bert Pennell, and Mr. Chas. Harvey, as usual, looks well to the comfort of his patrons.

WALTHAMSTOW PALACE.

A programme well calculated to satisfy the tastes of the most fastidious, and yet quite within the grasp of the unsophisticated, is being presented this week by Mr. Pierre Cohen at the handsome establishment under his control, and is meeting with its due amount of favour. There may not be any item of supreme excellence in the bill; but the great majority of the general public infinitely prefer a carefully-selected programme of good all-round talent to one composed of one overwhelming star surrounded by a long array of mediocrities. Fortunately for the public, Mr. Cohen is not likely to engage many of the latter class, and local amusement-seekers flock to his doors week after week with the full confidence, founded on experience, that he will not place before them anything but "the best procurable in the market."

Miss Cora Corina is a lady of striking appearance, who soon ingratiates herself with the audience in song and dance. Her impersonations include an Irish "colleen," a Japanese beauty, a dashing pantomime prince, and a brilliant Spaniard. Each impersonation is given in appropriate costume, and Miss Corina's "quick changes" are wonderful, while each dress vies with its predecessor in beauty.

A well-deserved success is scored by the Four Netherlands, a quartette of charming ladies, who sing and dance with the greatest of spirit, the utmost refinement, and the most agreeable results to the spectators. Their Shocking Tale of the Stockings, is remarkably chic, and is received with plenty of laughter and applause. Jack Warman, described as "the lean rasher of mirth," is amusing in a quaint way.

A dainty, delightful little sketch, The Ring of the Girl, is played by Miss Ruby Celeste and Miss May Hallatt. Brightly written and telling the story of one girl's sacrifice in a love affair for the benefit of the other, the sketch is just the right length for a delicate trifle of the kind; the framework is a pretty set, representing an elegant room, and, most important of all, it is played in exactly the best comedy spirit by two charming young ladies—a perfect drawing-room comedy in miniature. The Ring of the Girl is followed with a constant ripple of amusement—here and there a little gasp of expectation—and is received with acclamation.

A particularly novel comedy act is given by the Alaskas (lady and gentleman), who perform some of the most astonishing feats of "tumbling" seen here for a long time. Both display a boundless energy, and in their wildest moments never seem to lapse into extravagance; a clever and original "show." Miss Marie Reeve looks pretty—which is always a valuable asset—sings excellently, and evokes a storm of applause by her extremely neat step-dancing. Wild, Willie, and West, claiming to be "England's greatest comedy acrobats," work with untiring energy, and knock each other about in a manner to make nervous spectators fear that the performers will come to grievous bodily harm. The three appear as bricklayers, and to a sensitive bricklayer might inspire thoughts of the law of libel, but the act serves its chief end, viz., to draw forth unstinted tokens of approval.

Of really exceptional merit is Alec Kendal, who does nothing but stand in the middle of the stage and indulge in a continuous stream of patter; but there is patter and patter, and Mr. Alec Kendal's patter is the most original and the wittiest one is likely to hear in the course of one's natural life. To the bulk of the audience Alec Kendal is certainly the "prize packet" of the evening; like most of the good things of this world the people did not seem to get enough of him, and would fain have, Oliver Twistishly, "asked for more." Hinton and Wootton have a great reception for their clever football match on bicycles. Ruffell's Imperial Bioscope winds up the programme with some excellent films of the Great State Funeral.

"THE COLLEEN BAWN."

Condensed Version, Produced at Victoria Hall, Walthamstow, on Monday, May 30.

Myles-na-Coppaleen ..... Mr. Edwin Bennett
Hardress Cregan ..... Mr. Benson North
Father Tom ..... Mr. Charles Daly
Danny Mann ..... Mr. Edwin Fergusson
Mr. Corrigan ..... Mr. Conrade Clarke
Sheelah ..... Mrs. Charles Daly
Eily O'Connor ..... Miss Louisa Peach

Dion Boucicault's evergreen Irish drama is the latest of the famous dramas of a bygone generation to be placed in the condensing pot and reduced to the dimensions of a "sketch." That the old play loses nothing in the process it would be exaggeration to affirm, but in the present version no daringly iconoclastic hands have been laid on the original, the treatment dealing more with elimination than alteration. The result is perfectly satisfactory in its way, and should prove quite acceptable to a generation of playgoers who do not remember the famous piece in its original state. A large number of characters are necessarily cut out, but the story, so far as it deals with Eily, Hardress, and Myles, is sufficiently coherent to answer its purpose.

As the rollicking, lovable Myles, Mr. Edwin Bennett struggles hard with an uphill task, but succeeds in making the humble hero an immense favourite with his audience. The character is rather out of the clever young actor's usual line, and it says much for his versatility that he succeeds so well. The correct "brogue," of course, is an insuperable obstacle in such cases, but in this respect Mr. Bennett shares the difficulty with all the other members of the cast. Mr. Benson North gives a bold and outspoken account of Hardress Cregan, speaking his lines with commendable clearness. The Danny Mann of Mr. Edwin Fergusson is abundantly vindictive; and Mr. Conrade Clarke is a strong Mr. Corrigan. Mrs. Charles Daly is amusing as Sheelah; Miss Louisa Peach, whose company it is, adds to the long list of parts she has already played on these boards a pretty and pathetic rendering of Eily O'Connor. Perhaps the most artistic assumption of all is the Father Tom of Mr. Charles Daly, who seems to catch with greater success than some of his companions the true bouquet of the original wine. The scenery is adequate and the dressing handsome.

"Have a banana," both song and catch-phrase, was created by Ernie Mayne, who is just now storming them at the Oxford. Next week he takes his "Light-weight Jockey" and "Boy Sprout" to the Stoll houses.

SUNDAY AMUSEMENTS.

A CHAT WITH MR. CHARLES JESSON, L.C.C. THE A.M.U.'S POSITION.

The question of Sunday amusements is occupying the serious attention of the recently-formed Sunday Defence Committee, comprising the Variety Artists' Federation, the Amalgamated Musicians' Union, and the National Association of Theatrical Employees and Cinematograph Operators. It is interesting to recall that the origin of the A.M.U. Sunday concerts really rests with Mr. F. H. Pedgrift, of The Era, who acted as hon. treasurer for a concert given at the London Coliseum on May 2, 1908, for the benefit of the Union's Benevolent Fund. Mr. Pedgrift was publicly thanked by Mr. Jesson at the time for using his influence with Mr. Oswald Stoll in obtaining the use of the Coliseum free of charge, and also in employing his energies in many other directions to ensure the success of the undertaking. The experience gained at that initial concert, Mr. Jesson confessed, enabled him to show what could be done in the direction of organising concerts on a larger scale. Two successful seasons of Sunday concerts have since then been given by the A.M.U. at the London Coliseum, and as will presently be pointed out, many other departures have been, and will be, made in the direction of providing first-class music on Sundays in various parts of London. The fact that the A.M.U. are responsible for a large number of Sunday concerts themselves seems, to some people, a curious one, seeing that they are also members of the Sunday Defence Committee. Mr. C. Jesson, the well-known Labour member of the London County Council, and the London secretary of the A.M.U., explained to The Era the position taken up by his society.

"I am proud of the fact that I am a representative of Labour on the L.C.C.," said Mr. Jesson, "and also that at the last two elections I substantially increased my majorities. I do not claim to represent only the interests of Labour. Thousands of artists, musicians, and others earn a livelihood in our honourable profession. I am, therefore, naturally anxious that there should be no unnecessary restrictions placed upon the legitimate development of the people's amusements. I believe that the steady decrease in the nation's drink bill is due very largely to the competition of cheap amusements.

"There are a number of bodies in existence whose objects are to popularise what they are pleased to call 'rational Sunday amusements.' The National Sunday League is one of them. They organise concerts and railway excursions on Sundays. I am not concerned, as an official of the A.M.U., with arguing whether the objects of these Sunday societies are good or bad. I am concerned only with the effect they have upon those callings which are affected by their enterprises. There is at the present time a great demand for the suppression of all unnecessary Sunday labour. While the N.S.L. are endeavouring to popularise Sunday excursions, the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants are trying to abolish as much Sunday labour as possible by demanding higher rates of pay. As for the musicians, in nearly all our summer resorts we now have to work seven days per week, and in many cases for even less pay than we formerly received for six. If all restrictions against Sunday openings were removed the ordinary competition amongst managements would result in a general opening all round, and the whole of the profession—actors, artists, and all others—would be faced with exactly the same position as we musicians have in our summer resorts. It is only with the greatest difficulty that we can prevent an open revolt now against the continued lengthening of the performances on week-days. The strain on the lips and the nervous system of the musicians by these long hours of playing is absolutely intolerable. It is ruining many of our best players. To add compulsory Sunday playing to this would be the limit, and I am confident the musicians will put up the most strenuous fight against any attempt to impose a seven days' week in our profession. Had the L.C.C., years ago, refused to allow the Sunday opening of theatres and music halls licensed by them, the present position would never have come about.

MR. C. JESSON.

"I am not arguing that the public ought not to have Sunday music or Sunday excursions. I am merely pointing out that the musicians and the railway workers are opposed to compulsory Sunday service, and that they are demanding the same right as every other section of the public of disposing of their Sundays in their own way. The opening out on Sundays in all directions by the N.S.L. in theatres and music halls in London naturally made us anxious as to the future of our winter business, and we came to the conclusion that it would be fatal to our interests, and to those of the profession generally, to allow them to have the field entirely to themselves, because the leaders of that movement are people engaged in other callings during the week who come into ours merely as a hobby on Sundays. If, as a result of their propaganda, all restrictions should be broken down, and those engaged in the profession had a seven days' week forced upon them, the members of the N.S.L. would not be the sufferers. Sunday music has come to stay, but the A.M.U. has decided not to allow any of our members to play at any Sunday entertainments that are not recognised by the Sunday Defence Committee, or that are not run strictly in accordance with the L.C.C. requirements.

"The Sunday entertainments recognised by the S.D.C. are those given by the Sunday societies at the Royal Albert and the Queen's Halls, the N.S.L. concerts, and those given by the organisations representing the profession that are affiliated to the Sunday Defence Committee. The A.M.U. restricts its permission to these societies because they have no power to compel musicians, artists, or anyone else to work on Sundays if they don't wish to. We want to avoid the position which would make the obtaining of the ordinary week's work conditional on our agreeing to work the Sunday. We desire all the employees to be free to choose for themselves.

"The Sunday opening of picture shows we must leave to Mr. W. Johnson, the secretary of the N.A.T.E. and the Cinematographers' Union. We shall be ready, of course, to render them all the assistance in our power, whatever steps they decide to take.

"We have taken the Queen's Hall for a number of years for the purpose of Sunday evening concerts. We propose to run these in conjunction with our Coliseum concerts, which we hope to begin early next September. We open at the Queen's Hall on the 4th of that month with a big choral work. We shall introduce some of the greatest conductors in the world at these concerts. We are supplying the entire musical arrangements for the Worthing Entertainments Committee for the season 1910, and we are training a Balalaika Orchestra, which we hope to have ready for business by next winter."

Seats still unsold for the dress rehearsals of the Army Pageant at Fulham Palace on June 17 and 18, to which schoolchildren are being admitted at sixpence each, will be allotted in batches of fifty to masters and mistresses of recognised schools. Applications should be made to Major A. Tudor Craig, 122, Brompton-road, S.W.

FELDMAN'S

PIERROT PLUMS.

SOMEWHERE.

I DO LIKE TO BE BESIDE THE SEASIDE.
THE PRETTY LITTLE GIRL FROM NOWHERE.
IT'S THE ALPINE DRESS YOU'RE WEARING.
MOLLY O'MORGAN.
BEAUTIFUL GARDEN OF ROSES.
OH! I MUST GO HOME TO-NIGHT.
COME BY THE DRUM IN THE BIG BRASS BAND.
IN THE ARMY.
COME OVER THE GARDEN WALL.
I'M LONGING FOR SOMEONE TO LOVE ME.
MOON, MOON, MOON.
PUT ON YOUR OLD PLAID SHAWL.
SHE'S A GIRL UP NORTH.
I CAN'T KEEP MY EYES OFF THE GIRLS.
I'M LONGING FOR ONE SIGHT OF YOU.
MY SWEET GARDEN QUEEN.
SWEET LITTLE SUN-BONNET LADY.
GEORGIE TOOK ME WALKING IN THE PARK.
IT'S THE GREEN, GREEN RIBBON.
MARIE LOUISE.
PLAYING THE GAME IN THE WEST.
I PUT ON MY COAT AND WENT HOME.
AND MANY OTHERS.

B. FELDMAN & CO.,

2 & 3, Arthur St., New Oxford St., W.C.

Tel. Address: "HUMFRIV, LONDON." Telephone: 4447 GERRARD.

SONGS, WRITERS, AND SINGERS.

(Continued from page 21.)

At Her Majesty's Theatre, Walsall, this week Miss Gertie Gitana produced Mellor, Lawrance, and Gifford's beautiful song "You were coming through the corn, Molly, dear," which proved an instantaneous success, taking three calls after same in each house. Messrs. B. Feldman and Co. are to be congratulated on the possession of one of the finest songs of the year in this number.

The Feldman songs still continue to "go," both in town and country, with unabated vigour. Mr. Jack Smiles, at the London Coliseum, is exceedingly successful with Davis's and Collins's whimsical ditty "Fish sauce," which is rapidly advancing to the proud position of one of this season's pronounced successes.

Miss Ethel Ra Leslie, at the Palace, Dover, has been winning the unstinted applause of her delighted hearers for her charming renderings of the two popular Feldman numbers, "Connemara" and "We can't go into the parlour," both of which emanate from the practised pens of Mellor, Lawrance, and Gifford.

Miss Violet Beatrice, who is creating a veritable furore at the Hippodrome, Heywood, with Feldman's pretty number "Good-bye, Mr. Teddy Bear," will shortly feature several new numbers published by the same firm at all her engagements.

Miss Marie Beresford, who is eminently successful at the Crystal Palace with Feldman's charming number "Hold me just a little bit tighter," will shortly feature that most popular character number published by the same go-ahead firm, "Marie Louise," which will indubitably be one of the biggest "hits" of the present season in the song line.

Mr. Harry Leaton, writing from Glasgow, records the phenomenal success of "Rain, rain, go away" and "Put off all your troubles till to-morrow," excellent specimens respectively of comic and motto writing, which should enjoy a great vogue among singers of this particular type of song.

Miss Gertrude Gilman has made a success at the Theatre Royal, Liverpool, with Feldman and Co.'s song "Just as the brook flows," one of the most charming ballads ever issued by the famous Arthur-street house.

Alfresco artists all over the country are writing the Feldman publishing house in laudatory terms anent the songs with which they have supplied them this year. Miss Kitty Kennedy-Allen, at the Olympian Gardens, Rhyl, has been enthusiastically received in "Won't there ever be any wedding bells for me?" "Pretty little girl from nowhere," and "We can't go into the parlour," all three of which are Feldman publications.

At the County Rink, Truro, Miss May Otto is the hit of the concert party performing there for her delightful rendering of "French bonnet" and other Feldman numbers; while from Bournemouth, Billie Melia, of Catlin's Pierrots, records the phenomenal success of "Sunbonnet Lady," "Pretty little girl from nowhere," "Hullo, little girl" and "Alpine dress."

Miss Violet Romaine, both at the London Coliseum and London Hippodrome, recently made a phenomenal hit with Feldman and Co.'s exquisite ballad "Beautiful garden of roses," which certainly appears to be the most popular number of its class which has appeared this season.

Miss Lorna Doone has been heard to considerable advantage in the melodious number, "Yours is not the only heart's that's aching."

"My Baby," Tom E. Finglass's latest song, is creating an enormous success, and is the talk of every town he visits. This song gives an opportunity for introducing light comedy, and the novel finish comes as a surprise.

The above is an illustration of Mr. Gus Elen's 10 h.p., which he has for disposal. To a brother professional Mr. Elen would sell the car for the insignificant sum of £100. It originally cost £350. Mr. Elen, desiring every luxury, has just ordered the newest Panhard Levassor car.

"DR. JEKYLL AND MR. HYDE."

An Episode, Adapted by Miss A. C. Greene, Produced at the Bedford Music Hall on May 30.

Dr. Jekyll / Mr. Hyde ..... Mr. A. E. Mayne
Sir Danvers Carew ..... Mr. Harold Bernay
Inspector Newcome ..... Mr. Henry De Bray
Hilda Carew ..... Miss Jean Graeme

This version of R. L. Stevenson's famous story has been adapted for the purposes of a sketch by Miss Alice Clayton Greene, who has accomplished her task with skill. The scene is laid in Dr. Jekyll's study, and he is writing a letter explaining the mystery which surrounds him, so that in case of his death the truth may be known. His scientific researches regarding dual personality have had such terrible results that life is becoming unbearable and the personality of the criminal Mr. Hyde is gaining on him. The police are on his track, but he successfully baffles them. During an interview with Sir Danvers Carew, who comes to see Dr. Jekyll regarding his daughter Hilda, to whom Jekyll is engaged, the personality of Hyde again asserts itself, and in a fit of passion he kills Carew. Hilda comes in and learns the truth from Jekyll, but helps him to get rid of the inspector who comes in at an awkward moment. He, however, again assumes the character of Hyde, and just as the inspector returns and arrests him he takes poison and brings his life to an end in startling fashion.

It is a most thrilling and interesting play, and Mr. A. E. Mayne's assumption of the dual character is a masterly piece of work. Mr. Mayne makes his changes of character with wonderful rapidity, and each is distinctly drawn to an almost uncanny point, but so effective as to reflect the highest credit on the actor. Mr. Harold Bernay is seen to advantage as Sir Danvers Carew, a part he fills with distinction; and Mr. Henry De Bray, who is responsible for the production, contents himself with the small, though necessary, part of the inspector, which he plays capitally. Miss Jean Graeme is a fascinating Hilda Carew. The whole play is suitably mounted, and Mr. Henry De Bray is to be congratulated on the undoubted success of his venture.

"FEMINA" AT THE ALHAMBRA.

On Monday, May 30, Spectacular Ballet, in Five Scenes, by Alfred Curti, Music composed, selected, and arranged by George Byng, the Spanish Dance Music by Signor Valverde, Presented by Alfred Moul.

Spirit of Vanity .....MLLE. BRITTA
Spanish Espada .....SENOR FAICO
Spanish Dancer .....LOLA LA FLAMENCA
High Priest .....MR. CHARLES RAYMOND
Keeper of Posada .....MR. TOM COVENTRY
An Old Chief .....MR. R. VALLIS
Femina .....MLLE. LEONORA

From the sartorial economy of the Garden of Eden to the Kingdom of Fashion the ballet so successfully presented by Mr. Alfred Moul on Monday evening triumphantly progresses by a series of stage pictures, each one more beautiful and richer in its colouring than the last. In the "first garden," a domain of floral beauty and of peace, the slumbers of Femina are disturbed, and when awakened she is garbed in rose blossoms by the Spirit of Vanity, who thus invents Fashion, a powerful ally in the economy of adornment. To the dainty freshness of the cool-looking pleasaunce succeeds the rocky barrenness of a scene exemplifying the Stone Age, with its fur-clad denizens—semi-barbaric and bizarre.

This highly original episode is particularly striking and impressive, and it gains considerably in dramatic significance by the divertissement of the Ri-Tchave Troupe, apparently a contingent of Russian dancers, whose vim and energy give immense vitality to the scene. Nothing more appropriately rugged than the artistic realisation of what may be regarded as the untamed, unrestrained movements of primordial man could have been devised, and the combination on the opening night of the ballet made a very favourable impression, which is bound to increase. Femina, we should add, has become queen of the tribes, and, as all the chiefs are in love with her, trouble seems to be looming near. A tournament is arranged, and just as the winner is about to claim her hand, the Spirit of Vanity, in the guise of a young chief, returns with the spoils of the chase, and offers her magnificent furs. Eagerly accepting these presents, she rejects her former suitor.

The next scene is one of Oriental magnificence, with a staircase taking up a greater part of the stage. The dancers of the Temple are worshipping the Golden Idol. Femina, now the priestess, has fascinated the priest, who, in his mad desire to win her by the gift of jewels, snatches the jewelled collar from the idol's neck. The offended Assyrian god, in his wrath, invokes thunder and lightning, the columns of the temple topple down, and the scene of utter destruction is complete. Femina, however, escapes with the coveted collar, being carried off by Vanity in the guise of a prince.

The fourth scene brings us to the land of the toreador. Femina is now a gitana, exercising her fascinations among a crowd of admirers in the salle of a posada. A famous espada, noted for his prowess in the bull-ring as well as his dancing, is attracted by her, and he wins her from a rival. A fierce fight is prevented. An enchanting finale is the vision of Web, spread by Vanity. Here we have most elaborate harmonies of colouring in the array of the inhabitants of the Kingdom of Fashion. Cohorts of ballerine dance on in front of the dazzling apotheosis in dresses of the daintiest and most harmonious colouring. Never in our experience have more taste or ingenuity been displayed in an Alhambra production, and Mr. Alfred Moul, who received, with Signor Curti and Mr. George Byng, the congratulations of a crowded house on Monday, should be able to look forward to a long run.

Mlle. Leonora is an ideal representative of Femina, and her soli are particularly graceful, being especially so in the Spanish scene. Miss Britta makes an alluring picture of the Spirit of Vanity; Señor Faico is an accomplished Spanish dancer; Senora Lola La Flamenca is a graceful exponent of the cachuca; and the eloquence of Mr. Charles Raymond's pantomime as the priest is remarkable.

THE Mayor, Councillor G. E. Bridge, presided over a meeting at Bournemouth, on the afternoon of the 27th ult., of the supporters of the Decorated Motors and Battles of Flowers Section of the forthcoming centenary fêtes. Lord and Lady Abinger, Mrs. Wyndham Pain, Colonel and Mrs. Hamilton, Captain R. C. Dunn (local secretary to the Automobile Association), Dr. Kay le Fleming (secretary to the Dorset Motor Union), and others were present. In connection with the battles of flowers, it was stated by Councillor Bell that the Royal Automobile Club would present a valuable silver cup as an international prize for the best decorated car. Handsomely-worked banners will also be given. The Earl of Malmesbury was elected president of the section.

MASONS AT WORK.

The annual installation meeting of the Chelsea Lodge, No. 3,098, was held at the Restaurant Frascati, Oxford-street, W., on Friday, May 27, a week later than the usual time, in consequence of the funeral of our late lamented King, which took place on the regular day of meeting, and, although this delay unfortunately prevented many of the members attending, there was a goodly muster of the brethren.

[Photo by Fradelle and Young.

WALTER H. HITCH, I.P.M.,
Chelsea Lodge (3,098).

[Photo by Fradelle and Young.

HARRY BAWN, W.M.,
Chelsea Lodge (3,098).

The outgoing Master, Mr. Walter H. Hitch, took an early opportunity after the opening to propose, in an affecting and eloquent speech, a resolution to be entered on the minutes expressing the deep regret and great sympathy felt by the lodge at the great loss which had been sustained by the lamented death of our late King, "Protector of the Craft." This was seconded by Mr. James W. Mathews, and carried in deep and solemn silence.

Subsequently Mr. Harry Bawn was installed as Master with the usual ceremony, by Mr. James W. Mathews, P.A.G.D.C., the first Master of the lodge. Mr. Bawn appointed as his officers Messrs. Walter H. Hitch, W. F. K. Walton, George H. Dyball, Rev. H. Heriot Hill, Wolfe S. Lyon, C. J. Doughty, Albert Le Fre, L. G. Sharpe, E. T. R. Lester, A. E. Nicklin, Angelo A. Asher, H. Griff, G. H. Hill, W. H. Atlas, Albert Felino, and J. H. MacNaughton, and duly invested those present in their offices, and then in a few well-chosen words presented the outgoing Master, Mr. Walter H. Hitch, with a Past-Master's jewel from the lodge, in recognition of the valuable services rendered by him during his years of office, and further had the pleasure of also presenting him with a Past-Master's collar and jewel from the initiates of the year, as a token of esteem. Mr. Hitch expressed his appreciation and thanks for these souvenirs, which he would cherish amongst his most valued possessions.

The auditor's report and balance sheet for the year were unanimously accepted and adopted.

Amongst the other members present were Messrs. Pete Murray, W. J. Mackay, Erne Warsaw, Ted E. Box, Douglas White, Herbert Austin, Dan Lipton, S. Goodman, Willie Benn, Harry Clifford, Eric Farr, H. Scott Nolan, Harry Gold, W. Collinson, Edwin Brett, R. W. Duce, Bertie Ralland, J. R. Elvio, Frank Hardie, C. H. Burton, William Ward, C. R. Whittle, H. Mason, Ernie Mayne, Harry Bancroft, Bowker Andrews, Fred Camp, John Grant, Herbert Chenery, A. G. Harman, J. W. Rickaby, W. Doust, Ernie Chester, Ed. E. Ford, Ernest M. Myers, Will Stone, Geo. Grahame, Hal Chapter, Paul Murray, and J. Percy Fitzgerald; and the following visitors: Messrs. Barney Hyman, P. J. Seale, Chas. S. Greenhead, C. H. A. Bradberry, Walter Hobday, A. W. Hanwell, Walter Barrett, William Hawkins, Harry R. Mathews, A. R. Woolgar, J. Sparrow, D. O. Todd, H. Harvey, H. E. W. Jackson, P. H. Greeves, Charles Coborn, John Worth, Frederic Baugh, Sydney Russell, R. M. Andrews, Lionel Carson, Geo. Brown, W. H. Aldous, J. Hubert G. Whilby, S. C. Montague-Austin, W. J. Waterman, Charles Macdona, H. E. Gosling, A. Ashton, C. C. Bartram, and A. W. Morgan.

At the conclusion of the business the company adjourned to the Alexandra Room for the banquet, and during the course of the evening the Master had also the pleasing duty of presenting Mr. Hitch with a loving cup from the lodge.

A select concert was also contributed by the following artists, visitors, and members, viz., Hambleton's String Quartette, My Fancy, the Menzies, Minnie Mace, Little Victoria, Griff, Tally-Ho Trio, Chas. R. Whittle, Hal Chapter, Geo. Grahame, Harry Clifford, A. Felino, Harry R. Mathews, Chas. Macdona, and Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Thorne, under the direction of Mr. Angelo A. Asher, assisted by Mr. John Grant.

[Photo by Fradelle and Young.

THE CHELSEA LODGE (3,098) BANQUET, HELD A T FRASCATI'S ON FRIDAY, MAY 27, 1910.

"THE BISHOP AND THE THIEF."

A Play in one Scene, Produced at the Camden Hippodrome on May 30.

Jean Valjean .....MR. EDWARD O'NEILL
The Bishop .....MR. WINDHAM GUISE
Corporal .....MR. A. GARLAND
Madame Magloire .....MISS EUGENIE VERNEY

Mr. Harry Barford is presenting a new sketch founded on Victor Hugo's famous "Les Miserables." It is a subject which has been treated for the stage on various occasions, and the present version is particularly well written and cannot fail to be in much request. The story of the kindly old bishop who offers shelter and food to a convict who can find no other home is very touching, and the scene in which the bishop tells the corporal who charges Jean with theft that the things are gifts from the bishop himself is very dramatic, the kindly action of the old prelate saving Jean from further imprisonment, and Jean's vow to start life afresh is simply but strikingly presented.

Mr. Edward O'Neill, the accomplished and versatile actor, naturally made full use of his opportunities as Jean, and he held his audience in a firm grip by his masterly rendering of the character. A more charming picture of an old bishop than that given by Mr. Windham Guise it is difficult to conceive, and Miss Eugenie Verney made a success as Madame Magloire. The play, which is suitably mounted, made an emphatic hit, and Mr. Barford can rely on a successful future for it.

MISS MILDRED BLANCHARD has received the following letter:—"Buckingham Palace.—Lord Knollys is commanded by Queen Alexandra to thank Miss M. Blanchard most sincerely for her kind expressions of sympathy in Her Majesty's irreparable loss.—May 28, 1910."

"ENCHANTMENT."

Dramatic Playlet, by Grete Hahn, Produced at the Chelsea Palace on Monday, May 30.

Hugh Rossiter ....MR. H. LAWRENCE LEYTON
Alfred Turner .....MR. CECIL C. CROSSLEY
Nell .....MISS CRETE HAHN

The scene is Hugh Rossiter's studio in Holland Park. Nell, the wife of a poor builder's painter, Alf. Turner, being the guest of Hugh, an artist, who has befriended her. Whilst the woman is indulging in the luxury of a good meal, Hugh, seated at a grand piano, plays to her, and it is evident this strangely-contrasted couple have a fascination for one another. When Nell has finished, Hugh asks to be allowed to kiss her, pays her compliments, and suggests that they shall have a good time together. Nell, unused to such flattery, is inclined to listen to the voice of the tempter, but she tells him that she has always loved her husband, and in spite of Hugh's assurance that Alf will know nothing about it, will not readily consent to his proposals. A knock is heard at the door and Nell goes to an adjoining room, the artist then admitting her husband Alf. He and the kiddy have been waiting at home for Nell, and a mate has told him his missus has been seen in the company of an artist, has been seen to enter Hugh's flat, and has not left it. Hugh soon persuades Alf. that Nell is not there, and the distressed husband, apologising for believing such a thing of his wife and the artist, is about to leave. Ere he departs, however, Hugh gives him some advice. Alf. admits he has a good wife, that he loves her, but Hugh advises him to show it a bit more. All women love flattery. Let him tell her how pretty she is and how fond he is of her. Knowing also how hard-up Alf. is, Hugh suggests he shall come round and paint the studio on the morrow, and gives him a day's pay in advance, which Alf. reluctantly accepts. He then departs, Hugh telling him that no doubt when he gets home he will find his wife waiting for him. Nell then comes from her place of hiding, and after having her shawl placed on her shoulders by Hugh, she kisses his hand, and silently steals out. This impressive little playlet was admirably played throughout, Mr. H Lawrence Leyton giving a finished and easy performance of the artist; Mr. Cecil C. Crossley skilfully suggesting the anxiety of the poor painter; and Miss Grete Hahn being quite satisfactory in the difficult part of Nell.

Another novelty in the bill was the pantomimic sketch and dance Captivation, given by Thales and Massilia, "the celebrated tragedians and dancers from the Folies Begères, Théâtre Marigny, &c., Paris," the effective pantomime of the duo, and the "Danse de la Volupté" of the lady finding many admirers. Ritter and Foster, eccentric comedians and dancers, submit an entertaining interlude, in which the remarkably skilful terpsichorean efforts of the male dancers are loudly applauded; and the wonderful acrobatics and funny business of the Creo Brothers, in The Gipsies, cannot be too highly praised. Miss Minnie Mace, an attractive serio and dancer, blithely warbles "I don't care where I reside," her accompanying dance being neatly executed.

That favourite comedian, Tom Woottwell, usually well fitted with comic material, which he is careful not to work to death, has a couple of particularly humorous ditties just at present. His first, "With this 'at on," concerns a battered old topper, which proves a veritable mascot; and his second song, "Mother," tells of a knowing dame who is evidently a perfect treasure to her old man, and a woman whose acquaintance is worth cultivating. Both songs kept the audience almost continuously on the grin, and the comedian's reception at their conclusion was a decidedly flattering one. Another funny man who manages to amuse without resorting to extravagant business or make-up is Mr. Charles Whittle, who soon got his auditors to join him in the chorus of "She's a London lass is Lucy," his best number, however, being the laughable "He's a naughty, naughty boy," every point being quietly but effectively brought out by the singer. Rousby's electrical Review, "Greater London"; Charles Leighton, comedian; Edith Blanchard, contralto vocalist; and Ruffell's Bioscope, showing pictures of the Funeral Procession of His Late Majesty King Edward, also figure on the alluring programme.

FRANK HARDIE was last week at Walthamstow with his grand spectacular production of The Great Green Diamond, and hundreds were turned away nightly unable to gain admission. He is this week playing The Old Brigade at the Grand Theatre, Gravesend, where he is also proving a gigantic success, and opens again with The Great Green Diamond at Hippodrome, Rotherhithe, on June 13.

GRAMOPHONE AND COPYRIGHT.

NEW POINT FOR DECISION.

A novel point of musical copyright law cropped up with regard to one of Mr. Lionel Monckton's songs when Mr. Justice Eve heard, on the 27th ult., in the Chancery Division, an adjourned summons taken out by the defendants in the case of Monckton v. the Gramophone Company.

Mr. MacGillivray, in support of the summons, said that the defendants moved that the statement of claim should be struck out on one of two grounds—either that it disclosed no reasonable cause of action or alternatively as embarrassing.

Mr. P. Ogden Lawrence, K.C. (who, with Mr. J. F. Iselin, appeared for the plaintiff), interposing, said that his friend might be willing to withdraw the summons on terms, as the state of facts had altered since the writ in the action had been issued. The question was whether the manufacturing and selling records of a song without the owner's permission constituted an infringement of the owner's rights, either under the Copyright Acts or at common law. On the facts as disclosed by the statement of claim, as now before the court, the only point of law that could be raised, and the only one he should argue, was the common law right, as at the time the writ was issued the song had not been registered. To save delay and expense, the summons might be withdrawn and the statement of claim amended.

Mr MacGillivray said, on his instructions, he thought that the question raised on the summons should be decided by the court.

The learned counsel then stated the facts. The song in question, he said, was called "Moonstruck," and both the music and the words were composed by Mr. Lionel Monckton, and had been performed in the successful play of Our Miss Gibbs, at the Gaiety. The statement of claim set out:—

That the composition was published as a song in the ordinary way, with the usual statement printed on the cover.

That any performance in public was strictly forbidden, and, further, that the right of public performance upon or by means of any mechanical instrument was strictly reserved.

That the defendants, without licence from the plaintiff, had "transcribed" by a system of notation the composition on to vulcanite indiarubber records, which in a gramophone produced both words and music.

That the sale of these records, which was large, had seriously diminished the plaintiff's copyright and right of exclusive performance.

The plaintiff claimed a declaration of his rights, an injunction, and the usual relief.

His lordship asked on what ground the defendants alleged that the statement of claim embarrassed them in their defence.

Mr. MacGillivray said that some ten years ago the courts had held, in Boosey v. Whight, that the transcribing of a musical piece on to rolls of paper by means of perforation was not an infringement of any copyright which a man had at common law. His submission was that that case, although the decision was on facts somewhat different from the present, conclusively decided that the plaintiff's claim here was bad.

His lordship.—I am not sure about that. It seems to me Boosey's case might well be distinguished from the present on several grounds.

Mr. Lawrence remarked that the question of infringement by gramophone had never yet been decided. It was an important question of considerable commercial interest, and there was a great deal of law in it, especially as, the song now having been registered, the statutory as well as the common law rights would have to be dicussed at the trial.

His lordship said that the only question he had to decide was whether the ground put forward established "embarrassment" in the legal sense, and thus entitled the defendants to move to have the statement of claim struck out.

Mr. MacGillivray replied that before arguing that point he desired to briefly state how the law of copyright at common law now stood, and how that right had been curtailed and altered by the various Copyright Acts.

At the conclusion of his argument, Mr. Lawrence was heard in opposition to the summons. In the result his lordship said that in the circumstances he would make no order. The summons was, therefore, dismissed.

Solicitors: For the plaintiff, Mr. Percy Becher; for the defendants, Messrs. Board and Co.

COMMANDER PEARY, Captain Bartlett, the American Consul-General, and other prominent Americans, were guests of the Savage Club on Saturday last. After dinner it was announced by the club hon. secretary, that Commander Peary had been unanimously elected an hon. life member. Mr. Peary accepted the compliment in a modest speech, and gave some very interesting details of his last Arctic expedition.

ALDERMAN H. BURT, presiding at the annual general meeting of the Alexandra Park Trustees, at the Middlesex Guildhall, Westminster, on Tuesday, said the trust had now existed for nine years, and they had paid their way. The report stated that the improvement proceeded from a general development of practically every branch of the business of the trust. In addition to the usual Saturday and Sunday concerts, arrangements had been made with Mr. E. J. Parker for concerts on four other evenings in the week. A permanent refreshment châlet was being erected, and the electric lighting of the bandstand was being improved. The Finance Committee reported that last year's indebtedness of £7815 was reduced to £4990.

WANTED.

Booking Management

—:: FOR ::—

Country Halls

by Manager at present booking London hall, with thorough knowledge of every branch of the business. Able to get first-class companies at lowest possible figures, present position being greatly conducive to obtaining the artists at proper prices.

Bills showing class of Companies for last 12 months can be seen.

Interview at any time by appointment.

Apply Box 7784, "The Era" Office.

THE SHOWMAN WORLD

Fairs Ahead.
The fairs ahead for next week are: Normanton Feast, on the Midland, Lancashire and Yorkshire, and North-Eastern; Southrapps, on the Midland, Great Northern, and Great Eastern; Prescot, on the Lancashire and Yorkshire; Bicester, on the London and North-Western; Cranbrook, on the South-Eastern; Haverhill, on the Great Eastern; Porth, on the Taff Vale; Llandovery, on the London and North-Western and Great Western; Brynmawr, on the London and North-Western and Great Western; Lanark, on the London and North-Western and Midland; and Saltcoats, on the Glasgow and South-Western Railways.

The Aftermath of the National Sorrow.
Ever since the death of the beloved King Edward VII. there has been a most marked depression in the fairground industry. This, of course, was to be expected, but not to the extent it has unfortunately gone. From every fair during the Whitsuntide Festival the report has been the same—a great falling off in both the attendance and in the patronage of the people. Showmen, like all the other entertainers of the people, suffer when the nation mourns. This is inevitable, despite the gracious and kindly solicitude of King George to prevent any serious loss to those engaged in providing for the necessary relaxation of the toiling millions of his people.

Additional Notes of Birmingham Fair.
In our brief report of Birmingham great fair last week we had no record of the following excellent shows and fairground attractions: Mr. John Collins's Brooklyn cake-walk and Katzenjammer Castle, Mr. Russell's galloping horses and swings, Mr. Wallins's steam roundabouts and highfliers, Mr. Braham's temple of magic and performing birds, Mr. Harry Hughes' assault-at-arms, Mr. H. Cullis's school of boxers, Mr. E. Balls, tiny people show, Mr. Wortley's colliery model and novelty booth, Prof. Hutin's freak show, shooting saloon by Messrs. Wright and Dobson, houp-la circles by Messrs. Blood, Deeks, Jervis, Mulhearn, Hall, and Cordwell.

Local Powers Under the Cinematograph Act, 1909.
We hope all exhibitors of cinematograph films, whether in travelling booths or in permanent structures, have seriously considered the possible effect of Mr. Cecil Chapman's (the stipendiary magistrate at Tower Bridge) decision, as reported in our Film Gossip last week. Mr. Chapman gave a considered judgment on the assumed power of the London County Council to make Sunday closing of cinematograph exhibitions a condition of granting licences under the Cinematograph Act. The magistrate decided that the Act did not permit the local authority to impose conditions other than those necessary for public safety. The learned stipendiary quotes Lord Lindley as saying "That for many years it has been established that the title of an act is part of the act, and that it must be read in conjunction with every section of it." However desirable a restriction may be in itself with which a licence is granted, it cannot be allowed to go beyond the purposes of the act by which it is created, because by so doing it would interfere with a common right of all his Majesty's subjects without direct legislative authority.

The Far-reaching Importance of the Decision.
It is not alone with regard to the question of Sunday opening of cinematograph shows that we regard Mr. Chapman's decision as being important. The Sunday opening of places of amusements is too big a question to be settled without definite legislation. Those proprietors who so eagerly desire the advantage of Sunday opening will find that legislation will come, and the best they can expect will be local option. That is, that where the public is in favour of Sunday opening, it will be in the power of the local authority to allow it. The present legislation in favour of Sunday opening is forcing the whole question of Sunday amusements to the front. The struggle will be when the licensee next year approaches the licensing authority. The authority has wide powers of local government. It will be also found that on the Sunday closing question there yet remains a large body of public opinion against any further liberty. Our chief satisfaction with regard to the learned magistrate's judgment is that it will demonstrate to local authorities throughout the country—the London County Council has not sinned in this respect—that the hundred and one petty restrictions and conditions they have sought to impose upon travelling showmen are not covered by the Act, nor ever meant to be conferred by it. Take, for example, the extraordinary condition imposed by several authorities: "That the show must not stay more than one week in any town," and must not visit the county more than four times a year." How can such a condition be imposed under the Cinematograph Act is beyond our comprehension. Take another example: "There must be no outside music, no parade, no shouting." All these things are imposed under an Act only meant to secure public safety.

Yet another example of how the Act is being worked to penalise travelling showpeople. It is set out in the Act that the total sum to be paid in any one year to obtain a licence shall be £1. It has cost many showmen £3 to obtain a licence—£1 the licence, and £2 2s. to have plans drawn. It is required in the Home Secretary's regulations that a plan of the show shall be affixed to the licence. The purpose of the plan was to show the side exits of the show booth and the position of the operator's box as originally licenced, and nothing more. A great many licensing authorities have read this simple provision that any schoolboy could have drawn, to mean a building plan drawn to scale—of the structure—by an architect. Some authorities have demanded in addition vexatious conditions under their local building bye-laws, and claim that the Cinematograph Act gives them power to impose these stringent provisions on travelling shows. It is as throwing light on these problems that travelling showmen will welcome Mr. Chapman's decision.

Guild Subscriptions, 1910.
Per Mr. Marshall: Mr. J. W. Burgin, 10s. 6d.; Mr. J. Bentley, 5s.; Mr. W. H. Hill, 5s.; Mr. T. Reaney, 5s. Per Mr. Ashington: Mr. M. A. Heaviside, 5s.. Per Mr. Mitchell: Mr. J. Butterworth, 5s. Per Mr. Marshall—Mr. A. Duck, 5s.; Mr. John Gledstone, 5s.

Cockermouth Hirings.
Paine's picture palace, Biddall's similar show, C. Relph's midget show were the chief exhibitions at this border fair. The machine attractions included Relph and Pedley's motor-cars, Biddall's cake-walk, Slater's bike track, and Payne's steam-horses.

The minor amusements were in the capable hands of Messrs. Irvin, Johnson, Relph, Lawrence, Boswell, and local caterers.

Notes from Scotland.
The Scotch showmen are working up to the great time of the trade holidays in July. From our Scotch correspondents we have news of several recent fairs. Kirkcaldy, Alloa, where the venture of a new fairground was made with some success, and Wishaw. The showmen upon this circuit include Messrs. John Wilmot, Henry Strand, Tom Paulo, J. Wingate, Wm. Strand, S. Freeman, R. Stevenson, Harris, J. Evans, T. Wright, McIsaac, C. Horne, J. Matchett, A. Bleckley, W. Wright, the Thomas family, Pinder, D. Kennedy, G. Tingle, Biddall, and a score of other well-known names at Scottish fairs.

This week most of the above-named were at Carluke Fair. Next week will find them at Saltcoats.

Carlisle Whitsun Fair.
The principal providers of popular entertainment at Carlisle were Chipperfield, with wild beasts; Mandora, with picture palace; John Wilmot, with racing motors; J. Evans, with a similar concern; and Messrs. Macintosh, Slater, Hughes, Powell, Mitchell, and other caterers with throwing games, variety stalls, and fairground novelties.

Newark Fair.
Messrs. Farrar and Tyler and John Proctor, with superb picture palaces, were the chief show attractions at Newark May Fair. The machine list included R. Holdsworth's racing porkers and whizzing balloon cars, Richards' Brooklyn cake-walk, Cox and Son's galloping-horses, Hall and Proctor's motor-cars, and Mellor's juvenile roundabouts. There were also the usual throwing games, houp-la circles, and variety stalls in well-ordered array.

White City, Old Trafford.
One of the novelties this week is the exhibition of the talents of a horse belonging to Mr. Edward J. Hayes, of Stockport, called "Billy," which can do everything except talk, and bids fair to have a successful career. It is to remain here for the season. It has been for two years on the Moss-Stoll circuit. The Band of H.M. Green Howards (2nd Yorkshires) continues to provide good programmes during this week. The firework displays do credit to Mr. Joseph Wells, of Earl's Court.

Sedgwick's Menagerie in South Wales.
The above gigantic amalgamation has been touring the coal towns of the South Wales valleys for some period now. During the visits they have received the greatest support from the inhabitants. The famous show speaks for itself. It is nothing more nor less than a travelling zoo on wheels—a veritable Noah's Ark—containing as it does hundreds of wild animals from the four quarters of the globe, including twenty of the finest lions in Europe, headed by "His Majesty," the largest and most handsome lion in captivity. There are tigers, leopards, bears, jaguars, wolves, wild cats, a waggon-load of amusing and mischievous monkeys, an aviary of birds, emus, ostriches, elephants, camels, and dromedaries. There are two famous lion tamers in the persons of Alphonso the Daring and Lorenzo the Fearless and Mlle. Rosie, the only lady lion tamer travelling. These artists go through some of the most daring acts on record.

Then there is a tug-of-war contest, elephant versus thirty local men, in each town visited, the prize being a very handsome silver cup. It is worth noting that whether the elephant wins or not, the proprietor (Mr. W. Sedgwick) gives the cup to the team competing, but as thirty men cannot possibly each have a cup, they draw lots. We may confidently state that lovers of natural history can learn more by a two-hours' visit to this show than by twelve months of book learning. What a treat, too, for the school children to witness, and to tell their parents that they have seen the reality in life!

We must not conclude these remarks without referring to the splendid brass band, under the leadership of Mr. Holmes, which plays selections of classical music at each performance. The whole show is in most respectable condition, cleanliness being one of its great characteristics. There is no unpleasant smell whatever, so that the most fastidious need not be afraid to visit the above collection. We found the proprietor, Mr. W. Sedgwick, and all his family, most courteous and the pleasantest of people to have a chat with. Nothing was wanting on their part to make it a very pleasant visit for us; and we shall look forward with pleasure to their return visit to South Wales. We must also mention that a very interesting event occurred at Pontypridd, a lioness giving birth to a litter of cubs, which, we are requested to state, will be christened in due course by one of our prominent Welsh mayors. Welsh names are to be given to each cub.—From the Glamorgan County Times.

Great Yarmouth.
The Gem.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. E. V. Barr.—This popular place of entertainment, which has been entirely altered and renovated, at a cost of some £3,000, is doing good business this week, packed houses being the rule. An excellent programme is submitted, the top of the bill being Laurence Derrick and Marian Brereton, in a capital vocal sketch Married a Month, in which they score a big success, both in acting and singing. Another turn calling for commendation is Mr. Chas. Conway, who is a refined and versatile artist. Miss F. Froissant also does well.

Showmen's Letter-Box.
Letters await Messrs. J. W. Chipperfield, W. Biddall, H. Fossett, and Anderton and Rowland at The Era Office.

Mr. James Jennings paid a short visit to the Gaol Ground, Salisbury, with his steam galloping horses. Large numbers visited the ground, and business was very good. The other novelties included park swings, houp-la circles, shies, shooting saloons, throwing games, and a variety of stalls.

At Kidwelly, S. Wales, this week, Mr. W. Haggar's fine bioscope show is doing record business, the pictures shown including a very fine one of the Royal Funeral and scenes in London at the time of the King's death. There are other up-to-date pictures, all vividly described by Mr. Gus Bentall. Amongst the artists appearing are the charming Misses Katie Poole and Ida Warne, very clever dancers; Jack Best, comedian; and Vernon Denvar, American mimic. Mr. Bert Sinclair is a capable pianist. This is the first big picture-show that has ever visited Kidwelly, and the business done should encourage others to pay a visit while in the district. Mr. Haggar is certainly coming back again. Mr. W. Roberts' amusements, shooters, hoop-las, highfliers, are also on the ground doing well.

Coney Island, with its usual array of attractions, chief among which are Luna Park and Dreamland, is once more enticing crowds of pleasure seekers. The trip down the breeze-swept bay by the fast excursion boats reminds them that even a hot summer in New York is not without its compensations. Rich and poor rub shoulders at Coney Island, for all sorts and conditions of people go there. Its orderliness and the absence of petty extortion make it unique among the amusement resorts of the world. New devices to amuse, instruct, and entertain greet the visitor on every side. At Luna Park Frederick Thompson's mechanical illusion, "A Trip to Mars on an Aeroplane," and "Havana," which shows the sinking of the battleship Maine, are among the chief attractions. The "pneumatic tube ride" is another new feature. Dreamland is more brilliantly illuminated than ever. It is said that no less than 96,000 incandescent lamps are used in lighting the various buildings and thoroughfares. An entirely new effect is created this season by the use of coloured lights. One of the best novelties is William A. Ellis's new illusion, "The Devil's Thumb," which ends with a laughable pantomime. Miss Meers gives an equestrian performance in the circus ring, and there are other features too numerous to mention.

FILM GOSSIP.

Three Reigns.
Arrangements have been made by Mr. Alfred West, of "Our Navy and Army," to give each afternoon, at the Polytechnic, Regent-street, three hourly exhibitions of animated pictures of incidents of three reigns—those of her late Majesty Queen Victoria, of his late Majesty King Edward VII., and of his Majesty King George V. As might be expected, those relating to the middle period of British history occupy by far the larger portion of the programme, since they include scenes not only from the Coronation and Funeral of King Edward, but records of ceremonial visits to Athens and the City of London, and of inspections of the old and young boys of the Duke of York's School on Empire Day, and of units of the Territorial Army. By way of historic parallel to the melancholy pageant witnessed in London and at Windsor the week before last, pictures dealing with the demise of Queen Victoria have been introduced. The films of the King's children playing at soldiers (secured eight years ago), and of the Durbar at Delhi, when His Majesty and Queen Mary made their last Indian tour, cannot fail to be of interest to any student of national life.

Journalism and the Cinematograph.
The latest development in topical cinematograph pictures is "Pathé's Animated Gazette," a cinematograph film which is edited and produced just like an illustrated newspaper, and which is already seen by more than a million people every week in Great Britain, Europe, America, and the Colonies. The British edition is edited by Mr. Valentia Steer, who was formely special correspondent of the Daily Mail, and for five years was a member of the editorial staff of Messrs. C. Arthur Pearson. The staff photographers cover all the important events of the week at home and abroad, and the "Gazette" is displayed at cinematograph theatres all over the world. This week's number includes some excellent pictures of the cross-Channel flight, the trial eights boat races at Oxford, Peary, the Polar explorer at Edinburgh, the funeral of Douglas Smith, the brave boy scout, at Ealing, Mr. Roosevelt at Cambridge, and many foreign events of importance.

The Adventures of a Double-Bass.
An exceedingly good comic film will be released by Cines to-day with a plot somewhat out of the ordinary. An ardent lover tries to secure an interview with the object of his affections, but is refused, and is in the depth of despair. Determined to accomplish his object at any cost, he hides himself in a gigantic double-bass, which has been ordered. He is carried into the house, and now his troubles commence. A musician endeavours to play the instrument, causing our unfortunate hero to jump about in a most alarming manner. After several funny incidents, the persistent lover is discovered, and his end is decidedly painful.

Exercises of Venetian Firemen.
Another good Cines film, to be released on June 8, depicts, in an interesting way, the expertness with which the Venetian firemen grapple with fire. We are shown the men arriving at the scene of a supposed conflagration. The extreme height of the houses in Venice, and the narrowness of the streets, necessitate the use of most ingenious scaling-ladders. The ascent and descent of the firemen are shown, and the whole is realistically portrayed, and the great agility and alertness displayed are certainly remarkable.

"Double Dealing."
Double Dealing is the title of an excellent Pathé, well staged and acted. We are shown a seemingly upright man, happy with his wife and daughter, who has just received her father's sanction to her engagement with a wealthy young man. The father in his business methods has the most shady dealings possible. He occupies a set of rooms, from which he can pass, by a secret entrance, to another office, where he lays his plans for robbing his many dupes of their money. He induces his future son-in-law to invest his money in the bank he has formed, and when the latter fails, tells him that his engagement to his daughter is at an end. Enraged at this unjust treatment, the young man, with his fiancée and her mother, hurry back to the bank, where they accidentally discover the secret passage. Entering the second room, they discover the father, in disguise, packing a bag. An angry scene follows, when the young man, his suspicions aroused, snatches the wig off the other's head, and to his horror discloses the features of his sweetheart's father.

A Very Interesting Gaumont.
Fishing for Eels in the Mediterranean is an excellent little Gaumont subject, depicting views of the Mediterranean eel fisheries. The photography is exceptionally good.

Life in Java.
Urban's are issuing a beautiful series of pictures depicting life in Java, with much that is interesting of the home life and customs of the Javians. In the town of Sourabaia a great variety of vehicles are seen, from the up-to-date motor to the old-fashioned ox-waggon. Girls at the well are seen drawing water, natives making embroidery, dancing, and playing cards in the shade of huge-leaved ferns, while the native boys at school in their brisk drill are interesting and very amusing. A native exhibition and carnival, with the ascent of a large balloon, and a quaint procession, ending with the burning of King Carnival, serve to make up a most interesting series of travel pictures.

Shooting at Cinematograph Pictures.
Realism has gone a long way in the making of the modern target, as used at the Army Council's rifle ranges throughout the country. The cinematograph has been introduced, and the riflemen blaze away at advancing skirmishing parties or soldiers emerging from ambuscades. The difficulty of indicating the hits has been overcome by an ingenious arrangement of white cards travelling on overhead wires, and hung in front of the screen to receive impressions of portions of the picture.

History in Kinematograph.
The influence of the kinematograph upon photographic art was referred to by Sir Benjamin Stone when presiding at the annual meeting of the National Photographic Record Association recently. The association, founded twelve years ago for the purpose of establishing a national collection of photographs, has of late found county and other local associations largely superseding it. Referring to kinematograph pictures, the chairman said praise of these must be qualified by the fact that they would not keep. Much fraud had been committed in making the films. As all knew, they were manufactured in all kinds of places for the amusement of the people. He hoped the time would come when fraud made by pictures would be looked upon with contempt.

Cinematograph Marvel.
The arrangements for dealing with the photographic work in connection with the British Antarctic Expedition are of a most elaborate character. This department will be in charge of Mr. Herbert G. Ponting, F.R.G.S., a photographic expert. Two cinematographs are being taken. One of these is the most wonderful moving picture machine ever devised, and places in the hands of the operator a power hitherto unknown in this work. A complete equipment is being taken for developing all cinematograph films on the spot, and a fine dark room is built for the purpose in the winter hut. A large stock of plates is being taken for securing the effects of the Antarctic in true natural colours, and the expedition is specially equipped for the most rapid work, for telephoto-photography, for making photo micrographs, and for flashlight work. The apparatus also includes a protecting lantern for making lantern slides in the long night and trying them in the winter hut.

Prince Bendon on Tour.
Prince Bendon, of ventriloquial fame, and head of the firm of the Bendon Trading Company, film manufacturers and hirers, Glasgow, is now on a three week's motor tour. He started from Glasgow last Wednesday, and intends visiting every town of note as far as Plymouth. A number of those who have been hiring films from his Glasgow office will have an opportunity of a personal interview with him while on this tour. He anticipates covering about 3,000 miles before returning to Glasgow.

Colour Cinematograph.
No pictorial record of the funeral procession of King Edward and the bringing of the body to Westminster Hall from Buckingham Palace can equal in completeness, beauty, or impressiveness the wonderful series of colour cinematographs shown at the Palace Theatre, London, during the week. The pictures, taken by the Urban-Smith process, known as Kinemacolor, form a complete pictorial account in colour of recent historic events. Nothing is omitted. The early morning crowds in the streets, the arrival of the soldiers to keep the route, the coming of the empty gun-carriage, the arrival of those taking part in the procession, even the late King's terrier Cæsar, are all shown. The marching soldiers and the brilliant uniforms of the Sovereigns and officers upon the background of the trees in the parks give some wonderful contrasts.

Doctor Charcot's Exploration Ship.
In about a week from now Dr. Charcot is expected to arrive at Havre in the Pourquoi Pas, after an absence of two years. The vessel will cast anchor at Rouen, where the official reception will take place. The doctor and his companions of the French Antarctic mission will be received by the Geographical Society, and it may be that Parisians will be given the opportunity of seeing the Pourquoi Pas? in the Seine at Paris. There will be a great gathering in the amphitheatre of the Sorbonne, where Doctor Charcot will lecture on his Antarctic expedition. On this occasion numerous cinematographic views will be shown.

Grand Central Theatre, W.C.
An interesting programme is offered at the Grand Central Theatre, Tottenham Court-road. A thrilling film is A Planter's Wife. The main attraction, however, is provided by King Edward's Funeral, the impressive effect of which is heightened by the rendering of his late Majesty's favourite hymn. Other films seen this week include A Romance of the Western Hills, a Red Indian drama, of which the scenes are laid in the heart of the beautiful California mountains, and a story of factory life entitled First Love is Best.

New Brixton Picture Show.
We understand that in addition to the present large number of cinematograph shows opened in Brixton, the premises, adjoining those of Mr. S. A. Newman, 385, Brixton-road, have been let to the proprietors of the Duke of York Cinematograph Theatre. This place of entertainment will be opened to the public as soon as the necessary arrangements are completed.

Entertainment for Highbury.
A new electric theatre, public hall, skating rink, and café are proposed for Holloway. A company has been formed for the purpose of acquiring the business of the Harper Electric Piano Co., Ltd., developing it, and for the erection of the buildings on land in the district which has been acquired.

Kensington Picture Theatre.
Mr. S. W. Lukushima, from Japan, will present his illustrated entertainment in word and picture representing Ancient and Modern Japan, its scenery, manners, and customs, from June 6 to June 12 inclusive.

Hibbert's Bradford Pictures.
Hibbert's Pictures (Limited) have been registered, with a capital of £12,000 in 10s. shares, to take over the business of a cinematograph and animated picture show proprietor carried on by H. Hibbert at Bradford.

Nottingham Electric Palace.
The funeral of the late King is being shown this week to crowded houses by the Electric Palaces Co., Ltd. The perfection of the films is truly remarkable, not only for their steadiness, but that the natural colours are brought out, thus creating a realism that makes the procession an imposing and impressive spectacle. The features of the principal participants are wonderfully clear, and an especially effective scene is where the coffin is being borne up the steps leading to St George's Chapel.

Nuneaton.
The Empire Electric Theatre and Music Hall was well filled on Monday evening last, when the Mayor, Mr. F. Melly, performed the opening ceremony. Some excellent films were provided, and were interspersed with sweetly rendered songs by Molly Augarde and a clever exhibition by the Lizzette Troupe of lady acrobats. The hall is run on the two-shows-nightly principle, and under the management of Mr. J. H. Tomkinson promises to be a success. The proceeds of the evening were given to the Nuneaton Hospital.

Electric Theatre for Wingate.
The Wingate Empire Electric Theatre Co., Ltd., whose subscription list closes on June 7, 1910, has been formed to provide a moving picture entertainment for a great mining district in Durham county, at present uncatered for. The theatre at Wingate will be beautifully decorated and provided with every comfort in seating, ventilation, and warming in the cold months, and abundant means of entrance and exit.

Al Fresco Bioscope Exhibitions.
The News of the World is giving free Bioscope exhibitions in the open air every evening during the summer months. A luxurious touring car drawn by a powerful steam engine has been chartered, and is now making a tour of the suburbs of London. All the latest pictures will be shown on an elevated sheet, thus enabling thousands to view the performance at the same time. The entertainments, which are under the management of of Mr. Walter Payne, have been showing to enormous crowds during the fine weather which has prevailed for the past two weeks. This week the car has visited Long Ditton, Thames Ditton, East Molesey, Sunbury, Walton-on-Thames, and Ashford.

Bioscope in School.
The experiment of teaching children by the cinematograph has already been tried in rural Britain, and has met with success. On the advice of Mr. J. O. Nicholson, chairman of the Macclesfield Education Committee, and brother of Sir John Nicholson, of Leek, a course of lessons on the screen was given recently in the Council schools. France, like America, has discovered that the cinematograph is something of an educational force, and recently an English film was exhibited at a theatre in the Rue Taitbout, which was crowded with school children.

STAGE STAFF GOSSIP.

The chairman of the Theatrical Sports Committee is receiving many gratifying promises of support, and in many cases the donors of prizes and subscriptions will attend the sports if possible. It therefore behoves the members of the working staff to enter heartily into the various competitions. Among the prizes presented and promised which have been provisionally allocated are the following:—For the 100 yards running handicap a silver cup will be given for the first prize by Mr. Fred Terry; Miss Ellen Terry will present a gold medal for the quarter-mile running handicap; Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander will present the first prize for the half-mile running handicap; Miss Mary Moore will give a prize for the quarter-mile obstacle race, for which there is also the Matheson Lang silver challenge cup; Sir John Hare will present a cup for the one mile walking handicap; Mr. James Carew, the chairman, will present a cycle as the first prize for the one mile cycling handicap; Mr. Martin Harvey will present a prize for the 120 yards obstacle sack race; Sir Albert Seymour, Bart., will present the first and second prize for the boys' 100 yards running handicap; Mr. Arthur Bourchier will present the first prize for the 50 yards boot race; and Sir Squire Bancroft the first prize for the ladies' race.

Among others who have given subscriptions or prizes are—Sir Arthur W. Pinero, £2 2s.; Sir Edward Moss, £1 1s.; Mr. L. Carson, £1 1s.; Miss Lilian Braithwaite, 10s.; Miss Jessie Bateman, £1; Mrs. D'Oyly Carte, £1 1s.; Mr. Arthur Chudleigh, £1 1s.; Miss Compton, £1 1s.; Mrs. Ellis Fredericks, a case of pearl-handle dessert knives and forks; Mr. Maurice Farkoa, £1 1s.; Mr. Edmund Gween, £1 1s.; Miss Florence Haydon, 10s. 6d.; Miss Ethel Irving, £1 1s.; Mr. H. B. Irving, £1 1s.; Mr. Henry Arthur Jones, £1 1s.; Miss Marie Löhr, £1 1s.; Mr. Eric Lewis, £1 1s.; Mr. Robert Loraine, 10s. 6d.; Mr. John Lawson, a prize; Mrs. Saba Raleigh, 10s. 6d.; Mr. Gaston Mayer, £1 1s.; Mr. Kennerley Rumford, £1 1s.; Mr. E. V. Reynolds, 10s. 6d.; Mr. Alfred Sutro, £1 1s.; Miss Irene Vanbrugh, £1 1s.; Miss Genevieve Ward, £1; Mr. James Welch, £1 1s.; the proprietors of the Daily Telegraph, £3 3s.; Miss Ada Reeve, a prize; Miss Marie Illington, a prize; Miss Julia Neilson, a prize; Messrs. C. and S. May, a prize; and Messrs. Crampton and Ward, a touring hamper. A number of applications for 5s. and 2s. tickets have also been received.

Tickets, entry forms, and other printed matter are now available, and may be obtained from the hon. secretary at 29, Wellington-street, Strand. The committee will be glad to hear from those who will assist. The entries close on Tuesday, June 14.

The Sunday Defence Committee have decided to communicate with all the members of the L.C.C. on the matter of the magistrate's decision in the case of the L.C.C. v. the Bermondsey Bioscope Theatre, and the various societies represented on the committee will submit the following resolution to the Trade Union Congress which meets in Sheffield in September. The Congress includes representatives from most of the Trade Unions of the country, numbering over one and a half million members. The Musicians' Union have already sent in a copy of this resolution:—"That this Congress instructs the Parliamentary Committee to assist, by deputation and other effective means, the Variety Artists' Federation, the National Association of Theatrical Employees, and the Amalgamated Musicians' Union to prevent the opening of places of amusement on Sundays by way of trade and for the gain of the proprietors of such places of amusement, and thus avert the imposition of a compulsory seven days' working week upon the artists, musicians, and employees."

This resolution will probably be moved by Mr. W. H. Clemart for the V.A.F., and seconded by Mr. William Johnson for the N.A.T.E., Mr. J. B. Williams, of the Musicians' Union, speaking in support. Judging the action of the Congress from its past attitude on the Sunday labour question, the resolution will be adopted, and the Sunday Defence Committee will then have the support of organised labour throughout the United Kingdom. The London Trade Unions are being communicated with at once.

It is no secret that the A.M.U. are preparing to take drastic action on the question of Sunday entertainment, and Mr. Jesson's view will be found stated in an interview published in another column.

JAMES NEWSOME, EQUESTRIAN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ERA.

Sir,—Mr. J. Newsome will be eighty-five years old on June 4, 1910. The general public of to-day and days gone by will always think kindly of the "grand old man" of the arena.

In a controversy started by London Opinion it is stated that our late King made a first visit to a place of amusement at Astley's Amphitheatre in 1849. Mr. Newsome was an apprentice at this period, under the management of Mr. Batty. Upon this occasion he rode six cream-coloured horses.

After many years he was complimented by his late Majesty, who was then Prince of Wales, upon his ability as the greatest horse-breaker and trainer of his time. To signify his admiration he made him a present of a diamond pin, also a horseshoe made up into the form of a tobacco-box. So popular a man was he that entertainment was given to emperors, kings, and princes, and suitably rewarded.

Alas! in his declining years, after various reverses of fortune (so prevalent in an artist's life), he is subjected to an "old-age pension." A few years ago the writer penned an appreciatory article of Mr. Newsome, which was the means of doing a little good. As it is always worth while to try and do more, if possible, do the best you can now, through Mr. F. H. Pedgrift. It is very much needed. By one who knows.

WALLACE GRAY.

West Marsh Club, Grimsby, June 2, 1910.

Penzance Corpus Christi Fair.
The principal shows and other fairground amusements at Penzance were those already described as being at Redruth for the Whitsun Fair. Messrs. W. C. and S. Hancock's picture palace and machines, Messrs. Anderton and Rowland's coliseum of living pictures and varieties, the fine gondola rolling switchback, and other novelties, John Jones's empire of varieties and cinematograph, J. Brewer's galloping-horses, houp-la circles, throwing games, shooters, and variety stalls by Messrs. Oldridge, Lock, Jones, Rowlands, and fifty other amusement providers.

The German Emperor has presented to a well-known German-American actress, Miss Hedwig Beringer, through the German Consul Geisler in Chicago, a golden chain, from which hangs the Imperial coat of arms mounted in diamonds, on the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of her first appearance on the boards.

For the small sum of 3d. to cover packing and postage Messrs. M. Beetham and Son, of Cheltenham, have agreed to send carriage paid in the United Kingdom, a box of samples of "Lait Larola," Tooth Paste, Rose Bloom, Soap, and their pamphlet on how to improve your complexion. Send at once, and you will indeed be surprised at the result after a few applications: its effect is almost magical.

A Copy of "The Era" will be forwarded to any address in the United Kingdom for six stamps.

RINKING GOSSIP.

Master Napier of Cardiff.
IT is claimed for Master Napier, of Cardiff, that he is the youngest roller-skater in the country. Master Napier—he is called "Baby" by some people to whom he is quite capable of giving lessons—is only three years of age, but he is a proficient skater, and at the Westgate-street Rink has astonished everyone by the grace and the speed with which he has covered the floor.

Rink Managers and Purity Campaign.
ROLLER skating rinks have been referred to in the interesting correspondence provoked by the Purity movement in Newcastle. They, it has been suggested, are in certain ways responsible for the growing moral laxity of the town. Mr. Alfred Atkinson, manager of the White City Rink, Northumberland-road, Newcastle, states that he reserves the right to refuse admission to the rink, and, as a matter of fact, had already exercised that right though he had not had any complaints of "undesirables" from the patrons of that place of entertainment. Mr. S. H. Walton, of the Exhibition Hall Skating Rink, pointed out that any person they considered undesirable had their money refunded. The management of the Grand Stand Skating Rink, on the Town Moor, gave a similar reply to the two already recorded. It may be added that when one of the first rinks in the city was opened, two detectives posted near the doors and familiar with city "undesirables," assisted the management in refusing admission to such persons.

Notes from Blackpool.
THE conditions for the pursuit of skating at the Colosseum Rink, Blackpool, are of a most congenial description. The floor is in the best possible condition at the present time. For sixpence Blackpool visitors can enjoy themselves the whole evening. Mr. T. G. Sullivan is an expert manager, and provides everything up to date at his amusement resort. Last Saturday night skaters were in flannels and flowers and panama hats; fluttering muslins and tennis shoes for hatless ladies, bedecked with roses—butterflies on the rollers, indeed!—a spectacle worth seeing—the incarnation of summer time and flowers, with the cool western breezes blowing gently through the spacious doors on every side; dancing little wheels merrily playing all sorts of antics. Valuable prizes were offered for waltzing and two-stepping couples. A feature was the charming Butterfly dance of the fairy little wheels. This interesting function was organised by the Colosseum Social Skating Club. Skating has been in full swing during the holidays at the Pleasure Beach Skating Rink, South Shore, and many of the visitors have been so pleased with the excellent conditions prevailing here that they have gone several times to the rink whilst in the town. The spacious floor has an excellent skating surface of 16,200ft. of finest maple.

Rinking in Bradford.
ONLY with the greatest reluctance and under the strongest climatic compulsion will the ardent rinker forsake his favourite haunt, and the Bradford managers are conspiring, with the biggest of electric fans and the best possible ventilation, to keep him (or her) to the very end—if end there really must be, which is, of course, uncertain in such a land as this, where, even in the present circumstances, one can say with security that winter is really and finally over. The proprietors of the Manningham Rink have special attractions in the form of hockey matches very frequently. Hockey engagements also are made at the Coliseum and the Hippodrome Rink, Barkerend-road.

Bristol Coliseum.
THE site of the Bristol Coliseum Skating Rink and Public Hall is now cleared; but owing to the necessarily slow progress made in the building of the retaining walls on the Woodland-road side, the hall will not be opened quite so soon as was anticipated. The chief difficulties have, however, been overcome in that direction, and the work will now progress more rapidly than it has done up to this point, and it is expected to be completed by the early summer. The elevation fronting on to Park Row, 167yds. in length, will be of attractive design, and built of Bath stone. The principal entrance will be at the Park-street end, from Park-row, and immediately inside a handsome vestibule the necessary offices, skate-rooms, ticket-boxes, &c., will be situated. The skating area will be 120yds. long by 29yds. wide, and will be oval in shape. Another new feature in connection with the rink will be that at the close of the afternoon session it will not be cleared and the tea-rooms will remain open. The skates will be of English manufacture.

Lively Hockey Contests for Cardiff.
ARRANGEMENTS are now being made for hockey matches on roller skates during next winter, and for the holding in Cardiff of amateur champion ship races under the National Skating Association A committee has been formed, with Mr. T. Sidney Jones as chairman and Mr. D. J. Mackay as hon. secretary, for carrying out the necessary details Among other attractions provided for is a Hockey Cup Championship, the trophy being put up for competition to any club in South Wales, and to be played for in Cardiff. Full particulars will be published when the details are completed. The first annual employees' benefit took place last week at the American Roller Rink, the chief feature being a hockey match between Cardiff and Barry

Chichester's One Amusement.
A SKATING rink was opened at Chichester last week. It is the first place of amusement the town has had since the abolition of the old theatre more than half a century ago.

East Coast Outdoor Rinks.
CLACTON-ON-SEA is to make a bold bid for additional popularity by providing a large outdoor rink, which is designed to accommodate as many as 1,000 skaters at one time. The directors are wise believers in the policy of cheap prices. An open-air rink for use during the summer months has also been opened at Wandsworth. For over two years now Yarmouth has been provided with a fine outdoor rink, so that the example then set seems to be somewhat tardily followed.

Clyde City Rinks.
A MODEL aero competition—the first of the kind to be held in Scotland—took place last Friday evening at the American Roller Rink in Victoria-road This novel event was under the auspices of the Glasgow Model Aero Club, who offered prizes for the winning machines. The rink continues to be largely patronised. The usual skating took place between the flying competitions. The West-End Roller Rink maintains its deservedly high reputation among the votaries of the pastime. The floor is kept in splendid condition, and the military band provides excellent music.

Croydon Closes for Summer.
CROYDON'S popular skating rink will close for the season to-night (Saturday) and will reopen in September. Mr. Kendrick has proved himself a successful manager, and his patrons hope to renew his acquaintance in the autumn.

G. M. Wells Leaves Glasgow.
THE Victoria-road Rink closes to-day (Saturday) for the summer vacation, and Mr. George M. Wells has been transferred by the proprietors to their rink at Tournament Hall, Edge-lane, Liverpool. To-night Mr. Wells is being given a complimentary benefit, the array of talent announced including that clever trick cyclist, Miss Minnie Kaufmann.

Middlesbrough Season Ends.
At the wind-up to the season at the Olympia Skating Rink, Middlesbrough, on Saturday evening, there was a very large attendance of spectators, and the finals of three competitions were decided.

Rinking at Porth.
THE second very successful carnival at Porth was held on Thursday, May 26. An exceptionally good number participated considering the warm weather. The final of the Rhondda Hockey Teams took place on Saturday last between Treorchy and Ynyshir, the former winning by two goals to nil after an extension for ten minutes.

The Rothesay Pavilion.
THE above new skating rink and entertainment pavilion is now nearing completion, and will be opened on the afternoon of June 11 by Mr. Harry Hope, M.P. For the opening week Mr. Oscar Mills's well-known company "The Nonentities," have been engaged, and will perform twice daily. There is to be a complete change of artists weekly and quite a strong list of stars have already been booked. A leading feature is that there is to be no extra charge for entertainments. The stage accommodation is excellent: Opening, 26ft.; depth, 24ft.; grid, 40ft.; roomy scene dock, property room, four large dressing rooms. There is a large and efficient orchestra engaged under the direction of Mr. Richard Daeblitz. The Pavilion is said to be one of the largest entertainment pavilions in Scotland. Mr. Chas. A. White, late of the Hippodrome, Coventry and Greenock, has been appointed manager.

Potteries Ladies' Hockey Club.
THE Tunstall Station-road Ladies' Hockey Club herewith is the only ladies' club in the Potteries district. Since its inauguration it has not altogether had a very successful time. The team is composed of beginners in hockey and it is a question whether any other ladies' team would have made a braver show than it has done. The club has only recently commenced to play in public, and up to the present has only played two matches, they being home and away encounters with the Crewe ladies. While the club was not successful in winning either of the games it should be said that the Crewe ladies have not yet been defeated and are a remarkably good team.

Warrenpoint Opened.
THE new skating rink at Warrenpoint was opened last Tuesday night, and, as was only to be expected, there was a very large gathering from Warrenpoint, Newry, and the surrounding districts. The rink, which is one of the largest in Ireland, having an area of twenty thousand square feet, occupies the most prominent site in the town, within a few minutes' walk of the sea, station, and park. The work of construction was commenced on Feb. 14 last. The building is 250ft. long by 80ft. wide. The area of the skating surface is twelve thousand square feet—200 x 60—affording space for at least five hundred members. Round the rinking floor is a substantial rail, artistically upholstered, while to the right of the building is a balcony capable of accommodating about four hundred persons. On the opposite side is an elevated bandstand. The promenade, which is 10ft. wide, will give accommodation for at least eight hundred. There are 200 windows, the greater number of which open, and for the purpose of ventilation also electric fans have been installed.

Rinking at West Hartlepool.
So many and varied have been the competitions in rinks of late that it would be difficult to find anything that could be classed as original. Yet this, we think, has been achieved at the Queen's spacious rink at West Hartlepool, whose manager, Mr. Albert Mathams, announced a carnival for pierrots and pierrettes, and although tied to the one character of costume, it was astonishing to see that such a variety of colours could be worked into the costumes. There were the white with black poms and black with white, pink with black poms, white with red, and, in fact, almost every shade of the rainbow was to be found in the assembly. In addition to prizes being given for pierrots and pierrettes, there were also a number of prizes for tug-of-war, bladder fights, two-step, and a host of other competitions.

Andrew Wilson's Benefit.
WISHAW PAVILION.—A complimentary benefit was given to Mr. T. Verne on Wednesday last. Mr. Andrew Wilson, Wishaw's own expert skater, gave an exhibition of skating and chair jumping. A great burlesque boxing match on skates also took place.

MUSIC HALL PRODUCTIONS.

MAY.

Sir 'Erbert, farcical playlet, by Barton White; Royal County Theatre, Kingston, May 2.
The Judge and the Lady, sketch, in one scene; Tivoli, May 9.
The Lost Boy, by Ed. Blondel and Co.; Tivoli, May 9.
The Annual Sports, pantomimical burlesque, by Fred Karno, Syd Walker, and Charles Baldwin; Islington Empire, May 9.
Fate, dramatic episode, by Gerald Wyatt; Balham Hippodrome, May 9.
Little Johnnie Jones, miniature musical comedy, by H. M. Vernon, lyrics by Preston Wynne, music by Frank Tours; Tottenham Palace, May 9.
Gissella; or, La Sylphide, ballet, in two scenes, music by Adolphe Adam; Coliseum, May 16.
Le Lac des Cygnes, ballet, music by Tschaikowsky; Hippodrome, May 16.
The Spider and the Fly, miniature version of Charles Darrell's four-act drama Her Luck in London; Camberwell Empire, May 16.
Flying; or, The Veri-Ot-Tater-Plane, an aviation sketch; Oxford, May 23.
The Raven's Toll, dramatised by T. W. Hanschew from a story in Cassell's Saturday Journal; Imperial, Canning Town, May 23.
The Village Stores, pantomimic absurdity; Bedford, May 23.
Napoleon's Washerwoman, sketch, in one scene; Chelsea Palace, May 23.
The Top-side Dog, sketch, by F. D. Bone; Shoreditch Olympia, May 23.
The Organ-Grinder, dramatic sketch, in four scenes, by Alicia Ramsey and Rudolph de Cordova; Leicester Palace Theatre, May 23.
Femina, spectacular ballet, in five scenes, arranged by Alfred Curti, music composed, selected, and arranged by George Byng and Señor Valverde; Alhambra, May 30.
The Bishop and the Thief, sketch, founded on an incident in Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables"; Camden Hippodrome, May 30.
The House on the Heath, costume drama; Euston, May 30.
Bubbles, musical comedietta, book by May Hallom, music by H. Parkes; Collins's, May 30.
Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, version, in one act, of R. L. Stevenson's story, by Alice Clayton Greene; Bedford, May 30.
A Ward in Chancery, sketch; Holborn Empire, May 30.

MR. RIDGEWOOD BARRIE will produce a new comedy sketch, entitled Jack's Little Joke, at the Alexandra, Stoke Newington, on Monday, with a cast which will include Miss Frances Ruttledge, Miss Nellie Hallatt, Mr. J. J. Daly, and Mr. Barrie himself.

THE National Trades Exhibition at Bingley Hall, Birmingham, concluded last Saturday, having proved a very successful venture. Arrangements have been made to hold an exhibition on "Africa and the East," and this will be opened to the public in a few weeks' time.

NEW PLAYS OF THE MONTH.

LONDON.

The Red Herring, play, in four acts, by Ronald Macdonald (The Play Actors); Court, May 1.
Helena's Path, comedy, in three acts, by Anthony Hope and Cosmo Gordon Lennox; Court, May 3.
Parasites, play, in four acts, by Paul M. Potter, from La Rabouilleuse, by Emile Fabre (founded on a story by Balzac); Globe, May 5.
Sir Herbert, farce, in one act, by Irene Fox; Parochial Hall, Westminster Bridge-road, May 11.
The Dawn of a To-morrow, play, in three acts, by Frances Hodgson Burnett (originally produced in America; first production in England at the Shakespeare Theatre, Liverpool, May 2, 1910), commencement of Arthur Bourchier and Herbert Sleath's management; Garrick, May 13.
The Greater Sin; or, The Beginning and the End, comedy drama, in four acts, by A. B. Mackay (originally produced at Theatre, Aberaman, Feb. 19); Theatre Royal, Stratford, May 16.
A Midnight Meeting, piece, in one act, by Cuthbert Morley; Globe, May 21.
Dame Nature; transferred from the Garrick to Terry's, May 21.
The Master of the Mill, drama, in four acts, adapted by Henry St. John Cooper from his novel of the same name; Shakespeare, Clapham, May 23.
Unexpected Circumstances, comedietta, by Louis Cowen (Actresses' Franchise League Matinée); Criterion Restaurant, May 24.
A Matter of Moment, duologue (Actresses' Franchise League Matinée); Criterion Restaurant, May 24.
Muguette, opera comique, in four acts, book by Michael Carré and George Hartmann, English text by William Wallace, founded on Ouida's novel "Two Little Wooden Shoes," music by Edmond Missa (originally produced at the Paris Opéra Comique, March 18, 1903), Mr. Thomas Beecham's Opera Season; His Majesty's, May 25.
The Smack, play, in one act, by Rose Mathews (Suffrage Atelier Matinée); Court, May 27.
The Lord of the Harvest (a morality), in one act, by Laurence Housman (Suffrage Atelier Matinée); Court, May 27.
A Likely Story, roadside comedy, in one act, by Laurence Housman; Court, May 27.
Werther, opera, by Jules Massenet, libretto by Edouard Blau, Paul Milliet, and Georges Hartmann (originally produced at the Imperial Opera House, Vienna, in February, 1892), Mr. Thomas Beecham's Opera Season; His Majesty's, May 27.
Deirdre of the Sorrows, tragedy, in three acts, by the late J. M. Synge (originally produced on Jan. 13, 1910, at the Abbey Theatre, Dublin); Court Theatre, May 30.
Don Cæsar de Bazan, play, in three acts, founded by G. Du Maurier on Dennery and Dumanoir's play of the same name, and originally produced at the Coronet, May 20, 1901; Duke of York's, Aug. 24, 1901, under the title of A Royal Rival; Lyric, May 31.
Uncle Robert's Airship, farcical comedy, in three acts, by Miss J. E. Jennings; West Theatre, Albert Hall, May 31.
Between the Soup and the Savoury, play, in one act, by Miss J. E. Jennings; West Theatre, Albert Hall, May 31.

REVIVALS.

Tales of Hoffmann, opera, by Offenbach (opening of Mr. Thomas Beecham's opera season); His Majesty's, May 12.
Fires of Fate, play, in four acts, by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle (originally produced on June 15, 1909); Adelphi, May 23.
Shamus O'Brien, opera, by Sir Charles Villiers Stanford, book based by George H. Jessop, on the poem of Sheridan Le Fanu (originally produced at the Opera Comique, March 2, 1896), Mr. Thomas Beecham's opera season; His Majesty's, May 24.
Richard the Third, Shakespeare's historical play (Mr. Martin Harvey), commencement of management of Walter and Frederick Melville; Lyceum, May 28.
Robert Macaire, play, in two acts, being The Roadside Inn, a version of L'Auberge des Avrets, produced by Charles Fechter at the Lyceum, Jan. 21, 1865; Queen's, May 28.
Hyacinth Halvey, comedy, in one act, by Lady Gregory (originally produced in London, at Great Queen-street Theatre, June 12, 1907); Coronet, May 30.

PROVINCES.

The Dawn of a To-morrow, play, in three acts, by Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett; Shakespeare, Liverpool, May 2.
The Law of the Zingali, play, in one act, by Mrs. Frances M. Gostling; Theatre Royal, Worthing, May 3.
Thomas Muskerry, drama of Irish life, in three acts, by Padraic Colum; Abbey Theatre, Dublin, May 5.
The Last Drop, play, in one act, by Barton White; Theatre Royal, Nottingham, May 16.
Jean, play, in one act, by Donald Colquhoun; Royalty Theatre, Glasgow, May 16.
Make Believe, comedietta, by E. C. Packstraw and W. Muskerry; Theatre Royal, Margate, May 16.
The Coming of Ardeen, play, in one act, by Mary Costello (produced by amateurs); Irish Theatrical Club, Dublin, May 18.
The Gods at Play, comedy, in one act, by Mary Costello (produced by amateurs); Irish Theatrical Club, Dublin, May 18.
Harvest, drama of Irish life, in three acts, by S. L. Robinson; Abbey Theatre, Dublin, May 19.
The Romance of a King, comedy drama, in three acts, by John O. Monk; Queen's, Manchester, May 23.
Driving a Girl to Destruction, melodrama, in four acts, by Mrs. Morton Powell (originally produced on Feb. 7 at Theatre Royal, Belfast); May 30.
The Female Detective, melodrama,, in four acts; Royal Osborne Theatre, Manchester, May 30.
The Man of Fate, play, in four acts, by Richard A. Greene, revised version of The Angel of Unrest (Borough Theatre, Stratford, March 25, 1907); Queen's, Manchester, May 30.

PARIS.

Le Mariage de Télémaque, lyric comedy in five acts and six tableaux, by Jules Lemaitre and Maurice Donnay, music by C. Terrace; Opera Comique, May 4.
Mademoiselle Molière, play in four acts, by Louis Leloir and G. Nigond; Odéon, May 10.
Vidocq, play in five acts, by Emile Bergerat; Sarah Bernhardt, May 15.
Jacques Abran, play in three acts, by A. Bibesco; Réjane's, May 23.
Pourquoi chercher loin? one act, by Albert Lécuyer; Réjane's, May 23.
On ne badine pas avec l'amour, lyric comedy, by L. Leloir and G. Nigond after Alfred de Musset, music by G. Pierné, Opera Comique, May 30.
Hans, le joueur de flûte, operette, by Maurice Vaucaire and G. Mitchell, music by Louis Ganne; Apollo, May 31.

AT the Palace, Durham, a capital programme is this week headed by El Tampicos, who give a musical turn of high order; the Eitenas are an entertaining quartette; Harry Blake receives a warm welcome; Webb and Branston sing harmonising duets in good style; and the sketch Fluffie, by Chandos and Constable, provokes laughter. Will Willis, comedian, and Sira, one-legged acrobat, receive a good share of praise; and the Cathedoscope shows excellent pictures.

A COPY of "THE ERA" will be forwarded to any address in the United Kingdom for six stamps.

PROVINCIAL THEATRICALS.

(Continued from page 9.)

OLDHAM. — COLOSSEUM THEATRE. — General-Manager, Mr. Wm. Eastwood.—Mrs. Frank Bateman and her capable company, in The Way Women Love, were well received by a good house on Monday. Mrs. Bateman as Verene Alabra proved her dramatic ability in a heavy rôle; Mr. F. W. Goddard as Captain Howard Tremaine acted capitally; as his rascally cousin Leslie Lamont Mr. Harry Aynsleigh was equal to all demands; Miss Camille Treherne was a dignified Violet Tremaine, and Miss Sadie Underhill was clever as Frank; Miss Mattie Everett as Lottie Gray provides some smart comedy, and Mr. Percy Shaw as Dick Palmer is highly successful with his whistling solos; Mr. George Herbert as John Barryford made a fine yeoman; Mr. Chas. Clifford was a good Jose Alaros. Sapho is also in the bill.

EMPIRE THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. Hulme.—No Mother to Guide Her is being played by Mr. Will Glaze and company. Miss Rene Belle Douglas as Nan makes herself a favourite by her clever acting; Miss Georgette Thierry as Julia Patterson plays forcibly; her accomplice, Felix Campbell, being well portrayed by Mr. Paul Barry Lewers; Miss Betty Seymour is a dainty Millicent Saxby, Mr. Geo. Gormley being good as her father. Mr. John S. Millward as the Rev. Tom Pelham receives hearty applause for sound work; Mr. Will Glaze as Bob Coleman is smart and amusing; and Mr. J. O. Stewart as Bill Bunce does some fine acting.

ROYAL THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Acting-Manager, Mr. H. Kilrow.—The Reign of Terror provides a dramatic treat, and a most exciting story is shown in From Gipsy Hands. Good Doggie is among the most diverting of a number of amusing films. The songs and recitations of Mr. Roger Alwyn are very good.

HIPPODROME.—General-Manager, Mr. E. Dottridge; Acting-Manager, Mr. L. King.—Lieutenant Rose and the Spy is a picture full of exciting incidents. The Planter's Wife, a dramatic film; and The Airship Gaze are included amongst a number of capital pictures. Mr. King also contributes to the programme.

BROWN'S ASSEMBLY ROOMS.—Proprietor, Mr. Wm. Brown.—Three-Fingered Kate is a good detective picture, and other subjects prove attractive.

OSBORNE HALL.—Proprietor, Mr. Wm. Hughes.—A Rich Revenge is a fine top liner, and a good dramatic film is Double Dealing. The amusing films include Method in His Madness and Love Drops.

OXFORD.—NEW THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. C. C. Dorrill; Assistant-Manager, Mr. G. T. Lucas.—Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Benson, with their company, are this week paying us their customary visit, opening on Monday night with The Taming of the Shrew, which was received with as great favour as ever by an evidently delighted house. The excellent scenery and picturesque mediæval costumes added much to the pleasure of the play. Mr. Benson is always seen at his best as Petruchio, and again gave a most virile and effective rendering of the part; Mrs. Benson makes a most delightful Katharina, and her reception was cordial in the extreme; Mr. Alfred Brydon gave the sound performance of Baptista that we always expect from him; Mr. Murray Carrington's Lucentio was a sound and convincing bit of acting; Messrs. J. F. Johnston and Eric Maxon made a most amusing pair as Lucentio's servants; Mr. Harry Caine was most effective as Grumio; and Vincentio and Gremio are well played by Messrs. J. Howell and H. O. Nicholson. Miss Nora Lancaster played Bianca with much grace and charm; and Miss Winifred Durie did well as the Widow. On Tuesday Richard II. was given with Mr. Benson as the King and Mr. Brydone as John of Gaunt; and an attractive programme is sure to draw good houses throughout the week. Mr. R. Halford Forster is the manager of the company.

EAST OXFORD THEATRE.—Lessees, East Oxford Theatre Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Stuart.—Mr. Leslie Stanley's company is here with The King of Mystonia. Mr. Tom Lyle makes an attractive hero as Frank Warrington; Mr. Will Kirk does well as Solomon Ikestein; Mr. Ralph Shore is a natural Reginald Mudwick; and Mr. Tom Ashby is good as Peter Pip. Little Charlie Towers is the life and soul of the piece, and infuses considerable humour into the part of Fido Tennyson; Mr. Will Parkin is successful as the Sultan Je-hu-tah; Miss Marie Vere makes a charming character of Trixey Sherlock; Miss Cissie Mawson is bright as Coro Snyder; and Miss Kitty Vernum is graceful as Violet; Miss May Warden may be congratulated on her winsome rendering of Estulah and her very effective singing. Dances are contributed by the Rialto Troupe of acrobats.

PERTH. — PERTH THEATRE — Proprietor and Manager, Mr. J. H. Savile; Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank Aldridge.—A remarkably good series of pictures includes the Funeral Procession of the Late King. The variety company is headed by A. G. Spry, who keeps the house in roars of laughter with his "Piccalilli" song and eccentric dance; Mr. Fred Collins has to respond to encores after two clever character songs; and Jack Allison is also very popular in his nigger song and dance. Miss Margaret Ogilvie captivates the audience with her smartness and chic; and Miss Helen Duncanson has no difficulty in getting the audience to join in the chorus of "Dear Louise" and other illustrated songs.

PETERBOROUGH.—HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. Fred Karno; Manager, Mr. Percy Hart.—The world-famous Kilties, Canada's greatest concert band, is drawing big houses here; J. Coates Lockhart and the Liedertafel Choir are well received; Pipe-Major Johnstone is heartily applauded for his bagpipe solo; Bert Danjels is an expert cornet player; the Clan Johnstone Troupe are clever Scottish and Irish dancers; Adelaide Waldorf possesses a capital voice, which she uses with good effect; Zethus gains applause for her imitations of music-hall stars; and the Karnoscope, with coloured pictures, is interesting.

PLYMOUTH.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Manager, Mr. J. Langdon Lee.—Mr. Norman V. Norman's company fulfilled all expectations on Monday with a capital rendering of the ever-popular Caste. As the Hon. George D'Alroy Mr. Norman is a great success in a part requiring great delicacy of treatment; Mr. C. Marquand is admirably placed as Captain Hawtree; Mr. L. Whittaker makes a manly Gerridge; and Mr. L. Norman Leslie as the inebriate Eccles gives a realistic presentation. Miss Madge Trenshard does excellently as Esther Eccles; and as Polly Eccles Miss Beatrice Wilson gives proof of her versatility and skill. Miss Betty Stannard makes an aristocratic Marquise de St. Maur. The Balcony Scene from Romeo and Juliet, in which the characters are undertaken by Miss Beatrice Wilson and Miss Betty Stannard, is also given.

PALACE OF VARIETIES.—Manager, Mr. Jack Field.—Reano's famous band forms a powerful attraction; George Rae is a genuinely amusing Scotch comedian, whilst his dances are well done; the Miltons are responsible for plenty of amusement with their skating business; Joe Almasio is an expert jumping juggler; Miss May Brilliant is an attractive comedienne and dancer; Hanid Alexander gives an accomplished turn at the piano; and Haig and Lovel are a really good vocal and comedy duo.

PONTEFRACT.—ALEXANDRA THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Miss Minola Hurst and her miniature marvels give an entirely new act, in which is introduced the smallest comedian on the stage; Everhart, the famous hoop expert, is wonderful in his manipulation of hoops; Tom and Neil appear in a comedy boxing and wrestling act; Al and Lal give an amusing vaudeville item, introducing a lady ventriloquist; Happy Attwood is a great favourite with his songs and patter; Amy Bellwood, comedienne and dancer, scores effectively; David Fuller, baritone, has made himself very popular; Miss Alice Hughes and company give a screaming comedy sketch, entitled The Star of the Bazaar; and the Alexscope is interesting.

PONTYPRIDD.—ROYAL CLARENCE.—Sole Owners, Messrs. Trenchard and Jones; Manager, Mr. Chas. Trenchard; Acting-Manager, Mr. Willie Trenchard.—Mr. John F. Preston and an excellent company are presenting Nell Gwynne to good houses. The piece is well staged and dressed. Mabelle F. Barlow portrays Nell Gwynne in a graceful and becoming manner; Mr. Preston as Bellecose Betterton is decidedly effective.

PORTH. — PALACE OF VARIETIES. — Proprietors, Messrs. Poole's, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. J. W. Bynorth. —The Cruise of the Victory, a miniature musical comedy, is presented by Mr. Arthur Watson and his comical company of comedians, and proves a smart and pleasing act; Herbert La Martine is a clever eccentric dancer; and Rosa Neilson is a smart transformation dancer; Bessie McKeizie, Scotch fisher girl vocalist, has a very pretty scena, "Christina of Skeira," and is a most agreeable singer; the Haydons present a new burlesque, Bertie and the Barmaid. The Bioscope, as usual, has capital pictures. On Monday next Messrs. Poole's will begin a dramatic season.

PORTSMOUTH.—ROYAL.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Armstrong Bell.—Messrs. Platt and Towers' company is delighting playgoers here with Bernard Shaw's comedy You Never Can Tell. To Mr. Claude Haviland, in his easy and natural realisation of the old Waiter, belongs chief honours; the dentist Valentine is energetically impersonated by Mr. Graham Colmer; the difficult rôle of Fergus Crampton is effectively portrayed by Mr. J. Edward Pearce; and Lawyer Finch McComas receives justice at the hands of Mr. J. Allan Jeayes. Mr. Bellenden Clarke does well as the stern barrister Bohun; Gloria Clandon is sympathetically treated by Miss Winifred Beach; Miss Ida Southern is a vivacious and plain-spoken Dolly; Mrs. Clandon is in the capable hands of Miss Edith Hunter; and Mr. Geoffrey Wilkinson as Philip and Miss Sylvia Dawson complete the cast.

PRINCE'S.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. J. E. Agate.—A Royal Divorce, presented by Mr. W. W. Kelly's company, is the attraction. Mr. F. Moyes' powerful study of Napoleon and Miss Violet Ellicott's artistic performance of Josephine are the leading features in this interesting play, which is well staged under the management of Mr. Ernest Plumpton, who also assumes the part of General Augerau. Friday evening was devoted to Miss Ellicott's complimentary benefit.

EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Capt. E. H. Warren Wright; Secretary, Mr. W. Pratt.—An excel-

IF YOU SUFFER

FROM

HEADACHES, FLATULENCY, PALPITATION, INSOMNIA, INDIGESTION, LANGUOR, BILIOUSNESS, ACIDITY, LOSS OF APPETITE, OR CONSTIPATION,

a course of Mother Seigel's Syrup will quickly set you right. It is a highly-concentrated vegetable compound, having direct action on the stomach, liver, and kidneys. It promotes healthy digestion and excretion, expels all impurities from the system, enriches the blood, and thus imparts health and tone to every part of the body.

MOTHER
SEIGEL'S SYRUP

Thousands of men and women are every year cured of indigestion and other stomach and liver disorders by Mother Seigel's Syrup. Their testimony, given without fee or reward, affords convincing proof that Mother Seigel's Syrup possesses curative and strengthening properties not found in any other medicine. "For twenty-seven years," says Mrs. Barnes, 139, Upper Bridge Road, Chelmsford, Essex, "Mother Seigel's Syrup has been my only medicine."

WILL CURE YOU.

TAKE IT DAILY AFTER MEALS.

The 2/6 bottle contains three times as much as the 1/1½ size.

lent turn is provided by Miss Juliette's sea lions, the feats performed by these cumbersome animals being nothing short of marvellous; Bennett and Martell as the "Shipwrecked Mariners" provoke much laughter; Miss Renée Dey and her troupe of Carnival Belles are very successful in song and dance; Ted E. Box is a comedian whose drollery is much appreciated; the Dutrees give a very talented display of lightning sketches; the Bio-Photoscope is as interesting as ever; and Dan Daly, the Sisters Allen, and Len Hale thoroughly merit the applause they receive.

HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Walter de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. George Harris.—Arthur Roberts in The Importance of Being Another Man's Wife convulses the audience; the Ten Gems Family, with three ponies, perform some marvellously rapid acrobatic feats; an amusing juggling act is presented by the Cromwells; Keeley Brothers exhibit their ball-punching skill; Belle Braham in her "Popularity" song, with pictorial illustrations on the screen, provides an appreciated turn; the Melbournes, Rose Elliott, Lyric Mummer, and Oliver Conroy afford pleasure; and Chivalry in the West is depicted on the screen.

KING'S.—Licensee and Manager, Mr. J. W. Boughton; Acting-Manager, Mr. Claude Marner.—An exceptionally good musical act is submitted by Frank and Jen Latona, an amusing sketch The Lost Boy is presented by Ed. Blondell and company, Florrie Gallimore scores with her songs "Oh, let it be soon," "Mary Green," &c., the Talby Trio (vocalists) repeat their successes, Milt Wood is an expert dancer, the Floradoras in Two's Company, Three's None are laughter-raisers, Simms and Simms, Lloyd Morgan, and Gladys and Alber are welcome contributors. The Kingscope pictures are up to date with the latest films.

SOUTH PARADE PIER.—Manager, Mr. A. Lalande.—The afternoon and evening performances are here provided respectively by the Royal Entertainers and the Merry Mascots.

PRESTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, The Executors of the late W. Johnson; Resident-Manager, Mr. J. Alban Newton.—In place of closing this theatre for the summer vacation, as previously announced, the management have decided to carry on a picture exhibition during the summer season on the two-houses-a-night principle, and if the audiences of the opening week continue to be as numerically strong in the weeks to come, there is no doubt about the success of the enterprise. The pictures which are shown by the Vernon Bioscope are among the finest ever seen in Preston.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; Resident-Acting-Manager, Mr. Frank E. Burdett.—Fred Karno's company, in Perkins, M.P., and The G.P.O., with Mr. Tom Nelson as the chief fun provider, keep the audience in a continuous roar of laughter; Ruby Roya is a sparkling comedienne and dancer; Harry Luck, comedian, is funny; Leigh and Laurie, in a speciality act, are clever duettists and patterers; Dacey and Lewis, singers and eccentric acrobats and dancers, give a novel turn; Shirley and Ransome, in a cleverly-written episode, Jim's Pal, are exceptionally good; Pearce and Ward, with their burlesque boxing bout, evoke much laughter.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. E. H. Page; General-Manageress, Mrs. M. M. Clarkson; Resident-Manager, Mr. Chas. E. Clarkson.—Mr. H. Armitage's company, in With Edged Tools, is a big attraction here. Mr. Chas. Hartopp gives a good account of himself as Jack Meredith; Mr. Walter Russell submits a fine character study of Sir J. Meredith; Mr. J. D. Geddes is an excellent Guy Oscard; Mr. Chas. Barrett gives an exceedingly clever rendering of the part of the villainous half-caste Victor Darnoto. Miss Marguerite Cellier is most successful as Millicent Cheyne; Miss Alice Maude furnishes a capital presentation of Lady Cantourne; Miss Edith Anton-Laing gives a finished rendering rendering in the dual rôle of Marie and Lady Herries; Miss Marie Leonhard is an artistic exponent of Jocelyn Gordon; and Mr. J. Grahame Pockett is decidedly clever as Maurice Gordon. The play is adequately mounted.

PRINCE'S THEATRE.—A series of boxing tournaments, under the management of Mr. C. E. Clarkson, are being given on Saturday afternoons, and proving a big attraction. Handsome silver cups and other prizes are presented, and the entries are big.

READING.—ROYAL COUNTY THEATRE.—Proprietors and Managers, Mr. Milton Bode and Mr. Edward Compton; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. A. Evans.—Joe Elvin and Co. provide a most attractive star turn this week, in The King of the Castle and Barmy, which create immense diversion. On Friday Billy's Money-box was also presented. Valvero's Naval Bombardment is a very clever performance, the artist producing drawings of famous battleships with lightning speed, the whole concluding with a mimic bombardment; Rossi-Ashton, the war correspondent, presents his famous sketching act, taking topical songs as his subjects; Bernard and Weston are amusing dancers and patterers; Sam Dalton, comedian, is very droll; Mi Narom, in comedy creations, and Lilian Travelli, vocalist, are both well received, and some excellent films are shown on the Bioscope.

THE PALACE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Geo. Howard Watson; Acting-Manager, Mr. P. E. Draco; Stage-Manager, Mr. A. Burridge.—Joe Peterman and Geo. Ricketts' company of comedians are highly successful in their sketch, The Pawnbroker; Bates and Maddison give a very artistic vocal and spectacular entertainment, illustrated by lantern slides; Lily Lonsdale is an accomplished soprano vocalist; Ernie Myers is a good patter comedians; some expert magical tricks are performed by the Kahn Trio, who also give a good display of telepathy; Dulcie King-Lloyd, comedienne, and Dunning, ventriloquist, and the Bioscope complete an excellent programme.

CENTRAL SKATING RINK.—The Great Monahan is engaged here this week, and gives a wonderful display of trick skating each evening.

WEST'S PICTURE PALACE.—A splendid realistic fire scene was shown here on Monday, the whole of the ticket receipts being given to the National Fire Brigade Union. The pictures of the King's funeral are still attracting great attention.

ROTHERHAM.—HIPPODROME, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Geo. E. Smith; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur R. Hollands.—Edward Lewis is very amusing here in a farcical interlude, The Five Wishes; J. P. Ling brings down the house with his mimicry; Dora Lyric is a pleasing chorus vocalist; the Westbrooks provide a clever speciality act, A Knight of the Road. Charles Banks introduces a finely-trained dog, "Woof"; Minnie d'Aubyn is a popular chorus vocalist; Three Hodgins present a sensational gymnastic act; White and Clifford are well received in a high-class musical and dancing act; and the Hipposcope has a most interesting film, Rice Harvest.

RUNCORN.—PUBLIC HALL.—Lessees, Messrs. Hamilton and Hughes.—Remarkable business is being done. The Merrions submit a novel comedy entertainment; M. de Lil presents a clever series of mysticisms; Prof. Hibbert scores with ventriloquial business of an original nature; and the Three Royal Temples' vocal selections merit warm praise. The pictures are again a leading feature.

SALFORD.—PRINCE OF WALES'S.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. E. B. Golden; Acting-Manager, Mr. Harold Goulden.—Lady Godiva drew a good house on Monday evening, when Miss Edith Lorraine carefully enacted the title-rôle. Mr. F. B. Woulfe was an excellent Tom; Edgar was well presented by Mr. F. Cheevers; Miss E. Cartwright as Elfrida and Mr. Edward Contes as Robert Shackleton evoked much laughter with their quiet humour; Miss J. Richards was a charming Lady Aldyth; and good business was done by Mr. Harry Parr (Leofric), Mr. Leonard Thackeray (Algar), and Mr. J. Court Howard (Unwolf). Jane Shore was announced for Friday, and the other evenings this week Lady Godiva was to be repeated.

REGENT THEATRE OF VARIETIES, LTD.—Managing Director, Mr. W. Turner; General-Manager, Mr. Herbert Raymond; Secretary, Mr. R. H. Lee.—Daisy Wood, comedienne, gets much applause for her songs, and heads an excellent programme; Wanted, a Wife is a sketch most comically presented by Alice Cheshire, assisted by Edmond Sidney, J. C. Hamilton, and Nell Larose; George Harris, "the smallest comedian in the world," very cleverly brings down the house; Hayes and Merritt, clever bounding trampolinists; Maudie Forde, comedienne and dancer; Cromo and Hamilton, smart burlesque artists; Gladys Wyse, Scotch comedienne and dancer; and Miss Else and her Cousin Bob, in comic acrobatic act, also give acceptable turns.

ROYAL HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. W. H. Broadhead and Son; General-Manager, Mr. H. Winstanley; Resident Acting-Manager, Mr. W. J. Boyle.—The Great Raymond, magician, humorist, and fantasist, occupies the stage for a good part of the evening, and shows much smartness; Fred Dunstone, comedian, keeps the house in roars; Les Grossi, Continental dancers, do some very clever dancing, including "La Danse des Apaches." Other acceptable turns include Ryde and Beeman, quaint acrobats; Luella Cross, comedienne and vocalist; and Morris and Moore, expert dancers.

OPERA HOUSE AND ASSEMBLY ROOMS, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. Turner; General-Manager, Mr. Herbert Raymond; Acting-Manager, Mr. E. Shepherd.—This week's pictures include A Milliner's Bill, Rather Unpleasant, The Eleventh Hour, His First Valentine, Funeral of the Late King, A Brother's Devotion, Electric Insoles, In the Mirror.

CENTRAL HALL.—Proprietors, Messrs. Matt Raymond Company; Manager, Mr. A. H. Gilbert.—The Raymond pictures, Foolshead Somersaults, Reign of Terror, Baffled by Bandits, Tec's Dream, Saraggin's Comet, Mountain Inn, Quick Change, His Only Daughter, and several other are shown.

NEW CENTRAL HALL.—Proprietor, Mr. Thomas Whiteley.—The films here this week include Mad Dog Scare, Life of King Edward VII., Lonely Villa, Poor Aunt Matilda, Son's Return, The Interviewer, The Fool, The Rejected Lover, He Meets Friend at Once.

SCARBOROUGH.—AQUARIUM.—Secretary and Manager, Mr. W. Kitchingman; Assistant-Manager, Mr. H. Bench.—An all-round good programme is provided here, the artists responsible being the Esther Trio, acrobats; Maisie May, comedienne; Richardson Taylor, whistling ventriloquist; Signor and Mme. Borelli, vocalists and instrumentalists; Maclaine and Mac, in comic Scottish dialogue; Frances Haskell in illustrated songs; Leo Teil, imitator of sounds, and Francesca.

THE NEW HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. William Peacock.—The programme this week includes "Merigne," in classical dances; Harvey and Jesson, comedy duologue; La Belle Greta, comedienne and dancer; Louis J. Seymour, light comedian; Sharon, street musician; Mr. "X," conjurer; Sydney Hamilton and Co. in the sketch Mabel's Cousin; and Sybil Cann.

THE SPA.—Proprietors, Cliff Bridge Co.; Manager, Mr. H. T. Chambers.—Some very interesting films are exhibited in the Electric Theatre.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietors, Mr. and Mrs. L. Garside; Manager, Mr. F. P. Morgan.—Messrs. O. Silverstone and H. Wright's company are appearing here in The Nihilist, with Mr. O. Silverstone as Prince Alexander, Mr. George Mitchell (Ivan Nowasky), Miss Edna Clare (Alexina Orloff), Miss Florry Kelsey (Princess Olga), Mr. Henry Wright (Bobbie Smart), and Miss Jessica Ford.

SEACOMBE.—KING'S THEATRE.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr. James Kiernan.—Messrs. Clifford Hamilton and Charles Locke's company are here with A Woman's Past. Miss Dora Pass puts in excellent work as Bessie, and Mr. Percy Dawson does well as David Heath; Miss Phyllis Elton plays forcefully as Clara Darrell, and the part of Dorothy Heath is prettily performed by Miss Cherry Veyheyne; Mr. Charles Locke as Frank Dellanoy, Mr. A. Hamilton Warden as Clement Harper, and Mr. H. Ryeland Leigh as Uriah Craven are good in their respective parts.

SHEERNESS.—HIPPODROME.—Lessee, Mr. B Parezeer; Resident-Manager, Mr. Julian Graham.—A good attendance was recorded at both houses on Monday. A good programme comprises Rapoli Maudi Laurie, Howard and Wallace, Crystal and Saville, Andie Burns, Camilla Feo, Will Con, and the Three Langfords.

SHEFFIELD.—LYCEUM THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont.—The anticipated "Ibsen Week" was successfully inaugurated on Monday by a fine performance of A Doll's House by Mr. Leigh Lovell and Miss Octavia Kenmore's London company. Hedda Gabler was acted on Tuesday, and When We Dead Awaken was billed for Friday.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Managing-Director, Mr. John Hart; General-Manager and Treasurer, Mr. J. E. B. Beaumont; Assistant-Manager, Mr. A. Henfrey-Aldred.—Messrs. Dottridge and Longden's popular company opened to a good house on Monday, in the interesting domestic and realistic drama, The Midnight Mail. Mr. John F. Traynor gave a powerful portrayal of the conflicting passions of tempted, fallen, but ultimately repentant engine-driver, Harry Steyne; the despicable scoundrel, Billy Brewer, was painted in bold colours by Mr. Fred Evison; Miss Trissie Humphries as the loving and faithful wife, Mary Steyne, was rewarded with sympathetic applause; and the other artists all worked with splendid esprit de corps. The pathetic scene of the "ever-open-door," and the wonderful realism of the railway sensation were enthusiastically received by a large and most appreciative audience.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. W. D. Forsdike; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. W. Ramsay.—The Shadow of a Crime is being played twice nightly by Mr. Robert Hewland's company. The play is well staged, and leading characters are effectively represented by Mr. Whitmore Ledger as Jim Murdock, Mr. Robert Newland as Capt. Harry Bullington, Mr. Victor Gordon, Ralph Esmond, Mr. Harry Creamer as Samuel Brown, Mr. Tom Maynard as James Todd, Miss Ada Arthur as Winnie Murdock, Miss Queenie Matthew as Dora, Miss H. Jeffries as Sarah, Miss Violet Vivienne as Mrs. Brown, and Miss Ethel Saville as Loyale Norman.

EMPIRE PALACE.—The Moss Empires' Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. Alan D. Dunbar.—The appearance of Madame Ella Russell has given refined pleasure to large audiences this week, who have warmly applauded her sympathetic rendering of "Good-bye," "Robin Adair," and other old favourites; Miss Alice Raymond and her talented intrumentalists in the beautifully-mounted musical spectacle, A Night in Egypt, are again cordially received; Holden's famous Fantoches are a welcome feature; the great Vincent does some daring back falls from tables; the Sisters Tower are two pretty and graceful dancers; the Carmos do a smart and elegant posturing and juggling act; J. W. Wilson and Miss Nelly Waring are clever and amusing comedy artists and dancers; Mr. Harry Herbert causes roars of laughter in his burlesque of a sailor-man; and other engaged are Conan and Doyle, comics; and Wullie Walker, comedian. The Bioscope concludes.

THE HIPPODROME.—The Barrasford Co., Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. Frank Poole.—Big business is the rule here, the pièce de resistance being the comic extravaganza, The Belle of the Orient, played in brisk fashion by Messrs. Joe Peterman and Geo. Rickett's company. Messrs. Emmerson and Baldwin are good comedy jugglers; the Fitzroys do a graceful and artistic original act on the trapeze; and other talented performers engaged are Johnson and De Vere, comedians, &c.; Carli and Law, novelty artists; Mr. Harry Tayler, comedian; the Havannas Troupe; and the Society Quartette. Films of the King's funeral and London scenes conclude the entertainment.

SMETHWICK.—ROYAL.—Proprietor, Mr. C. Barnard; Manager Mr. E. Hewitson.—Mr. Morton Powell's company is appearing in How Girls are Brought to Ruin. Jessie Burton is admirably impersonated by Miss Isla Garnet-Vayne; Mr. Harry Scott gives a forcible rendering of Harry Hailing; Mr. Edward Heanley acts the dual part of Philip Edge and Philip Dare with ability; Mr. Sydney Bryant creates much amusement as Jack Jossie; Mr. Alaric Burton is well placed as Solomon Sleek; Mrs. Morton Powell sustains the interest of the piece with success as Winnie Waters; Miss Jeannie Bisley is interesting as Lucy Lawton; Miss Kathryne Eckhart is good as Mrs. Burton; and Miss Addie Cuthbert (Toy Lieff) and Miss A. Adair (Mrs. Slutt) also appear with distinction.

SOUTHAMPTON.—GRAND THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Fredk. Mouillot; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur Weston.—The Cruise of the Constance is being presented with great success. The star artist is Mr. Chas. McNaughton, who as Potts, the steward, evokes hearty laughter. Excellent support is given by Miss Irene Verona (Mrs. Hope), Miss Carlotto Sylvano (Isabel), and Miss Ruby Vyvyan (a smart and vivacious Maid). Mr. Chas. McLagan provokes mirth as the Admiral, Mr. Albert Kavanagh is good as the Captain, and Mr. Fredk. Hobbs sings and acts admirably as Lieut. Wensleydale, R.N. The comedy is prettily mounted, and the chorus and orchestra do good work under the bâton of Mr. Albert Vernon.

SOUTHEND-ON-SEA.—EMPIRE THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. B. Pareczer; Acting-Manager, Mr. A. Lingham Power; Assistant-Manager, Mr. A. L. Pareezer.—Messrs. Mathew H. Glenville and Fred Osmond are presenting the famous Irish drama Arrah-na-Pogue, which was heartily received on Monday by a large audience. The court-martial scene in Act 2 provided capital amusement. Mr. Mathew H. Glenville gave a strong and masterly impersonation of Shaun-the-Post, and shared principal honours with Miss Lalla Stanhope, whose clever creation of the title-rôle was delightful. Mr. Edward E. Hobart characterised Beamish M'Coul successfully, and Mr. Lewis Jordan gave a creditable impersonation of the Secretary of State. Mr. H. C. Gilpin as Michael Feeny was decidedly good in a difficult rôle, and Miss Lydia Audre was well suited as Fanny Power. Mr. Ernest Hamilton was amusing as Winterbottom.

THE HIPPODROME.—Proprietary, The Southend Hippodrome; Resident Manager, Mr. Lewis de Burgh.—The principal attraction here is George Robey, who is delighting all with his mirthful songs and impersonations; Phillip Levard, conjurer and illusionist; Beatrice Allen, comedienne and dancer; Billy and Bellay, comedy acrobats; Stevens and Breet, versatile entertainers; Dalvane's Marionettes; and Charles Grantley, comedian; the Forde Trio, vocal and instrumental act; and the Chandon Trio, gymnasts.

PIER PAVILION.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. H. F Angless.—Messrs. Brandon and Maitland's Anglo Japs, a sextette of refined and merry entertainers, are giving two performances daily. The magical entertainment by Mr. Maurice Maitland is both smart and interesting, while in song and humour Mr. Harry Brandon does well. Miss Marguerite Wortham is an accomplished violinist and pianiste; Miss Cissie Ray, comedienne, leads the concerted items in creditable style; Miss Bertha Graveling, Med.L.A.M., as a soprano, sings well; Miss Sybil Taylor is a pleasing contralto.

SOUTHPORT.—OPERA HOUSE WINTER GARDENS.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Percy Hutchison; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Clarkson.—Under the direction of Mr. H. Cecil Beryl, the delightful fairy play Alice in Wonderland furnishes an attractive entertainment. The play is beautifully staged and dressed, and the efforts of the young artists were cordially appreciated by a good house on Monday night. Miss Ivy Sawyer depicted the title-rôle with charming daintiness, her singing and dancing being artistic and graceful; Mr. Dan Leno, jun., as the Caterpillar, and later as the Red King, was extremely quaint, his dancing being very grotesque; Mr. Frank Collins, in the character of the Mad Hatter, was bizarre and humorous; Mr. Tom Graves was very good as the Mock Turtle; and Mr. Roland Henry caused much amusement in the part of Gryphon; dances were beautifully executed by the Misses Marjory Neville, Phyllis Munro, Doris Kent, and Doreene Lamport.

SOUTH SHIELDS.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. John Coulson.—Mrs. F. G Kimberley's company present Was She to Blame? to good houses. Mr. Harry Rutland makes John Norman, the Vicar of Beechwood, stand out in bold relief; Mr. Clavering Craig is seen to advantage as Frank Rosselle; Mr. George Keene is good as Captain George Courtney; and the William Clark of Mr. George Tempest is also an excellent performance. Miss Ellen Beverley is good as the vicar's wife; and Lillian Norman is well accounted for by Miss Nancy Roberts. Mrs. Kate Rosselle is cleverly portrayed by Mrs. F. G. Kimberley, the authoress of this great play. Most excellent comedy is submitted by Miss Rita Owen as Sarah Swales and Mr. Kenneth Black, jun., as Timothy Swales.

EMPIRE PALACE THEATRE, LTD.—Managing-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Frank Allen; Resident-Manager, Mr. Ernest Bridgen.—The audience is delighted by the performance of the Piccolinos, miniature marvels of cycling, dancing, and wire-walking; H. O. Wills, the "water rat," is very funny; Emma Don and company are seen to advantage in On the Thames Embankment; Siems, the great Danish card and coin manipulator, is well received; Nellie Wigley as Prince Charming is delightful; William Strother is successful in character-sketches from Dickens; Woodhouse and Wells, comedians, and the bioscope complete the bill.

GRAND ELECTRIC THEATRE (Ocean-road).—Resident-Manager, Mr. William Clark.—Crowded houses are delighted twice nightly by the beautiful pictures shown at this hall. Mr. Tom Child, tenor singer, charms the audience with his magnificent voice.

SPENNYMOOR.—CAMBRIDGE THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Hugh Robertson; Resident-Manager, Mr. David Colbins.—It's Never Too Late to Mend is the second week's production of Mr. Frank Ayrton's season, and was finely produced before a good house; Mr. J. W. Harrell, formerly a local resident, who has recently adopted the profession, was heartily applauded for his songs. The principal characters in the cast are Mr. Vincent W. Carlyle (Tom Robinson), Mr. Percy Coningsby (George Fielding), Mr. George Wallace (Peter Crawley), Mr. Norman Overton (Mr. Meadows), Mr. Frank Ayrton (Jackey), Miss Madge Seymour (Susan), and Miss Anna Beaumont (Mary).

PICTURE PALACE.—Manager, Mr. Arthur Sleep.—The principal picture at this hall is the Funeral of the Late King Edward VII., which is drawing crowded houses. The Whitworth Prize Band plays the "Dead March" in Saul whilst the film is on view. The Star variety turn is Dan Pedley, a successful comedian.

ST. HELENS.—THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE, LTD.—General-Manager, Mr. McLeod Loader; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Harry E. Johnson.—Mr. Charles Harrington's company make a return visit in Uncle Tom's Cabin. Mr. J. H. Boehm receives great applause for a fine representation of Uncle Tom. The character of Mr. St. Clair is adequately filled by Mr. Charles Richardson, while that of Phineas Fletcher is ably portrayed by Mr. A. Hayes. Mr. Eric Williams enacts George Harris with much care, and Mr. Tom Bowron is successful in making Legree repulsive. Miss Hero Hathaway obtains praise for her portrayal of Eliza Harris, and Miss Ethel Vernon gives a capital reading of Aunt Ophelia. Miss Annie Watson makes an amusing Topsy. Little Eva is played by Miss Gem Lloyd with touching sweetness. Entertaining items are given in the Plantation Festival by Rich and Moore (duettists), Shorty May, the Tamosseeans, Moore and Johnson, Kidd Love, Reg. Kloof, L. Allen, James Hodges, H. G. Burt, and Madge Price.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietors, Messrs. Barrasford, Sley, and Wilmot; Acting-Manager, Mr. Leo Weisker.—Corman's Juveniles are delightful in their vocal scena; Henry and Tyler, comedy and trick cyclists beyond the ordinary; Mlle. Ottino is a clever and fascinating conjurer; Ernesto shows great dexterity; Amy Russell sings a good song well; the Sarony Sisters are charming dancers; E. J. Sheldon is applauded for a capital turn; and the pictures are attractive.

STOCKPORT.—THEATRE ROYAL AND OPERA HOUSE.—Sole Owner and Manager, Mr. Charles Revill; Acting-Manager, Mr. Wm. Revill.—There is no lack of sensationalism in The Heathen and the Christian, which is being capably presented here this week by Mr. Frank Adair and company. Mr. Frank Adair acts meritoriously as Li; Mr. Harold Garth ably impersonates the character of Chang; Lung Hi has an excellent representative in Mr. Frank Withers; Mr. Reginald Payne acts with vigour as George Berresford; Mr. G. Shirley is successful as Lieut. Lord Allandale; and Mr. Charles Luck is amusing as Bar Lamb Gentle. Mira Sampson is effectively impersonated by Miss Louie Adair; Miss Stanley Burt charmingly fills the part of May Berresford; and Miss Eva Reid is a mirthful Becky Fibbins.

EMPIRE.—Proprietors, The Stockport Empire Theatre Co., Ltd.; Acting-Manager, Mr. W. Black.—Mr. M. Montgomery, whose company last year attained a large measure of popularity over a stay of seven weeks here, has commenced another season this week with The Bellringer, a romantic drama, which has been witnessed with marked interest by large audiences. The fine acting of Mr. S. E. Scanlan as James Pengarth is a prominent feature; Mr. Stanley Gordon ably sustains the part of Allan Chesney; Mr. H. Hesslegrove acts with skill and care as Maxwell Chesney; the Rev. David Hawthorne, J.P., is ably portrayed by Mr. Dunlop Stewart, whilst the brothers Job and Nathaniel Railton are most satisfactorily played by Mr. Geoff. Sutherland and Mr. Harry Cooke. Miss Nina Vaughton makes a sympathetic Brenda Chesney, and Miss Lillian Radbourn acts praiseworthily as Hesba Pengarth.

STOCKTON-ON-TEES.—GRAND THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. John Batty; Manager, Mr. Walter Batty.—A Woman's Devotion is produced here. Geo. A. de Gray appears with distinction as Dick Chesney; Robt. Hall gives a capital portrayal of Philip Dangerfield; Miss Effie Bartlett furnishes an excellent interpretation of Maisie Loyale; and Miss Etta Turner makes a capital Gilberte le Grand.

HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Harry Burns; Resident-Manager, Mr. Geo. Stainton.—Frank L. Gregory's Troupe of hoop-rollers give an excellent turn; Frantz's Comedy Five are amusing and clever in an acrobatic scena, Happy School Times; Tom Joy, a pleasing comedian, makes a big hit; Ernest Montefiore and company present The Little Colonel, which is very attractive; Waul Langtry is a clever dialect comedian; Dorris and Frances are expert dancers and singers; Angela Ward is a dainty comedienne; Naughton and Gold are very clever dancers, and give some catchy songs with patter.

STOKE-ON-TRENT.—THE HIPPODROME.—Lessee, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Arthur Burton.—For the summer season dramas replace the usual variety programme, two performances being given nightly. This week Miss Loie Esmond's company present Nana, The Sorrows of Satan, and The Ticket-of-Leave Man. In the first-named piece Mr. J. McCaig as Phillipe made a pleasing hero, and Miss Rosie Neville was a charming Nana. Other parts were well filled.

STOURBRIDGE.—ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Douglas C. Phelps.—Full houses are the rule. Jimmy Shields, the one-legged comedian and dancer, heads the bill and scores repeatedly; Sam Johnson is also popular with "Teddy, the boy scout"; Seale and Seale deserve mention for their Beerbohm Golliwog; Bobbie Graham, a versatile comedian, goes well; the Bohemians give a smart instrumental turn; the pictures are varied nightly.

The rink is now closed for the season so far as skating goes, but is opening shortly as winter gardens, with pierrot entertainments twice daily.

SUNDERLAND.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor, Mr. Richard Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Harry Esden; Acting-Manager, Mr. George Dunn.—Mr. Wilson Howard and company are presenting Under the Iron Heel to well-filled houses. Miss Carlotta Anson has ample scope in the rôle of Germaine Merbeau for her histrionic power; Miss J. Douglas Hicks gives a capital portrayal of Naman of Gouffe, as also does Miss Marie Angus of Andre. Mr. Wilson Howard has a fine conception of the part of Rene de Maupassant; Messrs. John Talford, Dennis Clyde, and Carl Vallender all do excellent work. Mr. J. W. Richards gives a strong delineation of the Prussian Captain.

AVENUE THEATRE.—Proprietor, Mr. Richard Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Harry Esden.—Mlle. Agalia, contortionist, Olive Lizette, vocalist, and Tony Clarke, comedienne and dancer, all meet with enthusiastic applause. The pictures are up to the usual high standard.

EMPIRE THEATRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; General-Manager, Mr. Harry Esden.—Heading an excellent programme is Mr. John Tiller's company of fifty artists, in a gorgeous vocal and spectacular ballet In Japan. The music, singing, dancing, and scenery are all of a high order. May Mars is as popular as ever with her well-rendered numbers; The Mystic Hussars proves to be a capital illusion; the Eight Cocktails are making a big hit with their grotesque and vigorous dances; and the Baby's Park Parade is a pretty song-scena. Cavalli gives a novel ventriloquial act; the Three Laurels execute some intrepid acrobatic feats; Matthews and Mann are responsible for some fine operatic vocalism; and the Eight Male Friesland Serenaders also supply a pleasing item.

PALACE THEATRE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Hamilton's Picture and Variety Company.—Captain Permaine is arousing much enthusiasm here with his performing Teddy Bears; the Spanish Juanitas present a marvellous and sensational acrobatic performance, entitled "The Wonders of a See-saw." The pictures include a good dramatic item, On the Border-line.

SWINDON.—EMPIRE THEATRE.—Proprietors, The Wiltshire Entertainments Co., Ltd.; Managing-Director, Mr. Alfred Manners.—The Cados Trio give an exhibition of roller skating in clever style; Carrie Wood is a popular comedienne and dancer; Scholey and Scholey amuse greatly in their comedy duo Winning a Wager; a smart turn is presented by the Arnolds, entitled She at the Stake; Will and Rose, contralto eccentrics, merit applause; Stalman and Russell provide an entertaining episode, Borrowed Plumage; Gene Brant is a comedian with an excellent budget of songs; Matthews Bros. prove themselves capable dancers; and the Four Louberts excel as comedy acrobats.

COUNTY ELECTRIC PAVILION.—Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur E. Melborne.—Popular films are on view here, including one of the Events in the Life of King Edward and the Funeral Procession at Windsor.

TODMORDEN.—HIPPODROME.—Sole Proprietor and Manager, Mr. Richard Dewhirst.—Mrs. E. H. Knight's company is here in The Lighthouse Robbery. Mr. Percy Beresford infuses character and force into the part of Tom Manley; Mr. J. Cameron is a capital David Morrise; Mr. S. Fortescue and Mr. J. Sommerville are capable exponents of William Farran and James Hammond respectively; Mr. Rupert Talbot as Sam Kidder successfully handles the lighter parts of the play. Miss Hilda Baynton as Rosa Prescott is a charming heroine; Miss Clarice Jenner is a vivacious Ruth Manley; Miss Alice Dent acquits herself well as Mrs. Manley.

OLYMPIA PICTURE PALACE.—Proprietors, Messrs. A. and H. Andrews; Manager, Mr. Chas. Tyers.—Capital houses are still attracted by the pictures. Mr. Tyers also sings with success.

TON-Y-PANDY.—ROYAL.—General-Manager, Mr. Sam Duckworth.—Mr. S. Britt and company are successfully presenting Almost His Bride. Mr. D. MacFarlane is excellent as the Earl of Ullswater; Squire Rowland is well played by Mr. T. Dillsen; Mr. G. R. J. Austin capably interprets Phillip Rowland; and Mr. R. F. Stacey is well placed as Jasper Thorne. Mr. S. Britt does exceedingly well as Simon Simson; Mona Gilchrist is suitably interpreted by Miss G. Moore; and Ruth Gilchrist is safely entrusted to Miss A. Liddon. Miss L. Prescott does well as Emma Baxter.

HIPPODROME.—Lessee, Mr. Will Stone; General-Manager, Mr. E. Harper.—Topping a good bill are the Leopolds, in The Crazy Waiters; Lillian May Levey scores heavily in good songs; Sewell and Dudley are well received; Allen and Austin and Joe Stirling get plenty of applause. The best pictures are A Day with Boy Scouts and The Western Land.

EMPIRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Walter Wright.—Sears, the American illusionist, worthily heads a strong bill. Rastus and Banks are heartily applauded; the McConnell Trio make a great hit; Eily Adair dances well; Edgar Cook, the conjuring chef, and Shawlene (whistler) are acceptable turns.

TORQUAY.—PRINCESS PIER CONCERT HALL.—Proprietors, The Torquay Town Council; Manager, Mr. A. T. Tremlett.—"The Royal Strolling Players" are drawing large houses. Mr. Sydney James proves himself to be a humorist of more than usual ability, and is ably assisted by Mr. G. W. Desmond, who introduces some very clever step-dancing; Miss Seymour James is an attractive comedienne; Miss Madeline Rossiter is an artist of considerable charm; Miss Dorothy Belmore displays talent at the piano; Mr. Jack Austin and Mr. Frank Halpin both do exceedingly well; and the concerted items are deserving of the highest praise.

TUNBRIDGE WELLS.—OPERA HOUSE.—Lessee, Mr. Welton Dale; Manager, Mr. Harry Ball.—The Hippodrome programme includes Muriel Harding, the Anglo-French impressionist, whose varied impersonations are highly appreciated; George Grogie as the Sussex yokel also makes a hit, and the clever comedy juggling of Cornalla and Eddie is another successful item. Mildred Parr's songs and recitations at the piano prove successful, and the patter of Davis and Dene is popular. The song and dance of Lily Palmer is very well received, and so are the songs of Tom Lee. The Bioscope concludes.

WAKEFIELD.—OPERA HOUSE.—Proprietors, Sherwood and Co.—Closed for summer vacation.

NEW EMPIRE.—Proprietors, Sherwood and Co.; Manager, Mr. S. H. Laycock.—Mr. Alan Holt and company present a sensational dramatic sketch A Society Woman; Norman Thelma, a wonderful contortionist, has an enthusiastic reception; Burns and Bentley, comedians, win applause with capital dancing; Victor and Louis, as the golfer and the caddie, provide an amusing turn; Miss Rose D'Aulby, vocalist, sings well; the Hesseys, musical trio, give a refined performance; and Bonnetti and Corrie, eccentric jugglers, are smart.

HIPPODROME.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Sydney Tolfree.—The Carle and Maie Trio, comedy acrobats and wire-walkers, are remarkably clever; the Countess Bekoffska, lightning flower painter, is a huge success; Mlle. Du Roche, burlesque actress, sings delightfully; Renie, Ernie, and Allie, clever juvenile vocalists and dancers, evoke applause; and Mayfield Grove, dame comedian, proves popular.

WARRINGTON.—ROYAL COURT.—Proprietor, Mr. J. Beecham; General-Manager, Mr. A. M. Loader.—Mr. E. Vivian Edmond's play, The King's Romance, is the attraction here. As Prince Andreas Mr. Edmonds plays with natural force throughout. Miss Mary Austin is seen to the greatest advantage in the trying rôle of Vera Navairre; Mr. George P. Porteous infuses plenty of dramatic force into his portrayal of Michael Vacurat; and exceptionally well placed is Mr. William H. Dewhurst as Paul Navairre. Mr. Henry Earlesmere is a dignified Baron Cavonia; Miss Ella Vinery as Lizette and Miss Bella Power as Madame Pomeroy are both seen to advantage. The dressing and staging of the play is notable. The Cotton Spinner was billed for Friday.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME.—Managing-Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten; Manager, Mr. Eric Longden.—Marie Santoi and her merry Japs are achieving a big success in the vocal sketch A Night in Japan. Miss Santoi scores repeatedly, and the Oriental dances of the quartette of ladies is much admired. John Macaulay's songs are sung with rare effect; Cassie Walmer enhances her reputation with new songs and dances; Blanche Marion is the personification of refinement; the Sisters Maynard score in a thoroughly "Utopian" turn; Lilly Madison and Freddy Webb are seen to advantage in the sketch My Husband," and Zeltrin, the comedy juggler has the house convulsed with laughter at his eccentricities. A delightful films is the one depicting The Robbery of the Citizens' Bank.

ROYAL THEATRE OF VARIETIES.—Proprietors, The Central Theatres and Franco-British Animated Picture Company; Managing-Director, Mr. Wilberforce Turner; Manager, Mr

company is here in The Lancashire Lad. Miss Muriel Inglis appears with great success as Lorna Wincote; Miss Maude Hastings is also successful as Jessie Wincote; Miss Florence Gomer is Mother Wardle; Miss Phyllis Rae is good as Jane Alice; and Miss Cora Patey as Kitty de Vere; David Elmore or the Lancashire Lad is admirably depicted by Mr. Chas. D. Pitt; Br. Arthur Britton is clever as Max Carton; and Mr. Val Gully is good as Jim Wincote.

NEW HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. R. Colin; Resident-Manager, Mr. R. Colin, sen.; Assistant-Manager, Mr. Ted Leamar.—In addition to the excellent pictures, there are appearing here Carrie Lawton, a clever and dainty comedienne; Dolly Brough, with good songs and dances; Rich and Rare, a well-named comedy couple; and Harry Heatin, a smart dancer and comedian.

ELECTRIC PICTURE PALACE.—General-Manager, Mr. H. Stanley Marks.—Good business is still being done here, the pictures deserving all praise.

WEST HARTLEPOOL.—EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Richard Thornton; Resident-Manager, Mr. G. F. Thompson.—George Lashwood, in new and old songs, is greeted with tumultuous applause; Hagedom's Grotto is a charming spectacle, the illuminated aquatic effects are very pretty; Tom Stuart, in his dramatic and burlesque impressions, is a decided success; the Lyric Quartette harmonise well in several selections illustrated by prettily coloured slides; Georgina Leno contributes a smart dance; and a pleasing turn is added by Jeannie Hartley, a dainty soubrette.

PALACE.—Proprietors, Messrs. Black Bros.; Manager, Mr. W. Ball.—Excellence is the term applicable to every picture shown by the management. J. H. Carney, in song, dance, and story, is an acceptable turn; the Two Zets accomplish some remarkably clever simultaneous and wooden-boot dancing.

ROYAL ELECTRIC THEATRE.—Lessee and Manager, Councillor Everton.—Taming a Suffragette, performed by the Vaudevilles, is intensely funny; Miss Annie Coulson has a remarkable soprano voice; many well-selected films are shown.

WESTON-SUPER-MARE. — KNIGHTSTONE PAVILION AND OPERA HOUSE.—Manager, Mr. W. Payne.—Mr. George Munro's répertoire company is making its first appearance here. The Sleigh-Bells was the piece selected for Monday. Mr. George Munro gave a fine character study of Matthias; a clever piece of acting was the Christian of Mr. Howard Rose; Mr. Denton Thompson was praiseworthy as Hans; and so, too, was Mr. Ivor Barnard as Father Walter. Mr. H. Greaves did well as Doctor Zimmer; and Mr. Stafford Dawson (mesmerist), Mr. T. Weston Fields (judge), Mr. Arthur Percival (Tony), Mr. Eric Norman (Notary), and Mr. Rainsley (Clerk), were all good in their respective characters. Miss Doris V. Horrocks made a remarkably pretty Annette, her acting being excellent. Miss Gertrude Littlewood's Catherine is entitled to encomiums; and so is the Lozel of Miss Janet Hope. Othello, Twelfth Night, Hamlet, and The Lyons Mail are all in the week's bill.

GRAND PIER PAVILION.—Manager, Mr. John H. Stevenson.—The Gay Birds are here once more, and are well received. Miss Doris Trevelyan's fine voice is heard to advantage; Miss Doris Langdon's songs at the piano are loudly encored; and Miss Nina Lorenza's mandoline solo is applauded. Mr. Vivian Munro is an old favourite here; Mr. Frederick Park is an effective comedian; Mr. Alexander Lee excels as a reciter; and Mr. Harry Taylor's wood-tapping solo is well rendered. Pictures on the bioscope are entertaining; and Herr Fericescu's Viennese Band grows in popularity.

WHITEHAVEN.—NEW THEATRE ROYAL.—Proprietor, Mr. Stanley Rogers; Acting-Manager, Mr. Falconer Jackes.—Some excellent films are being shown here. Messrs. Ryde and Beeman, comedians, and Miss Rose Finnette, burlesque actress, are also in the bill.

WHITLEY BAY.—PLEASURE GARDENS.—Resident-Manager, Mr. Auguste A. Penleve.—These pleasure gardens, more familiarly known as the Spanish City since the alterations and embellishment of its new theatre and the addition of side shows, are proving a strong attraction for the early visitors to this flourishing seaside resort. The varieties are headed by Menotti, the Stockholm Wonder, in the "Twentieth Century Cycle Track," wherein he submits a daring and exciting performance by the aid of electric and flying wires. Charles Tempest, eccentric comedian, is also in good demand; Graham and Barron (comedians and dancers), and Gulliver (ventriloquist) complete the programme.

COLISEUM THEATRE.—Resident-Manager, Mr. Steve Smith; Acting-Manager, Mr. Fred Patterson.—Up-to-date films form the principal attraction here, the variety being led by the Sisters Lillian, duettists, with a pleasing selection of harmonious items.

BATHS PAVILION.—Proprietor, Mr. R. L. Grice.—A series of animated pictures is being exhibited here. Excellent variety is furnished by Dave Elliott, the blind instrumentalist and vocalist.

WIDNES.—ALEXANDRA THEATRE.—General-Manager, Mr. Geo. Burton.—Heading an attractive bill are Leopold Legere and his troupe of acrobats and somersault-throwers, who present a marvellous exhibition. Other turns which are heartily applauded are Dolly, Agnes, and Maud, famous singing boxmakers; Mlle. Vanioni, high-class soprano and Tyrolean vocalist; and Frederico and Edgaro, eccentric knockabout comedians. Several high-class films, humorous and pathetic, are screened.

CO-OPERATIVE HALL.—Lessees and General-Managers, Messrs. Hamilton and Hughes.—The central attraction here is the film illustrating the Runcorn May Queen Festival, which was held on Saturday last. Entertaining turns are presented by Mr. J. W. Hall, the popular Yorkshire humorist; Mr. Sydney Brandon, impersonator and protean actor; Miss Eve Correlli, dainty vocalist and dancer; and Mr. Fred Mount, ventriloquist.

WIGAN.—THE ROYAL COURT THEATRE.—Proprietors, The Wigan Entertainments Co.—The Enemy of Woman, played by Mr. Stuart Lomath and Miss Ellen Owen's company, is the attraction here. Mr. Stuart Lomath gives a powerful interpretation of Captain Merritt; a clever impersonation of Major Stevens is furnished by Mr. A. Pringle; while in a humorous rôle Mr. Lancelot Usher causes much laughter. Miss Rose Mervyn gives a sympathetic portrayal of Marian Merritt; and Miss E. F. Greene proves herself to be a talented actress as Teddy.

HIPPODROME.—Lessees, the U.S.A. Animated Picture Co.; Manager, Mr. Fletcher Sansome.—Another excellent series of pictures of King Edward's Funeral are shown, together with several interesting and amusing films.

WOLVERHAMPTON.—THEATRE ROYAL.—Lessee and Manager, Mr. Walter de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. Fred Ball.—Mr. Stanley Carlton's company opened here on Monday with Her Life in London, a moral play quite to the liking of the patrons of this house. Mr. Stanley Carlton plays with earnestness as the Rev. Allen Gordon; whilst Miss Rubie Maude contributes much to the general success as Astra Bell; Mr. C. Franklyn is good as Mr. Templeton; and a comedian with an original style is found in Mr. W. Vernon, who plays Percy Plunker.

EMPIRE PALACE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Walter de Frece; Resident-Manager, Mr. Vivian Evans.—George Mozart, who is starring here this week, caricatures all and sundry in his own inimitable manner, and his burlesque on the moving picture drama, The Thief, is wonderfully ingenious; Howard and Harris, in The Adventures of a Happy Tramp, furnish an enjoyable entertainment; the Three Cunards, in their dancing act, receive a cordial welcome; Charles Sloman is a diverting comedian; Leoni Dixon sings in a charming manner, and her dancing is above the average; Young and Evans, Hebrew comedians, score; and Lucia Collins sings songs from her late mother's repertory.

ELECTRIC THEATRE.—Proprietors, London and Provincial Electric Theatres, Ltd.; Resident-Manager, Mr. Arthur Hickman.—Films depicting the Funeral Procession of King Edward are retained for another week. The Power of the Press is an intensely dramatic picture of American life; A Duck Farm is both educational and interesting; and many amusing subjects are also furnished.

WORCESTER. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. Arthur Carlton; Acting-Manager, Mr. T. Edward Evans.—A first visit of "Consul," the marvellous educated baboon, is creating quite a sensation. Twice nightly he gives his highly interesting entertainment, which includes the use of an aeroplane, bicycle, skates, &c. Amandros, the cosmopolitan facial mimic, introduces a novel and interesting "turn," making up with marvellous rapidity to appear as many of the leading men of this and past days; Benn's Dutch Boys and Girls introduce some excellent dancing; and Fred Neiman's ventriloquial entertainment is capitally done. Rosy Gaston is a dainty comedienne; and Mlle. Rosina is a clever instrumentalist. Cupid in a Lodging House is the title of a cleverly presented sketch written by Harold Gatty; and the bioscope completes an attractive programme.

WORTHING. — THEATRE ROYAL. — Lessee and Manager, Mr. C. Adolf Seebold.—Variety holds sway here, and good business is being done. A capital programme is provided by John Warren, dramatic illusionist; Jackson Collis, comedian; Niagara and Falls, comedy artists; Ada Tunks, soprano; Frank Melvin, comedian; Sisters Volbecques, comedy duo and dancers; F. G. Fenn, in a scena, Phil Blood's Leap; and Marmaduke.

WREXHAM.—EMPIRE MUSIC HALL.—Proprietor and Manager, Mr J. J. Scott.—Barney Vox, who tops the bill this week, proves a ventriloquist of exceptional powers and a humorist of no mean order; Miss Doris Snowden is a graceful soubrette and a clever speciality dancer; and the pictures are of a varied and interesting description.

YNYSHIR. — WORKMEN'S HALL. — Lessees, Pooles, Ltd.; Manager, Mr. J. W. Bynorth.—The chief picture is that of the Funeral of the late King Edward VII., during which the "Dead March" is played by the Ynyshir Brass Band. The cinephone renders illustrated songs.

YORK.—OPERA HOUSE AND EMPIRE.—Managing-Director, Mr. Wm. Peacock; Acting-Manager, Mr. Sidney Brook.—The wonderful performing dog Ariana, introduced by Chas. d'Aix, has delighted all; the Brothers Curran's comic boxing display causes much amusement; Dalmere's Table Circus is distinctly novel and attractive; Babs Lloyd is a neat dancer; Charles Penrose, a quaint comedian; and Allis and Cassati contribute an enjoyable turn; the entertainment presented by Miss Mabel Mavis is both novel and clever; Damerell and Rutland are quaintly funny; and the Black Diamonds are excellent vocalists.

ROYAL.—Lessees, Messrs. Waddington; General-Manager, Mr. H. J. Dacre.—The second week of Mr. Alan Wilkie's season is proving successful, and on Monday a full house assembled to welcome Hamlet. On Tuesday A Fool's Revenge was well received. Mr. Alan Wilkie kept the audience engrossed by his impersonation of Bertuccio; Mr. John Paley gave a clever rendering of the Duke of Faenza; Mr. Henry Hargreaves as Dell' Aquilla was seen to great advantage; as Torelli, Ordelaffi, and Accolti Messrs. G. Edward Dunstan, Sinclair Neill, and Herbert Mansfield were good; Miss F. Hunter Watts in her part gave a delicate and charming impersonation; as Francesca Miss Mary Lovett was a distinct success; and Miss Hilda Plowright made a charming Geneva; Brigitta was in the safe hands of Miss Alice Miller. Taming of the Shrew, Richelieu, The Sleigh Bells, and Jane Shore are also in the bill.

HIPPODROME.—Proprietor, Mr. T. Bowman; Acting-Manager, Mr. C. E. Bradley.—The Telephone Call is a highly sensational film, and Nuccia the Shepherdess another exciting item; the comic element is seen in Rebellious Betty; and the Carlsens are a speciality on the trampoline.

VICTORIA HALL.—Lessee, Mr. Sidney Bacon; Resident-Manager, Mr. Bert Rutter.—A fine display here includes a Romance of the Western Hills, Doncaster Races, and Fontoline Black and White. A cordial reception is given to Mr. Harry Morgan.

STAGE PLAYS AT ALBERT HALL.

At the Westminster Police Court on Saturday Mr. Chilvers, of the Solicitors' Department, London County Council, applied for a summons against the Corporation of the Royal Albert Hall for permitting the theatre there to be used for the public performance of stage plays. He said that under Section 2, Vict 67, it was prohibited that stage plays should be performed except in places licensed either by the Lord Chamberlain, by letters patent from their Majesties, or under licence from the Justices. The powers of the justices had now been transferred to the London County Council, and the Royal Albert Hall came within the jurisdiction of that body. For some time past the theatre, an annexe of the hall, had been used for the performance of stage plays. It was a theatre fitted with a stage, &c., and the County Council was desirous of knowing whether they were to take any responsibility, first as to the licence, and secondly as to the means of escape in case of fire, accident, &c. The theatre was level with the top tier but one of the hall, and if the Council had any responsibility at all they desired things to be put in order. The Council had been in communication with Mr. Hilton Carter, the secretary, and it was contended on behalf of the Hall that a licence was not required, the building having been erected under Charters granted by Queen Victoria. The first was in the thirtieth year of her Majesty's reign, and gave the objects for which the Hall might be used—prize distributions, agricultural, horticultural, national and international exhibitions, picture exhibits, and other purposes connected with science and art. The second Charter was granted in the fiftieth year of Queen Victoria's reign, and this set forth that the Hall might, in addition to the objects already mentioned, be used for public or private meetings, operettas, concerts, balls, or any other than theatrical entertainment for the amusement and recreation of the people.

Mr. Horace Smith—What is an operetta? Is not that a theatrical form?

Mr. Chilvers: I think not, sir.

Mr. Horace Smith: Perhaps I need not trouble about that now. Both of you want to settle this question.

Mr. Chilvers: We do, sir. They gave us notice that they were going to hold a public performance on a certain date recently, and they did. It cannot be contended that by letters patent stage plays are authorised there. We think the intention is that they are not authorised to perform them.

Mr. Horace Smith: You have clearly got some argument on your side. What that of the other side may be I don't know. I think you must take proceedings.

IN memory of the late King Edward VII. a special memorial matinée was held at the Curzon Hall, Birmingham, last Friday afternoon, a special series of excellent pictures being shown by Mr. Waller Jeffs. The chief feature of the performance was a film showing the Funeral of His late Majesty, and other pictures depicted the late King on his visit to Derby, and also on the occasion of his visit to Birmingham.

A COPY of "THE ERA" will be forwarded to any address in the United Kingdom for six stamps.

REVISED SCALE OF CHARGES FOR ARTISTS WANTING ENGAGEMENTS.
MANAGERS WANTING ARTISTS.

THREE LINES (ABOUT TWENTY WORDS), ONE SHILLING.
Each Additional Line (Six Words or less), Sixpence.

This Scale does not apply to "Trade" Advertisements in these Columns.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION (Post Free).

	UNITED KINGDOM.	FOREIGN
One Quarter	6s. 6d.	8s.
Half Year	13s. 0d.	16s.
One Year	26s. 0d.	32s.

The Offices of "The Era" are
"THE ERA" BUILDINGS,
5, TAVISTOCK-STREET, STRAND, W.C.
For the convenience of Advertisers, Replies to Advertisements are received. They can remain until called for, or be forwarded by Post if postage be arranged.

NO STAMPS.
Advertisers and subscribers are politely requested to forward Cheques or Postal Orders in payment of their Advertisements and Subscriptions, crossed "Lloyd's Bank, Ltd." Remittances should be made payable to "The Era," Limited, and addressed,
THE PUBLISHER,
The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-st., Strand, W.C.
"Wire," "The Era, London."
"Ring-up," 4747 or 1433 Central.

IN case of the non-delivery of "THE ERA" by the First Post, the Publisher will be greatly obliged if Advertisers will forward their Postal Wrappers with the time of delivery marked upon them.

COMPANIES WANTED.
TWENTY WORDS, ONE SHILLING.
Each Additional Six Words, Sixpence.

MILTON BODE and EDWARD COMPTON'S THEATRES.
WANTED, First-class Companies, for THEATRE ROYAL, BRIGHTON.
July 11, 18, Aug. 8, 15, Sept. 19, 26, Oct. 3, 31, Dec. 12, Feb. 13, 20, 27, on.
DALSTON THEATRE, LONDON, N.E.
Sept. 12, 26, Oct. 10, Nov. 21, Jan. 23, Feb. 6, on.
COUNTY THEATRE, READING.
Aug. 15, 29, Sept. 12, 19, 26, Oct. 10, 24, 31, on.
OPERA HOUSE, LEICESTER.
Aug. 8, Sept. 5, Oct. 31, Nov. 21, 28, Dec. 5, 12, on.
ROYALTY THEATRE, CHESTER.
Feb. 27, March 6, April 3, 10, on.
GRAND THEATRE, WOLVERHAMPTON.
July 18, Aug. 1, Sept. 5, 12, 19, Oct. 3, 10, 24, on.
THEATRE ROYAL, HUDDERSFIELD.
Aug. 1, Sept. 5, Oct. 3, 10, 17, Nov. 21, 28, on.
OPERA HOUSE, NORTHAMPTON.
Aug. 15, Sept. 19, 26, Oct. 17, Nov. 28, Dec. 12, on.
THEATRE ROYAL, LEICESTER.
June 27, July 4, Aug. 1.
Oct. 17, 24, 31, Nov. 14, Dec. 12, Jan. 2, 9, on.
Address, MILTON BODE, Theatre, Reading.

WANTED, First-class Attractions, for COUNTY THEATRE, BEDFORD,
Aug. 1, 8, onwards, with exceptions.
GRAND THEATRE, LUTON,
Aug. 1, 8, onwards, with exceptions.
THEATRE ROYAL, CANTERBURY.
Aug. 15, 22, onwards, with exceptions.
Address, E. G. FALCON, County Theatre, Bedford.

WANTED, First-class Attractions, for
MARINA THEATRE, LOWESTOFT,
Sept. 19, 26, Oct. 6 (3), and Easter.
NEW ROYAL THEATRE, KING'S LYNN.
Aug. 4, 11, 15, 22, 29, Sept. 5 and 26.
EMPIRE THEATRE, SOUTHEND.
Dec. 12, 19, Jan. 2, Feb. 6, on, and Easter.
HIPPODROME THEATRE, SHEERNESS.
Aug. 4, 15, Sept. 19, Nov. 28, Dec. 12, 19.
Address, B. PAREEZER, Proprietor and Manager, Marina Theatre, Lowestoft.

KELLY'S THEATRE.
Paradise-street, just off Church-street, Liverpool.
WANTED, First-class Attractions for July 11 and Aug. 8.
Wire or write to
W. W. KELLY,
New Theatre Royal, Birkenhead.

THE QUEEN'S THEATRE, DUBLIN.
Rebuilt at a cost of £15,000.
WANTED, First-class Companies, Aug. 8, 29, Sept. 26, and various onwards.
Address,
F. W. MARRIOTT WATSON, as above.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE, MIDDLESBROUGH.
GRAND OPERA HOUSE, MIDDLESBROUGH.
One of the handsomest Theatres in the county. Holding capacity 3,500. Visited by all the biggest Stars and Companies.
WANTED, Aug. 1, Bank Holiday, onwards, with exceptions, including Aug. 15 (Race Week).
Could arrange Stock Season for June and July.

CASTLE THEATRE, STOCKTON.
This handsome Theatre will reopen Aug. Holding capacity 3,000.
WANTED, Aug. 1, onwards, with exceptions, including Aug. 15 (Race Week).
All communications to
J. CHAS. IMESON,
Theatre Royal, Middlesbrough.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE, CARLISLE.
WANTED, First-class Attractions, Autumn, 1910.
THOS. COURTICE, Manager.

LYRIC THEATRE, LIVERPOOL.
WANTED, First-class Attractions, Share or Certainty.
All must play twice nightly.
HENRY C. ARNOLD, Managing-Director.

PIER THEATRE, EASTBOURNE.
This Theatre will in future be booked by Mr. MILTON BODE, and all communications re dates should be addressed to him at COUNTY THEATRE, READING. All other communications to G. Hayes, Pier, Eastbourne.
A full week may be booked in conjunction with Pier Theatre, Hastings (three nights each).
WANTED, Companies for July 18, 28 (three nights), Aug. 1 (six nights), Aug. 15 (two nights), Aug. 29, Sept. 5, 12, 22, 26, on.
Apply MILTON BODE, Theatre, Reading.

PIER PAVILION, HASTINGS.
WANTED, Companies. Wanted, Mr. Walter Maxwell is now booking First-class Attractions from July 4 for the Season. three nights for preference.
The week may be completed at the Pier, Eastbourne.
Address all communications,
WALTER MAXWELL, 52, Bedford Court-mansions, London, W.C. 'Phone 4,270 Gerrard.

QUEEN'S THEATRE, MANCHESTER.
WANTED, Good Company, June 13. Wire, FLANAGAN.

GRAND THEATRE, LLANDUDNO.
WANTED, First-class Attractions only, Aug. 4 (three nights).
Address, The MANAGER.

HARROGATE & SCARBORO' OPERA HOUSES.
WANTED, First-class Company, June 20, 21, 22, Scarborough; 23, 24, 25, Harrogate; vacant through obliging Manager.
Apply, WILLIAM PEACOCK, Opera House, Harrogate.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE, HULL.
WANTED, July 25, Aug. 29, Sept. 5, for good powerful Dramatic Attractions.
Address, WILLIAM MORTON.

ALEXANDRA THEATRE, WIDNES.
WANTED, First-class Companies, for Aug. 8, 15, Sept. 19, and onwards, with exceptions.
Address, THOMAS SWINTON.

COMPANIES WANTED.
WANTED, First-class Companies. Wanted, First-class Companies.

THEATRE ROYAL, WORCESTER.
THEATRE ROYAL, WORCESTER.
Vacant Aug. 22, Nov. 7, Dec. 5, onward, with exceptions.

EMPIRE, WORCESTER.
EMPIRE, WORCESTER.
Pictures and Bijou Vaudeville.
All arrangements complete at present.

THEATRE ROYAL, TON-Y-PANDY.
THEATRE ROYAL, TON-Y-PANDY.
Vacant July 11, 18, 25, Aug. 1, 8, 29, onward, with exceptions.

NEW THEATRE, BARRY.
NEW THEATRE, BARRY.
This magnificent Theatre now nearing completion. Undoubtedly one of the finest theatres in Wales, up-to-date in every detail. Holding capacity over 2,000. Stage 62 by 37. Equipped with every modern stage contrivance. Superb plant of electric light, 500 ampères available. This Theatre caters for a very large population, standing right in the centre of the populous towns of Cadoxton, Barry Dock, Barry, and Barry Island, the latter being full of visitors during the summer season.
Wanted, Big Musical Attraction, for Opening date in July, also for following vacancies:
Aug. 1, 22, 29, Sept. 5, 19, Nov. 28, Dec. 12.
Bookings already include "Silver King," "Fatal Wedding," "Florodora," "Miss Hook of Holland," "Merry Widow," "When Knights Were Bold," "Gay Gordons," &c., &c.

BARRY ELECTRIC THEATRE DE LUXE.
Pictures and Bijou Vaudeville.
All arrangements complete at present.
Wanted, Dates, "ALADDIN," "BABES IN THE WOOD," "PUSS IN BOOTS."
All communications,
ARTHUR CARLTON,
Theatre Royal, Worcester.
Telegrams, "Carlton, Worcester."

IMPORTANT SOUTH COAST CIRCUIT.
WANTED, High-class Companies, DEVONSHIRE PARK T., EASTBOURNE,
The Premier Theatre, open all the year.
Sept. 12 (?), Oct. 17 (?), 24 (3 nights), 31, Nov. 7, 14.
GAIETY THEATRE, HASTINGS.
Companies booked at, or wishing to visit, this old-established and successful Theatre are reminded that they must not book elsewhere, or permit their plays to be performed in Hastings, St. Leonards, or Bexhill.
Autumn Attractions include:
"The Brass Bottle," "The Merry Widow" (twice), D'Oyly Carte Opera Co., Hayden Coffin and Co., in "Two Merry Monarchs," "Dear Little Denmark," "The Arcadians," "Our Miss Gibbs," "King of Cadonia," "The Chorus Lady," "The Naked Truth," "Tantalising Tommy," "Smith," "Fires of Fate," "The House of Temperley," "Hook of Holland," "A Country Girl," "Flag Lieutenant," "Old Heidelberg," F. R. Benson Co. Other leading attractions have appeared during Spring.
Vacant July 18, Sept. 26, Oct. 3, 10 (?), 24, 31.
PLEASURE GARDENS T., FOLKESTONE.
July 18, Sept. 12, Oct. 10, 24, 31.
Apply for all above,
H. W. ROWLAND, Theatre, Folkestone.

ROYALTY THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE, BARROW-IN-FURNESS.
Lessee and Manager, Mr. HUGH ROBERTSON.
The Premier Theatre in the Town, with a holding capacity greatly in excess of any other Theatre in the Town.
Booked by Mr. George Edwardes, Mrs. D'Oyly Carte, George Dance, Mr. Arthur Hart, Mr. Frank Curzon, Mr. Fred Mouillot, Messrs. Sidney Cooper and Lyn Harding, Messrs. Paumier and Howard, Mr. R. Courtneidge, Mr. J. W. Turner, &c., &c.
WANTED First-class London Successes, for June 27 and July 4, 11, 18, 25, Aug. 1, on, with exceptions. All applications for dates to HUGH ROBERTSON, Theatre Royal, Jarrow.

ROYALTY THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE, BARROW-IN-FURNESS.
WANTED, Known, Mr. Robertson is prepared to treat with a Responsible Manager for a Month's Stock Season during July at above Address, HUGH ROBERTSON, Theatre R., Jarrow.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SWINDON.
WANTED, Musical and Dramatic Attractions, July 11, 18, 25, Aug. 1, 29, Sept. 5, 12, 26, Oct. 3, 10, 17, 24, 31, on, with exceptions. Also Variety Combinations, Musical and Dramatic Attractions, first three nights, Garrison T., Tidworth, June 20, July 4, 25, Aug on. ALFRED MANNERS.

WEYMOUTH NEW THEATRE.
One of the most charming Theatres in the Provinces. Holds £120 at ordinary prices. Lit throughout by electric light. No other Theatre within radius of thirty miles. Drawing capacity 60,000.
WANTED, First-class Companies, July 11 (?), 18 (3), Oct. 10 (?), 24, 31, Nov. 14, 28, on.
All coms. re dates to London Representatives, JAY and MANN, 10-11, Jermyn-street, S.W.
All other coms. direct to W. R. WALLIS.

WORTHING THEATRE ROYAL.
One of the Prettiest Theatres on the South Coast. Rebuilt and enlarged. Holding £100.
WANTED, First-class Companies, Three Nights, One Matinée, June 30, July 18, Aug. 4, Sept. 8, onwards. Apply, C. ADOLF SEEBOLD.

KING'S THEATRE, GREENOCK.
WANTED, for Re-opening of Season, First-class Musical and Dramatic Attractions, Aug. 1, 8, 15, 22, 29, Sept. 5, 12 (Holiday date), Oct. 24, Nov., Dec., onwards, with exceptions.
Address, A. B. and J. J. WRIGHT.

PRINCE OF WALES THEATRE, GRIMSBY.
WANTED, good Company, July 11. Copy of Daybill, sample of Printing, and particulars to J. H. CURRY, as above.

WANTED, for the Prince of Wales Theatre, Salford, First-class Companies, for June 27, July 18, 25, and onwards. Address, E. B. GOULDEN.

WANTED, Attractions for Gaiety, Worksop, June 16, 17, and 18, June 23, 24, and 25, on, with exceptions. Apply, S. GOODMAN.

OPERA HOUSE, JERSEY.
ST. JULIAN'S HALL, GUERNSEY.
WANTED, big Attractions, for opening of Dramatic Season, July 5, also Sept. 5 and 12 (Musical Shows preferred).
EDWARD MARRIS, O. H., Jersey.

THEATRE ROYAL, BURY ST. EDMUNDS.
WANTED, First-class Attractions, for Aug. 22, and onwards, with exceptions; open three nights weekly.
Address, MAX JEROME, Empire Theatre, Southend.

STOCKPORT EMPIRE.
WANTED, Dramas, Musical Comedies, Operas, &c.; all must play twice nightly.
Shares or Certainties. Vacancies Jan., 1911, on.
WANTED, good Attractions, Sept. 1, 12, 19, 26 (3 nights), onwards.
PHILLIPS, Coliseum, Aberystwyth.

WANTED, Companies, Dramatic or Musical, big Attraction for Bank Holiday, now booking Autumn. JAMES ELPHINSTONE, Lyceum Theatre, Stafford.

PAISLEY AND PERTH THEATRES.
WANTED, First-class Attractions, Aug. 15, 29, Sept. 5, Oct. 10, Nov. 7, Dec. 5
Address, J. H. SAVILE, Theatre, Paisley.

NEW PRINCE'S THEATRES, BLACKBURN and PRESTON.
WANTED, First-class Drama or Variety Combination, Preston, June 13, July 4, 11; Blackburn, July 21, Aug. 1. E. H. PAGE, Blackburn.

THEATRE ROYAL, CROOK.
Closed for important structural alterations and Reseating.
WANTED, Companies, Aug. 1, 15, Sept. 5, on.
WALLACE DAVIDSON, Shakespeare Hotel, Nottingham.

COMPANIES WANTED.
Booked by
MOSS' EMPIRES, LIMITED,
BORDESLEY PALACE THEATRE,
GRAND THEATRE, NOTTINGHAM,
BROADWAY THEATRE, NEW CROSS,
and
GRAND THEATRE GLASGOW.
WANTED, Musical Comedy or very Special Attractions.

BROADWAY THEATRE, NEW CROSS.
Vacant Sept. 26, Feb. 13, 20, March 6, 13 (?), 20, 27, April 10, May 1, 8, 15, 22, 29.
Several Autumn (1911) Dates.

BORDESLEY PALACE THEATRE.
Vacant Sept. 5, Nov. 14 (?), 28, Dec. 12 (?), Jan. 9, 23, Feb. 13, 20, March 20, 27, April 10.
May 1, 8, 15, 22, 29, June 5, and several Autumn (1911) dates. Good Pantomime for two weeks at Christmas.

GRAND THEATRE, NOTTINGHAM.
Vacant Aug. 1 (?), Oct. 31 (?), Nov. 14, 28, Feb. 20 (Pantomime), 27 (?), April 3, 10, 17, 24, May 1, 8 (?), 15, 22, 29, June 5. Several Autumn (1911) dates.

GRAND, GLASGOW.
Vacant Aug. 1, 8, 15, 22, 29, Sept. 5, 12, 19, Oct. 3, 10, 17, 24, Nov. 7, 14.

Good Stock Companies Wanted for all Theatres. Address, with full particulars, terms, &c., where can be seen, to
MOSS' EMPIRES, LIMITED,
Cranbourn-mansions, Cranbourn-street, W.C.
Envelopes marked "Theatres."

ABERDEEN, DUNDEE, EDINBURGH, GLASGOW, NEWCASTLE.
WANTED, First-class Attractions, Aug. 1, 8, 15, 22, 29, and Sept. 5.
Apply, Mr. ROBERT ARTHUR, 24A, Regent-street, London, S.W.

QUEEN'S THEATRE, FARNWORTH.
WANTED, A1 Dramatic Attractions, June 27, July 4, 11, 18, Aug. 1, 8, 22, Sept. 5, 12, Oct. 10, 17.
MORTON POWELL, Queen's T. Farnworth, Bolton.

GRAND THEATRE, WEST HARTLEPOOL.
Closed for entire redecoration and alterations.
WANTED, First-class Companies, Aug. 1, and on, with exceptions.
STANLEY ROGERS,
Theatre Royal, North Shields.

WINTER GARDENS, NEW BRIGHTON.
The Premier Place of Amusement.
WANTED, Big Attractions, First Vacant Date, Oct. 17, and onwards, with exceptions.
Musical or Farcical Comedy preferred.
Must be First-class. Address, MANAGERS.

SCOTLAND'S PROVINCIAL THEATRES.
WANTED, First-class Dramatic, Musical, or Variety Attractions, for:
AYR, COATBRIDGE, FALKIRK, MOTHERWELL, LEITH, and KIRKCALDY,
for August and Autumn, 1910.
Wire or write, R. C. BUCHANAN,
6, John-street, Adelphi, London, W.C.

ROYALTY THEATRE, MORECAMBE.
WANTED, First-class Attractions, July 11, 18, 25, Aug. 15, Sept. 15 (3 nights), and 19.
Address, CHA. M. JULIAN, General Manager.

GRAND THEATRES, CHORLEY & RADCLIFFE.
WANTED, Good Répertoire Company, Seven Nights, commencing Saturday, July 16, Holiday date; also July 25, Aug. 1, Grand, Chorley. Letters only. No wires.
SANTE, Radcliffe.

HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE, BARROW-IN-FURNESS.
WANTED, First-class Costume Concert Parties (à la The Follies), July 18, onwards. Apply, CALVERT ROUTLEDGE, His Majesty's Theatre, Barrow-in-Furness.

WANTED, to effect Transfer Strong Attraction,
Wire, June 20, Wire.
Wire, June 20, Wire.
MARK LORNE, King's Theatre, Sutton-in-Ashfield.

EMPIRE THEATRE, WEST HARTLEPOOL.
Managing-Director, RICHARD THORNTON.
The handsomest and most up-to-date Theatre out of London.
WANTED, Known, two or three vacant dates at intervals, for First-class Musical or West End Attractions. Bookings include George Edwardes's own company in "The Dollar Princess," Moody-Manners Opera Co., Seymour Hicks and Co., &c. Apply to HARRY ESDEN, Empire, Sunderland.

OPERA HOUSE, KIDDERMINSTER.
WANTED, Applications from Companies for August Bank Holiday and various Autumn Dates. Bookings: "Merry Widow," "Gay Gordons," "Mrs. Wiggs," F. R. Benson, &c. Address all coms., MANAGER, O. H., Kidderminster.

WANTED, for Theatre Royal, Barnstaple, Companies, for two nights, Musical or Comedy preferred. Apply, H. ASHTON, Strand, Barnstaple.

ROYAL ARTILLERY THEATRE AND OPERA HOUSE, WOOLWICH.
Lessee and Manager, JULES RICHEUX.
WANTED, First-class Attractions for only vacant dates Aug. 8, 22 (?), 29, Sept. 12, 19, Oct. 3, 10, 24, Nov. 21, Panto. Xmas (four weeks), on. Bookings: D'Oyly Carte, Moody-Manners, and Turner's Operas, "Merry Widow," "Arcadians," "Our Miss Gibbs," "Dairymaids," "Gay Gordons," "Miss Hook," "Cingalee," "Country Girl," "Flag Lieutenant," "Knights Were Bold," "Raffles," &c. Re dates direct to JAY and MANN, 10-11, Jermyn-street, S.W.

HARROGATE & SCARBORO' OPERA HOUSES.
WANTED, First-class Company, June 20, 21, 22, Scarborough; 23, 24, 25, Harrogate; vacant through obliging Manager.
Apply, WILLIAM PEACOCK, Opera House, Harrogate.

ABERYSTWYTH ROYAL PIER PAVILION.
WANTED, First-class Attractions.
Apply, J. H. ROWE,
C/o A. J. Hughes, Town Clerk, Aberystwyth.

THEATRE ROYAL, DARLINGTON.
WANTED, Costume Comedy and Dramatic Sketches, for Production at above Theatre.
Address, WILLIAM HEILBRONN.

WANTED, Comedy Companies, &c., to Book Theatre Royal, Inverness, open September, onwards. Manager, CAMERON BURGESS.

OPERA HOUSE, DUNFERMLINE.
WANTED, High-class Companies, Musical preferred, Aug. 15, 22, Sept. 1, 5, 19, on, with exceptions. W. E. POTTS.

PALACE THEATRE, TYNEMOUTH.
WANTED, for Summer Season, 1911, First-class Musical Comedy Productions.
ROSEN and BLISS, 12, Henrietta-street, London, W.C.

CATLIN'S NEW ARCADIA, SCARBOROUGH.
The most magnificent Theatre and Concert Pavilion in England. Seating for over 2,000, and with standing will accommodate 3,000; magnificent Scenery, electric light, competent staff. This Theatre is situated right on the sea front, and is built so that in a few minutes can be entirely Al Fresco. Full Dramatic Licence.
WANTED, Known, a few vacant dates for Flying Matinées, also Orchestras, Concert Parties for Sundays in July and August; no vacancies for evenings. Apply Mr. DUDLEY HARCOURT, Manager for Mr. W. Catlin, "Arcadia," Scarborough.
WANTED, First-class Attractions, Dramatic and Musical Companies. Vacant dates, June 15, and forward, to follow "Iolanthe," produced June 9, in newly-fitted theatre.
Apply, SECRETARY, Coalville Olympia, Coalville, near Leicester.
WANTED, Musical or Farcical Comedy, July 30 and Bank Holiday week, and Aug. 8 week.
BELLERBY, King's Hall, Ilkley.

COMPANIES WANTED.

NEW THEATRE ROYAL, BLYTH-BY-SEA.
See Page 15 of "The Era," dated May 7, 1910.
New Theatrical Watering-place.
WANTED, Powerful Attractions, for Aug. 1 (B.H.), 8, and Sept. 5, 12, Oct. 24.
Special Notice.
Proprietors and Managers of Sound Attractions, Musical, Dramatic, or Farcical, with vacant dates, from and including Aug. 1, 1910, are invited to send in particulars of Plays, &c., cast, printing, &c., for consideration, to Arthur C. Moody, Blyth-by-Sea.

HARROGATE & SCARBORO' OPERA HOUSES.
WANTED, First-class Company, June 20, 21, 22, Scarborough; 23, 24, 25, Harrogate; vacant through obliging Manager.
Apply, William Peacock, Opera House, Harrogate.

EMPIRE, EDMONTON.
WANTED, Known, June 27, Vacant for Burlesque, Comedy, or Drama, twice nightly. Holding capacity, 2,500.
Managing-Director, Harry Bawn.

WANTED, for "Pretoria," Okehampton (main line Exeter-Plymouth), Companies, two nights. Hall holds 300; scenery. E. Wilkinson, Whimple-street, Plymouth.

THEATRES WANTED.

"THE GIRL WHO LOST HER CHARACTER."
WANTED, Aug. 8, Dec. 26, and January Dates.
Douglas Bruce.
20, Wentworth-road, Harborne, Birmingham.

"THE FEMALE SWINDLER."
WANTED, June 27 and July 11
The Only Vacant Dates. Douglas Bruce, 20, Wentworth-road, Harborne, Birmingham.

ANDIE CAINE'S PANTOMIMES.
"CINDERELLA."
"RED RIDING HOOD."
"BABES IN THE WOOD."
WANTED, Theatres or Music Halls.
A few Vacancies left.
Production Dates settled.
Coms., Andie Caine, Filey, Yorks.

"A ROYAL DIVORCE."
"A ROYAL DIVORCE."
"A ROYAL DIVORCE."
WANTED, for this Phenomenal Success, Weeks of August 22 and 29.
Wire or write to
W. W. Kelly,
New Theatre Royal, Birkenhead.

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN."
"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN."
WANTED, Theatres, Aug. 8 (?), 15 (?), on, big Company, Chorus, Negro Specialities. New Plant of beautiful Scenery and Printing.
Charles Harrington,
Queen's Theatre, Farnworth.

"DARE-DEVIL DOROTHY."
"DARE-DEVIL DOROTHY."
ONCE OR TWICE NIGHTLY.
WANTED, June 13, 20, July 28 (three nights), South, Aug. 4 (three nights), South. Sept. 5, 12, 26.
All communications, J. W. Cordiner, June 6, Alhambra Theatre, Higher Openshaw.

"THE PRIVATE SECRETARY."
EUGENE C. STAFFORD'S No. 1 CO.
WANTED, for this Wonderful Moneymaker, Sept. 26, Oct. 3, 17 Nov. 7, 14, 21, and Dec. 26. Bishopsdale Biddenden, Kent.

"SILVER KING" CO.
WANTED, Dates, Oct. 17, 24, 31, Nov. 7, 21, also Spring, 1911.
Address, G. M. Polini, 93, Penge-rd., London, S.E.

WANTED, First-class Theatres, "A Message from Mars," No. 1 Company, Oct. 17, 24
(North or Midland),
also Xmas week at big Theatre.
Apply,
F. Mouillot, 1, King-st., Covent Garden, W.C.

MISS NORA CARTON'S TOUR,
with Russell Vaun's latest Dramatic Success,
"TEMPTATION."
One of the Strongest Dramatic Casts on the Road.
WANTED, good Theatres, Aug. 22 (follow Barnsley), Sept. 5 and 26 (North), Oct. 31, Nov. 7 (precede Ramsgate), Dec. 5 (precede St. Helens), Dec. 26 (between Warrington and Star, Swansea).
All coms.,
Martin Comstock, Cambridge T., Spennymoor.

MR. NORMAN V. NORMAN'S COMPANY IN PASTORAL PLAYS.
WANTED, Several Vacant Dates in July. Modern and Costume Plays are produced with Full Effects.
Address, Managers' Club, Savoy-mansions, W.C.

MISS FLORENCE BAINES' COMPANIES,
in the Musical Farce,
"MISS LANCASHIRE, LIMITED."
"MISS LANCASHIRE, LIMITED."
WANTED, Aug. 8 and 15 (between Devonport and Aldershot), Nov. 7 and 14 (between Birkenhead and Portsmouth).
A new Musical Farce in active preparation, by the Author of "Miss Lancashire, Limited."
Address,
Miss Florence Baines, Grand, Hull.

"MAN AND WIFE."
"MAN AND WIFE."
"MAN AND WIFE."
By Walter Howard.
ETHEL GRIFFIES & MARGARET SKELTON'S TOUR.
WANTED, for above (by arrangement with E. Van Biene), Aug. 1, on, with exceptions. First-class Company, including Miss Griffies. Good Scenery, Wardrobe, and Properties.
Address all communications,
Griffies and Skelton,
T. R., Portsmouth.

MESSRS. WENTWORTH CROKE, MILTON BODE, AND EDWARD COMPTON'S COMPANY, in "THE BISHOP'S SON," by HALL CAINE.
WANTED, Aug. 29, between Douglas and Blackpool.
"THE DAWN OF A TO-MORROW."
Aug. 8 and 22, South Coast Seaside Towns only.
Apply,
Wentworth Croke,
Piccadilly-mansions, 17, Shaftesbury-avenue, W.

MR. BRANDON THOMAS'S COMPANY.
"CHARLEY'S AUNT."
WANTED, Theatres, for above (3 nights, North),
Aug. 22,
Sept. 19 (North),
Oct. 17 (Midlands or North),
Nov. 7 (South),
Nov. 21 (3 nights, South).
Address, Cecil Barth,
The Managers' Club, Savoy-mans., London, W.C.

"LUCKY 'LIZA."
WANTED, July 11 and 18, Aug. 1 and 29.
Dickie Clare, P. of W., Salford.

"LITTLE PHIL'S MOTHER."
WANTED, Theatres for Oct. 31 (?), Nov. 21, 28, and Jan. 2.
Address, Frank M. Thorne,
Newlands Cottage, Cloughton, near Scarboro'.

MURRAY KING AND CO. in "OUR FLAT."
WANTED, June 23 (3 nights), July 4 (week).
King, Devonshire Park T., Eastbourne.

The New Musical Comedy,
"MISS PLASTER OF PARIS."
WANTED, good Theatres, June 13, 20, 27, Aug. 1. Wires. Henry L. Osmond, Blyth. Letters, Royalty T., Barrow.

THEATRES WANTED.

MORTON POWELL ENTERPRISES.
WANTED, Wanted, Dates.
"BROUGHT TO RUIN."
By Mrs. Morton Powell.
Sept. 26, Dec. 5, 26.
Morton Powell, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

"A GIRL'S TEMPTATION."
By Mrs. Morton Powell.
WANTED, Wanted, Dates.
"A GIRL'S TEMPTATION."
Nov. 14, 28, Dec. 26.
Morton Powell, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

"DRIVING A GIRL TO DESTRUCTION,"
by Mrs. Morton Powell.
WANTED, Wanted, Dates.
"DRIVING A GIRL TO DESTRUCTION."
July 25, Oct. 17, 31, Nov. 7, 14.
Morton Powell, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

"FROM MILL GIRL TO MILLIONAIRESS."
By Mrs. Morton Powell.
WANTED, Wanted, Dates.
"FROM MILL GIRL TO MILLIONAIRESS."
Oct. 3, 10, 17.
Morton Powell, Queen's T., Farnworth, Bolton.

WANTED, June 27, July 18,
THE WILSON BARRETT
ORIGINAL VERSION
of the Famous Play,
"EAST LYNNE"
(BULLOCK VERSION),
by Arrangement with J. Pitt Hardacre.
TOM WATT'S SPECIALLY-SELECTED CO.
includes Mr. Frank Beresford as Archibald Carlyle.
Broke all records at the Theatre Royal, Belfast, week commencing April 11. Gross receipts £306, 10,040 persons paying for admission during the week. Hundreds turned away on the Saturday evening. Return date immediately booked.
The following week played to £322 at the Queen's Theatre, Dublin. Refer to Messrs. Fred Warden and F. Marriott Watson.
Note.—No one but Mr. Tom Watt has any interest whatsoever in this production, and the sole theatrical rights of this version are vested in him.
Managers requiring a sound Attraction and sure Money-maker, wire or write,
Tom Watt, 6, Adelphi-chambers, John-street, W.C.
Vacant June 27, July 18, 25, Aug. 8, 22, and on, with exceptions.
June 6, Royal, Shrewsbury.

June 20 and 27.
"THE SORROWS OF SATAN"
and
"NANA," THE RAGE OF PARIS.
WANTED, June 20 and 27, various, on,
In view of the excellent business attracted now and regularly by these plays, Miss Esmond is desirous of extending the tour, given, of course, suitable dates.
Practically the same cast for four years.
"THE SORROWS OF SATAN."
Mr. Edward Neville as Prince Lucio Rimanez (as played by him over 1,200 times),
Miss Esmond as Diana Chesney (over 1,000 times),
Miss Rosie Neville as Lady Sybil (over 500 times).
"NANA."
Miss Esmond as Rose Mignon (over 400 times),
Mr. Neville as Hector Bruneau
(a revelation in the art of impromptu),
Miss Neville as Nana (over 400 times).
Exquisite West-end and Parisian Costumes.
The Magnificent Two-manual Pipe Organ exhibited and played in both pieces.
Local organists are frequently invited to test this beautiful instrument.
Either or both plays. Once or twice nightly.
Wire, Lois Esmond,
To-day, Hippodrome, Stoke-on-Trent.
June 6, Shakespeare Theatre, Clapham.

"OUR BOYS."
WANTED, One Night, Saturday, June 11, to follow New Theatre, Oxford, and Salisbury; also weeks commencing June 13 and 20. Company: Frank M. Wood, E. A. Douglas, Cecil A. Collins, Mrs. J. W. Braithwaite, Leah Marlborough, Beatrice Whitney, Lizzie Chambers. Address, Brydon Phillips, Managers' Club, Saturday; after, New Theatre, Oxford.

"MRS. WIGGS OF THE CABBAGE PATCH."
WANTED, Aug. 22 (South), Sept. 12, 26, Oct. 31, Nov. 7, 28, Dec. 5.
Coms., Walter D. Nicholl, 106, Strand, W.C.

WANTED, for London Star, in Répertoire, June 23 (3 nights) and July 4.
Haldane Crichton, 18, Walsingham-road, Hove.

WANTED, for "The Cingalee," July 4, 11, Aug. 29, Sept. 5, Oct. 10, 17, 24, Nov. 7, 14, Xmas. Haldane Crichton, 18, Walsingham-road, Hove.

WANTED, E. Hill Mitchelson's Co., vacant, "Who is She?" Oct. 31, Nov. 14; "King and the Unknown Woman," Sept. 5, 26, Oct. 10, 31, Nov. 7.
Address, care of "The Era."

"LES CLOCHES DE CORNEVILLE."
WANTED, Aug. 11, 12, and 13, for the above to follow Llandudno.
Apply, Milton Bode, Theatre, Reading.

THE ITALIAN GRAND OPERA.
WANTED, June 20, and Aug. 8, 15, 22, and Sept. 26. Frank Yearsley, Lyceum Theatre, Sheffield.

WANTED, for the great success, "His Real Wife," and special Répertoire, Nov. 14 and Xmas, good Theatre only. T. E. Ward, Star T., Liverpool.

WANTED, for "When Other Lips" or "Life's Sweetest Sins," June 13, 20, 27, July 11.
T. Arthur Jones, T. R., Leeds.

"MAN TO MAN."
EDWARD LLOYD and CLIFFORD BOWN'S CO.
WANTED, Aug. 15, Sept. 19, Lancs. or Yorks.
Edward Lloyd, Queen-square Hotel, Bath.

WANTED, for Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kimberley's Co., "Her Secret Lover," Sept. 12, Oct. 10, 17, and Xmas. Only Vacant Dates until Spring, 1911. Refer T. W. Rowe, Esq., Palace Theatre, Newcastle. Wire for above dates. Kimberley, Alexandra, Hull

"THE 10.30 DOWN EXPRESS; OR, GUILTY GOLD."
WANTED, June 20, between Birmingham and London.
Horace Stanley, Osborne Theatre, Manchester.
Next, T. R., Aston (return).

WANTED, June 20, 27, for special twice nightly versions of "A Woman's Devotion," "Was She His Wife?" "Fight for a Throne."
Geo. A. De Gray, G. T., Stockton-on-Tees.

WANTED, Sept. 5 (N.), on, with exceptions, Nov. 7 (M.), on, with exceptions, for "The Shadow of a Crime," by Nita Rae. Walter J. Horne, Alex., Sheffield; next, King's, Sutton-in-Ashfield.

WANTED, First-class Theatres or Halls, "Robinson Crusoe," Feb. 20, 27 (Theatres), "Dick Whittington," Feb. 6, 13, March 6 (Halls), "Dick Whittington," Jan. 30, Feb. 20, on (Halls), "Cinderella," Feb. 27 (Hall or Theatre).
Address, E. Dottridge, Empire, Oldham.

WANTED, Theatres or Halls, June 13, on,
for
Ernest Dottridge's Vaudeville Co.
Wire, Dottridge, Empire, Oldham.

MISS NANNIE GOLDMAN AND CO.
in the Screamingly Funny Farcical Comedy,
"NOT BEFORE THE MISSUS!"
Shortly to be Produced in West-end Theatre.
WANTED, June 27, all July, and onward.
Wire, William Holles T. R., Bath.

THEATRES WANTED.

FRED GRANVILLE'S PRODUCTIONS, LTD.
"THE BETTER LAND."
WANTED, for this phenomenally Successful Domestic Drama,
Sept. 5, 19, 26, Oct. 3, and later.
"ANOTHER MAN'S WIFE."
Wanted for this Great Attraction,
July 11, 18, 25, Aug. 1, 15, and later.
"A HOT NIGHT."
Musical Comedy, Screamingly Funny.
Gorgeously Mounted and Dressed.
25 Performers 25.
Wanted, Good Theatres,
June 20, 27, July 4, 11, onwards.
Look out for Grand New Production,
"SHE DID IT FOR LOVE."
Re Dates, A. R. Feather, Manager, The Depository, Cazneau-street, Liverpool.
Wires, c/o "Pagoda, Liverpool."

Pantomime, 1910-11.
"BABES IN THE WOOD,"
"ALADDIN,"
"BEAUTY AND THE BEAST."
WANTED, Managers with Vacant Dates for First-class Pantomime Productions.
Communicate with
A. R. Feather,
The Depository, Cazneau-street,
Liverpool.

MISS HILDA BEVERLEY
in
"A DESTROYER OF MEN."
WANTED, June 20, to follow P. T., Bradford, and precede T. R., Leeds.
Wire for June 20.
Wire for June 20.
Miss Hilda Beverley, P. T., Blackburn.
June 6, Queen's T., Longton.

MR. AND MRS. F. G. KIMBERLEY'S
Entirely New Reproduction of
"THE POWER OF THE KING,"
By Mrs. F. G. Kimberley.
WANTED, July 25, Sept. 12, for this acknowledged success. Bookings this tour include: Alex., Birmingham; Prince's, Bradford; T. R., Leeds, Stratford, Barnsley; Palace, Newcastle, Wolverhampton, Accrington; T. R., Sheffield, Longton, Stockton; Met., Glasgow; G., Brighton; P., Portsmouth, &c. Guaranteed to be the finest mounted production on the road; all new uniforms, scenery, &c. Special cast, including Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Kimberley, Chas. Whitlock, Clavering Craig, Arthur St. John, and Edie Macklin.
Wire for July 25 to
F. G. Kimberley,
This, T. R., South Shields; next, Alex. T., Hull.

CHARLES GIBBON'S TOURS.
WANTED, for the Magnificent Production,
"ALONE IN LONDON."
"ALONE IN LONDON."
Carefully-selected Company, including
MISS NELLIE CLYDE
as Nan, the Flower Girl.
Sept. 5, 12, 19, Oct. 3, 17, and Nov. 14, only Dates Vacant.
Wanted, for the Funniest Farcical Comedy of the day,
"THE LITTLE STRANGER,"
"THE LITTLE STRANGER,"
By Michael Morton.
From the Criterion Theatre.
Only Date this year, three nights, July 28 (precede T. R., Newcastle).
Add., Chas. Gibbon, Canvey, Elm-grove, Southsea.

MR. AND MRS. ARTHUR HINTON AND TRAVIS GREEN
present their No. 1 Co. in
"HER FATAL MARRIAGE."
WANTED, June 27, August Bank Holiday, Nov. 14, Dec. 12, Xmas, Jan. 9, various, on.
JERROLD HEATHER as Zaco.
HILDA SHIRLEY as Myra.
Wire or write,
Arthur Hinton,
To-day, T. R., Chatham; Monday, T. R., Woolwich.

MR. BULMER'S ENTERPRISES.
"THE GIRL WHO WENT ASTRAY."
"THE GIRL WHO WENT ASTRAY."
"THE GIRL WHO WENT ASTRAY."
The Drama that is averaging £200 a week.
Three weeks' receipts exceed £1,000.
Vacant Oct. 10, Dec. 5, Xmas.
Vacant Oct. 10, Dec. 5, Xmas.
"THE TYRANT."
"THE TYRANT."
"THE TYRANT."
(By arrangement with Miss Marie Dagmar.)
WANTED, Aug. 1, on, with exceptions.
Fred Bulmer,
Managers' Club, Savoy-mansions, London, W.C.

MR. J. LINDSAY ELLIS presents
"LIGHTS OUT."
WANTED, Dates, July 28, onwards. Special London Co. Entire New Production.
Address, 101, Rylston-road, Fulham.

THE GREAT RAYMOND,
THE GREAT RAYMOND,
THE GREAT RAYMOND,
THE GREAT RAYMOND,
THE GREAT RAYMOND,
The Globe-trotting Fun-maker and Illusionist.
Enormous success of First British Tour.
Records Broken Everywhere.
The Biggest, Brightest, Most Elaborate, and Costly Magical Performance ever Toured. Five completely different two-hour Programmes. Gorgeous Stage Settings of Gold, Silver, Silk, and Plush. Special Scenery. The finest variety of five-colour Lithographic Posters in the World, all sizes. Twenty People. Twenty Tons of Equipment. Creating a positive Furore everywhere.
Weekly Press Verdicts:—
The finest performance ever seen in the town.
He is the most natural performer in the world.
Such an entertainment has never been seen before.
WANTED, Known, Raymond will be pleased to hear from Managers of Theatres, Halls, and First-class Piers having open time.
A few Summer Dates Vacant.
ALL COMMUNICATIONS,
MAURICE F. RAYMOND,
Proprietor and Manager.
En route, or care of "The Era."
Let it be distinctly understood that the name RAYMOND means big business, and nothing is spared to keep up the BREAKING OF RECORDS.
Enormous success of First British Tour.
THE GREAT RAYMOND.
THE GREAT RAYMOND,
THE GREAT RAYMOND,
THE GREAT RAYMOND,
THE GREAT RAYMOND,
June 6, Queen's Park Hippodrome, Manchester.

ARTISTS WANTED.

G. CARLTON WALLACE CO'S.
WANTED, First-class Artists for Autumn Tours, including Leading Ladies, Leading Juveniles, Heavy and Character Gentlemen, Light Comedians, Aristocratic Dames, Responsibles, Child Actress (over 14). Send recent photographs, age, height, terms, and references, 27, Goldersgardens, Golder's Green, N.W. No interviews except by appointment.

WANTED, for "The Cingalee," Boobhamba and Bass Chorister.
Haldane Crichton, 18, Walsingham-road, Hove.

WANTED, for Stock, good Responsible Men, Comedian, Chambermaid, and Child, rehearse Tuesday, open June 13. James Elphinstone, Lyceum Theatre, Stafford.

WANTED, a Lady and Gentleman to play Small Parts. Must be cultured and refined.
A. G. Smith-Neill, Theatre R., Plymouth.

WANTED, for "The Thief," Leading Lady for Marise. Must be young, pretty, and thoroughly experienced. Full particulars, photo, salary, A. Limpus, Opera House, Londonderry.

ARTISTS WANTED.

THE ALEXANDER MARSH SHAKESPEAREAN TOUR. Gen.-Manager, Mr. Albert Cavanah.
WANTED, for three special weeks, in the Lancashire district, open June 27, rehearse June 20, Child Actress of 14, must be very small and look about 10, also speak in a refined voice.
Address (letters only),
Albert Cavanah, 63, King-street, Southport.

WANTED, Young Amateur Lady to play small part and understudy; must give one month's services, after which, if suitable, small salary.
Address, with photograph and full particulars,
Robert Hewland, King's T., Sutton-in-Ashfield.

WANTED, for Autumn Tour, a First-class Actor, for Blind Farmer part in "His Real Wife," and Répertoire. Full particulars, references, photos., T. E. Ward, Star Theatre, Liverpool.

WANTED, First-class Low Comedian, Stock Season, Twice Nightly; rehearse Tuesday.
Terms and references,
Stanley Rogers, Theatre Royal, North Shields.

"PASSION OF LIFE" CO.
WANTED, short Cockney Comedian, rehearse Oldham Monday, must be steady and reliable. Lowest terms, full particulars and references, Hubert Helliwell, Empire T., Oldham.

WANTED, Amateur Gentleman, to play small part, understudy, and learn management, £25 premium, returned in salary, first-class Company, long Tour booked. All particulars, Manager, 19, Rumford-road, Manchester.

WANTED, a few Gentleman to Walk On in Sketch, for week of June 6.
Apply, C. Clarke, Stage-Manager, Olympia, Shoreditch, Stage Door, Saturday, 3 to 5.

ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Known, Combine Tuition in Stage Dancing (on stage) with Holiday.
Sandgate House, facing Sea, Sandgate.

WANTED, by Contralto, Summer Work, Piers, Concert Parties, &c., large rep., high class, ballad, opera, sacred. Stuart, 25, Devonshire-place, Brighton.

WANTED, Summer Engagement, by The Druids, Male Concert Party (twenty in number), Wales Premier Prizewinners. For dates, terms, &c., apply, E. T. Williams, Sec., Resolven, South Wales.

PANTOMIME ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Panto., Babs Lloyd, Principal Girl, last season with Milton Bode, Esq., at Grand Theatre, Wolverhampton. Address, Theatre Royal, Ilkeston.

PANTOMIME ARTISTS WANTED.

FRED GRANVILLE'S PRODUCTIONS, LTD.
PANTOMIMES, 1910-11.
"BABES IN THE WOOD."
"ALADDIN."
"BEAUTY AND THE BEAST."
WANTED, Artists in all Lines. Full particulars, terms, references, and where can be seen working next six weeks, to A. R. Feather, Manager, The Depository, Cazneau-street, Liverpool. Mark Envelopes "Panto."

WANTED, Principal Boys, Principal Girls, Comedians of repute, Knockabouts, Demon Kings, Vocal Quartettes, Speciality Dancers, &c., &c., for First-class Panto. Houses. Lowest terms, height, age, experience, fullest particulars,
SMYTHSON'S AGENCY,
38, Craster-road,
Brixton Hill, London, S.W.

WANTED, for Various Pantomimes, Principals in all Lines.
Male and Female Chorus.
Particulars to E. Dottridge, Empire, Oldham.

SCENIC ARTISTS WANTED.

WANTED, Scenic Artists, Theatre Managers, &c., to write for Leete's Catalogue of Colours, Varnishes, Painting Brushes, and every requisite for Scene Painting and Theatre Decoration. The fullest range of colours in the trade. A. Leete and Co., 129, London-rd., Southwark, S.E.

STAFFORDSHIRE COUNTY COUNCIL.
CHEDDLETON, LEEK.
WANTED, Scene Painter, to act as Attendant, must have exemplary character and references. Permanent post and pension for suitable man. Age not over 35. Salary commences at £40 per annum, with prospect of increase to £60, together with board, lodgings (£10 rent money in lieu if married), washing and uniform, estimated at £40 per annum (£38 if single). Salary and emoluments subject to deduction of 2 per cent towards pension. Applications, with full particulars and references to the Medical Superintendent.

SCENIC ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Scenery, Contracts, Productions, Our Paint Frames, 40 by 34 Theatres completely fitted with Scenery, Ropes, Blocks, Cleats, &c. Estimates and Designs submitted free. Scenery bought and exchanged. Fred Wilkins and Bro., Ltd., 27-35, Duke-street, Liverpool. Telegrams, "Theatrical."

WANTED, Known, Scenery, Properties, Profile Boards.
Bernasconi's, Ltd., Scenic Artists,
41, Gore-street, Liverpool. Tel. 732 Royal.

SCENERY.
WANTED, Contracts for Scenery, Pantomimes, Dramas, Sketches, &c.
Reasonable terms. Estimates free.
Townsend and Co., Rotunda Theatre, Liverpool.

SCENERY OR PROPERTIES.
WANTED, Contracts, New or Secondhand, Hire or Purchase. Largest stock in London. Estimates free. Sharp, 272, St. James-road, Old Kent-road. Tel., 497 Hop.

WANTED, Contracts for Painting Scenery, First-class Work guaranteed. Cecil E. Hicks, Painting Room, Princess's Theatre, Oxford-street, London, W.

WANTED, Known, Theatrical Advertising Curtains, designed, painted, and written. Distance no object. Real good showy work. Will Molesworth, Shirley, Warwickshire.

WANTED, Known, F. E. Boden's New Scene-painting Rooms are at 196, High-street, Merton. Four Paint Frames. Any size Contract accepted. 'Phone, 919 P.O. Wimbledon.

WANTED, Known, Sidney Beltram, completed engs. with "Her Fatal Marriage" Co. and Hippo., Sheerness. Now at Grand, Brighton. Engagements wanted. Refer.

WANTED, by Philip Small, Scenic Artist, Engagement or Contract. Town or Provinces. Address, 16, Salisbury-terrace, Winter-st., Sheffield.

MISCELLANEOUS.

WANTED, a Smart Manager, for New Theatre, age 25 to 35 years; well accustomed to the work; must have good references.
Apply at once,
R. Slater Windle,
People's Palace Theatre, Barnoldswick.

WANTED, a smart young man, to take charge of a department in connection with Theatrical Printing; must have had good experience in this class of work. State age, salary required, and full particulars, Box 7,795, "The Era" Office.

WANTED, a Smart Young Gentleman, as Assistant Manager for a Popular Seaside Resort (North) for Three months. Credentials of the highest order required. Can offer an interest to gentleman of good position.
Lowest salary, &c., to Manager, 53, Waverley-road, Southsea.

MISCELLANEOUS.

WANTED, for Autumn Tour, competent Wardrobe Mistress, able to cut and make; also Practical Carpenter. State experience, references, and lowest salary by letter, Bertram, 8, Rupert-court.

WANTED, an Energetic, Capable, and Experienced Manager for a London Variety Agency. Some knowledge of foreign languages desirable. Strictest testimonials as to character required. Apply, stating remuneration, &c., required, to Box 7,816, "The Era."

WANTED, appointment, by experienced Lady (30), as Secretary or Manageress, Seaside preferred; highest references; capable of any responsible post. Address, Box 7,813, "The Era."

WANTED, Management, by energetic experienced London Manager of Provincial Hall or Theatre; excellent references. Manager, 39, Perham-road, London, W.

WANTED, Known, F. Watson, Stage Manager, Disengaged shortly, Variety preferred. Good offers invited; 13 years' experience. Address, Palace, Durham.

WANTED, Situation as Assistant-Manager, Doorsman, or any position of trust, at a Pier or Pavilion at the Seaside, by a smart, gentlemanly man, used to the business; excellent references. Alpha, 8, Scarsdale-terrace, Kensington, W.

WANTED, by Smart Working Manager, a Change; 17 years' experience in good fully licensed Dramatic and Variety Houses. Up-to-date in Dramatic and Variety Bookings. Expert advertiser, control bars, staff, &c. Manager, 66, Ohney-road, Rusholme, Manchester.

WANTED, by T. W. Artley, late Manager Crown Pictures, Newcastle, similar position, Assistant-Manager or Lecturer; fluent speaker and practical. 80, Stone-st., Newcastle-on-Tyne.

WANTED, Known, well-known Provincial Actor, open to invest any sound concern, Theatre or West End Tour. Communications strictly confidential. Box 7,800, "The Era."

WANTED, Known, John Gill, the Working Advance Agent, Liberty now and autumn; good references. 16, Upper Sutton-st., Aston, Birmingham.

WANTED, by Foreman Billposter, Position take charge Branch, London and Provincial experience; excellent refs. Box 7,754, "The Era."

WANTED, Engagement, by First-class Working Electrician, up to every description Theatrical Work, also Cinematograph Operator, Disengaged. Reference from County Council. Dento, 205, Victoria-street, Westminster.

MUSICIANS WANTED.

WANTED for Autumn Tour, commencing July 30, a competent Conductor. Apply by letter, enclosing photo., stating experience, references, and lowest terms, Bertram, 8, Rupert-court, W.

WANTED, Principal Cornet, first-class Variety Theatre, good opening for first-class man.
Apply, with testimonials,
Box 7,812, "The Era."

WANTED, good Solo Cornet, Shares, weekly subsidy from Corporation, good business; comfortable shop. Hosking, Adelaide Cottage, Penzance.

WANTED, Cornet Player, must be good, Band Royal Marines, Chatham Division. Apply sharp, Mr. C. Hoby, A.R.C.M., L.R.A.M., Bandmaster.

WANTED, Solo Clarionet Player, for a good Line Regiment at home, excellent opportunity for good man, age between 20 and 25.
Apply at once to
No. 133, c/o Hawkes and Son,
Denman-street,
Piccadilly-circus, London.

WANTED, good Third Clarionet, Municipal Military Band, June 20 to Sept. 18, at Winter Gardens. Terms, references, to Mr. E. Holland, 44, Salisbury-road, Great Yarmouth.

WANTED, good Bassoon for Amateur Orchestra, London; also French Horn and Tenor Trombone; work found; residents in or near London preferred. Apply, stating age (must be under 35 years) and qualifications, to Box 7,796, "The Era."

WANTED, good Bombardon Player or Side Drummer, as an Attendant in a County Asylum; salary commencing £34, increasing to £48, all found, single man. Apply, with copies of testimonials, to Grainger, County Asylum, Stafford.

WANTED, Euphonium, at Once, for Pitching. Terms, shares. B. M., 69, Carlisle-street, Edgware-road, London, N.W.

WANTED, good experienced French Hornist; must be reliable in all particulars; Seaside Engagement till beginning of Oct. Box 7,810, "The Era."

WANTED, Violoncello, in Orchestra, experienced; ten weeks, commence July 4.
Three Concerts Daily (one Sundays).
Seaside Pavilion, East Coast. Particulars, age, terms, &c., Box 7,814, "The Era."

WANTED, Lady Flute and Piccolo, for season Engagement, thoroughly competent soloist essential. Apply, Henderson, 18, Sefton-street, Southport.

WANTED, Young Gentleman Pianist, used to Al-Fresco. State age, particulars, letter only. Farley Maple, 55, Hunter-st., Bloomsbury, W.C.

LONDON COUNTY ASYLUM, COLNEY HATCH, NEW SOUTHGATE, N.
WANTED, Musician Attendants, must be good performers on the Euphonium and Bombardon. Candidates must be single, aged 22 to 35 years; salary £31 a year for first six months, then, if satisfactory, rising to £33 a year, with board, lodging, washing, and uniform; after 12 months' service (from date of confirmation) the wages rise by £1 a year to £43 a year. Special payments for band practices and performances. Attendants are pensionable under the Asylums Officers' Superannuation Act, 1909. Daily leave (subject to convenience of service), 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. Weekly leave one whole day and one half-day per week. Annual leave, for first fifteen months (after nine months' service), 6 days; the following 12 months, 12 days; each successive 12 months, 14 days. Forms of application can be obtained from the Medical Superintendent, Colney Hatch Asylum, New Southgate, N.

TENDERS.
GRAND CONSERVATIVE FETE,
ERLEIGH COURT, READING.
AUGUST BANK HOLIDAY.
WANTED, Tenders for Band of about thirty performers; also for the Right of ROUNDABOUTS AND SIDE SHOWS.
W. J. Monger, Hon. Sec.,
99, Wokingham-road, Reading.

WANTED, First-class Lady Musicians, for Ladies' Orchestra (those able to do turn preferred) for long Irish Tour, commencing Aug. 15.
References, terms, photo to
Dr. Ormonde, 3, Cathedral-ter., Armagh, Ireland.

WANTED, Leader and every instrument, for String Band (flat pitch), principal Soloists, June 21 to Sept. 30, Hamburg, double-handed preferred, trial expected London; thoroughly experienced, smart musicians (absolutely useless otherwise). Send details, lowest, Director, 92, West End-lane, London, N.W.

WANTED, for Duffy's Circus, tenting, Ireland, Good Musicians, must be steady.
Duffy, Cappawhite, Limerick.

WANTED, good Leader, Violins, 'Cello, Clarionet, Flute, Bass, Cornets, Trombone, used to Variety. Alberto Solloway's Orchestras, 26, Dynevor-road, London.

WANTED, Instrumentalists for Summer Season, at Ilfracombe and Burnham, Orchestral Bands. State terms and references; open July 11 and 18. Ford, Band Offices, Ilfracombe.

MUSICIANS WANTED.

WANTED, First Horn, Bassoon, B Flat Clarionets (double handed preferred), July 4, 8 or 10 weeks. Age, terms, refs., BELLERBY, Council Offices, Ilkley.

WANTED, Musicians who experience difficulty in obtaining copies of "The Era" at any of Messrs. Smith and Son's Bookstalls, or from any Newsagent in the United Kingdom, to kindly communicate with the PUBLISHER, "The Era" Buildings, 5, Tavistock-street, Strand, W.C.

MUSICIANS' WANTS.

WANTED, by Conductor (à la Continental) or Leader, Seaside Engagement. Photo, refs. C., 8, Grafton-square, Clapham, London.

WANTED, Engagement as Conductor, Pianist-Conductor or Violin, any business, open immediately. CONDUCTOR, 391D, Mile End-rd., London.

WANTED, by experienced Conductor, Engagement in a First-class Music Hall, used to Lightning Programme, London or Suburbs preferred. Box 7,788, "The Era."

WANTED, Engagement, Sydney Davies, smart and thoroughly up-to-date conductor (violin), any business, highest refs. Finish to-night 4½ years Ipswich Hippo. Previous, Palace, Derby; Palace, Dudley; Hippo., Coventry; Palace, Cork. Wire, 12, Providence-street, Ipswich.

WANTED, Harry Petersen, late Conductor, 6½ years, Palace, Walthamstow, open for engagements, Conductor or Piano-Conductor. 75, Effra-road, Brixton, S.W.

WANTED, Known, smart Conductor, Leader, or First Violin, Disengaged; extensive library; highest references. WILFRED BALL, 50, Tunnel-road, Wavertree, Liverpool.

WANTED, Known, Mus.-Dir., Moss and Stoll Empires, at Liberty to receive first-class offers; highest references; complete library. MUSICAL-DIRECTOR, 29, Winifred-grove, Clapham Common, S.W.

WANTED, Engagement as Musical Director, First or Second Violin, any business. A. KID, Palace, Porth.

WANTED, by Musical-Director, Violinist, Theatre, Music Hall, or Summer Engagement; can supply band. CONDUCTOR, 6, Wendel-road, Shepherd's Bush, W.

WANTED, Known, Miss Beatrice Westall, First Violin and Viola, Disengaged. 48, Montpelier-road, Peckham, London, S.E.

WANTED, Engagement, as Leader or First Violin, any business; good refs. CHENEY, Royal County Theatre, Bedford.

WANTED, through Hippodrome closing, position as Leader or First Violin. Steady and reliable. J. MARSH, 7, Garthland-lane, Paisley.

WANTED, Engagement by Competent Violinist as Leader, First Violin or Second. Theatre, Variety, or any Business. Also First-class Pianist. Both at Liberty through closing. F. H. BRIDGWATER, Drews Holloway, Halesowen, near Birmingham.

WANTED, Engagement as Leader or First Violin, experienced and reliable. Excellent references. Any business. TAYLOR, Central Pier, Morecambe.

WANTED, an Engagement as Leader or First Violin; thoroughly experienced and reliable; can open at once. HEAP, 55, Cog-street, Burnley.

WANTED, by experienced First Violinist, Re-engagement, open Monday, anywhere; abstainer; good refs. PHIPPS, c/o Clements, 176, Gt. George-street, Glasgow.

WANTED, Engagement by Violinist, Seaside or London. Steady and reliable. Excellent refs. A. SHIPMAN, 91A, St. Martin's-lane, London, W.C.

WANTED, Engagement, by Violinist, Liberty June 6, distance no object; experienced all lines; abstainer. HENDERSON, 77, St. George's-road, Glasgow.

WANTED, Engagement, as Violin, any business; can open at once. THOMAS PASS, 5, Baker-street, Reading.

WANTED, Engagement, First Violin, Young, Experienced. Write, VIOLINIST, 6, Sharples Hall-street, Regent's Park-road, N.W.

WANTED, Engagement as Violin or Viola, any business. KIRKMAN, 120, Albert-road, Blackpool.

WANTED, Engagement by Experienced Violinist, through closing. J. H. DIXON, Temperance Hall, Merthyr Tydfil.

WANTED, Summer Engagement, by experienced Violin; would accept tour. Apply, V. R. CHALDER, Grand Theatre, Croydon.

WANTED, Engagement, by steady Violinist, First or Répétiteur, any business, first-class refs.; Dis. through closing. VIOLINIST, 25, Messenger-street, Nelson.

WANTED, Known, Miss Ida Angless, Solo and Orchestral Cornet, Disengaged. Address, 61, Dumbarton-road, Brixton Hill, S.W.

WANTED, Known, reliable Cornet, Disengaged, also French Horn and 'Cello; London only. CORNET, 30, Coronation-buildings, South Lambeth-road, Vauxhall.

WANTED, Engagement as Cornet, First or Second, experienced, any business; can open at once. ROBSON, 2, Waterhouse-terrace, Upper Kirkgate, Halifax.

WANTED, Re-engagement by Cornet, as First or Second, any business. G. TURNIDGE, 31, Portland-street, Stepney, London, E.

WANTED, Engagement as Cornet, any business, sober, reliable, good references, or can supply good Brass Band, any number; splendid uniforms, good répertoire. HIRST, Bandmaster, 54, Waterworks-street, Aston, Birmingham.

WANTED, Engagement, by Cornet, experienced any business, First or Second. LONG, 15, Anley-road, W. Kensington; Monday, Tunn-street, Fakenham, Norfolk.

WANTED, Engagement, First or Second Cornet. Steady, Reliable, any business. Excellent refs. H. WILSON, c/o G.P.O., Edinburgh.

WANTED, Engagement by Cornet Player, any business. Good references. Start any time. J. STEAD, 2, Wellcroft-place, Glasgow, S.S.

WANTED, Engagement, Cornet; Vacant through closing. Wire, CORNET, Hippodrome, Norwich. After to-night, 9, Belhaven-street, Grove-road, London, E.

WANTED, an Engagement as a Brilliant First-class Cornet Soloist and Trumpet; late Soloist Crystal Palace, Queen's Hall. Can commence at once, Seaside or Town, Military or Orchestral. Wire or write, SOLOIST, 41, Byrne-road, Balham, S.W.

WANTED, Engagement, by First-class Cornetist; any Business; strictly attentive and reliable; young. J. H. FOXHALL, 28, Pwllgwaun-road, Pontypridd.

WANTED, Known, Miss Lizzie Hepper, Clarionet and Mando.ine Soloist, thoroughly experienced, Disengaged. Note change of address, 129, Mirabel-road, Fulham.

WANTED, by Young Man, Engagement as B Flat Clarionet Player, Second or Third. SANDISON, 89, Elmhurst-mansions, Edgeley-road, Clapham, S.W.

WANTED, Engagement, or Deputising, through closing, by good Clarionet, sober and reliable, any business; good refs. J. MAYO, 48, Claret-street, Accrington, Lancashire.

WANTED, Engagement as Clarionet, thoroughly experienced, Military or Orchestral. Sober and reliable; good refs. FRED MATTHEWS, Leicester-road, Oadby, Leicester.

WANTED, Known, Mr. Willie Matthews, Princ. Clarionet, Austrian Band, Folkestone, Spa, Whitby, &c.; open for Summer Season. MATTHEWS, Bandmaster, Cardiff.

WANTED, Engagement as Clarionet, experienced and competent, and up to the business. JOE HEATH, 5, Sandhurst-place, Bedford.

WANTED, Known, Miss Grace Nicholls, Double Bass, is at Liberty to accept Engagements, any business. 74, Cowley-road, Ilford.

MUSICIANS' WANTS.

WANTED, by Miss Mabel Curtis, Contra Bass, Summer Season, concluded ten months' eng.; experienced. Per., 64, Rice-lane, Egremont, Cheshire.

WANTED, by Bassoon, Engagement, any business, disengaged through closing; good refs. T. HOPKINS, Upper-street, Fleet, Hants.

WANTED, Engagement, Double Bass, town or country. Address, BASSO, 42, Hereward-road, Tooting, S.W.

WANTED, Known, Bassoon Player would join good-class Territorial Band; wants Sunday work. G. M. WRIGHT, 15, Bloom-gr., W. Norwood.

WANTED, Engagement by thoroughly experienced Contra Bassist, at Liberty June 12; highest references. Address, WILL DARLEY, Promenade Concerts, Birmingham.

WANTED, by First-class Bassoonist, Summer or Permanent Engagement. Apply, MARTIN, 14, Middle-street, Brighton.

WANTED, Double Bass, Engagement, steady, reliable, good refs.; can open at once. H. HARE, 43, Great Western-st., Moss-side, Manchester.

WANTED, Engagement, by Double Bass, experienced, any business; sea trip not objected to. DICKEN, Parker's-terrace, Basford, Stoke-on-Trent.

WANTED, Re-engagement, by experienced Double Bass. References. W. SMITH, c/o P.O., Potterne, Devizes.

WANTED, Known, Double Bass, all-round Experience, thoroughly reliable. Open to accept engagement at once. R. B., 19 The Green, Richmond-on-Thames.

WANTED, Engagement by Good Experienced Trombonist, through closing, Orchestra or Military. Wire or write, J. GREENDALE, 92, Chapel Field-road, Norwich.

WANTED, Known, Trombone, at Liberty, any business, good refs. W. CLIMER, 4, Commercial-road, Bedford.

WANTED, Engagement, by First-class Trombone, any business; excellent references. Address, TROMBONE, 28, York-street, Lower Broughton, Manchester.

WANTED, Known, Trombone, At Liberty June 6. BEN HENDEN, 56, Leighton-road, Cheltenham.

WANTED, Engagement by Charles Banwell, Trombone, any business. Abstainer, strictly attentive to business. London experience. 76, Miskin-road, Tonypandy, South Wales.

WANTED, Engagement, by experienced Trombone, Military or Orchestral; good refs. T. S., 16, Rosemount-place, Aberdeen, N.B.

WANTED, Known, Solo Trombone, at Liberty. Address, TROMBONIST, 83, Northcote-avenue, Southall.

WANTED, by Solo Euphonium or Trombone, Engagement. Experienced, excellent refs. Write or wire, EUPHO. and TROM., 46, Gladstone-street, London-road, S.E.

WANTED, by Euphonium, Engagement, any business; can open at once. CHAS. GRICE, c/o Wilson, Theatre-buildings, Kirkcaldy, N.B.

WANTED, by good Euphonium, Engagement, any business, thoroughly experienced, reliable; sober; good refs. JOHN STONE, 20, Old Orchard-street, Bath.

WANTED, Engagement, by E Flat Bombardon, first-class experience. BOMBARDON, 24, Hoxton-road, Torquay.

WANTED, by good Bombardon, Liberty June 11; good ref. BARBER, 25, Lord Nelson-street, Liverpool.

WANTED, Engagement, by French Horn, any Business. F. H., 16, Victoria-grove, Kensington, W.

WANTED, an Engagement as 'Celloist, Theatre or Variety Business. Good refs. Thoroughly experienced. Box 7,801, "The Era."

WANTED, by 'Cello, Engagement on Deputising, any business or solo. Age 30, good refs. Would combine Clarionet. SORTIN, 65, Torren's-building, City-road, E.C.

WANTED, Known, 'Cello, Disengaged; experienced; good references. Address, 'CELLO, 37, Cobbold-road, Forest Gate, London, E.

WANTED, Engagement, Viola, Theatre, Varieties, Seaside or Deputising, at Lib. June 13, through closing. Address, GEO. LITTLEWOOD, Palace Orchestra, Reading.

WANTED, Summer Engagement, Viola, Second Violin, in Ladies' Orchestra. Box 7,791, "The Era."

WANTED, Engagements as Viola or Piano, Second Violin, at Liberty through closing, any business. J. BROWN, Theatre Royal, Leamington Spa.

WANTED, Re-engagement, by Oboe. G. W. WEBB, 50, Kennington Park-road, S.E.

WANTED, by First-class Oboeist, Disengaged through Theatre closing, Engagement; experienced in all lines. J. WRIGHT, 18, Windsor-st., Hanley.

WANTED, by First-class Oboe, Re-engagement. Could combine Violin. Address, ZELL, 38, Ouseley-road, Balham, S.W.

WANTED, Known, Solo Flute and Piccolo, at Liberty during summer months as deputy, for any period.

Box 7803, "The Era."

WANTED, Known, well-known Solo Flute and Piccolo, high-class Orchestral or Military, French pitch instruments, genuine performer, reliable; reasons for advertising. Box 7799, "The Era."

WANTED, by Flute and Piccolo, Engagement, Orchestra or Military; thoroughly experienced; sober and reliable. CULLEN, 9, Woodford-terrace, Pavilion-road, Worthing.

WANTED, by experienced and reliable Flautist, through closing of Theatre, Engagement, good Piccolo Soloist. FLAUTIST, 93, Narbonne-avenue, Clapham Common.

WANTED, by Flute and Clarionet, Engagement, together or separate. Experienced. Any business; good refs. ROMEREL, 33, Mimosa-street, Fulham.

WANTED, Engagement, as Flute and Piccolo, terminating twelfth season Royal, Bedford, June 4; excellent references. D. NEEDHAM, 76, Marlborough-road, Bedford.

WANTED, Re-engagement, by Lady Pianist, experienced Orchestral, Dramatic, Pictures, Variety; experienced accompanist. PIANIST, 28, Glenfield-road, Balham, London, S.W.

WANTED, Engagement, by Miss Fanny Grossman, Pianist. Thanks for offers; engaged Japan-British Exhibition. Coms., perm. address, 355, High-road, Chiswick.

WANTED, Known, Lady (young), brilliant pianist, singer, and accompanist, excellent reader. Disengaged. Summer. Miss THISTLEWOOD, 91, Ryland-road, Edgbaston, Birmingham.

WANTED, Engagement, in London, by Smart Young Lady Pianist. Accompanist to professional or orchestra. Miss F., 1, South Park-road, Wimbledon.

WANTED, by Brilliant Solo Pianist and Accompanist, Seaside Engagement, Concert Orchestra, or First-class Concert Party; last season New Spa, Bridlington. Address, A., 50, Wiltshire-road, Brixton.

WANTED, Engagement, Orchestral Pianist and Double Bass; good references. CLARK, 23, Lebanon-road, Croydon. 'Phone 835 P.O., Croydon.

WANTED, by First-class Pianist, Concert Engagements, London district. Agents offered 10 per cent. commission for engagement. SAUNDERS, 32, Maldon-road, Acton.

WANTED, Summer Engagement, by Experienced Pianist, Solo, Orchestral and Accompanist, seaside preferred. FRED HOOTON, 14, Clarendon-st., Nottingham.

WANTED, Engagement, by Double Drummer, Tympani, Glockenspiel Soloist or Xylophone. The best references. Box 7,785, "The Era."

MUSICIANS' WANTS.

WANTED, Known, Mr. E. Holland, Conductor Municipal Orchestra, Winter Gardens, Great Yarmouth, wishes to recommend an excellent Pianist, Disengaged June 20.

WANTED, by Pianist, Engagement, Al-fresco or any Business; Refined Songs at the Piano; at Lib. 13th. BERT BEATTIE, 35, Hanover-square, Bradford.

WANTED, by the Weston-super-Mare Town Band, young, reliable, experienced Double Drummer, all effects. State lowest terms. W. PFAFF, Bandmaster.

WANTED, Re-engagement, through Rink Closing, as Double Drums and Effects. Good references and total abstainer. R. E. MURPHY, 2, Dunkirk-street, Leicester.

WANTED, Engagement as Double Drummer, Tymps., with effects, at Liberty through closing, any business. E. CLOUGH, Theatre Royal, Leamington Spa.

WANTED, Known, Disengaged for Short Season through closing Tymps. and Drums; any business; highest references. EVANS, 63, Seaford-street, Shelton, Stoke-on-Trent.

WANTED, Engagement, Drummer, any Business; excellent refs.; out through closing. Write or wire, ADES, 57, Brookfield-road, Kingston, Portsmouth.

WANTED, Engagement, Double Drums and Effects, thoroughly experienced, any business. Attentive and reliable. DRUMS, 162, Great Knollys-street, Reading.

WANTED, Engagement by Experienced Double Drums and Effects, own Tympani. DRUMS, 5, Beardell-street, Upper Norwood, London, S.E.

WANTED, Engagement as Double Drums and Effects. Liberty now or season. Experienced, sober, reliable. Any business. 27, Towson-street, Liverpool.

WANTED, Engagements, Celebrated Ladies' Poppy Orchestras and Singers, from Brighton, Southport, Ramsgate Piers, Olympia, &c. Scarlet costume. 19, Bedford-place, Brighton.

THE RED ROSE ORCHESTRA.
MANTON-MYATT FAMILY.

WANTED, Known, just concluded highly successful Engagements at Royal Pier Pavilion Aberystwyth, Pontypridd, &c., now at Exeter and Exmouth, and fully Booked till Autumn.
One of the very best small orchestras before the public.—Vide Press.
All enquiries,
Madame MANTON-MYATT,
28, Rosendale-road, West Dulwich, S.E.

WANTED, Engagements for Madame Angless's Celebrated Orchestra of Ladies, vacant Summer. Great success New Britannia Pier, Great Yarmouth (nine consecutive seasons). Smart Costumes, up-to-date Répertoire. 61, Dumbarton-road, Brixton Hill, S.W.

WANTED, Known, Celebrated Ladies' Cremona Orchestra, including Vocalists, &c.; smart uniform; any business. DOROTHEA A. VINCENT, 8, Grafton-sq., Clapham, S.W. 'Phone 990 Battersea.

WANTED, Good Agents for the English tour of the Italian Royal Piedmont Hussars, Military Band and Orchestra. MUSICAL DIRECTOR, R. P. H. Banda-Orchestra, Valenza (Torino), Italy.

WANTED, Engagement, by the White Rose Ladies' Orchestra. Particulars. KENT, 23, Moring-road, London, S.W.

WANTED, Known, Imperial Ladies' Orchestras, Vocalists, Bells, &c.; established 1890. Directress, Madame NELLIE BAKER, 114, Woodlands-road, Ilford. 'Phone 877 Ilford.

WANTED, Seaside Engagement for Miss Kathleen Wolseley's Quartette, Les Dames Blanches (violins, 'cello, piano), Leader, Medallist R.A.M., R.C.M., extensive répertoire. 88 Chichele-road, Cricklewood.

WANTED, Engagements for Ladies' Orchestra or Trio. For terms and vacant dates, apply Mme. SILVESTRE, 84, Cavendish-place, Eastbourne.

WANTED, Engagements for Wilson's Famous Military and String Bands. Handsome Uniform, latest music, seaside, exhibitions, &c. Write for booklet. J. WILSON, Bandmaster, Queen's Own Oxfordshire Hussars, 40, Outram-road, Alexandra Park, London, N.

WANTED, Shops for J. Guy's Imperial Military Bands, Smart Uniforms, Classical Rep. Terms low. 99 Ashley-street, Birmingham. Engaged for Merton Rink again next season.

WANTED, Known, First-class Band, at Liberty through closing, splendid uniforms, military or string, up to date répertoire, any business, special Rink Combination, any number of performers. DIRECTOR, 58, Elgin-avenue, W.

WANTED, Short Season Engagement, by small Brass or Military Band, just finishing nine months' engagement at Clifton; booked for re-opening Sept. Smart Uniform, good Library; first-class testimonials. W. DURRANT, Arcade, Bristol.

WANTED, by the Royal Bohemian Band, six, to any number, Exhibitions, Theatres, Pictures, &c. Uniforms or evening dress. 17, Rodney-street, Wigan.

WANTED, Engagement, by the Bersaglieri's Band; short or long period. Particulars, terms, apply, BANDMASTER, 74, Florence-road, Brighton.

WANTED, Engagement, by good Orchestral Band, eight to twelve performers, any business, vacant June 18. Apply, FRED MANN, 60, Falkner-street, Gloucester.

WANTED, Engagement, by Orchestra of Eight or upwards; good library, any business. Liberty Monday. F. DRAKE, 3, William-street, Rugby.

WANTED, commence at once, Engagement for Band of six or more, expert musicians, splendid Répertoire. Apply, S. TYAS, M.-D., Primrose Hill, Huddersfield.

WANTED, Engagement, Instrumental Trio, Violin, 'Cello, and Piano, Solo Artists, Disengaged July 30; can also include Songs, Duets, Recitations in Programme, or could supply small Band, Pier, Hotel, Pavilion, or Concert Party; excellent Press Notices and references. A. B., 11, Lancaster-road, Brighton.

WANTED, Known, small Orchestral Band (five performers), Disengaged June 11; open for Engagement. Apply, GREGORY, Rink, Doncaster.

CIRCUS ARTISTS WANTED.

YARMOUTH HIPPODROME.
Summer Season.

WANTED, Water Novelties, High Divers and Swimmers, good Equestrian Act and Animal Shows.
Say where can be seen and actual lowest terms.
GEO. ZALVA,
Clydesdale, 29, Villa-road, Brixton, S.W.
Seen by appointment only.

WANTED, Circus Artists, all Lines, good Aerial or Ground Acts. Also Two Ladies, to work songs and dances. Double turns preferred. No fancy salary. Address, CIRCUS MANAGER, c/o Post Office, Dublin.

WANTED, for Alexandra's Circus, Tenting. Good Novelty Act, with Drawing Power; also Useful Circus Artists, a good Stud Groom (single man); can commence at once. Address, D. TAYLOR, JUN., Circus, Sat., Altrincham, Cheshire; Mon., Earlstown, Lancs.; Tues., Ormskirk, Lanca

WANTED, for Duff's Circus, tenting, Ireland, good Novelty Acts. Five months' Tour. DUFFY, Circus, Cappawhite, Co. Limerick.

WANTED, at Once, for Travelling Circus, two Barebacked Horse Riders and Clever Artists. Apply, RINTOUL, Dunfermline.

WANTED, Cirque Pinder, France, a few good steady grooms to start at once. Address, June 5, 6, St. Etienne; 9th, 10th, 11th, 12th, 13th, Clermont, Ferrand, France.

WANTED, for World-renowned Family producing Sensational Novelty, Ladies, Tumblers (Flips, &c.), Bearers, and Contortionists; comfortable engagement and home. Full particulars first instance, Box 7,809, "The Era."

CIRCUS ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, by Bearer (Amateur with capital), to join Acrobat or Troupe.
Smart, young, single; premium or partner.
Address,
HECTOR, 48, Haymarket, London.

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS WANTED.

WORCESTER PALACE OF VARIETIES.

WANTED, Variety Artists, also Empire, Worcester. No wires. ARTHUR CARLTON, Palace, Worcester.

EMPIRE THEATRE, STOCKPORT.

WANTED, Variety Artists, in all Lines, for Tops and Bottoms of Bills, Aug. 1, 8, 15, 22, Sept. 5, 12, 19, Oct. 3, 24, Nov. 14, 28, Dec. 12. All must be free from Bar of Mr. Stoll's Manchester Houses. No stamps or telegrams.
Silence a polite negative.
Letters only containing lowest terms.

BRITANNIA, GLASGOW.

WANTED, Variety Artists, in all Lines, now and onwards, with exceptions.
Address,
MANAGER, as above.

THE EMPIRE ELECTRIC T., NUNEATON.

WANTED, Variety Artists in all Lines, June 20, 27, and July 4. Full particulars address, MANAGER, as above.

WANTED, Variety Artists, all Lines. Those unknown to me can arrange trial near Manchester. W. LOVELL HURT, Churchgate House, Stockport.

WELLESLEY PICTURE PALACE,
DENBEATH, METHIL, FIFE, N.B.

WANTED, Variety Artists in all Lines, June 6 and onward.
Send lowest terms to FARMER and CAMPBELL, Proprietors.

WANTED, Monday, June 20, and onwards, Variety Artists, all Lines, Stars and good Specialities. Particulars, KITCHINGMAN, Aquarium, Scarborough.

WANTED, Variety Artists all Lines, for Tour, Little Rose Pink and Karl Cyniski write. LEO ROMBERG, General Post Office, Sunderland.

WANTED, Artists all Lines,
Wanted, Artists all Lines,
Wanted, Artists all Lines,
Wanted, Artists all Lines,
especially big Comedy Acts,
Worcester, June 13,
Swindon, June 20;
must be absolutely new for towns mentioned.

Comfortable Engagements.
Sure Money. No Commission.

Lowest combination terms, &c.

THE DAYTON FAMILY,
Empire, Middlesbrough.

Please accept silence as a polite negative in all cases.

Impossible to answer all.

VERNO'S AGENCY,
16, Elizabeth-street, Liverpool.

WANTED, Artists, in all Lines, June 13, onwards.
Telegrams, "Merriment." Telephone 2,076 Royal.

WANTED, Star Artists, all Lines, for Immediate and Future Dates.
WILLIAM MOULD, Central Palace, North Shields.

WANTED, Artists in all Lines, to send full list of Bookings. Suitable turns can have tour arranged in Scotland, also North of England. Wire "Contracts, Greenock"; 'Phone 800. SKIVINGTON'S Agency, 41, Ardgowan-street, Greenock.

WANTED, Artists in all Lines, June 6, onwards. Good Sisters write, and Doubles doing Singles. Letters, R. FORDHAM, Birmingham and District Variety Agency, Star Hotel, Brierley Hill, Staffs.

WANTED, Star Artists all Lines, from now onwards; Hall small, terms same. Good break for Artists going North, South, or Ireland. J. J. SCOTT, Empire, Wrexham.

WANTED, First-class Artists in all Lines, also Bioscope, for Farnworth, June 27. Absolute lowest combination terms to LI-CHANG-HI, Victoria Theatre, Kettering.

CHARLES DEETRICH'S AGENCY,
31, Islington, Liverpool. 'Phone 1269 Royal.

WANTED, Artists in all Lines, specially Big Comedy Acts. Nothing too Big for immediate Dates. Full particulars, list of bookings in first instance. Contracts waiting for Zenary Bros. Elmo and Rego communicate.

WANTED, Artists in all Lines, immediate and future dates. Quote lowest.
BOWMAKER, Palace, Northampton.

WANTED, for Chappell's Concerts, Great Yarmouth, Refined Artists, all Lines, one to fourteen weeks to suitable people. Terms, vacancies, permanent address, HARRY BARKER, General-Manager, 6, Harley-road, Great Yarmouth. Good Baritone and Vent. (Versatile) write for Season.

FRED DURHAM'S AGENCY.

WANTED, Artists, in all Lines, June 13, on. 14, Loughboro'-rd., Brixton. 'Phone 15 Brixton.

GRAND PIER PAVILION, WESTON-SUPER-MARE.

WANTED, Star Artists, for Matinées only, July and Aug. For vacant dates and terms apply J. H. STEVENSON, General-Manager.

CADLE'S AGENCY.

WANTED, for June 13 and onward, Stars in all Lines,
Stars in all Lines,
CADLE'S Agency,
106-106, Strand, London, W.C.

Syndicate Halls.
Syndicate Halls.

WANTED, Original Turns who have not appeared at above. Send bookings, lowest terms, particulars, &c. (no callers),
WARREN AGENCY,
21, Victoria-street, Liverpool.

WANTED, Variety Turns for Leigh, Lancashire, for week commencing June 20.
Artists holding dates at Bolton or Wigan are barred at Leigh.
Send absolute lowest terms to TOM DAVIES,
Empire Theatre, Cardiff.

WANTED, Very Best of Talent, in all Lines, for Widnes, Runcorn, and Northwich.
Refinement Essential.
HAMILTON & HUGHES, Co-Op. Hall, Widnes.

TIVOLI, ABERDEEN.

WANTED, First-class Attractions of every description, for July 18 and onwards.
Apply to THE VAUDEVILLE AGENCY, LTD. (DE FRECE'S), 178, Charing Cross-road, W.C.
Sole Booking Agents.

WANTED, immediately, clever, up-to-date Comedy Musical Act. Sensational Novelties, Dancers, and other Front Cloth Acts; only recognised performers of reliability need apply; long pleasant season's Combinations if entirely satisfactory. State everything first letter, lowest summer salary, programmes, photos., full particulars; no time for useless correspondence. MAURICE F. RAYMOND, Manager Great Raymond Company, Salford Hippodrome, Manchester; next week, Queen's Park Hippodrome, Manchester.

STAR PALACE. STAR PALACE,
BRIDGETON, PARTICK,
GLASGOW.

WANTED, the Greatest Acts in Variety, for Immediate and Future Dates. Two weeks, Glasgow, for the Right Numbers. Money no object for First-class Acts in all Lines. Agents send lists. Nothing too big, nothing too small Send Lithos, &c., to GUSS LAZENBERG, Star Palace, Bridgeton.

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS WANTED.

WANTED, Wanted, Wanted, Turns of Every Description for

THE HIPPODROME, HULL.

Immediate Vacancies for Tops of Bills.
The Bigger the Better.
Share or Certainty.
Also vacancies for June 13, 20, 27, Serios, Comedians, Comedy Acts and Specialities.

Write, with lowest terms, to
WALTER BENTLEY, 168, Brixton-road, London, S.W.

WANTED, for Palace, Sunderland, really funny Acts, big Specialities, Sensational Novelties, Spectacular Productions, Pantomimical Sketches with Trick Scenery, anything of a Novel character, for June 13, 27, onward. Address, lowest terms, samples of printing, to MANAGER, Palace, Sunderland.

WANTED, Big Acts of all Descriptions. Lowest terms, bookings, and vacancies. No callers. MOORE and BURTZ, 12, Adam-street, Strand, London.

WANTED, Big Acts, shares or certainty, Empire, Dudley, immediate and future dates. BOWMAKER, Palace, Northampton.

WANTED, Comedy Act, Three Days, Northampton, Aug. 1, twice daily. Particulars, MCASKELL'S Agency, Hippodrome, West Bromwich.

WANTED, Speciality Acts new to West Stanley. Send vacancies, lowest terms, and permanent. STEVE SMITH'S Agency, 22, Walker-terrace, Gateshead.

WANTED, Big Star Acts, on Share or Salary, for June 13, 20, 27.
Artists all Lines, for North and Midlands.
Van Biene please wire.
CLIQUOT'S Theatrical Agency,
9, Monton-st., Denmark-rd., Manchester.

NEW HIPPODROME, NORTHWICH.
HIPPODROME, CONNAH'S QUAY and SHOTTON.
NEW HIPPODROME, ROCK FERRY.
VAUDEVILLE PALACE, BIRKENHEAD.

WANTED, Sept., onwards, for Opening, Comedy, Musical and Vocal Specialities; suitable acts can have five consecutive weeks if terms reasonable. Silence a polite negative, pro tem. Address, MANAGER, Hippodrome, Ellesmere Port.

WANTED, good Specialities all Lines, new to Jarrow and Ashington.
All coms.,
LAMB, Buffalo Palace, Ashington.

WANTED, Specialities, Novelties, Comedy Acts, or anything with good drawing powers; refined. Address, MANAGER, Picturedrome, Bradford.

WANTED, for one day, Gala, Aug. 20, 1910.
Big Sensational Novelty.

DALTON'S Agency,
29, Mauldeth-road West, Withington, Manchester.

WANTED, Top Liners, for Continent. Sole Continental Agency only entertained.
SMYTHSON'S AGENCY,
38, Craster-road, Brixton Hill, London, S.W.

Also Star Acts for Britain.
Are you vacant for Panto. 1910-11?
Then, see Panto. "Artists Wanted" Column.

PERCY VICTOR'S AGENCY.

WANTED, the Biggest Top-liners, Artists all Lines. First-class Principal Boys, Comedians, Fairy Queen, Knockabouts, Acrobats, for Pantomimes (12 weeks). State where to be seen. Two-act People for Galas, Aug. 1 week. Acts for Pavilion, Wolverhampton, 13th, on. Several dates for First-class Combinations. Bookings and photos. Particulars, 48, Bilston-street, Wolverhampton.

WANTED, big Top, June 20, big Sketch or Comedy Team preferred.
JAMES FIONI'S Agency,
21, Norton-street, Liverpool.
Telegrams, "Fioni, Liverpool."
Telephone 1686 Royal.

PALACE THEATRE, READING.

WANTED, Tops and Bottoms of Bills, several dates this and next year. Letters only, STANHOPE and Co., LTD., 12, Buckingham-st., W.C.

WANTED, Big Tops and Bottoms, now and onwards.
HARRY TAFT, Chatham. June 6, Exeter.

WANTED, for Theatre Royal, Worcester, June 27, Comedians, Comedienne, Serio, Double Patter turns for Combination. No commision. Turns known to us apply.

FIVE WHITELEYS,
Hippodrome, Norwich.

WANTED, immediately, clever Lady Amateur, to Star in Musical Speciality, splendid opportunity, premium £25; good salary. Box 7,806, "The Era."

WANTED, Young Lady Gymnast, also Apprentice, height 5ft. 5in. First-class situation. Apply, 95, Vassall-road, Brixton, London.

WANTED, Funny Comedian, to Sing, Dance, and Patter, for Double Act. All communications to COMEDIAN, 40, Robert-street, London, N.W.

WANTED, Comic Singer, play Sketches, make himself useful for Picture Show.
KRISS, G.P.O., Fraserburgh, N.B.

WANTED, Young Man for Comedy Three Bar Act. State what you can do and lowest salary. GYMNAST, c/o 24, Regent-terrace, Sheffield.

WANTED, Two or Three Coloured Men to Walk On, Music Hall Sketch, and be generally useful. Letters only. FRANK HARDIE, 18, Cranworth-gardens, Brixton.

WANTED, Troupe Lady Swimmers, with own Tank. Can offer six weeks or more.
LESLIE Agency, 23, King's-terrace, Southsea.

WANTED, Lecturer, for Picture Hall, one who can give good descriptive lectures and be generally useful. Experience and lowest for permanency. Box 7,793, "The Era."

WANTED, Operator, with own machine preferred, open Monday, June 6, if at Liberty HARRY HARRYSS, Manager, Hippo., Swadlincote Burton-on-Trent.

MUSIC HALL ARTISTS' WANTS.

WANTED, Known, Madame Adah Payne, the Australian Prima Donna, late of Moody-Manners' Principal Opera Company, thanks E. H Bostock, Esq., for further offers; also T. C. Rawes Esq., for offer. Vacant July 4 and 11. To-day Royal, Stockport. Next, Hippo., Paisley.

WANTED, June 13, 20, 27, all July, Babs Lloyd Dainty Comedienne and Expert Dancer. Empire, York; next, Theatre Royal, Ilkeston.

WANTED, by Lucretia and Josephine, Sisters, June 13 and 20, through barring; Harmonising Duettists and Artistic Dancers; a refined and clever Turn; a sure success. Best Halls booked. Panto. settled. Monday, Picturedrome, Longton, Staffs.

WANTED, Known, Terry Sisters, an Entertainment in Themselves. A Hit Everywhere. Address, June 6, Empire, Southport.

WANTED, 13th, 27th, on, exceptions. Dan Ashton, Collier Comedian, Extraordinary Pictures (Whitehaven Disaster), Hippo., Wallsend-on-Tyne; next, Pavilion, Ashington.

WANTED, by Eileen and May (Sisters), Bright Musical Act, Expert Dancers, June 13, 27. Palace, Jarrow.

WANTED, by Sisters Geretti, June 20, July 11, 25, Oct. 3 10. Address Casino, Rotterdam, Holland.

WANTED, E. Lucknow, Anglo-Continental Comedy, Musical and Patter Comedian, Liberty June 6, 20. Wire, 16, Moreton-st., Strangeways, Manchester.

FOR CONTINUATION OF "WANTED" ADVTS. SEE PAGE 32.

MOSS' EMPIRES, LTD & STOLL COMPANIES SUBSEQUENT

(Moss, Stoll, Thornton & Allen Theatres, Amalgamated)

Chairman: SIR EDWARD MOSS

WORKING IN CONJUNCTION

Capital £2,086,000.

(Including Coliseum Syndicate, Ltd.)

Chairman OSWALD STOLL.

Managing Director: OSWALD STOLL

Assisting Director and Chief of Staff: FRANK ALLEN.

Department Superintendent and Chief Accountant: W. S. GORDON MICHIE.

Co-Operative Offices: CRANBOURN MANSIONS, CRANBOURN STREET, LONDON, W. C.

INTERVIEWS BY APPOINTMENT ONLY.

CALLS FOR MONDAY, JUNE 6, 1910.

Telephone: 1050 and 1051 Gerrard.
Wires: Moss' Empires and Associated Properties, "Twigsome, London."

THE LONDON HIPPODROME

Rehearsal at 10 a.m. for:—

Russian Dancers, Yvette Guilbert, Happy Fanny Fields, Henri Leoni, Campbell and Barber, Perezoffs, Miller Bros., Barrett and Knowles, Hardinis, Avolos, Bioscope, Raymond Phillips' Airship

EMPIRE PALACE, EDINBURGH.

Rehearsal at 1.30 p.m. for:—

Lew Lake and Co., in "King Nobbler," Fred Earle, Fielding and Hull, Tate and Tate, Florence Yaymen, Five Vernons, Lyric Quartette, Bioscope, H. O. Wills, Bert Coote and Co., in "A Lamb on Wall-street."

EMPIRE THEATRE, GLASGOW.

Rehearsal at 12 noon for:—

Brull and Hemsley, Woodhouse and Wells, Twelve Fezzans, Harry Blake, Lulu Russel, Bioscope, "Songland," Horace Hunter and Co., W. F. Frame, Harry Jolson.

COLISEUM, GLASGOW.

Rehearsal at 12 noon for:—

Karno's "Jimmy the Fearless," Johnny Walker, Roma and Romani, Mr. and Mrs. Lucas, Hall and Earle, May Henderson, Bioscope, Mitchell and Cain.

GRAND THEATRE, GLASGOW.

Closed for summer vacation.

ARDWICK THEATRE, MANCHESTER.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for:—

Hetty King, Bioscope, Bertha Winder, Rich Taylor, Gustave Fasola, Bob Pender, Willie Walker, Kerr and Koe, Syd Walker, Alexandra Dagmar.

HIPPODROME, MANCHESTER.

Rehearsal at 12 noon for:—

Le Roy, Talma, and Bosco, Girard and Gardner, Johnny Fuller, Rossi Ashton, Walter Bird's company, Lotto, Lilo, and Otto, Ellis Barrieton, May B. Brilliant, Bioscope, Billy Merson.

EMPIRE PALACE, BIRMINGHAM.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for:—

Chang Ling Soo, Little Keeno, Roze and Calvert, Francoli Troupe, May Mars, Devon and Earle, Sisters Tower, Bioscope, Hubert Carter, Gothams.

BORDESLEY PALACE, BIRMINGHAM.

Edward Marris' Stock Company.

GRAND, BIRMINGHAM.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for:—

R. G. Knowles, Jock Mills, Broughton and Creedon, Kirbys, Walter Munroe, Bert Williams, Marconis, Bioscope, John Humphries, Cressie Leonard.

PALACE, LEICESTER.

Rehearsal at 2.30 p.m. for:—

Anna Chandler, Eighteen Lancashire Singers, Amy Maraden, Lux's Dogs, Tom Leamore, Three Laurels, Beaty and Blanche, Bioscope, Tom and Marie Motramo, Ben Albert.

EMPIRE, NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for:—

Marie Lloyd, Bob and Jennie Leonard, Bros. Durant, Binns and Binns, Alcide Capitaine, Findens, Bioscope, Vesta and Minnie Pine, G. H. Elliott.

EMPIRE PALACE, LIVERPOOL.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for:—

A. Hughes & Co., Olga, Elgar, & Eli Hudson, Mildred Bryan, Lydia and Ameiys, Marco Belli, George Rae, "Little Stowaway," Harry Marte, Bioscope, Kratons.

OLYMPIA, LIVERPOOL.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for:—

Darnley's company, including Fred Kitchen, in "Private Potts," Pete and Minnie Lee, Pat Rafferty, Villions, Elton and Edwin, Sylvia Du Barry, Bioscope, Nellie Wallace.

EMPIRE, HACKNEY.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for:—

Horace Goldin, Bioscope, Ted and May Hopkins, Bert Harrow, Duncan's Dogs, McGregors, Lillian, Alexandre and Hughes, Winifred Ward, Frank Couch.

EMPIRE, HOLLOWAY.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for:—

Chas. T. Aldrich, Poluskis, Bert Weston, Glenroy Troupe, Hilda Jacobsen, Staig's Steeplejacks, Fred Poplar, Kitty Wager, Bioscope, Two Anartos.

EMPIRE, NEW CROSS.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for:—

Geo. Ali and Co., Clarice Mayne, Bros. Bright, Peggy Pryde, Will Poluski, jun., Three Merrills, Frank Lynne, Two St. Johns, Bioscope, Gwennie Hasto, Ada Colley, Harry Ford.

BROADWAY THEATRE, NEW CROSS.

Stock Company, "Held by the Enemy."

ALEXANDRA THEATRE, STOKE NEWINGTON.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for:—

Stock Co., Pictures, and Illustrated Song.

EMPIRE, STRATFORD.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for:—

Courtice Pounds, New Macs, Harry Freeman, Andos Japs, Smite and Smote, Claire Romaine, Miles-Stavordale Quintette, Helen Donald, Bioscope, Winifred Hare.

THE LONDON COLISEUM

Rehearsal at 10 a.m. for:—

Russian Dancers, Cecilia Loftus, Fragson, D'Arcs Marionettes, Siems, Abdullah Arabs, Edward Davies, Dion Wade, Vera Elmore, Bioscope, Serene Nord, Laurie's Juveniles, Chanti.

EMPIRE THEATRE, BRADFORD

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for:—

Harry Roxbury and Co., Alice Maydue, Chas. J. Johnson, Holden's Mannikins, Harry Herbert, Conan and Doyle, Nellie Farrell, Bioscope, Carmos, Wilson and Waring.

EMPIRE, SWANSEA.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for:—

Ernest Shand, Takio, Wood, Wells, and Wilkins, Manchester Mites, Herbert Shelley, Smythsons, Kathleen Gray, Bioscope, Humpsti-Bumsti.

EMPIRE, CARDIFF.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for:—

Ada Reeve, Delomes, Tom Davies' Trio, Esta Stella, La Freya, Luis Alvarez, Lily Flexmore, Bioscope, Harry Lamore, Jack Pleasants.

PHILHARMONIC HALL, CARDIFF.

Rehearsal at 3 p.m. for:—

Company as booked.

EMPIRE, NEWPORT.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for:—

Marie Kendall, Chas. Norton, Tom E. Hughes, Bessie Butt, Stanley and Greenop, Steve McCarthy, Bioscope, Alicia Ramsey and Rudolph de Cordova's company, in "The Organ Grinder."

EMPIRE, NOTTINGHAM.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for:—

Mike Whallen, Sybil St. Elmo, Phillips and Merritt, My Fancy, Orpheus, Little Ganty, Arthur Slater, Frank Cass, Bioscope, A. C. Lilly and company, in "Drummed Out," Gardner and Stoddard.

EMPIRE PALACE, SHEFFIELD.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for:—

Gertie Gitana, George French, Bioscope, Lillie Lassah, Conn and Conrad, Victor Widdicombe and Co., Quaint Q.'s, Chas. Fisher's "Vocalesques," Alf. Agoust, Cumminger and Colona, George Leyton and Co., in "The Roll Call."

PALACE THEATRE, HULL.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for:—

Irma Lorraine, Van Biene and Co., Billy Hobbs, Hans and Lux, Walter King, Amelie de L'Enclos, Rhoda Paul, Cissie Thompson, Bioscope, Heeley and Meeley.

EMPIRE PALACE, LEEDS.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for:—

Mark Sheridan, Falco and Eida, Dot Stephens, Selkirk's Boy Scouts, Bros. Redmond, Wyndham and Kitty, Mandie Francis, Bioscope, Oswald Williams, Ella Retford.

EMPIRE, SHEPHERD'S BUSH.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for:—

The Great Lafayette, Haytors, Bioscope, Mezzettis, Nina Wood, Harry Leybourne, Sanford and Lyons.

The following are Booked in conjunction with the above:

EMPIRE, SUNDERLAND.

Rehearsal at 12 noon for:—

George Lashwood, Nellie Wigley, Tom Stuart, Rauschle, Fatmah Diard, Channings, Bioscope, Bros. Egbert.

EMPIRE PALACE, SOUTH SHIELDS.

Rehearsal at 2 p.m. for:—

Charburn's Young Stars, Illustrated Song, Cull Pitt, Naughton and Gold, Jennie Hartley, Maxey and Pete, Pictures, Robins and Collier Trio, &c.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE, WALSALL.

Rehearsal at 12 noon for:—

Maidie Scott, Phil Parsons, Ted E. Box, Carl Howard, Bioscope, Albert and Edmunds Troupe.

EMPIRE, WEST HARTLEPOOL.

Rehearsal at 12 noon for:—

Tiller's Co., "In Japan," Matthews and Mann, Baby's Park Parade, Eight New Cocktails, Mystic Hussars, Friesland Serenaders, Twelve Forget-me-nots, Brennans, Wish Wynne.

EMPIRE THEATRE, DUBLIN.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for:—

Mooney and Holbein, Aida Martine, Neville Delmar, Andy Burn, Frank and Free, Mlle. Yetta, Pictures, Delevines, &c.

EMPIRE THEATRE, BELFAST.

Rehearsal at 1 p.m. for:—

Alice Raymond and Players, Edna Deno, Tom Moore, Jackley Trio, Emma Don and Co., Pictures, Spry and Monti, &c.

IMPERIAL HALL, WALSALL.

Company as Booked.

CROYDON HIPPODROME.

Closed for alterations.

SPECIAL NOTE.—NO DEPUTIES WILL BE ACCEPTED AT REHEARSALS.

IMPORTANT NOTICES.

RE APPLICATIONS FOR ENGAGEMENTS.—All applications by either Artists or their Agents must be made to the Head Office. Lowest terms must be stated, and distinction made between salaries required for larger and smaller towns. Vacant dates should be stated. If a list of existing bookings be sent, it will render selection easier. Artists employing agents should accredit one only at one time, as the friction arising when several Agents are employed at the same time, all expecting the one booking to go through each of them, often renders it expedient to avoid that booking altogether rather than give undeserved offence to several Agents. New Acts seeking Engagements, or turns not rebooked (possibly because they have played a series of dates without introducing new business), will facilitate matters by having their acts seen by our Districts Managers. Their Districts and Postal Addresses are as follow:—

EDINBURGH, GLASGOW, NEWCASTLE, and DISTRICT.—MR. S. GETHING, Empire Theatre, Glasgow.
LEEDS, SHEFFIELD, HULL, BRADFORD, and DISTRICT.—MR. PERCIVAL CRAIG, Empire Theatre, Bradford.
BIRMINGHAM, NOTTINGHAM, LEICESTER, and DISTRICT.—MR. HATTON WHARTON, Empire Theatre, Nottingham.
LIVERPOOL, MANCHESTER, and DISTRICT.—MR. HORACE COLE, The Empire, Liverpool.
SOUTH WALES DISTRICT.—MR. ALBERT MITCHELL, Empire Theatre, Cardiff.
LONDON DISTRICT.—MR. J. CHRISTIE, Empire Theatre, Shepherd's Bush, W.
TOURS COMMITTEE.—LLEWELLYN JOHNS and DISTRICT MANAGERS.

EMPIRE THEATRE, SOUTH SHIELDS.—Artists and Agents wishing to submit TRIALS for their Acts in the North, should apply to the Manager, as Matinées are held every Wednesday for that purpose.

N.B.—MR. OSWALD STOLL or MR. FRANK ALLEN can be seen by appointment on all matters arising out of the above, and for the discussion of entirely new Numbers.

All Artists or Agents who communicate with our District Representatives must have made definite applications, in accordance with above directions, to the Head Office, at the same time, or just previously. Artists and Agents are requested to note that the Standard Theatre, Shoreditch, and the Terriss Theatre, Rotherhithe, come within the areas absolutely barred by us. Artists and Agents are also requested to note that the Hippodrome, Aston, Birmingham, comes within the area absolutely barred by the Grand Theatre and Empire Palace, Birmingham.

INSTRUCTIONS TO ARTISTS.—Artists must have at least Fourteen Band Parts for English Orchestrations, and Seventeen Band Parts for Foreign Orchestrations. Matter of Bill, Blocks, and Specimens of Pictorials FOR THE ABOVE THEATRES must be sent to CO-OPERATIVE OFFICES, at above address, THREE WEEKS before Opening, failing which Artists will run the risk of having their Engagements cancelled. It is important that separate bill matter, blocks, pictorials, &c., for Dublin, Belfast, and South Shields, be sent direct to Mr. Frank Allen at the Co-operative Offices. IMPORTANT.—Artists must forward Copies of Songs to the STAGE DEPARTMENT, ABOVE ADDRESS, TWO WEEKS previous to opening, with Assignments for same, which will be returned. Artists are requested to note carefully that the clause in their contracts relating to rehearsals will in future be strictly enforced. Artists' Scenery, Properties, &c., MUST be fireproofed in accordance with the regulations of the Licensing Authorities. ARTISTS WILL CLEARLY UNDERSTAND THAT THEIR BUSINESS MUST BE FREE FROM ALL VULGARITY.

No order or contract for goods or services must be accepted for any of the foregoing theatres except upon receipt of an Official Form, issued from the Co-operative Offices, London, and signed by either Mr. Oswald Stoll, Mr. Frank Allen, or the Chief Accountant, otherwise the Company concerned will not be responsible for same, and will refuse payment. In special cases, where goods are required at once, suppliers must look to the individual placing the order, who will be personally liable, unless an official confirmatory order, signed as above, is received within forty-eight hours. Invoices must be sent to the Theatre, but monthly statements should be sent to the Co-operative Offices. The individual Company on whose behalf orders are signed is solely responsible for payment. The Management will not hold themselves responsible in the event of loss of or damage to any MSS., Songs, &c., submitted for consideration.

The Greatest Aggregation of Variety Theatres in the World

LONDON OFFICES:
— OAKLEY HOUSE, —
Bloomsbury St., W.C.,
where please address all communications in regard to the Professional and Publicity Departments of the PROVINCIAL CIRCUIT to Mr. SYDNEY ARTHUR.
—— Telegraphic Address ——
"GIRVAUMAC LONDON."
Telephone—No. 9157 GERRARD.

THE MACNAGHTEN VAUDEVILLE CIRCUIT

SHEFFIELD OFFICES:
KING'S CHAMBERS,
Angel St., Sheffield,
where please address all communications in regard to FINANCIAL, COMMERCIAL, and GENERAL BUSINESS MATTERS.
—— Telegraphic Address ——
"MACNAGHTEN, SHEFFIELD."
Telephone—No. 3449.

Director-General:
Mr. FRANK MACNAGHTEN.

Secretary: Miss AMY ROBINSON.

General Business Manager for the Circuit:
Mr. E. P. LAWTON.

Provincial District and Booking Manager:
Mr. SYDNEY ARTHUR.

CALLS FOR WEEK COMMENCING MONDAY, JUNE 6.

PROVINCIAL HOUSES.

PALACE, HALIFAX.
T. Elder Hearn, Reid and Power, Addie Dorina, Lily Edwardes, Kitty Clinton, Palace Perfection Pictures, Gaston Chevallier and Co.

PALACE THEATRE, CARLISLE.
Carlton, Kate Traill, The Belmonts, "The Circus," Bert Crosbie, The Fitzroys, Mysterious Cross, Joe Belmont, Palace Perfection Pictures.

PAVILION, LEICESTER.
Jeff Martin, The Sages, Le Hurst, Sim Moree, Burdetter Brothers, Mamie Morris, George Belmont, Reg. Ewen, Bardoff, Pavilion Perfection Pictures.

PALACE, SOUTHAMPTON.
Valenche's Dogs, Three Alskarnos, George Acre, Oliver Martyn, Eight College Girls, Chas. Erard, Barnes and West, Palace Perfection Pictures.

SADLER'S WELLS.
Matinée every Monday, at 2.30.
Carl Lynn, Pictures, Leonard and Vereker, Emmie Ames, "Telephone Tragedy," Leon and Lee, Harry Bancroft, Kitty Correlli, Fyne and Wood, Fred Moule and Co.

FORESTERS'.
Matinées Monday and Thursday, at 2.30.
Pictures, Helen Martin, Ross and Grayson, "For Honour," Harry Hunter, "The Dead Beat," Josephine Crook, Lomas Duo, Sisters Edwards, Viviana and Co., Gyp Hodgson, Eric and Nora.

PALACE, BRADFORD.
Matinée Thursday.
"The Yellow Fang," Harry Keeble, Harold Heath, Reed and Stevens, Leolin, Jeannie Haven, Adolf Beck Pictures, Brothers Hannaway, Milner and Storey.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME, WARRINGTON.
Haines and Borthwick, Ward and Davis, Zenora, Dorothy Vasey, Dancing Gilberts, George Lawrence, Eight Lancashire Lads, Palace Perfection Pictures.

PALACE THEATRE, BATH.
Barrington, Arthur F. Ward, Ruth Molloy, The Rosses, Gladys Wyse, George Harris, The Miltons, Bartholomew Girls, Palace Perfection Pictures.

HIPPODROME, STOKE-ON-TRENT.
"Judith."

COLISEUM, SOUTHAMPTON.
Comedy Meisters, Flo Burnett.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME, BURNLEY.
Dr. Wilmar's Spirit Paintings, Ena Compton, Madison and Webb, John Macauley, Peter Bermingham, "Roots, Rash Chemist," Cassie Walmer, Palace Perfection Pictures.

PIER PAVILION, SOUTHPORT.
Marie Santoi and Co., Blanche Marion, Mack Ollive, Arthur Stacey, Dan Fraser, Shirley and Ransome, Pick of the Picture World, Joe Varley.

PALACE THEATRE, LINCOLN.
Gilbert Heron and Co., J. J. Mannix, Myrtle Grove, Musical Keiths, The Days, Roberta Svendsen, Vesta Nixon, Enzer and Clarice, Palace Perfection Pictures.

PALACE THEATRE, HUDDERSFIELD.
Williams's Jubilee Singers, Charles Vincent, Three Van Dammes, Canard, Dene and Dixon, Maude Vera, Chas. Woodward, Sisters Maynard, Palace Perfection Pictures.

HIPPODROME, STALYBRIDGE.
Closed.

THEATRE ROYAL, ROTHERHAM.
Picture Entertainment.

THEATRE ROYAL, CHESTERFIELD.
Picture Entertainment.

THEATRE ROYAL, ATTERCLIFFE.
Picture Entertainment.

KING'S, NOTTINGHAM.
Picture Entertainment.

PALACE, BLACKBURN.
Harry Roxbury's Co., Alice Craven, Les Arabellas, Dolly Ross, Leo and Roland, Tate's "Motoring" Co., Palace Perfection Pictures.

PALACE AND HIPPODROME, CARDIFF.
Florrie Forde, Clarke and Mostol, Zellini, Norah Desmond, Josh Dixon, Harry Martell, Cairo Trio, Palace Perfection Pictures.

LONDON HOUSES.

PALACE, BOW.
Matinée every Monday, at 2.30.
Pictures, Dan Hendy, Arthur Clifton, Jessie Wilton, Irene Meldon, Edith Lewis and Company, Lottie Watts, Will H. Fox, Monie Mine, Runaway Girls.

SURREY THEATRE.
Matinée every Monday, at 2.30.
Pictures, Chris Baker, Mabel Florence, Kitts and Windrum, Empire Girls, Julia Reeve, "Secrets of the Past," Bessie Neilson, Ten Juveniles, Susie and Protti, "An Eye for an Eye," Taylor's Dogs.

PALACE, BATTERSEA.
Matinée every Monday, at 2.30.
Pictures, Rousby and Rene, Royburn and Dix, Henriette and Selina, Tom Garland, "Richelieu's Spy," Professor Anderson, "Drink," May Poulton, Goodall and Co.

London District and Booking Manager: Mr. FREDERIC BAUGH.

SPECIAL AND IMPORTANT NOTICE.—Artists engaged will please note that Rehearsals at ALL Halls take place at 12 o'clock noon each Monday. No excuses whatever for non-attendance will be entertained. All billing matter and notification of appearance accompanied by samples of pictorial printing must be IN THE CASE OF THE PROVINCIAL HALLS SENT TO OAKLEY HOUSE, BLOOMSBURY STREET, W.C.; AND IN THE CASE OF THE LONDON HALLS TO THE FORESTERS' THEATRE, CAMBRIDGE ROAD, E., fourteen clear days prior to opening, or Contract may be cancelled at the option of the Management. Artists wishing to negotiate Engagements for the London Houses of the Circuit will please apply to Mr. FREDERIC BAUGH, Booking Manager for London, at the FORESTERS' THEATRE, CAMBRIDGE ROAD, E. Telegraphic address, "Stageyness, London." Telephone 5954 Avenue.

Artists wishing to negotiate provincial engagements, Agents and Managers of Touring Companies, can be seen at Oakley House by appointment only.

All applications for dates at the Theatre Royal, Rotherham, and Theatre Royal, Chesterfield, to be addressed to Oakley House, Bloomsbury-street, London.

THE SURREY VAUDEVILLE THEATRE, Ltd.

Managing Director, Mr. Frank Macnaghten.

In accordance with the Arbitrator's Award, Eight Weeks' Notice is hereby given that the above Theatre

Will be Closed on Saturday, July 30, 1910,

for the purpose of Rebuilding A definite date for re-opening will shortly be announced. All Artistes booked will be given other dates.

FREDERIC BAUGH,
For the Surrey Vaudeville Theatre, Ltd.

All Coms, The Foresters' Vaudeville Theatre, Cambridge Road, London, E.
Telegrams: "Stageyness, London." Telephone: 5954 Avenue.

NOTICE TO ARTISTS AND AGENTS.

POOLE'S THEATRES, LTD.,
Hereby give notice that after July 30, 1910, the Palace, Porth, has been leased to Mr. Will Smithson, of the Empire, Barnsley, and all contracts after that date are cancelled in accordance with the "Award."

(Signed) C. W. POOLE,
Managing-Director, Poole's Theatres, Ltd
Gloucester, May 24, 1910.

PALACE THEATRE, KILMARNOCK.
NOTICE is Hereby Given that the above theatre will cease to be in the possession and occupancy of Mr. John Cummings, as and from the first day of August, 1910, and all contracts with variety artists entered into with the said John Cummings are thereby cancelled, as and from the date herein mentioned.—Signed,
June 1, 1910. JOHN CUMMINGS.

MOTOR-CAR (Daimler, 22-28 h.p.), very suitable for Theatrical or Music Hall Artists, having closed carriage with electric light, seat six; also open touring body, in perfect order. Must be sold, a bargain, £150.
Write,
CHAUFFEUR, The Mount, Wargrave, Berks.

GAMAGES

The World's CHEAPEST HOUSE for Amateur and Professional Make-Ups and Properties.

THE SECRETS OF MAKING-UP.

By J. AINSLEY BROUGH.

The most useful book on the subject published.

Highly Recommended.

Price 1/-
Post Free.

PIERROT COSTUMES

INCLUDING

HAT.

LATEST PATTERN.

Price 14/6
Postage ... ... 6d.

A. W. GAMAGE Ltd. HOLBORN. & BENETFINK & Co Ltd CHEAPSIDE.

SPARROW & SON

EST. 1765. NOTTINGHAM. TELE. 187.

THEATRICAL DECORATIONS.

FIBROUS PLASTER. ART PAINTINGS.

PROPRIETORS & MANAGERS ARE INVITED TO SEND FOR SKETCHES & ESTIMATES, WHICH ARE PREPARED FREE OF ALL CHARGE.

PRESS COMMENTS on some of the THEATRES, &c., DECORATED by SPARROW & SON.

"One of the most charming theatres in the provinces." "Carried out in admirable taste." "One of the most beautiful concert halls in the world."

"Messrs. Sparrow and Son, of Nottingham, well known for their Theatrical Decorative work carried out the interior Decorations in exquisite style."

PROFESSIONAL APARTMENTS.

Three Lines, ONE SHILLING.
Thirteen Insertions, TWELVE SHILLINGS.

BELFAST.—Comf. rooms, good cooking, bath, piano, 5 min. theatres, good refs. Belvoir-terrace, 8, University-street.

BRIGHTON.—Seven Stars, Ship-street, opposite G.P.O. The professional house. Sunday Reunions. Always a hearty welcome. Luncheons, &c., at popular prices. DE COSTA, Proprietor.

BRIXTON, S.W.—Effra-road (10), Winchester Lodge. Comfortable apartments (bath, h.c.), good cooking, large garden.

EDINBURGH.—Cathedral Hotel, near Lyceum, Royal, Empire, and King's. Recommended. Personal Supervision. CHARLES GRANT.

GLASGOW.—Buchanan-street Station Hotel. Recommended. Terms, moderate. Near Royal, Royalty, Grand Theatre; Empire, Pavilion.

LONDON, S.E.—One or two bed-sitting rooms; also drawing-room. Liberty for Sunday next. Mrs. Gatehouse, 123, Kennington-road.

LONDON, S.E. — Camberwell Gate. Large combined rooms vacant; bath (h. and c.), piano; very moderate. Board-residence, 15s. 23, Grosvenor-terrace.

LONDON, S.W.—Bed-sitting room; nice house, near Victoria Station, use piano. 7s. per week. 75, Denbigh-street, S.W.

PORTSMOUTH.—Judd's Hotel. In same family over 30 years. Accommodation for Professional gentlemen; inclusive from 30s.

PORTSMOUTH.—North's Temperance Hotel and Restaurant, delightfully situated between both stations; good cooking; terms moderate.

RHYL.—Mrs. Canton, 4, Bridge-st. Professional Apartments. Moderate terms.

WAKEFIELD. — Harewood Arms Hotel. Professional house of call. Close to Empire. All papers taken. WALTER HEWITT.

THE COVENTRY HOTEL
FOR BACHELORS.
7 and 8, Rupert-street, Coventry-street, W.
Bed, Breakfast, Bath, and Attendance, 4s. 6d.

BRAID HILLS HOTEL,
MORNINGSIDE, EDINBURGH.
Charmingly situated hotel, completely appointed, every modern luxury, uninterrupted views of the city and surrounding district, 450ft. above sea level, pure mountain air, splendid public golf course adjoining hotel, also ladies' course; cable cars to and from city every three minutes up to 11.30 p.m. Terms moderate.
